Calhouns Install Officers For Regular 1936 Term

Policies Determined and Program Inaugurated at Joint Session

The Calhoun Literary Society met in joint session at Bibb Graves Hall October 13 for the purpose of electing officers, welcoming new members, and outlining plans for the work of the ensuing year. A program of general interest was presented.

Henry Lee Greer read the devotional in opening the meeting.

In the brisk business session which followed the program, the officers for the societies were named as follows:

Men: Malcolm Street, president; Clyde "Farmer" Brown, vice-president; Paul Hudson, secretary-treasurer; Bennie Gorman, reporter; Henry Lee Greer, cheer-leader.

Girls: Jonnie Ford, president; Ila Mae Jones, vice-president; Lois Giles, secretary-treasurer; Mildred Anderson, reporter; Steve Ann Farmer, cheer-leader.

The two Calhoun societies unanimously accepted the Morgan challenge to a softball game played both the boys and the girls Saturday, October 24. Practices were arranged by the respective managers, Tommie Barnes and Lois Giles. Boasting an array of heavy sluggers and clever moundsmen, the Calhouns will enter the games as slight favorites and they confidently anticipate victory.

Interest is growing by leaps and bounds and the Calhoun Society is looking forward to the greatest year in its long and distinguished history.

Physical Ed. Teacher Appears on Play Day Program

Miss Sellers Talks on Point System

Miss Minnie V. Sellers went to Boaz Saturday, October 17, when she appeared on the Sixth District Play Day program at Snead Junior College. Miss Sellers, teacher of health and physical education for girls at J. S. T. C., talked on the Point System. She is girls' adviser of the Alabama High School Athletic Association, a post she has held for several years.

Miss Sellers was accompanied to Boaz by members of the Girls' Athletic Clubs Council. Delegates were Eleanor Jane Johnston, Della Deuel and Rubye Hyatt.

Elizabeth Stewart, Eleanor Jeffers, Clara Mae Jones, Capitola Moon, Elsie Spurlock, Sarah Birchfield, Lou Ree Gregg, Geraldine Davidson, Willie Mae Muskett and Eleanor McClendon spent the week-end in their respective homes.

Mrs. Hannah King Waldrip spent the week-end in Sylacauga.

New Faculty Member on History Club Program

Dr. Thompson Talks on the Gold Standard

"The Gold Standard" was the subject of an address given by Dr. Samuel H. Thompson, assistant professor of economics, at the first Fall meeting of the History Club.

Dr. Thompson grouped his remarks into four parts: What the gold standard is; what we have been on; what we are on now, and what we expect to be on. Referring to what the gold standard is, and speaking of the standard unit of value established by the government, Dr. Thompson said in part: "The standard metal must be of certain quality and fineness, which, in this case, is gold, the gold dollar being 25.8 grains, nine-tenths fine. Other moneys must be convertible into the gold standard at a fixed legal ratio at any time, and a fixed parity must exist between gold and other moneys. The gold standard signifies free and unlimited gold coinage, and means that the money is legal tender and must be universally accepted for debts and other financial obligations. It signifies a free and unhampered gold market, that is, there must be free movement of gold to the arts and mint, and from the mint to the arts, and there must be freedom in exports and imports of gold."

This was Dr. Thompson's first appearance on a campus program since his connection with the economics department. He was introduced to the club by Dr. Robt. P. Felgar, head of the history department and faculty adviser of the organization. At this time Dr. Felgar also presented Dr. Otis Whaley, recently added to the history department.

Officers of the History Club, named at this meeting, are Chas. Hallman, president; James Kemp, vice-president, and Emma Kate Mynatt, secretary.

FORMER FACULTY MEMBER VISITS COLLEGE WITH BRIDE

Prof. and Mrs. Gordon Watson and Prof. Robt. Strozier, of Carrollton, Ga., spent the week-end with Prof. and Mrs. Lance J. Hendrix. Prof. Watson, who was formerly assistant professor of English at J. S. T. C., is now head of the English department at West Georgia College, in Carrollton. Prof. Strozier teaches French in the same institution.

Prof. Watson's marriage to Miss Mabel Carpenter occurred in the late summer at the Harvard Chapel at Harvard University. Mrs. Watson is a member of the administrative staff at West Georgia College.

GREETINGS

From Pres. C. W. Dauge to the Girls Attending the Play Day Exercises.

It is a wonderful pleasure to have you lovely girls as guests of the college today. Please make yourselves fully at home and understand that every facility of the college is at your disposal to cause you to spend a happy and delightful day.

We at this college believe in play. We believe in physical education. This was the first college in the state to put in a course in this subject. It is our opinion that the spirit of play which you carry into your games should be kept up through life in all the work you undertake. It will insure you greater success.

We want spiritual development but we must realize that the spirit has a physical home and the condition of this home has wonderful influence upon the development and activity of the spiritual life. Everyone admires good health—health of mind, health of body, and health of spirit, all intermingled as one. Play develops all three.

Please be assured that you are thrice welcome to our campus today.

MORGANS MEET

Miss Luttrell Introduced at Well Attended Joint Meeting

The Morgan Literary Society met in a joint meeting Tuesday with Mrs. Lorraine Porch in charge. Routine business was discussed, and Miss Maude Luttrell, the new faculty sponsor for the Morgan girls, was introduced. An entertaining program was presented in which Margaret Hinds gave two vocal selections, "Melody From the Skies" and "No Regrets." Miss Jane Self, little daughter of Mr. Reuben Self, gave a tap dance and sang three songs.

A pep meeting was held immediately after the program was completed on the front lawn at Bibb Graves Hall, with Margaret Hinds and Malcolm Brewer leading the cheers.

Under the present plans the Morgans will continue to meet semi-monthly in joint meetings.

State Supervisor of Physical Education Visits College

Miss Jessie Garrison, state supervisor of physical education and health, visited the college October 15 and 16. Miss Garrison, whose headquarters are with the State Board of Education in Montgomery, came to Jacksonville for a conference with Miss Sellers regarding the Eighth District Play Day.

Geography and International Relations Club Meets

Corley and Franklin Present Program on Spain

The present conflict in Spain and conditions in that country were topics of discussion at the regular meeting of the Geography and International Relations Club at the regular meeting Oct. 15.

James Corley discussed the results and consequences of the war, bringing out many interesting questions for study should the conflict result in any one of the ways possible for the war to end. Harolyn Franklin talked on the resources of Spain.

According to Dr. Frank Glazner, faculty adviser of the club, the organization will sponsor the appearance of an outstanding speaker at an early date. In order to complete the program planned for the study of Spain, the club prefers a speaker who has traveled in that country.

LITTLE JAMES HUGH ARNOLD DIES IN NASHVILLE, TENN.

This play day is one of the fifteen held in Alabama this Fall and promoted by the Alabama High School Association and the State Department of Education. The Girls' Athletic Clubs of J. S. T. C., directed by Miss Sellers, faculty adviser, will sponsor the event here. The District Board and Women's Committee have charge of the activities. The Board consists of Mr. P. G. The Women's Committee members are Miss Louise Shelton, Anniston High School, chairman; Miss Willie Nichols, Jacksonville, and Mrs. Ruth Stephens, Attalla.

The play day is for play and fun for the girls and information and inspiration for the teachers. Although it is desirable that the girls know some of the activities to be played, it is not necessary, Miss Sellers said.

DREAMS

Marguerite Perry

Dreams are the stuff of which realities are made. What a person will become after four years of college (or fifty years of life) depends on the dreams that he keeps within him.

The dreams of which I speak are those ideals of honesty, beauty, simplicity and love that you have cherished close against your heart since you were a wee chap, and which now, perhaps, you are beginning to lose.

Somewhere along the road between childhood and the present, most of you have lost some of those lovely things that made you want to grow up into noble men and women. You have choked them out and covered them up in order to avoid being called a "back number", and to conform to the accepted idea of sophistication.

The happiest people about you have not drifted with the mass. They are held by anchors of dreams that have become for them, realities.

In college you may choose your social group—but that group marks you for its own.

Keep those early dreams and let them guide you. That time should bring trials and people fail in their duty to you is inevitable, but don't let it shake your faith in God and humanity.

Mix with people all you can, and learn to take human nature and your own tough luck in the stride. Let the hard places reveal your inward beauty as the polishing process reveals a diamond.

Cling to those dreams, and when you have gone far enough, you will see that they have kept you in a right relationship with God and man, and that they have become—YOU.

NOSEBAG

By THAD BARROW

We (the editorial) am lying on a disheveled bed searching half-heartedly for "nosebag" inspiration. The radio is going nicely with a fine program of Wagner, and while the soprano with the unpronounceable name is giving an inspiring rendition of "The Prize Song", the inspiration doesn't seem to provoke anything tangible enough for the matter-of-fact readers of the "Nosebag."

The Teacola is not supposed to be a clearing house for private feuds, but Casey Waldrip and Malk Brewer are using it as a medium in which to exchange negative compliments to an alarming degree. Such, for instance, as the former's allegation in "Folks" that if Malk didn't stop biting his digit-nails he'd be in the same predicament as the Venus de Milo!

THOUGHTS WHILE CUTTING CLASSES.

Dr. Wood had better not catch me. It's a funny thing how many times one can say "hey", "hi", "hello", "howdy" on this campus in one-three hundred sixty-fifth of a year. Miss Olsen has a most pleasing mile. How would the bust of the Governor look in war paint? How can a boy be as steady as Henry

Greer? Math. is not a krip course—neither is French. That Freshman who puts in the high-powered necking up at Bill's is riding for a fall. Street hasn't finished the sports yet.

It's a hard thing to ever make anything working in a store. Take me, for instance: I work at Steinbergs on Saturdays, and by the time I have sorted merchandise all day I have bought more than I'll make. Come around on Saturdays and keep me too busy to buy anything myself!

Tommy Barnes knows which blonde is which. The pore cluck should be engaged to put out the cat and wind the electric clock at Weatherly.

Some interesting stories come from the fighting zone in Spain. It seems that the military censorship is so strict on both sides that it is extremely difficult to get pictures or stories of the action. So the photographers pay whatever soldiers are convenient to pose for the folks back home to have a first-hand idea of what it's all about. The honest photographers say that with the home papers demanding more pictures and with no way to get them from the front lines, they have no alternative but to fake them.

ANNUAL PLAY DAY FOR HIGH SCHOOL GIRLS

tem is invited to send all girls who have had approved application for a school award (800 points) submitted by June 1, 1936. (Questions regarding eligibility are decided by Miss Louise Shelton, chairman of the Women's Committee, Anniston High School). All schools that did not use the Point System last year are invited to send five girls (two from Junior I and Junior II grades and three from Junior II and Senior High). Every school is invited to send the teacher of physical education and health for girls, the principal and one parent.

Every girl is asked to wear a dress appropriate for play and bring a play suit, tennis shoes, a towel, and a wrap to use with suit or dress outdoors. Each person attending is requested to pay at registration twenty cents for lunch. Miss Sellers suggests that each person attending wear some kind of school emblem the entire day.

After the principals and teachers have sufficient time to observe the general organization and all the activities being played, there will be an informal meeting for them. For this every teacher is urged to bring her course of study, also posters, booklets, scrap books, home made equipment and other materials that will give helpful ideas to the group.

The schools invited are all member schools of the State Athletic Association of the counties of Clay, Calhoun, Cleburne, Cherokee, Etowah, Randolph, St. Clair, and Talladega. They are Alexandria, Altoona, Anniston, Ashland, Ashville, Attalla, Sardis, Cedar Bluff, Center, Childersburg, White Plains, Sand Rock, Fayetteville, Emma Samson at Gadsden, Gadsden High, Southside, Gaylesville, Glencoe, Heflin, Jacksonville, Woodland at Lamar, Lincoln, Lineville, Millerville, Munford, Odenville, Ohatchee, Oxford, Pell City, Piedmont, Ragland, Ranburne, Handley at Roanoke, Springville, Secondary Agricultural School at Sylacauga, Mignon at Sylacauga, Talladega, Wadley, Walnut Grove and Wedowee.

Schools are requested to notify Miss Eleanor Johnston, president of the Girls' Athletic Council, Jacksonville State Teachers College, by Tuesday, October 27, whether or not they will come.

Play day will be held regardless of the weather, Miss Sellers said. If the weather is inclement, play will be indoors.

The program for play day and the teachers' conference are given on another page.

MEETING OF TEACHERS AND PRINCIPALS

Annual Play Day for High School Girls District Six of Alabama
High School Athletic Association.

This meeting will be informal. All are urged to take part in the discussions. Miss Louise Shelton, Chairman of Women's Committee, will preside.

Some of the topics that may be discussed and leaders are:

Credit on Health and Physical Education—Mrs. Ruth Stephens, Attalla.

Point System and Play Day Requirements—Miss Harriet Barnes, Anniston.

Use of Spalding Guides—Miss Mildred Trotter, Girl Scout Executive, Anniston.

Points on Making Equipment—Miss Druscilla Williams, Mignon High School, Sylacauga.

Interschool Basketball Problem—Miss Mary Edith Spiegel, Odenville.

Goal: Every Girl to One Play Day a Year—Miss Bill Nichols, Jacksonville.

A Meeting of Teachers in Anniston in November—Mrs. Sara Rivers Adderholdt, White Plains.

Point System Problems—

If the group wishes, a publicity chairman will be elected. Her duty is to collect news and send one copy to Miss Blanche Chapman, Phillips High School, Birmingham, for the Alabama Physical Education Association news letter and one copy to Miss Garrison to use in the Alabama School Journal and the National Journal of Health and Physical Education.

A membership chairman will be elected if the group votes to do so. Her duty is to get members for the state and national associations. (Announcements of conventions will be made).

Data sheets for the State Department of Education will be available.

Some Pupil's Point System record books will be on sale for 5c each.

SCREENFARE

Just a little bit of sad news to begin this review. "The General Died At Dawn", with Gary Cooper, will be shown during the Christmas vacation. However, the cinemenu remains appetizing even with the knowledge that dessert won't be served. The next two weeks' menu is especially designed for the connoisseur of fine eye-foods.

That little acme of girlish precocity, Miss Shirley Temple, comes to cheer her doting fans tonight with "Poor Little Rich Girl", and the funny thing about it is that although they go to be cheered, they sob all the way through it and then swear that they're cheered! La Temple doesn't do all the work; it seems that she has Alice Faye and Michael Whalen as her stooges.

Tomorrow another western—Lord, ain't we suffered enough? Anyhow, it's Ken Maynard and a moll named Joan Perry in "Avenging Waters", or something to that effect.

Monday and Tuesday, October

26 and 27, a powerful drama, "Fury", with Sylvia Sidney and Spencer Tracy in the key roles is the fare. The critics seem decidedly in favor of this picture.

Wednesday, October 28, a comedy called "Three Wise Guys", with Robert Young and Betty Furness should be top fare. By the way, Betty's name is rather apt, don't you think. Also Bank.

"Suzy" is the name of a great picture in which Cary Grant, Jean Harlow and Franchot Tone alone guarantee an entertaining evening. It's booked for Thursday and Friday, October 29-30.

Saturday, October 31, is the date agreed upon for the Jacksonville premiere of another horse and sand opera. This time it's a little better prospect than usual with the cinema version of Zane Grey's novel of the Southwest, "Desert Gold." Buster Crabbe and Marsha Hunt emote and ride horses in it.

Monday, November 2, Michael Whalen and Jean Muir in "White Fang."

You can always play safe in picking your shows by seeing one with Edward G. Robinson in it. One such will be shown Tuesday, November 3, and the name of it is "Bullets or Ballots." Joan Blondell is there too.

Wednesday, November 4, in addition to bank night we have "Three Cheers For Love" your delectation. Eleanor Whitney and Robert Cummings are starred.

PERSONAL MENTION

Mrs. Lorraine Porch spent the week-end at Maplesville with her husband, Mr. S. C. Porch, a former student of J. S. T. C., and who is now coach at Maplesville.

Two of Miss Olsen's friends, Mrs. and Miss Shell of Aberdeen, were her guests over the week-end.

Miss Fannie Thompson returned to her home last Friday to start teaching the following Monday. She will teach near her home which is at Vincent.

WE WONDER:

What Lois Giles and Jonnie Ford will do since Ruth DeArman has gone home.

What makes Rat Brooks so easy—If "Red" Hudson enjoyed his nap in Geography class Monday, and if he remembers anything about the settlement of ALABAMA.

If James Corley "can take it"—If J. C. Maxwell is a sympathetic person—and how he deals with a situation of that kind.

What became of Mrs. Pitt's CAT. How the spectators liked the score of the Tennessee - Alabama game Saturday.

If Thad Barrow is as sincere as he looks.

If Eleanor Johnston will ever get that green skirt made in Industrial Arts.

How "Puny" Sewell got to Psychology Monday morning by eight o'clock.

If "Red" Burgess ever gets mad.

Dear Miss Faintheart:

We are three girls who are just recovering from the dire afflictions resulting from having poison oak. Can you suggest any way to help us in avoiding the plague? It not only ruins our dispositions and wrecks our personalities, but it also causes great embarrassment when someone asks where you "got it."

Yours in consternation,
H. F.—R. P.—D. D.

Dear H. F., R. P. and D. D.:

Here are a few rules that I think might be helpful in avoiding poison oak:

1. Stay out of the woods.
2. At night, be sure, before you sit down to know what you are sitting upon.
3. No matter how tired your neck gets, don't lean it against a rock to rest it on—the rock might have poison oak on it.
4. On Sunday afternoons when you wish to commune with nature' do it from afar, distance lends enchantment. Bill's place is safe—from poison oak.

I hope these few rules will help you. I've noticed what grievous aspects you girls made when you were afflicted. So be very careful and remember, "Be sure your poison will find you out."

Sincerely,
FANNY FAINTHEART.

Dear Fanny Faintheart:

I am a timid, retiring boy. I find difficulty in forcing myself to talk in class especially in Dr. Jones' Romantic Poetry. The words seem to stick in my throat. What can I do?

Very truly,
LEE JONES.

Dear Mr. Jones:

From all accounts I've had of that class you're speaking of you don't seem to have let many words "stick in your throat." Indeed, I've heard that you put "Old Faithful" to shame, that your words pour out just as Old Faithful spouts forth steam, only yours are much more regular. Don't worry any more about your inability to talk.

Encouragingly,
FANNY FAINTHEART.

Since there was no business to be brought before the members, the club was adjourned until October 29 when it will hold its regular meeting.

HAROLYN FRANKLIN,

Jonnie Ford spent the week-end in LaFayette.

Why He Went Crazy

An inmate of a lunatic asylum, on being asked by a visitor how he got that way, replied:

"It all started when I married a widow with a grown daughter. Then my father, being a widower, married the daughter. That made my step-daughter my step-mother, and my father became my step-son; my wife also becoming the mother-in-law of her father-in-law. "Then my step-mother had a son, who was my brother, being my father's son, but as the boy was the grandson of my wife, he was also my grandson.

"Then my wife and I had a son. My father's wife is my son's half sister, and also his grandmother. Now it is easy to see that my father became my step-son by marrying my step-daughter. Therefore, being my father's father, I am my own grandfather."

The visitor was satisfied as to the reason for the lunatic being crazy.—Exchange.

Eagle-Owls Held to 20-20 Tie by Marion Cadets

Poor Condition of Players Blamed For Upset

Showing complete loss of their football form in the final half, the State Teachers College gridiron machine was tied in the closing minutes of play by a decidedly inferior Marion eleven. The score was 20-20. Leading by a 14-0 count at the end of the second period, Coach Tom Shotts' proteges saw their hopes for victory go glimmering when a pass from center caromed off Maxwell's hands into the clutches of Sam Marshall, Cadet back, who raced madly down the field thirty yards for the touchdown that gave the fighting underdogs a moral victory.

Jacksonville was sorely crippled from the outset when Johnny Baker, hard-running halfback was ejected from the game following his vigorous protest over a decision by the officials. Undaunted, however, the Owls put on a splendid exhibition of slashing offensive football with Red Hudson taking over the halfback duties after the exit of Baker. A sustained drive of eighty yards resulted in the first Owl marker and an intercepted pass followed by some fine ball-toting by Maxwell and Colvin netted the second score.

Marion got back in the ball game early in the third period when a lineman broke through to block Hunter's kick on the thirty yard line. It was a first down for the Soldiers at that point. Marshall shot through center for 15 yards. A lateral and another line play carried to the six and a short pass and a line smash pushed the oval over the double stripes. The count was squared when McGill grabbed a punt on the ten and scampered 90 yards through the entire Teacher team to score.

The locals apparently iced the game in the last frame when Frank Bassett tore in, blocked Robertson's punt, and recovered on the enemy ten. Hunter scored the third touchdown on the first try. Only a few minutes later, however, came the break that filled local hearts with consternation.

Shotts was forced to play the game with numerous substitutions as key men were injured early in the fray. In addition to Baker, Colvin pulled up with a bad charley-horse. Maxwell played the entire game with a very bad knee which prevented him from showing his usual running form.

Morgans, Calhouns Clash On Diamond Saturday Afternoon

Society Entries Will Cross Bats Saturday Afternoon at Two O'clock

The 1936 renewal of the athletic rivalry between the Calhoun and the Morgan Literary Societies will open officially Saturday afternoon at 2:00 o'clock when the softball combinations of the respective groups will square off on the local diamond. Both the girls and the boys will play the girls' contest immediately preceding the masculine warfare. Enthusiasm is running rampant on the campus and a record-breaking attendance is expected for the hostilities as there will be absolutely no admission fee for the doublebarreled attraction. The two combatants are almost certain to muster their full membership for the occasion, and should that situation obtain practically every student in school would be in attendance.

Latest word from the camps of the contestants is to the effect that both sides are confident of victory. "I don't see how they can beat us", said Tommie Barnes, commander-in-chief of the Calhoun forces. "We will be stronger in the box and will undoubtedly pack more punch in the outfield." Bryant Steele, president of the Morgan clan, was likewise optimistic over his teams chances: "We are in a winning streak and I don't think the Calhouns will come as close as they did in the basketball series."

While no definite announcement has been forthcoming, Steele intimated that he would send Charles "Pete" Mathews to the hill in an effort to silence the big bats of the Calhouns.

Manager Barnes will likely counter with Arnold Cardwell, lanky southpaw, if the Morgans open with a majority of left-hand hitters. Otherwise a right-hander will toe the slab. The games are creating unexpected interest thru-out the school with non-partisan observers rating both of them as toss-ups.

TENNIS

The tennis tournaments for boys and girls are well under way, with practically all first round matches in the boys' tournament completed. The tournaments are being sponsored by the newly founded Tennis Club which seems destined to become one of the most active clubs on the campus.

In the boys' tournament the logical favorites are Maxwell, a finalist in last years' tournament and Southern, who was defeated by Maxwell in the semi-finals last year. There are several newcomers to be reckoned with; heading this list is Odum Crane, a former Florence student.

In the girls' tournament Lucy Williams is favored to win, but she will be pushed by such stars as Eleanor Johnston, Harolyn Franklin, Lois Giles, and Della Deuell. Close matches are expected in both tournaments.

Miss Sara Birchfield spent the week-end at the University of Alabama. While there she attended the Alabama-Mississippi game.
