The National Magazine of Commerce which is published in New York City also carried a picture of Dr. C. W. Dauge and a picture of Bibb Graves Hall in the August issue. Calhoun Literary Society For Men Hold Meeting Tuesday Evening, Oct. 16

The Calhoun Literary Society for Men met at Bibb Graves Hall Tuesday evening, October 16. In the absence of the president the meeting was called to order by Clyde Brown and a short program was rendered. Devotional exercises were conducted by Reece McKibbens, after which Boyd Huff made a short talk in which he discussed tentative plans for the year's work. The proposed plan for programs for the next several meetings calls for an intensive study of the life, philosophy and achievements of John C. Calhoun, for whom the Society is named.

Pink Love one of the speakers for the Calhoun Society in 1933-34 made a short talk in which he called attention to the past achievements of the society and emphasized the need for every member to cooperate if the past record is to be maintained.

The annual Calhoun-Morgan Debate is still months ahead but plans are already being made for this great event. The hardest fight in years is to be staged this year if Calhoun spirit is any indication of the future.

GUARD YOUR CONDUCT CAREFULLY

Many students who have been accustomed to the care of their parents at home are now finding themselves in places where more freedom is permitted. It is good to have freedom and every person should develop self-control in this way. The best advice for any person to follow is that of his parents. If the parents object to any activity all young men and young women will do well to satisfy their wishes and desires. Students should remember that their conduct is being watched by other students and by people of the town. They should not for one minute think that they can do things here and get by with them. Some may think that they will escape the notice of other people but the chances are that any misconduct will be regretted later in life.

THE GOOD WORK OF THE STUDENTS

The students are to be commended for their splendid work on the Teacola. Practically every member of the staff is a regular contributor and the material which is being contributed is of an excellent type. Others than staff members are also showing a splendid spirit of cooperation for which members of the staff are very grateful. Contributions are welcomed from all members of the student body and every student should feel it his duty to make a contribution in one way or another during the year.

The Teacola now takes its place as one of the best student publications in this section of the country in spite of the fact that it is only six months old. Indications are now that it will continue to improve and will soon be recognized as the outstanding publication of its kind.

EXTENSION COURSES

Wonderful opportunities are available to those teachers who are interested in taking extension courses. By taking one course each year much credit can be accumulated during the period of a few years. At the same time credit is being earned, much development in a professional way may be accomplished by the teachers who avail themselves of these opportunities. The general impression is that those teachers who always take extension courses are the best teachers. This is true in a large measure and we may continue to expect more of those who want to improve themselves to be able to render more efficient service. We can hardly say as much for those who are now forced to take courses to raise their certificates. It would have been much easier if they had become ambitious for credits a little sooner. The young teachers should not fail to take advantage of every opportunity for self-improvement. No better time can be found than now for earning college credits and it should be done in a conservative and legitimate way.

FRIENDLINESS AN ASSET TO ALL

The majority of the students of the State Teachers College have already a wide reputation for their friendliness. Many new students have entered the school with a fear of becoming homesick and have been so well entertained by the other students that no thoughts of homesickness ever occurred to them. We do observe some students who do not have the habit of smiling and being friendly. It is hoped that all of these people will realize that they are missing much in life by not wearing a smile and having a friendly word for every person they meet.

No better way of developing personality can be found than that of developing the habit of cheerfulness and friendliness. All students must remember that they are preparing to go out into various communities as teachers and leaders. Who wants to follow a "grouch"? Many who do not mean to be grouchy give that appearance to those with whom they come in contact by not being friendly. Every student and teacher on the campus should speak to every other student and teacher in the most cheerful way possible. You do not need formal introduction on the Jacksonville campus. The spirit of Jacksonville is such that every person should be on good terms with every other person and they should show it in their actions.

Form the habit of speaking to people today and don't leave the wrong impression with those whom you meet.

A goal of the teaching profession and those who are socially and educationally minded is a uniformly high standard in teacher training throughout the nation. At present the standards range from very poor to excellent. A Department of Education with a Secretary in the President's Cabinet would be most helpful in correcting such conditions, to say nothing of bringing education throughout the country to higher and higher levels.

Letter To Editor

Dear Editor:

Well, well, isn't it grand to be back among educated friends again? Of course I know that six weeks have already gone but I've got to have some sort of introduction, haven't I?

Have you noticed how industrious the freshmen are this year? As yet, they don't even know that Doughty Hall exists. They are still tenderfeet, but they'll get over that in seven and a half months more, perhaps. And too, the freshmen show some signs of an increasing romantic spirit—One boy heard a whipper-will singing the other night, another called my attention to the moon and said something about a man being up there in it, and still another couldn't sleep for a cat fight—no hope for him—while one poor fellow was discussing "dating nights" at Weatherly Hall. English professors, you'd better keep freshmen off nominatives for a while.

I am indeed glad to see that my ol' rival A. H. is still living. I don't see how the world could run without his fatherly advice, do you? I've just discovered where we get all the hot air and cold waves. Am I a scientist? (No insinuations A. H. ol' palsy walsy).

With all the new faculty members we have I should say, in democratic terms, that the New Deal has come our way at last, and I, as a mournful follower, do wish for you a happy, successful and interesting year with full pay for half-time, and a platter of heavenly food to stuff your delicate organs of indigestion for the rest of your lives. May the governor bless you and be with you all—for the NRA's sake. Amen.

Sincerely yours,
R. C. W.

Dear Editor:

I do hope you have noticed my persistence in contributing to your paper. I also hope you have realized the value of this short correspondence. I feel sure that you have because you never fail to publish my letter. There are no facts to be obtained here but there is a philosophy flowing eternally from these lines. I hope you and your readers are able to tell what you need most and will make yourself wiser by using it.

I would like to spend some time here in telling of the illimitable richness of this philosophy, but it would take too long. So you must be content this time with your own ability to fathom its unknown depths.

I will take time to give you a most needful warning against falling into some practices not included in my philosophy.

First of all you should know the impending dangers of dancing. This practice seems to be most prevalent in our auditorium. What common sense is there in it? One girl takes another in her arms, or visa versa, and they back-up three or four steps, then forward a jump or two, then they take a forward "dip," they run here and there, and all this time one girl must be frailing away on the piano, from which comes this everlasting jazz. All the while I am somewhere trying to study, but the sound of this music comes to my ears and to my mind comes a mental picture of all this folly. Oh, that you participators had my power to differentiate between foolishness and important things.

Sincerely yours,
A. H.

BRAINSTORMS

(By Harry Herndon)

Life in Forney Hall

"All out!" was the yell, it was a Freshman call.

Out came freshmen into the hall. "Swish" went a board with a lightening-like flash.

Away went a Freshman from under the lash.

"Duck!" I cried, as a Senior saw red. "Plunk!" went a shoe to the side of my head.

"Ouch! Quit!" I yelled mad with passion.

I'd never been used before in this fashion.

"Get a move on, hey there, hustle!" The next time I come I'll wear a bustle.

They bruised my head, my legs, my arm.

It was all in fun but still it's a harm.

"I think I'll quit," I began to bawl. "If this is the life in Forney Hall."

Louie Clayton my illustrious roommate, while taking notes on parallel reading in English found that the "Gene Austin" books were permissible.

Upon my first day in Art Class Miss Huger informed me that the beauty of the border that I was drawing lay in the fact that I didn't know what it was going to be. The mystery of it is that I didn't know what it was when I finished it.

If any of you readers wish to learn something of the art of hitchhiking, its pleasures, advantages, etc. just ask Joel Gaines, Chalmus Weathers, Love Clayton, or "Yours truly." We have all indulged in this particular evil.

What's in a name? During a class roll-call I took note of —A Hunter, a Drake, a Baker, a Mundy, a Mann, a Swindall, a Freeman, and a Longshore, and did you know that Jerry, Jo, and Bill all live at Weatherly Hall?

The day is cold and dark and dreary The teachers rare, they are never weary.

They explain and expound with never a lull.

But my sterile brain lies dormant, dull.

My eyelids droop, my eyes are bleary.

My life is cold, and dark, and dreary.

A Freshman's life is often weary. My thoughts are never upon the class.

I don't seem to care if I fail or pass. Music and Art, they make me weary.

Be still sad heart and cease repining Behind the clouds is the sun still shining.

Thy fate is the common fate of all. Every Freshman feels Love's Call. Don't let your rivals make life dreary.

(With apologies to Longfellow)

Hoke and Stella are sweethearts. "Oh, Lawdy!" How they do "spark." The way Hoke acts around her you'd think he was a man-eating shark.

Duncan Brown the half-pint Freshman is absolutely essential to Forney Hall. When the boys get locked outside of their rooms Duncan climbs through the transom and unlocks the door for them.

Let me give you Literary Societies a hint. Paul Murphy has the makings of a great speaker. You should have heard him giving Lincoln's Gettysburg Address at a "rattling" the other night. By the way, this is his favorite "poem."

Piedmont Defeats Jacksonville

On October 12th Jacksonville went to Piedmont for the annual football game. The kick off was received by Piedmont at 2:45 p. m. After several exciting plays Piedmont crossed the line for the first touchdown of the game. Piedmont kicked to Jacksonville who was unable to carry the ball from dangerous territory. Jacksonville punted. Piedmont kept the ball in its possession until a triple reverse was made for the second touchdown. Ginter made the extra point to bring the score to 13-0 which was unchanged during the remainder of the game. The rest of the game was made interesting by a long end run by Porter of Jacksonville and several short passes. Referee was Allen Borden and Austin Parker was the umpire. This is the first time in many years that Piedmont has been victor over Jacksonville.

High School Programs

A very entertaining program was given by the Senior Two Class, last Thursday. The assembly sang "Solomon Levi" and "The Spanish Cavalier" in unison. Mrs. Self gave the humorous reading, "Angeline at the Seelbach" by Cordia Creer-Petrie.

Tuesday, October 9, Mr. Shotts aroused an active interest in football by relating its history and development.

The Senior One class on October 11, presented "The Exchange," an allegorical play, showing the advantage of being content with your lot in life. The participants were: Pete Bramlett, E. B. Kilgore, Martha Jane Felgar, Margaret Horn, and Edwerta Carpenter.

Brother Edwards, Dr. Roland and Dr. H. Reed, of the South Avondale Baptist Church in Birmingham sponsored the program. Dr. Roland led the student body in singing "The Battle Hymn of the Republic." Dr. Reed explained some of Jesus' teachings. These were: one must lose oneself at the bottom, one must serve, and one must go the second mile.

To give the enthusiasts an understanding of the plays and penalties of football, Coach Stevenson and the team demonstrated fair and crooked plays, and what some of the football terms mean. This was very appropriate, coming, as it did, just before our game Friday, October 19.

Club Activities

A Debating Club was formed last

International Relations Club Holds Meeting

The International Relations Club met Thursday evening in Bibb Graves Hall and began their unit of study decided upon for the fall quarter. The selected subject is, Germany Enters the Third Reich, by Calvin Hoover.

Miss Evelyn Page talked first on "The Development and Character of the Economic System in Germany before National Socialism."

Mr. Jasper Buckner concluded the program by giving a very interesting talk on "The Attitude of the German People Toward the Economic System."

week under the leadership of Mrs. Self. The following officers were elected: President, Newell Bailey, vice president, Bill Irby; secretary-treasurer, Mildred Jones; reporter, Margaret Horn.

Physical Education Club Organized

A great deal of enthusiasm was shown in the initiation of girls into the Physical Education Club last week. Gay dressed, hair-ribbons, umbrellas and no cosmetics was becomingly modeled by a large number of high school girls. Large antique suit cases were used for carrying all books, pencils and necessary articles, for the day. The Spartans and Olympic Athletic Clubs are really alive and practically every girl in school is a member. The Physical Education Clubs helps one to be healthy and happy.

Dramatic Club Holds Meeting

The Dramatic Club held a very interesting meeting last Friday. The minutes of the last meeting were read. There was a general discussion of plays and programs. The state inspector of High School, Mr. Pannell, from the University of Alabama, visited the club. The characters for a play to be given in chapel room, were appointed.

Seniors Order Rings

The members of the Senior Class sent off the first order for their rings October 17. A committee of four people were selected from the class to see all the ring men from the different companies and decided on the ring. This committee was composed of Nell Simpson, Edna Jo Davis, Robert Felgar and Newell Bailey.

General School News

Enrollment in the High School has reached the total of 256 pupils, which is an increase of 16 pupils over the enrollment of last month. This increase is due chiefly to the fact that the people of the rural sections surrounding Jacksonville have practically completed the annual harvesting of the year.

Mr. H. C. Pannell, of the University of Alabama, supervisor of education in secondary schools, made a very pleasant call at the High School last week. He found the affairs of the High School in good condition.

The entire student body of the High School joins in the welcoming their fellow-student, Bill Irby, Jr., who is able to attend school again after a serious illness of two weeks.

The following are among the students who attended the circus held in Anniston Tuesday, October 16: Martha Norman, Bill Irby, Jr., Carolyn Robertson, Grace Borders, Martha Jane Felgar, Mary Few, Huey Ford.

A large majority of the student body attended the football game between Jacksonville and Piedmont schools, on the latter's field. We were defeated in the game, but won in school spirit and sportsmanship shown by the players and students.

Improvements Being Made On Campus Here

Construction is going forward on a new wing to Daugette Hall which will furnish space for a dining hall and rooms for several more girls. Concrete walks are being constructed from Daugette Hall to the old campus. It is expected that this work will be completed before bad weather sets in this winter.

Eagle-Owls Win Over the Marion Institute 20-0

Coach Tom Shott's Eagle-Owls started the season off with a bang by whipping Marion Institute to the tune of 20-0.

The first touchdown came early in the first quarter. Marion kicked-off to Jacksonville, and Vann taking the ball on the twenty yard line, advanced it to Jacksonville's thirty-five yard line, before being tackled. Here was where the Jacksonville boys started the war off right. They started off on line drives, that averaged seven yards to the play, and before the Marion team could realize that they were in a ball game the Jacksonville eleven had completed a sixty-five yard drive for the first touchdown.

Starting off again, Jacksonville kicked off to Marion, and as the boys were all anxious for a tackle; rushed down and smothered the ball carried on Marion's fifteen yard line. The Marion boys tried to gain on line plays, but the greater part of the time they could not get to the line of scrimmage. The Jacksonville line was charging hard and fast, not even giving Marion's back time to punt or pass.

The first half ended with the score 6-0, but the Jacksonville team went back in to start the game off right again in the last half. Jacksonville kicked off to Marion and as before, Marion could not get past their own twenty yard line. They tried end runs, and line plays, but they could not make a first down. So they punted to Vann who was playing safety position. He returned the ball to Jacksonville's forty-five yard line. (Vann was hurt on the play). Obyrant took Vann's place in the game. Bruner was playing quarter back, and he seemed to have lots of faith in line drives, so Obyrant was kept busy, also Baker and Tom Drake hitting the line until they put the ball in scoring position John Baker went off tackle for the second touchdown. Baker also made the extra point on a line drive.

Westbrooke, came in to take Bruner's place as quarterback. He is a good signal caller as well as a good tackler and blocker. Hunter came into the game while Westbrook was playing quarterback. Westbrook gave him the chance to run an end run on Marion's fifteen yard line. He did it so well that neither of the players could touch him before he crossed the line for the third touchdown. Estes made an extra point from a placement kick.

Jacksonville's line kept Marion's smothered so that they were unable to make a first down through the line during the game.

Hudson, the red-headed end on Jacksonville's team played a good game. "Red" is one of the best all-round players ever to be on Jacksonville's team. He can play anywhere in the line and he always plays in his opponents backfield.

John Baker is one of the best fullbacks in the country. He played a splendid game, both offensive and defensive.

Coach Shotts carried twenty-two men to Marion, and all of them got to play in the game. Hoke Wallace was the only player who played the entire game.

The starting line-up was as follows:

Hudson and Akers, ends; Yates and Bell, tackles; Carter and Wallace, guards; Springfield, center; Bruner, quarterback; Drake and Vann, halfbacks; Baker, fullback.

Substitutes: Westbrook, Hunter, E. Baker, Estes, Obyrant, Harris, Dunn, Leath, Hall, Farabee, and Scarborough.

The Sport Parade

(By Gordon Coheley)

The air around Jacksonville is now permeated with a sort of feeling that, after all, this may not be the cold cruel world that it is often taken to be because the 1934 version of the Eagle-Owls sold themselves to their public in quite a decisive manner when they won the first game of the season. The outcome of this game proved beyond a doubt that the Eagle-Owls "can take it" and "dish it out" too. Now, that we know that they can do it, it is the school's job to get behind them and keep them going with our whole-hearted cooperation.

The first home game of the season was played Saturday with quite a large crowd present. The students gave much encouragement to the team with their pep and interest. Someone it is said complained of having overworked himself walking up and down the sidelines keeping up with the teams. Nevertheless they did not seem at all sorry and no doubt would do the same thing again if they were given the opportunity. Well, "Hats off" to Coach Shotts and his Eagle-Owls because they have shown themselves to be the real stuff.

The enthusiasm for tennis will reach its climax this week when the tennis tournament will be held. There has been quite a bunch of boys out each afternoon learning to serve, and otherwise improve their skill. The tennis tournament is quite an annual event and it is here that the players show the ability that enables Coach "Steve" to pick out Jacksonville's representatives for the inter-collegiate matches.

Only last week a few young people were seen dragging up to the administration building. They were, it seemed, rather tired and more than glad that they had reached the building. Someone chanced to ask Browning just why he had his pants rolled up and he very enthusiastically answered: "Boys, we've been having the time of our lives playing German Bat Ball. On a difficult play I got all tangled up and took a 45 degree nosedive, then I heard a sort of thud and looked all around to see what had caused it and saw that I myself had fallen.

The volley ball court is claiming its share of players now that coach has orientated the freshmen in the intricate processes of boosting and serving. Several of the more accomplished players have made inquiries as to the procedure in organizing and carrying out a volley ball tournament. There always has been been rivalry between the different county clubs and many heated discussions take place as to the relative strength of Jefferson county's delegation as opposed to Etowah's aggregation.

The continued rain for the last two weeks has successfully put a damper on all golfing activities. The greens and fair ways have become so wet that the sod fairly oozes. Someone suggested that now would be the time to play golf as it was so wet that he could blame the weather for his score and the mud for the mud clinging to his shoes, rather than having to explain that he did not get the mud in the rough.

THE RAMBLER

(By Clyde Brown)

Well, I notice that our old contributor, A. H., is back, and as usual is very modest and unassuming. Did you ever see such modesty? Why don't you come out and tell us your name, A. H.? Otherwise how are those of us who need your help so sorely going to find you? Even now I am perplexed with a problem that only your genius can solve, and I cannot find you. Please do not let your great modesty prevent your giving the students of S. T. C. the benefits of your superior intelligence. I think it almost criminal for anyone of your ability to hide a mask of anonymity when there are so many in dire need of help. I know you are one of the most modest persons in school, but forget that and let us know you better.

To all appearances this promises to be the greatest year in a long, long time for the various organizations and clubs of the college. To mention only a few that got off to a flying start and are still going, let's name the Y. W. C. A. meeting every Wednesday evening in Daugette Hall. Every Thursday morning the Y. M. C. A. meets in Room 17 of Bibb Graves Hall, and the room is always crowded to capacity. Both literary societies are busy and meeting each week. The International Relations Club and the History Club meet on alternate Thursday evenings. There is another club that meets three times a day, but I'll wait until next time to tell you about it. Of course the girls Athletic Clubs are working like heck for that loving cup at the end of the year.

The marching exercises during the latter part of the assembly period, which have been a part of the assembly program for years, continue as the favorite of the majority of students. The only thing wrong is that we have General Assembly only twice each week and that limits the marching periods.

I'm having a hard time here lately staying out of the way of the "wandering reporter." You see I'm making a collection of specimens for for Zoology class, and every fly, bug or worm looks interesting, and is usually made the object of a chase. Last week the "wandering scribbler" saw me trying to nab a fly. Well, either through gross ignorance or a desire to wilfully misrepresent my purpose he accused me of chasing a louse. Now there's nothing wrong about that, but if he misrepresented one case he is likely to do the same again. So stay out of my way, Mr. Reporter; my collection must be made. Or else be sure you "get me straight."

Now don't you think that will

"cook" the "Wandering Reporter"? If he says the wrong thing about any of you, just let the "Rambler" know about it.

I guess this column seems a little "scattered" to most everybody, but just remember that I'm not confined to any one subject. The title of this column gives me the privilege of writing on any subject that I can get by the censors. I can ramble where I want, even if I cant tell ALL I see.
