FALL SESSION TO BEGIN SEPT. 13

According to an announcement by the Registrar, the fall quarter will begin Monday, September 13. Monday will be registration day for freshmen, while Tuesday will be devoted to the registration of upper classmen and the orientation of freshmen.

Dr. Daugette has announced that there will be several additions to the faculty, which already ranks very high, compared to other teachers colleges.

817 ENROLL FOR THE LAST TERM

Summer school enrollment for the last term of the hot-weather session totals 817, a substantial increase over the enrollment of last summer, according to the records in the office of Dr. C. W. Daugette, president. This is a net gain of over the 777 total who registered for the first half of summer school.

Registration a year ago was about a hundred less than it is this summer, the records show.

Thus does Jacksonville continue to grow and forge ahead as the biggest state teachers' college in Alabama.

MOVIE MADE AT COLLEGE

Jacksonville teachers and students experienced the unusual treat Friday and Saturday of taking part in a short reel movie, relative to college life and activities. This movie was sponsored by Mr. Paul Barrow, of Brewton, who is a brother of Thad Barrow, former editor of the Teacola. Mr. Barrow represents the Bromberg Jewelry Co., of Birmingham, Alabama.

Thursday night Mr. Barrow presented four short reel pictures of a recreational and educative nature to demonstrate the value of a sound movie machine in the modern school curriculum. Scenes were shown illustrating the newer methods of teacher planning and presenting school work to the students. According to Mr. Barrow, movie machines and movie libraries will be just as common in the future as book libraries are at the present time. Even now many of the more modern schools, especially those in Pennsylvania, have adopted this method. The idea has been expressed that such an apparatus is just what Jacksonville needs, especially in the training school.

Friday and Saturday there was scarcely a person on the campus who failed to respond when confronted with the opportunity of taking part in a college movie. Many shots were made at random in the library, offices, dormitories, and training school. College activities, such as tennis, baseball, volleyball, handball, horseshoes, basketball, speedball and archery were photographed.

After being sent to Hollywood, these pictures will be shown on the local screen.

A group of faculty members motored to Piedmont Sunday evening and had dinner at the Dixie Hotel. Those in the party were: Mrs. Ada Pitts, Mrs. Dana T. Davis, Miss Ethel Randolph, Miss Clara Weishaupt, Miss Ethel Mitchell, Miss Ferrill Bolton, and Miss Rasaltha Sanders.

Students Attend Baptist Convention

The state Baptist Student Convention July 9-10, at Shocco Springs was attended by Dixie and Jane Leath, Lois and Gertrude Gaines, Ethyl Treadaway, Frances Emerson, and Iris Dodd.

Such outstanding Baptist workers as Dr. William Hall Preston, head of Southwide Student Activities; DeWitt Matthews, Student Secretary at University of Alabama; Davis Wooley, Student Secretary at Auburn; Martha Sconzers, State B. Y. P. U. Director; Oliver Welbanks, State B. S. U. Uresident; and many others led the service.

Definite plans are being made for Evangelistic week on our campus. The speaker will be announced later.

The college B. Y. P. U. boasts of an excellent male quartet composed of Ronald Hicks, R. C. Veazey, Troy Tullis, and Carl Waldrip.

TYPHOID CLINIC

We are grateful to Dr. Sturkie, Calhoun County Health Officer, and Mr. Evans, clerical assistant, for holding the Typhoid Clinic at the college and Training School during the month of July. So far about 200 adults and 120 children have taken the shots. The clinic will be conducted here two more times, July 21 and July 28.

Since the coming of the Typhoid serum, the death rate has decreased from 175 out of every 100,000 in 1900 to 82 out of every 100,000 in 1935.

GOVERNOR AND MRS. GRAVES

We of Jacksonville feel that we shall be accorded a signal honor by the presence at our commencement exercises of Governor Bibb Graves, alone, but the added presence of Mrs. Graves, the first lady of Alabama, will double our pleasure. Indeed, the visit of Governor and Mrs. Graves will be an occasion to be long remembered by the students, friends and patrons of J. S. T. C. Dr. Daugeette has achieved a long-sought goal in obtaining Governor Graves as our commencement speaker. We, in appreciation and in justice to ourselves, should fill Kilby Hall to the very rafters on the day when the Governor delivers his address.

The "Little Colonel," since his first gubernatorial race in 1922, has always supported the educational institutions of Alabama. In 1926, when he was first elected as the chief official of Alabama, he ran on a platform advocating greater educational appropriations. During Governor Graves' first term, Alabama in general and education in particular enjoyed their greatest periods of prosperity. During this term Governor Graves was instrumental in the erection of many educational edifices, including our own Bibb Graves Hall. As a result of this successful term in office, Colonel Graves was overwhelmingly elected for a second term in 1935, and he has since continued his favorable educational policy. He has made possible a seven 3/4 months school term for every child in Alabama.

OUR ETIQUETTE AND ENGLISH

Some of man's earliest writings were on the subject of correct speech and good manners. We are told that the latter are the outward expressions of a kind heart. Be that as it may, the world would be a much more enjoyable place in which to live if everyone possessed good manners.

The people of our Southland were once noted for the courtesy that denotes good breeding. Good manners and correct speech are the natural birthright of every human being. All of us might have kind hearts; yet if we were not acquainted with the common rules of grammar, we might not be able to express the goodness of our hearts or share the beauty of our thoughts with others. A person that uses incorrect English and lacks good manners is as uninviting as a tumble-down fence and a yard overgrown with weeds. No one will be interested in the house because of its unattractive surroundings, or in such a person.

The average college student is careless about speech and manners. This is noticed by non-collegiate people, who grow more careless in their speech as they follow the example set by college people. Indeed there has been a brief period when it was considered smart to be rude and use slang. The older people mourned because their teachings were disregarded.

However, the younger generation has begun to realize that they were on the wrong road to social and business success. The pendulum has begun to swing back in the direction of good manners and correct speech.

We who are fortunate enough to be in college have unlimited opportunities for improving our speech and learning correct social habits. Good speech depends upon an extensive vocabulary, and a workable knowledge of the rules of grammar. Many of the high schools do not put enough stress upon the importance of speaking and writing well. This handicaps the students later in college or elsewhere.

A concerted effort by the whole student body to improve manners and speech would be of great benefit to each student. It would be worth while for every student to check himself or herself and concentrate on remodeling his manners and speech according to the rules of society. We have a number of books on etiquette in the college library. Read one; then put it into practice in your daily life. We hear the cry "We haven't time to practice our manners"; yet if everyone had good manners, perhaps we would have no unemployment problems. If we lived graciously and courteously, speaking correctly and kindly, there would be less dissention and strife in the world. Everyone would be happier and another rung of the ladder that reaches to world peace would be surmounted.

Good manners and correct English go hand in hand, and the fortunate individual who possesses them will always be in demand. Look about you and criticize the most popular and the most successful person's English and manners. In every case, he will know the fine points of both.

A teacher should be a model for young children to follow; therefore, it is a teacher's duty to make himself or herself a worthy model. Courtesy and speech are the basis upon which our success depends. No matter what one knows, it cannot be taught to another without correct speech, or well received without courtesy.

Every woman likes men who know how to do things easily and gracefully. Good manners come through long practice of the correct way to do things. A man who is as polite to an older woman as he is to a beautiful girl is always a favorite. We all shall be old some day and we shall like the same attentions then that we like today. A man need not put his coat across the puddle for a woman to walk on, but he should find a way around it. Men should be courteous to other men as well as to women. Appreciation of courtesy is not a monopoly of women.

Men admire women who have culture. If she always does and says the correct thing in a well modulated voice, an otherwise plain woman will be popular with both men and women. She puts everyone around her at ease and the pleasure derived from her society outweighs the defects of her features and form.

Good breeding and tact make a beautiful woman more attractive; poor English and uncouth manners can overshadow beauty and doom an otherwise lovely girl to obscurity.

Students, let's concentrate on improving our manners and speech until our efforts get the desired results. Would it not be worthwhile to make J. S. T. C. students recognized and noted for their gracious manners and their easy command of correct English?

SH-H-H- QUIET PLEASE!

Inside of our college there are places not only for discussions but also places for quietude. A model student sometimes forgets himself and makes a loud noise in the halls. Since the college cannot afford to keep an instructor in every hall and at the bend of every stairway, the students should take the responsibility of making our halls the quietest thoroughfares of the school. Of course it is a burdensome task and no one student or group of students by themselves can succeed in keeping the halls quiet, but with the cooperation of each individual it can be easily accomplished.

There are a number of things that can be done to make possible this achievement, and only the students can do them. Each person when walking through the halls should remember that from this hall there are many doors leading into class-rooms, and that in these rooms there are students who are trying to gain something from a lecture or class recitation; he should remember that talking, laughing, and yelling in the halls bother not only the students but also the teachers; he should take into consideration the hot weather and the drudgery of having to sit in a class one hour with the door closed to keep out unnecessary noise; and, too, he should think of the times he has been in a class and heard the din of voices outside.

The students would find out that things would be much better if they would walk as quietly through the halls as they do in the classroom or library. These are the places to be quiet, yet there are numbers of places where conversations can be carried on in much freer tones. Outside the building there are numbers of cool, shady spots where students can congregate and laugh and talk. Very soon they would find that here it is cooler on them and, too, the teacher could raise all windows, open all doors, and permit the light breeze that stirs in this seemingly tropical weather, to pass through the room.

It appears that it would be far more encouraging to see a number of students sitting on the green grass in the shade of a grove of trees studying, or sitting in a semi-circle chatting, than it would to see them clustered in small groups at every stairway. It seems that they would be far more comfortable, to say nothing of the difference it would make inside the building.

Students, can't we see that we have the responsibility of making conditions better? We can force the heat upon all classes by continuing to talk in the hall, or we can remember that by merely moving outside that we make every condition better.

The Sophomore Class urges you to take into consideration the disagreeable situation that prevails and to do your part to relieve all teachers and students from the sultry condition that occurs behind every closed door.

We Wonder Why

Mary Elizabeth Williams and Sara Fryar are singing "Sweet Is the Word For You" now. It couldn't be because of the dances at the Fort, could it?

Constance Mock was so interested in the N. C. boys Mary Few is singing "Boo-Hoo."

The boys Ivan Greenleaf, Frank Pruitt, Hoke Rowan, and John McClure were so mad one night when Ivan gave a dance. Oh! now I remember. It was because there weren't any girls there. They all went to the Fort Dance.

Miss Mapes can't keep up with Mary Elizabeth Williams and Lillian McLendon.

Miss Mapes sings "You're Driving Me Crazy" to her class.

Frank Pruitt got mad one night when a certain girl dated an R. O. T. C. He certainly kissed five bucks goodbye.

Farewell Seniors

To you dear friends, as representative of the Sophomore Class, I wish to express our love and respect for you. We shall miss your companionship but are proud that you have reached your immediate goal. With your energy and abilities, you will succeed in life. Higher education, properly used, will find you a place. It is a fact written of old times—true then, true now and true in all the coming years—that human souls and human hearts are either wearing or rusting, either loving or unloving. It is better to wear than to rust. Rust corrupts, wear brightens; the one corrodes, the other burnishes.

Allow me to urge you to depend upon consecrated effort. You will receive much advice. Keep the good and throw the evil away. That is, you can listen to it, but do no more. Do not expect to be bolstered up by friends all your life. Show that you are able to stand alone, but do not let pride turn your head. Remember that you are actors in the world and that you are either speaking for your school or against it by your actions. Your graduation means something, for you have met a standard that our college need not be ashamed of. But do not ever think that true power lies in your diploma. Our success lies in our pressing on. No matter what your attainments have already been, there are fields in education, yet untrodden by man, for your cultivation.

We congratulate you on your success and wish you a most successful journey in life. Depend upon us as friends, and we want you to speak a good word for our beloved school which has bestowed its honors upon you.

"Oh, do not pray for easy lives. Pray to be a stronger man. Do not pray for tasks equal to your powers. Pray for powers equal to your tasks.

Then the going of your work shall be no miracle.

But you shall be a miracle. Every day you shall wonder at yourself, at the richness of life which has come to you by the grace of God.

"Straight is the path of duty, Curved is the line of beauty, Follow thou the first, and thou shalt see

The other ever following thee."

Temperance Leader Visits J. S. T. C.

During the week-end of July 9-12 our college was favored with a visit by a well-known temperance leader, Miss Ethel Bozeman. While sojourning on our campus, Miss Bozeman lectured to several groups of students of the subject of alcoholic education. In her lectures she dealt with the subject as we, the school-teachers of Alabama, should treat the question in discussions with our pupils; that is, she used laboratory experiments to show the commercial value of alcohol if used correctly and, on the other hand, the harmful effects on the human body if taken externally. She emphasized the fact that her work was not to teach the moral side of the issue, but to present an account of the recognized harmful effects of alcohol.

Miss Bozeman was trained by the Signal Press, Evanston, Illinois, an institution which is promoted by the W. C. T. U. At the present time she is employed by the State Board of Education in compliance with an Alabama school code law. The law reads, in part, as follows:

"The Board of Directors of the State Normal School shall arrange with the President of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union to have a trained scientific temperance institute worker to visit each Normal School of the State at least once a year, and to be allowed one hour per day on not less than three days to lecture before the student body upon the subjects mentioned in this article."

DR. WEISHAUPT HONORED AT DAUGETTE HALL

Dr. Clara Weishapt was honored Tuesday afternoon when a group of friends arranged a birthday party as a surprise.

The affair was given in Mrs. Pitt's apartment at Daugette Hall. As a bridge game progressed at two tables, the guests drank toasts to the honoree whose place at the head table was marked by a lovely corsage. Dr. Weishaupt made top score and when the "prize" was presented to her it proved to be a shower of useful gifts. A birthday cake, with candles in pink and blue, was the next surprise which was followed by coffee served by Misses Ferrel Bolton and Douglass Olson.

When Dr. Weishaupt entered the dining room for supper the Daugette Hall students greeted her with a birthday song.

Irma Potts spent the week-end in Anniston.

Audrey May Penton spent the week-end with Gladys Smith.

Aaron Hand, "Red" Kemp, "Farmer" Brown, Emmett Plunkett, and Edgar Sanders visited on the campus last week-end.

Old Feud Renewed

The Morgan and Calhoun Literary Societies have renewed their old rivalry again in a series of five soft ball games. The winner of three of these games will be declared the champion. In the first game of the series the Calhouns won a smashing victory. From the very first the game was all Calhoun, Hallman was the only Morgan man able to secure two hits.

In the second game the story was quite different. The Calhouns had lost the punch that carried them over to an easy victory the day before, and the stubborn Morgan Klan would not be stopped, and they pushed over a 3 to 1 victory.

SPORT PARADE

Jacksonville's own Tom Drake held the Birmingham Barons to three hits and didn't give up a run in the 1st game of a double header last Sunday.

Jacksonville S. T. C. is looking forward to a booming football season next year. With the new coach Shotts they should really go. Jacksonville lost only four men by graduation and although their places will be hard to fill the reserves from last year will make it hard on all opposition.

SOFT BALL LEAGUE ENDS

The soft ball league came to a close last week, and what a close it was. The unbeatable team managed by Westbrook had fallen from the top of the league and was tied for last place. Manager Street led his team from the bottom to the top of the league, and when the season closed his team still held that position. These games were the center of much excitement and many well played games. The boys who participated in the play enjoyed the rivalry as well as the base ball, and none of them missed a chance to give an opposing player a wise crack about his team. This series of games helped to uncover some hidden talent in the college, and several of the players should help to strengthen the college base ball team next year. The players of the winning team were: Street, Fowler, Waldrop, Porch, Pruett, Gibbs, Blake, Bruner, Tidmore, Woodruff, Young and Vaughn.

Piedmonts Licks Teachers Twice

Last Monday the Piedmont soft ball team won a close game from the Jacksonville Teachers. The game was slow and badly played on both sides. Piedmont won by a score of 4 to 3.

Tuesday the Teachers went to Piedmont with blood in their eyes, but with the aid of a few errors by the Teachers, Piedmont won by a score of 10 to 4.

McDonald Speaks In Assembly

Miss Bertha McDonald, former Jacksonville student and visitor on the campus during the past week, was speaker in assembly Monday morning. She spoke on her experience as a teacher in the Tampa Schools, with which she has been connected for the past eight years. Miss McDonald is a graduate of the 1936 summer session.

Dr. Daugette gave a short talk in which he congratulated Miss McDonald upon her splendid accomplishment as a teacher.

G. C. Pitts, who is connected with Mississippi State College for Women, was a recent visitor of Mrs. Ada Pitts at Daugette Hall.

Misses Winfred Smartt and Lou Ree Gregg spent Sunday in Gadsden as the guests of Misses Geraldine Davidson and Willie Mae Muskett.

GERTIE GOSSIPS

Dear Daisy:
Here's a little of the latest 'dirt' from the J. S. T. C. campus.

You should have seen the "primed-up" folks around here last Friday and Saturday. The reason for it was that we were all trying to make the movies. You know, a man was here taking pictures of almost anything and everything and I heard that he caught a few of us quite unexpectedly!

We have three new members to the list of "eligible males," said three having enrolled for the last six weeks of summer school. They are: That popular Don Juan of Fruithurst, Bryant Steele, who really isn't new but hasn't been around since the end of the spring quarter; and two others whom we haven't had the pleasure of meeting yet. Both are young and good looking, and we're waiting impatiently for someone to introduce them to all the gals (Take note, please, Foster and Hanks, you seem to know them.)

Carter was all smiles recently. It must have been because that cute little girl from Attalla was back on the campus for a few days.

Four other "old stoods" were visiting on the campus recently, Lottie Stanford, Edgar Sanders, Harold Anderson and Wilma Johnson.

The beautiful (?) music heard last Thursday afternoon was just Hanks giving someone a lesson on the sax. We guess it was a sax—anyway it was one of those things on which you "blow through here, etc."

During an hour of "confessions" recently, Miss Sellers told how she used to hide the jumping rope when company came to visit her one-room-country-school during her first year of school teaching.

I can't tell you much about the social life of summer school, on account of we haven't had any to speak of yet, except the Town Girls' Dance, which I did not attend. However, pretty soon, probably before you read this, there will be a "J" Club dance, a History Club social, and a Sophomore picnic—all of which should be treats.

This Saturday school business is going to drive some of us "nuts" I fear. I can't even get the days of the week straight anymore, since last Saturday was Monday, next Saturday will be Tuesday, etc.

"Prissy" and Hanks are getting along fine, it seems; so are Bobby Jean and Charlie; Lee Jones is lonesome for Rita; and we've seen two Anniston gents back on the campus, even though their gals are home for the summer!

Here's a short, but to the point, "sentence sermon" I saw recently: "Consider the postage stamp, my son, its usefulness consists in its ability to stick to one thing until it gets there"—which I have not done in this letter, so with this parting "shot" I close.

Graduation exercises are to be on Friday the thirteenth. Help me pray that it will be my lucky day and that I will be among those who receive "sheepskins."

Your pal,
GERTIE.

NATIONAL GUARD ACTIVITIES

Members of the Jacksonville Company of the Alabama National Guard have been rather busy for the past two weeks.

First came the "Sunday drill" and other extra drills in preparation for state inspection. The demonstrations prepared by the different squads during these drills were very good and showed effort on the part of each individual. In fact, the State Inspector, General J. C. Persons, praised the Company and officers for their efforts and success in these demonstrations, and, also, for their personal appearances during inspection, as fine a company as Alabama has.

The boys were again "called to arms" Monday afternoon to go to Gadsden for a dress parade at the annual meeting of the American Legion. With Lieutenant Sibert in charge, twenty-eight of the "Guardsmen," in dress uniforms, gave the city of Gadsden a clear demonstration of perfect cadence and splendid military abilities. It is a compliment to the Company, to Capt. Clarence Daugette and to the other officers in charge, that, in several instances while marching, Company "H" was mistaken for the regular army from Fort McClellan.

After the parade, all the Companies were served barbecue and cold drinks by members of the American Legion. The boys did it justice.

They are leaving again Sunday for Fort McClellan where they will be encamped for two weeks. Along with various other activities of camp will be a series of baseball games between the different companies. Company "H" is expected to put another strong team on the field this year, probably as strong as the championship team of last year. They will also be a strong contender for other honors.

Mrs. J. W. Gober and Miss Mary Gober spent the week-end at their home in Arab.

K., Rockford; Prince, Alwyn, Roanoke; Pruett, Mae Gregory, Altoona; Shelton, Carl, Blountsville; Sholts, Fannie Lou, Bexar; Stallings, Andy, Jr., Fyffe; Stone, Earl, Arant; Strickland, Agee, Dutton; Studdard, Myrtle, Hovard; Tidwell, Easley, Oneonta; Traylor, Merrill, Wedowee; Turner, Ellie, Knoxville, Tenn.; Upton, Burma, Geraldine; Walker, Kathryn, Hackleburg; West Mrs. J. ## Prof. C. M. Gary's Father Dies

Professor Charles M. Gary was suddenly called to his home at Midway, Ala., Sunday night to the bedside of his father, who died Monday. The funeral was held Wednesday.

A beautiful tribute of flowers, extending the faculty's sympathy, was sent him by his fellow-teachers immediately upon hearing of his bereavement, while many others of his large circle of friends in the student body likewise sent condolences and expressions of sympathy.

The entire student body and faculty and his other friends in the town extend to him their sympathy in his hours of loss.

Ernest Penny spent Sunday night in Gadsden with his brother.
