CAP Students Learn Flying In Link Trainer

Fall, winter, and spring, have repeated themselves again in rapid succession. Blustery February snows have fallen, March winds have blown, April showers have showered and May flowers have bloomed, and here we are in the middle of the sultry month of June and the good old summer time. The local kids have discarded their books and their shoes and are really having a hilarious summer vacation.

The old swimmin' hole in the pasture stays muddy all the time these days, and it stays so full of paddling, kicking, suitless swimmers that the bull frogs sit on the bank and gaze wonderingly at the various shapes and figures of the excited splashers.

Yes, siree, things are really looking up. It is proud we are to see someone finally getting up in this world. In case anyone is interested and is wondering what we speak of we shall let him in on the secret. We speak of the so-called Veterans' "Co-op" grocery store, which has opened its doors over on the old campus between Forney and Weatherly halls. The purpose of this store to try to cut prices on groceries so as to help the veterans survive from one month to the next on their measly ninety bucks. Veterans, it is in your interest that this plan was instigated in the first place, and it will be in your interest that the store is opened; so let's see if we can't all find out what we can do to help and start helping. Let's make the store a big success; we can certainly profit by its benefits.

To the seniors, those who graduated and have gone away, and those who are still here, we give our thanks for a swell Senior Ball. Much difficulty was encountered in securing a band for the Ball, but we don't think a better one than Dean Hudson's

Note: The following article was written by Leo Hayes, experienced in the instruction and maintenance of instruments and engines, and one of the most valued officers of the Civil Air Patrol.

The future flying aces of Jacksonville's CAP Squadron are now learning instrument and blind flying in a machine called the "Link Trainer." This device is a miniature aeroplane incorporating all the instruments essential to blind flying and simulating actual flying conditions. The "Link" responds to control manipulation the same as a P-80 Shooting Star would 5000 feet aloft.

Recently secured from the Army Air Forces for the use of the aeronautics class by CAP Squadron Commander Branscomb, the Link Trainer is restricted to instrument instruction for those flight students who have flown solo, of whom there are now sixteen. Experienced and competent ex-A. A. F. pilots and instructors, headed by John Morrow as chief training officer, are teaching the course and maintaining the machine. The instructor, seated at a control desk, directs the activities of the student in the "Link" by means of a two-way radio. The student is able to go through all the maneuvers possible in an airplane, operating under a hood and using instruments entirely, and his course is traced on a map attached to the control desk.

Eddie Rickenbacker, Hap Arnold, and Jimmie Doolittle learned to fly the hard way—yes, these pioneers of aviation literally "flew by the seat of their pants." Directional gyros, bank-and-turn indicators, altimeters, and air speed indicators were instruments dreamed of by the pre-World War I pilots.

Flights in those days were limited to good flying weather, and piloting a ship through an overcast was done only as a last resort. Blind flying was a dangerous task. Modern aviation has taken the guesswork out of blind flying. Today take-off and landings during ceiling zero are not only feats performed during an emergency or by some rookie ignorant of the dangers of the elements, but are everyday occurrences. The elements have been conquered to this extent by the scientists of aviation.

Modern flight instruments indicate every position of the airplane in flight. Flights by army pilots into the eye of a hurricane prove the value of these gyroscopic instruments. Data for the plotting of tropical disturbances have been obtained by these flights. Weather forecasting, in turn, has been more efficient and cities in the paths of hurricanes are warned several days prior to the time of the arrival of the strongest blows.

Pilots who fly by instruments get practice on the ground with the delicately made device known as the "Link Trainer", and students at Jacksonville are very fortunate to have one of these machines as part of their aeronautical equipment.

"Frisky Freshmen Night" Is Sponsored By Upper Classmen

Frisky Freshman Night, sponsored by the upper classmen of Abercrombie Hall for the freshmen of that dormitory on June 10, was a great success. Over two hundred and fifty boys and girls from Weatherly, Forney, and Abercrombie halls gathered at the side entrance at 7:30 for the program.

Joy Burnette, chairman of the activities of the party, presented President Cole, who gave a short welcome address to the freshmen.

The program consisted of: "Somewhere in the Night" by Richard Carter, with Otis Stapp, Hazel Stamps, and Nancy Keith as the "girls in the night"; "Let the Rest of the World Go By" by a chorus of eight upperclassmen—Jennie Vick, Dixie Finley, Sarah Jones, Mary Seale Browning, Charlie Jean Payne, Eunice Haynes, Elaine Blake, and Allene Evers; a hula dance by Hazel Stamps, Otis Stapp, Frances Faulkner, and Betty Burrow—all in typical Hawaiian costumes; "Till We Meet Again" by the chorus; and "Mam'selle" by Dick Carter.

After the program and during the dance which followed, punch and cookies were served.

Many of the large number who were present took part in the regular dancing, which was interspersed occasionally with rounds of old-fashioned square dancing.

Chaperones for the evening were Mrs. Rowan and Mrs. Stapp.

Alpha Sigma Nu Fraternity Gives Musical Program

A concert of American music was presented by the local chapter of the Alpha Sigma Nu on Wednesday, May 21. The program was a variety program and complied with the national rule that each year a concert devoted entirely to American music be presented. One of the aims of the organization is to use the talent of its members in presenting original compositions and arrangements. Mr. J. E. Duncan's composition "Prelude in B Flat" was well presented by the Trumpet Quartet. Alfred Jones has already distinguished himself in helping to arrange music for different programs. His arrangement of Kenton's "Opus in Pastels" was presented by the Sax Quintet.

The remainder of the program included:

The Bill Board March, Klor; Officer of the Day, March, Hall, Fraternity Concert Band, J. E. Duncan, director; The Star, Rogers, James Jordan; Carry Me Back to Old Virginia, Bland, Fraternity Quartet—Hugh Selman.

Dining Room Is Opened June 1

The first meal was served in the new dining room last spring at a Rotary Club banquet; however, the official opening was held on Sunday night, June 1, when Dean Wood gave a short address on the social values of the new dining room.

The old method of serving lines has been discarded and girls serve the individuals at the tables. A smaller room has been prepared for the purpose of entertaining off-campus guests.

This dining room is now accommodating only the two girls' dormitories, Daugette and Abercrombie, but in the fall it will serve the new boys' dormitories in addition to the two now using it.

The retiring dietitian, Mrs. L. J. Hendrix, will remain on for a few days to get things in order.

She is planning to continue to make her home in Jacksonville at 808 North Pelham. Among the things she would like to do are to go to the Presbyterian Church at least occasionally, catch up with some reading of current literature, help to organize a North D.

We can't all find out what we can do to help and start helping. Let's make the store a big success; we can certainly profit by its benefits.

To the seniors, those who graduated and have gone away, and those who are still here, we give our thanks for a swell Senior Ball. Much difficulty was encountered in securing a band for the Ball, but we don't think a better one than Dean Hudson's could have been had. To the seniors who graduated and left us, if any should by chance read this humble column, we wish to say that we are sorry you've left us; we surely miss you. Thanks a lot for all you've done. Lots of luck to you and be comin' back to see us. If'n can't come—Write!

The newest, and we think the finest and most up-to-date, club on our campus to day is the Solo Club. This club was organized by Miss Branscomb and her very efficient aeronautics students. The Club's members include those aeronautics students who have taken their flight training and have, alone and unassisted, soared from the earth in an airplane. If you see some guy wandering around the halls wearing enormous silver wings, a flying helmet and his shirt tail hanging out with half of it sheered off, and if he acts half nutty—go easy with him. Chances are that he is being initiated into the Solo Club.

We take this opportunity to give you a little clue as to the funniest sight on the campus and to direct you to where you can see this clownish spectacle. If you haven't seen our old friend Homer Whitlock do his version of the back flip from the diving board into the local swimming pool, then you have missed the thrill of your life. And Homer is only one of many comedians around the pool. When you have an afternoon off and want to split your sides with laughter, go by the swimming pool and watch the comical clowning of the campus characters.

Our old friend Neil Harris has dropped out of school for a while and has been admitted to the Veterans Hospital at Montgomery. We are sincerely sorry you had to go, Neil, but hurry and get well so that you can join us again soon. We all miss you, Buddy.

To you new members of our student body and to the new members of the faculty we extend a cordial welcome and in our way, though humble it may be, we say, "Howdy, Friend. We are glad to have you with us."

Four New Teachers Are Added To JSTC Faculty

Miss Cecilia Cumbee

Increased enrollment has made the addition of four new teachers to the JSTC faculty during the summer quarter a necessity. Each has had excellent training and experience in the field in which he now teaches. They are Miss Cecilia Cumbee, Mr. Harvey A. Bridges, Mr. Newbern Bush and Miss Joyce Benford. (A cut of Miss Benford was not available.)

Miss Cecilia Cumbee from Stroud, Alabama, has joined the English faculty during the absence of Dr. Calvert this summer. Because of the necessity for expanding the physics and chemistry departments in Bibb Graves Hall, Miss Cumbee's classes are being held in the Physical Education Building. She is a graduate of Alabama College in Montevallo, and holds an M. A. from the University of Alabama. She has done further graduate work at the U. of California. One of the unusual things about Miss Cumbee is that she majored in history with a minor in French, but she has always taught English. When questioned concerning this inconsistency she explained that her first job was teaching English and that she enjoyed it so much that she had continued in that field. She plans to teach in Hartford, Alabama, this winter.

This is Miss Cumbee's first visit to Jacksonville, and she stated that she was very much impressed by the beauty of the college campus. She commented favorably about the good food and warm hospitality at Weatherly Hall.

Harvey A. Bridges

Herman D. Alexander, Joe Allgood, Kathryn Casey, David Edwards, Charles Formby, James Gossett, Nelle Gray, Ruth Hand, George Hendrix, Franklin Minton, Valeria Parker, Thomas F. Santich, Piedmont.

Betty Cox, Sarah Cox, Louise Eiland, Frances Love, Ashville; John M. Albea, Mrs. John Albea, Jackson Emerson, Spring Garden; Miriam K. Baggett, Herbert Dick, Sara Hardegree, W. Z. Hassell, Frank Owens, Raiford Tomlin, Jack Willis, Ashland; Bruce Blake, Dorothy Blake, Annie Lee Jones, Charlie Jean Payne, Heflin; William Borden, D. W. Bryant, Dorothy McCullars, John M. Martin, Margaret Truitt, Chatchee; Robert H. Cox, Johnnie Dilbeck, Peggy N. Johnson, Fred Moultrie, Albertville; Harold E. Clark, Robert Jones, John Murrell, Jr., Munford; Anthony Daniel, Lois M. Jobe, Johnny M. Long, Guntersville; Opal Adair, Buffalo; John J. Atkins, Robert Slay, Talladega; Martha Sue Eoyd, Wayne Finley, Millerville; James H. then went to the faculty of Central High in Fayetteville for nine years.

Mr. Bridges says that he has enjoyed very much his work here and the pleasant association with the student body.

Mr. Newbern W. Bush of Oakman, Alabama, is a permanent new addition to the mathematics department faculty. Mr. Bush attended high school in Jefferson County, and received his B. S. degree in education at Jacksonville State Teachers College in 1936. He taught briefly in Jacksonville afterwards and received a master of science degree in engineering mathematics at Auburn in 1940.

Beginning in 1940, Mr. Bush spent some five and one-half years in the army. He spent eighteen months as an enlisted man, and was commissioned at the Fort Benning Officer Candidate School in 1942. He spent thirty three months in the Pacific theatre and participated in the campaigns for the Marshall Islands, New Guinea, Leyte, and Luzon. He received the bronze star for bravery in action during the Luzon campaign, and was among the first troops in Japan. Mr. Bush received a combat promotion from captain to major and he remarked that he was the only officer in his company who survived the first three hours of his first combat experience.

Prior to joining the faculty here Mr. Bush was serving on the faculty at Auburn, but he stated that he was happy to be back at his alma mater.

Newbern W. Bush

Mr. Harvey A. Bridges is in charge of the department of physics and chemistry while Mr. Gary is taking the summer off. Mr. Bridges' home is in Louisville, Ky., where he has been teaching for the past twelve years. After graduating from the high school in Fayetteville, Tenn., Mr. Bridges attended Bryson College in the same city for three years. He then received a bachelor of science degree in chemistry at Peabody, and later a master of arts degree in biology with a minor in chemistry at the same institution. After completing his education, Mr. Bridges taught for one year in Largo, Florida, and range music for different programs. His arrangement of Kenton's "Opus in Pastels" was presented by the Sax Quintet.

The remainder of the program included:

The Bill Board March, Kiohr; Officer of the Day, March, Hall, Fraternity Concert Band, J. E. Duncan, director; The Star, Rogers, James Jordan; Carry Me Back to Old Virginia, Bland, Fraternity Quartet—Hugh Selman, Gene Barnes, Tom Arrington, James Jordan; Old Man River, Kern, Tom Arrington; Prelude in B Flat, J. E. Duncan, Trumpet Quartet—Johnny Long, Tom Curry, Rhonald Cagle, Jack Gurley; Repartee, Bennet, Mr. Walter Mason, pianist, and band; Opus in Pastels, Kenton, Sax Quintet—Jack Gurley, James Simpson, Julian Stephens, Gene Holley, Baskin Landers, arranged by Alfred Jones; Star Dust, Carmichael; A String of Pearls, Miller, Jimmy Simpson and his orchestra; Meditation Serieuse, Op. 243, Bartlett, Mr. Walter Mason, organist; Finale, The Star Spangled Banner, Key, Alpha Sigma Nu Fraternity.

The Fraternity feels that it is the embryo of a live organization that will aid all of its members in its purpose of furthering the appreciation of American music in the hearts of the people of this vicinity.

Joyce Benford

One of the popular and already well-known additions to the faculty for the summer session is Miss Joyce Benford of Albertville, Alabama. Miss Benford is a member of the physical education staff and is directing classes in swimming, badminton, and ballroom and folk dancing.

After graduating from Albertville High School, Miss Benford attended Snead Junior College in Boaz. From Snead, she went to Auburn, where she graduated in 1944 with a major in physical education. For the past three years she has been employed in the Albertville school system.

Miss Benford stated, without hesitation, that her favorite summer-time sport is swimming, but as the weather grows colder she is partial to dancing. She declined to commit herself on future plans.

in addition to the two now using it.

The retiring dietitian, Mrs. L. J. Hendrix, will remain on for a few days to get things in order.

She is planning to continue to make her home in Jacksonville at 808 North Pelham. Among the things she would like to do are to go to the Presbyterian Church at least occasionally, catch up with some reading of current literature, help to organize a North Pelham Garden Club, and, last but not least, to regain her sense of humor.

Miss Ada Bounds, the new dietitian, comes to us from the University of Alabama. She will make Jacksonville her home while working with the college.

MORNING WATCH IS SPONSORED BY BSU

Some of the students have been wondering why they hear music in the assembly room at Bibb Graves Hall on Monday through Friday from 8:20 to 8:30 A. M. Here is the explanation: Since the latter part of the spring quarter the Baptist Student Union has been sponsoring a devotional period, Morning Watch, which consists of a song, a thought for the day, and a prayer.

In two weeks the attendance increased from nine to seventy.

Members of other denominations have been assisting the B. S. U. with the programs.

All faculty members and college students are welcome and are urged to attend every morning. Those attending find that this ten-minute service is enjoyable and inspirational.

AVIATION EXHIBIT TO BE HELD ON JUNE 30

The Solo Club and Civil Air Patrol Squadron of Jacksonville will present an air exhibit on Monday, June 30, and wish to invite everyone to come and inspect the latest additions in equipment to the school's aeronautical program.

The exhibit will be held in the Aeronautics Room, No. 17, formerly the French dining room. William Bennett, president of the Solo Club, and one of C. A. P.'s most active and enthusiastic members, is in charge of arrangements for this exhibit. Many interesting items will be displayed, including a demonstration of the new Link instrument flight trainer, recently secured from the Army Air Forces.

The exhibit will be open all day and members of the aeronautics group will be on duty to explain some of the interesting features. For those who so desire, a guide will escort them to the basic training plane located on the

Pops Concert Will Be Given June 30

Walter A. Mason, head of the Department of Fine Arts, has announced that a Summer "Pops" Concert will be given at the State Teachers College on the evening of June 30 at 8 o'clock in Graves Hall. The artists will be Jack and Catherine O'Neill of Birmingham.

Jack O'Neill, pianist, is a graduate of the New England Conservatory in Boston, and has had wide experience in the concert and radio fields in the eastern and southern states. He is noted for his interpretations of Chopin and for his brilliant technique.

Catherine O'Neill, soprano, is a graduate of Maryville College and studied with Gergano of the Italian LaScala Opera Co., in New Orleans. She sang with the New Orleans Opera Co., being featured in such roles as Cio-Cio San in "Madame Butterfly", Mimmi in "La Boheme", the "Chocolate Soldier", Gilbert and Sullivan operas and other musical productions. She was winner of the vocal contest of the American Federation of Music Clubs for the South in 1938, representing Dixie at the national contest. At present she is director of glee clubs in the Jefferson County schools, and is director of the South Highland Presbyterian choir.

"Pops" concerts originated in Boston and became popular because of their informality. This concert will be of that type and music on the lighter side will be played by Mr. O'Neill.

NEW SGA OFFICERS ARE INSTALLED

On Tuesday, June 10, the new student council officers were installed by Dr. R. P. Felgar, faculty adviser. They are: Clarence Chastain, Anniston, president; Locklyn Hubbard, Alpine, vice-president; Frances Horton, Alabama City, secretary; Jay Baggett, Ranburne, treasurer.

The new president and vice-president made brief acceptance speeches, in which they expressed their appreciation to the students and promised the best possible administration.

Retiring officers include: John Spurlock, Gadsden, president; Robert Cox, Guntersville, vice-president; Marzell Culberson, Sylacauga, secretary; Locklyn Hubbard, Alpine, treasurer.

July 4 Holiday?

Students have made queries as to whether we are going to be fortunate enough to be given a short holiday from school in celebration of July 4. The day is a symbol of independence and well might offer a bit of freedom before the long, hard grind of the last six weeks in the quarter, when we shall be in the class room six days a week.

Since we are students, it's no task at all to enumerate many good reasons for this holiday. One point to be stressed is that the day should be remembered and celebrated just as happily as it was in the years following 1776, when our forefathers could sing of the freedom they had fought for and won. It is a nationally recognized holiday for this nation of freedom-loving people.

It seems that faculty members, as well as students, would welcome the words "No school today." There would be an opportunity to put away books and thoughts of examination for a week-end. On the return to school, we would feel more like dusting the desk tops and energetically tackling our respective courses of study again.

Many parents get their vacation at this time and would be allowed time for fun with the college daughter or son—if we have a holiday at school. How many parents and children wouldn't greet this idea with enthusiasm? Oh, there are so many reasons for the holiday. Perhaps if we dream long enough of homecoming parties at the churches in different communities, of the fishing parties for young and old alike, of the chance just to rest and read and gaze into the distance—the dream will become reality!

"Goodbye. See you Sunday when we are back in school. Have fun and give my regards to your parents."

Princeton, N. J.—(I.P.)—Princeton University will undertake a systematic analysis of student development and educational procedures, according to an announcement by Dr. Harold W. Dodds, president of the University. The study, believed to be unique in the field of higher education, is made possible by a grant of $200,000 from the Carnegie Corporation of New York. It is estimated that it will require at least five years to complete.

The objective of the project, according to the announcement, is "the systematic and critical examination of residential university life, including both instructional programs and extra-curricular activities, to determine, as far as may prove possible, their results measured by the intellectual, moral and physical development of the students."

"The truth is," he continued,

A mad scramble was made for staff members, beds and classroom space, and while the crisis was met partially, stories of inadequate living quarters, textbook shortages and crowded classrooms are common, he declared.

Lauding the veterans, the president called them "a grand group of young men who are making the best of conditions that would not be tolerated before the war." veterans have found it necessary to postpone their educational work because college housing projects will not be ready for students until September, 1947.

President West especially was alarmed by the fact that larger institutions-raided staffs of smaller and weaker educational institutions, such as high schools, and so on down.

Editorial Writer Speaks To Graduation Class

Mr. McClellan Van der Veer, chief editorial writer for the Birmingham News-Age-Herald, addressed the 1947 graduating class at the graduation exercises in the Recreation Hall on June 25.

President Cole introduced Mr. Van der Veer as a scholar, a liberal thinker and a writer of note. He was chosen from the press and radio field instead of the fields of business and education.

The people themselves must determine whether or not there is to be peace, joy, and freedom in the present era.

In conclusion he said, "If you want to know what kind of world you will have, look into your own hearts and minds. How clear are your minds? How resolute are you in your spirit? These are the things which will determine the way your world will go."

Degrees were conferred on the fifty-two candidates at the end of his address.

ART EXHIBIT MOVED TO ANNISTON FOR DISPLAY

The paintings of Miss Huger's art students, which were on display in the college library for two weeks, were taken to the Carnegie Library in Anniston on June 9, where they will be on display until June 30.

The talent shown in the original paintings of the beginning students has attracted widespread attention.

Vets' Corner

The Veteran's personality this month is Bill Hamilton, vice-president of the Vets Club.

Bill left JSTC to enter the Navy in July, 1943. He finished his "boot" training and was line crewman at Atlanta, Ga., for one year. While serving as line crewman, he qualified for V-12 officer training and was transferred to Emory University. He finished V-12 training at Fort Schuyler, New York, where he received his commission as ensign.

Ensign Hamilton left the United States aboard the battleship U. S. S. Indiana as Maintenance and Repair Officer. After sailing in the South Pacific, the Indiana came to port at San Francisco.

Hamilton, upon reaching the west coast, was sent aboard the L. C. S. 94 as engineering officer to help de-commission her.

When the L. C. S. was anchored in dry-dock, he was sent to New Orleans to be discharged.

Bill re-entered JSTC the fall quarter of '46 and will receive his degree at the end of this quarter.

His next residence will be in Sylacauga as coach and teacher at the high school.

CO-OP STORE IS ORGANIZED BY COLLEGE VETERANS

About twenty married vets who were interested in having a Vets' Co-operation grocery store met in May, discussed methods of setting up a co-op, and appointed a committee of four to go to Auburn and investigate the co-op store there. A week later another meeting was held, and ten men volunteered to take complete charge of the task of operating the store.

Two rooms of the building by Weatherly Hall were given for the store, and the committee began work immediately, converting the rooms into a grocery store.

By June 10, the store was ready to stock. Membership money was collected, other vets were asked to join, and the store was opened June 18, with Frank C. Owens as temporary president.

Single vets may buy cigarettes, soap, razor blades and other small articles without being a member of the co-op.

BUREN HANSON RECEIVES BRONZE STAR MEDAL

Buren Hanson, 28, former aviation ordnanceman, first class, USN, Wedowee, has been awarded the Bronze Star medal. Eighth Naval District headquarters here has announced.

Hanson, who is now attending Jacksonville State Teachers College, is a veteran of 39 months of overseas service. He served on board the aircraft carriers USS RANGER, USS WASP and USS YORKTOWN.

He was awarded the Bronze Star for heroic conduct while serving in a thirty-man detachment of the second column, Commando Army, in action against Japanese forces in China on July 6, 1945.

Citation for the award, signed by Secretary of the Navy James Forrestal, said that while being attacked by a numerically superior enemy force at a road crossing in enemy-held territory, Hanson assisted in carrying out a successful counterattack to kill nine of the enemy, destroy two vehicles and drive off the remaining hostile force.

"His courage and devotion to duty in the face of tremendous odds were in keeping with the highest traditions of the United States Naval Service," the citation concluded.

A graduate of Lineville high school, Hanson enlisted in the Navy on May 15, 1940. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Hanson of Wedowee. His wife is Mrs. Kathryn Yates Hanson.

years to complete.

The objective of the project, according to the announcement, is "the systematic and critical examination of residential university life, including both instructional programs and extra-curricular activities, to determine, as far as may prove possible, their results measured by the intellectual, moral and physical development of the students."

"The truth is," he continued, "that we have not applied the tools of our trade to testing the results of our educational efforts. We have not applied our own methods to ourselves in spite of the fact that procedures have been developed in the fields of statistical analysis and the social studies which are now being extensively used to attack analogous problems in government, industry and commerce, and which hold out similar promise for education. Higher education is one of the few fields in which no substantial effort has been made to analyze factually its own materials, procedures and product."

The opening phase of the long study will begin with statistical analyses of existing university records of a student's standing at entrance, his scholastic aptitude rating and his academic performance and extra-curricular participating with a view to ascertaining their inter-relation, if any.

President Dodds emphasized that the project is "an experiment in self-appraisal" and "not a proposal for the reformation of teaching methods or of academic policy." Instead, it is a project, he said, "to discover the facts needed for the intelligent consideration of problems of policy."

President Dodds said he expected that over a period of time the project would have significance for the entire field of college education. "At a minimum," he observed, "it can substitute ascertained fact for opinion in some crucial areas. At a maximum, it may open up new educational horizons through greater self-knowledge as to those elements of our program which are failing and those which are successful, and why."

Campus Personality

Few people today have the courage to say "I don't agree with you" or "No, I won't" or "You're absolutely right." Most of us shy away by agreeing or by merely keeping silent while some major issue is being discussed, but not Jackie Cobb. She has her own set of ideas based on sound reasoning, and one is likely to be astounded by her unexpected contributions to a conversation or discussion. Certainly she isn't domineering in asserting her convictions, but she has an air about her that leads one to know that she's well informed on the subject at hand. And one soon learns that her convictions are based on a true foundation; therefore, her friends find in her a most admirable trait—sincerity.

JACKIE COBB

Jackie is truly an American girl. She likes all the things that characterize this great country of fours, that are so much a part of it. Baseball games, hotdogs, movies, dances, swimming, tennis, football, picnicing and many other outdoor sports. She finds time for some form of relaxation each day, works hard at keeping her figure, and manages to do more different things in one day than most people. She's always ready to go somewhere, do something new, and has the knack for making everyone enjoy her presence.

With a minimum of training, Jackie has developed her talents and has used them unselfishly in many capacities. During her college days, she was constantly associated with some vocal ensemble and rendered a service to the institution and thereby increased her own happiness. She has leadership ability and has demonstrated satisfactorily her efficiency in student government affairs. Along the journalistic line, she served as staff member for the TEACOLA for two years and was the assistant editor for one year.

As a sideline in high school, Jackie learned typing and shorthand. Her mechanical skill in these subjects was in great demand when she came to the Jacksonville State Teachers College; so she began working for the Dean. In May of this year she completed her work for the B. S. degree with a major in English-Social Studies, and with three years of secretarial experience behind her. This is unusual and to her advantage, since she had actual experience in one phase of business while preparing to work in another. Currently she is pur-suage the secretarial side of her training; she is employed as full-time secretary to Dr. C. R. Wood.

Although extra-curricular activities played a large part in Jackie's college life, she was able to maintain her "B" average throughout her period of training. The reward for her record was membership in the Kappa Delta Pi, of which she is still an active member. Then, for both her academic and extra-curricular achievements, she was honored by being included in "Who's Who Among Students in American Colleges and Universities" 1946-47 edition. Needless to say, she holds this honor in high esteem.

Jackie and her sister, Mary, came to Jacksonville together in the summer of 1944 and entered as beginning freshmen. They shared a room in Daugette Hall for two years, and during the third they welcomed Odette Michel, French student from Paris, as their roommate. The delightful experience of living and speaking French with Odette was enjoyed for nine months, when, upon short notice, Jackie's and Mary's parents moved to Jacksonville, and they moved home, leaving Odette alone.

Jackie doesn't have definite plans for the future, but she has some definite ideas in mind. She desires to continue her education, and after a year or two resting from textbooks and assignments, she intends to further her training at the University of Alabama or in some other institution. She is patient and persevering and deserving, and her friends feel sure that she will one day realize her dreams.

She has a winning personality and a cooperative attitude plus ability—a combination that's destined to make her a happy life.

Dr. Samuel Maddox Is Guest Speaker In Assembly

Dr. Samuel E. Maddox, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Florence, was a recent guest speaker at Jacksonville State Teachers College.

Born in Brazil, where his parents were missionaries from this country, Dr. Maddox came back to the United States at the age of 16 to enter college. After graduating from Georgetown College in Kentucky he received his ministerial training at the Baptist Seminary in Louisville. For five and a half years he was an army chaplain during World War II.

In his talk on Tuesday morning, Dr. Maddox told of hearing a distinguished scientist say, "I am the most frightened man in the world since the discovery of the Atomic Bomb." Until this method of destruction was discovered, scientists had hoped to bring about world security and peace through science, but now they realize that Christianity and world brotherhood are the only hopes, Dr. Maddox declared, and only by letting the hearts of men catch up with their minds can chaos and destruction be averted.

On Thursday morning Dr. Maddox used the theme "Not for Sale." He emphasized the importance of holding on to those basic principles of character and conduct which make for a complete and successful life.

for a week of camp life at the Baptist camp in Ridgecrest, North Carolina.

This year, the 30th anniversary of Ridgecrest, the theme of the week was "Tomorrow is Yours", and the students' day began with Morning Watch. The mornings were filled with study courses and assemblies; the afternoons with recreation such as swimming, hiking, horseback riding, softball, and musicals, and in the evening there were study courses and assemblies again.

The Baptist students attending from Jacksonville were Allene Evers, Frances Love, Mary Jones, Jane Self, James Owen, and Loretta Henson.

Work Has Begun On 5000 Capacity Football Stadium

The future looks bright for JS TC and its football team for this and the coming years. Among the big things happening here currently is the building of a football stadium which will have a seating capacity of 5,000 and will be lighted for all of our Thursday night home games.

The football schedule this season will include five home games, whereas in the past there have been at most only two. So far there are eight games scheduled, five here, three elsewhere, and one open date, and the coaching staff along with the team itself, feels that we shall win, at least half of them, and possibly more. The day of JSTC as an underdog in football is just about over as this brand new era dawns. A great deal of credit is reflected on this school and its staff by its present efficient administration.

The advantages of this stadium will not require diagraming to understand. We shall now be able to pick our opponents without regard as to "who will play us in their own stadiums and guarantee us a little more than expenses?" With the advantages of a more solvent athletic association we will be able to better our equipment and facilities as we better our games and team. The field will be lighted and the games played on Thursday nights, both to accommodate the students who go home on the week-ends and to enable the surrounding football enthusiasts to attend our games. And last, but certainly not least, as a large following inspires a modern gladiator to greater things, likewise the inspired participant attracts a larger following.

The Extension Office goes on record as saying that the athletic set-up will produce "a very wholesome effect on the public relations program of the college." And that means that we shall get an extra student or two, and—who an extra plug or two, and in turn knows?—maybe even a good tackle to take White's place.

It is encouraging to note our newly gained advantages and it's about time we all resolved "to be completely optimistic about our team and school, and to back them both 100 per cent during this coming year."

"Jane your boy friend seems very bashful," said Mamma to her daughter.

"Bashful!" echoed the daughter; "bashful is no name for it."

"Why don't you encourage him away as he could get. I asked him if he didn't think it strange that a man's arm and a woman's waist seemed always to be the same length, and what do you think he did?"

"Why, just what any sensible man would have done—tried it."

Softball Results For Spring Quarter Are Tabulated

There has been a great deal of activity on the softball diamond lately. The final results have all been tabulated for the spring quarter, which saw a fast softball intramural league in action. The league consisted of six well-balanced teams. The teams were as follows: 1st floor Weatherly, 2nd floor Weatherly, 3rd floor Weatherly, "J" Club, Forney Hall, and Town team. The league proved to be a fight to the finish with the "J" Club edging Forney 7 to 4 in the finals, but due to the fact that a slight technicality arose over the eligibility of the "J" Club players, no definite champions were established. The "J" Club has since been dissolved as an intramural team but is making quite a name for itself in outside competition. It has played some of the best teams in Gadsden, Anniston, and Piedmont, and has yet to be beaten. It has a record of ten victories and no defeats. The "J" Club is the only team that is representing the college in softball this summer; so it will appreciate your support in the future games played here at school. The "J" Club team consists of letter earners in football and basketball. On the starting team are Charles Sprayberry, catcher; Louis Eitson, pitcher; "Gib" Ayers, 1st base; James Haywood, 2nd base; E. C. Wilson, ss; Elbert Couch, 3rd base; "Ham" Rains, lf; "Nip" Posey, cf; and Bruce Chase, rf.

The intramural league has been organized for the summer quarter and is creating much interest. There are only three teams in the Summer League. They are Weatherly Hall, Forney Hall, and Town. Make your choice of a team and support it.

A dashing young romantic swore by all lovers that his clarice was the fairest maid of all the world, and he would have none other.

"Be mine, Clarice," he pleaded. "If you refuse me, I shall die."

But she refused him, and fifty years later he did die.

"Why don't you encourage him a little more? Some men have to be taught how to do their courting. He's a good catch."

"George Washington, Thomas Jefferson, Abraham Lincoln," she guessed.
