Soy beans were first brought to this country from China in 1804. They were considered of no value until 1899 when experiment stations found the real value of soy beans as a forage crop. Last year it was estimated that the farmers received $34,000,000 from the growing of soy beans.

Training School News

Members of one of the reading classes of the sixth grade wrote paragraphs on "My Share in Making Highways Safe." The class selected the best one which was written by Eloise Cass. It is given below:

MY SHARE IN MAKING HIGHWAYS SAFE.

The way I can help to make the highways safe is to obey the traffic cop. When I am walking on the highways, I always observe traffic before crossing the road. When I walk on the road, I always keep to the left to meet coming cars. And I always look up and down the street before crossing.

ELOISE CASS.

The following also wrote good papers:

Gladys Chitwood, Hollis Bozzer, Marjorie Pyron, Leon Johnson, Henry Finch, Helen Wright, and Ruby White.

Practice Teachers Training in Junior High School

Due to the very crowded condition at the Demonstration School it is now possible for practice teachers to put in their hours in the Junior High School. In order to allow students to get in their practice it has been necessary to extend the teaching over to Junior High work both this year and last year. This gives teachers wishing to teach in higher grades a chance to get some experience in that line of work.

WELCOME NEW STUDENTS

Members of the Teacola staff, college officials, and students extend a hearty welcome to new students and new members of the faculty. We want you to feel at home with us and assure you of our desire to make your stay with us both pleasant and profitable. If you need any advice or assistance come to the Teacola office or to the president's office. We want you to feel that the Teacola is your paper. Give us news items and other contributions. We are striving to make the Teacola the voice of the college. Your cooperation will be greatly appreciated.

Hi, Hey, Hello, Hiya!

One of the most prized features of Jacksonville life is the extreme friendliness of faculty, student-body and townspeople. As a matter of fact, we are getting so friendly that a major portion of our time is spent in friendly greetings. Some of these so-called "friendly" greetings are hypocritical, some are mechanical and a few are genuine.

With about fifteen hundred Eds and Co-eds loping about it is quite an effort to speak to all of them. We'll grant, however, that one doesn't speak to all the fifteen hundred. Allow "hey" 1000—a conservative estimate. The chances are that one will speak to half of them at least twice in the course of a day, which brings us back to the original number. Allow two seconds to each "hey"—when you're winded at the top of a stairway it takes longer—and you arrive at the conclusion that the average J. S. T. C. student spends fifty minutes of each day saying "hey!"

But after all, what is life if we can't be friendly with each other.

Plans Being Made For Summer Quarter

Plans are being worked out for the beginning of the summer quarter on June 2. Commencement exercises for the regular session have been moved up to an earlier date so as to enable the college officials to have more time for registration of new students. Letters are coming in daily from people all over the state making reservations and inquiring about the possibility of being admitted. People of the town are making plans to furnish comfortable living accommodations to those who are unable to obtain board in the dormitories. Several new teachers have been added to the faculty to care for the large crowd expected during the summer.

New Peak in Enrollment Is Established

With the beginning of the fifth quarter last week the enrollment at the State Teachers College has again broken all records. Approximately six hundred teachers enrolled for regular college work due to the early closing of schools. This number pushes the resident enrollment for the regular session to an excess of fifteen hundred students which has never been known in the history of teachers colleges in Alabama. Much difficulty has been experienced in providing living accommodations for the enormous crowd. The dormitory space is filled to capacity and several hundred students are being given accommodations in the town. It is through the cooperation of the citizens that it is possible to care for such a large enrollment. It is thought that through the cooperation of Jacksonville citizens that much more space will be available at the beginning of the summer quarter on June 2.

The U. D. C. Gives Program

The John C. Forney Chapter of the U. D. C. had charge of the assembly program Monday, April 27, for the purpose of honoring the Confederate dead, announcing the winners of the Historical Essay Contest, and of awarding the Cross of Honor to World War Veterans who were descendants of Confederate soldiers.

The speaker for the morning was Mr. Rankin Dugette. Later Mrs. C. W. Dugette, who is the State Historian of the U. D. C., explained how the essay contest was carried on, and Mrs. L. W. Allison, president of the John Forney Chapter, announced Mr. Wallace Mintz as winner in the Jacksonville High School and Miss Willene Maze as winner in the college.

After Mrs. Dugette read the recommendations, Mrs. Allison awarded the Cross of Honor to Mr. Reuben Self, descendant of William Self; Mr. Claud Moody, descendant of William Rollins, and Mr. Wm. Thomas Morton, Jr., descendant of Cable Woodruff.

Seniors To Present Play

The Senior Class of J. S. T. C. has secured as their play, "The Show Off." This play was presented in New York several years ago where it had a run of about six weeks. One of the characters of the original "Show Off" was the famous movie star, Lee Tracy.

The play is a three-act comedy with plenty of fun for everyone. Those who have seen the play recommend it highly, and insist that it is worth the price of admission to anyone.

French Club Meets

The French Club held a meeting Thursday morning. During the business meeting plans were made for the club to meet once a month at night.

A program committee was appointed and after a poem was given in French by Ruth DeArman the Club adjourned.

CONGRATULATIONS TO PRESIDENT DAUGETTE

Dr. C. W. Daugette is to be congratulated on the accomplishments of the Jacksonville State Teachers College. In spite of the many fights that have been made against the teachers colleges in the past, Jacksonville has continued to go forward and today ranks third in enrollment among all colleges of the state with only the University of Alabama and Alabama Polytechnic Institute with their various schools having more students than may be found on the Jacksonville campus. More people are being prepared for service to the state here in the field of teaching than at any other institution and a majority of those in attendance are people who have already taught and are raising their qualifications so as to be able to render better service to the children of the state. The institution can now step forward and face all opposition without fear. Any politician who would raise his voice in the legislature against an institution that is rendering the service that Jacksonville is rendering probably would be laughed to scorn by the more intelligent members of the law-making body.

The wonderful progress that has been accomplished by this college is due in large measure to the spirit of friendliness and helpfulness on the part of students and officials at the college. That spirit has become widely known over the entire state and we hope there will never be a time when either students or faculty members will overlook the fact that the finest thing in the world is willingness to help the other fellow. Now with over-crowded conditions it shall be the desire of officials of the school to see that the interests of every person are looked after in an individual manner. With this continued policy we can imagine what may yet be in store for the Jacksonville State Teachers College.

CHARACTER EDUCATION

Honesty has been selected as the first objective of the character education committee of the Anniston City Schools. We agree with this committee heartily and commend the program of character education which is being carried on in the city schools of Anniston. It is hoped that more school systems will take up this program and attempt to develop character in the boys and girls. It is thought by many people that the schools of today are failing in the development of character. If such is the case, some of our practices in school are responsible for the failure. We might call attention to our grading systems where a premium is placed upon high grades regardless of how they may be made. Children are encouraged to cheat and lie in order that they may be placed on honor rolls. We feel that our educational leaders should wake up to the need of a complete change in our systems of grading and no longer reward the "A" student and condemn the "C" student. The stress should be taken from grades and placed upon the mastery of subject matter. Some schools have already adopted the plan of grading only "passed and failed." We should quit doing things because of general practice and reason out more of our educational policies on the basis of what is best for the students.

LYNCH LAW

It is hardly likely that the mob element of Huntsville will try to execute "lynch law" again soon. The mob took the "word" of bloodhounds that the four negroes that were lead to were guilty of the murder of Miss Vivian Woodward. Sheriff's deputies arrived just in time to save the lives of the four. Since then the four have been completely vindicated by the confession of the murderer. Another count against mob law.

NOSE BAG

By

THAD BARROW

Disregarding the protests of the girls that even the suggestion is sacrilege, Weatherly DID look like a jail the other night. The doors were all shut tight, and the windows appeared to be barred. Wilson explained that the apparent bars were hose drying in the windows.

Evelyn Page tells us that William Tell was a comparative amateur. There's not nearly so much skill involved in shooting an apple from one's son's head as in hitting the bull's eye smack center in Coach Steve's archery target. We must forego nick-naming her "Bull's Eye Page" because such a monicker would be rather incongruous with her colossal dignity.

Foister, the matinee idol in the raw, is a bit excited over his part in the "Showoff." He will explain to you that "The Showoff" wowed 'em in New York in '24, and that Lee Tracy was in it. Further, that Heywood Brown reported it favorably and that it's bound to be even better with the great Oliver showing off.

Speaking of folks, they're here! Fifteen hundred of them cluttering up the staterooms and falling down the hatches! Real estate is booming and there is a demand even for camp sites.

To my suggestion that children not be allowed at the Senior play on account of the huge crowd anticipated, the retort came back that if such a thing were attempted, people would conclude that the play was immoral, and there would be no handling the crowd! At that, we don't think that many of the small kids enjoy the plays. They always appear to recognize the climax, however, and seldom fail to let out an agonized yowl at that point. Also at the movies.

Dr. Broxton inquires about the local Mountain roads almost naively. He inquired the other day if the White's Gap road were safe for an amateur mountain driver. One who has driven a car in Florida, however, can understand his concern. The nearest thing to a mountain down there is the pile of dirt by the uncompleted ship canal.

Mr. Harry Herndon was in town Sunday. Now there's a writer for you. A lot of people have told me that this column is not half so good as last year, and I can reply that last year, with Harry setting the pace, it HAD to be better!

TEN COMMANDMENTS WRITTEN FOR CO-EDS

2. "Thou shalt never drink in public.
3. "Thou shalt not sit out dances in cars.
4. "Thou shalt not be seen with young men who are not careful to obey conventions in society.
5. "Thou shalt not use a pet phrase in conversation.
6. "Thou shalt use discretion in using slang.
7. "Thou shalt not pat or nudge a person when speaking to him. Keep your hands to yourself.
8. "Thou shalt never go to a man's apartment alone.
9. "Thou shalt not indulge in careless affections.
10. "Thou shalt not powder thy nose on the street."

Sawyer, a timid lawyer, G. A. Rasco; Walter M. Blair, a millionaire, Bill Irby, Jr.; Emily Jane Pink, as black as ink, Mary Alice Ashmore; and Mrs. Sadie L. Boise, a widow by choice, Margaret Horn. Ushers were Jarrel Carpenter and Mary Few.

The main features of the program will be: Black Face Novelty by Johnny Richards and Bobby Cowden; tap dances by Jane Self and Martha Jane Felgar; a toast to the seniors by William Irby, Jr., president of the junior class; and the response by William Finch, president of the senior class; a song, "Shipmates Forever", which will be dedicated to the seniors.

A color scheme of violet and white will be carried out in the decorations. The ship motif will be used in the invitations, favors, and programs.

Speaking of elections, there seems to be plenty of politics in the air around here now. It seems that everyone is working for a different man, wonder who they are going to influence.

And then there was the election carried out in Weatherly Hall. Of course, the new council should organize a political "ring" and keep control of the offices. Seriously, however, I am glad to see various forms of student self-government coming into our great institution.

It seems that some energetic mountain climber should receive our dormant Chimney Peak Hikers Club. With all the new people here it seems that the club should do right well.

The baseball teams seem to be doing very well at present, but why shouldn't they? We have in our student body, enough material to organize a championship team.

After the capture of Karpis in New Orleans, I am sure that G-men have placed "Rat" Carter as public enemy 1,113. If they do not, then it's up to the upper classmen to tend to him. Just a little warning, Carter, 'cause the quarter is nearly over.

Just in a casual way, I wonder who has charge of arranging articles on the bulletin board? It seems that the board could be kept in a more orderly condition with very little effort.

Miss Theresa Branch Speaks to Student Body

Monday, May 4, Miss Maude Luttrell favored the student-body with an interesting and beneficial assembly program. She prepared a dinner table and Miss Theresa Branch, home economics expert for the Alabama Power Company in Anniston, spoke on simple table manners, using Miss Luttrell to demonstrate.

Morgan Society Holds Weekly Meeting

The Morgan Literary Society meeting, called off two weeks ago due to tests, was held last Tuesday night. The meeting was attended by about one hundred Morgan members.

Marshal Bush, president of the boys' society, had charge of the business meeting, where plans were discussed of how to raise money to pay an old debt from last year's banquet.

The Morgans are taking great interest in their meetings following the debate, and due to the fact that they have one year's start on the Calhouns toward the permanent cup, they are working hard to build up a good society for next year.

FANNY FAINTHEART'S FILOSOPHY

My dearest Fanny:

My dear, if you had sent me a photograph, I could not have had a clearer picture of you! Your utter frankness in describing yourself makes me yearn for you tenfold. With the aid of the guiding spirit—from across the abyss I can see you in my mind's eye, my lovely Fanny. Your beautiful "ox-like" eyes are pools of despair at your fancied inability to know me more. Your flowing curly titian tresses (believe it or not, my dear, I think that hennaed hair is much prettier than the natural red) falling carelessly over your milk-white shoulders, while your heart breaks at what you fancy is a shattered romance. But Fanny, here is the beautiful part of my letter: I have consulted all the media by which I probe the past and foretell the future. I have gazed at crystals and searched out secrets from among the tea leaves. I have shuffled the cards a hundred times, and always the answer has been the same, my dear. I have even brought in an astrologer, a compatriot of mine, and he concurs in every respect.

Fanny, your future happiness is assured. All the media have told the same. We have found that you labor under an inferiority complex, that you fear that the old adage, "you can't teach an old dog new tricks", will hold true in your case and that you won't be able to quit chewing gum at night.

Fanny, I admit that I have a morbid dislike of people who chew gum incessantly, but you can follow the suit of a friend of mine, a coach in a teachers college. He chews paraffin and it does not bother his wife particularly—at least not as much as gum would. I repeat that we gotta get hitched. Until you can change over to paraffin, we can have twin-beds.

In the meantime, I'm your SOOTY SOOTHSAYER.

My dearest Sooty:

When I started this column, hoping to help other people, I didn't think I would find my all, my oasis in the desert, my one star in the great star-sprinkled firmament, gem of gems. When I first heard from you, I steeled my heart against you, then collapsed, just as a giant oak resists stubbornly the repeated buffeting of the storm, then with a great crash—falls. I even drew horrible, lying pictures of myself to test your love for me. You came through with flying colors; you said you loved me for my "frankness." Now you may despise me for my deceit—my hair is not red, but golden; my eyes are blue. I am considered beautiful. But what good does beauty do when one is tired of life?

Well, I'm tossing my troubles from my tired shoulders to the shoulders of fate. Let life do with me as it may. I'm tired of fighting. If you really want to see me meet me under the red hibiscus tree at Magnolia Street Thursday afternoon. Who knows what may come of it?

Sincerely,

FANNY.

P. S. I don't chew gum.

Dear Miss Faintheart:

My wife is divorcing me because when I brush my teeth I splatter the mirror and also make a sound, according to her, like a storm. Other things she complains of in me are my snoring, my appetite, my ingrowing toe nails, and me.

Forlornly,

EMMETT BAKER.

My dear Emmett:

I don't mean to be discouraging, but you had better annihilate yourself, (gas is painless), or your wife will do it for you. You can remedy snoring with a clothes pin

Baseball League Paced By Northeast

Northwest stepped into a tie with Northeast for the League lead by blasting out a 4-1 victory over the Steedmen behind the 3-hit pitching of Ellis Lovett Monday afternoon.

The newly-organized intra-mural baseball league at the college got off to an auspicious start last week with four hotly-contested games which resulted in the fast Northeastern nine gaining the top rung with the release of the first standings Saturday.

The four-ply loop is composed of the following teams: Northeastern, Sand Mountain, Northwestern, and South Alabama. With each team playing two games per week the pace is becoming more torrid every day.

Non-partisan observers are at loggerheads as to the best-balanced team and only a complete schedule will throw any light on the situation.

The league competition was officially opened April 27 when Lefty Mathison, twirling for the Northwest, stopped South Alabama on three hits, 1-3. Tom Barnes breezed 7 batters but poor support proved his undoing.

The big bats of the Northeasterners rapped out a convincing 12-1 victory over Sand Mountain's defending champions. Dusty Carter's delivery was no puzzle to the winners. Manager Steed's charges came back strong the following day to pin the second loss on South Alabama, 9-8. Trailing 7-0 in the early innings, the league leaders pushed over the winning run in the fifth and staved off a late rally when Steed made a sensational catch of Maxwell's line drive with the winning run on base.

Troy Tullis pitched Sand Mountain to its initial victory Thursday besting Northwest 5-3, in a game marked by a long home run smash by Jack Crumbly in the third inning.

The fielding gem of the week was furnished by Eulon Hill in this game when he made a phenomenal pick-up and throw off Mathison's grounder in the second inning.

The box scores for first two games are not available for publication.
