A Salute To Mr. Gary, Head Of Forney Hall

Mr. Charles McKee Gary, of Midway, Alabama, is the head of Forney Hall, boy's dormitory, and professor of chemistry. But he is more than that: Mr. Gary is a typical Southern gentleman, one of the most loved and respected of all Jacksonville teachers, and a "regular fellow."

"Freshman" Gary, as he is affectionately called by his dormitory boys, came to Jacksonville in 1936 with much experience to his credit. During his long career, he has served as: assistant professor of physics, The Citadel, Charleston, S. C.; professor of physics and assistant professor of chemistry, Sweet Briar College, Sweet Briar, Va.; dean of men and professor of physics, Oklahoma Baptist University, Shawnee, Okla.; head of the department of science and professor of chemistry, Southwest Baptist College, Bolivar, Mo.; professor of physics, Penn College of Engineering, Cleveland, Ohio. He also saw service in the World War, having served in France for four months. He remained for some time in Germany after the armistice was signed.

Mr. Gary holds the degrees of A. B. and A. M. from Howard College, Birmingham, Alabama; he also did graduate work in chemistry at the University of Chicago for two years. Many people have made very complimentary remarks concerning the manner in which Mr. Gary manages Forney Hall. The residents of that dormitory have profound respect for their leader; they obey him not from fear, but because, well, because he is a nice guy. "For peters sake, turn that radio down," says "Freshman" Gary in a semi-serious voice. That is all that is necessary to cause considerable decrease in said radio's volume. Then too, Forney Hall's head is never too busy to visit with his boys, and he is always one of them. Truly he is appreciated by his dormitory boys, the entire student body, and the school as a whole. Mr. Charles McKee Gary, we salute you.

Religious Leader Of The University Of Georgia To Appear Before Literary Societies

Saturday morning at an informal meeting of members of the two debate teams, the speaker for the Calhoun group announced to the Morgans that the Calhoun would uphold the negative side of the question: "Resolved: The United States should follow a policy of strict (economic and military) isolation toward all nations outside the Western Hemisphere engaged in armed international or civil conflict.

This is the fourth consecutive year for the Calhouns to uphold the negative side of the annual debate. There has been no extensive record kept in the past as to victories and losses; it is kept only in a mental form, and then only in the minds of those immediately concerned, and they come and go as the tide.

The question for debate is one of paramount interest to all Americans. We isolate ourselves economically and militarily from the rest of the civilized world. In the past when we entered into war, the United States have not received one of the coveted gold ball trophies. Although they did receive by meeting for discussion. Anyone in the group is free to ask any question that he wishes to. The speaker or someone in the group then attempts to answer the question.

One reason for the popularity of this form is its very democratic way in which they are carried on. It is educational beyond the scope of a curriculum, and as entertaining as the speaker of group makes it.

Jacksonville's forum is a student program, but is open to the public. All general public welcome.

The third state wide "Y" conference of religious groups was held on the University of Alabama campus February 9 to 10. The group consists of five religious denominations. The "Y" conference is patterned after the "Y" conference held in Columbia, South Carolina. The purpose of the conference is to promote understanding and cooperation among religious groups.

It will be the fourth year for the tournament teams to be divided into brackets. The first bracket team will play in the new gymnasium, and the second bracket team will play in the armory, or perhaps, Kilby Hall.

For the past several years, Jacksonville State Teachers College has been host for the tournament teams of this district. Players and coaches will be the guests of the college.
Drs. Nat Long and G. E. Cermak were at the head table. The topic of the meeting was "History of the University of Iowa and its Influence on American Life." The discussion centered around the impact of the university on the social and cultural aspects of the nation. The speakers highlighted the importance of higher education in fostering intellectual growth and societal progress.

Geography Club In Charge of Chapel Program

The Geography Club was in charge of the chapel program for February 16. The theme for the evening was "The Geographical Influence of the United States on International Relations." The presentation included maps and discussions on the geographical aspects of U.S. foreign policy. The meeting was well-attended, and the speakers received positive feedback for their engaging delivery.

McCarthy Speaks At Open Forum

Captain Charles McCarthy appeared before the open forum on Tuesday evening at 6:30. Captain McCarthy, a tall, young, handsome man, delivered a powerful speech on "The Role of the United States in International Relations." He discussed the importance of U.S. military strength and its implications for world peace. The speech was well-received, and the audience expressed gratitude for the opportunity to hear such a distinguished speaker.

"Father Abraham"

In addition to birthdays, holidays, and dates of other notable events, we, may say that the month of February has earned a significant ranking in the history of the Gregorian Calendar. Especially is this true in our own United States of America. February, twenty-second, is probably the least celebrated month of the year, but on our American friends in February the twelfth has just as significant bearing. On the latter date, as every loyal American knows, one of the most important personages of all history was born. That information was written into the form of the "Honest Abe." With the rise of booklovers from the pangs of poverty and from the clutches of dreaded ignorance, there emerged from chaos the first genuine American. Sincerity, honesty, clarity of thought, and sound logic were the fundamental characteristics that made him supreme over his colleagues. In his dealings, he was honest; in his convictions, he was sincere; and throughout all his life as a Sctemian his clarity of thought and soundness of judgment was manifested in his actions. The"Father Abraham" was an American, and only men who follow his example can hope to pilot our "Ship of State" over the troubled waters of this critical era.

If So, What Side?

Will the United States be drawn into the present European war? If so, on what side will she be? It would take a super-natural person to answer either question. While there are plenty of reasons why we should remain out of the war there are many things which can happen. The "U.S. Circle States into the war within 45 days" has been somewhat of a threat in recent weeks. If our government received a notice from England they would be somewhat in the States shipping close to Gibraltar, the last time the "U.S. Circle States into the war within 45 days" had been somewhat of a threat in recent weeks. If our government received a notice from England they would do with them and money looking up the "Pinnacled" with what they had. So, with all these facts to be taken into consideration, what will happen? Will the United States remain neutral or will she be drawn into the war? The only answer is, "We shall see."
College Education

Many people in college do not realize what an education is composed of. There are many definitions of education, but they all lead to about the same thing. In short it is anything that will help us serve our fellow man and prepare us to be teachers and leaders in community life. College should be a place of preparation for such leadership. How are we going to prepare ourselves to fit a place of such high responsibility? Are we going to spend all of our time with our noses in books trying to learn a lot of facts so that we may answer questions that have no practical value? Are we spending all of our time loafing, going to picture shows, and doing other things that are a waste of time? Or are we spending a reasonable amount of time on our books with a definite, well-rounded program outside of class?

The question that comes up is: What can we do in college to make us better able to serve our community? Each student will have to figure this out for himself. Not every student can take a part in all extra-curricular activities, but each one can choose the ones that he thinks will be most beneficial to him. Each student should have an active part in one or two organizations on the campus, and in one of the local churches.

Teachers are expected to be leaders in the church as well as in the school. We should start now, if we haven’t already done so, attending Sunday School and church not only because it is expected of us, but because of the joy and satisfaction that comes from learning about the greatest teacher that ever lived.

It is good to know a certain amount of facts, but facts will not get anyone to heaven. Life is made up of choices which are based on principles. These facts will help make our choices and set up our principles and standards.

Students, now is a good time to get an education. Now is the time to take advantage of the college that will be useful to the community in which you will live and to the nation as a whole.

Becrer College Boys

Oddists who like to think of the younger generation—especially the college boy—sain’t what he used to be” suffered a really severe jolt recently when George H. Beach, Jr., personnel manager for one of the nation’s largest industrial organizations, made the statement that today’s college students are much better recruits for businesses than their fathers were. Intellectually and temperamentally the present day college man far surpasses his predecessor, added Beach.

Discussing qualities most desired by large industry in its recruits from academic institutions, Beach pointed to such factors as intelligence, loyalty, and capacity to work and to be heard by all persons seriously interested in getting ahead in the world. The specifications included high academic standing, participation in extracurricular activities, good appearance, and an adaptable temperament.

The personnel manager developed these qualifications. He made the point, for instance, that a student attends college to obtain an education. That is the primary purpose of going to college. Hence, the marks he makes mean much. Referring to the extracurricular activities, he remarks that a college boy should have a good index toward self-support in the future. Also important is personal appearance, because it foreshadows the quality of work after graduation. Temperament, Beach reasoned, is the quality which enables a man to fit into industrial employment, becoming part of a large organization, where teamwork is essential. — Atlanta Constitution.
Biographical Sketch Of Houston Cole

Houston Cole, associate professor of education, at the University of Alabama, was a recent visitor on the college campus. It was his first visit since any of the buildings on the new campus had been erected. He was loud in his praise of the growth and development of the school, and marveled at the progress which had been made since his graduation, through Dr. Dauterive's untiring efforts.

It is a pleasure to present a biographical sketch of this Jacksonville graduate, who has enjoyed unusual success in his chosen profession.

Mr. Cole was born in DeKalb County, the son of J. F. and Pollyanna Cole. He graduated from the DeKalb County High School, and in 1923 received a diploma from what was then known as the State Normal School, now State Teachers College. In 1925 he was awarded a B. S. degree from the University of Alabama, and in 1927, his M. S. degree. He has done graduate work at Chicago and Columbia Universities.

In the field of professional teaching, Mr. Cole was superintendent of the Gunterville City Schools in 1923-24; principal of the Tusc-aloosa County High School in 1925-26; County Superintendent of Education of Tuscaloosa County 1925-26, a position which he resigned in December 1929 to accept a place as associate professor of education at the University of Alabama.

While a student at Jacksonville, he was speaker for the Morgan Literary Society, in the annual debate. He holds membership in the Beta Kappa, Phi Delta Kappa, and Delta Kappa Phi, honorary fraternities. He served as Alabama District Governor of Beta Theta Pi in 1928-29. He is the author of several magazine articles on social studies.

In 1923 Mr. Cole was married to Leonie Pruett, of Boaz, and they have one daughter, Beth, age twelve.

In a recent issue of the Alumni News from the University of Alabama, a detailed review of Mr. Cole's activities as the president of the alumni of the Gamma Kappa Chapter of the Alpha Phi Alpha fraternity, reveals his diploma at the Jack- sonville Normal Institute, is an alumnus of the University of Alabama, having received his B. S. degree there in 1918. Miss Olile Sewell, Jacksonville college. The poem given below was written by some of the alumni students about their opinion of smoking.

VITAMINS

Second Article By
Dr. Clara G. Weilshap

Vitamin D controls the deposition of calcium phosphate in the bones, teeth. Its deficiency is manifested as the disease called rickets, which is characterized by poor teeth, bow-legs, cleft palate, and the turned-in knees which in adult women may interfere with normal child bearing. The B vitamins, milk, butter, eggs, and milk products, which are all dependent, are needed by the body to produce sufficient vitamin D. In this case, the concentration in ordinary foods is to be relied upon as adequate for the growing child; hence the recommendation that fish liver oil be given regularly to children, since this oil is the best natural source of vitamin D.

Certain substances, which may be referred to as forms of vitamin D, when irradiated with ultra-violet light, change to vitamin D. Provitamin D is present in the human skin; so when children play in the sunlight, vitamin D is being formed in the exposed parts of their bodies. Foods that contain provitamin may become sources of vitamin D when irradiated with ultra-violet light; for example, irradiated milk. Children that live in places where the amount of direct sunlight is limited by climate, crowded buildings, smoke, or other factors, are in danger of developing rickets unless their ordinary diet is supplemented with vitamin D. This is especially true of negro children, whose skin pigment hinders the absorption of what little ultra-violet light is left after the sunlight passes through the clouds and smoke.}

The friends of Mr. Clarke Dobson, of Childersburg, are sympathizing with them in the death of their sister. Mr. Dobson was mayor of Childersburg.

SEVERAL FACULTY MEMBERS GO TO CONFERENCE IN NASHVILLE, TENNESSEE

Dr. C. W. Doutigue, Dr. C. E. Wood, Mr. E. E. Landers and Dr. Clara Weisnheit returned Thursday from Nashville, Tennessee, where they met with representatives from other State Teachers Colleges and members of the State Department of Education for a Curriculum Conference.

Special curriculum consultants were presented at the conference to aid in completing the curriculum which has been in a stage of growth for several months. The conferences discussed much work which has been done by the local faculty in attempting to make the school curriculum fit the needs of the present day student.

A bulletin relating to the achievements of this group was released last Thursday by the county superintendent of the various committees as summarized and in form to put into use. It reports that the "penned" or written problems of the different classes of freshmen through seniors, and various courses or combinations of courses were suggested to attract the desired ends. This plan properly executed will give the student a more rounded education, and an education applicable to everyday life. If interest and attention upon the specific studies more properly to enter schools of the state and train children for a fuller life.

Curriculum Conference

Dr. Agnes Snyder, of Springfield, Missouri, has been here in Jacksonville since February 6 to attend a conference at which six committees of the faculty who are working on curriculum revision made reports of their activities in their respective areas. Reports were made on two phases of work done by the committees. The first, was setting up problems to be solved and experiences needed to solve the problems which are classified under curriculum revision; second, was to report the activities in their respective areas. Government Class Rules County For A Day

Last week the class in Government, taught by Dr. C. E. Cauley, took a day off from school to rule Calhoun County. The students went to Anniston on Thursday morning and returned late in the afternoon.

The morning was spent in the offices of the tax collector and the tax assessor. Mr. C. M. Stanley, tax assessor, explained the division of Calhoun County into townships, sections, and lots. He then made an assessment of property and allowed the class to follow him through the plat book and other books of records. The assessment was then taken to Mr. F. C. Culley, tax collector, where it was paid and a receipt filled out. The tax collector explained his system of bookkeeping and the method he used in making his report to the state treasurer. The time clock on the safe in the tax collector's office attracted much attention.

Mr. Culley explained how the time clock operated and the advantages of having a time-clock safe.

In the afternoon the students were guests of the County Superintendent, C. J. Allen, John C. Waters was elected County Superintendent and the other members of the class were elected County Board members. Mr. Allen talked to the students on the subject, "Students As Prospective Teachers."

The remainder of the afternoon was spent in the office of Thomas Wood Combs, probate judge. In this office the original map of Jacksonville was carefully studied. The deed records of Calhoun County were inspected as were the marriage license books, the voters register, and the plat books.

Those making the trip were as follows: Tillman Williams, Sadie Barwell, Helen Barnes Wilson, Selma Mae Howie, Catherine Ashmore, Estes Hudson, Henshaw Jones, James Hill, John J. Waters, Stanley Camp, Lionel Worth, and Dr. C. E. Cauley.

And there was that stubborn Ruth, who started to fall asleep with her psychology book. What, no conversation, but WAYS IN WHICH COLDS, INFLUENZA, AND PNEUMONIA MAY BE PREVENTED

White colds, influenza, and pneumonia are different conditions, while all three may be brought on or made worse by lowered body resistance, and all three may often be prevented in the following ways:

1. Stay away from people with colds. During "flu" epidemics, especially, it is wise to stay at home than to be part of a crowd in poorly ventilated rooms or eating places.

2. Keep your body in good condition by eating right. Eating the right foods, including milk, eggs, fruit and green vegetables will keep your body strong and healthy. Sleep at least eight hours daily. Take outdoor exercise daily and sunshine. Drink six glasses of water daily.

3. Train your skin to stand changes in temperature by frequent "shivering. If you may develop a cold, enough clothing should be worn to keep the body comfortable and no extra wrap should be put on when you are outdoors.

4. Keep your feet warm and dry. Rubbers should be worn on stormy days.

5. Breathe through your nose. Water is filtered as it passes along the nasal passage on its way to the lungs. The mouth breather takes cold germs directly into his throat. See a doctor if you have trouble breathing through your nose.

6. Wipe diseased tonsils, adenoids, and bad teeth to prevent infections.

7. Always wash your hands with soap and water before eating and after visits to the toilet. Brush your teeth twice daily.

8. Live and work in well-ventilated rooms. It is better for the thermometer to read 68 degrees than over 7:50.

9. Sleep with windows open in winter and summer.

Games To Be Held At Snead College

The teams of the Alabama Inter-collegiate Conference will meet this year in Boaz, Alabama, with Snead Junior College acting as host, for their second annual basketball tournament. The tournament date has been set for February 23-24 (this coming Friday and Saturday), and six Alabama teams, Jacksonville, Troy, Livingston, Snead, Marion, and St. Bernard, will take part in the fray.

The Jacksonville Eagle-Owls will be the defending champions, and they, along with Snead’s Frayser Pharaohs, will be favored to give the other teams of the Conference plenty of trouble. In order for Jacksonville to reach the final, they, perhaps, favored to be disposed of; Snead must overcome the local quintet will leave here on some time Friday. Coach Stephenson has announced that he plans to take the entire squad with him.

LOCAL QUINTET BEATS BESSERER Y. M. C. A.

The Jacksonville Eagle-Owls defeated the Bessener Y. M. C. A. team, coached by Arnold Caldwell, a former S. I. A. A. student and basketball star, quite soundly last Saturday night by a score of 78-66. The games went to the Owls as they have defeated the Bessener team in previous meetings. They are a member of the local quintet, which is composed of five regular players:

- T. B. McPherson, who ranks second in total points this season, has been somewhat in the spotlight for two weeks in the scoring column, but Saturday night broke out with a touch of red soil, rolling up 18 points for high honors against Pell City.
- Mitchell, turning a bruised elbow, stepped in and played an excellent game, although not as high against Pell City.
- T. B. McPherson, who ranks second in total points this season, has been somewhat in the spotlight for two weeks in the scoring column, but Saturday night broke out with a touch of red soil, rolling up 18 points for high honors against Pell City.
- Mitchell, turning a bruised elbow, stepped in and played an excellent game, although not as high against Pell City.

The final score was Jacksonville 45, Bemiston 44 at 4:30 some time Friday. Coach Stephenson has announced that he plans to take the entire squad with him.
JACKSONVILLE defeated Bemiston last Wednesday for the third time this season, by a narrow margin of one point, after having played an extra period. The final score was Jacksonville 45, Bemiston 44; the score at the end of the regular fourth quarter was tied at 38 all, Bemiston boys defeated the local boys only once this season. We regret that a complete line-up and box score is not available, but from all reports of the game, neither team looked like the outstanding player in the contest. He was high score man, and his defensive play was something to write home about. Dectet credit for winning the game, however, must be given to Ertes "Daddy Boy" Hudson, who, with Jacksonville trailing by one point in the very last second of the extra period, shot a long shot goal to give the Eagle-Owls a victory. Williams played sensational ball for Bemiston.

Kemp was out of this game with an injured knee. Bemiston jumped to an early lead, but the score was evened throughout the entire game, with neither team running up a substantial margin.

Mr. Hendrix Honored

Mr. Louis J. Hendrix, head of the English Department, has been recently appointed to the list of the Outstanding Alumni of the Arkansas Writers Conclave. Mr. and Mrs. Hendrix went to Birmingham February 18 and remained there in order that Mr. Hendrix could attend a luncheon on the 7th at the Tutwiler Hotel for the Executive Board of the Arkansas Writers Conclave given by the president, Dr. Emmett Kilpatrick. While in Birmingham, Mr. and Mrs. Hendrix went to see "Gone With the Wind" at the Norwood Theater.

C. Redmond: "Would you like to take a nice, long walk?"

The "why" of it.

C. R.: "Well don't let me detain you."
