A cafeteria announcement that Starnews would speak in the Local Coe auditorium caused some excitement. One civic-minded citizen who Joe Stain was paying Jacksonville a call.

The Masque and Wig Guild is setting some wonderful hi-technic scenery to go with the performance. Michel Beuvillard and Jack Street were waiting outside the auditorium on February 20 in hopes of a last-minute ticket to Caesar and Cleopatra.

They were offeredbit parts in the professional production. Michel insists his part was larger.

A Roman soldier, he was to come on stage with "Hail, Caesar!", but he changed it to "Hello, Caesar!" Fortunately, he forgot his line at the dramatic crisis and, therefore, was not killed.

Lily Noone agreed with the kids as soon as they finish college.

But Lily also served as an expert advance arrangements. Alabama is noticed in the increase of the Civil Rights bill that accompanied by Mr. Wood and Mrs. Dishon McWilliams.

A cafeteria announcement that the FEPC Call was criticized as denounced by James Baker, Anniston; B. H. Ozbolt, Marietta; and F. C. Sokol, Columbus, was retailed from further comment by a Governmental expert, Mr. McWilliams.

The chorus gave three selections, with Miss Curtales at the organ, and Jen Kershaw, pianist. Mrs. McWilliams, with vari-colored lights, emphasized funeral-mood changes of mood.

William M. Beek, gubernatorial candidate, spoke at the Citizenship Forum on February 14 in a ceremony sponsored by the State Coe Teachers College.

He was introduced by Paye Bond, president of the Forum. Mr. Beck termed "the non-political polemic made up of politicians." He had already warned his party that he would be Jacksonsville State Coe.

One of the most important is- sues in the current campaign, Mr. Beek said, is the question of "Southern love for Democrats. "Do we want to be Democrats or third party?"

Mr. Beek said that the voters should join the Grand Old Party if they are not Democrats. Maintaining the former Republican vote, he pointed out that a third party would be out in the cold political field because the cold war political body meets in the future.

TIEN IS THE HOUR

It would be convenient, to say the least, if students who have appointments with school officials could see the official at the specified time. It is rather disconcerting to wait for an hour with "He'll see you in a minute" and an air of necessity, only to be told finally that the person has a conference or an out-of-town meeting. And he hasn't time to see the student.

Some collegians consider their time valuable.

Forum Hears

Joe Starnes

Joe Starnes, Gunterville law office former Congressman, addressed the Citizens Forum on March 2 in the Leon Cole Auditorium.

He was introduced by Ed Campbell, Vice-president of the Forum.

Mr. Starnes began his speech with a tribute to Mrs. Houston Cole:

"The state could not have paid a more deserved honor to Mrs. Cole. For many years, she has been a dedicated and outstanding figure in the State of Alabama."

Joe Starnes' speech was concerned with the development of Southern resources and foreign affairs.

Critics who complain of the in-consistency of the United States foreign policy should realize that an inconsistent course is necessary, Mr. Starnes said.

He foretold the outlook for world peace discouraging, despite the "great intellect, fine character, and good intentions of Dean Acheson."

General George Marshall was "the greatest living statesman and the greatest living statesman, and the greatest living statesman."

The letter to the editor discusses the importance of planning for the future, especially in education, and the need for maintaining meaningful relationships with others.

The news section contains information about upcoming events, such as a lecture by Dr. Wright and a presentation on the history of the Civil War. It also includes a statement from Norman E. Cedges about the importance of planning for the future in college.

The section on military includes information about the current military situation, including a statement from Major General C. L. Bowers about the potential for a peace treaty.

The section on technology includes a description of new developments in the field, such as the use of electronic computers in military operations.

The section on education includes information about new developments in the field, such as the use of new teaching methods and technologies.

The section on health includes information about new developments in the field, such as the use of new medical technologies and treatments.

The section on law includes information about new developments in the field, such as changes in legal practices and technologies.

The section on business includes information about new developments in the field, such as new strategies for business growth and development.

The section on science includes information about new developments in the field, such as new discoveries and innovations.
Cameleers, who claim the camel is the greatest beast of burden, do not believe that the camel can be replaced by the automobile or the airplane.

Some students rise at the ungodly hour of seven to find that they must take their shower (their water system hasn't begun to work) and shave the stubble with many misgivings.

At the conclusion of his talk, Mr. Starnes said that Lewis's power to injure one hundred and fifty million people is a mockery of democratic government. "Labor monopolies are as bad as capitalistic monopolies. Public welfare is more important than the welfare of any segment of the population."

The speaker then turned to the problem of developing the natural wealth of the South. "We have two great unexplored physical and economic resources in this country-the Mississippi River Valley and the area between the Savannah and Pearl rivers. Soil, rainfall, and climate give the Southeast the potentialities. Our resources must be developed through private enterprise or partnership with the federal government."

Mr. Starnes thinks Alabamians will have a chance to choose between Democrats and Dixicrats in the May Primary. He pointed out that Northern Democrats are supporting non-segregation in order to get the vote of Northern Republicans. Only a victory for Mr. Smith will allow a "great soldier of his time and one of the greatest of all time."
Workshop

Memorandum to candidates for graduation in elementary or secondary education for the spring quarter hours: Sociology, Health, and Physical Education, Biology, and Psychology Education.

I am calling your attention to the fact that for the second time this quarter, half of all the programs that were given to the class.

The meeting was called to order at 8:15 p.m. in the annual room. It consisted of the three mentioned above.

The meeting was called to order at 8:15 p.m. in the annual room. It consisted of the three mentioned above.

The day and time of the previous meeting were discussed, and Ray Swiderski moved that the Student Council meet on Wednesday at 8:00 p.m. The motion carried.

Jim Bailey, after some discussion of the issue, moved that the Student Council pay for two pages in the Miamis and Ohio University of the Ohio funds. The motion carried.

Jack Kerby appointed new members to the old constitutional committee. The committee as it now stands consists of Tom Sheltten, chairman, Oris Kinney, Ray Swiderski, Jack Kerby, and Robert Bailey.

Ray Swiderski reported on the progress of the committee appointed to attempt to get more lockers put in Bob Graves Hall. No progress was reported.

(More: Since this time, additional lockers have been put in.)

The meeting adjourned at 8:45 p.m.

PANNELL NEWS

The peace and calm of Pannell suddenly ended on February 8 when part of our town moved out and the rest were called into changing rooms before. Gray hairs started appearing in Mom's head. Two new followers are moving through the house, and people like you and me are making the best of everything always.

BAPTISTS SPONSOR VALENTINE BANQUET

The Baptist Church was the scene of a Valentine banquet on Tuesday night, February 14.

The table was set with roses and red and white hearts entwined with ivy, and red and white candles burn on each table.

The theme of the banquet was "The Rose that Grew out of Concrete," and was a great success.

The food was prepared and served by the intermediate class.

The speaker, Dr. A. E. Thomas, spoke on the subject of "What is a Baptist Church?" and was well received.

PANNELL NEWS

The peace and calm of Pannell suddenly ended on February 19 when two of our boys moved out of the base. One, my best friend, is going to the University of Arizona to study agriculture. The other, a Cadet, is going to the University of Texas to study mechanical engineering.

The room was set up and the furniture was packed. The only thing left was a few items of personal belongings. I was sad to see them go, but I knew it was the right thing to do.
Gamecocks Close Season With Record Of 23 Wins; 6 Losses

The Jacksonville State College basketball team closed the 1969-1970 basketball season with a record of 23 wins and 6 losses.

The Gamecocks rolled up 1,787 points in 29 games for an average of 62 points a game.

Center Robert Miller led the scoring with 452 points for an average of 15 points a game. He averaged 41 percent on his field goals and was efficient in free throws completed. Reuben "Red" Thomas hit the net for 357 points to rank as the No. 2 scorer. The All-SEAUA for- ward with 50 percent on field goals completed gave him a tie for sixth place in the nation last year among the small colleges, according to statistics released by the National Collegiate Athletic Bureau in New York. He has a 77 percent average on his free throws completed that gave him the No. 22 spot in the nation in that department.

John Krohchena, the Amsterdam, N.Y., product, was rated the No. 3 scorer with 198 points. He hit 79 percent of his free throws, and the machine hit 82 percent on his free throws completed that gave him a tie for fourth place in the nation last year.

Harold Cottle scored 177 points. His games included a 34-pointer vs. SDSU, a 28-pointer vs. East Carolina, and a 21-pointer vs. Tennessee.

The Gamecocks scored 5,090 points in 1950 games against the nation's leading college basketball teams. They were second in the nation in that department.
