Unfold, you book-worm; unfold, you bridge fiends and "Grab" Cow-boys, unfold, you sleeping beauties, you drowsy gents, and all of you, Spring is here. Of course, we aren't allowed to print a complete and detailed forecast of the weather (might aid the enemy), but you can take our word for it. "SPRING IS REALLY HERE" (hope the sun is shining when this comes off the press.)

Come spring and a young man's fancy turns to love—some say, come spring and a young man's fancy turns to agriculture—others say. Come spring to Jacksonville and the young C. L. S. man's fancy turns to debating—we say.

Each year about this time when the trees burst forth in foliage, when the birds burst forth in song, and when the flowers burst forth in blossom, several young men of JSTC burst forth in oratory. Clothed in the foliage of facts, they literally blossom in ideas which are woven into a song of harmonizing ideas, contentions and arguments.

The Calhoun debating team of 1943 furnishes no exception in that general truth. Three talented young men have followed the example of dozens of predecessors and their attention, or at least a part of it, is turned to this art of oratory.

Calhouns Favored In Annual Debate

WAYMAN STROTHER, BILL HAMILTON AND CHARLES JOHNSON TO VERBALLY COMBAT MORGAN GIRLS APRIL 19

The on-coming Calhoun-Morgan debate promises to be the most unique of some forty-four such affairs that have been held on this campus in as many years.

It isn't the debate topic that puts the current debate in this light. Though the topic: "Resolved, That the U. S. should establish a manpower board to control wages, hours, placement and distribution of

The time and scene of the Calhoun-Morgan debate as decided by the speakers of the two societies in a recent meeting is Monday night, April 19, at 8 o'clock to the auditorium of Bibb Graves Hall. It was decided after much discussion that the students and townpeople might find it more convenient to attend this event which has heretofore been held on Saturday if it were moved to an earlier night of the week. Bibb Graves Hall was chosen in preference to the Community Recreation Center. Due to the advantage the former site would have in arousing student interest.

manpower" is the best in years. For the first time in four years, the issue is one of national scope and consequently of more interest to the average American layman and probably to the students, faculty, and townspeople of Jacksonville.

Nor is it the feverish and thorough preparation of the debates such as described above. Though neither Calhouns nor Morgans seem to be losing any time. The former under the guidance of Miss Maude Luttrell are preparing to prove the affirmative of the above issue, while the latter, guided by Dr. W. J. ...

around rapidly and promises to be on a par with other years but it seems that it cannot be the reason that is going to make the difference between this fracas and former ones.

The debate topic, the energetic efforts of the debaters, the society spirit—all of them are tops and will contribute much, but the feature that gives this unique debate its uniqueness is the unique contrast of the debating teams, man against woman.

The outstanding manhood that has been characteristic of the Calhouns for half century is still apparent. The stronger sex still bear the burden of the attack while the charming C. L. S. lassies, glowing in their chivalry and energetic efforts furnish the inspiration.

Head debater for C. L. S. is Wayman Strother, who hails from Fyffe, Alabama. Strother, a third quarter junior, is a newcomer to the debating stage. His capable mental capacities are vouched for by the enviable scholastic record he has made at JSTC and his deep melodious bass voice as heard in the college chorus furnishes some idea of his speaking ability. These favorable qualities plus an infinite capacity for hard work promised to set this Sand Mountain boy down as one of the outstanding of the long lineage of C. L. S. orators.

The other two Calhoun speakers are veterans of the contests. Bill Hamilton, second speaker, and graduate of the Alexandria High School, was third on the 1942 Calhoun debating team. Bill has a speaking voice that is the envy of many "would-be-orators" and is able to think on his feet in a manner that is an asset to any debating

WAYMAN STROTHER

The greatest weakness of the M.L.S. debating team this year is Wayman Strother, head debater of the Calhouns. Strother is a third quarter junior and despite the fact that he is making his first appearance in the C.L.S.-M.L.S. debate, promises to be the big gun of the trio of affirmative speakers. He hails from Fyffe, Alabama.

Paul Revere Has Nothing On J.S.T.C. Group

This midnight ride was not Paul Revere's, but it was almost as interesting and adventurous. It concerns several staid and dignified members of the college faculty and staff and can be vouched for by several students.

Last Friday night a meeting of the Marshall County alumni of the college was held in Guntersville. Miss Maude Luttrell, Dr. Clara Weishaupt, Mrs. E. K. Coffee, Dr. R. P. Felgar, W. O. Barrow and Leon McClure braved the rain, thunder

Many New Courses Begin At J. S. T. C. Monday, May 3

BILL HAMILTON

Bill Hamilton, a product of the Alexandria High School is in his second year of study at JSTC and has been a member of the CLS debating team each year of his career here. His praiseworthy speaking voice, and an admirable ability to think on his feet served to promote him from third speaker of the 1942 Calhoun team to number two spot of the current trio.

travelers more than compensated them for their trip.

The return trip was uneventful but not to be forgotten. As the bus was being filled, Lamar received definite instructions about how to proceed home by the best group of "back seat" drivers that one could have encountered. All the dangers of the slippery road going down the mountain were pointed out, with the injunction to "drive slowly and carefully."

To avoid having the discomforts

TEACHERS MAY ENTER SCHOOL NOW AND COMPLETE FOUR AND A HALF MONTHS' WORK AT THE END OF SUMMER QUARTER

Professional teachers will be particularly interested in the announcement made by President Houston Cole that a new term will begin May 3. The term will mark the half-way mark of the Spring Quarter, and enables teachers in the field to enter at this period, begin courses which will extend until the middle of the Summer Quarter, while carrying the regular Summer Quarter load. This makes it possible for one entering May 3 to complete four and a half months' work by the end of the Summer Quarter.

CHARLES JOHNSON

On the night of April 19, John Charles Johnson, third speaker for CLS, will probably not make a debate speech. But the influence of Johnson will cause the Morgans to wince under unpleasant memories for years to come. This Anniston lad is the most experienced of the debaters of both teams, having spoken in the 1941 fracas.

The advantages of such a plan are familiar to those who have attended Jacksonville in previous years. It was worked out by the administration and faculty in order that teachers who were unable to enter at the beginning of the Spring Quarter might make up the time and receive credits for extra work.

Teachers Asked to Register as Early as Possible

The prospects are for a large enrollment for the Spring and Summer Quarters, and teachers in the field who are planning to enter are requested to make their reservations as early as possible. This will not only be an accommodation to the college dormitory, but will be helpful in the planning of the summer classes and programs.

The elementary and secondary laboratory schools are operated through the Summer for the convenience of those who desire to attend demonstration classes or who have not done their student teaching.

Courses Offered

The courses available for those entering include the four-year course leading to a bachelor of science degree; courses for an emergency certificate; courses for the removal of conditioning and additional credits; library science, and the commercial courses

The Calhoun debating team of 1943 furnishes no exception in that general truth. Three talented young men have followed the example of dozens of predecessors and their attention, or at least a part of it, is turned to this art of oratory.

Waymon Strother, Bill Hamilton, and Charles Johnson—three good fellows are they—will soon be ready to bring forth an argument that in good construction, in eloquent delivery and in rich material will look like another spring time work of nature, and like the rays of spring sunshine, it will unlock the argument of any opponent.

Little is said about the fancy of the young lady, and we are quite uninforming as to whether it turns to love, to agriculture, or both or none at all. Nevertheless, the fancy of a trio of young lasses on the campus has also turned to debating this spring.

The trio are the members of the Morgan Debating Team: Mary Rivers, Wynelle Riddle, and Edna Bailey. This is the first time in the long and colorful history of the Calhoun-Morgan debates that three girls have represented either society.

The Calhouns have continued to make the debate a man's battle, but with the fancy of the young Morgan men turning in other directions, either to romance or to agriculture (and we haven't seen any Victory Gardens springing up under their feet), the M. L. S. teams have been partially composed of the weaker sex twice previous years.

The debate this year should be one of the most colorful in history. For in contrast to the contrast on the platform of three ladies pitted against as many men, there will be the harmonizing scene of three well-groomed "sweet" fellows from the M. L. S. carrying a bouquet to the friend who has just given her all for the sake of his dear old M.L.S. and for him.

What a contrast there will be between the Morgan flower boys—"awe-inspiring" creatures they will be—and the Calhoun gents who are haggard and worn from the battle, and the work that preceded it.

Oh, dear Romeo of the M. L. S., we have hit up on the answer as to why you did not debate: you wanted to spend your time cultivating your looks, and your charms. Not a bad idea, we believe.

Though neither Calhouns nor Morgans seem to be losing any time. The former under the guidance of Miss Maude Luttrell are preparing to prove the affirmative of the above issue, while the latter, guided by Dr. W. J. Calvert, Jr., will debate the negative.

Best Attendance Ever At A. E. A. Breakfast

JACKSONVILLE REPRESENTED BY THREE HUNDRED GUESTS, ALUMNI, STUDENTS, AND FACULTY MEMBERS AT TUTWILER DINING ROOM ON MARCH 26

About three hundred alumni, students and members of the college faculty assembled in the terrace dining room of the Tutwiler Hotel on Friday morning, March 26, at 8 o'clock for the annual breakfast. Tables had been arranged for about two hundred and when the crowd kept increasing, the management of the hotel had to add more tables and chairs, and open up an annex to the dining room. It was reported by those who have attended the breakfast for a long time that this was one of the largest crowds ever to be present on this annual occasion.

C. C. Moseley Presided

C. C. Moseley, superintendent of the Anniston schools, presided. Seated on the speaker's platform, in addition to Mr. Moseley, were the following members of the alumni: Dr. H. C. Pannell, superintendent of the Tuscaloosa City Schools; Ernest Stone, principal of the Crossville High School; C. P. Nelson, principal of the Scottsboro High School; Dr. Austin R. Meadows, of the State Department of Education; Mrs. L. M. Lowery, president of the Alabama Congress of Parents and Teachers, and President Houston Cole. Other distinguished guests were: H. G. Greer, president of the Alabama Education Association; Dr. Frank Grove, secretary of the A. E. A.; Dr. Festus Cook, president of Snead Junior College; Dr. C. B. Smith, president of Troy State Teachers College and Mrs. Joe Eshleman, vice president of the Alabama Congress of Parents and Teachers. Mr. Moseley expressed his pride in being a graduate of J.S. T. C. (Continued on Page 4)

The return trip was uneventful but not to be forgotten. As the bus was being filled, Lamar received definite instructions about how to proceed home by the best group of "back seat" drivers that one could have encountered. All the dangers of the slippery road going down the mountain were pointed out, with the injunction to "drive slowly and carefully."

To avoid having the discomforts of having their feet go to sleep because of the height of the seats, each one of the faculty members occupied a seat alone. The distance between them did not dampen their enthusiasm however, and a lively conversation ensued all the way home. Only Dr. Felgar succumbed to the drowsiness caused by the hum of the motor and pelted sounds of the rain on the window panes. He nodded and rocked in his seat and may have snored a bit.

Arriving home about one o'clock, the spirit of the Scholastic Six was till high as they planned to join the next caravan traveling to another alumni meeting.

On the night of April 19, John Charles Johnson, third speaker for CLS., will probably not make a debate speech. But the influence of Johnson will cause the Morgans to wince under unpleasant memories for years to come. This Anniston lad is the most experienced of the debaters of both teams, having spoken in the 1941 fracas.

The picture above was made while Charles was on active duty with the U. S. Navy. Placed on inactive status to continue in college, he will again don a Navy uniform when he receives his degree.

We, the members of the Calhoun Literary Society wish to express our deep appreciation for the noble act of an inoble group in their recent burning of a Calhoun flag. Burning, according to custom, is the most courteous and respectful method of disposing of an emblem. After a U. S. flag has served its purpose it is respectfully burned. We appreciate your showing the same courtesy to the C.L.S. flag that has served its purpose.

attend demonstration classes or who have not done their student teaching. Courses Offered The courses available for those entering include the four-year course leading to a bachelor of science degree; courses for an emergency certificate; courses for the removal of conditioning and additional credits, library science, and the commercial courses.

CAN BE FULFILLED IN THREE YEARS DEGREE REQUIREMENTS

Students who to desire may complete the required courses for a degree in three years by entering school at the beginning of the Summer Quarter, attending three regular sessions and two more summer schools. If they enter at the middle of the Spring Quarter it is possible for them to graduate a quarter earlier.

This plan is especially attractive at the present time when the outlook is for a long war, and when the demands upon young people are increasing daily. The quicker a young person can secure college training, the better off he or she will be to take part in the war effort. Those who are fortunate enough to graduate from high school before the date of registration for the armed forces may be able to complete a large part of their college work before being called. In this event the possibilities are much greater for a chance to qualify for officers' training.

A great deal of praise is in order for young people who have the ambition and determination to catch a year from time to time and add to their period of service; they will probably never regret stealing a base on Father Time. School authorities strongly advise this plan for any high school graduate who can afford to come to school during the summer.

Seated near the speakers' table were the following prominent guests and alumni: Norman Olson, Rationing Administrator for OPA in Alabama; Rayburn J. Fisher, Superintendent of County Schools, Tuscaloosa County; W. W. Drake, principal Tuscaloosa County High School; C. J. Allen, Superintendent of Education of Calhoun County; Senator Elvin C. McCarey of Calhoun County; Harper Stacy, Tire Rationing Panel, OPA Staff, Montgomery.

A FINE TRIBUTE

The last issue of The Teacola, student publication of the Jacksonville State Teachers College, was dedicated to the memory of its late president, Dr. C. W. Daugeette, who for 43 years headed the institution. In speaking of him, Mr. Houston Cole, his successor, said:

"The work and influence of my friend, the late Dr. C. W. Daugeette, will live for many years in the lives of the people he helped and in the material structures he left on our campus.

"During the course of his long and worthy career, Dr. Daugeette became intimately acquainted with thousands of students who came to Jacksonville for college training. It was through his kindness and effort that many young men and women were able to complete their education. There are few educators in Alabama who meant so much to so many.

"The fine buildings we have here on the campus will stand as a monument to the untiring efforts and business acumen of Dr. Daugeette. Through the years he labored, he planned, and he built. Our plant will bear witness to his fine work long after we have passed from the scene."

This is a worthy tribute to a man who builded well. And unless we miss our bet, Mr. Cole will write another illustrious chapter in the history of this fine old school. Already evidences of his leadership and organizing ability are becoming evident and we feel sure the school will continue to progress under his direction.—The Anniston Star.

Civil service examinations are given at the college by government officials and those desiring to obtain government jobs have an excellent opportunity, many securing work at nearby Fort McClellan and Bynum.

Jacksonville is the only institution of higher learning in the northeast section of Alabama, and it offers a convenient and cultural location to those who live in this area to attend school while living near enough to their homes to return for week ends and vacations.

In addition to the regular dormitory facilities, which offer comfortable boarding quarters, the Apartment Dormitory, which was erected in recent years, affords an unusual opportunity for those who wish to do light housekeeping. Modern and well equipped apartments are available where students may prepare their own meals and use many foods which they may bring from home.

A new building, the Student Union Center, will be opened by the Summer Quarter, which will be "something new" at Jacksonville. The handsome new building will house a place for students to spend leisure hours; equipped with soda fountain, tables, comfortable chairs and other furnishings. The college Book Store will also be located in this building. A student lounge was furnished in Bibb Graves Hall during the past year where students may drop in between classes. It has proved to be a popular place with students.

The administration, faculty and student body at the college are doing everything possible to make this institution an attractive and worth-while place. In spite of the handicaps imposed by the war they hope to keep it on the highest plane possible, and to attain new heights in scholarship, social and cultural influence.

VANITY OF M. L. S. AND WOMANHOOD

The job of selecting a debate topic is alternated from year to year between the two literary societies. One year the Calhouns choose the topic and the Morgans have the choice of the side they will uphold, and the next year the vice versa happens.

This year the C. L. S. boys submitted the question and almost immediately the Morgan girls announced they would uphold the affirmative. It was one of the quickest decisions ever rendered by a debating team on a matter like this. Usually the speakers desire a few days to study the question to determine the issues and make their decision accordingly. But not so this time. The lady speakers consumed no valuable time with that sort of thing. No, they merely consulted a debate manual and found that the affirmative had the last word. That was enough. No woman wants to argue if she can't have the last say. Consequently the Morgans are on the affirmative, but there is going to be a lot said before that last word, so girls, don't bank on it too much.

Calhoun Personalities

For our Campus Personalities this week we have chosen the officers of the Calhoun Literary Society.

President

First, we have as president, Earl Lindsay. Earl is a Freshman, but in the short time that he has been here he has become one of the best-liked members of the student body.

His favorite pastimes are any form of athletics and a good stiff game of bridge between classes in the lounge. He is a feature writer on The Teacola staff and was also made Sports Editor during the Fall Quarter.

Vice President

Coffee! The pepper-upper of millions, the favorite of all! This precious refreshment was rationed to the Morgans but the Calhouns enjoy her delicious smiles and brilliant personality every morning, noon and night. Just to show the rationed Morgans that CALHOUNS are not selfish, we are serving a cupful of this flaming CALHOUN personality, vivacious, redheaded, Marion Coffee!

Marion Coffee, the newly-elected Vice-President of the C. L. S., is a native of Alabama, namely the Chattahoochee Valley. She moved to Jacksonville with her parents in 1937 and has resided here since that date. Since that time she has graduated from Jacksonville High School and is now a freshman at JSTC. Through her winning personality, Marion has won for herself many friends, not only among the students of the college but also among the men in the service. Among Marion's many capabilities is her unusual musical talent which she willingly shares in playing for several church and school organizations. Ranking first among the things which she enjoys are dancing, reading, movies, conversing, and music.

Marion, being the daughter of two of the most outstanding citizens of Jacksonville (her father is the editor of the city paper and her mother is publicity agent of the college and also a talented musician) has much to live up to, but we feel that she will, since she is already a member of the TEACOLA staff and her highest ambition is that of someday becoming a newspaper journalist.

We must not neglect to acclaim Marion for her most wise decision in joining the Calhoun Literary Society.

WHAT HAS JACKSONVILLE TO OFFER YOU

This issue of The Teacola is dedicated to the idea of perpetuating the forty-year-old tradition of the Calhoun Literary Society, and to inform prospective students and professional teachers about what the Jacksonville State Teachers College has to offer.

This college is a state-supported institution founded for the purpose of training teachers of the public schools of Alabama. With the steady growth of the institution, however, the tendency has come to be one of liberality in regard to the curriculum. Numbers of students have obtained the greater part of their pre-medical training here and a liberal course may be scheduled for the first two years, preparatory to almost any profession, with final training to be taken in a specialized school. A host of lawyers, doctors, technicians, dentists and public men of this section are Jacksonville alumni.

Jacksonville offers the attraction of a large and beautiful campus, located in the heart of one of the most beautiful regions in Alabama. The college is large enough to give the infinite variety of personalities and yet not too large to destroy the intimate relations between the administration and the student body so necessary for students.

Jacksonville offers you "cheap" education, insofar as cost is concerned. Living expenses here are as low as those to be found in any college community in the state. For those whose finances are limited further particulars will be supplied from the college office.

Jacksonville offers the assurance of employment. It is almost unheard of for a Jacksonville graduate to be unemployed. The placement bureau gives a free service for prospective teachers in obtaining positions and its teachers are in eager demand by superintendents in all parts of the state.

OUR BOYS WRITE...

Somewhere in England.
March 14, 1943.

Dear Mr. Shelton:

Thanks very much for your letter which I received yesterday. I certainly was glad to hear from someone at J. S. T. C. I'll be glad when I can get back to Jacksonville again.

I've seen quite a bit of England. It is a pretty nice country but could stand a lot of improvement. I'll still stick to Alabama. Especially Calhoun County. By the way, how is our new Governor doing? Is he getting off to a good start? I hope and I really believe that he will do a good job. Let's hope so, anyway.

Yes, I've seen quite a bit of England. I've been to London and several of the other larger cities. On my way to London I went native had the last word. That was enough. No woman wants to argue if she can't have the last say. Consequently the Morgans are on the affirmative, but there is going to be a lot said before that last word, so girls, don't bank on it too much.

THE FAMOUS FEUD EXPLAINED

So that the uninformed and casual reader may better understand the mud that is being slung by the Calhouns at the Morgans in this issue of The Teacola, this article aims to clear up his mind by explaining to him the true meaning of the Societies.

A goodly number of years ago Dr. Dautette, former president of Jacksonville State Teacher College, decided that in order to bring about more enthusiasm and interest among the students, which is so essential to a wholesome student life, some sort of competition should be arranged so that every student could take an active part. He then settled upon the idea of creating the literary societies, one called the Calhouns and the other called the Morgans. These societies were to have officers and were to hold regular meetings. Once a year each society was to hold debate try-outs and select speakers, and the speakers chosen from each society then debated at an agreed time. Of course, the more competition and enthusiasm shown between the members of the two groups all the time, the better it was.

And so it has been down through the years. Every year the Morgan-Calhoun debate is anticipated as a coming feature attraction, and believe you me, the annual debate is always a gala event.

By way of further explanation, every year both societies are each in on an issue of The Teacola in which they can throw puns at each other on the printed line. This happens to be the Calhoun issue, so they are enjoying themselves and seemingly have the upper hand, but you wait until the Morgans get their issue and the feud will rapidly reach a state of equilibrium.

All in all, though, the feud is not at all serious, but we do get a big kick out of it. As formerly stated, this feud between the Morgans and the Calhouns is as old as the one between the Martins and the McCoys, so don't you be surprised at anything you see on these pages. Just remember, it's all in fun.

through Cambridge and in the distance I could see Cambridge University. It is really a beautiful place.

How is "trig" class getting along? Do you have many students now? I shall plan to take the advanced course when I get back.

I had the pleasure of closely examining some German planes the other day. They were captured by the R.A.F. and brought to the field for us to examine so that we might see just what the Germans really have to fight with. Wish I could write about them but the censor would only take it out, so I'll just have to wait and tell you about them when I get back to the States. I hope that time is not long off.

Well, the space is gone so I'll have to close. Tell everyone of the J.S.T.C. hello for me.

GEORGE HENDRIX.

already a member of the TEACOLA staff and her highest ambition is that of someday becoming a newspaper journalist.

We must not neglect to acclaim Marion for her most wise decision in joining the Calhoun Literary Society.

Secretary and Treasurer

For Secretary and Treasurer the Calhouns have selected Miss Frances Weaver. Frances is another popular student. She is classified as a first quarter Junior. An all round student, she takes part in all the student activities, is a member of the Student Council belongs to the Choral Club and Wesley Foundation.

"Franc," as she is called by most of the students, is a native of Jacksonville and has made a splendid record all through High School and College. She is of a very domestic nature and is also interested in athletics, dancing, bridge, and flower gardening.

"Franc" is a very well rounded person and the Calhouns are proud to have so competent a person as one of their officers.

Publicity Chairman

Allan Humphries, Anniston, was chosen for Publicity Chairman. Allan is a first quarter sophomore and an ardent Calhoun.

To judge Allan from outward appearances one would think he was a very reserved, rather staid student. But Allan is full of surprises. He even allowed himself to be nominated for "Miss Valentine," under the pseudonym of Hedy Lamarr. He spends a great deal of time (perhaps too much to please his professors) playing bridge in the lounge—and he likes to "trip the light fantastic."

These qualities, with his more serious ones, serve to round out his personality to an interesting degree.

HIGH SCHOOL AND COLLEGE SINGER PRESENT PROGRAM

The College Auditorium was filled to capacity last Friday. Quite a few of the people gathered there were visitors from J. H. S. They made up an audience to a typical chapel program presented by the college twice weekly.

Miss Curtiss, head of the music department, together with the Girls' Glee Club from the High School; Women's Chorus, from the College; and the college orchestra, presented a musical program.

Charlotte Mock read the scripture and announced the numbers. The high school glee club sang several numbers including, "Keep In The Middle Of The Road", "Sing Little Banjo, Sing," and "Prayer" by Dvorak. The College Chorus sang "O, Bread of Life" by Franck. The orchestra played several old tunes including, "Emperor's Waltz," "Norma March," and an Air from Rigoletto, by Verdi.

Marshall County Alumni Meets At Guntersville March 19

FOUL WEATHER FAILS TO IMPEDE MEETING AS SCORES OF J.S.T.C. GRADUATES GATHER FOR SUPPER AT CITY SCHOOL

On Friday evening, March 19th, a large number of the Marshall County alumni assembled at the Guntersville City School for a supper meeting. The idea originated among several loyal graduates of the college who live in that county, with Mrs. Valanta McCormick as general chairman.

As the former students and friends of the college arrived, they were greeted by Mr. E. E. Cox, principal of the school, and other friends of that hospitable city. The Guntersville High School band presented a stirring performance preceding the supper. Incidentally, the band was organized and directed by a former student, Lanier (Snooks) Cowart, before he entered military service, and is now being directed by Lamar Triplett, also a graduate of the college.

The supper took place in the school's cafeteria and was served by members of the Parent-Teacher Association. Judge Oscar Horton acted as master of ceremonies. He expressed appreciation for the excellent attendance—about 90—despite the inclement weather. He asked the former students to stand, dividing them into groups, according to whether or not they had attended before or after 1912, or had completed the course. Miss Ollie Privett, teacher of Snead Junior College, was the only one present who had graduated before 1912. She stated that she entered the school at the age of six, completed the required courses and had two years of post graduate work.

A program was presented with Miss Privett reading "The Blue Roses." Miss Peggy Williams, a student of Boaz High School, played two accordion solos, "Lieberstrom," Liszt; and "Washington and Lee Swing."

Judge Horton introduced A. C. Shelton, director of extension, who in turn presented President Houston Cole. Mr. Shelton was generous in his praise of Marshall county and the alumni. He stated that the meeting was one of the finest he ever attended and he expressed credit to the group which sponsored it: Mrs. Valanta McCormick, Mr. T. D. Willis, Mrs. Clarice Means, Mrs. J. W. Campbell, Miss Elva Bain, J. C. Weir, J. R. Carter, Mrs. Nannie Frachiser, Mrs. Corrie White Guthrie, Mrs. Verma Stephens, Mrs. Bath Clegg, A. C. Jettou, Miss Maude Pruitt and Miss Lula Varagn.

He congratulated Judge Horton on being a judge in one of the finest counties in the state.

TEACHER SHORTAGE RELIEF PLANS MADE

The Jacksonville State Teachers College has taken steps to relieve the present teacher shortage in Alabama by offering a twelve-month course to high school graduates which will prepare them for the Limited Elementary Professional Certificate. State Superintendent of Education E. B. Norton recently announced that this type of certificate would be recognized in this state.

According to Dr. Norton, more than two thousand emergency certificates were issued this year to teachers, many of whom have no college training. Such certificates are valid for one year and are not renewable.

High School students who wish to enter the teaching professions will be enabled to enroll at the beginning of the Fifth Quarter or Summer Quarter or at the beginning of the regular session and will be eligible to teach in one year from that time. By attending school each summer, the limited certificate will be continued and teachers may finance their way through college by teaching in the winter and going to school in the summer.

On March 12, the second year French Class presented in assembly a French play entitled "Tout Epouse Une Femme Muette". The play was

COMMERCIAL COURSE ATTRACTIVE FEATURE OF COLLEGE CURRICULUM

The Commercial Courses which were instituted at the college during recent years have proved to be one of the most popular in the curriculum among both teachers who return for study, and for students majoring in those subjects. They are designed to provide for the securing of majors in commerce and business administration by students who plan to enter either the teaching field or the business world; they may specialize in any of the department's three branches, secretarial science, accounting, and business administration.

The courses offered include shorthand, typewriting, business correspondence, accounting, commercial arithmetic, principles of economics, marketing, money and banking, commercial geography, statistics, and business law, as well as methods and practices in commercial teaching, made through the laboratory schools.

Realizing its responsibility to contribute competent workers to the many phases of war effort, which is causing tremendous industrial and economic change the department is endeavoring to meet the demands of expanding industries, government and the military branches of service by providing thorough and intensive training in the necessary skills and in commercial government practices.

Preparation for Commercial Teachers

There is a great need for commercial teachers in the high schools and this department affords the necessary training leading to a degree, for this field. Teachers who are now engaged in the elementary or secondary schools as regular grade teachers may find the commercial courses interesting and offering an opportunity to enter a new field.

THIS COLLEGIATE WORLD

Everything is army, whether you are looking through a daily news sheet or weekly college publication. The rumors that cadets won't be allowed to date co-eds is definitely not on the up-and-up there. And the girls may even go to

A FAIR COMPARISON

"Hello down there small fry", this lofty Calhoun must be saying as he gazed down on the lowly Morgan at his feet. The shot was made several weeks ago and is very interesting because of the significant comparison it offers. Were it possible to make a snapshot of the invisible qualities of C. L. S. and M. L. S. the discrepancy between the two would still tend in the same direction though the margin would be greatly extended.

Towering emblematic of the Calhoun Literary society—its ideals, concepts, mental powers, and purposeful activity, stand Glen Howard Sides. The representative Morgan is Coolidge Sims. In connection with the picture, it will be of interest to both Calhouns and Morgans to know that Sides was commissioned a Second Lieutenant in the U. S. Marine Corp. Receiving his degree here in November of 1942, he has been on active duty with the Leathernecks since early in December. The past ten weeks have been spent in Officers Cadet School at Quantico Virginia. Sims is at his home in Ashland awaiting induction into the Army. (In fairness to all, no matter what our size there is a place for us.)

1943 REVIEW OF THE MORGANS

All the year the Morgans have had superior forces against the Calhouns. They have carried around with them a false confidence which bears striking resemblance to Hitler's theory that the strong shall crush the weak by force. For a while this theory seemed to be working fairly well, especially when they won three consecutive basketball games. The democratic way of the Calhouns, however, is now beginning to tell, because the significance of these games has proved to be this: While the Morgans won the first three games, they did so only by the smallest possible margins. In fact, the score was tied in one or two of the games at the finish. The last game, however, presents an entirely different story. The Calhouns more than doubled the score! The front line of the once proud Morgans has Receiving their degrees at the end of the Winter Quarter were Ovelle Tumlin Kent, Graysville; R. C. Smith, Pisgah, and Pascal King, Alexander City.

ED COLVIN RECEIVES COMMISSION

The friends of Ed Colvin will be interested to learn that he has received a commission as second lieutenant in the army.

Lieutenant Colvin was in the army six months and one day when he received his commission. He is stationed at Fort Monmouth, New Jersey, and will remain there as an instructor.

After a ten-day furlough Lieut. Colvin and Mrs. Colvin returned to Fort Monmouth.

OGLETRIEE-WELDON ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED

Mr. and Mrs. Hinton Boozer of Anniston announce the engagement of their sister, Sarah Lynn Ogletree, to G. C. Weldon, Jr., of Columbiana and Salt Lake, Utah.

Both are graduates of the college and their marriage will be the culmination of a romance begun on the college campus. Miss Ogletree has taught in the Talladega schools since graduation. Mr. Weldon was formerly a teacher in his home city and later was connected with the State Highway Patrol.

The couple starred in one of the senior plays while they were students here, directed by Lance J. Hendrix.

BLACKWOOD-HIGGINBOTHAM MARRIAGE SOLEMNIZED

A recent marriage which will be of interest to the alumni was that of Ruth Higginbotham of Anniston, to Claude F. Blackwood, Jr., formerly of Jacksonville and Anniston.

to the Naval Reserve Midshipmen's School, Northampton, Mass., for further training. If not called to duty immediately upon graduation the women may return home and request that their papers be transferred to the college.

The bride is a graduate of the college, and the bridegroom was formerly a student. He also attended the Georgia Military Academy. He is now stationed at Fort Knox, Ky., with the U. S. Army.

The bride will remain in Anniston with her mother.

MISS CLYDE LYBRAND WEDS GROVER CASEY

Miss Clyde Lybrand of Gadsden, was wed to Grover Casey of Jacksonville, Tuesday afternoon, March 16, at the Methodist Church with the Rev. Charles T. Ferrell officiating.

Since her graduation last August the bride has been teaching in the Gadsden City Schools. She is the daughter of Mrs. J. W. Lybrand and the late Mr. Lybrand, and formerly lived in Jacksonville.

Mr. Casey is also a former student and is now in the Seabees with the U. S. Navy. He will return to duty at the end of his furlough.

TURNER WILLIAMSON GIVEN POSTHUMOUS AWARD

Lieutenant Turner Williamson of Anniston, a former student, who lost his life in the South Pacific, will be awarded the Order of the Purple Heart posthumously, according to recent information.

He was cited for bravery a short time before his death for leading an air attack against the Japanese.

DEATH OF G. M. BREEDEN

George Marion Breeden, of Gadsden, a graduate of this college, died at his home of a heart attack. Funeral services were held Sunday, March 21st.

Mr. Breeden is survived by his wife; three sons, Arthur H. Breeden of Sylacauga; Ralph E. Breeden and George Breeden of Gadsden; two daughters, Mrs. Rex Keeling of Dallas, and Miss Attice Breeden of Gadsden.

He taught for several years in various sections of the state before entering business in Gadsden. He was engaged in the real estate business at the time of his death, and was an active member of the First Baptist Church of that city.

Students Present French Comedy

He congratulated Judge Horton on being a judge in one of the finest counties in the state.

In presenting Mr. Cole he said that after the death of the late Dr. C. W. Dugette, when it became necessary for a man to be selected to take his place, he considered the best man in the state was chosen in Mr. Cole.

Mr. Cole contrasted the conditions which existed in Marshall County 20 years ago when he became superintendent of schools with the present. He told of the changes in transportation, highways, school buildings and homes. He attributed these improvements to education. He complimented the people of Guntersville upon their two fine school buildings, their lovely homes, paved streets and modern business section.

He gave an outline of his goal for the college; more emphasis upon subject matter and scholarship, and upon the cultural influences. He mentioned the new Student Union Center which is nearing completion, and the improvements which are being made.

He appealed to the graduates to lend their support in sending high school graduates to college as a patriotic service, pointing out that college graduates would be more in demand after the war than ever before.

The meeting was closed with the singing of college songs.

Attending from Jacksonville were: Miss Maude Luttrell, Dr. Clara Weishaupt, Mrs. R. K. Coffee, W. O. Barrow, Dr R. P. Felgar, Leon McCluer, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Shelton, and President and Mrs. Cole.

On March 12, the second year French Class presented in assembly a French play entitled "Tout Epousa Une Femme Muette". The play was spoken entirely in French and starred Prof. Lance J. Hendrix of the English Department and Edna Bailey, a student.

The program was announced by Levis McKay and Henrietta Sharp gave the life of the author, Anatole France, and a resume of the play scene by scene.

A quarter composed of Charlotte Mock, Frances Weaver, Marion Coffee, and Florence Jenkins sang French songs between scenes.

The cast included Professor Hendrix, as a renowned judge; Edna Bailey, as the wife of the judge; Bill Hamilton, as a famous doctor; James Jones, the doctor's assistant; Wynelle Riddle and Helen Pate Landers, as servants in the judge's home.

The play concerned the famous judge and his speechless wife. She was capable of hearing but could not speak. The judge had tried everywhere to find a physician who could return her speech to her. He succeeded and the wife was overjoyed at being able to speak again.

She started talking and soon almost drove the household mad because of her incessant talking. She never seemed to know when to stop. The judge was almost driven to rage and due to the fact that his wife could not be made dumb again, he finally agreed that the physician should make him deaf to enable him to be able to live peaceably again.

The play proved to be a great success and was commented on quite favorably.

Everything is army, whether you are looking through a daily news sheet or weekly college publication. For the comfort of boys leaving for the service who may be sent to school, we offer this bit from the U. T. paper. The rumors that cadets won't be allowed to date co-eds is definitely not on the up-and-up there. And the girls may even go to dances. For your sake, draftees, we hope that policy prevails at all schools educating the army.

There's an election to be run off soon at Vanderbilt, and we can't decide whether the election to such a post will be an honor or not. The title the winner will receive is "Bachelor of Ugliness." Apparently it's pretty hard to even get in the running, for a nomination requires a petition signed by a hundred students.

Patriotic Vander is right in the center of the "fighting South" and ready to do her part. Evidence of this is shown in the fact that the twenty-two graduates of the nursing school there immediately volunteered for service with the nation's armed forces. As it happens there were just twenty-two seniors which makes them exactly 100%.

Auburn co-eds are playing active roles in the push to win the war. Besides being the best of morale boosters they are taking first aid courses and are putting in their quota of time at the U.S.O. center. They sell war stamps while in school, and leave to take their places in war industries, the WAVES and the WAACS. THE PLAINSMAN calls it "the good ole Auburn spirit," but we call it "the good ole American spirit."

Democracy won out again when Georgia Tech's Student Council passed a ruling allowing any student to run for a class office provided that he is backed by twenty-five students. This method will give non-party men a chance at office holding.

A recent marriage which will be of interest to the alumni was that of Ruth Higginbotham of Anniston, to Claude F. Blackwood, Jr., formerly of the Naval Reserve Midshipmen's School, Northampton, Mass., for further training. If not called to duty immediately upon graduation the women may return home and request that their papers be transferred to the Office of Naval Officers Procurement nearest their home residence.

Recently the Morgans and the Calhouns held their debate try-outs, and you know, the most curious thing happened. While the Morgans have most of the men enrolled in their clan, not one was selected to speak. On the Calhoun side all three speakers selected were men. And there you have it. The Morgans with three women to represent them at the debate, and the Calhouns with three fine men to represent them. And remember that old established argument: "The women are definitely the weaker sex." The future looks bright for complete victory for the Calhouns.

During the last several days there seems to be a sort of unrest among the Morgan members. They seem to be losing any fight that they might have had in them heretofore. One of their members saw the depressing situation in all its awfulness the other day, and she gave the Morgans a party in her apartment. At this party, candy was made (at least it was supposed to be candy). This member hoped that it would in some way boost the morale of the Morgans. The outcome, however, was nothing but a sticky mass of confusion.

Timely Topic

AN EDITORIAL

Numerous are the times when in a Morgan or Calhoun edition of The Teacola that each society superfluously boasts a bit at the expense of their opponents. Many undeserving compliments are paid, that is, compliments that are undeserving in any ordinary circumstances.

It does seem however that the Calhoun debaters and their coach have a well-earned compliment coming. It is to their wise selection of debating topics that these remarks are referred to.

Choosing a debate topic is a job that can cause a great deal of worry and tearing of the hair, and usually the whole matter is dispensed with easily and satisfactorily by simply choosing the national intercollegiate debating topic.

This year, however, the C. L. S. debaters departed from that custom and picked a question that we believe is even more appropriate than the intercollegiate one.

It is not intended that this remark insinuate that the C.L.S. debaters are more capable of choosing topic than the people who pick national ones.

The man power—problem with which the topic deals has come into the light much more vividly than it was last fall when the national question was chosen. For the last few weeks it has, according to one of our own representatives in the U. S. Congress been the "hottest issue in Washington."

It is an issue that very definitely has two sides. There are many arguments for and against a manpower bord. In addition, it is an issue that affects in a direct way every family in these United States. For these reasons we again say "hats off" to those who chose that topic for the C. L. S.-M. L. S. debate. Had the Morgan the opportunity they might have used just as good judgment, though we do have our doubts.

NAVY WILL NOW ACCEPT WOMEN

Mobile, March 17—The Navy will now accept women in their senior college year as officer candidates under modified requirements just announced by the Navy Department, which applies to both the Navy and Coast Guard Women's Reserves.

"Candidates acceptable will not be called to active duty until after graduation" Commander E. D. Walbridge, Director of the Office of Naval Officer Procurement, Eighth Naval District, said, "but will be sworn in as apprentice seamen in the V-9 or W-9 class and put on inactive duty for the remainder of their college course. Students who wish to become officers in the WAVES or the SPARS under this new program must report to the nearest Office of Naval Officer Procurement, bringing with them a certificate from the dean of the college stating that the applicant will graduate on a certain date".

Upon graduation candidates must submit a transcript of their college records to the procurement office and those qualifying as officers and those qualifying as candidates may then be called to active duty at once and sent to the Naval Reserve Midshipmen's School, Northampton, Mass., for further training. If not called to duty immediately upon graduation the women may return home and request that their papers be transferred to the Office of Naval Officers Procurement nearest their home residence.

It is very interesting to note the diligence with which the Morgan's seek to learn of the way of altruistic thinking and the way of Calhoun thinking (synonymous). After taking down two flags the idea has dawned upon them that they could put one on the same place without taxing their mentality to association with originality.

"GOOD SHOW! WE LET THEM HAVE IT"

"NO, THANKS. HAVEN'T YOU GOT A COCA-COLA?"

"That actually happened. And things like that are happening everyday. Ever notice in your newspaper how often Coke is mentioned? Boys write home about it, too. They like the taste that sets Coca-Cola apart. They welcome that feel of refreshment. Coca-Cola must remind them of home a lot. It reminds you to refresh yourself."

Calhouns Double Score On Losers

In a basketball game, the Morgan literary society bowed before the superior society, the Mighty Calhouns by a score that is mighty embarrassing for the Morgans. Although we have had very little sympathy with the Morgans in the past, we feel sorry for them because of their inferiority. The Morgans had hopes of at least holding their opponents to within fifteen points of their small score, but for the Morgans, such a thing as that was only a hope which was vanished with the warning moment of the game. When the final score was announced, some of the Morgan spectators and even some of the players had to be helped from the gym. That score was 32 to 14 in favor of the superior Calhouns.

In the first quarter, the Calhouns gave the M. L. S. a five point lead so that they would not get disheartened and quit before the game was over. But after the Calhouns had played around for a quarter, they decided to get down to business. In the beginning of the second quarter, led by Lester Sims and Earl Lindsay, C. L. S. jumped into a lead which was never lost throughout the remainder of the game. By means of a "fast break" and accurate passing the winner ran slipshod over the poor little Morgan boys.

At the end of the first half the Calhouns had a lead of three points. When the second half began the Morgans put all of their energies together in an effort to hold the formidable Calhouns to a small score, but the effort was in vain.

In the third quarter, Clay Brittain and Earl Lindsay began the scoring for the Calhouns, and were soon followed by nearly every other member of the squad.

Clay Brittain and Earl Lindsey were high-score men for the victors with a total of eight points each. Lester Sims and Hascal Sharp did some fine floor work and also a good job of taking the ball off the backboard, which enabled the other Calhouns to do the scoring.

The Calhouns are willing to give the Morgans another chance, but because of the difference in scores of the last game it is improbable that the latter will want to play again.

Calhouns Ready To Pong Morgans In Tennis Meet

It appears to be the same old story with the Morgans this year—plenty of everything but complete success. As they stand now, they appear capable of making plenty of boasts; naturally, all perverts make such boasts, though. They infer that giving them practice would make it an impossibility for them to drop any victory anywhere. Generally speaking, about average individuals, practice makes perfect. But we with all seriousness, doubt their boastful inference. Ladies and Gentlemen, a person must have a capacity for becoming perfect before he can become perfect.

Well, what I've been leading up to is that the Calhoun and Morgan ping pong tournament has begun. I hope there will be even competition, but I doubt it. After all, the superior Calhounic Victors are difficult to compete with. Of course, it would be rather hard to give definite results, since the tournament hasn't been completed yet, but almost any observer could very easily prophesy approximate results.

Oh! sure, there may not be a landslide victory over the weakly M. L. S. group, because they do possess a few so-called hard-hitting Ping Pongers: Billy Grissom, for example, plays good ball, while his mind is centered on one ball. He has too many balls rolling, though. "Frenchie" Jones is another good example, but he is "off" and "on"—mostly off. I suppose he must have the same excuse: "Too many balls rolling"—milking goats, etc. Say, I had almost forgotten the typical Morgan, Odie Gregg. He seems to be dashing competition, after having had a few lessons from his roommate, Kid Deason.

Since the Calhouns possess the professionals, E. L. Shirey, Hascal Sharpe, and many others, the Morgan elementary amateurs won't be a drop in the bucket. Their ears will probably be trimmed so far that they will have to stand on their measly heads to comb their hair.

Huh. Even the Morganic girls are trying to compete with the C.L.S. ladies. Frances Weaver, Edna Frances Patrick, Jeffie Pearl Landers, and others are catching up with their known foes. Usually practice is needed to win, but this time—not for the Calhouns. Any way, M. L. S. girls, I admire your spirit

Campus Freaks

William Grissom—There is little to be said for this "organism". He was a heart throb and Morgan. He was one of the first "flower-boys" in annual Calhoun Morgan debates at JSTC where he was a student, that honor being afforded him in 1942 when he was escorted by the "handsome" Charlotte Mock. He was dragged into the M. L. S. while an innocent freshman and so bad was the evil influence on his youthful mind that even his close associations with Clay Brittain in his later years failed to pull him out of the quagmire into which he had sunk.

John Deason—Born in Walker County about the year 1926. Grew up in physical stature but was never able to take unto himself manly ways. Attended Jacksonville State Teachers College 1942—?

While in college he committed an act that ruined his reputation at the outset of his career. He joined the Morgan Literary Society, died many years later, still a child with the disgrace of his early college days still hanging over his head.

During his life, Mr. Deason had a strong affinity for hard work, (as vouched for by Doc Gary) and a total disregard for cuddly co-eds. Or vice versa.

Kittrell Agee—Time and place of birth unknown, but it is supposed, judging from appearances that it must have been a long time ago and far, far away. He started to college at Jacksonville in 1941. He had fantastic dreams of being a woman-

A. E. A. BREAKFAST

He paid tribute to the part the institution had played in educational affairs in the state. He stated that the time had come for Alabama to get on the house tops and tell the people about education. The leadership is available, he said, and education has been pauperized long enough.

Distinguished Guests Introduced

A number of distinguished guests were introduced, including State Senator Reuben Newton, of Jasper, an alumnus of the college, who is a member of the education committee; State Senator Elvin C. McCary, of Anniston, also a member of the education committee; Lewis Young, of Lamar County, a graduate who brought thirteen students to his alma mater at one time; Miss Marguerite Johnson, a representative of The Birmingham News; Dr. R. L. Johns of the State Department of Education, and Norman Olsen, of the Office of Price Administration.

Dr. Pannell led the audience in singing "God Bless America," at the beginning of the program, and "Auld Lang Syne" at the close. Dr. Fetus Cook asked the blessing and Ernest Stone dismissed the meeting with prayer.

Alumni Speakers On Program

Dr. Austin Meadows made a brief talk, prefacing his remarks with the humorous statement that the breakfast should have been held in the Municipal Auditorium in order to have plenty of room for the crowd. He paid tribute to the late president, Dr. C. W. Dugette, who "introduced many outstanding things at Jacksonville". One of these was the annual debate between the two literary societies. He also stated that he was considered a financial wizard by all who knew him or knew of his accomplishments. He expressed approval of the Board of Education's choice of Houston Cole as his successor, and added that the alumni would gladly carry on in the upbuilding of their alma mater.

C. P. Nelson was the second speaker. He made a plea for the teachers to challenge the interest of boys to go to a teachers' college. Jacksonville has always been essentially a man's institution, he said, and still continues to be. This fact has been significant during the war, and will be more so in the post-war

MAUDE LUTTRELL

Offsetting any advantage their opponents might gain by their all feminine debating team, the C.L.S. boys have for their coach Miss Maude Luttrell. Miss Luttrell is a member of the English Department. Not only was she schooled in debating, but she has that contagious sort of enthusiasm that challenges the debater to put his heart and soul as well as his mind into his argument.

LITERARY SOCIETIES SELECT LEADERS

The Calhoun and Morgan literary societies met in the assembly hall on March 16 for the purpose of electing officers. The members of the two societies were separated and the following officers were elected:

Morgans:
President—Kittrell Agee
Vice President—Frances Kimball
Secretary and Treasurer—Edna Bailey
Reporter—Wynelle Riddle
Calhouns:
President—Earl Lindsay
Vice President—Marion Coffee
Secretary and Treasurer—Frances Weaver
Publicity Manager—Clay Brittain
Assistant P. M.—Allan Humphries

icy of letting the alumni have charge of the breakfast in the future. He explained that a nominating committee had been appointed with Roy Alberson, of Gordo, as chairman, to select a ticket of officers and a Board of Control for the purpose of making plans for the 1944 breakfast.

OVER THE FENCE

Allow us, dear reader, to depart from the customary comments on sports for the few brief remarks about much more extensive contest than the football, basketball, ping pong, and soft ball contests, which are unusually the theme of our comments. From amateur sports columnist to experienced war analyst we pass.

For three and one-half years this international conflict has been raging. Most of that period the Allies have been on the threshold of capitulation. But they have stood, and for this stand goes a lot of credit to Russia, to Australia, to Canada, to the United States, to Greece, and to the countries that have stubbornly been forced to submit to the enemy. The most credit, we believe, however, goes to the English. Not one other of the United Nations has been as close to disaster and yet evaded it. We find the English living up to that historic description given them by Napoleon, "The English lose every battle but the last one". And that is one that counts.

Now getting back to the lighter side, back to things nearer home, say, the CALHOUN-Morgan basketball games. For several weeks these contests raged. Each Wednesday night it broke out anew, each game more furious than the one preceding it. Three times the Morgans "lucked out" (surely even the Morgans will admit that that is the way it happened) by a score of one, two, or three points. A fourth game ended in a disputed score, both sides claiming the victory, but in the last game the CALHOUNS came into their own. They won the last battle, and that is the one that counts. They won it, not by the unconvincing margin of a field goal, but by the indisputable decision of a landslide. The C. L. S. score was so great that it gave them a total score for the series that is ten points greater than the total Morgan tally.

This only goes to show that the CALHOUNS though made up of French, Irish, Scottish, Polish, yes, even German blood, all blended together into good Americanism, are like the English in this respect: They always win the battle that counts, be it debate, ping pong tourney, or basketball game.

NAVY ANNOUNCES NEW SV-7 CLASS

18-YEAR-OLDS MAY STILL ENLIST IN CLASS V-7

To meet the need for additional officer candidates for engineering duties, the Navy Department has arranged for the voluntary induction through Selective Service of a limited number of junior and senior engineering students of accredited colleges.

Requirements are virtually the same as obtained for Class V-7, except that for SV-7, the special service classification, the vision requirement is reduced to 8/20 each eye, correctable to 20/20.

Must Be Junior or Senior

Candidates must be regularly enrolled full-time junior or senior students in accredited college or university, pursuing courses toward an engineering degree, or arts and science degree with major in physics, naval architecture, mathematics, or electronics.

Applications may be directed to any office of Naval Officer Procurement. Candidates in all respects qualified for Class SV-7 will be given a formal letter to the Commanding Officer, Armed Forces Recruiting and Induction Station. After induction, candidates will remain in college on inactive duty. Candidates will be informed that they may be placed on active duty in college at the discretion of the Navy Department prior to graduation.

Applies To Men 18 to 27

The foregoing applies only to men who have passed their eighteenth, but not reached their twenty-eighth birthday. Seventeen-year-olds who are junior or senior college students, and in all respects qualified, may enlist in Class V-7 without recourse to Selective Service.

A SWEET TIME WAS HAD BY ALL

Gathering in the Apartment Dormitory last Tuesday night, the Morgan Literary Society engaged in a good old-fashioned "Candy Party". The party began at seven and lasted for two hours thereafter. The setting was fine; a large mellow moon smiled through the windows at the young folks as they busily engaged themselves in stirring the concoction of sugar, flavoring, etc. Sara Nell Stockdale, joint hostess they will have to stand on their measly heads to comb their hair. Huh. Even the Morganic girls are trying to compete with the C.L.S. ladies. Frances Weaver, Edna Frances Patrick, Jeffie Pearl Landers, and others are catching up with their known foes. Usually practice is needed to win, but this time—not for the Calhouns. Any way, M. L. S. girls, I admire your spirit for trying.

High School product, is number three of C. L. S. team. The experience Charles had as second speaker in the 1941 debate will be no small factor in the current affair. He is a third quarter senior and his guidance will be appreciated by his less experienced colleagues.

In the house of Morgan, the situation is different. The well-meaning menfolk seem to find themselves, or at least feel themselves unfitted for debating. The girls, thanks to womanhood, have taken up the battle. With a spirit that even the Calhouns have to admire, they are striving for success. These Morgan girls, Mary Rivers, Wynelle Riddle, and Edna Bailey are trading sleepless hours, movies, tea dances and perspiration for facts, contentions, speeches and all of the other mental powers a debater must have.

The charming Morgan gentlemen, unadulterated by that lowly thing—work, are thrilled by the spunk of their womenfolk and are doing their best to furnish inspiration to them without becoming involved in the tasks that might, "dampen their brow."

for the occasion, sang beautiful love ballads to James "Frenchy" Jones as the fun session got under way. John Deason busily engaged himself in playing court to the lovely Jean McGouirk, and the other two there were just as bored as Miss McGouirk and Mr. Jones.

The party was "spiced" for a few brief moments by the presence of Mr. Billie Grissom and Miss Charlotte Mock, and even Mr. Kittrell Agee, Morgan president, found time to drop by for a minute accompanied by Miss Hattie O'Neal.

But evidently, the tempo proved too monotonous for these couples, for as soon as they could supervise its beginning, a movie seemed a much better bet for an enjoyable evening and away they went. (This is a tribute to Morgan taste).

After their departure, things went smoothly until the time came to sweeten the candy, then it was discovered that these two fellows had stolen away with the sweetening.

The party broke up, as this article indicates, with nothing happening, and nothing can be said about it.

The big smiling moon was by this time laughing at the joke the party had turned out to be.

a strong affinity for hard work, (as vouched for by Doc Gary) and a total disregard for cuddly co-eds. Or vice versa.

Kittrell Agee—Time and place of birth unknown, but it is supposed, judging from appearances that it must have been a long time ago and far, far away. He started to college at Jacksonville in 1941. He had fantastic dreams of being a woman-killer, but it never turned out that way. He joined the M. L. S. and rose to the rank of president in the spring of 1943 when the personnel of that organization degenerated to such a low ebb that the women had to take over.

Mary Rivers—As spunky a lass as you've ever seen. While a freshman at Jacksonville, she was so moved with compassion at the plight of the Morgan Literary Society that she risked her reputation to join that group and debate for them in the face of impossible odds. Of course, she lost the fight in 1943 but the world has to admit she did have courage.

Wynelle Riddle—A great kid with a bad start. She sat on the stage during the 1943 Calhoun-Morgan debate, though no one was ever certain whether she made a speech.

Edna Bailey—Her loyalty never wavered. One night in 1943, Miss Bailey came to hear the try-outs for the selection of speakers to compete in a debate between the Calhoun and Morgan Literary Societies. Miss Bailey being a freshman and a Morgan was utterly shocked to learn that there were only two Morgans besides herself at the event, and three speakers for each society were to be chosen. Rather than see M. L. S. fail, she hastily made up a speech that merited her third place on the team.

Odie Gregg—Just another typical Morgan.

AND THEY DID AND IT WAS

About two months ago the Calhouns and Morgans were asked to get up an assembly program as soon as possible. The following week the Calhouns presented their program, and it has been said that it was one of the best that has been presented this year.

The program was unrehearsed, and the president of the student body asked for eight Calhouns to volunteer on the program.

The program was one of those quiz affairs; the participants were asked to draw a slip of paper from it and then answer the question that was on it. Each participant was then asked to read and answer his question; of a total of sixteen questions only one was missed by the Calhouns.

It might be possible for the Morgans to present their programs at the beginning of the summer quarter, provided the Morgans have not disintegrated by then. If, and when the Morgans do present a program it will "stink".

C. P. Nelson was the second speaker. He made a plea for the teachers to challenge the interest of boys to go to a teachers' college. Jacksonville has always been essentially a man's institution, he said, and still continues to be. This fact has been significant during the war, and will be more so in the post-war period, he stated. He appealed for boys to be encouraged to be teachers to fill the ranks of those who are gone.

Ernest Stone was the last guest speaker. He asked for a show of hands of Calhouns and Morgans, adding that he was first speaker for the Morgans, in 1933. He urged his listeners to do something for education in Alabama; to be interested in their pupils' welfare, and the kind of citizens they will make fifteen years from now. "A fool may count the apples on a tree but a wise man will count the trees in the apple", he said.

Tribute Offered To Dr. Daugette

Mr. Moseley offered a tribute to Dr. Daugette, giving a brief review of his administration of more than forty years. "He was a real builder," Mr. Moseley said, "Starting with one building, he left many on the campus. He was not only builder of brick, stone and mortar but of personality. He gave inspiration to go on and upward. He built the enrollment from a mere handful of students to the largest teachers' college in the state." Mr. Moseley referred to Dr. Daugette as the "general" who had passed on, leaving in his place a "captain," trained under his direction; efficient and broad in vision.

President Cole Expresses Appreciation; Asks For Cooperation

President Cole also paid his respects to his predecessor, saying that one was always reminded of Dr. Daugette as he goes about the campus; the buildings which were erected during his administration will remain long after we (President Cole) had passed from the scene. The responsibilities of a college president are great, he said, and the exigencies of the war have increased them. The college has made a fine contribution to the state, Mr. Cole pointed out, and declared his intention to continue its record. He expressed appreciation to the college presidents, the faculty and alumni of Jacksonville, for their assistance and cooperation, and stated that this increased the feeling of humbleness, and his desire to give his best to the institution. He promised that the friendly spirit for which the school is known would be continued. He expressed appreciation for the fine attendance and evidence of interest.

Officers Elected To Arrange 1944 Breakfast

A. C. Shelton told of the intention of the college to adopt the policy of letting the alumni have charge of the breakfast in the future. He explained that a nominating committee had been appointed with Roy Albersson, of Gordo, as chairman, to select a ticket of officers and a Board of Control for the purpose of making plans for the 1944 breakfast.

The following were elected: Ernest Stone, Crossville, president; Paul Jones, Brookwood, vice-president; Mildred Marona, Gadsden, secretary; John Taff, Essemmer, treasurer. Members of the Board of Control chosen were: E. A. Van Pelt, Cherokee; Miss Louise Wright, Randolph; Mrs. Valanta McCormick, Marshall; Miss Iola Roberts, St. Clair; Fred Allen, Shelby; Charles Thompson, Coosa; J. E. Wright, Talladega; Patterson Hicks, Chilton; J. A. Pruett, Tallapoosa; P. S. Owens, Chambers; Miss Emmie Carpenter, Clay; Mrs. H. D. Nelson, Cleburne; Frank J. Little, Calhoun; W. F. Maynor, Blount; John E. Clements, Jefferson; W. E. Glazner, DeKalb, and W. G. Stephens, Etowah.

Many Present Among Alumni

Among the superintendents present, who are graduates of the college, were: J. M. Cannon, Athens County Schools; C. C. Moseley, Anniston City Schools; Dr. H. C. Pannell, Tuscaloosa City Schools and M. C. Whitten, Lee County Schools.

Among the high school principals were: J. R. Davis, Gadsden High School; E. H. Davis, Lanett High School; W. W. Elliott, Shelby County High School; B. B. Finley, Millerville; W. E. Glazner, Geraldine; H. L. Greer, Piedmont; Patterson Hicks, Chilton County High School; J. Floyd Jackson, Arab; Ernest R. King, Ider; N. F. Nunnally, Holt; Ernest Stone, Crossville; Charles W. Thompson, Coosa County High School; C. P. Nelson, Scottsboro; Roy T. Alverson, Gordo; J. T. Balch, Cedar Bluff.

Among other officials were: J. D. Samuels, supervisor Gadsden schools; Mrs. L. M. Lowery, president Alabama Congress of Parents and Teachers; Dr. A. R. Meadows, State Department of Education; E. E. Nash, U. S. Probation Officer; Miss Gladys Marona, supervisor school attendance of Etowah County and Paul Jones, Office of Price Administration.

The large number of others attending consisted of assistant superintendents, principals, classroom teachers, and students and faculty of the college.

(Editor's Note—Although cards were given to each one present to be filled in, only a part of them were handed in and if names of superintendents and principals were omitted, it is unintentional and unavoidable.)

step out.

Wonder what a bunch of college girls were looking for at Germania Springs Sunday afternoon.

Wonder when Irene Boozer is going to make up her mind as to her one and only.

Enell Avery really attracts the news boy! She certainly rates with the latest one, doesn't she?

Analogy of the week: As boring as the Morgan candy party. As crazy as the Morgan announcement in assembly Monday. As red as the Morgan's faces after the last society basketball game. As cocky as the Morgans are about the table tennis tournament.

James W. McDonald the hiking Romeo, "dooded" it again when he started Gayle and Tim to catching rides to town Sunday afternoon.

Vernon Whittle had a little accident the other night at Forney—his room got flooded.

"Father Agee" does a poor job bringing up the little fellows in his charge. "Kid" Deason, the cute little fellow that he is, still has a lot to learn. "Baby" Pyron has learned to talk well but seldom says the right thing. "Frenchie" Jones, however, seems to have grown up and at last is ready to leave his disgraceful family (the Morgans) behind and cast his lot with the U. S. Marines.

We hear that Frenchie Jones and John Deason are vying for the honor of being the biggest heart throb or Romeo in the Morgan Literary Society.

Edna Bailey seems to be getting pretty serious about her soldier friend—Edna, you aren't going to follow in Sara Nell's footsteps, are you?

It is rumored that Kittrell Agee is agitating for a Morgan meeting every night. After all, it is a mighty good way to see Hattie.

John Deason, Charles Pyron, and the other youthful Morgans are secret but nevertheless ardent admirers of Mary Rivers. Some day, these little fellows hope, they too might grow up to be a great M. L. S. debater. Some ambition! Ha.

Two young fellows of Forney Hall have been under a great strain for the past few days. Worried and distraught they have been. John Deason and Odie Gregg are their names and here is the reason for their plight. These fellows find they have much in common and want to live together. John, who has an abode on second floor, has invited Odie to move down with him. But Odie has become quite attached to his abode on third and believes that John should be the one to move. To settle the problem they are trying to persuade Doc Gary to build a room on the landing of the steps between floor number two and number three. Then the pride of neither will be injured.

GRAND FINALE

William Robert Grissom, erstwhile editor of the Teacola and "handsomest" of the many handsome Morgan men, is tearing his hair these days. "Ain't love grand" thought Romeo Grissom a few days ago, and away he went to his native land of Red Bay, Alabama, to spend a brief vacation. "Absence will make her heart grow fonder", Grissom told himself as he departed.

But what a shock, how distraught it left him when he returned to find the image (picture) of the object of his affection moved into another room of Forney Hall, and heard the story of how another fellow, Forney Hall product, had done him wrong.

Cheer up, my "grussom" pal, just remember, the best man always wins, and Hascal is a CALHOUN. Maybe if you could persuade the C. L. S. to take you in, you could get back into the competition.
