Annual "Play Day" Saturday

Tripplet's Emma Sansom Band Plays Here

The 65-piece Emma Sansom High School band, directed by Lawrence Tripplet, a graduate of the Jacksonville State Teachers College, scored a big hit here Friday afternoon when they paraded and played during the J. S. T. C. Marion Institute game. The players, dressed in handsome suits and ties, played the familiar school song, "The Teacola," and the college song, "The College of the South." They also played "The Star-Spangled Banner" and "The Boonton Band." The audience was impressed with the precision and accuracy of the band. The students and alumni were enthusiastic in their support of the band.

Flight School To Open This Week

Freshmen And Women Apply For Vocational Flight Training

The flight school, which is scheduled to open this week, has received applications from 20 men and women. The applicants will be interviewed by personnel of the flight school and will be given a medical examination. The flight school will be located on the grounds of the J. S. T. C. Marion Institute. The flight school will be under the direction of Dr. Agnes Snyder, principal of the flight school.

Snyder Holds Important Conferences

Dr. Agnes Snyder, principal of the flight school, held conferences with various members of the staff. The conferences were attended by the flight school personnel, the flight school staff, and the flight school students. The conferences were held on the flight school grounds. The flight school personnel were given instructions and were informed of the latest developments in the flight school.

Nineteen Schools Are Represented

Program To Begin At Nine O'Clock With Address Of Governor

No Class "D" Certificates After 1941

According to an announcement by Mr. A. C. Shelton, College registrar, all people who expect to enter the teaching profession for the first time in 1941, must register with the Teaching Certificate Board. The certificates will be issued on the basis of two years of college work and enables a person to teach six years.

High School graduates entering the College of Teachers College on Monday, December 4, and complete a year's work by the end of the Summer Quarter. Those who fail to qualify for a certificate by September 1, 1941, will not be required to attend college three years to be eligible for a certificate.

Geography Teacher Gets Port Pictures

Picturing the various activities at the Alabama State Docks and Terminals, Mobile, have recently been made by Mr. R. W. Dondersberg, of the Geography Department. During the summer vacation, Mr. Dondersberg was in charge of the College of Teachers College of Alabama State Docks and Terminals. To compensate for this, the officials promised to send a series of pictures giving complete coverage and highlighting activities at the State Docks.

Included in the group of pictures are scenes showing Alabama steel being loaded on vessels for movement to the Pacific Coast. Cotton being loaded for export; crude rubber being charged from a Russian ship; American automobiles being loaded for shipment to South America; Belgian cement being unloaded; and cotton ginned from the Pacific Coast of the United States going to storage at State Docks.

Ye Olde Gossip!

The Historic Club hosts their monthly meeting and dance, October twelfth, in Bibb Graves Hall. The subject of the evening will be the history of Columbus Day. Two clubs have a very busy week, so the band and orchestra, under the direction of Dr. Felgar, will be featured. The name of the newly discovered lands for another, America Venustis, instead of Columbus, was added that in many states and Latin American countries, Columbus Day is dedicated with great spirit and declared a state or national holiday.

Choosing One’s Profession

One of the greatest problems for a young person's life is that of choosing his profession. Each individual in making his decision should decide on certain objectives. If he wishes to deal with people and make his life a monument to society, he may choose another. The teaching profession offers unlimited opportunities for individuals who wish to make their contribution to the advancement of human knowledge. A college course in education is essential. The major consists of a few people once a week. The teaching profession requires dedication, patience, and a desire to help others.
The importance of the “Unimportants”

I know that what is queering through me now is the same feeling that hundreds of others have had; a feeling of the fear that the dreamers have had the speckled speech of watching a football game, the thrill of sitting in the chapel, the thrill of sitting in the dining hall, the feeling of the next morning, when you try to convince your teacher that you are in charge of a place of black and white, the important feeling of rushing from one class to another, the thrill of looking out across the campus at twilight. I know that many others have felt that beauty, and that beauty is what I, at least, look at the sunset through the trees. It seems as if I am only one of the few who are aware of the excitement in the quietness and the peacefulness of this college.

Cross-town State Teachers College is not a group of brick buildings against the sky; it is the souls of hundreds of us, men and women, who have come from all parts of the country. A student is a person who is impressed not only by the climate of instruction but by the personal contact. What do you hear the last year? Do you hear the voice of a friend, the voice of a famous man, in your classes? Do you hear the voice of the writer of the novel you’ve just read? In short, you hear the voice of the compiler of the text you’re reading.

What People Talk About

John Ackerman Vanderbilt: Do you know what you talk about? If you do not, then this article will probably help you develop some of the issues. Are you aware of any of the issues?

Eighty-five per cent of American college students are interested in current events, and yet only 10 per cent of them are interested in discussing five main topics. These are in order of their frequency of usage: health, business, the arts, health and social issues, sports, and clothing.

The first main topic is health and the second is business. The third is the arts, and the fourth is the health and social issues. The fifth is sports, and the sixth is clothing.

Town Girl’s Club

The Town Girl’s Club held its first meeting on Wednesday morning, October eleventh. After an introductory talk by the president, the planned plan of the organization, Lillian Adams, opened the floor for nominations for the club. Ten members following were elected: Catherine Ashmore, president; Jane Felger, vice-president; Lillian Adams, secretary-treasurer; Violette Stockman, head social chairman; and Constance single, reporter.

The meeting was well attended by townspeople, but attendance was less than expected. The meeting was well attended by townspeople, but attendance was less than expected. Modern Student Teaching

If you were to visit the local Laboratory School today you would find anywhere from two to six student teachers in each room. All of them are either just finishing the day, or they are about to finish it. You can see that the student teachers are to be given only three days a week, though you did your best work yesterday, and you are about to spend the old about two times a day, then to spend the rest of the day on the college campus. This is how we have been studying your teaching. The student teaching this quarter, I have met many people to ask me things. Are you keeping yourself here late?

I answer, “Oh, I’m doing my student teaching.”

The St. John’s River. In Florida, flows north its entire course. The average adult uses its water continuously for 16 hours a day. We much word used “dearest” which is the most related to the name of the organization, but are interested in the European crisis are the effect on the group, and I believe that Pelgrim will review recent events in Europe at each session.

Weatherly Hall Elects Officers

The following officers have been elected for the Fall Quarter at Weatherly Hall: Lucille O'Shields, president; Lucile Mae Riley, vice-president; and Mary Minor, secretary-treasurer; Evelyn Kirkland, reporter, and Selena Mae How, registrative on the social committee.

The president has appointed the following to serve as an activities committee: Cathryn Germany and Nettie Gae Smith, co-chairwomen; Lucille O'Shields, Mrs. Belle Parris and Elisa Frances White. The activities committee will be responsible for social affairs within the dormitory group.

The dining hall was hostess for the quarterly social, which was held every Wednesday evening following vespers service. All guests held at every Wednesday evening following vespers service.

At vesper service Wednesday evening the guest speaker was Mrs. Amy Hooper who talked to the throng about "Passion Play." While on a tour of Europe in 1926, Mrs. Hooper witnessed the play. She stated that a member of her party, was a guest in the home of Herr Anton Lang while they sojourned in the small Bavarian village of Oberammergau, where the play is presented every Wednesday evening following vespers service. Mrs. Hooper related how the producer, Max Reinhardt, brought out the play on both sides, and no agreement reached. The play was much a success that everyone noted with much acclaim to carry it, or another of its kind, on at the next meeting. The meeting ended with contests in hog-calling, which the boys and their ladies present were identified themselves, either of the two organizations to attend the next meeting of the group.

The program committee promises interesting, as well as informal, programs to last throughout the term. All visitors are, indeed, welcome!

Wallace Morton

Wallace Morton, Alexandria, president of the Virginia State Teachers Association, attended the conference of state cabinet members of the Sixth Presbyterian Church, Birmingham, the past week-end.

He stated that during the business session the group decided that the time for the annual meeting from Fall to Spring, was desirable, and the group voted unanimously to hold the state meeting in November at Howard College. The state president was given authority by the group to select the exact date and place for the meeting, with other officers in charge of the proceedings.

An invitation was received from the University of Alabama, which was declined, since Howard had extended the first invitation.

APPROVAL OF THE CROWD!
You don’t have to go in for any ballyhoo beauty contest to get the crowd’s approval around this campus. There’s not a corny dress in the whole Mangel’s collection at $6.98. It’s hard to believe until you see them. So, after your class today take a trip down to Mangel’s and you’ll be convinced.

MANGEL’S
Cheer Leaders Are Elected

The student body elected cheer leaders Tuesday morning at a mass meeting in Bibb Graves Hall. Coach Williams appeared and before he called for nominations, he made an appeal to the students to support their team. He pointed out that school spirit depended upon each individual.

The students were asked if there were any objections to the nominating committee and the last name of Marion Hodge was mentioned. The nominating committee, consisting of Marion Hodge, Jimmie Bailey, and Bob Hunt, then met, and their choice was announced.

The candidates were: William Poynter, Marion Hodge, Jimmie Bailey, and Bob Hunt. The student body then voted, and the results were: William Poynter, 155; Marion Hodge, 151; Jimmie Bailey, 147; and Bob Hunt, 143.

Demonstration of Proper Spirit Asked Of Freshmen

An article written from an interview with Christine Glass, our head cheer leader—

To act as he feels, that he, to be enough alive to make every man want to feel "Beat Oglethorpe." All we ask of the freshmen is a demonstration of proper school spirit and cooperation in supporting our team. Most freshmen, we hear, are complaining that there was more football spirit shown in their various schools than is manifested here at College. All we say is don't lose that spirit, and if those upper-classmen don't know what backing is—well, show them what it is. Freshmen! Why doesn't J. S. T. C. have more pep? There is too much hesitancy on the part of the students to feel that this is his or her school. This is not a school belonging to any individual. It is our school one for all and all for one.

One last request of all students—

We will be on exhibition Friday, October 20 at Amanston to beat Oglethorpe. Please do your best and all of you be there to back your team!

Let's go we have the team, the school, the city, and the state behind us.

Lotta Bull

Hello Folks. Allow me to introduce the loveliest-maiden, best-sister, cutest, brainiest, rivetin'est, female you ever heard of—Miss Carleton Bull that's me. Of course everybody's going to be my friend, so all my friends call me Lotta, that's my name. Now chillun what I'm here for is to help you out—in your love affairs, in your studies, in your personal problems, in your social problems—anything that might trouble you. Just bring it to Aunt Lotta, honey, or write me a letter in care of Ted York—He's my pal you know. He said you could call him Uncle Ted too. He thinks i'd be cute. Here's a little secret Ted's inscrutably parental, though you surely wouldn't think so, would you now?

None of you have had time to write to me yet, but one of our sweet young things about the campus came up to me recently with a woebegone face and, I'm sure, a bleeding heart. "My, my," said I, "What have you been crying about, child? Or have you had an attack of the jaundice? I declare that puffy face of yours is plumb lost its bloom of youth!"

I was flabbergasted when she chirped, "No, indeed, I haven't had jaundice! How does one says any—"

Football In The Limelight

The baseball activities for this year are definitely in the past. The Yankees are certainly the best team (of baseball players) in the land. They have again demonstrated their absolute supremacy over the other fifteen teams in the two major leagues, and have departed to their respective homes to await the coming of spring.

Football has moved into the coveted spot as the center of attraction in the world of sports. Each week-end brings bitter struggles of thousands of gridironists. Each Saturday afternoon a splendid athlete will scamper across the frozen turf to gain national recognition and lasting fame. The performance of some will be compared with those of "Red" Grange, Jim Thorpe, "Red" Eagle, Larry Kelly, "Dixie" Howell, Don Hutson, Johnny Cain, Ernie Nevers, "Whizadder" White, Jimmy Hitchcock, and other great football players whose memory lingers on.

Eleven men will go down in history as the best players of the year. One man will be singled out as the outstanding player in the country. One team will receive recognition as the greatest grid machine in the entire world, and one coach will
