

Fifth Quarter Begins on April 27

HIGHLIGHTS OF WORLD NEWS

Dr. L. N. Duncan, President of Auburn and head of the State Extension Service, states that Alabama's 1936 farm income may be increased more than $10,000,000. Dr. Duncan explained that the recent program provides for two types of payments; soil conserving payments averaging $10.00 per acre and for soil building crops.

Great Britain has submitted to the League of Nations evidence that is supposed to prove that Italians have used poison gas in air raids on Ethiopian cities.

The death toll from recent storms over the South will probably reach the five hundred mark. Over four hundred deaths were reported Tuesday with the largest numbers being in Tupelo, Mississippi, and Gainesville, Georgia. Property damage will run into millions of dollars.

Alabama relief advocates descended on the State Legislature Tuesday with a demand that immediate action be taken to aid the state's 75,000 destitute. The committee was headed by James E. Mills, Jr., Editor of the Birmingham Post.

Reports have been sent out from Mexico City stating that bandits are charged with the bombing of a passenger train with a probable death list of ninety people.

Two pullman cars plunged into a ravine and a third rung from a bridge.

J. S. T. C. Professors Attend Cheaha Dedication

As a gesture of friendly cooperation, Doctors C. R. Wood and J. Frank Glazner attended the mammoth dedicatory program of Cheaha State Park and officially represented the college there, April 3. The wonderful new addition to Alabama's park system is located near the college and it will doubtless enhance the desirability of its location.

New Bulletin Will Be Issued

President C. W. Daugette has announced that a new special bulletin will be issued within a short time. This bulletin will contain pictures of the buildings and quotations dealing with the services which the college has rendered to the state.

Married During A. E. A.

Friends of Miss Francis Wilson extend their congratulations to her upon her marriage to Mr. M. Tierce of Tuscaloosa, Alabama. Miss Wilson and Mr. Tierce were married in Columbus, Mississippi, Thursday night, March 26.

PRESIDENT OF COLLEGE

DR. C. W. DAUGETTE

COLLEGE SPONSORS NET TOURNEY FOR WOMEN

The College Athletic Clubs for Women will hold the annual mixed tennis tournament on the local courts beginning this week according to information given out by Miss Minnie Sellers.

The feminine racquet-weilders have each invited a partner from the ranking men tennis players of the school and the tourney will consist of doubles matches altogether. The four participating clubs will be represented by able players and a dogfall fight is expected. A match of three sets will determine the victors in each contest.

The pairings for the meet follow:

Acheans—Miss Rubye Hyatt and R. P. Steed; Miss Luverne Carpenter and Edgar Sanders.

Aeolians—Miss Marguerite Perry and Howard Bryant.

Dorians—Miss Sue Rhodes and Paul Dodd; Miss Eleanor Johnston and W. C. Cranford; Miss Jessie Ruth Ashburn and J. C. Maxwell.

Ionians—Miss Dorothy Burnham and Arthur Allen; Miss Lucy Williams and Foster Oliver.

Morgan Girls Elect Officers

Miss Harolyn Franklin, Samson, was elected president of the Morgan Literary Society at an election of officers held last Tuesday night. Other officers elected for the spring quarter are: Bill Boyette, vice-president; and Edna Saxon, secretary and treasurer.

The girls are working hard to keep the spirit running high during the spring quarter.

MANY FORMER STUDENTS ENGAGE IN POLITICS

Reports have recently been received from several counties stating that many recent students are now facing the Democratic primary in May. Boyd Turner of Jackson County is in the race for county superintendent with two opponents. J. O. McCracken, who recently completed the requirements for the B. S. degree, is a candidate for county superintendent in DeKalb County. D. E. Coley and G. D. Broom are opposing each other for the office of county superintendent in Cherokee County. Leroy Brown completed the work for the B. S. degree last year and is in the race for County Superintendent of Cleburne County against J. H. Pirkle, who completed the two-year course here many years ago. Alton Lovvorn, who has completed more than three years of work here, is in the race for County Superintendent of Randolph County. Albert Rains, who was a student here about ten years ago, is running for Congress against Major Starnes in the fifth congressional district.

Song Contest To Close Soon

All contestants are urged to turn in their "pep" songs as soon as possible. The Song Contest is slated to close before the end of the present quarter.

The purpose of this contest is to find out the ability of the students at writing songs, and to get new pep songs for the school.

Several songs have been turned in and there is room for still more. Prizes will be awarded to the students having the best two songs.

Huge Crowd Expected For Summer Quarter

It is expected that the enrollment during the summer quarter which will begin on June 2 will be the largest in the history of the school. The enrollment at Jacksonville has already during the past two years broken all records and placed the college enrollment far ahead of that of other teachers colleges and third among all the colleges in the state, being surpassed only by the University of Alabama and Alabama Polytechnic Institute. With the outstanding recognition which the college has been given it is expected that large numbers will come to Jacksonville this summer for the first time. Plans are already being made to provide for living accommodations for those who expect to come. The faculty has also been enlarged to provide a sufficient teaching force. It is estimated that several thousand teachers' certificates will expire July of this year and many will recognize the advantage of working toward completion of the two-year course and the class D certificate which is issued only through work done in teachers colleges.

Conferences of superintendents and other school officials are being planned for the summer quarter so that those in attendance may have opportunities of getting first-hand information on all new phases of education.

Extension Classes Are Ending

It has been announced by A. C. Shelton, Director of Extension, that practically all extension courses for the year have been completed. Mr. Shelton states that the extension enrollment this year has been larger than it has been during the past several years with the classes having been conducted in sixteen of the seventeen counties of this teachers college district. Report cards will be mailed out within a short time.

National Guard To Have Federal Inspection

Company H of Jacksonville will have Federal inspection Monday, April 13 at 2:30 o'clock.

Captain C. W. Daugette, Jr., is working hard putting the finishing touches to his company before the inspectors arrive.

The Jacksonville Company of the 167th Infantry is made up largely of school boys, and they are one of the best companies in the state.

Girls Glee Club Elects New President

At the regular meeting of the Girls Glee Club on Monday, April 6, Mrs. Lorraine Tingle Porch was unanimously elected president of the organization. Also Mrs. Valista McCracken Owen, a former member, resumed her work in the club.

Quarter Subject to the Same Rules and Regulations as Any Other Part of the Year

President C. W. Daugette has announced that the fifth quarter of the State Teachers College will begin on April 27 and run twelve weeks. This quarter is subject to the same rules and regulations as any other part of the year. Only one fee is required for the quarter. By entering on April 27 a person can complete four and one-half full months of work or one-half year by the close of the summer school. Reservations are pouring in daily and indications are that the enrollment for the fifth quarter will break all records of the past. Many teachers whose schools are closing expect to enter at the beginning of the fifth quarter instead of waiting for the beginning of the summer school which begins Tuesday, June 2.

New classes will be organized for the fifth quarter at which time students may take up their work at the beginning of the courses. With full membership in the Alabama Association of Teachers Colleges, the American Association of Teachers Colleges, and the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools the work of the State Teachers College is now recognized throughout the country. This will probably attract even larger numbers to this institution than heretofore.

AMATEUR NIGHT SQUARE DANCE TO BE STAGED BY GLEE TEAM APRIL 18

Announcement was made today by Athletic Director Julian Stephenson that a mammoth amateur night and square dance will be held in Kilby Hall, Saturday evening, April 18, for the benefit of the basketball team. The amateur meet will be open to all bona fide students of the College and Jacksonville High School who exhibit sufficient talent to compete. The program will be arranged so as to eliminate all lost motion and no ennui will prevail during the evening according to those who are arranging the program. Singing, buck-dancing, acrobatic stunts, tap dancing, whistling, and instrumental numbers will be only a few of the items on the program. Many students have expressed a desire to see Emmett Plunkett duplicate his buck-dancing act and the amateur night will offer to those who missed this act an opportunity for an "encore."

A square dance for all those in attendance who desire this kind of amusement and recreation will get under way immediately following the awarding of the prizes and continue till—

All prospective contestants in the amateur program should contact either Coach Stephenson or R. P. Steed regarding applications, etc.

This entertainment is expected to be one of the highlights of the school year and popular admission prices will prevail for the attraction.

HARASING THE EDITOR

The Editor is in a nasty mood. Her boy friend is away, beyond calling distance, and her appetite as well as her cheerful spirit has waned quite appreciably. The condition is almost deplorable. Mrs. Hendrix is seriously concerned over the situation and suggests a diet. Is this not enough for any over-worked editor? But, there's more to follow!

Smith Thompson, circulating manager, drifts in, asks when the Teacola is coming out, and settles his bulk in the over-worked loafer's chair by the desk. He circulates less in a given time than any person you ever saw. The editor groans.

Kermit Mathison, the beautiful brute, otherwise sports editor, saunters in and inquires how Street is progressing on "our department." A blonde strolls by and he strolls on—a master's portrait of industry.

Harold "Clark Gable II" Carpenter, comes reluctantly in and settles down in the just-vacated loafer's chair. He writes a few unusable lines and the irate editor scolds him. She should be ashamed, because it's not his fault that he lacks ability.

Street is a hard-working little fellow, and we have nothing but praise for him. He helps fill the great empty spaces of column.

Evelyn Page, bless her diligent heart, comes in at the last minute with a neat manuscript of sociology—I mean social news—wish she could—I mean would—use her influence with that slow-poke Foster Oliver. He's the flies in the editor's soup and ointment.

The Honorable Thaddeus J. Barrow thunders in like a strong March wind and announces that he is here and everyone can begin working. The "Nose Bag" is Mr. Barrow's noted contribution to the columns of the Teacola.

Basketball Boys to Receive Letters, Sweaters

The Jacksonville Eagle-Owl basketball squad will receive their letters and sweaters at an early date.

The Eagle-Owls had one of their most successful seasons, losing only five games.

Coach "Steve" states that he is already working to build up a still better squad next year.

Miss Sellers Officiates at State Play Day

The State Play Day for girls of the Alabama High School Association was held Thursday and Friday at Montevallo. Miss Sellers, Adviser of the Athletic Association, checked on the eligibility of play day girls and presided at meetings Thursday and Friday evenings for teachers.

Three hundred fourteen high school girls were present with thirty-five high schools represented.

Geography and International Relations Club Meets

The Geography and International Relations Club met in Bibb Graves Hall Thursday evening, April 2. President Harolyn Franklin opened the meeting with a brief business session in which plans for the quarterly social were discussed and committees were appointed to arrange plans.

The feature of the meeting was a detailed discussion by Dr. J. Frank Glazner on the subject of "Geography and World Peace."

Miss Dimple Smith, of Gunter'sville, was elected to full membership in the club, which is composed altogether of honor students.

SCREENFARE

With basketball over and the debate a thing of the past, we must once again turn to the cinema for the major part of our amusement. It has been decreed by the powers that be that strolling and riding after dusk shall NOT be, so during the balmy nights that we are anticipating, the nearest thing to romance will be to hold moist hands between two opera chairs at the local theatre.

Thursday and Friday, April 9 and 10, a film labeled "Anything Goes" features Bing Crosby and Ethel Merman. It's a musical, and Bing appears to sing better as his bay-window expands.

Westerns seem to be becoming the main dish on the Saturday menus. Saturday it is "Hopalong Cassidy", with William Boyd. A new serial, "Adventures of Rex and Rinty", stars a dog and a horse.

Remember the little snob who enhanced Shirley's sweetness in "Bright Eyes"? Well, in case you have forgotten, her name is Jane Withers, and she's the star in "This Is The Life", at the Princess Monday, April 12.

Tuesday, Frank Morgan takes a role to which he is admirably fitted, "The Perfect Gentleman."

Wednesday, don't gamble with love—oh, excuse me! The name of the picture is "Don't Gamble With Love", (and take my advice, don't gamble with dice, unless they're loaded by you!)

Thursday and Friday, a magnificent screen vision of Victor Hugo's immortal "Les Miserables" will be shown. I have seen the picture and don't hesitate to praise it without stint—Fredric March gives a powerful portrayal of Jean Valjean. Which reminds me: have you ever been disappointed with a picture starring Fredric March? I haven't.

Saturday, April 18, gives George O'Brien and all his muscle in "Thunder Mountain." George is about the best western star in the business, since Randolph Scott got promoted. Also, Chapter II of the serial "Adventures of Rex and Rinty."

Monday, April 20, George Bancroft in "Hell Ship Morgan."

You've heard and sung about a night at Monte Carlo, but with svelte Dolores Del Rio the widow, "The Widow From Monte Carlo" should have more—shall we say, zest? Tuesday, if you please.

SQUARE DANCE

To prevent our acquiring an over-supply of sophistication we occasionally go back to one of the habits of the hinterland to effect a happy condition. The square dances are a great democratizing agency also. There we neophytes may fraternize with such luminaries as Dr. Marsh, and the hillbilly with the metropolitan!

(Signed)

ALEXEI SMARTOPHY.

MANY ACADEMIC COURSES INCLUDED IN CURRICULUM

Contrary to the opinion of many people a person can take many academic courses at the State Teachers College. The first two years of the continuous curriculum are made up entirely of academic subjects which may be used as a background for some professions. In completing the four-year course at Jacksonville opportunities are found for a large amount of work in the various academic subjects. The table below gives a number of academic subjects with the number of quarter hours offered in each:

Subject	Quarter Hrs.
English	45
History	36
French	27
Mathematics	27
Geography	24
Biology	18
Chemistry	9
Economics	6
Sociology	3
General Psychology	3
Physical Education	11
History of Art	9

SHELTON TO DELIVER COMMENCEMENT ADDRESS

A. C. Shelton, Director of Extension, will deliver the commencement address at Susan Moore High School in Blount County on Wednesday night April 22. The invitation was extended by Mr. W. A. Moore, principal of the school.

Easter Sunrise Program

The Easter Sunrise Service will be held Sunday morning on the terrace of Daugette Hall at 6:30 o'clock. An interesting program will be given. Everyone is cordially invited to attend.

Last Tuesday was celebrated throughout the country as Army Day, the anniversary of the entrance of the United States in the World War nineteen years ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Hoke Wallace spent the week-end with Mrs. Wallace's parents in Tuscaloosa.

UNDER THE GOLDENROD

Meteorologists may be at loggerheads with these certain fragrant signs about the official date of the return of Spring, but there are many who agree at least that Winter is now but a ghost displaced by those bright heralds of the radiant season the yellow flowers dotted here and there on the campus . . . clumps of daffodils; forsythias trail of golden lace; yellow jasmine, late this year on account of the cold hand that stayed bud and blossom for a few weeks.

All this and the dark loam the sun and flying cloud that have produced these miracles of gold, led to a chat with Miss Mary Forney, our own Art-Landscape Decorator, one of the few women in the South to hold such a position. One might think that Spring had something to do with the merry twinkle in her blue eyes if one had not seen that same sparkle all Winter as Miss Forney studied official plans for beautification of the landscape that is the J. S. T. C. campus and as she followed a definite gardening plan, for each month has its task in the function of these plans provided by the State Department of Education. Even the snow and freezing temperature played an important part. Miss Forney says that the soil is well pulverized during a freeze and when the snow melts, the moisture seeps in so easily and goes so far down that it is stored for weeks to come and tiny roots reach down to transmute the wonder of the earth through rich foliage and blossom.

Miss Forney is enthusiastic not only about the care of plants that have already been placed on the campus but anticipates the glamour of the scene when plans are completed. The plantings provided for are formal yet not stiff, and will give a continuous array of beauty

Speaking of Rudeness

An irrepressible trio — Kermit Mathison, Foster Oliver and Thad Barrow. They invariably want what they can't have; such, for instance, as girls already on the shelf. An engagement ring attracts them as a redflag lures a bull. The former has tired of the rather tame sport of collecting class rings, and is taking up the more interesting if dangerous pastime of breaking up future homes. Foster is somewhat of an amateur in comparison with the other two, but with close association with them and diligent application he is rapidly overcoming his handicap. Le Barrow is more interested in the pawn value of the engagement-ring-to-be-discarded,—pecuniarily minded devil, he!

The writer advises all men with fiancées on these premises to come up and guard their interests. In the meantime, where is that trio? I want a lesson!

from tree-budding till leaf fall.

"We have so many beautiful native plants," said Miss Forney "and I was delighted to see them included in our state architects' plan for J. S. T. C."

Two of Miss Forney's great expectations are a dogwood vista from the Hames Building to Francis Avenue, and a continuous arrangement of plants connecting the two campus sites.

APRIL

By Gladys Kidd
 Deep the rivers flow in April
 Filled with melted snow.
 Could I but run with April,
 The way those rivers go,
 Perhaps I'd find landing
 Where winter still is king,
 Or else, run on with April
 'Til flowers herald spring.
 Why maidens weep in April
 Is the strangest thing to me,
 For new love is born in April
 And the heart's fancy-free.
 The glow of radiant colors
 The green of bursting leaves,
 Show what man can be
 If only he believes.

"J" Club Dance Saturday Night

The "J" Club is planning to have one of the best dances of the year Saturday night, April 11. This organization is composed of boys who have earned a letter in one of the major sports—football, baseball, and basketball. Each boy who belongs to the "J" Club may invite a stag, one couple, and a date. The stag and couple invited have to be boys and girls in school but the date may be a girl not in school. This dance should be the best of the year. The members of the "J" Club are working hard to insure its success. Most of the best dancers in school have been invited as stags and should insure a good stag line. A good orchestra will be secured.

"J" Club Initiation

The "J" Club initiation is over and we are sure the new members are glad. What do you say, boys? On April 6, Dr. Glazner turned the assembly program over to the "J" Club and the new members were given an opportunity to show some of their talent. It was found that we had in the "J" Club dancers, singers, orators, and comedians. (We even had one musician!) Ha! Some of the new members were a little sick and couldn't sit so well after Wednesday night but all were happy that it was over. The old members, welcome and congratulate the new members of the organization. The new members are: Kemp, Plunkett, Caldwell, Cranford, Bartlett, Steed, and Watters.

Many Seek Class D Certificates

With the adoption of the salary schedule throughout the state large numbers of teachers are finding it to their interest from a financial point of view to attend the State Teachers College and complete the work for a normal school diploma and a Class D certificate. The Class D certificate is issued only to those people who complete the work at a teachers college for a normal school diploma. The Class D certificate is of great benefit to those who find it necessary to teach during the winter and attend school during the summer in order that they may raise their qualifications.

Irby Powell has returned to school after a year as principal of the Fyffe Junior High School.

Stanley Camp spent the week-end at his home in Munford.

THE SALES TAX

The sales tax has been an issue in Alabama during the past few years. Many people have opposed it very vigorously under the pretense of its being a very oppressive tax on the poor. Some have been sincere and others have used it as a very effective political issue. The main source of taxes in Alabama in the past has been real estate. When we look about we may find numbers of home owners and farmers who have had their property sold for non-payment of taxes, while thousands of people in the state have drawn large salaries and have not had their names on the tax books of the state. These people have had the same advantages as those who have paid the direct taxes. Their children have been educated, they have had the protection of the laws of the state and have invested their earnings in tax free securities. A sales tax affects all alike in proportion to the amount of money which each person has to spend. Who could ask for a fairer tax than one in which all participate according to their ability to pay! We feel that small home owners should have their property exempt from an ad valorem tax and that a premium should be placed on home ownership. The income tax and the sales tax should take the place of the property tax on small property owners but those owning large amounts of property should continue to pay on the same basis as now or perhaps have their assessments raised above a certain valuation.

THE CLOSING OF SCHOOLS

Most of the elementary schools throughout the state are now closed or will be closed within the next few days. This is not a new situation for the state but is the fifth year that such conditions have existed. The Federal Government has been prevailed upon to help out in the emergency in the past but everybody knew that such aid would not be forthcoming again this year. It also should be a source of shame to every citizen of the state to sit back and expect outside aid for the operation of our schools. Do the people of Alabama actually believe in educating their children or do they think that it is a useless waste of time and money? If they believe in an education it is hard to see how we can sit back and let a generation of children grow up in ignorance and be handicapped for life. We need only to look around us and see some of the fruits of ignorance. Those who are educated are not willing for their children to grow up in ignorance. We should not be satisfied to let the children of others who do not see the value of an education continue to be ignorant. Alabama is poor because of ignorance and ignorant because of poverty. So long as ignorance and poverty go hand in hand we may continue to feel the hand of poverty upon us. It is time for our leaders to begin playing the part of statesmen instead of playing politics with the children of the state.

THE WORK OF THE TEACHER

We still find large numbers of people who do not feel that an education is worthwhile. That attitude is perhaps justified on the part of many individuals who have observed young people coming out of our high schools and colleges who have not learned some of the better things in life. It is doubtful if any really educated person is ever vulgar in mind, body, or spirit. Every teacher should make it his or her job to see that the students are taught the need of living clean lives. They should be taught to be decent in their behavior toward other people and conduct themselves in such a way as to be models for the uneducated to follow.

Every educated person should strive in every way possible to make the world a better place in which to live. He should take an active part in the affairs of the community and should do everything in his power to see that the social and political orders are improved. I believe in every person's taking an active part in politics and being able to reason things out and choose the better side. It is discouraging to note that among some of the best educated people of the state there is very little freedom of thought. As a general rule they follow the dictates of "political bosses" as much so as regular day laborers. Every person should have his own personality and should be able to see both sides of every question but above all other things there is a great need for universal citizenship and this can be brought about only through more efficient teaching.

THAD BARROW

Editor's Note: The opinions of Mr. Barrow are not to be taken as the policy of the paper or school. Any censure should be directed to him directly, as the Teacola is not responsible for any of his "pop-offs."

I have been troubled with a faint toothache for a couple of days. As I lack the price of a dentist's aid, I plan to borrow someone's new patented electric belt. I understand that it will cure anything from extreme lack of age among the sub-debs to second childhood among their great-grandparents.

Leopold Stokowski, director of the Philadelphia Symphony Orchestra, says that there is no particular way for one to listen to music. Rather, there are several ways in which one should NOT listen to music! The primary "don't" is not to listen too intellectually. It seems that some people are so intent on appreciating good music that it is impossible to properly enjoy it. Possibly that is the reason why stringed bands and the like are so popular about here. It is inconceivable that one could "appreciate" them, so his full faculties may be devoted to enjoying them.

We must express our sympathy with the militant Auburn students who feel the urge of "do something." Even if we shall see fit to demonstrate our feelings in a more passive manner, we admire their fortitude and envy them it. If I were gifted as a speaker, I know of nothing I had rather do than travel a bit and direct a few verbal blasts at certain erring lawmakers of our state.

I see by the PLAINSMAN that the girls' dormitory there is called "The Zoo." The name is rather appropriate, and suggests an easy way to classify the occupants.

The cat-wing probably will be the most obvious. Various subdivisions will include the common domestic variety, noted for its purring and scratching, and the verba-cious variety.

The bovine wing will contain pens classified according to the size of the occupants.

Research by a Bostonian discloses that the income of a family can be usually determined by a check of the radio programs that it listens to. The people in the lower bracket prefer melodrama—Dick Tracey and the like—and string music. The middle group, with incomes ranging from $1200 to $2500, tunes in on jazz to a great extent. The upper group, with incomes ranging from $2500 up, provide the principal audience

"CRASHING SOCIETY"

The Senior class of Jacksonville High School will carry out the old tradition of giving a play each year, when it presents "Crashing Society" by J. C. Parker, at Kilby Hall, Saturday night, May 2.

The cast has been selected as follows:

Adam Dunnigan, the husband who is a loyal subject, played by Bennie Steinberg; Elsie Dunnigan, the wife and ruler of the Dunnigan home, Lucile Grey; Marguerite, their oldest daughter, Martha Norman; George, their son, Vernon Garner.

The part of Christabel, Mr. and Mrs. Dunnigan's youngest daughter, will be portrayed by Emma Laura McClendon; the part of Scruples-Scruples, the somewhat mentally undernourished butler, will be taken by Quinton Porch; Miss Cadgett, the tutor, by Isabel Roper; Mr. Van Witherspoon, leader in New York society, Arthur Johnson; Mrs. Van Witherspoon, his wife, Grace Borders; Cyril Van Witherspoon, their son, Bill Finch; Agatha Mulrooney, virtuoso, Jarrell Carpenter; and Louise Miller, reporter, Alice Hamric.

MRS. SELF ENTERTAINS SENIORS

Mrs. Reuben Self, sponsor of the senior class, entertained members of the annual staff and the cast of the senior play at her home Thursday evening, April 2. While the editors of the annual organized their material, the members of the play cast rehearsed. Jane Self, small daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Self, gave a short program of dance and song numbers. ## Calhoun Society Holds Weekly Conclave

The regular weekly session of the Calhoun Literary Society was held in the college administration building Tuesday evening, March 31. A brief business period, over which Henry Lee Greer presided, dispensed with the routine business matters. Miss Geraldine Merritt commented on the debate, lauding the speakers for their untiring efforts in the meet. The society in turn extended to Miss Merritt a vote of thanks for her cooperation with "Boots" Lovett in leading the cheering for the body. Miss Faye McClendon took charge of the meeting and introduced the program. Miss Ruth DeArman conducted the devotional which was followed by a vocal solo by Miss Della Duell. Lamar Triplett played a piano solo, "Blue Prelude." Miss Lois Giles presented "Wits and Nit-Wits", and Miss Peggy Austin demonstrated her whistling ability on "Stardust." The program was concluded with Mr. Greer singing popular compositions.

The expected after-debate let-down did not materialize as a large and enthusiastic crowd attended the meeting.

Y. W. C. A. Elects Officers for Coming Year

The Y. W. C. A. held its regular meeting Wednesday evening, April 1, in Weatherly Hall.

After a short program officers for the ensuing year were elected as follows: Hannah King Wal-drip, Sylacauga, President; Georgia Wright, Boaz, Vice-President; Ruth DeArman, Birmingham, Secretary and Treasurer. Officers for the past were: Evelyn Page, Birmingham, President; Vera Martin, Sylacauga, Vice - President; Bill Boyette, Rockford, Secretary and Treasurer.

Miss Elva C. Longshore was a recent guest of Mrs. R. E. Ringer of Rome, Georgia.

The Jacksonville Luncheon Was a Great Success

The large number of graduates and under-graduates who attended the Jacksonville S. T. C. Luncheon in the North Terrace of the Tutwiler Hotel in Birmingham last Friday were well entertained. The group enjoyed speeches by Dr. A. E. Parkins of Peabody College; Dr. Zebulon Judd of Auburn; C. A. Donahoo of Gadsden; Dr. P. K. Sisk of Livingston; and Dr. C. W. Dugette of Jacksonville.

A program of songs was presented by the college quartet, and a solo was rendered by Henry Lee Greer of Gadsden.

WET PAINT

If the keen observer noticed the usually erect college students doing spasmodic jack-knife bends and frantically grabbing their collective tummys recently, it was merely an epidemic of painters' colic, the aftermath of the painting during the A. ## THE BONUS ISSUE CONTINUES IN SPOTLIGHT

The Future Veterans organization is attracting the fancy of all groups opposing war and of most of the old veterans who actually saw service in the past conflict. Of course, there are strongly-phrased criticisms from certain of the organized vets who know more of the "glories" of war—having enjoyed theirs without its sanguinary garnishings; having had theirs with the prospects of a fat bonus and without the actuality of whining bullets. One such termed the "Future Vets" a bunch of "yellow puppies", to which a "pup" replied, "you're red." He might be called a "dog in the manger." He has had his bonus and doesn't want anyone else to have one.

One must realize that there has never been such a good squelching device as cold water and derision. The "Future Vets" are admirably applying both to war as a future policy.

At that, more fantastic grants have been made by the government. Farmers are being paid to plant beneficial crops on their land, and men have been given jobs raking non-existent leaves. Would it not be much more logical to pay a strapping young man his bonus of $1,000.00 in advance and let him enjoy it while he lives? Isn't it worth something for a young man to keep himself ready to rush overseas and place his body as a barrier between some beery German and an oily Frenchman?

The girls also are getting in on the fun. On many campuses they are organizing auxiliaries to demand free trips to France to view the probable graves of their future sons.

The men with journalistic bents are demanding that the government subsidize chairs in their colleges to give them instruction in the art of garbling war dispatches and in the concoction of "atrocity" stories for patriotic purposes.

If we see fit to organize a

I wonder if the boys on third floor at Forney Hall would install an electric alarm clock in "Rat" Street's and Mathews' room so they would not make quite so much noise every morning about six o'clock trying to find out what time it is.

The Morgan Literary Society in a meeting held last Tuesday elected new officers to serve for the spring quarter.

The retiring president, Mr. N. Bush, has served the society in leadership second to none in the college. In Mr. Bush's place as president the society elected his brother, Marshall Bush, who has worked with the society this year in such a way that they have shown their appreciation by naming him to this office.

The other officers are: Alton Powell, vice-president, and Bryant Steele, secretary and treasurer. The Morgan Society does not plan to discontinue their work now that the debate is over, but they plan to work for a better society next year.

A FIRE-PROOF DORMITORY FOR MEN

FANNY FAINTHEART'S
FILOSOPHY

Dear Fanny:

Please give me some advice on this very serious question. I am going with a short, brown haired girl and have been going with her for over two years. Now how can I tell whether or not she is in love with me.

Yours in distress,

SMITH THOMPSON.

Dear Smith:

I believe that your letter was written to me in a spirit of fun. I can't take it very seriously. You don't sound very much disturbed. In the first place, my boy, you might know that if a girl has stood your company for two years, she has it bad. The second way of judging if she loves you is by feeling her pulse. When you go to feel her pulse, if she loves you, it will be accelerated like Cecil Bruner when he hears of the dinner bell (if there were one). In the third place, watch her eyes. Does her glance stray from you to something else? If so—if she cannot look straight at you, love has her enthralled.

I hope this answers your question.

Earnestly,
FANNY F.

Dear Fanny Faintheart:

Your insight in solving problems of the heart is truly remarkable, otherwise I would not trouble to send you this extremely personal query.

I have a reputation of being a very nice boy, and further, am not hard to look at. My hair is as wavy as a big pond on a windy day, and I can keep up my end of conversation. As a matter of fact, some girls regard me as swell pickings. One, however, a tiny brunette is the pride of Mr. Shelton's office, after encouraging me for several months pretends not to notice me any more. I can't believe that I have merited such treatment, as my behavior has never been questionable. Please, do something to help me. Even if you do not send her back to me, any relief from the suspense will be welcomed with a capital "W."

Forever and a day, B. G.

My Dear B. G.:

I delight in such problems as this. If I can lift any weights from people pining from unrequited love, I delight in trying.

My boy, always try to analyze the person whom you are interested in. Have you ever remarked that the lady in the case is rather nervous, excitable, and high strung? Now, take yourself. You are just the opposite, calm, composed, surfeited with a good bit of savior faire. You have probably heard that unlike persons of the opposite sex are attracted to each other. What you probably haven't heard is that unlike persons although attracted to each other can't get along. It is like having a Sand Mountain plow mule hitched with an Arab horse. They just won't pull together. Don't mistake me and think I'm comparing you to a mule. I'm not. It's general.

Further, my boy, from the tone of your letter, you sound a little conceited to me are you? If so get it out of you. If you don't, it will be knocked out. You also say that you are a model boy. Maybe that's the trouble. Model people are usually smug and ingratiating. My third piece of advice is quit being model. If necessary go break something.

BREVE, build yourself over. I have told you that you aren't biologically suited; yet if you still love her, try remedying some of the things above. MIRABILE DICTU, I believe you will succeed.

Your friend and helper,

FANNY F.

My Dear Miss Faintheart:

As a purveyor of the mysterious art of clairvoyance, I have marvel at your solutions of problems. I know that you can credit your power to woman's intuition, and a woman's intuition is notably weak in matters of her own personality—(despite apparent omnipotence in advising others.) Please do not be offended. I am by no means placing you in the category of the ordinary club woman; rather, I am paying you the highest compliment in my power, and believe that you would attain undreamed-of heights as a clairvoyant.

But, to come to the point; I am a lone man, and the little guiding voice that reveals all mysteries to me has whispered that my future happiness lies in your hands. Please Miss Faintheart, encourage me to believe that I may hope—the little voice from across the abyss refuses to reveal more.

With a heart full of love that I lack the power to express, I bid you ADIEU.

Always,
SOOTY SOOTHSAYER.

My Dear Sooty Soothsayer:

You have brought hope back into my long empty heart. You have given me new hopes, new faith, a new lease on life, a will to move on. For at times I have been tempted to smother the dim lamp of life that flickers fitfully within me. Oh but now, how I be changed! Someone, somewhere is interested in me! Someone cares!

I fell in love with your style of writing. Those big words—how they thrill me. But ah! It is all hopeless. I can never disclose my identity; however, I know that only a mature man over whose staunchly lifted head has passed at least fifty Summers could write such a heart-stirring epistle; thus, knowing you are old enough and great enough to remain true, I will describe myself.

I am forty-five years old. My hair is red (being truthful, I must admit, it is vegetable dye—harmless—guaranteed not to fade. My eyes are blue. I wear glasses, not only to conceal these disturbing orbs of mine. Men fall when they look. I have been told they are "ox-like." How poetic! I am a spinster lady (by choice) and must continue to live that way as much as it tears my heart out and tortures me. How can I bear it? But after all one must do his duty. You see, there is an insurmountable difficulty to our being more to each other—I chew chewing gum when I sleep.

Yours in despair,

"FANNY"

LOVE TRIUMPHS O'ER MONEY

Love won by a majority over money when nine Daugette Hall girls were interviewed on the question.

"If you had the choice between love and money in marriage, which would you take?"

"Love," said Sarah Birchfield, "I wouldn't be happy if I didn't love him."

"Gosh! I don't know", answered Fanny Thompson, "Guess I'd want him to love me a little bit." Harolyn Franklin answered "Love" at once—"What good would money be without love?"

"Love but I don't know why," replied Vera Martin as unconcerned as usual.

Benevis Harris said she would also marry for love. When asked why she said, "I just would."

Eleanor Johnston said, "If I had to live with a guy, I'd have to love him."

Della Deuel also said that she couldn't live with a man if she didn't love him.

When questioned, Ruth DeArman said, "Love." When asked why she said "Well, I don't know."

Lois Giles said, "I'd hate to live with somebody I didn't love."
