President Colle Attends School Administrators Meet

College To See Improvements

President Colle attended a regional meeting of the American Association of School Administrators in Atlantic City on the week end of February 11.

Leading educators from all over the South gathered to discuss problems concerning education in the South, such as illiteracy and juvenile delinquency.

Such national leaders as Dr. John W. Studebaker, United States Commissioner of Education, Dr. William G. Carr, secretary of the Education Policies Commission, and Brig. General Walter L. Weible, director of military training for the Army Service Forces, were present.

In his address, Dr. Studebaker spoke of plans for adult education by radio after the war. He declared that "the sky is the limit" of instruction which may be provided by radio. He stated that radio would be carried on by radio established by school systems, colleges, universities, and Departments of Education.

In a later address Dr. Studebaker urged that high schools give more attention to instruction in economics so that students will be prepared to understand such matters as international trade, tariffs, taxation, wages, etc.

Dr. Carr brought out the fact that statesmen have never given education its rightful place in the plans for peace, although tightly organized it could have added powerfully to their efforts. He proposed that organized education help to establish and maintain peace by three definite steps. (1) It is necessary to develop an informed and aroused public opinion with reference to the place of education in international organization. (2) It is necessary to carry the ideas throughout the world. (3) It is necessary to provide an education that is devoted to the betterment of the human condition.

These welcome improvements will make the college buildings and campus more beautiful than ever this summer.

Planning For City Subject Of Meeting

The people of Jacksonville gathered on the City Hall steps on Monday afternoon to hear Dr. G. C. Craig, Professor of the Teaching of Science at Columbia University, New York City, talk about the teaching of science in elementary schools and colleges.

Dr. Craig is an expert in the teaching of science to elementary schools, and he has written several books pertaining to science.

Before coming here, Dr. Craig visited the schools in Cherokee and Cullman Counties.

In the absence of Preston Hughes, president of the state organization, the sessions were presided over by Mrs. George Ferguson of Winnsboro, Director of the New Student Activity Building.

Mrs. Ferguson is a native of Winnsboro, and she is the first vice-president of the Methodist Student Organization. She is also the first vice-president of the Student Activity Building.

The key-note speaker for the conference, Dr. James Workman, addressed the students three times following the theme of the conference "Christian Students and the Unfinished Task," and preached for the people of the town at the Methodist Church on Sunday morning, January 29, and again at the Presbyterian Church that afternoon.

During the day the delegations' time was occupied with attending worship programs presented by the various college groups, attending classes taught by outstanding workers with youth in the different campuses, and with recreation led by Rev. Charles Guthrie of Birmingham.

The Junior Prom will be held Friday, March 10, in the J. B. T. C. gymnasium. For your bids see Braxton Tuts and Mary Me-Whetor.

NOTICE

The Spring Quarter will begin at Jacksonville State Teachers College Monday, March 13. Registration for classes will begin at eight o'clock on that day. Classes will begin at ten o'clock.

The Junior Prom will be held Friday, March 10, in the J. B. T. C. gymnasium. For your bids see Braxton Tuts and Mary Me-Whetor.

Yes, the Freshman Frolic was a big success with Cupid simply playing havoc and displaying evidence of his handiwork everywhere. The Valentine motif was repeated everywhere. The college officers thought Saint Valentine probably never realized what he started.

And, too, another certain group has really been making plans. Just what we haven't yet had a chance to discuss is a renewal of that great, old-time reunion. It is to be a fairly close contact with the masses, sometimes it's gym, and the trash can is only a matter of a few weeks, and until the next reunion. We've invited to say that there are wash basins all over building. We'll tell you, are we college students or aren't we?

Nothing is quite so exciting to us as the frills of our daily lives. The Freshman Frolic put forth its time and effort and displayed some splendid talent last Tuesday in providing us with a bit of diversion. And while on the subject of entertainment, we might note that the Senior Class must ever again display its various talents on the stage. Of course, not all of the students, but some of the best are being put on the stage. As we see it, the Senior Frolic, when it comes, will be a fairly close contact with the masses.

As we see it, one of the nicest and best formalized organizations is the Frolick. We haven't yet had a chance to discuss it, but we will see in time to come.

The clock ticks away until it is a matter of seconds until time for class, so we go dashing down the hall. But before we stop to grab a drink for a mere minute, we go to divest ourselves of our backs and sit down. We've been invited to say that there are wash basins all over the building. We'll tell you, are we college students or aren't we?

Planning For City Subject Of Meeting

The people of Jacksonville gathered at the Recreation Center Thursday, February 17, to discuss methods of beautifying the town.

The Freshman Frolic was held at the college gymnasium at eight o'clock. The gymnastics was attractively decorated in the Valentine motif.

The stage presented a large red heart trimmed with white paper lace covered the wall, and centered on it was the words, “The Freshman Frolic.” At the opposite end of the room stood a large white table, covered with a red cloth and covered with the words “The Freshman Frolic.”

The audience consisted of the students of the college, and all the other students present who were not engaged in the Frolic. The Frolic was a great success, and excellent, and several motions were made and carried immediately.

Members of the various local organizations told their work in the project, after which suggestions for beautification that had been made in a box in the lobby were read.

Representatives of the Wives, and the Army Nurses Corps recently visited the campus to make an appeal to the women students for recruits. Past President, Dr. Evie M. Washington, was introduced to the students present.

Dr. Craig explained that children can learn and understand science fairly simply. He pointed out that little equipment is needed for elementary science because there is all of the great outdoors to study. Dr. Craig took a group of Miss Kirlord's pupils at the laboratory school, Dr. Wood, Mr. Landers, Dr. Self, and several supervisors and supervisory teachers on an excursion. He pointed out some of the mysteries of nature and answered the questions of the pupils.

When the group returned from the field trip, Dr. Craig visited the classrooms of other pupils and was eager to receive. The pupils enjoyed their visit very much.

Dr. Wood verified a letter this week from Dr. Craig telling him of the enjoyable time that he had having his visit to our campus and to Alabama.

Fresmen Stage First Frolic

On Friday evening, February 21, the Freshman Frolic was held at the college gymnasium at eight o'clock.

The gymnastics was attractively decorated in the Valentine motif. On the stage behind the orchestra a large red heart trimmed with white paper lace covered the wall, and centered on it was the words, “The Freshman Frolic.” At the opposite end of the room stood a large eight-foot table, covered with a red cloth and covered with the words “The Freshman Frolic.”

The audience consisted of the students of the college, and all the other students present who were not engaged in the Frolic. The Frolic was a great success, and excellent, and several motions were made and carried immediately.

Members of the various local organizations told their work in the project, after which suggestions for beautification that had been made in a box in the lobby were read.

Mr. M. F. S., have had a day off, we go down upon the most surprising assumption of the evidence of human nature that ever was seen. Sometimes it's gym, and the trash can is only a matter of a few weeks, and until the next reunion. We've invited to say that there are wash basins all over the building. We'll tell you, are we college students or aren't we?

Prof. Quizzed At Assembly

On January 25, 1944, assembly was called to order and Margaret Weaver read the minutes. The announcements were made, and Fran-cus Weaver introduced our own Bob Hope, Bushy, Dr. Bruce as our master of ceremonies for the program. “Take your life Is” was the first program of the day. Mr. Bruce dismissed the commercial at the finish of the program, and presented his chum of Dribble’s Bubble Gum.

The contest was open to all students, and attracted a great deal of interest. Many students found the contest interesting, and expressed their desire to participate in the next assembly.

President Speaks At Many Places

During the past few months President Cole has filled many important positions. As we write, he is very busy with his duties at the college, and has found the time to address many groups. He has been able to receive the invitations he has received.

In the past few months he has spoken to many groups, including the Rotary Club of Oxford, the Rotary Club of Anniston, and the Methodist Church. WASHINGTON

Today, as Americans have done on the same date for many years, we celebrated the birthday of the father of our country, for on February 22, 1732, George Washington was born. George Washington was not only the father of our country, but also a man of many accomplishments in private as well as public life.

Washington was a master of everything he undertook for this reason: he labored conscientiously at everything he took up, and continued striving until he had realized the desired results. One of his greatest ambitions was to have land, for he knew this was impossible, he strived for mastery of knowledge where he was and with what he had. From this characteristic we can draw a comparison with our own lives. Do we always make the most of our opportunities? His life should be a challenge to us to take what we have and make the very

BOOK REVIEW

By L. J. Henrie

Mr. Fowler, with the perfection of style for which he is known, gives us a story of the great American author, John Barrymore, who was to Fowler what Hamlet was to Shakespeare. The story is based on several incidents in Barrymore’s life, and is told in the form of a conversation between a great actor and a great playwright. In the London Times, it is said that Mr. Fowler has done a magnificent job in making the great American actor the center of his story. The book is well written and will be enjoyed by all who know and love John Barrymore.

Ye Olde Gossip

Boy, you kids really did some gossiping this month, and, for an opener we heard that GRACE SHARPE complained one Sunday because “Her Coffee” lasted only from 11:00 a.m. to 10:00 p.m. —PERK COFFEE has been literally bowing down since her little lost her job. Not, too, but we hear they’re col- leges are near. But the most interesting thing was the mind of March held for BERNICE WILSON, and who is this JEFF MORLEY that has entered LUCY CARLETON’S life.

Did you hear that: ALEEN HANSON and EVELYN WALL do write the cutest poems for Mrs. DILLY; MARY HELEN ROLLINS alway watches the mule closely for letters postmarked in Georgia; SANDY NELLS has a “Paper Doll” —the Charles Boyer type; JACE gets mail in care of FLO- RINE COOK at Daugtette Hall; EMMA LEE CRYER likes false teeth; CAPITOLA has chosen the Navy as her special branch of the service; ELINOR BANKS has had three proposals; WAYNE FINLEY’s face was red when he discovered that he had carried not only EVELYN’s book to Weather- ley Hall, but also CLYDE’S.

MURDEROUS MARY; who’s the victim at present? Everyone has lost track—What, oh what has happened to SPOOKS and lovers—Don’t you tell us “DAVY” rated at the dance Friday night—By the way, WINNIE, is one corre- lated better than another, or is it the A-Model? GEE! LILLITH MOORE really has the pictures in her room. Not one in uniform, or is she?

Can’t believe that she sent an angel at the Rec the other night. No one gets the heaven now, and CAPTIVA—VAIRGINIA WHITSEIDE is visiting her husband in California, and is surely being missed by all of her Apartment friends.

BILLY F: “Why do you eat gum powder, FLOSSIE?”

FLOSSIE J: “So my hair will come out in bangs.”

Set Sail On Sea Voyage at Prom

The Junior Class announces plans for the annual Junior Prom to be held Friday, March 10, in the gym, that are new and different.

The whole gym will be decorated in an ocean liner theme, and the floor will be roped off in the shape of a ship by ropes attached to chrome poles. Dancers will go aboard the “Dreamboat” by means of a gangplank, and once aboard will dance to the theme song, “When My Dreamboat Comes Home.”

Flags of the United States services and the United States flag will be displayed. High on a lookout tower, or “Crow’s nest,” a little sailor will change the cards announcing the dance numbers.

The trip on the “Dreamboat” will be around the world and songs that will be sung will be from all the songs of the ocean. Misses will be dressed in sailboat theme.

To lead Prom

Mills Annie Carter, attractive daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. O. Carter of Birmingham, will lead the Junior Prom Friday night, March 10, with Brackett Taliaferro, Frayville, president of the class. Miss Carter is a junior at Birmingham-Southern, and is there majoring in music. She is a member of the Theta Sorority and several music clubs in the city.

PARTY GIVEN FOR DAUGHTER

Mrs. H. B. Mock, a group of close friends of her daughter Carolanne Friday evening, February 3, at a delightful buffet supper announcing Miss Mock's engagement to Lt. Walter S. Robinson of LaGrange-Macon Air Base, N. C., and Christelte, N. C.

The reception rooms were decorated with jasmine, bamboo-striped and greenery, and cherry blossom in the living room and dining rooms. The dining table bore a large heart with the couple's initials.

No Corsegue Is The Rule

Loud and long was the howl raised over the campus a few weeks ago when the Social Committee came forth with a new ruling. That ruling was made concerning corsegue and was that Corsegue will not be permitted at the quarterly formal dance.

Oddly enough, the chief complaint was the women who have put out to dance and get some of the thrill of opening an enchanting telephone capsule. Why their lamentations were heard is hard to explain, unless for the reason that certain one girls are on the whole subject, only saying that they wouldn’t mind being without flowers, wedding and other flowers also were a failure.

From a few sources come the voices of anarchy declaring that the Social Committee had no right to “tell who could do what.” It is the duty of the constituents to decide what is the wise thing to do in an emergency situation such as here. So it may be left to your own discretion as to whether the group has the right to ban flowers.

Questioning the Social Committee upon the new ruling, your reporter heard several responses given for the restriction. First, it is war time and money and thus a benefit for those more beneficial way than in buying flowers—for one lone mouth. Second, flowers are hard to get, especially for the boys at the front. Lastly, some of the groups had an idea. Third, the school all over the nation are banning corsegue for the second reason.

It was a hard rule for the committee to make. However, it has been thought the members passed it. It's a rule now, and the boy to do it and follow the ground.

BUSTLEING FROM THE DANCE HALL

The greatest recent event that got Dunnette Hall all flustered was the senior promenade. The music was good, the decorations were lovely, and everyone was a wonder of beauty. Of course, one of the seniors from Dunnette got their promenade and danced the hour away. It is their wish that it was made an annual affair.

The banquets and Calahomes must have really emerged from their dorms. One of them has been a kind of mud-slinging uptake of the other day.

We are all awfully proud of these.

Dinner Hour is Deason, Pyron

The Sophomore class held a banquet on Tuesday, February 10, in the Education Building of the Methodist Church. Miss Maude Litle of a toast mistress for the event, which was a farewell party for John Deason, class president, who will now leave for service in the Naval Air Corps.

A color motif of navy blue and white was used, with streamers, flags and citrus, and place cards of those colors throughout the hall.

Miss Litlelurnp, after a brief re- markable speech, introduced those who were on the program. A trio of L. Pond, was be to “A Wild Rose,” by MacDowell, and Sara Neil Stockdale sang “Shoo, Shoo, Baby.”

Jenne Landers acted as class chairman, and a testimonial of all the seniors was given. An ope- nope from the John Deason, class president, and a toast mistress, sang the song, “Rag Doll.”

The group was followed by the trio, Martin Coffee played the piano, who called, “To A Wild Rose,” by MacDowell, and Sara Neil Stockdale sang “Shoo, Shoo, Baby.”

Leading Frosh Frollic

NATIONAL COAL AND COKE COMPANY

Coal - Coke

Miss Mary Katherine Barker, of Springville, is shown as she stepped through the large red heart to meet her partner, Sergeant Bill McCune, during the closing of the recent Freshman Frolic.

Miss Barker, president of the freshman class, led the colorful Valentine dance. She is an outstanding student on the campus, is president of the R. C. G., and a member of the Teasdale and other campus organizations.

Lea Stroh, former Miss Ocean City, is shown as she posed after being crowned Miss Florida. She was one of the many visitors to the Frolic.

At the conclusion of the Frolic, the dance floor was crowded with students and guests.

Miss Barker, who has held many positions on the campus, is now preparing for her senior year.

Weeks have merged into months and months into years since we first made the acquaintance of Laura; yet, for some reason, in all our studies and social activities, she has always been a pleasant and cheerful companion.

During the Frolic, Miss Barker was crowned with a crown of roses by the Frolic committee.

The Frolic committee consisted of Miss Barker, Miss Mary Jones, Miss Jeanne Thompson, and Miss Elizabeth Brown.

The Frolic was held at the college auditorium and was sponsored by the Freshman class.

The Frolic was a great success, and the students are eagerly looking forward to the next one.

Miss Barker has been planning to continue her studies at the university after graduation.

She is a member of the Beta Gamma Sigma fraternity and is actively involved in campus activities.

The Frolic was a great success, and the students are eagerly looking forward to the next one.

The Frolic was held at the college auditorium and was sponsored by the Freshman class.

Dobbs, Dillon and Bush Win School Prizes

Prizes were recently awarded to Miss Dillie Gunter, Miss Faith, and Mrs. Gun- ter, and Miss Fanny Bush, supervi- sors of the Junior Class, for the three winners in a contest participated in by the whole ele- mentary school. The judges of this contest would improve the most greatly in spelling and grammar. The first prize would go to Mrs. Gun- ter, the second prize to Miss Gun- ter, and the third prize to Miss Bush.

Each room of the entire school was painted and furnished, and the extra earnings of some of the rooms were in- vested in new equipment. The judges were very pleased with the improvements made.

A group of students made up a contest to see which room would have the best presentation. The judges were very impressed with the results.

PROFIT QUIZED

Dr. Mick asked books and char- acters, and made his $400.00.

Mrs. Coffee came forth and chose classical music. Miss Butterly played some tunes, and Mrs. Coffees identified them, earning a $400.00.

Mrs. Coffee gave $400.00 for her music and made her $400.00.

The round and round Jacksonville, the South, and the United States was played. The players were enthusiastic.

Mr. O'Connor explained that, contrary to the mythology of the United States, the United States is not being played on the coast for a purpose of giving aid and tak- ing away the food from the enemies of the United States.

Mr. O'Connor explained that the American people have a great deal of interest in the United States.

Mr. O'Connor considers the Ameri- can women the most fortunate women in the world, for the United States of America gives all opportunities to all, men and women.

"Our America," said Mr. O'Connor, "is a land of the free and home of the brave. We are proud to be able to enjoy this land, now that we are free of the threat of a foreign power."
