Election April 26

Today is the last chance to qualify for SGA election April 26.
Governing Board's speech was broadcast over a network with Malcolm Street as its announcer. The program was presented by Mr. Pat-son, who spoke of his record in leadership and his ideas for the future. Governing Board said that the only fault that he could find with the Union was that too many people want to be Governing Board.

Governing Board began his words with his last plea that the United States should continue in its efforts to achieve democracy.
He called on all students to work for the success of this lead-ger herp. It is our duty to fight for the freedom of others as well as ourselves.

It is not only the truth and material conditions that should be observed. But the shape of pencil sharpeners and the grinders used should also be considered.

The SGA elections are coming upsoon. The candidates for different positions are currently running. All the candidates can gotheir campaign signals to the SGA, who is responsible for the voting process. It is important to vote and choose the best candidates.

Governing Board spoke with some bitterness of those who seem to think that they must be able to dictate things in the Union. It is not their place to do so. Governing Board thinks that the Union must "get tough with Russia." He says that the Russians are becoming too powerful. They are a danger to us.

"We should let them know that we are getting tough with them."
What Is The Future Of Captain Future?—By JDR

Science fiction has become a form of entertainment that has recently been a visit to the popular comic books. Some novels on science fiction as well as some in the past have not been successful. This trend is changing, however, with the rise of space exploration and the development of new technologies. The stories of the future are told not only in books but also in movies, TV shows, and video games. The future has become a reality, and people are looking forward to what the future holds.

S. G. A. Studying Solution To Cost Of Living Problem

By Jack Rosby

Almost every student on campus complains about the cost of living, but most students don't realize there is something more than complaisant.

The Student Council is trying to find ways to lower the cost of living, but it needs your suggestions. You know the best way to reduce your own costs, so tell your representatives to the student council.

They will appreciate your input, and the solution to this matter will be guided by your ideas.

As much as you know, we are a member of the United States of America, and we must meet our obligations. Non-political, non-sectarian representatives should be present at all meetings and to engage in productive discussions. Your attendance is required.

Virginia Wooton, Glenda Blake, Alice Burden, Margaret Weaver, Betty June Reed, Jean Henselijk, Pauline Gelsomino, and Betty Engle are the representatives of the student council. More than 200 colleges in the United States and 200,000 students are represented at the state level.

What is the N. Y. S. A. purchase program?

The purchase card, held by a member of the National Association of College Stores (N.S.C.A.), is designed to save money in the purchase of supplies. It is accepted at stores that participate in the program.

This branch of the National Association of College Stores is known as the A-Bomb. Books formerly retailing as bric-a-brac in the files of the library can now be purchased. The STARTING STORES, etc., are now brought under the small supplies of Simon Shuster and are available to the student.

What will happen to the tried and true open space, the open-air park?

It is going into disarray, as novels full of science fiction topics are being published. The future is not far away, and we are ready for it.

All of the classic Science Fiction stories and novels that are so much talk about, are now being published. The future is now, and we are ready for it.

Mr. T. C. Reporter

Dr. Wood Reports

On Conference

The report below was made by Dr. Wood on the meeting of the American Association of Colleges for Teacher Education which was held at the University of Chicago, Ill., on February 19 and 20.

The men who attended the conference were asked to report on current trends today in college education to find college teachers who are not specifically trained in the field but who have a broad understanding of the subject matter. This is a great need, and it is a trend in college education today. It is a trend that will continue in the future.

The conference was attended by college teachers from all over the country. It was a great success, and it is hoped that it will continue in the future.
Albert Spack Stakes

To Citizenship Forum

Albert Spack of Birmingham, a candidate for governor, addressed the Citizenship Forum on March 14 in the Little Auditorium. He was introduced by Mr. Patterson, faculty advisor to the Forum.

Mr. Spack was the third gubernatorial candidate to appear as part of this series, the others being Robert L. Newton and William M. Beck.

Mr. Spack pointed out the misuse of Alabama's natural wealth, noting that this state has many miles of navigable rivers but that, compared to the national average of 1/4 of 1% of the nation's total river mileage, Alabama had a per capita income of about half that figure. He also emphasized the need for better agricultural and industrial education and training for the state.

In his closing address, Mr. Spack stated that the news of the day must be interpreted in the light of the nation's needs and that the forum should serve as a forum for the discussion of the problems facing the state.

Albert Spack Speaks To Citizenship Forum
Jim Bailey has probably been spotlighted and put on the spot more consistently than any other person on the campus of S. C., (excluding, of course, college professors). In addition to his various campus activities, Jim has been appearing for some time as guest minister in different churches and is presently regular minister of the West Palm Beach Church. Notwithstanding the fact that Jim has a penchant for shying away from the spotlight, he has not always managed to keep himself free of entanglements, both organizational and otherwise—and the "otherwise" have often been extremely pretty. Jim is keenly aware of the infinite number of colleges in the world, but he is just as keenly aware of the good in human beings and believes in their ability to eliminate the one and intensify the other. He is intolerant only with the intolerant. Far from being an anachorite, Jim is generous, he likes people and, better than most of us, he understands their problems. His willingness to assume a full share of responsibility closely associates him not only with others, and it is impossible for him to do his duty in the four years and above all, his duty is to the freshman class. Jim's forthcoming graduation will not, however, prevent him from expanding his ideas in the direction which he has already indicated. A major in English and a minor in biology point to other interesting undertakings in the near future. Jim is a member of Kappa Phi Rho, the B. S. U., the Minstrel Brothers, and the Student government. He has been listed in "Who's Who Among American College Students". Jim would reject anything approaching praise of himself as being too egotistical, but in revealing the person of his real character it would be difficult to minimize facts.

Mimi Ballart Tells Home Ec Group About Her Native Cuba

Dear Friends and Fellow Teachers:

The participation in this great meeting of fellow home economic teachers holds pleasure for me, and I appreciate your interest in learning something of the teaching methods in my beloved Cuba, although I have very little experience. I shall in very poor English try to give you the general idea of how we study in Cuba and something about my experiences as a teacher of some of the courses in this field.

In Cuba sewing, embroidering, lace work, manual work and sometimes cooking are taught in the elementary schools. Only simple classes are taught to the young, the ages usually from 6 to 13 years old. Only they have finished the elementary school, the pupils who wish to study home economics have to go to schools especially equipped, prepared by the government for the teaching of the domestic arts.

These schools have a course of 7 years and above all sewing, cooking, washing, cleaning, decorating, etc., are taught.

Also there are classes for preparing the students with a well-rounded general education of the pupils. These schools give a degree called "master of home economics".

Also in Cuba we have a government military school which teaches all aspects of this and sciences. It often this school has a number of problematic students which are taken care of by the home economics school. In regard to the care of the sick, first aid, hygiene and distinct methods of caring for the information is taught.

All of these various materials are studied practically and in the examination the pupils are required to demonstrate what they have learned.

In State College, Pennsylvania, the favorite gathering spot of students at Pennsylvania State College is Graham & Sons because it is a cheerful place—full of friendly collegiate atmosphere. And when the gaggz gather round, ice-cold Coca-Cola gets the call. For here, as in college haunts everywhere—Coke belongs.

Ask for it by name...just trade-marks mean the same thing.

Left halfback should be set with Terry Hodges, Bob Wyman and Hugh O'Shields returning. Any punter will have a hard time filling the shoes of Ken Smith, who averaged 46 yards per try the last three years. Hodges was All-Conference last year and received honorable mention on several Little All-American picks. Bob Combs is the only loa at right halfback. Earl Roberts, Harry West, Bernard Hampton and Bob Shelly will be back for another year.

Fullback is the only position with every letterman returning. There seems to be no worry there with John Williams, Gordon Terry and Charlie Stough returning.

"Certainly not, how silly.

A look of horror came over her as she clutched her throat and cried out: "My gawd! My gawd!"

It was a dress-up affair—shorts, pajamas, hose costs, bluegills with Mrs. Rowan presenting the bride-to-be with a corsage.

Maggie was sent on a treasure hunt which carried her all over the dormitory and finally back to her own room, where she found all kinds of kitchen utensils from a rolling pin to a dishpan. Of course, Maggie didn't know what to do with any of the things—but she'll learn.
