MR. E. J. LANDERS MADE SPLENDID TALK AT SYLVANIA

Mr. E. J. Landers, head of the Education Department and Principal of the Demonstration School, made a splendid talk to the people of DeKalb County at a large picnic held at Sylvania on the Fourth of July.

The many former students of the State Teachers College were overjoyed to welcome Mr. Landers to their midst.

HIGHLIGHTS OF WORLD NEWS

Mrs. Margaret Thulin Waley, 19-year-old wife of Herman Waley, who is now serving a 45-year sentence in Federal Prison for implication in the kidnaping of little George Weyerhaeuser, was found guilty on kidnaping charges at Tacoma, Wash. Wednesday was set for the pronouncement of sentence.

War clouds continue to thicken over the kingdom of Abyssinia in Africa, while European nations continue to negotiate with Abyssinia and Italy in an effort to prevent war.

A recess of 20 days was declared by the State Legislature last week in order for the remainder of the legislative program to be worked out. Governor Graves has avoided placing his signature on the Street anti-sedition bill.

Works Progress Administration on funds have made possible the repair and extension of several school buildings in the Calhoun County system. This work is now under way.

The state department of the American Legion is holding its convention in Mobile this week.

A building program of almost two million dollars is expected to be begun at Fort McClellan this fall. An appropriation of $1,935,061 was approved from the works-relief fund by President Roosevelt last week.

Sabotage rumors are being investigated in Austria as the result of an automobile accident Saturday in which Kurt von Schuschnigg, chancellor, and his son were injured and Mrs. Schuschnigg killed. A volatile political situation would develop if sabotage was proved, observers felt.

Miss Billie Joe Freeman spent the week-end with her parents in Altoona. She had as her guests Miss Mary Ratchford, Lincoln, and Mr. Jack Shoots of Vina.

HIGHLIGHTS OF SUPERIN- TENDENT KELLER'S ADDRESS

"We have kidded ourselves for a good many years into thinking that we have a fine school system in Alabama, and that all we need is more money. For several years we made rather rapid progress, but then the depression came along and we went back about 25 years. When we look at the amount we pay our teachers and the length of the school term, and the way we support our colleges and high schools as well as the elementary grades then we hang our heads and can't boast. When we brag about the fine advantages of the children of Alabama we are hitting the high spots just as looking at the few colonial houses and omitting the thousands of 'shacks.'

"We need the New Deal Education, which means to know what is around you. I am glad that the course of study committee in writing its plan for the new state adoption made as a requirement the social studies. Teachers should lead and go to the polls and vote. They should be informed, your students should come to you and ask questions. Teachers in years past seemed to think it more important to know about the government of Greece and Rome than of their own country.

"Education is not for personal advantage, it is for public good. How much more important the history of Education is than the history of wars!

"A teacher should inspire, he should encourage the ambitious youths to be good citizens and be able to do any jobs they take when they finish school better than the boys and girls that did not go to school.

"We have made a mistake in teaching. We have confined ourselves to books and have lost sight of things. We haven't developed skill in doing the things that we teach. Teachers must set an example for their students. If they teach good citizenship their students will be the severest judges as to whether they are good citizens themselves.

"Teachers are supposed to be informed.

"They are supposed to have their books and make preparations for their work.

"They are supposed to spend week-ends in the community.

"They are supposed to go into the homes and know home conditions.

"They should have a sympathy and understanding of childhood.

"The greatest need in the State of Alabama is to have the strongest teachers of all in the first three grades. The teachers colleges can do a fine thing by placing emphasis on the teachers of the first three grades. When you go out from one of the teachers colleges with your degree you must show that the two additional years have made you a better teacher.

"Eight months ought to be the minimum school term for the State of Alabama."

Georgia National Guards opened a two-week encampment at Fort McClellan Monday.

MANY EXTENSION COURSES TO BE OF- FERED TO TEACHERS

The teachers in the counties of the Jacksonville State Teachers College district will have an opportunity to choose extension courses from a wide variety of offerings this year, according to an announcement by A. C. Shelton, director of extension. History of Education, Principles of Teaching, the Elementary Curriculum, and Tests of Measurements will be the main offerings in the field of Education. The main courses offered in the department of English will be: Survey of Poetry, Survey of English Literature, Survey of American Literature. Romantic Poetry, Victorian Poetry, Contemporary Poetry, English Drama, and Composition. A liberal offering may be found in the field of Geography in the courses of Geography of North America, Geography of South America, Geography of Europe, Geography of Commercial Products, Historical Geography of the United States, Problems in Political Geography, and Conservation of Natural Resources. Recent American History, Modern European History, the History of England, Sociology, and Economics will be the most popular courses in the field of history. Other courses which will be offered are: Child Psychology, Advanced Educational Psychology, Personal Hygiene, Organization and Presentation of Physical Education. With a greatly enlarged faculty it is expected that more extension courses will be given than ever before in the history of the school.

DEKALB COUNTY CLUB PICNICS AT NESBIT LAKE

The DeKalb County Club went to Lake Nesbit Tuesday night July 2 for their first social. Swimming games, and boating were enjoyed by everyone. Refreshments were served to sixty members.

Dr. Glazner was the life of the party with his wit, humor and vitality. Everyone enjoyed the outing and plans are being made for another picnic soon.

Many Students Enrolled For Last Half of Summer Quarter

Perhaps the largest number of students have enrolled for the last half of the summer quarter in the history of the school for this time of the year. In addition to the large number of new students who have enrolled many of those who were registered during the fifth quarter are remaining for the last half of the summer quarter, thereby completing four and one-half months of college work this year.

Marshall County Group En- joys Outing to Oxford Lake

Tuesday afternoon fifty Marshall County students made a trip to Oxford Lake. Dr. Wilson and Miss Sarah Ryan, faculty sponsors, were special guests of the club.

SUPT. J. A. KELLER DE- LIVERS OPENING ADDRESS

The Question of Prospective Teachers Was Discussed by President Daugeite

A conference of high school principals and superintendents was held at the State Teachers College Monday. Superintendent J. A. Keller delivered the opening address on the Minimum Education Program for Alabama.

A. C. Shelton, Director of Extension, spoke on the value of contests in school systems and explained the plan of promoting the contests in the various school systems. The question of selection of prospective teachers from the high schools was discussed by President Daugeite. E. J. Landers, Director of the Training School, spoke at the afternoon session on the work of the Laboratory School in the preparation of teachers. An evaluation of extension work was given by Superintendent O. C. Bottoms, Gadsden, with others taking part in a round-table discussion on this question and also the question of employing local teachers.

Those in attendance were as follows: C. J. Allen, Supt. County Schools, Anniston; Jas. A. Davis, Principal High School, Bessemer; S. L. Gipson, Supt. City Schools, Albertville; J. L. Clay, Supt. County Schools, Guntersville; L. W. Cox, Principal State Secondary Agricultural School, Albertville; O. C. Bottoms, Supt. County Schools, Gadsden; W. L. Little, Supt. County Schools, Center; D. B. McCullough, Supt. City Schools, Guntersville; W. A. Moore, Prin. Susan Moore High School, Altoona; J. H. Pirkle, Supt. County Schools, Heflin; Fred Bryant, Prin. Mechanicsville School, Anniston; C. C. Moseley, Supt. City Schools, Anniston; E. C. Whitley, Prin. Douglas High School, Boaz; W. C. Edge, Prin. Wadley Schools, Wadley; T. E. Hearn, Teacher High School, Albertville; Mrs. J. H. Pirkle, Elementary Supervisor, Cleburne County, Heflin; P. G. Myer, Principal Anniston High School, Anniston; E. E. Beck, Principal Elementary School, Ashland; John H. Martin, Superintendent County Schools, Ashland; Geddis Self, Prin. High School, Center; Herman Watson, Principal DeKalb County High School, Fort Payne; L. F. Corley, Principal Boaz Public Schools, Boaz; R. C. McCulley, Prin. Sardis High School, Boaz; Roy Alverson, Prin. High School, Arab; Frank Little, Prin. High School, Alexandria; Jim Davis, Prin. High School, Bessemer; Miss Elva Brindley, Elementary Supervisor, DeKalb County, Fort Payne; and Mr. Macon, Assistant Supt. of Schools, Memphis, Tenn.

FAYETTE AND WINSTON COUNTY GROUPS OR- GANIZE CLUB

The students from Fayette and Winston Counties recently organized a club. The following officers were elected:

Johnnie Hall, president; Paul Dodd, vice-president; Mrs. Theron Vick, secretary; Lois Robinson, treasurer; Gertrude Moore, Edith Yerles and Nell Robinson, social committee.

THE TEACOLA BACKS THE ALUMNI

All former students of the state teachers college, regardless of when they attended school here, may feel free to send contributions about themselves or other former students to the Teacola. It shall be the policy of the paper to support all former students in any worthy undertaking. The Teacola is not only a student publication but a publication which is supporting the policies of the state teachers college and its graduates 100 per cent. We feel that every graduate of the institution is entitled to the support of the college and its faculty. We, also, feel that the college is entitled to the support of every former student and his friends. With a working agreement between these two groups there is no limit to the future possibilities of the college.

PUSH ON

Do you go forward, look toward the future? Push On! The past is gone, dead, nothing you can do or say now will help matters. There is always the future to look to. As New Years' Day is always the accepted day for new resolutions, many people turn from the habits they wish to break with a firm resolution to discontinue. You can make today your New Years' Day if you desire. If you are worried and "down", never give up hope. When you think you have reached the bottom, then things will be sure to look brighter. They say, you know, that the night is always darker just before day.

If you do the best that you can then you have nothing to worry about. This is the trouble with half of the students of today. They let their work slip and then spend half their time worrying about it, whereas if they would get down to it they would accomplish it without half the worry.

Try out this theory of philosophy for yourself some time and you will find out that you have forgotten how to worry and that everything is turning out o. k. Catch On????

COLLEGE FRIENDS

By BENNIE GARMON

When a student enters a college for the first time he naturally makes the acquaintance of a few fellow students at once. Whether or not these early acquaintances become close friends depends upon the individual as much as it does upon the ones he may meet. Many acquaintances are made by chance, others are made intentionally. It may be that the looks, bearing, or even popularity of a student may cause others to want to meet and become acquainted with him. Any of these motives are all right if they are not founded on pure selfishness. This seems to be the case sometimes.

To want to meet people because you are really interested in them and want to become acquainted with them is a fine thing, but to practice false friendliness for the sake of personal benefit is to rob friendship of its real meaning. Politeness is desirable at all times, but to pretend true friendship for another just to gain his support and confidence shows that such a person has missed part of a necessary training. He surely cannot know the meaning of good sportsmanship.

Now we have come to the pleasant side of the discussion. Most friendships are real and have some depth. At the time a student enters college he may or may not be able to make friends easily and quickly. This all depends upon the individual and the surrounding conditions. Probably he makes friends slowly but keeps them after he does make them. Perhaps he makes friends easily and quickly and has a host of friends. Someone is going to be the best friend out of this group of friends (large or small as the case may be) and will be thought much friendlier or more suitable than the rest of the group. Then it is that friendship begins to mean what it really should. To see two boys "stick together in all kinds of weather" means that they have that feeling for each other that we call friendship. To know that someone believes in and trusts you gives you a feeling of confidence that would be noticeably lacking if you had no friends. We have been taught that if we want to get the best out of life we must put something into it. Why not apply this to our friendships? If we want real friends we must do our very best to be a real friend to others.

Of all sad words
Of tongue or pen

These could have been?"

HAVE YOU NOTICED

Where Ernest King does his studying lately?

A certain T looking blue?
That a certain little blond has become poetical?

That a certain brunette says:
"What's the use"?

That "Farmer" Brown is being called "Lady's Man"?

That Henry and Ola are with us again?

That Akridge and Oliver are losing weight?

The "picture gallery" of girls from J. S. T. C. and elsewhere that Foster Oliver carries in his billfold. We wonder if he kisses them all every night.

Too much line and not enough to eat,

Too much work and too much heat,
Too much burning midnight oil,
Too many hours we have to toil,
Too much "bugging", too much booze,

Too many boys you don't know whoz'ze,

Too many sowing their crop of wild oats,

Too much passing of sweet class notes,

Too much rushing into early class

Too many politicing for a pass.

Too many hiring their work done,
Too many playing bridge for fun,
Too much buying of gas on time

Too many people don't save a dime.

Too many yachts and too many cars

Too many people behind the bars.
Too many girls and too much spent
Too many boys spend every cent.
Too much fun, too much ease,
Too many rips in my B. V. D.'s.
Too much reform, too much law,
The darndest mess you ever saw.

Is it true that Joyce has a secret sorrow?

Goodness yes! Hasn't she told you about it?

Someone said that Westbrook likes to argue—the kind who could give you either side.

I wonder why Senator Long has not shown much enthusiasm in the national gold reserve. His memory must be strong enough on this particular point that he realizes that the "one man" who controls the gold controls the national army and navy. With these facts before us we need not expect a successful revolution.

Perfection may be a good thing, but in my opinion, it would be a bad thing for an individual to reach, for he would probably need a good but sinful shepherd who knew the pitfalls of life to drive him around and keep off the wild animals.

Henry—(just returning to college): "Hoke, I suppose you are still going around with the same girl."

Hoke—"Yeah, one round after another, it looks like."

We are all very glad that Buckner has his degree, but we certainly do miss him hanging 'round. Our heartiest wishes are extended to him for success.

WHATZIS

Soft ball is evidently king on the S. T. C. campus. A league has been formed, with four good teams represented.

A recent survey of the students of the school shows that there are over twenty students qualified to become charter members of the fowl club, which will soon be organized. The only requirement is that your name bears some relation to the bird family.

Christine Gosline is being shown some attention by "Snooks" Crow. What kind of bird would this union make? Take this pun good-naturedly, Christine, please.

Who was the rancid philosopher busily engaged in imparting his knowledge to a group of young men in front of the Administration building one afternoon last week?

Ezra Nash, the Marshall County pedagogue is endeavoring to conquer the language of France. If studying until the wee small hours of the morning will accomplish this feat, Ezra will be the victor.

Have you heard of G. C. Welden's recently acquired appellation, that of "Cousin"?

The Michigan Daily, a college publication, says: "The college man is too honest to steal, too proud to beg, too lazy to work, and too poor to pay cash." Well, what do you know about that?

An accomplished young lady from Opp (yes, it is a town in South Alabama) has been making things more lively on the old part of the campus. We will hate to see her go.

"Skeets" Dodd has one other very conspicuous trait; that of laziness. I came upon him the other day sitting on the sidewalk trying to thumb a ride. I might add that he didn't get it.

Escaped: One watermelon from in front of a certain well known store in Jacksonville.

Glenn Frank, President of the Uni. of Wisconsin says: "The great teacher establishes a personal as well as professional relation with his students."

A daily feature in the Birmingham News, "What's Happening in Alabama", edited by Percy Taylor, recently carried a story of the heroic efforts of our fellow-student, Olen Wiginton, to obtain an education. The article was accompanied by a good picture of him.

The different county organizations have been parading their talent before the student body in assembly programs. This seems to be a good idea, and I hope that some novel programs will be presented before the summer becomes history.

Cullman County Students Enter In School Activities

Cullman was beaten by Marshall County in baseball but the old spirit was not daunted. There will be a next time!

The Cullman County Club enjoyed a rainy picnic at Oxford Lake with Dr. Cary as the "fun jester."

Herman Pruett wishes to announce to all his friends in Cullman County that he is having a hard time with English literature but believes that he will pull through with flying colors.

We know everyone enjoyed the "Dancing Barber" given in assembly last Friday morning. Just call on Leonard York if you want a good shave. We wonder who the hat rack was!

the cake. He can really fill the ether with his fervent expostulations.

Upperclassmen recently thwarted the attempts of several "rats" to grow whiskers. Of course, Malcolm Blake was trying to grow one.

Little Miss Blue Bonnet certainly must be an important young lady. Placards have been placed all over town heralding her coming. Kathryn Johnson is Miss Blue Bonnet. Quite a group of young witches form the chorus.

Several R. O. T. C. boys have been making things lively for the girls around town. At least they are good providers.

A group of young men and women recently made a trip to Lanett. Who were they and just what did they do?

Shuffle-board is becoming rather popular with some of the students. It is a fascinating game.

All's well that ends well, so here goes: The End!

Mayor Walmsley is the only remaining member of the old city political machine in New Orleans between Huey Long and complete dictatorship. However, he easily can be brushed aside if Huey cares to call upon his controlled Legislature to vote on the question. In a radio speech Saturday night Long spoke in favor of letting Walmsley remain in office, with the attitude that alone he is harmless.

SOCIETY

While I was walking down the hall
I saw a student suddenly fall.
It was a girl, young and sweet,
And of course I helped her to her feet.
Never had I seen a smile so divine
As rising she said "The skatings fine."
Then she thanked me so very sweetly
That I almost fell for her completely.
My heart, whole and fancy free,
Was cutting queer capers inside of me.

I asked her name, so I would know,
And hoped (secretly) that she had no beau.
All this time, we were walking
Toward the art room eagerly talking.
I was admiring her voice, figure,
and complexion
It seemed that nothing about her needed correction.
At last, I believed, I had met my ideal,
And I can't describe just how I did feel.
As we entered class and began our work
I suddenly decided I wanted to shirk.

I just fooled around until roll call
Little suspecting my approaching fall.
Sitting there dreaming and quite unaware
Of any fact except the beauty of her hair.
I had been covertly gazing at her face
And wondering what thoughts were taking place,
When all at once I heard our teacher speak
And what she said left me kind'a weak.
Only two words, but they spoiled my bliss—
She called her Mrs. instead of Miss.

Cleburne County Group Has Charge Assembly Program

The Cleburne County Club had charge of the assembly program for Wednesday, July 10. The members of the club gave a very interesting and entertaining program. Mr. Noel Hand was master of ceremonies and made the introductory remarks. Miss Nellie Brown told the group about the Origin of the County. Miss Gertrude Sellers gave the Location of the County. The Important Streams and their uses was discussed by Miss Lucille Duncan. Mr. Grady Jacobs told of the Industrial Resources of Cleburne County. Albert Gibbs discussed the Roads.

The school situation in Cleburne County was thoroughly discussed by Reba Vaughn and Miss Clarice Glasgow discussed the towns and cities. Mrs. W. H. Johnson took up the international interest of the county and Charlie Burks discussed the natural resources. The program ended with a song by the group.

News of the Blount County Group

Even if Blount County can't play ball very well, you'll have to admit that they are real sports. They left the field in a big way, after being defeated by Cullman County Thursday afternoon. I think they all realize that it isn't who wins the game but it is how it is won.

One of the outstanding players was the catcher, "Chief" Lowery. He was ably assisted by the pitcher, Gene Malone. We couldn't have made it without the basemen, Phillips holding up first base, James Bailey holding up second base, and J. P. Johnson holding up third base. They were assisted by the speedy short-stop, Leonard Copeland. The fielders also played an important part. Florene Kemp, right fielder; Velma Cox, center fielder; Gertie Gibbs, left fielder; and Ruby Horton, short-stop.

The Blount County Club enjoyed a picnic at Oxford Lake on Tuesday night, July 2. The picnic was educational as well as recreational for some of the students from Blount learned that the long-necked birds at the lake were not ducks. The Blount County Club is planning on a big time the rest of the quarter and in a Big Way!

Those students who missed seeing Rudy Vallee, Robert Montgomery and Kate Smith in person missed the thrill of their lives. These were impersonated by Bud Brown, from the University of Florida on the Blount County program Tuesday morning in assembly.

Other interesting features were the devotional exercises by Rev. Williams, a sketch of Blount County by Mr. Ray Hollis and a song by the school quartette.

Fashion Plates From Paris

SKIRTS WILL BE WIDER, SHORTER

Shorter, wider skirts are being shown in the collections that are being made for the Fall openings. Twelve inches from the ground is the average length, though designers do not all agree on this.

Aside from the skirt length, elaborate draped treatments, new interpretations of the Greek and Hindu influence, further development of Italian renaissance ideas in color and silhouette, and the use of rich, heavy silks is advance fashion news for Fall.

Jacksonville Graduate Heads Progressive School Movement

According to Wilburn Smith, Bankston, who is at present enrolled in the State Teachers College, Fayette County under the able direction of Supt. B. L. Balch, a graduate of the two-year course at Jacksonville, is launching a very progressive building program. Mr. Smith states that the patrons of all one-teacher schools will have an opportunity to consolidate and improvements in building and equipment will be made at every school in the county. This is a far-reaching move in Fayette County and much good work may be expected from them in the future.

The first two days of the Senate hearings into lobby activities in Washington, conducted by Senator Hugo Black of Alabama, brought testimony that hundreds of thousands of dollars were spent by the utilities interests in activities against the utilities bill.

being stressed in these collections. The draped silhouette is a general favorite. Bodices as well as skirts are draped, in some instances giving sleeves a bloused effect in back. Another silhouette favored by designers is one of Russian feeling, with a wide flare below a belted line. Full coats are belted, and silk afternoon dresses have a belted dividing line.

Fabrics are those which drape easily, supple and soft. Heavy silks, soft wools, wool-like silks are shown. Color is rampant, and the designers say only about fifty per cent of their collections are in black this season as against seventy per cent last year. Botticelli blue, yellow red—both new colors, deep wine red, amber, zinnia, rust, green, brown, are all important. With gored skirts, capelets following the same outline are being shown.

Practically every early Fall collection features formal shirt-waist type frocks, some in silk velvet for the cocktail hour, and formal suits of stiff velvet.

COOSA COUNTY DEFEATS RANDOLPH COUNTY IN BASEBALL

In the first game of a series to be played by the Coosa County club in baseball, the team defeated the Randolph County club team 9-7.

Randolph County scored two runs in the last half of the first inning. Coosa County came back in their half of second to score three runs. The score was tied in the fifth inning 5-5. Coosa then took the lead in the sixth inning and held it during the remainder of the game.

The students playing on the Coosa team are as follows: Lucile Dobson, B. B. Finley, Lewis Crew, Jr., J. A. Dobson, Hester Hall, Ester Greer, Audrey Burk, Lewis Crews, L. E. Rayfield, Archie Dobson, C. C. Waters, and M. Darden.

The students playing on the Randolph team were as follows: McCord, L. Norred, W. Bartlett, Lanier, Traylor, Daughters, Alten, Parker, Green and Cofield Parker.

Football Prospects are Good for Fall Session

Coach Tom Shotts is looking forward to the football season this fall with great anticipation. He says that he is going to work harder than heretofore to put out a winning team, and that the boys will have to work harder. Above all, he is going to see that they carry out the training rules, or else turn in their uniforms. It is true that a player who does not train cannot play football. The success of a football team depends largely upon the way the players conduct themselves off the field, as well as on the field.

A number of letter men will be returning this fall. Some of them will be playing their third straight year for the college. The players who have lettered for the past two years, and who are going to be present this fall, are: John Baker, full-back; Red Hudson, end; Hoke Wallace, guard; Edwin Bruner, quarter back; and the ones who lettered last fall are: Clyde Westbrook, quarter; John Leath, tackle; Dan Hunter, half-back; Johnnie Hall, guard; and "Dusty" Carter, guard.

Miss Sarah Jordan spent the week-end in Gadsden.

MUCH INTEREST SHOWN IN WEEKLY MORNING WATCH PROGRAM

Many students attended the weekly morning watch program Sunday at Daugette Hall. Molly McGaughy read the Devotional, Miss Roxie Bellew gave an interesting talk on "Friendship." Kitty Hannah read some quotations, and Miss Pauline Miles rendered a piano solo.

NOSEBAG

By

THAD BARROW

Ft. Walton, Fla., July 7.

Following an arrangement with Ellen Church, which I have grossly neglected, I now attempt to operate THE NOSEBAG by remote control. I'm finishing a stay in Ft. Walton tomorrow and plan to be home for a time then. Let us hope that anyone becoming bored with my recountal of the camp will turn to a more interesting portion of the TEACOLA, such as the corner that Eugene Crowe-y so brazenly calls his "Whatzis."

I had intended to amuse myself the greater part of the summer by giving the local girls a break, but as they did not prove sufficiently appreciative, I resolved to move to a warmer climate, namely, Florida. Following several unavoidable delays, such as fellows backing out, and tents and tent-poles being unacquainted, we set out with our tagless trailer careening along behind, a piece of flapping canvas concealing the place where the tag should have been. We reached our camp-site with only a minor mishap, a flat, to dampen our spirits. We pitched camp beneath some magnificent oaks about 200 feet from Santa Rosa sound, the body of water lying between Santa Rosa Island and the mainland. A nearby cottage interested us at the time (but not for long) chiefly as a place to get water. You can imagine our delight when a party including eight extraordinarily attractive girls engaged the cottage for a week.

Acquaintances were made with Tornado, flood and heat took a large toll in American lives last week. Thousands have been drowned by flood waters in China.

out difficulty, and a round of unadulterated pleasure began. The afternoon and night trips to the beach are our most enjoyable occasions, of course. Beach scenes are most interesting, what with anything from a variety of gorgeous girls to please even the most discriminating connoisseur to any number of ludicrous spectacles.

I wonder at addicts of corpulence displaying themselves with apparent vanity in something minus almost as much. A combination of surplus avoirdupois and curves in the wrong places is anything but attractive unless one is in the beef trade.

One might spend days assigning each new shade of sunburn to its proper category. They range from a delicate shell-pink to a startling hypericum red. I decided that prudence was the better part of valor, and took my sun baths about dusk.

How I pity you poor, sweltering seekers-after-knowledge. Thermometers holding a track meet. Not a breath of air stirring. Profs riding you for those back papers. But mop your streaming brow and cheer up. It's hot here, too.

The papers state as how Huey Long has taken over the schools and municipal management in Iva and municipal governments of Louisiana. It's a Long, Long way to anything in La.
