There is a certain torpidity about summer at JSC that makes most of us yearn for a miniature lake in the little grassy dell between Deogopto and Pannell. It might not be as deep as the water in the swimming pool can always induce us to at least keep our heads above water. Swimming and boating are summer sciences—since, among studies, sidelong glances and smoldering love are summer semi-titles, which is due to lip service.

The campus gardeners have already made their entrance and their exit. For a while the girls were flying about like butterflies behind their ears, which, according to the Southern custom, means that a young maid is between lovers—and they faute her maiden bloom. The hint must be taken here on the campus because most of the girls seem to be going steady at this point.

The ladies in Pannell are still waiting for their anticipated shower curtain, nevertheless, the splash of water striking the lens has finally penetrated to the ears of long-termers on first floor dorms, and water has already made the rounds without shower curtains. The boys on second floor this coming fall will have an unexpected luxury. Thus far, the ladies have been very friendly, cooperative and considerate. Little things like dining hall hours, etc. are unfriendly to the general public in Pannell Hall, but anything short of hog calling is said to be an exaggeration. At any rate, early risers get their share of good-natured falls, and the ladies can dash the leftover milk to suit their taste, and even start with their chins, no more.

The Paul Superb Show, headlined "The South," was an unqualified success. The show, which was based on the life of the South, was well received by the audience. The performers were all well prepared and gave an excellent performance. The show was well organized and the costumes were colorful and well designed. The set was impressive and added to the overall effect of the show. The audience was thoroughly entertained and the show was a great success.
Paculty. Changes For

In Belgium Claire Rycman is making plans for a stay at Jack-and a new color (she should never allow herself to be attracted by bright girl-guide and like camping, riev-

The dance will be held on Friday, August 4, at 8 o'clock. The program will include dancing, songs, and a variety of other activities. Refreshments will be served.
THE TEACOLA

Vulcan Looks
At J. C.

I looked in on the beautiful Jacksonville campus the other day, listened while members of the summer staff told their stories of their summer's activities.

I had no bad heart to hear what the Alabama teachers had learned of government works—and the men who make the world.

For the thing, the workshop members dealt directly with the men, passing along theirrm to local, county, state, national and international affairs.

The workshop students went down to Montgomery, heard Alabama legislators, talked with the statesmen of the government, asked a lot of questions.

Nearby half of the students were watching when they talked with Edward Barrett, assistant secretary of state Senate Todd, and the mayor of the state foreign relations commission—exchanges that passed among the students in the national capital.

The students talked with mayors, members of town councils, county board of revenue members, town council members.

The workshop was directed by Mr. W. E. Martin, who knows how to use text books, but also how to use some of the phases of the government.

Another thing that has been dealt with the fresh, new outlook, to be turned into something based on citizenship and government.

Government no longer is an abstraction to teachers. They feel an intimate touch with the Congress and the Supreme Court.

In My Book

This is the first Summer Workshop of its kind ever put on in a southern college—and one of the first anywhere. It is an American college.

In Jacksonville, members of Jacksonville State Teachers College Citizenship and Government Workshop course attended the Congress and the Supreme Court, both of them necessary—and needed—courses ever since Roosevelt signed the Federal Child Welfare Bill.

Many beautiful things about the program will be to the benefit of young Alabama what.

Teachers Get Close-Up View
Of Nation's Capitol

Thirty-five teachers from Jacksonville State College attended the first civic and political workshop of the year, and worked in the information on national government in their various surveys of their trips and studies of Summer School.

As a part of their study on government, they went to Washington on a tour with Ernest Stone the Educational Director of the college staff, in charge.

The group left Anistion by train on Friday, arrived in Washington on Saturday morning. They were taken on a sightseeing tour of the government buildings. Sunday they were taken to Arlington, Alexandria, and Mt. Vernon.

Monday they began their first hand study of the government. Thinking at the office of Congressmen Albert Rhett, himself an alumnus of our college, the group was taken to the Senate Building. There they attended a meeting of the Senate, and a meeting of the House of Representatives, visited Senator John Sparkman's office, and lunched in Speaker's dining room in the House Building. During the afternoon, they sat in the Senate gallery and listened to a speech of the Senator on the Atomic Energy Commission.

At the luncheon, Congressmen Rhett stayed. Among the rest who stayed was Edward Barrett, assistant secretary of state; Senator Todd, and the mayor of the state foreign relations commission—exchanges that passed among the students in the national capital.

International House
Has Face Lifting

Have you visited the International House lately? If not, you should go by and see the improvements that have been made.

Dr. H. J. Jones, director of the International House, has placed on display a collection of gifts which have been received from France. The gifts were sent to the Department of Archives, and History on the Friendship Train and were addressed to the college.

Included among the gifts are an amber glass vase, three lace medallions, an antique knife, a lamp with antigique pewter base, French doll made over a box containing stamps, an oil painting by Raymond Perreau, president of the Society of Artists of Aute, a crocheted basket shell, and a needlepoint picture.

A new paint job, a general cleaning and rearrangement of furniture have added to the beauty of the house.

The house is not very long again on our campus students from different countries will spend their time at the International House here at Jacksonville to study, work, and play—together, our American students. This is the first year's exchange students will come.

They are Raquel Nodin and No- mi Ballart, both of Havana, Cuba. Also from Cuba there is a student on scholarship. Student is I. J. Van Sciver, young man who has previously attended the State Seminary in Vatera, Tennessee, and has also taken a course in sculpture at the Art Institute of Chicago.

A later part of the schedule includes a trip to the Department of Agriculture and the Department of State.

The members were impressed with the attention given them as little people—was a great country. We are among thousands of other Americans who seek through the House of Representatives and through the Congress and the Supreme Court real knowledge of government and how who have been accorded the courtesies extended them by their representatives.

Many have expressed the opinion that the importance of government, climaxcd with the trip to Washington, is not realized. It is to be well-informed citizens who can carry back to service and to other communities for greater participation in govern-
WHAT IS YOUR ANSWER?

I'm worried, not because of myself, but because of the nasty ways we can get into if we don't wake up—and soon! Why should we ever bother to save the world from communism or any other "ism" if there is nothing we can do with it after its rescue? Are you able to take responsibility for doing anything? If someone handed you the world today, could you hold it steady, or would you let it drop? If someone asked you to stay with his baby tonight could you take care of it with assurance and without any mishaps? If you were asked to write a letter to the editor of this paper concerning what you think is wrong with the youth of today, would you do it? Or would you pass the matter off by saying that nothing is wrong with the youth of today? Older people are always passing off their own mistakes by nasty cracks at youth. As long as we're asking questions, here are a few more that I wonder if you know the answers to:

1. What is the Student Government Association?
2. Who is its president and what are its main functions?
3. What is the Discipline Committee? How does it benefit you?
4. What is the program of the S. G. A. for the coming year?
5. What are the library rules? The dormitory rules?
6. Are you professors human or mechanical, angels or devils?

Here are some more questions—questions that I want answers for:
1. Did you buy a copy of the "Minos?"? Do you intend to buy a copy of next year's "Minos"?
2. Are you acquainted with all the organizations on the campus? Are you interested in joining any of them?
3. Do you attend Assembly programs? If not, why?
4. Is the campus activity at Jacksonville stimulating? If not, how can it be improved?
5. Do you find the "Teacola" interesting, di! or repetitious, or do you find it at all?
6. In what way could your "Teacola" be of more service and interest to you?

All these questions concern things that every student should know about this school. There are so many of us who can answer very few of them. The reason we can no longer answer the question is that we are not interested in what we are going on in this school. We are interested only in the little group that we have become associated with. It is time we grew up. We are adults, or should be. Put away your toys and get busy. There's a lot to do, and you have to help.

P.T.A. Leadership Workshop Held

The P.T.A. Leadership Workshop held at the YMCA at Jacksonville State College on September 5, 1968, was attended by several members of the leadership group. The workshop was focused on leadership development and provided opportunities for participants to enhance their skills and knowledge. Attendees engaged in various activities designed to foster leadership qualities and prepare them for future roles in the community and school settings.

SUMMER CARNIVAL IS FUN TIME

The Summer Carnival, one of the highlights of the summertime at Jacksonville State College, was held on July 28 on the grounds of the college. The event featured a variety of activities, including games, food vendors, and entertainment. Attendees enjoyed the festive atmosphere and participated in the various attractions provided.

For those who were bingo fans, the game was back again, bigger and better than ever! Fellow students showed their spirit at the booth. Both boys and girls competing in the event.

BAPTIST STUDENTS ARE ENTERTAINING

On Tuesday night, July 27, the Baptist Student Union of St. Andrews College held a masquerade ball at the meeting of students at the St. Andrews Church in Jacksonville. The program began with prayers and the singing of hymns. The ball was attended by several Baptist students, including Miss Betty Sue Hill, Miss Irwin Swank, and Mrs. Alfred Smith, accompanied by Freda Flemming, who played several violin duets.

The inspirational message was delivered by Rev. Mr. J. M. Cooper, the general secretary of the First Baptist Church of Oxford.

Afterwards, the group went in on the church lawn by Mr. W. J. Wood, and refreshments were served in the basement of the church by Martha Self, the social vice-president.

When your favorite television programs are over, good coffee should always be on tap for family and friends to serve with some small “special” as a fitting finale to a perfect evening. Any one of the coffee-flavored desserts featured will be just right for late evening refreshments. Easy to prepare and impressive for any occasion are the classic coffee cakes, which combine modern cooking with old-fashioned goodness.

You serve one or one with fresh coffee in a flash. Just measure one teaspoon of soluble coffee (more or less rounded to accommodate strenght in a cup) and add freshly brewed water and stir. To make six cups of good coffee, just pour one quart of boiling water over 4 teaspoons of soluble coffee and stir to ensure a brew of even strength.

COFFEE AND CREAM CAKE

Make your favorite plain cake mix and replace the water with coffee and milk, following the instructions on the cake mix. Place in greased tube or ring pan and top with more batter. Bake at 350 degrees. Serve with coffee sauce on top.

COFFEE SAUCE

1 cup sugar
1 cup water
1 tablespoon unsweetened cocoa
1 teaspoon vanilla

Combine sugar, water, cocoa and vanilla in saucepan and bring to a boil. Reduce heat and simmer for 10 minutes. Serve warm.

MARSHMALLOW SUPREME

Mix butter and egg yolks. Add sifted confectioners’ sugar which has been blended with milk, beating well. Beat until stiff. Add marshmallows and beat until stiff. Fold in whipped cream and beaten egg whites until stiff.

Combine all ingredients in a large mixing bowl. Beat until stiff. Place in greased tube or ring pan and top with more batter. Bake at 350 degrees.

COFFEE CREAM FILLING

1 cup sugar
1 cup water
1 tablespoon unsweetened cocoa
1 teaspoon vanilla

Combine sugar, water, cocoa and vanilla in saucepan and bring to a boil. Reduce heat and simmer for 10 minutes. Serve warm.

When you are ready to serve the cake, spread the filling on top and garnish with whipped cream.
