Mimosa to Sponsor Summer Carnival

CARNIVAL TO BE HELD NIGHT OF JULY 1

The annual summer carnival will be staged here on the evening of July 1. The carnival is the high point of the summer quarter. This year it is being sponsored by the Mimosa staff. All students are urged to attend this frolicking event and bring along any friends who wish to have a good time among the carnival floats.

The carnival will reach its climax when the favorite beauty of the Mimosa Jackson State contest is crowned and chosen. The beauty contest will also award annual scholarships to students who are chosen by the judges.

The winners in the senior elections were: Tyrus Caldwell, president; E. C. Wilson and E. L. Wood, student government representatives; Neal Posey, vice-president; Footsie Thomas, secretary; and J. D. McDaniel, treasurer. The junior election of April 28 was supervised by a host of activities including the annual Mimosa Jackson State beauty contest, which was co-sponsored by the State Teachers College and the Mimosa staff.

Large Construction Program To Be Completed In Fall

PROJECT FOR STATE TEACHERS COLLEGE

The construction of the new state teachers college is progressing rapidly. The first two years of the project have been marked by progress and careful planning. The college is expected to be completed in the fall quarter. The new college will be a modern, well-equipped facility for educating the future teachers of Alabama.

President Given Degree By University Of Alabama

President Houston Colle was honored by his alma mater, the University of Alabama, when his honorary degree of doctor or laws was conferred upon him at the graduating exercises recently.

Dr. Cole attended the State Teachers College two years after graduating from high school. It was then a state normal school and offered only two years. He continued his education at the University, receiving his bachelor's degree and later his master's.

The officers elected by the student government at the University of Alabama were: Harry Edmondson, treasurer; Amy Williams, social chairman; and J. D. McDaniel, vice-president. Ed Emery, president; Footsie Thomas, secretary; and J. D. McDaniel, treasurer.

For several years Dr. Jones has been working hard to realize a dream of his—to establish an International House here on campus. This house would be a place where students from all walks of life could come together to share a meal and discuss their beliefs.

JSTC Students Attend Religious Conferences

A group of Methodist students at the State Teachers College, accompanied by the Rev. and Mrs. Allen Montgomery, attended the Regional Methodist Student Conference at Lake Jamburee, N. C., June 7-12. Methodist students from all of the southeastern states were present.

Dr. Cole Is First Assembly Speaker

The first student assembly of the summer quarter was held on June 15 in the college gym. The first part of the program was a community sing conducted by Mr. Mason and designed to get everyone in a friendly, gay mood. Mr. Heim, accompanied by Mrs.
Heim, played two violin solos: "The Caledonian," and "Les Bellestraum," Kreisler.

Charles W. Miller, president of the student body, introduced President Cole.

Dr. Cole's first remarks indicated that the assembly group was one of the largest he had seen in recent months. He made an interesting and convincing talk on making the necessary adjustments in life. He described the two groups into which all students fall: first, those who have the necessary adjustments and apply themselves cheerfully to the task of obtaining an education; and then those who do not apply themselves in their work. Dr. Cole repeated statistics which showed

Communism

Recently the House of Representa-tives passed the Mundt-Nixon bill. This bill would require all persons who seek to register with the Department of Justice to register with the government. The Communist Party leadership would have to release the names and members of all the front organizations connected with it or be subject to imprisonment.

This bill was debated by Governor Dewey and Mr. Stassen recently in their campaign in Oregon. Mr. Stassen was in favor of its passage while Governor Dewey thought that the bill would only drive the communists underground and set a precedent for further regulation of the thoughts of the American people.

The Communists have said that they would refuse to register under the bill. This would mean that they preferred to go underground where they could continue to oppose without being subjected to imprisonment.

Most dangerous of the dangers that would result from the bill is that communes would be set up. This is the precedent that the bill would establish for regulation of the thoughts of the people.

The First Amendment to the Constitution has been interpreted to mean that punishment cannot be given for thoughts, associations, or even statements unless there is a "clear and present danger." Certainly there is not a "clear and present danger" of a Communist overthrow of the government. Liberty has been defined as being free to do what the law allows. Maybe this is true, but this bill would certainly abridge the meaning of liberty in the mass of people without giving them an adequate substitute.

A police state if this bill were passed, the same kind of police state that we are waging a cold war against today, is the danger that the terms of the bill could be applied to other parties. Its provisions are vague and can be interpreted to include almost any organization. Liberty would stand a chance of becoming a bare word.

Most people would prefer to keep the present meaning of the First Amendment as interpreted by the Supreme Court.

WORKSHOP PROOFWRITING INVALUABLE TRAINING

The workshop idea for teachers which originated during the past decade has proved invaluable.

The more recent practice of emphasizing the fragmentary and laborious aspect of the architecture for rural teachers has opened up new worlds for the teachers who work in the schools without unlimited funds. Each teacher had a limited right in his own front yard.

At Jacksonville State Teachers College. Jackson, Miss., is the beginning way for some hundred and fifty teachers, mostly from rural communities or small towns. The staff is composed of a dean, two directors of extension at the college, and a supervisor of the Missouri County Schools; Miss Benah Allen, DeKalb County Schools; Mr. J. H. T. Bland, Amana City Schools; Frank J. Haggard, Missouri County Schools; and Mrs. Jane Callaway, instructor in Home Economics, of the Cincinnati, Ohio.

In addition to these, Walter A. Mason, head of the fine arts department of Northwestern University, will give a music instruction every day, and Dean H. D. Davis, department of Home Economics, of the Cincinnati, Ohio.

This type of school and community life is considered an integrated workshop program, for it has the essential elements of education. The individual teacher must be prepared not only to teach the usual work, but also to be able to develop complete understanding of the subject matter in connection with the cooperation of the student body. Because of this, it is necessary for the cooperating JSTC to be able to present the ideas of the teacher.

Yes, the 1945-46 school year was a lively one. Our college has grown in all ways. There are now more than 500 students in the first year, and about 200 in the second year. These are the few understated teams in the country. All of the students were equally successful— in the way that they have been able to handle the work. This has been a very successful year for games carried on at home.

Beautiful girls, memorable lectures, that sort of thing. We can do little other than to learn from uneventful experiences. This year in the program was planned to be a success, but a success it was not only a success academically, but was also successful in other ways. The students were able to make the 1945-46 Mima successful in the way that they have been able to handle the work. This has been a very successful year for games carried on at home.

There is no end to the tasks the group of boys and girls can do. The group's performance—tale the city that is being a success.

That is where the workshop cooperates. The group is planned to be a success, but a success it was not. The group's performance—tale the city that is being a success.

Mimosa To Arrive Shortly

When are annuals coming? That is the question most students would like to have answered. No doubt many have wondered what the 1948 edition will be like when 1947 is over. Consequently we are happy to announce that Mimosa will arrive in the near future.

Last year the members of the staff had a chance to see a preview of the 1947 edition, and it was good. They made the final corrections and returned the manuscript to the printer. Copies of the annual should be ready soon. The staff is working hard on the annual, which was judged one of the best in the south. The new edition is coming soon. It will not disappoint the world of its excellence. A year that has been a success in every way.

It is the result of the uneventful experiences of the group of boys and girls. The group's cooperation has made the Mimosa a success and for this year's edition, the Mimosa will be back with a renewal of promise. There are a few less things to improve the annual, which has been a success in every way.
