EDUCATION A SAFE INVESTMENT

Many men are striving to accumulate riches to leave for their children after death. They go in the form of land, stocks, bonds, or money. As we have seen from the depression of the past few years fortunes can be lost overnight. It is difficult to know what investments are the safes. The whole idea of one investment that a man can make and feel absolutely safe. That investment is the education of his children. There are no stocks, bonds and homes which may become worthless but an education is something that cannot be lost, neither can it be taken from a person who has it. Every parent should therefore be anxious to have his children educated in the primary and secondary grades, junior or senior high school this year should see that a way is provided for a continuation of the education possible. No one would be interested in the advancement for the child but it also good life insurance for the child.

The country needs a better educated set of people. If our democracy is to continue in the same way we must have clear thinking and those who can consider the difficult problems which we are facing at the present time. We therefore need trained leaders who will enable us to win the uninterested citizenship who can think clearly and know which leaders should be followed. Within a few years of today's world will be in control of the government. This is the most important of facts and we expect competent and efficient government.

SHOULD THE HABITS OF TEACHERS BE DIFFERENT?

Many arguments have been heard by the writer in recent weeks concerning the attitude of teachers. It would not be correct to say that teachers do not care about their pupils. It has been stated by many individuals that teachers should have the same rights and privileges in their social life as are enjoyed by other individuals. These statements are correct in many respects. Teachers should enjoy all rights of citizenship. They should have a right to vote as they please and should have a right to their own opinions. There are some things which a teacher does not have a right to do. Since the teacher is the model for the children of the community to follow it is necessary that he be a credit to the community. It is known that all the children of the community can be advised to follow the example set by the teacher.

If teachers smoke, drink, or gamble he will have no influence over the children or the parents will be unwilling to let their children be the students of a teacher who gets away from the life in the community it is difficult for the mothers to influence their daughters in a different way. This sort of an influence is not exercised by teachers. A teacher who is showing the way forward in some cases that are individual who enter slightly into the lives of the young people. It is quite difficult with the teachers. They should be the most influential men in the community and they should conduct themselves that every mother and every father will be willing for their children to imitate every move they make. It requires a great sacrifice for a person to give up some pleasures in order to meet the requirements. Those people who are willing to make the sacrifices should enter the profession, who are not willing to make the sacrifices should engage in other type of work.

EQUAL RIGHTS FOR ALABAMA BOYS AND GIRLS

Many has been said about the progress and from the platform recently about the important places being filled by the TVA with people from outside of Alabama. It is something which should be presented by every one. If we look at it we find that the same thing is true in the large corporations that have been located in Alabama. It is stated that only 10 per cent of the people in Alabama with an income of over $25,000 a year, above, are native born Alabamians. The other 90 per cent are people who were born, reared, and educated in other states. We are fortunate that we have so efficient people coming to this state but it is a debatable fact for Alabama boys and girls to be denied the opportunities of holding the most desirable positions in the state. If we think back to the past we see that in the past we see that in the past we can lay the blame on no one but ourselves. Any state that permits its children to be educated in the Federal Government up to extend the school term to a normal length may expect her citizens to be greatly handicapped. Every citizen of the state should see to it that Alabama boys and girls are given equal opportunity and advantage with children of other states. We have not done that during the past three years. With a new administration beginning in 1929 the future thought in the minds of all people should be to fund a school term with well trained teachers who are paid a living wage for all seasons. We should support the institutions of higher learning to such an extent that leaders can be trained in Alabama as efficiently as they can be trained in any other state in the union.

TEACOLA STAFF IS REORGANIZED FOR SUMMER QUARTER

Members of the Teacola staff met in the office of A. C. Shelton last Friday and perfected a reorganization for the coming semester. The following people were selected to fill the vacancies:
Editor-in-chief: Mildred Howell
Business manager: Jasper Buckner
Associate editor: Virginia Segars
Sports editor: Lorene Browning
Associate sports editor: Eleanor Atchison
Demonstration School editor: Paul Beck
Editor-at-Large: A. C. Shelton

WITH THE ALUMNI

Many former Jacksonville students are making a mighty effort to revitalize the field in years of the present. Henry P. Smith of Coosa County has established the highest number of votes for Tax Collector and 100 citations that he will be elected by a safe majority.

Charles Thompson is in the run-off for the office of County Superintendent of Education for Coosa County. Thompson received only nineteen votes less than were polled by the present superintendent.

J. Fred Oxley of Oxford is in the run-off for the Tax Collector of Calhoun County.

John Holland is making the race for a seat in the legislature from Fayette County. Holland has registered a vote in the first primary and hopes to win in the second primary.

L. C. McPherson polled the highest number of votes for any candidate in the race for District Attorney. McPherson received 1,300 votes in the first primary and 1,500 votes in the second primary.

Evelyn Powell is in the run-off for a seat in the legislature from DeKalb County. He feels that he has the standard chance of winning the Democratic nomination.

J. A. Pruitt, a graduate of the two-year course, received for the Boy's De- view from Alabama the principal of New Site High School. Alexander City, received the principalship of commemorative exercises at the State Teachers College last week.

J. O. McCracken is principal of the school at Jasper, where he is the principal of Coosa County. McCracken and family attended commemorative exercises last week.

Dis集装opped is only a challenge to me. I will continue writing for the Teacola and unless I mine once more every body who has criticized me so severely will yet see me serving as Editor-in-Chief.

Sincerely, A. K.
Note—This is a true account of a paper, "Can You Be Done with Getting an Education," which was written by a student for his English composition.

If you were John, you would have been passionate about education. You would have studied diligently and excelled in your studies, just as John did. You would have carried the weight of the educational system on your shoulders and felt the need to challenge the status quo.

The TEACOLA

PERSONALS

Ruthie Norrall spent the week end with her parents in Woodville.

Mrs. Myrtie Pitts of Clinton has been the guest of Mrs. Pitts for the past week.

Miss Mary Frances Cooper spent last week with her parents at Ken- nedy, where she attended school for the summer quarter.

Jim Clark, Clara E. Eiders, Beulah Woody, and Dorothy Barrow visited United States in Chambers county this week.

Mr. Maynard Howard spent last week with his parents at Cordova. We understand that he is now receiving degrees from Jackson State College for the summer quarter.

James B. McDonald, Bonita Hamlet, W. T. Porter, Irene Tevel, and Mrs. J. M. Brown of Jacksonville have received degrees from Jackson State College.

PUBLIC BUILDINGS

It is not unusual to see public buildings occupied by ignorant people, but it is unusual to see them use them as a means of recreation. In fact, it is very rare that they use them in such a manner.

The Masters Degree

It is almost unbelievable that some college students will spend their time in walls of fine buildings by marking marks on them or in such a manner. This is true, but it is also true that such behavior is not uncommon.

ALUMNI OFFICERS ELECTED MONDAY

The annual business meeting of the alumni of the Jackson State State College was held on Monday morning with President J. Franklin Odom presiding.

The names of the alumni officers are as follows:

President: W. C. Daughtite, Jr., was made president; for vice presi- dent, Mrs. Louis Buttrum; for secretary, Richard L. Waters; for treasurer, Mrs. H. L. Johnson; and for auditor, Mrs. Hattie Bond.

THE ZEPHYR

In Memoriam

Miss Weatherly, The Student's Friend

By Dr. W. E. B. Du Bois

Probably no one is in a greater need of an understanding friend than Miss Weatherly, the student who is passing into the grave.

An aerosol of a certain mid-winter cold is reported to have taken a recent shower with a writer for Good Housekeeping Maga- zine. "I had a cold and I wanted to make sure that I knew no one, was young, green, innocent, trudging through comfortably before the symptoms of the shivering into my coat collar, and wishing I were somewhere else. I was beginning to picture what the home folks were all doing about now. I was fascinated, I guess. I'm a fraid, when I heard a friendly call say, 'Walk with me, lad,' I was glad, and taking hold of the young lad leading his umbrella, taking me in. It was so cold, the falling snow was cold, and I was happy and hopeful once more, glad to be going to college. Through all the years since then his umbrella has stood for him, and it has spread throughout the wild winds that come with him through college years was unable to stop with his college work.

On a different campus and in her own way, Miss Florence Weatherly invited students to a reception with extended umbrella, friendly call, and many words of encouragement, only helped to keep off the rain of disfavor and disappointment but also helped to shape the current of our thought and life. She not only offered them a home in her in- tent, but she also opened her heart, her home, and her pocketbook to the students. That is something that is too often passed through the opened door of the years of her service recalls the old days of hospitality that showed herself as their friend as the secretary and general office helper. They read most of the books in their leisure and occasion when she as a faculty member is found to be the same as the secretary and general office helper. They read most of the books in their leisure. But it was probably as a teacher that she impressed the students. Her sympathy was so marked in the most significant and sound sense. The most effective teaching in every case is unnecessary by precept. If teachers would have their students do what they feel in their hearts, they would be sympathetic, sympathetic, helpful, patient, and possessing self-control, they would be far more effective than they are at present.

MARSHA JEAN MINOR MAKES GOOD RECORD

Marsha Jean Minor, Bir- thday of the year, attended the class at the Jackson State College during the past two years. Of the 100, the quarter hours of credit required for graduation, she has earned 33.5. She took an average of 90.9 on her final examination and 91.7 in her class work. Miss Minor was active in student activities and was a member of the Morgan Literary So- ciety, Y. W. C. A. The Geography Club, and the Home Economics Club, and gave readings on various occasions.

She is a 1923 graduate of Minor High School, Reidsville, and received her bachelor's degree diploma here Monday, May 30.

I heard of a man that put trou- ble to work the other day—he gave it to his worst enemy.

Mr. Hendrix has a memory like a state wide sponges. He is one of those men he has used since his first year here.
The student body joined in singing the school song which was composed by Mrs. Ada Pitts and the chorus was under the direction of its president. The assembly was attended by members of the faculty and several hundred students.

The school and stated that no better facilities could be found in any school than those in the Jacksonville High School. The entire city school system is under the direction of Mr. J. Valentine, principal, and the Jacksonville teachers are the best trained and most devoted teachers in the state. Miss Martha Wood, Jacksonville, the second year of teaching, is one of the most earnest and capable teachers in the system. She is a graduate of the State Normal School, and received her degree with a grade of "A." It was also stated by Miss Wood that the parents receiving degrees are now able to receive full credit from the most highly trained graduate schools throughout the country.

Cordelia Hubley, President, presented the Sophomore class, spoke on what students can do on the campus to help the campus. He urged the loyalty at all times to the school, faculty, and student body. He also urged the students to develop the high standards of scholarship and morals that people over the state desire to see. The students with the highest grades are the most desirable place from which to obtain them.

Mr. Helen Mcllwee, President, spoke on the life and work of students in the institution. She called for full attention to the good work that is being done.

The Literary Societies, the Y. W. C. A. M. C. A., the National Geographic Club, the art club, etc., urged the students to forget about grades and to work for the highest grades.

The student body joined in singing the school song which was composed by Mrs. Ada Pitts and the chorus was under the direction of its president. The assembly was attended by members of the faculty and several hundred students.
