News from Surrounding Counties.

ETOWAH COUNTY.

The Times reports that the low price of cotton has rendered the farmers of Etowah very gloomy.

The Times has been shown some bread made from corn flour which beats the genuine article at some public hotels. This may or may not be saying a good deal for the new corn flour.

Maj. Joe Palmer, State Supt. of Education was in Gadsden during Conference.

The people of Gadsden treated the Methodist preachers well during Conference week.

The Times publishes one Scott who lately had charge of the skating rink in Gadsden and was proprietor of a picture show, as a dead beat and rascal. It seems that Scott jumped his board bill and other little bills. He has with him a woman whom he claims to be his sister. Other towns are asked to look out for him. It is believed that Scott is not his name.

Mrs. M. C. Pruitt died on Lookout Mountain recently.

Mrs. J. W. Newman died in Gadsden recently.

The Times has this to say of the crops of Etowah:

The cotton crop in this section will certainly fall short of what was anticipated early in the fall. The continued wet weather the past month or more has prevented the cotton from opening, and it is doubtful about it ever opening. And besides, a great deal of cotton has rotted in the boll. A few weeks ago it was confidently believed that Gadsden would increase her receipts this year several thousand bales over any preceding year, but now it is doubtful whether her receipts will be as great as they were last year. The corn crop is good, and will be sufficient for another year, except in a few localities where the recent freshet overflowed the crops and almost destroyed it.

Mrs. Rebecca Lovins, of Gadsden was found dead in her bed some mornings since. A coroner's jury determined that heart disease caused her death.

J. W. Whisenant has bought the Florida land of Mr. J. S. Paden of Gadsden.

J. H. Bramlet has moved from Adelia, Calhoun county to Ball Play in Etowah county.

Gentleman of Gadsden who have bought land in Florida, have been offered a hundred per cent profit on it.

The Gadsden News is sound on the tariff. It says.

When congress meets in December it should legislate in behalf of the people's interests. The high tariff on goods used by the masses should be removed, thereby making the necessaries of life cheaper.

It appears that the Jacksonville Republican forgets that in the next nomination for goveernor North Alobama will stand aside.—Gadsden Times.

The REPUBLICAN has suggested no man from North Alabama for for Governor. Some of our county correspondents have discovered good gubernatorial timber in the county and mentioned several gentlemen, none of whom are aspirants for the place. We are perfectly willing to see "North Alabama stand aside" and let the Governor come from some other section of the State.

Mr. A. J. Torchon, of Minnesota has been prospecting in Gadsden for a party of people from his State. He says he will advise them to settle there.

CLEBURNE COUNTY.

The editor of the Edwardsville Standard has opened up on the rations of his subscribers again. The horse swappers will meet in convention at Edwardsville the 7th and 8th of December on call of President Boyd.

A gentleman of Cleburne, 63 years of age subscribed for the Standard last week and said it was the first paper he had ever taken. What a lot of solid comfort that man has missed!

Mr. J. B. Thompson has the contract for carrying the mail from the post-office to the depot in Edwardsville.

The Standard enters its fifth volume with bright prospects. The people of Cleburne are under great obligation to Mr. Yarbrough for giving them a good newspaper and advertising the resources of the county abroad. They should take pride in sustaining the paper handsomely.

James Allen is temporary marshal of Edwardsville.

Rev. J. R. Newell, of Kemps Creek, will move to Edwardsville.

Mr. Hubbard of Cleburne was recently thrown from a wild mule, kicked in the forehead and badly hurt.

Farmers near Lecta, Shoal Creek and Solomon, in Cleburne county, report short crop and better prospect of getting out of debt.

Correspondents of the Edwardsville Standard report a good many people in various parts of Cleburne running away to avoid the pavment of debt. The general verdict is that it is a good riddance of bad rubbish.

Speaking of the new furnaces for Talladega, the Home says:

"From information now in our possession we are assured that two blast furnaces will be built in Talladoga, work to commence by the first of next April. This is certainly glorious news for our people, and with the erection of the water works, the working of the large mines of fire-clay and the starting of the Eagle Works in a few days puts Talladega in the front rank of all Southern manufacturing cities. Much has been said in one way and another about the erection of furnaces in Talladega during the last few years, and now we are assured that furnaces will be built here beyond a doubt. We have not yet been informed as to the location of the furnaces, but are assured that they will be placed near the city.

Tom Henderson, Esq., of Talladega has been made editor of the Selma Times. The Talladega Mountain Home, speaking of him says:

"Our readers do not need to be told that he is one of the best editorial writers that our country has had. His pen is trenchant, graceful, sparkling, and plucky. He has had his critics and he will have his critics, but they will always be welcome to all they can make out of him. When it comes to the pen, in nine cases out of ten he will get the best of it. We congratulate the proprietors and readers of the Times, and we congratulate our friend Henderson."

Everything was consumed. No insurance.

TALLADEGA, NOV. 27.—Probate Judge Miller was called on to marry quite a juvenile young person to-day. She was a petite blonde lacking a few months of being thirteen years of age. Her mother and the expectant groom accpanied her to the Probate Judge's office, and the mother was willing for the ceremony to take place. His Honor flatly refused to grant the license on the ground that the infant was too young to consent and he didn't propose to violate the law to please anyone.

The first square-toed Democratic thanksgiving in a quarter of a century was piously observed here. The business houses closed—everybody attended divine service or went hunting and the thanksgiving turkey was slaughtered mercilessly.

NOT TO ATTEND.

THE PRESIDENT PERSUADED NOT TO GO TO INDIANAPOLIS.

The Advice and Importunities of Friends Prevail Over his First Intention to Attend Mr. Hendricks' Funeral—He Will, Therefore, Remain at Washington.

WASHINETON, November 29.—The President this afternoon determined not to make the trip to Indianapolis. To a representative of the Associated Press he said:

"In the first moment of the shock of Mr. Hendricks' death I yielded to my inclination and declared my intention to be present at the funeral. Of course, in reaching that conclusion I did not put out of view the peremptory press of public business, or what I deemed of sufficient consideration—my duty to the people. The public business, I thought, I could dispose of by additional application and more hours of work, and considered it to be my duty to the people to answer and tender the sentiment of respect and affection to the dead Vice President, which does them great honor. I am satisfied now that I was at fault in considering the question, in that I did not take as comprehensive a view of my duty I owe the public as I should; that is, I did not look at every phase of it, and I am afraid my strong personal desire somewhat clouded my judgment.

"I am now remined by some of the best and most patriotic and thoughtful of our citizens that the real and solemn duties of my office are at the national capital, and that in the present peculiar and delicate situation I ought not to take even the remotest chance of an accident incident to travel and gratify a sentiment so general and so characteristic as that involved in this subject. I have been profoundly impressed by these considerations, but most of all influenced by their strong and unanimous presentations by several friends of the late Vice President living in his State and city and their indorsement by the noble and patriotic woman, who in the infinite sorrow of her widowhood reflects the spirit and character of her honored husband in her solicitude for the public good.

"I am now certain that neither my desire nor the sentiment referred to, nor the difficulty that attends in this case, change of design nor any stubborn idea of heroism will justify me in subjecting the country to any greater chance of disaster than attends my performance of strict duty here and that I ought not to inflict upon my countrymen even the unrest and anxiety attending my departure, absence and return in attendance upon the funeral ceremonies."

A MESSAGE OF LOVE.

Little Willie on my knee,
Blowing bubbles said to me,
"Papa dear if I should blow
One big bubble full of love,
Would it go
Up to angel-land above?
And would darling sister know
That it came from brother dear,
Waiting, oh, so lonesome here?"

Leaning o'er the sill, he blew,
And the bubble slowly grew,
Till, at last, with love made light,
Rising o'er the roof, it sped
Out of sight—
Then my little Willie said,
Gazing up with strange delight,
"Yes, dear papa, there it goes—
God will see that sister knows."

Birmingham has placed a full page advertisement in the Atlanta Constitution. The population of the city is now over 21,000 and the has thirteen iron furnces and numerous other manufacturing enterprises. Four-fifths of the real estate belong to citizens outside of the Elyton Land Company and it is the special boast of the town that no one man's influence controls its affairs. Birmingham is destined to be a great city in the near future.

The Jacksonville Republican announces the death of an old time friend, Wm. Hayden. Mr. Hayden was raised at Jacksonville Ala. He entered the service as orderly seargant of the company to which we belonged. Peace to his ashes. —Richland (La.) Beacon.

The Birmingham Age "got a licking" on the monument question, but has sufficiently recovered to break a broad smile when the question is propounded "who got up that Tuscaloosa convention anyhow?"—Montgomery Dispatch.

It is beyond question that Ayer's Cherry Pectoral has done and is doing vast good, and is worthy of the place of honor it holds at the head of all remedies for diseases of the throat and lungs.

THE AMERICAN FARMER.

In all the universe there is not a land so favored by nature as are the United States of America, and especially the Southern States. In a land so blessed, no legislation, however oppressive, can entirely prevent the growth and development of a people as young, vigorous, active and enterprising as are the people of the south to-day—but it must be admitted there is a woeful difference between what we are and what we might be.

No state is richer in coal and iron than Alabama, and the rapid development of these industries is a matter of gratulation throughout the whole commonwealth, but these are small compared with the agricultural interests which are now languishing. There is no conflict between the two and no reason why both should not advance with equal pace, but it is nevertheless true that agriculture is far less profitable now than it was before the war, notwithstanding all the improvements that have been made in farming implements and modes of cultivation. Land has appreciated a little of late, but as a rule, it is not worth more than one-fourth what it was twenty-five years ago. The landlord's rent has correspondingly decreased and the cultivator of the soil gets—what? If the crop is good, he may be able to buy a parasol for his wife and an umbrella for himself, but that will be about the extent of his year's earnings. We may laugh at the absurd extravagancies in which the darkey wastes the little money that comes to him, but really what difference does it make? It is too little to be of much account, and it might as well go along with the other tribute that is paid to the northern manufacturer, while the laborer goes naked and the land is made barren. What a difference between the appearance of a plantation now and what it used to be! No house, no garden, no fences, no stock, no anything but the squalid hut of a ragged negro who must get his corn from Chicago and his meat from Cincinnati. Yet this negro works hard, almost as hard as the man who sits on the fence and fancies that he is working; he knows that something is wrong, what it is he cannot tell, but the fact is, that he is robbed of at least 60 per cent of his earnings in order to "foster native industry."

If he spends $100 a year on himself and his family, $42 at the lowest estimate, and more generally $60, go to maintain the protective tariff. For instance, on calico the tariff is 53 cents out of the dollar, on spool thread 73, on iron from 61 to 91, on wool hats 57, on salt 73, on blankets 92, and so on throughout the list.

If the tax collector should go around and demand a tax of 57 cents on every wool hat worth $1, and a like tax on every other article he uses the farmer would understand where his money goes, and there would be a commotion in the land and no surplus; yet this is exactly what is done, though the money is paid at the Custom House instead of directly to the tax gatherer. This is the reason that the farmers of Alabama are poor and much of the land deserted.—Montgomery Dispatch.

Evangelist Jones' Methods.

St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

If Sam Jones had begun early enough in life he might have been a polished humorist by this time: as it is, he spoiled himself for such a mission by devoting too much time to the discussion of corner grocery politics and the acquisition of a hoop-pole twang to his voice that fits him only for camp-meetings and country spelling bees. He talks like a man who could sit for four hours a day on a fish barrel or soap box in a village grocery and recite, without changing his voice, all the wonderful things he had read in patent pages of the country gazette. And the funniest part of it all is that he could recite the articles in such a simple and sincere way that he would seem to believe every word he was saying, and when he got through would be astonished to find anybody questioning their truth. This simplicity and this sincerity stick to him still. So does the sing-song recitative style he acquired in the village grocery.

He makes his assertion with a curve on his voice that a base ball pitcher would give a season's salary to possess, follows it up with a dry anecdote, finishes off with a jeer at somebody, and then opens his eyes, sets back his ears, poses his head, put his thumbs in his pockets and asks: "Thar now, heow dew you like that, eh?"

What he does not abuse he ridicules, and what he doesn't ridicule he abuses. He says no merchant will credit a man merely because he is a Baptist, and if there is a Baptist in the audience you may be sure his neighbor will give him a dig in the ribs. In a few minutes the Baptist's turn will come to dig the neighbor in the ribs, for Sam Jones will be certain to say something about the neighbor's creed before he gets through. And so it goes on all through his so-called sermon.

Religion is on roller skates for the time being, and the wheels upon which it revolves are the rusty, rheumatic wheels of semi-abusive mirth. The only lubricant used is ridicule, and the fun is all the more enjoyable because every now and then it hurts somebody. You get the same effect in looking at a comic valentine that another person has received. It makes him awful mad, but you can laugh until your sides threaten to split, it seems so funny—to you. And you go to hear Sam Jones because you expect him to lampoon somebody in this way.

THAT TERRIBLE SPLIT.

A prominent republican said to the writer yesterday that, "if a pronounced free-trader like Dawson is nominated by the democrats next year, Samuel Noble, of Anniston, will be an independent candidate for governor to give the people a chance to decide between the past and present." Mr. Noble may or may not be a candidate but it is very certain that he could not defeat the nominee. There is no possibility of organizing the republican party and there are not many hundred democrats who will scratch the nominee even in a business campaign.

The vote Mr. Noble would poll would be that which is willing to forsake politics for business. There would be probably six or eight thousand democrats who would vote for him on that issue. The mere fact that such a thing is talked of shows us that a split of some size is almost inevitable in the next campaign.—Birmingham Chronicle.

Every now and then this terrible threat of a split in the party is paraded in protection journals to to frighten people away from the true issue of the day. While it is much better for brethren to dwell together in peace and harmony, still if the only alternative is for a miminority of the party to dictate its policy, perhaps it would be better to have a rupture at once and settle the matter for good. But this is an issue which can hardly be raised in the governor's election as his position on the tariff would not be of much importance, though other things being equal it would be worthy of consideration. But why is it that Dawson is singled out for Mr. Noble, of the quondam city of Anniston, to run against? Are not all the prominent candidates from this portion of the State equally as pronounced advocates of a low tariff? We do not assert that they are, but that is the general impression, and if it is incorrect will the Chronicle have the kindness to give us the truth about the matter?

However, whether it has anything to do with the Governor's election or not, low or high tariff is a question which cannot be kept out of congressional nominations, and it should not be even at the risk of a split, though we do not believe there will be any, as the Chronicle and its friends are in too small a minority even in its own district to make one advisable.—Montgomery Dispatch.

A Lowndesboro correspondent of the Hayneville Times says: "Our farmers are all out of sorts on account of the short crop and low price of cotton. Our merchants are pale on account of the slow collections and the repeal of the crop lien law. Still, they have to endure it."

The Gordonsville correspondent of the Hayneville Times suggests the following as a solution of the question of how to obtain the much-need branch railroad: "That the people of this county grade the road, lay the track, and furnish the rolling stock, and the company furnish the conductor."

Hayneville Examiner: A letter to a Hayneville friend from Mrs. H. R. Hugueley, intimates that her family are not as well pleased with Texas as they imagined before leaving Lowndes.

The Republican.

DECEMBER 5, 1885.

A TOUGH QUESTION.

A correspondent from Oxford propounded a tough question to the REPUBLICAN last week when he asked the reason for the present hard times. The question has been variously answered as the various interests of men have suggested an answer, and the different schools of political economists are as far apart on the subject now as ever.

We publish four articles this week from widely different sources, written each with a various purpose. These will throw some light upon the subject to men of thoughtful cast of mind.

The first is an article from the Montgomery Dispatch entitled "The American Farmer," showing in part how the present tariff taxes the farmer when he buys a hat, a sack of salt, an iron implement or other necessary thing the year through.

The second is an article from the New York Herald, entitled "Strike off Sixty Millions," showing the immense amount of money over and above the amount needed by the government, drawn from the people each year and locked up by the government, through the instrumentality of the present tariff on imports.

The third is an article from the New Orleans Times-Democrat entitled "Losses on Cotton," (the main money crop of the South,) which incidentally shows how the tariff comes in on cotton ties and jute bagging to deprive the farmer of a part of his hard-earned money from his cotton crop.

The fourth article is from the Birmingham Age, entitled "Increase in values in Mining and Manufacturing Districts," showing the logical consequence of all this in the incre sed wealth of the manufacturing districts and the growing poverty of the agricultural districts of the South.

We want our readers to find in this paper all of these articles and read them and then ask themselves if the remedy for the evil is in a perpetuation of the present high tariff tax on articles of prime necessity to the farmer, and in a perpetuation of a national debt that gathers millions upon millions of dollars each year from the toiling masses of the country and transfers the vast sum to the pockets of that class of non-producers known as bond-holders.

If any farmer can come to the conclusion that a high protective tariff is a good thing for the farmers, then we want him to tell us why it is that there is a steady increase of wealth in the mining and manufacturing districts of the South and ever growing poverty of the agricultural districts. Be it remembered that this increase of wealth in the manufacturing districts comes not of a general enhancement of values over large areas, but comes of the upbuilding of manufacturing cities like Birmingham and Chattanooga. Farm lands, not possessing minerals, are no more valuable about large manufacturing cities than are those about such cities as Memphis, Atlanta, Montgomery and other cities which depend as much upon commerce as upon manufactures for their growth.

Congressman Wm. H. Forney left for Washington Monday to be present at the opening of Congress. He was on very important committees last session, among them the committe on Appropriations. He will no doubt hold his old place the coming session, if he is not promoted as he was at the last session. His long service has made him thoroughly acquainted with the wants of his constituents, and given him that weight in Congress that will enable him to best serve them. There is no "fuss and feathers" about him, but he is a hard working member, thoroughly possessing the confidence of Congress, and he will no doubt render a good account of himself the coming session. He did not attend the Tuscaloosa Convention, (deeming it best for the interests to be subserved that Congressmen abstain from participation in it) but he is thoroughly in sympathy with the object sought by that convention and will be among the foremost of our delegation in looking after the material interests of the State. His position in Congress will render him very effective in this direction.

Birmingham boasts that she is no aftermath of a village. This is somewhat to the credit of the men who have reared a magnificent city where but a few years ago there was only old sedge fields; but it does not argue that a village may not grow into a city. With natural riches about it and the necessary railroad connections, it is easier to build a city upon an old town than it is to go into an old field and do it. The old town has the advantage of good schools, church buildings, many substantial and sometimes elegant private residences, business houses, small industries and many other things that will have to be put upon the old field before it can take an even start with the old town. Gadsden and Talladega are instances of old towns rapidly taking on city proportions and Jacksonville will be another when her contemplated railroad connections are made. Nature has poured out her rich stores of mineral wealth all around this old town.

The Montgomery Dispatch gives notice that it will publish the Head Notes of Ala. Supreme Court Decisions on the day the same are rendered and all of each week on Friday or Saturday of such week.

The liquor men of Atlanta are contesting the election in which they were recently beaten by the prohibitionists. They submitted the question to the determination of the ballot box and they ought to stand by it. It is a good rule always to accept defeat gracefully. The world has little sympathy with any man or set of men who go into a contest and then, if beaten, grumble and growl about it.

The State recently hired third class convicts, such as are fit for farm work but unfit for work in the mines, at $4 a month. When able to do farm work can do work on the public roads, are going at $40 a year or a fraction over thirteen cents a day, it looks as if Calhoun could afford to take a few.

The negro and white miners at Brevier coal mines near Macon, Missouri, had quite a battle the 1st of December. The white miners struck for higher wages and the negroes were brought in to take their place. Three negroes and one white man were killed and sevral were wounded on both sides.

The Republican Senate will elect a Republican as President pro tem of the Senate, who will succeed to the presidency for a time in event Cleveland should die. Logan, Edmunds and Sherman are all spoken of for the place.

Revolutionists are making things lively in Northern Mexico.

N. Y. Herald

The last Democratic President before Mr. Cleveland was chosen in 1856, when the United States contained about twenty-eight millions of people against fifty-five millions last year. We have been looking over a table of annual taxes and expenditures covering the period from 1855-6 to 1884-5, and set down here some comparisons between the first year of the last Democratic administration and the last year of the last Republican.

In 1856-7 the total 'net revenues' of the Federal government amounted in round figures to $74,000,000; in 1884-5 to $323,500,000. In 1856 the people paid $2.63 per head for the support of the government; in 1884-5 they paid $5.87 per head.

But excluding in each case, as is necessary, the payment for pensions and interest on the debt, which together amounted to $3,250,000 in 1856-7 and to $107,500,000 in 1884-5, it results that the 'net expenditure,' necessitated taxes to the amount of $2.38 per head in 1856-7 and $2.95 in 1884-5.

In 1856-7 there was, however, a surplus revenue of less than $4,500,000; in 1884-5 this surplus revenue, taken from the people's pockets without a shadow of excuse, amounted to $63,500,000. This systematic robbery of the people by over-taxation began in 1880. In the previous year the surplus revenue was only $6,750,000; in 1880 it rose to $65,750,000; in 1881 it rose to over $100,000,000; in 1882 to $145,500,000, in 1883 to $132,750,000, and in 1884 it stood at $104,333,333. In six years—the last six years of Republican rule—the people were over taxed to the amount of $622,250,000, the exact amount of surplus revenue for these years being $622,233,707. That is a very great sum to force needlessly out of the pockets of the people in six consecutive years by exorbitant taxation, and those years of absolute peace.

Comparison of items of expenditures shows that in 1856-7 $14,000,000 were spent on the navy; in 1884-5 only $16,000,000. In 1856-7 the army cost a little less than $17,000,000, but in 1884-5, with fewer Indians to deal with, it cost over $42,500,000. The Indian service cost in 1856-7 only $2,750,000, while in 1884-5, with fewer Indians to feed and keep in order, expenditures cheapened by railroads, the Indian service cost $6,500,000.

In the return from which we have taken these figures civil and miscellaneous expenditures are lumped together, only the items for war, navy, Indian, pension and public debt being stated separately. The item of "civil and miscellaneous expenditures" has had a vast growth. In 1856-7 it came to a little over $32,000,000; in 1884-5 it footed up $84,500,000. Nor is this a sudden increase. In the previous year it was nearly $71,000,000; the year before that $68,500,000.

It would seem from these figures that the Democratic House might easily and safely strike off between $60,000,000 and $70,000,000 of taxes; and we advise the people, the tax payers, to require this to be done. The whole surplus revenue, $63,000,000, ought to be remitted, because the establishment of proper economy in the Indian service, in the War Department, and, above all, in the overgrown and bloated total for "civil and miscellaneous expenditures," will leave enough to provide handsomely for a new navy and for all other purposes.

The death of Mr. Hendricks leaves David B. Hill, barring Mr Cleveland, the most prominent probability for 1888. Dav l hates a mugwump like the Devil does holy water. Vive la David.—Montgomery Advertiser.

COUNTY AFFAIRS.

CROSS PLAINS.

Change of Preachers--Personals--Improvements.

CROSS PLAINS, Dec. 2.—We have had nearly a week of damp, disagreeable weather, without any sunshine, producing an abundant crop of bad colds. If it continues much longer, we expect to hear of considerable sickness.

Rev. W. A. Montgomery and family will leave for Centre, their new home, on the 3rd inst. We wish them a pleasant year.

Rev. D. L. Parrish will move into the parsonage on the same day, so the fire will not die out on the hearth.

Quite a number of our citizens went to Rome last Thursday. Some went on that day, to get the benefit of the reduced fare on the railroad, but we believe the most of them went to see the show.

Cross Plains was also represented at the Circus at Annision last Friday.

Rev. Mr. Gwin of Oxford preached at the Baptist church last Sunday.

Rev. John Norton and family of Valley Head, are visiting in town.

Mr. W. C. Savage's brick store house will soon be ready for occupancy.

Mr. Tom Wilkerson will move into his handsome new residence on South Main Street in a short time.

The workmen are moving right along with Maj. J. F. Dailey's new cottage on East Broad Street.

Mr. George W. Allison will move to his farm on Nance's Creek in a few days.

There will be three Sunday school christmas trees in town this month. Such occasions are seasons of great rejoicing among the little folk.

Some of our citizens have an attack of the Florida fever. It is very nice to be able to run off to Florida and spend the winter, and return in the spring; but the trouble is, not many of us can afford it.

JENKINS.

Health--Gathering Cotton--Personals--Cow Poisoned--Trustees Meeting--New Post Master--Railroad, etc.

JENKINS, ALA., Nov. 30th.—The health of our community is very good at this time, and we farmers are doing our best gathering our cotton between showers.

Mr. Wm. White who went to Texas last fall is visiting relatives in this community. He says he has made and gathered this year with his own labor eleven bales of cotton and eight hundred bushels of corn.

R. F. Watson lost a fine milk cow last week from eating ivy.

The trustees of this township met last Saturday to locate the school and apportion the school funds.

A. B. Mosley Esq., is to have the Post Office at Jenkins the coming year.

Some of our farmers are very anxious for the Railroad to be built from Jacksonville to Gadsden. We think its projectors can not fail to see the great importance of extending to Carrolton, Ga., via. Jenkins thus taking in one of the richest ore beds in the State, known among the iron manufacturers of Pennsylvania as the iron mountain; also the large slope of country that lies east of the Choccolocco Valley, in which there are thousands of acres of as fine timbered lands as the eyes of man ever looked upon, where scarcely the sign of the woodsman's ax can be seen

BERA.

Cotton--Births--Marriages--New Court House.

Cotton about all picked out and gone. No sickness in this neighborhood at present.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Leatherwood the 26th ult., a male infant. Also to E. M. Pinson and wife, a girl.

Mr. John Yarbrough and Miss Emma Nicholson married recently. Also Mr. R. F. Wilson and Miss Emma Haynie.

Everybody seems to be satisfied with the building of the new court house when they learn that it will not increase the tax rate. Good luck to the new court house. Attempts to get up an indignation meeting in this section has met with poor encouragement. I think the promoters of the movement are about ashamed of it.

D. Z. Goodlett was in this beat (No. 4.) this week, looking after the taxes.

I say again, hurrah for the new court house. Yours for LUCK.

OTTERY.

Flourishing School--Off to Texas--Store Broken Open--Ohatchie Circuit.

OTTERY, ALA., Dec. 1.—Mr. Thomas Ivans of White Plains has a flourishing school here, and we trust he will make us a good teacher.

Mr. John Shurbet lost a valuable horse a few days ago.

Mr. John Starkey will leave us in a short time: he goes to Texas.

Mr. Sargeant Griffin's store house was broken open a few nights ago. Can not tell what amount was taken.

Mr. Howard the artist stopping in our burg for a few days is doing considerable amount of work in his line of business.

Ohatchie Circuit is fortunate in getting Rev. Sam Lester.

Only six miles of track laying is to be done, when there will be narrow-gauge connection between the Junction, three and a half miles above Jacksonville, with Rome. Jacksonville ought to have a branch run from the Junction down here, giving her double rail connection with Rome. It would cheapen freights to this point and give our cotton men a better freight rate on cotton. When the road is completed from Gadsden to this point, Jacksonville would have three lines of rail, if this comparatively easy junction with the East & West should be made.

The work upon the residence of Gen. Wm. H. Forney by the Messrs. Morris, and that upon the residence of Mr. Vernon by Mr. Williams is nearing completion and both houses have been vastly improved. The addition of another story to each in addition to extension, makes them look much more imposing and a great deal handsomer. The work done by Mr. Stewart upon his pretty cottage makes it a perfect beauty, while painter and carpenter have transformed the house of Chas. Martin, on North Main street, into one of the cosiest and prettiest cottages in town. The spirit of improvement is catching, they say. We hope to see it verified in this instance. Beautify your homes. A pretty home speaks eloquently of the refinement of its inmates.

Deposits of the finest brown hematite iron ore and limestone abound in the immediate vicinity and around Jacksonville for miles in every direction and all along the line of the E. T. Va. & Ga. Railroad, which passes through the town, and along the line of the E. & W. R. R. which runs in three miles of the town, and along both the Jacksonville and Gadsden and the Jacksonville and Carrollton railroads, both of which projected roads will enter the town when built. Some of the ore beds almost within the corporate limits of Jacksonville, have been opened and ore shipped to South Pittsburg, Tecumseh and elsewhere and found to be very excellent. The E. & W. Railroad which runs within three miles of the town and which can be brought into it on easy grade at small expense, penetrates the St. Clair coal fields and places the coke from those coal fields within easy reach of the town. Fine streams of never failing water run on every side of the town and along the lines of roads already built and projected into the town. All these things point to Jacksonville as a splendid location for coke furnaces. From twenty to thirty acres of land on any side of the town will be donated to any company that will erect a furnace here, and owners of valuable ore beds will donate half their interests in the same to any such company, or sell the same at a small price. The attention of iron men who are looking Southward for investment is directed to this point. It will pay them to come and investigate the surroundings for themselves.

Rev. F. J T. Brandon, late pastor of the Methodist church at Anniston, paid us a call Monday. Mr. Brandon and his family have been here some days, the guests of Gen. Wm. H. Forney. The late Conference at Gadsden made him Presiding Elder of the Tuscaloosa District and located him at Tuscaloosa. While the change will be of benefit to Mr. Brandon in some respects, we yet regret to see him leave this county for another field of labor. He has passed about twelve years of his ministry within the bounds of the Talladega District and has been the means, under the direction of God, of great good throughout all this country. He is a man of deep piety and unusual strength of mind. He is so unassuming in manner that he never passes for his full worth with men, until they have become thoroughly acquainted with him. It has been the privilege of the writer to known him for over twenty years, and at every meeting with him during that long time, we have discovered new beauties in his character. His work in this section of the State is a better tribute to his worth than anything we could write. He has been instrumental in the hands of God in building three parsonages and in building and improving churches, while hundreds upon hundreds remember him with gratitude as the means by which they were rescued from sin and became converted men and women. All who know him well love him well, and the prayers of hundreds from this section of the State will follow him to his new field of labor. The people of Tuscaloosa and that circuit are very fortunate in having him assigned to them.

Dr. J. C. Francis has returned from a visit to his son, C. H. Francis, in Birmingham. He reports the growth of the town as wonderful.

Increase of Values in Mining and Manufacturing Districts.

Just as in Alabama the tax returns for Tennessee for the past year show a decrease in the agricultural and an increase in the mining and manufacturing districts. For instance, Davidson and Hamilton counties show a large increase while Shelby shows a large decrease. Shelby is an agricultural county, and Memphis, its county seat, is dependent for its prosperity upon agriculture. Since 1884 this county has decreased in tax values to the extent of $674,924. It pays into the state treasury only $5,800 more than Jefferson county, (Ala.), contributes to the Alabama treasury. Tennessee realized from state taxation this year $680,247, while the returns for Alabama were $988,321. It may be remarked, however, that the rate of taxation in Tennessee is only half of that in Alabama.—Birmingham Age.

To the Teachers of Calhoun.

The County Superintendent of schools has selected the REPUBLICAN as the medium of publication for all matters relating to the public schools. Through it he will answer all questions addressed to him officially by teachers, and in it will appear all the notices of the county Board of Examiners, the apportionment of the school fund, and all other official notices in relation to the public schools. One paper is thus selected for the convenience of teachers, in order that they may know exactly where to find all publications in which they may be interested. Every teacher in the county should take the paper. Through it he will learn much of interest to him as a teacher during the year. We are requested to make this notice for the benefit of teachers, by a member of the County Board of Examiners. The REPUBLICAN will be sent to teachers for $1.50 a year. When teachers cannot get postal orders for remittance, two cent postage stamps may be sent.

She Had Confidence.

Mrs. H. C. Harsnbarger, Minor Hill, Huntingdon County, Pa., writes: "Dr. S. B. Hartman & Co., Columbus, O.: I have been afflicted for three years, cause by over-work soon after confinement. My kidneys became seriously affected; could not retain my urine day nor night. It was high colored, thick and bloody. My monthlies had left altogether for fourteen months, during which time I was confined to my bed with a beating in right ovaries. The discharge from the womb was so offensive no one could stay in the room. The urine continued bloody, with pain in voiding it, and when in bed would pass from me in my sleep. I have had three doctors attending me regularly, one for four months, one of the others one whole summer, and the third all winter. We had two others in consultation with them, and used twenty bottles of different kinds of patent medicines, all to no good. I then got a bottle of Peruna, and before I had three-fourths of the bottle taken I quit wetting the bed and could retain the urine sufficient to attend church, which I had not done for three years, and my monthlies came back as natural as ever; indeed, I considered myself a well woman again. Since that time I have had pneumonia. My confidence in Peruna was so great that I did not send for a doctor. I followed the directions in your "Ills of Life" and am over it, as well as can be expected of one so delicate as I have been. Others in my neighborhood had the same disease, and among them were stronger men, and the best physicians, and yet died, while I sailed through in safety on Peruna and Manalin. I sincerely believe, and would say to all the afflicted in the wide world, that Peruna and Manalin are the only two medicines that any one needs in any disease if used as directed in your book entitled "The Ills of Life."

J. E. Fleming, publisher of the New Dominion, Morgantown, W. Va., writes: "Some months since, I received some of your medicine in exchange for advertising. My wife has taken five bottles of it, and has derived great benefit from it."

Mrs. M. C. Pee'ling, Bradenville, Pa., writes: "My wife has been using Peruna for some time for weak lungs and liver and kidney complaint, and thinks it is doing her great good. Has used only one bottle as yet. Please send your book on the 'Ills of Life,' as we can't get any from our druggist."

Mr. John Denny, Mt. Vernon, writes: "We have a large sale in Peruna [illegible] satisfaction."

Losses on Cotton.

N. O. Times-Democrat

Some of the farmers of South Carolina engaged in the manufacture of cotton have come to the conculsion that the expense of preparing and sending it to market after raising it is too great, and are making certain suggestions as to the best means of reducing those expenses. The cost of preparing and shipping a crop of 7,000,000 bales, that is the loss on the staple, which ultimately fall on the planter and come out of the prices he receives for the cotton, is as follows:

Picking, $52,500,000; houseing, weighing, ginning, etc., $22,400,000; bagging and ties, $7,000,000; deduction in Liverpool on bagging and ties, as tare, $14,700,000; transportation to market and selling within the cotton belt, $17,150,000; total, $113,450,000.

With the crop selling at an average of nine cents per pound, the cost of these would be 36 per cent, more than one-third of the gross price, and that after all the expenditures of investment in lands, houses, seeds, fertilizers, implements and feed have been made, and all the risks of weather, worms, etc., taken. This the South Carolina farmers regard as too great an expense, and they want to reduce it.

The largest item is the picking, to which might be added the loss sustained by badly picked cotton. In proportion to its value, cotton is the most expensively harvested of all of our crops, as it costs nearly one-fifth of its gross value to gather it. Many efforts have been made to invent a machine that can do the picking mechanically, and not compel planters to depend altogether on hand picking; and while some very encouraging inventions have been made, none have yet been put into actual working operation. In the meantime, however, the price of picking cotton has remained unchanged for fifty years, and is now as great, with cotton at nine or ten cents, as it was when it sold at fifty cents per pound. While all commodities have fallen in value, and wages have been reduced, the cost of picking cotton—certainly not very arduous or skilled labor—has remained unchanged.

On the subject of bagging and ties a very unfortunate idea is current among farmers, that they make by using heavy ties and bagging. They buy them at four cents a pound and sell them at nine cents, they say, clearing, according to their idea $1.25 a bale. This idea has been advanced even in Congress, but its absurdity has been well demonstrated by the Southern press. The Manchester cotton buyer, as the largest consumer of the staple, fixes the price of cotton in all the markets of the word, and he is certainly not willing to pay the same price for iron and jute as he does for lint cotton. In Liverpool a tare of six pounds per hundred is deducted from every bale for bagging and ties. This deduction is made not at nine cents but at eleven cents, the cost of the cotton in Liverpool. That is, thirty pounds, worth eleven cents a pound, is deducted, equal to $3.30 per bale, from which, if the profit of $1.25 in the home market be taken, there will be a net loss left of $2.05 on each bale, on account of bagging and ties.

The American cotton grower buys iron and jute in England, pays freight and duty on them, pays freight on them back to England, disposes of them there for nothing, and gives in addition as a bonus for the privilege of doing this about thirty pounds of lint out of each bale. There is little profit to him in the bagging and ties on these terms.

All these are patent facts. There has been an extraordinary improvement of late years in the preparation and handling of cotton, which have been greatly simplified and the cost reduced; yet there is, as the South Carolina frrmer and others show, room for still further reductions and improvements.

Probate Office

Jacksonville Republican.

ESTABLISHED JAN. 21, 1837. JACKSONVILLE, CALHOUN COUNTY, ALA., SATURDAY, DEC. 12. 1885. PRICE $1.50 A YEAR.

SHORT TALKS

ON VARIOUS TOPICS OF CURRENT INTEREST.

The Cross Plains Post and the Anniston Watchman concur with the suggestion of the REPUBLICAN that the proper steps be taken to put both State and county convicts on the public roads of the county. The influence of the three papers directed to this end can secure such a desirable consumation; but much will depend upon the character of man the county sends to the next Legislature. He should be a man of fine practical sense, good address, and acquainted with the wants of the people of the whole county, and too large a man to represent any one interest in the county to the neglect of other interests. Perhaps the Watchman and Post may assist the REPUBLICAN in the discovery of such a man.

***

In the election of Representative or any of the county officers the REPUBLICAN has no interest apart from that of the whole people of the county. It only desires to see good men placed in office on their own personal merits, and not because they may belong to this or that faction in the county. It would be unfortunate for the county if factions should struggle for the offices. In such a contest passion might take the place of reason and sound judgment, merit and fitness for place in the candidate be lost sight of, and the result might bring injury to the general public interests. The people should go about the selection of their public servants on business principles, just as any sensible merchant would act in selecting a salesman or book-keeper. They should select their public officers solely with reference to their character for honesty, fidelity to trusts and capacity for the work they have to do. The old Jeffersonian standard, "is he honest, is he capable, is he faithful to the Constitution?" cannot be improved upon.

***

We are glad to see evidences throughout the county of an intention on the part of the people to ignore faction and select their Probate Judge, their Circuit Clerk and their Representative next August solely with a view to their fitness and moral worth. Small demagogues here and there may attempt to obtrude local issues and thus cover the defects of their candidates for office, but they will not be suffered to succeed. The general interests of the county are paramount and patriotic men in all parts of the county will silence the selfish cry of the small demagogue and disturber of the peace and settle the matter with reference alone to the general public good. Whether this be done in party convention or at the ballot box, the result will equally gratifying to all right thinking men.

***

In another column we publish a communication from Weaver's signed "A Farmer," which attributes to the merchants much of the blame for the present hard times with farmers. The merchant who credits, under the present liberal exemption law, takes large risks and has to charge a high per cent. or break. Comparatively few merchants are successful, even with the rates now charged. Where one succeeds, a half dozen break. Let our readers review the list of merchants who have done business in this county the past ten years and see if this is not so. The fact is the fault is as much with the farming as the mercantile classes. As long as we depend on cotton paying for every thing, from guano to meal, the farming interests are bound to suffer, for it has been over and over demonstrated that there is little profit in cotton raising. The farmer who makes it a rule to plant enough of wheat, oats, corn, root crops, grass, &c. to bread his family and feed his stock and raise his own meat, and then plants cotton as a surplus money crop, always has his head above the waves. Take a five bag one horse farmer for example. He puts in most of his work to make the five bags of cotton. One of these goes for guano. The four left, at 9 cents, bring him $180. After he has bought his flour, corn, meat, tobacco, clothing and other necessaries, how can he have anything left out of his $180? Won't he always be in debt until he makes his farm what God intended it to be—a feeder of himself and family?

***

The Republican Satorial caucus nominated Senator John Sherman for President pro tem of the Senate after Senator John A. Logan declined the honor. The Democratic caucus nominated Senator Harris of Tennessee as a compliment, they having no power to elect. Sherman is President pro tem of the Senate. It is thought a bill will at once be passed providing for the Presidential succession in event of the death of the President.

***

The Democratic caucus of the House renominated Mr. Carlilse unanimously for speaker, and he will be speaker of the House. Most of the old House officers hold over. Reed of Maine was nominated for speaker as a compliment, by the Republican caucus.

***

Three negroes were hung at Greenville, N. C., the 7th for burglary, the law of that state making burglary a capital crime.

***

John W. Daniel, the eloquent Virginian, has been elected U. S. Senator to succeed Mahone.

A NEW RICHMOND IN THE FIELD.

Last fall Our Mountain Home expressed the opinion that Mr. Samuel Noble, of Anniston, was preparing the way to run for Governor of Alabama. In his reply he made sport of the suggestion, and said the fact that he had left the Democratic party was proof that he had no such intentions; but we see it stated now that his political friends say that he will be a candidate for the office provided the Democrats nominate Mr. Dawson, of Selma. Now Mr. Noble has a perfect right to run for Governor, and possibly the Democratic party will take a scare at the probability and leave Mr. Dawson out in the cold, but our opinion is that this threat will play into Mr. Dawson's hand, and may extenuate the trading which was supposed to have been done at Tuscaloosa two weeks since; for we take it for granted that his most formidable rival before the State Convention is a genleman who would be more acceptable to Mr. Noble for various reasons, and that will be no advantage to that particular rival. It will be fatal to him for it to be understood that he is Mr. Noble's candidate. The sooner he can relieve himself of that conjecture the better it will be for his aspirations. We do not believe that the State Convention will allow Mr. Noble to make their candidate, and we are right certain that the State will not make him its Governor. We have no objection to see him try it.—Talladega Mountain Home.

We cannot believe that any gentleman so far named as a candidate for Governor has been so inpolitic as to suffer himself groomed by Mr. Noble for the office. Mr. Noble formally severed his connection with the Democratic party when he supported the Republican nominee, James G. Blaine, for President, against Mr. Cleveland, the nominee of the national Democratic party, and we give him credit for too much sense to suppose that he would now presume to try to shape the policy of the Democratic party of this State or county in any particular whatever. None know better than he that such an attempt on his part would meet with failure and only injure the man whom he might seek to serve. Had he remained true to the Democratic party his influence in the councils of the party might have been felt.

The same good sense that would suggest to him that he could have no sort of influence in a convention of the Democratic party would show him the futility of an independent race for Governor, and we do not believe he has ever entertained such an idea. It is certain he would not carry Calhoun as an independent candidate for Governor.

CLEBURNE COUNTY.

Circuit court opens in Cleburne the 2nd Monday in January.

Bishop Mallileu, who presided over the late Conference of the M. E. church, held at Edwardsville, made a good impression upon the people.

The publisher of the Standard has eaten a biscuit made from corn flour and pronounces it fine. Mr. Robinson of Heflin raises forty bushels to the acre of this flour corn.

A Cleburne county man entered the Standard office the other day who was a sight to behold. He had been shot four times, had had pretty near all his bones broken, had had a pick stuck through his foot and a hand torn up in a gin, had been smashed up in a railroad wreck and blown up by gun powder. The Standard says he can "get about faster than any one we ever saw to be so badly dilapidated."

Rev. T. R. Parker is presiding elder of the Edwardsville M. E. circuit and Rev. C. E. McGaha preacher in charge of the Edwardsville church.

Mr. Golden of Edwardsville has planted 1000 fruit trees in his Harralson county, Ga., place and will plant 1000 more. Sensible man.

Rev. D. A. Sox has taken up his residence in Edwardsville and will have charge of the high school, which opened recently.

The Mayor of Heflin pronounces the story of the man who claimed that he was robbed near that place recently as false.

ETOWAH COUNTY.

Mr. S. F. Barry, a prominent banker of New York State has been prospecting in Gadsden with a view to locating there, and expresses himself as well pleased with the town and its prospects.

Gadsden will soon have her water works, and then she wants an electric light, oil mills and some more such things. She has the pluck to start them too.

The young people of Gadsden without the fear of Sam Jones, crowd the skating rink. It is a very innocent as well as healthful diversion.

The young men of Gadsden have organized a club and dubbed it the "Bijou Club." It is devoted to dancing and social pleasure.

The Attalla Pick & Shovel is raising funds to purchase Christmas presents for the poor children of that town. It is a very commendable undertaking, and other towns should imitate Attalla in this.

John Ramey, an old, well-known and honored citizen of Etowah county died recently.

Attalla will have a Christmas tree.

Dwelling houses are in great demand in Attalla.

The Young Men's Christian Association of Attalla is in a flourishing condition.

The owners of the Steamer Crawford refuse to take the boat off the river, notwitnstanding the threat of the A. G. S. R. R. to raise the freight on the iron shipped by her owners at Gadsden, if they did not. It is such high-handed measure on the part of the A. G. S. Road that has determined the people of Gadsden to connect with the E. T. Va. & Ga. Road, at Jacksonville and become independent of this bloated corporation.

Messrs Echols and Reese of Gadsden have brought in two fine Jersey cows from Tennessee. They could have done better by buying acclimated Jerseys in Calhoun, the great Jersey centre of the South in the near future.

Willie Herzberg was slightly wounded from the discharge of a carelessly handled pistol in the hands of the porter of the Coosa Furnace store recently.

Mr. Sam Orr, of Gadsden, has moved to Fort Payne. Gadsden's city marshal, Mr. H. C. White, succeeds him in the hotel business.

Andy Burrell and Alex Stephens of Gadsden have been robbing on the highway and committing burglary in the town. They are now in jail and as good as in the penitentiary, since one of them has confessed his crimes.

Mr. Lewis Mayor, of Etowah, died recently.

A new store has been opened in Gadsden known as the barter house.

The Birmingham Age, Montgomery Advertiser and Chattanooga Times all have correspondents in Gadsden who furnish them live letters from that live burg almost every day. These correspondents have firm faith in the building of the Jacksonville and Gadsden Railroad at an early day. When that road is built Gadsden's future is assured.

Richard Pemberton, of Marshall county, charged with disposing of mortgaged cotton broke jail in Gadsden a few days ago and made good his escape.

TALLADEGA COUNTY.

The residence of Mr. Ed Turner, about ten miles from Talladega was burned recently.

Maj. Harrel's residence three miles from Talladega was recently burned.

Mr. J. G. Motes of Talladega county is some on raising apples. He has them hanging on the trees yet.

THE EGGS THAT NEVER HATCH.

There's a young man on the corner,
Filled with life and strength and hope,
Looking far beyond the present,
With the whole world in his scope.
He is grasping at to-morrow,
That phantom none can catch;
To-day is lost. He's waiting
For the eggs that never hatch.

There's an old man over yonder,
With a worn and weary face
With searching, anxious features,
And weak uncertain pace,
He is living in the future,
With no desire to catch
The golden Now. He's waiting
For the eggs that never hatch.

There's a world of men and women,
With their life's work yet undone,
Who are sitting, standing, moving
Beneath the same great sun;
Ever eager for the future,
But none content to snatch
The Present. They are waiting
For the eggs that never hatch.

Woman's Love.

Eugene Field in Chicago News.

A man whose greatness had brought him fame and wealth lay on his death bed. A woman clasped his hands, and with her kisses and words of love strove to soothe his dying agonies.

Many years ago this man and this woman were made husband and wife, and side by side they started upon life's journey. Youth, love and hope gave them strength. No other possession had they, yet the future was full of promise. The man gloried in his majestic manliness. Health made him a marvel of noble beauty. His frame was of iron, his muscles were of steel, his brain was clear and vigorous as the sturdy heart that throbbed in his rugged breast. Success—which is another term for wealth and fame—came to him as certainly as it always does to the brave and strong. Who was there that did not admire the manliness of his art?

But in the years that followed this success the man neglected the woman, his wife. Dazzled by the glory of his triumphs, his eyes were blind to the beauty, the loyalty and the sweetness of her love. Perhaps he thought the woman whom the sturdy, unknown youth had taken to his heart was unworthy to share the fruits of the great and honored man's conquests. But he put her away; in all charity let it be said the wrong came not from an evil heart, but from the false glitter by which an unparalleled prosperity blinded his eyes and turned his head.

To this wrong succeeded a greater. Woman who knew not the sweetness and sacredness of purity openly, wantonly gloried in his unholy homage. And into this popular idol's life there crept a shame that meant inevitable and irretrievable ruin.

Who counted the tears—who heard the agonized prayers of the heart-broken wife in all the years of the proud, strong man's exaltation? That divine, almighty power that has written in every human bosom this eternal truth—that he who puts a stain upon his hearthstone and violates a wifely love shall pay a sure and dreadful penalty.

So it came to pass that at the very height of his glory, and in the full possession of his powers, an awful retribution came upon the great strong man. The shame of his splendid life had planted its poisons thick and deep, and the ruin was complete. A cloud fell upon the strong man's reason, and his majestic frame crumbled and withered with disease. Where then were his flatterers, and where the comely sirens that with their false charms had allured him from his hearthstone? At the first warning of impending ruin they disappeared like sunbeams before the advance of a thunder-cloud. Where was his fame now—where his greatness, the world's homage, the power of riches? All gone—all dissipated, or, at least, as futile against the hand of divine retribution as the winds that play around the top of the everlasting hills.

From a living dream whose horrors we may never know, the shattered, enfeebled man awakened one day. The cloud was lifted from his brain, and ere he went to his last judgment his eyes looked once more for a short moment upon the woman he had so grievously wronged. She, woman that she was, came with forgiveness on her lips and love in her broken heart, to minister to him in his last moments—to bear him back to the hearthstone he had abandoned. He felt her arms about his neck, and the death damp on his brow was warmed by her caresses.

Then, at last, we may suppose, this shattered fabric of human idolatry—felt and saw the incomparable sweetness and grandeur of wifely love. At least we are told he stretched out his hands to her as though he pleaded for forgiveness. His lips moved, but from them there came no sound—as if inexorable retribution decreed he should not tell that gentle, noble wife how sweetly her love soothed him. But we are told his eyes were fixed steadily upon her, and we know—yes, we know it well—they spoke tenderly and reverently to her, and pleaded, oh, so earnestly, for her love and compassion. We know, too, that all the love and compassion the dying great man craved was given freely—aye, even before his trembling hands and pleading eyes reached out for it.

Such is thy charity, O godlike womanhood! and in its sweetness and tenderness and purity God grant we may live and die!

Jacksonville and Gadsden Railroad.

The Gadsden correspondent of the Montgomery Advertiser, under date of Dec. 3rd, says:

"The railroad to Jacksonlle is now an assured fact and Gadsden will take a boom this coming spring that has only been equalled by the great prosperity that is now hanging over your magnificent city."

Cooking Husbands.

Baltimore American.

Miss Carson said at the Baltimore Cooking School that a Baltimore lady had written a recipe for "cooking husbands so as to make them tender and good." It is as follows: "A good many husbands are utterly spoiled by mismanagement. Some women go about it as if their husbands were bladders, and blow them up. Others keep them constantly in hot water; others let them freeze by their carelessness and indifference. Some keep them in a stew by irritating ways and words. Others toast them. Some keep them in pickle all their lives. It can not be supposed that any husband will be tender and good managed in this way, but they are really delicious when properly treated. In selecting your husband you should not be guided by the silvery appearance, as in buying mackerel, nor by the golden tint, as if you wanted salmon. Be sure to select him yourself, as tastes differ. Do not go to market for him, as the best are brought to your door. It is far better to have none unless you will patiently learn how to cook him. A preserving kettle of the finest porcelain is the best, but if you have nothing but an earthenware napkin, it will do with care. See that the linen in which you wrap him is nicely washed and mended, with the required number of buttons and strings nicely sewed on. Tie him in the kettle by a strong silk cord called comfort, as the one called duty is apt to be weak. They are apt to fly out of the kettle and be burned and crusty on the edges, since like crab and lobster you have to cook them while alive. Make a steady fire out of love, neatness, and cheerfulness. Set him as near this as seems to agree with him. If he sputters and fizzes, do not be anxious; some husbands do this till they are quite done. Add a little sugar in the form of what confectioners call kisses, but no vinegar or pepper on any account. A little spice improves them, but it must be used with judgment. Do not stick any sharp instrument into him to see if he is becoming tender. Stir him gently, watch the while less he lie too flat and close to the kettle, and so become useless. You cannot fail to know when he is done. If thus treated, you will find him very digestible, agreeing nicely with you and the children, and he will keep as long as you want, unless you become careless and set him in too cold a place."

The above was handed us by an esteemed lady friend with suggestion that it would be a good thing to publish. Now let some thoroughly cooked husband, whose wife has been enabled to say to him "well done, thou good and faithful" man, furnish us with a recipe for "preserving wives."

A wasp went buzzing to his work,
And various things did tackle:
He stung a boy and then a dog,
Then made a rooster cackle,
And last upon a drummer's cheek
He settled down to drill;
He prodded there for half an hour,
And then—he broke his bill.

Don't neglect your cough! Ayer's Cherry Pectoral will quickly cure it and prevent consumption.

High Per Cent. and Accounts.

WEAVERS, ALA., Dec. 8th 1885.

MR. GRANT:—The day of accounts has come and the merchants have got nearly all the cotton and will get a great deal of the corn. They are taking from Peter and selling to Paul. I guess they are needy or they would not press so hard. The only great wrong, as Rev. Mr. Dobbs said in his last sermon at Weavers, is the enormous per cent. charged. He said this class were not on their road to heaven. The golden rule and rule of equity should be the guide of every man, no matter what his avocation be. The merchants charge a very ruinous per cent., from 50 to 100. There are but few men who own lands and trade on a credit at such a per cent. and meet (as is termed) their legitimate demands in full. If merchants would charge a reasonable per cent. and guano was ruled out of Calhoun, nearly all classes could meet their liabilities and once more hold up their heads, and meet all men alike and say I owe no one. People are being harder pressed than any time since the war and money is scarcer. It seems that the great day of accounts and wrath has come and I don't know who will be able to stand. There are many judgments rendered against the good and the bad alike. Corn sold here as elsewhere for $1.25 on credit, meat 12½ cents per lb, while the same sold in cash markets of the county for 90 cents for corn and 9 to 10 cents for meat, which is a vast difference. The farmer is the slave of the merchant, bound in chains of mortgages, at an awful, unreasonable ruinous per cent. The only way to avert the inevitable overthrow is to curtail expenses, and make all farms self sustaining. Get down to the late war rules of living, until the tide of depression comes to a halt. All classes seem to be diligent in my community; they work hard and some have given up all they had, and are still in debt. These are adamantine times, so to speak. Oh for a closer walk after the plough and a restaint of expenses to lift us up to a standard of ease and comfort once more. If the legislature has the power I think it should regulate or limit a per cent. on goods as well as making 8 per cent. legal on our circulating medium.

A FARMER.

PROBABLY.

It has been somewhat indistinctly intimated that in some probable contingency Mr. Sam Noble will be an independent candidate for governor of Alabama and that contingency is said to be the nomination of Col. N. H. R. Dawson, of Selma.

Mr. Noble intimated last year in tolerably plain English that "if Cleveland should be elected he would close his furnaces." Mr. Cleveland was elected and has been inaugurated and Noble's furnaces are still running, and as if to show how little Noble knows about some things iron has advanced within the last few days $1 per ton under Cleveland.

Mr. Noble may be a considerable man at Anniston; he is rather a small man in Alabama. The democrats will nominate Col. Dawson if they see proper and Noble's purpose will cut no figure in the matter. He may run if he sees proper, but he will not get votes enough from democrats to wad a shotgun.—Selma Times.

Jacksonville and Gadsden Railroad.

The Gadsden correspondent of the Birmingham Age, under date of Dec. 4th says:

"Still Gadsden booms, and the work on the Gadsden & Jacksonville railroad commences on the 1st day of January. The people say they must have it at any cost. You see, its a case of sheer necessity—we must have it to live. Fifty thousand dollars is a good sum to be raised by so little a city as Gadsden, but it must be forthcoming. Then we shall send for Mr. Ben Roden and have him build us a system of street cars from Coosa river to the celebrated white sulphur springs, a distance of three miles."

The Republican.

DECEMBER 12, 1885.

THE PRESIDENTS' MESSAGE.

The Pressdent's Message was sent in to both houses of Congress Tuesday and was listened to with breathless attention. It is emi nently a business paper, written in such clear style that there is no mistaking his meaning at any point.

We learn from it that the relations of our country with foreign nations is cordial and free from embarrassment at any point.

He does not favor the Nicaraugu canal project as at present presented, but has a good word for Eads Ship railway across the Isthmus.

He is against further coinage of silver, and in this, will probably have a majority of his party in the House against him.

He approves the present policy of the government toward the Mormons, and intimates that he will approve other measures to stamp out polygamy, if present laws be found ineffectual.

He leaves the country to infer that he will not supply the Austrian Mission, since that country rejected the Minister sent it on religious grounds.

He denounces the recent outrages on the Chinese in the West. but wants such legislation as will be adequate to stop further Chi nese immigration.

He suggests the payment of salaries to U. S. District attorneys and marshals instead of the fees now given.

On the tariff he takes sound Democratic ground. Alluding to the fact that at the close of each fiscal year there is a surplus of over sixty millions of dollars, over and above the needs of the government, he says:

"The fact that our revenues are in excess of the actual needs of an economical administration of the Government, justifies a reduction in the amount exacted from the people for its support. Our government is but a means established by the will of a free people by which certain principles are applied which they have adopted for their benefit and protection, and it is never better administered and its true spirit is never better observed than when the people's taxation for its support is scrupu lously limited to the actual necessity of expenditure and distributed according to a just and equitable plan. The proposition with which we have to deal is a reduction of the revenue received by the government and indirectly paid by the people from common duties.

The question of free trade is not now involved, nor is there any occasion for the general discussion of the wisdom or expediency of a protective system. Justice and wisdom dictate that any modification of our present laws relating to the industries and interests which have been encouraged by such laws and in which our citizens have large investments, should not be ruthlessly destroyed. We should also deal with the subject in such a manner as to protect the interests of American labor, which is the capital of our workingmen. Its stability and proper remuneration furnish the most justifiable pretext for a protective system. Within these limitations a certain reduction should be made in our customs revenue.

The amount of such reduction having been determined the inquiry follows: Where can it best be remitted, and what articles can best be relieved in the interest of our citizens? I think the reduction should be made in the revenue derived from taxes upon the imported necessaries of life. We thus directly lessen the cost of living in every family of the land and release to the people in every humble home a larger measure of the rewards of frugal industry.

All the stone for the trimming of the new court house has reached here, after some delay on the part of the parties who were to furnish it, and the brick work of the building will be completed in ten or twelve days more, if there is fair weather. The building will be a very beautiful and tasteful one, of which the people of the county will feel justly proud. A marble tablet, containing the names of the Probate Judge and the four members of the Commissioners' Court, has been placed in the front wall of the building, near the main entrance.

In the main the weather has been very fine for the erection of the building, it having gone up so far without a single freeze upon it. Had the stone been furnished promptly, the whole of the brick work would have been up and the work of covering the building would now be in progress. These facts show the wisdom of the court in closing a contract when they did and putting the work well under way. Another month's delay would have thrown its construction into the dead of winter and the brick work could scarcely have escaped damage from freezes.

When it is completed the people of the county will have one of the very handsomest and entirely the most complete and convenient court house in the State, in which the very valuable records of the county will be entirely safe, and this without feeling the burden atall in an increased rate of taxation. The surplus revenues of the county will pay for it in a comparatively short while and the taxes of the people will not have to be increased, as was the case in Etowah, Cherokee and every other county of the State where new public buildings have gone up. Parties here are cashing the script of the county dollar for dollar and will wait for their money until the surplus revenues pay the script off. While on this subject we will say that some parties have tried to create a feeling of uneasiness in the county by telling the people that those here who hold this script will not keep faith with the county, but will absorb all the revenue as it comes into the treasury. Time will disprove this. Gentlemen here who are advancing the money for the county are honorable men and have never yet broken faith with any body. These same men who have tried to create uneasiness on this head, have also been telling people that the county has no title to the land on which the court house is now going up. An examination of the records will disprove this also. In conclusion we will say that a calm and unprejudiced examination of facts will disprove many other reports that have been set afloat in regard to the whole matter. Bad men can set many false statements and rumors afloat about any given transaction, but in process of time TRUTH comes jogging along and so illumines the subject as to put the authors of such stories to shame. Those members of the court who voted the appropriation and set the building going up, feel no uneasiness as to the verdict of the people in regard to the matter. They have a consciousness of having acted right and for the best interests of the people, and they have a calm confidence that the people will stand by them in it. Many who now oppose will take an opposite view when they have learned the full truth of the matter and have become dispossessed of prejudice engendered by a false presentation of the case by interested parties. The members of the court who voted for the appropriation have in no case gone about over the county and cast reflections upon the motives and actions of the minority of the court who opposed them. They have not thought such a course necessary to the vindication of their action. In this they have acted the part of honorable and high-toned gentlemen who are incapable of a dirty act, and in this course they merit the approval of all honorable and right thinking men.

FIRE IN OXFORD.—Tuesday night about 1 o'clock, a destructive fire occurred in Oxford. A high wind prevailed at the time, and but for the resistance offered by the con crete building of Mr. J. O. Cooper fully one half the town would have been laid in ashes. The fire is supposed to have originated from a swinging lamp in the Central hotel. The hotel was burned and nothing saved from it but two trunks. It was the property, so said, of Mr. John Floyd Smith and Mr. Ro. Humphries. Humphries and Ingram, general merchandise under the hotel were entirely burned out. Callahan's billiard saloon, Cowan's tin shop in the house belonging to Mr. Alf. Morgan and occupied in the upper story by him, and McCain's drug store were all burned. Little was saved from the fire. C. J. & O. W. Cooper suffered some loss in damage to goods removed from their store. The loss is stated at $20,000. with insurance to amount of $12,450.

Jacksonville sincerely sympathizes with her sister town in her misfortune, and hopes to see the burnt section soon covered by new and better buildings. The business men of Oxford are plucky and enterprising and will not allow this misfortune to set them back.

Congress has about got down to work. Up to this time it has done nothing of note. There will likely be a struggle in the House over the adoption of new rules.

Wm. H. Vanderbilt, the two hundred millionaire of New York, dropped dead Tuesday.

It any farmer can come to the conclusion that a high protective tariff is a good thing for the farmers then we want him to tell us why it is that there i a steady ine ease of wealth in the mining and manufacturing districts of the south and ever growing poverty of the agricultural districts.—Jacksonville Republican.

We will answer the question you put to "any farmer" by asking you one. Are not the farming lands around such mining and manufacturing cities as Birmingham, Chattanooga, Pittsburg, Cleveland, and a dozen others we might mention, more valuable than those around such cities depending alone upon agriculture like Montgomery, Memphis, Jackson, Mobile and others? And, if these mining and manufacturing cities are built up and through the operation of a protective tariff enhance the value of farming lands, how can you escape the conclusion that a protective tariff is a good thing for the farmer? Why are the farmers of Pennsylvania richer than their neighbors, the farmers of Virginia? If, by the aid of protection, we build up a hundred such manufacturing cities as Birmingham (and they are to be found scattered all over the state of Pennsylvania and other manufacturing states) all over the state of Alabama, would not the farm lands of Alabama become more valuable and the farmers enjoy more prosperity?—Birmingham Age.

Your question was answered in the very article you quote from. There is no good reason why lands, other than mineral lands, adjacent to a manufacturing city should be any higher than the same quality of lands adjacent to any other city of equal size. Both afford an equally good market for the products of such land.

The proposition that the farmers consent to have themselves taxed enormously on all they buy in order to build up cities, which in return may enhance the value of their lands is not a new one. It is simply this from the manufacturer: "You spare me enough from your earnings to make me rich, and then I will turn 'round and make you rich." The sensible farmer will reply; "Whatever I have to spare, I will put into improvements on my own farm, and enhance its value in that way. Your proposition may be a good one, Mr. Manufacturer, but my profit, under your plan, is entirely too far in the future. I propose to enjoy the fruits of my earnings while I live. Let every generation take care of itself. Let every tub stand on its own bottom. If you cannot get rich and build cities without claiming from 30 to 60 per cent, on every thing that I have to buy, you may change your business. God never gave you any claims on any part of the fruits of my labor, and any system of laws that does so is inequitable and unjust.

Bring us in some cotton seed for subscriptions.

Skilfully Performed.

For four years past Hodie Holcombe, son of Mr. W. D. Holcombe, of this city had been troubled with a rising on his neck. The rising made its appearance shortly after Hodie had recovered from the mumps. His parents and numerous friends were greatly troubled, and many physicians of skill and experience were consulted. He experienced no benefit and he began to despair of a permanent cure. He lost faith in doctors and their prescriptions and was loth to put himself under their treatment.

Some two months since Dr. J. C. LeGrande, a young and talented physician of this place, had a long conversation with the boy and finally succeeded in persuading him to submit to treatment. Hodie consulted his father and the treatment was begun. From the first he was relieved and just a few days ago Dr. LeGrande performed a surgical operation which has given almost entire relief.

Expression after expression of gratitude and delight over the result of the doctor's generous and effective skill have we heard from friends and relatives of his patient all over Anniston. We heartily congratulate Dr. LeGrande, who has added a brilliant plume to his professional cap, and we especially congratulate Hodie and his parents in that they have been relieved of so grievous a trouble.—Anniston Hot Blast.

There is no truth in the rumor that Mr. Ullman has offered the county five thousand dollars for the old court house, for a dry goods store.

Cotton receipts here have been good throughout the season, but this week there has been an unusual quantity on the streets. It has ruled from 8 to 9 cents.

MARRIED, on the 7th, inst., by G. B. Douthit, Esq., Jacob Gottleib to Mrs. Eliza McLuskey, all of Jacksonville, Ala.

The REPUBLICAN extends congratulations.

We commend to our neighbor, the Hot Blast, the remarks of one Grover Cleveland upon the tariff. It is a great deal better matter for a Southern Democratic paper to lay before its readers than are the speeches of an old Radical like Senator Morrill, of Vermont.

FURTHER IMPROVMENTS.—Mr. Carpenter is laying down the lumber to finish up three more rooms in the upper story of the building occupied by the REPUBLICAN. They will be finished up in first-class style and will make handsome offices.

FIRE AT ANNISTON.—A few nights ago the old livery stable of Mr. Dobbins, in Anniston, near the Oxanna line, was consumed by fire, and with it some valuable tools and material of Mr. M. E. Ezelle, who had a workshop in the building.

We hope our correspondents will not go into winter quarters with the cold weather. We like to have news from every part of the county each week, and every section should avail itself of the opportunity offered to advertise itself. "Out of sight, out of mind," applies to communities and localities as well as individuals.

HOUSE BLOWN DOWN.—A severe wind prevailed here Tuesday night, and a frame house of Casey Fox, a worthy negro man, that was in process of construction and almost completed, was blown down. The timbers were smashed and the damage was considerable to one in his circumstances. He is a steady and hard-working man and was building him a neat cottage, and people generally regret his loss.

MARRIED, Dec. 7th, 1885, at the parsonage, in Weaver's Station, by Rev. S. R. Emmerson, Mr. J. D. Crow and Miss Maggie Linder—both of Jacksonville.

Mr. Crow is a young man of fine business capacity, at present in business at Rome, Ga. The lovely bride is the daughter of Dr. Linder of this place. It was not a runaway match by any means, the engagement of the parties having been long understood. The young people preferred a quiet marriage and quietly rode down to the parsonage and had the ceremony performed. The REPUBLICAN extends congratulations.

CONCERT.—There will be a concert at the college on the night of the 21st of this month, for the purpose of raising funds to make the building more comfortable for the pupils. It will be a treat and well worth the price of admission. The people of Jacksonville ought to turn out largely to such an entertainment. It comes during the holiday season when everybody feels like spending something for their enjoyment. This, taken in connection with the purpose for which the concert is given, ought to and will no doubt crowd the house. We have not been informed what the admission fee will be, but it will no doubt be moderate so that every member of every household may be enabled to attend.

BE CAREFUL—If the boys will burst fire crackers on the streets during the holidays, they ought to have too much good sense and prudence to fire them near any building. A few nights ago some boxes were exploded on the portico of the buildings next to the hotel, and it is a wonder some of the burning paper did not get through the open floor and set fire to the dry and combustible trash beneath. A fire in Jacksonville at this time would greatly set the town back, and the boys ought to have more interest in the welfare of their town than to jeopardize its interests merely for the sake of a little fun. We repeat, if they will burst fire crackers, let them keep in the open streets and away from buildings. We hope also that they will respect the rights of private property too much to be carrying off gates and signs during the nights of the holidays. There is very little fun in such things, and such conduct is altogether unmanly and impolite. Jacksonville prides herself on her boys, and we do not want to see them guilty of anything that will inconvenience or hurt the feelings of others. Christmas holiday ought to be a season of general good will and each should strive to make every other one happy and not unhappy and uneasy by rude pranks and reckless use of fire crackers.

All who owe us will please come forward and settle their accounts, we need money and must have it. Crow, Bros.

PERSONAL.

Hon. Jno. D. Hammond and H. F. Montgomery Esq., went to Montgomery to represent respectively the lodges of Jacksonville and Pecks Hill in the Grand Longe of F. A. M. recently in session.

A large party of people left the Jacksonville depot Tuesday night for Texas, among them Mr. Robt Adams, of this place. Mr. Adams has a brother in Texas and he goes to join him. Mr. Adams is an active, honest and thorough-going gentleman and Jacksonville regrets much to give him up. His family will remain until he knows whether he is satisfied with Texas or not. We hope to see him return.

Rev. S. R. Emmerson, the new Methodist minister paid us a call Monday. He will live at the parsonage, at Weaver's and visit Jacksonville monthly. He preached here Sunday and made a very favorable impression upon our people We hope he may be the means of accomplishing great good during his pastorate of this church.

Rev. J. F. Smith, pastor of St Luke's Episcopal church of this place, who now lives in Talladega, paid the REPUBLICAN a call Monday. Mr. Smith formerly lived in Jacksonville and is greatly esteemed and beloved by people of all denominations here. We hope he will move back some day.

Mr. W. T. Alexander, of Gadsden, paid the REPUBLICAN a flying visit Monday He had barely time to pay his respects and give us a word of cheer on the question of railroad connection between Gadsden and Jacksonville. He says that live men of Gadsden are pushing it and that it is bound to come.

John M. Patterson, Esq., one of Calhoun's best men and most successful farmers, brought to the REPUBLICAN office Tuesday an enormous cabbage of his raising. He is one of the few men of this county who can raise cabbages. He does it by letting the weeds take the plant until late in July and then working it out in time to catch the rains of that season.

Mr. Patton and Mr. Kimbrel came down from Rome Tuesday to lay off the work for the second story of the court house, the first story having been completed. Mr. Kimbrel is Mr Patton's foreman in woodwork and has been with him some years He is a son of Mr. Manning Kimbrel and was raised in Jacksonville

Maj Jno M. Wyly and Mr. J. L. Mattison two of the livest railroad men of the South were in Jacksonville the early part of this week.

Deputy Marshal A. O Stewart was in town Wednesday. He has rented the Mr. C. J. Porter place and will live in Jacksonville next year. Mr. Stewart is one of the most efficient officers in the service of the government

Dr. B. S. Evins, of White Plains, was in town Wednesday and paid the REPUBLICAN office a visit. He reports quite a painful accident to a son of Mr. Borders, of Choccoloco valley, by which the young man had a hand badly hurt.

Mr. R. B. Kelly, with his family have returned to their home here, after a protracted visit to Talladega county.

Mr. S. D. G. Brothers went to Oxford Wednesday, and to him we are indebted for an account of the fire there.

Bricklayers Persimmon Hunt.

BY A PARTICIPANT.

"Here we go to fetch them in a bag!"

So away they started. Big Frank on a dead run for a big persimmon tree; but oh, Frank is on top of—What? Why a sweet gum tree.

He said, "don't give it away, it beats the possum hunt." So Frank again took the lead for a button ball tree.

Some one in the crowd cried out "Ar'nt they big ones?"

LaCroix said, "Look at the cherries!"

McFarland said he never knew cherries to grow on a black gum tree.

McFarland now says when he goes with Big Frank to hunt persimmons, he will take him down to Brady's patent gate and pick persimmons off the hinges.

Frank is a daisy to open a gate for a team of greys.

COUNTY AFFAIRS.

CROSS PLAINS.

New Preacher--Sunday Schools--Off for Texas and California--Married-Storm &c.

CROSS PLAINS, Ala., Dec. 9.—The REPUBLICAN did not reach this office last week until Sunday. Your numerous readers here are greatly put out when it fails to come in on time. [The papers were put in the Post-office Friday morning.—ED. REP.

Rev. D. L. Parrish, our new Methodist minister, preached his introductory sermon last Sunday to a large audience. It was a very fine effort and was listened to with marked attention. Mr. Parrish has made a good impression upon our people, and we hope his stay with us will be both profitable and pleasant.

The Cumberland Presbyterian Sunday school will have their Christmas tree on the night of the 24th inst., the Methodists on the night of the 25th, and the Baptists on the night of the 26th. What a fine time the little folk will have Christmas week! Everybody is invited.

About twenty persons left for Texas last Tuesday from our depot. These parties were from different parts of the county and among them were some of our best citizens. We very much dislike to see our county folks go off, but suppose they think it best. We trust they will realize their fondest expectations in the Lone Star State.

Mr. Lon Cowden left for California last Monday Lon has gone on a long journey and we wish him success in his new home.

Mr. Editor what a restless world is this! Every year witnesses the breaking up of happy homes the separation of dear friends and the severing of ties most sacred; all to gratify a desire for change. But I suppose there is no way to stop it.

The telegraph office at the East Tenn., Depot has been discontinued, and hereafter all such business will be dispatched at the transfer yard just below town. There was no need for both offices and as the latter was the most important it was continued. The present arrangement is not quite so convenient for our people, but we will soon become accustomed to the change. The telegraph office of the East & West road still remains in the business portion of the town.

Married in the Store of Mr. D. C. Savage last Tuesday, Uncle Noel Dudley and Mrs. Mary Ann Hulsey. Esquire Whitlock tied the knot in a very graceful manner and sent the happy couple on their way rejoicing. We wish uncle Noel and his bride many years of unalloyed happiness.

Our town was visited by quite a storm of wind and rain last Tuesday night which frightened some of our citizens badly. No harm was done save a few fences were blown down.

ANNISTON.

Railroad Prospects--Prospectors--Discontinuance of the Order System--Wagon Road--Municipal Affairs--The Churches--New Preacher.

ANNISTON, Dec. 9.—Our people rejoice over the prospect of another railroad. We are reliably informed that work will begin on the Anniston & Northern railroad the 1st of January. We are also informed, that as soon as this road is completed, the East & West road will come to Anniston, which will give us five roads.

Several gentlemen from the North have been in this city this week prospecting. The indications are now more favorable for a substantial "boom" in Anniston than at any time since the town was opened to the public.

The Woodstock Iron Co., will discontinue the order system the 1st of January, and will pay their hands off in money twice a week. Most of the merchants are delighted with the proposed change, as it gives each an equal showing.

Some of our citizens are discussing the question of improving the road leading from here to Dark Corner. A good road from this part of the county would be a great convenience to the people who live in that part of the county, and quite an addition to the trade of Anniston.

The municipal election is likely to be a quiet one. About six men have been mentioned for Mayor, none of whom seem anxious to make the race. It is hoped that every interest, every part of the town, and every man in it, will have a fair showing, and that men will be elected who will be liberal, fair and progressive, and that the administration of 1886 will be a blessing to the city.

The Episcopal church will be completed about the 1st of January. This is one of the finest churches in the State.

The members of the Baptist church at this place have made some improvements on their church, which adds greatly to its appearance.

Rev. J. T. Morris, the new pastor for the Methodist church, preached last Sunday. The people are well pleased with him.

Gratefulness.

Mrs. H. Sampsel, Ottawa, Kansas, writes: "DR. S. B. HARTMAN & Co. Columbus, O.—Gentlemen: I have suffered for seven years; have tried every thing and many physicians, and all have failed. I went to Pittsburgh, and while there fell on the street, my breath seemed to leave my lungs, and numbness overpower me. I determined to give PERUNA and MANALIN a fair trial. I used four bottles of each, and my trouble left, never, I hope, to return. I left Pittsburgh three weeks ago for Kansas, and thought, as I was going to a new country, I had better take a bottle of MANALIN with me, on account of bad water, etc. I arrived here with one-half bottle. I found one of my friends in a pretty bad condition. The doctors were treating her for chills and fever. I did not know what her trouble was, though I persuaded her to use the MANALIN. She did so, and the first day she was up doing her work. Now this seems strange, but it is, nevertheless, a candid truth. She used it all, and has never had cause to lie down during the day since she took the first three doses."

A Case that was Pronounced Incurable.

Miss C. C. Peck, 714 Jackson street, Milwaukee, Wis., writes: "DR. S. B. HARTMAN & Co.—Gentlemen: I take great pleasure in stating to you the benefit I received from your valuable PERUNA. I have been suffering for about fifteen years with a severe cough and bronchitis (so the doctors call it). I was treated by different physicians, and spent considerable money for different kinds of patent medicines, but received no benefit whatever. Dr. Fox, of this city, claimed I had consumption, and there was no hope for me ever getting better. I was so bad that I coughed almost continually. Mrs. Henry Ellis, a friend of mine, induced me to try your PERUNA. I am happy to say I began to notice a change after I had taken my second bottle. I took eight bottles in all, and now I feel like a new woman. If it hadn't been for PERUNA I think I would be in my grave now. It is a wonderful remedy, and I recommend it to all my friends."

Messrs. Baker Bros., Mt. Vernon, O., write: "Your PERUNA sells well. Customers speak of it as being a good medicine."

Mr. Daniel R. Spry, Portsmouth, O., writes: "I have a good trade in PERUNA. It sells well and gives satisfaction."

WHAT DO YOU THINK?

I had sworn to be a bachelor, she had sworn to be a maid,
For we both agreed in doubting whether matrimony paid,
Besides I had my higher aims, for science filled my heart,
And she said her young affections were all wound up in her art.
So we laughed at those wise men who say that friendship cannot live
'Twixt man and woman, unless each has something else to give.
We would be friends, and friends as true as e'er were man and man,
I'd be a second David, and she Miss Jonathan.
We'd like each other, that was all and quite enough to say,
So we just shook hands upon it in a business sort of way.

We shared our sorrows and our joys, together hoped and feared,
With common purpose sought the goal which young ambition reared.
We dreamed together of the days, the dream bright days to come,
We were strictly confidential and called each other "chum."
And many a day we wandered together o'er the hills—
I seeking bugs and butterflies, and she the ruined mills
And rustic bridges and the like, which picture-makers prize
To run in with their waterfalls, and groves, and sunny skies.
And many a quiet evening, in hours of full release,
We floated down the river or loafed beneath the trees,
And talked in long gradation from the poet to the weather,
While the summer skies and my cigars burned slowly out together.
But through it all no whispered word or tell-tale look or sigh
Told aught of warmer sentiment than friendly sympathy.
We talked of love as coldly as we talked of nebulæ,
And thought no more of being one than we did of being three.

"Well, good-bye, old fellow," I took her hand, for the time had come to go,
My going meant our parting, when to meet we did not know,
I had lingered long and said farewell with a very heavy heart,
For though we were but friends, you know, 'tis hard for friends to part;
"Well, good-bye old fellow, don't forget your friends across the sea,
And some day when you've lots of time, just drop a line to me."
The words came lightly, gayly, but a great sob just behind
Rose upward with a story of quite a different kind;
And then she raised her eyes to mine, great liquid eyes of blue,
Full to the brim and running o'er, like violets' cups with dew;
One long, long look, and then I did what I never did before—
Perhaps the tear meant friendship, but I think the kiss meant more.

SOUND ON THE TARIFF.

What Congressman Sadler Says and Thinks.

Hon. Thos. W. Sadler, of Prattville, left for Washington Monday night. In an interview with him an Advertiser reporter found him one of the soundest of sound on the tariff question. He in effect said that his views of government were expressed in the clause of our bill of rights in these words: "That the sole object and only legitimate end of government is to protect the citizens in the enjoyment of life, liberty and property; and when the government assumes other function, it is usurpation and oppression." He further said, that he was not fool enough to suppose that taxation in any form, could create wealth (however it might redistribute it by taking from one industry and giving to another); and that he was too honest to become a conscious deluder of the public by pretending that farmers are not hurt by increasing the price of what they buy, which was the effect and purpose of protective tariffs. Here is one of our Congressmen, then, who is in favor of honest government, and consequently is opposed to tariff not rated and levied for revenue only. Long may he live. —Montgomery Advertiser.

Miss Virginia C. Clay, of Huntsville, is an ornament to her sex and an honor to her state. During the illness of her father, J. Withers Clay, Esq., she has undertaken the difficult task of conducting his paper, the Huntsville Democrat. She not only does the work of getting out and preparing the copy, but the additional labor falls to her lot of setting up most of the type. She is doing her work well and adding another to the list of Alabama's heroines and great women.—Montgomery Advertiser.

Excitement in Texas.

Great excitement has been caused in the vicinity of Paris, Tex., by the remarkable recovery of Mr. J. E. Corley, who was so helpless he could not turn in bed, or raise his head; everybody said he was dying of Consumption. A trial bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery was sent him. Finding relief, he bought a large bottle and a box of Dr. King's New Life Pills; by the time he had taken two boxes of Pills and two bottles of the Discovery, he was well and had gained in flesh thirty-six pounds.

Miss Nellie Kent,

(Wellington, Lorain county, O., writes: "Dr. S. B. Hartman & Co., Columbus, O., Gentlemen: I have been a great suffrer fro n chronic catarrh, bronchitis and neuralgia of the face. I have been taking your Peruna for one month. The neuralgia and catarrh is almost well, and the cough is much better. I like your Peruna very much."

C. E. Dupler, aged thirty-four years, of Equality, Illinois, had been affected with a chronic catarrh which he first discovered six years ago. In succession he lost his smell, taste and hearing. The disease was so malignant that it not only attacked the softer parts, but destroyed the bony partition of the nose and seriously affected the external parts. He could only hear a watch ticking by holding it close to his ear. He suffered intense pain in the nose, from which green, dry clots of offensive odor fell. In this condition he presented himself to Dr. Hartman several months ago. He can now hear a watch eight inches from his right and six inches from his left ear. His taste and smell are again returning, and the external part of the nose is quite well. Few more grateful patients ever left a physician's office than Mr. Dupler. He said, "Why in the world was Peruna not prescribed for me long ago?"

Cramps of the Stomach.

We have the privilege of reporting the following case. Those similarly affected can get the name and address of Dr. Hartman. The lady does not want her name in the papers. For a year, or years, (the writer does not remember the length of time.) this lady had cramps, the most fearful, of the stomach, every day and night, "which would be followed by that terrible weakness, which was something wonderful." The suffering and distress of this lady was indescribable and almost unendurable. After all the physicians and medicines had failed, and all hope had almost fled, Dr. Hartman was consulted, and from the first day of taking his Peruna, the cramps and all bad feeling left her, and now for over a month has been entirely free from every symptom. A more thankful patient no doctor ever had.

Mr. Boggs, druggist, Charlestown, Kanawha Co., W. Va., writes: "Peruna sells well here and gives good satisfaction. Customers speak well of it."

Dr. J. Anderson, Coshocton, Ohio writes: "Your Peruna sells well and gives good satisfaction. I consider it a splendid medicine."

The Republican.

PERSONAL.

Gen. Forney is at home for the holidays.

Messrs. George and Dan Broyles are back from Texas for a season.

We are sure none of our subscribers will begrudge the holiday we give our printers this week.

Mr. Jake Green and family have moved from Alexandria to Jacksonville, and will occupy the Jno. M. Crook residence the coming year.

Messrs. John W. Gidley and Mance Nunnelly left here Tuesday night for Arlington Texas. Both have lived near Jacksonville a long while, and both are good citizens whom the country cannot well spare. We hope they will do well in Texas.

Register Brooks of Gadsden, was over this week. He says Gadsden means business and will commence reaching out for Jacksonville January 1st. He thinks the people of Gadsden do not have much confidence in Mr. Fawcetts ability to build it.

Just received a fine line of cigars, smoking and chewing tobacco and cigaretts, at the depot for sale by
C. E. BONDURANT.

As stated last week, we only issue a half sheet this week, in order to carry over the legal advertisements. Much local news and correspondence is crowded out, most of which will appear in next issue.

If you want a good smoke call on Bondurant at the depot.

Jacksonville has received more cotton this week than in any previous week this season. As much cotton, (lacking one hundred bales) has been already received here as any entire season of the last few years. Jacksonville has paid the very highest prices the market elsewhere would admit of and those who have sold here have doubtless done better than those who have sold in any market of the county.

Take a hand in Bondurant's "Jack Pot" something new and good.

We have received a communication from a very reliable and substantial gentleman on the southern border of the county touching the recent action of the Commissioners' Court on the matter of escaped taxes of the Wood stock Iron Company, in which the writer applauds Judge Woods and Commissioners Watson and Stewart; but we have no room for it this week, as well as for other communications of like character and locals. All will find place in the next paper after this one.

Christmas.

A very choice lot of Confectionaries, Malaga Grapes, Nuts of all kinds, Oranges, Apples, Raisins, Figs and everything desirable for making up a nice Christmas box, cheaper than anywhere else, at F. M. DAVIS.

Mince Meat, Cranberries, Currants, Oat Meal, Grist, Buckwheat Flour, Pigs Feet, Cabbage, Sausage, and many other things that will go to make up a fine Christmas dinner, cheaper than anywhere else, at F. M. DAVIS.

That "Northern Beauty" at Bondurant's can't be beat.

Our limited space will not admit of such notice as the concert at the college deserves. The concert was huriedly gotten up, but thanks to the accomplished ladies who consented to sing, the pupils who participated and Mr. Winters of Chattanooga, it was a highly pleasing entertainment. The fund raised by the concert will go to the ceiling and otherwise improving of the primary school room. A supper will be given, in the college, at some time during the holidays for the same purpose. It is the design of the faculty not only to make this room (the large hall) comfortable, but attractive. In this every one who sends a child to school will no doubt heartily participate.

The firemens' oyster supper Tuesday night was a great success both socially and financially. All who attended are unstinted in their praises of the way the young gentlemen managed the affair.

The streets have been crowded all week with people who came to trade. The times look like anything else but dull here.

At last accounts Mrs. Loifland was still at large. Loifland and wife once traveled through this country selling lightning rods.

To Sell Cheap A one horse wagon and harness. Apply to LARKIN CANNON.

To Rent. I want to rent the Stevenson place two miles south of Jacksonville for the ensuing year. Good buildings, good water, good fences and good land.

FINAL SETTLEMENT.

In Probate Court for said County, Special Term Dec. 21st 1885.

This day came A. F. Allen, Administrator of Estate of L. L. Allen, jr., deceased and filed in Court his account and vouchers for a final settlement of said estate.

It is therefore ordered by the Court that the 16th day of January 1886 be and is hereby appointed the day upon which to audit and pass upon said account and make said settlement; and that notice thereof be given for three successive weeks in the Jacksonville Republican, a newspaper printed and published in said county, as a notice to all persons concerned to be and appear before me, at my office in the Court House of said county, on said 16th day of January 1886 and contest said settlement if they think proper.
