Many Extension Classes Organized

According to A. C. Shilton, Director of Extension, classes have been organized in sixteen counties with a very large enrollment. Classes are now progressing nicely in the following centers:

Westfield, Goodwater, Milltown, Clarksburg, Daviston, Ashland, Wedowee, Clanton, Pell City, Ashvil-

e, Onoonta, Hayden, Cedar Bluff, Center, Birmingham, Heflin, Attalla, Anniston, Alabama City, Fort Payne, Geraldine, Arab; Gunt-ersville, Albertville, and Boaz.

Through these classes many teachers are raising their qualifications while carrying on their teaching duties. It is also stated by Mr. Shilton that many of the courses are of such a practical nature that the subject-matters are carried over into the schools.

Freshman Class Holds Meeting

The Freshman Class held a meeting in the auditorium Tuesday, November 19, for the purpose of choosing their election of officers. James King, the class president, was elected. After close races between the candidates the following were voted elected:

Vice-President, Kermit Young; Secretary-Treasurer, Jemins Ford; Malcolm Street was appointed to represent the class on the Social Committee. Mr. Shilton, the class sponsor, was present at the meeting.

Plans were discussed about the issue of the Teacola which will be put out on the Freshmen on December 5.

The Thanksgiving Holidays to Begin on Wednesday

A large number of students will enjoy the Thanksgiving holidays at home with the holiday period beginning on Wednesday afternoon at the completion of all class work. Classes are to be resumed at eight o’clock on Monday morning. Plans have been worked out for the entertainment of those remaining in Jacksonville during the holiday period.

Many New Students Are Expected For Winter Quarter

Letters are continuing to pour from prospective students who are making plans to enter school at the beginning of the winter quarter, December 9. New classes are being organized so that students entering at that time will have the same opportunities and advantages that were enjoyed by those entering this September. By continuing through summer school these beginners will complete a full year of freshman work this year and be ready for the sophomore class at the beginning of the regular session in September.

President Daugette feels quite optimistic about the future of the institution. The enrollment in the fall is quite ready for far more than has been shown at this time of the year. It is expected that the enrollment will continue to increase during the spring and summer. President Daugette states that the enrollment is not only the largest in the history of the school but through a careful selection of students the quality of instruction represented on the student body is second to none in state.

PLAY DAY LUNCH PERIOD WAS AN INTERESTING EVENT OF THE DAY

Dr. Daugette Speaks—Miss Sellers Introduced Members of Athletic Board

The entire Play Day for the high school girls of this section was an event of great success, but it seemed as if the greatest period of the day was the dinner hour, with smiles on their faces, the girls began to sing songs and give yells for their color teams and for outstanding people of the day.

After everyone had been served Dr. Daugette addressed the group. Following Dr. Daugette’s speech, Miss Sellers introduced members of the Athletic Board.

Those members present were present in absentia were Present in Vice President, and Mr. F. J. Little, Secretary of the Board. Other members present were Mrs. P. J. Creel, Miss Barnes and Miss Russell.

After the introductions were made a group of college girls called by the roll having each school representative present to sing a song, humming a tune, dancing a jig, and saying, etc. At 1:50 p.m. the assembly broke and the field was challenged to the other class being in individual sports, while the two classes met and presented at Bibb Graves Hall for conferences.

Miss Natalie Davis is work-tra and expects to be able to send our girls to concerts in towns throughout this section during the school year. Several good music students are members of the orchestra and in the glee club and it is expected that both organisations will be outstanding this year.

NOSEBAG
By THAD BARROW

It was twilight, and everyone was walking around the campus or sitting on the grounds. The last ray of light disappeared; Daisy Houghton Hall, of course, for there was no moon and quiet and peaceful. Suddenly, the silence was broken by a series of shrill, blood-curdling yells. Three girls, with their arms outstretched, flung up two flutings of stairs. In our tracks emerged Piano Girl, who was rushing down the hall. Down the hall we ran, and into our room barely in time to hear the first voice approaching three. We shut the door and Maggie and I held tight, for while we knew we were safe, we shuddered at the thought of being caught. We had not remembered to close. Our rise was raised by the organized and gave back glass for glass; one girl operating the glassware while the other handed water to us as we stood in a chair and returned fire, or rather, water.

Suddenly I had an idea that would make a long piece of hose, which had been lying in our closet, and spoke up, "We want water." That would be much easier and quicker than bringing water in a glass. I took the hose attached to the faucet than the mob on the outside would be heard as soon as the hose was turned on. I turned the hose on my foot, I swear. We had not stood on the foot, for we had heard no one at the door. I put my foot on the faucet and turned on the water. I was not to think of anything that had been said. I looked back at the door and saw that it had been closed. I thought of the hot water that I had been pouring into the sink. I turned the hose on my foot, I swear.

Looking under the bed, we could hear the angry voice of our commuter shout down the hall, "Open the door!" We opened the door and closed the bed, and we saw that no one had been left.

While the matron was gone, we took our key and locked the door. We pushed the key under the door to Mahlath, telling her to put it in the keypad so that the Matron could get in without any trouble. When I was done, then turned out the light and got back under the bed to the dorm. I walked into the hall. We had not long to walk. She left, unbrokened, unshaken, the door, and turned on the light. It was silent except for the sound of a cat, and I could hear the rat and thought that it was one of us behind the door. She could not see our foot; come out from be

She sent for a workman to open the door. When it was opened, the workman discovered a bruise on Maggie's shoulder, a waisahabat, with dresses of many colors draped over her, and a nose that stuck through a suitcase. The bruise was a result of her decision to faint and don't consider it very dignified, so she wished her vend

In spite of the dire predictions of the New Deal critics, the United States has not increased its AAA program by a big majority. Which goes to prove that some people are not as bad at spending as we think. The way only to bring about recovery is for everybody to work harder and cut costs.

VALUE OF EXTENSION WORK
The demand for extension work from Jacksonville is greater than this year has ever been before. The teachers in every county of the Jacksonville district have been enthusiastic over the extension classes except in Shelby County. The teachers for Alabama College no attempt is made to organize in that county. Not only are the classes organized over a wide area, but the teachers are larger in numbers.

It is obvious that many other institutions are rushing in and trying desperately to organize classes where Jacksonville has always served a large number of teachers.
AN IMPORTANT SUBJECT
The demand for extension work from the State Teachers College. A desperate move is on foot in the state to eliminate competition. Jacksonville is not competing for extension work but in competing to secure the needs of the teachers in the same counties and in the same centers where classes were held during the early days of college history, and to give these institutions did not care for.

It has been the policy of this institution to organize classes only where a sufficient number of teachers are interested to justify the time and trouble of sending an instructor. We feel that such a policy is sound and we assure everyone that we are not interested in the scramble which seems to be taking place for the organization of classes.

Jacksonville is simply continuing the work which was begun before other institutions became interested.

THE SCHOOL SITUATION
The regular annual report that schools in Alabama may close within a short time is facing us again this year. Already opposition is being organized to block the proposed measures of relief. The individuals who are organizing against the plan which is considered most appropriate are advocating no other plan. They are simply threatening to close the schools and destroy the work that has been done while the children of other states are being given much better opportunities. It is hard to believe that a proposal of such magnitude has not been reviewed and approved by the Alabama Board of Education.

In 1920 1814 of the people of Alabama were illiterate. Our citizens need teachers if we are to maintain our civilization and vote for the education of the children of this state regardless of the source from which the revenue may come. Unless our people are given the education on hand in hand. We should no longer look to the federal government for help as we are able to run our schools in Alabama and we should no longer sacrifice our self-respect to the extent of begging the federal government to be charitable enough to run our schools for us.

WILL ROGERS
The memory of Will Rogers is being honored throughout the world, not only because of his ability to entertain but because he was a real man along with his other characteristics. His life was such that he admitted him as a man. We heartily approve of the movement of establishing memorials to his honor. Wouldn't it be a good thing for a Will Rogers Memorial Scholarship Fund to be established at Jacksonville?

THE GOLDEN RULE
One of the greatest needs of the day is for thinking people to take to the Golden Rule. We put into automobiles and dash up and down highways at a terrific rate of speed without thinking of the other automobilists or animals, and other motorists should look out for their own safety. It is hard to believe that any good citizen would say that he or she could be the destroyer of lives, or the destroyer of the world as small to small child. But it is even more worse to kill the father, mother, brother, or sister of some individual.

The present rate of a hit on any civilized nation and Alabama leads the world per gallon of gasoline consumed. The penalty on the guilty must be made severe or the citizens must become more careful.

HERE'S HOPEING YOU ALL HAVE HAD A VERY HAPPY THANKSGIVING. ENJOY THE HOLIDAYS TO THEIR FULLEST EXTENT BUT DON'T GET TOO CARRIED AWAY!
It was night time when I saw you
On the seashore, from the Seabirds' Nest
You were like the moonlight
On white foam along dark ledges.
And I find proof that you were there
In the memory of your soft-waving
Blue-black hair.

The white moon shone disdainfully
Through the clouds in such a way
That the moonbeams carved a
Moonlight
Lining marble of your clay.
And I remember with full
Moonlight
The frenzied, frightened violet of your eyes.

You impressed—
As do black faggots in red flames.

And I watched your white loveliness
Without shame,
As the memory of your warm mouth
And two warm arms saw
To remind me that it was not all

A dream.

You stood poised, a nymph
Of Neptune above the sea.

Why did you go?
You should not have been afraid
Of me.

I return, as after you it seemed,
And then awoke to find that I—

Had dreamed.

Basket Ball Practice Continues

By KERMIT MATHISON

On interview with Coach "Steve" reveals that basketball practice is progressing rapidly. The boys are passing and shooting more accurately than they were at the beginning of the season. L. M. McNeil, a reliable guard from last year's squad, turned out for practice this week. L. M.'s return to the team brings all the letter men back except Captain Brady Tate. Captain Tate was lost through graduation last spring, and though his services will be missed this season, there are several good men working hard for his position. It looks as though it will be a strong one.

Coach Stephenson is∧s sending his charges through a stiff seraglio four nights a week and he expects to lengthen it to five nights immediately after Thanksgiving. Several hard games are on the schedule for the Varsity and the Freshmen. The Varsity will encounter West Jacksonville and Oglethorpe again this year, while the Freshmen will play some of the stronger high schools in the state including Amiston, Piedmont, New Hope, and Gadsden. Jacksonville lost only one game last year, that being to West Huntsville in Huntsville.

Every one is looking forward to another banner year for the Jacksonville S. T. C. basketball team.

Vesper Services Being Held at Girls' Dormitories

The girls at both Dormitories have been having short Vesper services after supper each night for the past few weeks and will continue to do so throughout the school year.

The effects of the Vespers seem to be very beneficial, and although all of the girls do not attend the services of this character, they take the place of family prayers in the respective homes of the students.

Coach "Steve"'s right teams will have a volley ball tournament the last week of the quarter. The teams are from the A, B, and C teams of the different classes. Most of these games will be played in the afternoon but the semi-finals and the finals will be played at night. Coach states that this will be a very exciting tournament.

Y. W. C. A. MEETS

The two divisions of the Y. W. C. A. held a joint meeting Wednesday night at Weatherly Hall. The program opened with an inspiring devotion by Maxine Mincher. Thanksgiving poems were given by Jennie Ford, Sara Birkhead, and Helen Mathias. Tanya Jones and Della Dual rendered a vocal duet. Several girls voluntarily told something they were thankful for.

BY BAXTER WOODALL

This design is based on the most abstract principles of Indian design. Abstract as it may be, this design expresses some of the finest and most representative lines employed by Indians in their decorations.

Indian design is of the finest type because it is naturally geometrical. That is, it does not conform to objects as seen through the eyes, but appeals to the imagination and individual interpretation as does all good design.

The design in this issue was cut from a block of linoleum mounted on wood to give it strength. A sharp knife was used to cut the lines and other open spaces which remain white.
