The Jacksonville State College Extension Center, in fulfillment of its mission in the field of education, according to Dr. Bankton Wright, director. Organized in the fall of 1949, the center now has an enrollment of 286. Dr. Wright reports, with each quarter showing an increase over the past.

The faculty is composed of the following: Richard E. Emerson, who teaches business law; Jack S. Brown, sociology; Miss Freda Clark, elementary and secondary education; William C. Heard, English; James H. Bonds, mathematics; Miss Hazel Hamilton, librarianship; Dorothy Willard, Jr., engineering drawing; Miss Madge Luttrell, American and world history; and Dr. Wright, American government and American history.

Students are enrolled from the following places: Anniston, Jacksonville, Munford, Talladega, Oxford, Sylacauga, Corro- kee, Blue Mountain, feet, Wellington, Sylacauga, Heflin, Anniston and many other places.

The summer quarter will begin on June 6, Dr. Wright states. Many veterans are taking advantage of the offer to enroll in order to continue their education. It is not too late for anyone to enter classes in order to receive these benefits, he added.

1800 High School Seniors Frolic on JSC Campus

About 1800 high school seniors and their family sponsors from all parts of northeast Alabama were guests of the college on April 14. The day’s program included a football game between the Jacksonville State College football team and a powerhouse from the Southeastern Conference, and this was followed by a dance in the Student Union Assembly Hall. The day’s events included band concerts, basketball games, and other activities.

The event was well attended, with many students and parents participating in the various activities. The weather was warm and sunny, and everyone seemed to enjoy themselves.

The day concluded with a farewell address by Dr. Bankton Wright, in which he thanked the students and their families for their support and welcomed them back to Jacksonville State College.

The event was a success, and the students and their families left with memories of a fun day spent at Jacksonville State College.
John J. Webster, the head of the accounting program, was presiding over the event. He introduced the speakers and led the discussion on various topics related to accounting and business management. The audience, consisting of students, faculty, and guest speakers, were engaged in lively discussions and debates.

During the event, several awards were presented to outstanding students and faculty members for their contributions to the field of accounting. The awards ceremony was followed by a panel discussion on the future of accounting and the role of technology in shaping the industry.

The event concluded with a reception where attendees had the opportunity to network and socialize. The atmosphere was vibrant and energetic, reflecting the enthusiasm of the participants for the field of accounting.
PAINS FOR "LA PRENESA"

Every newspaper, whether it is a small town weekly, the New York Times, or The Teacola should feel the pains of horror over the tyranny that the press has suffered in Argentina.

We in America take freedom for granted...freedom of speech, freedom of the press...something that is often said, but not always done. Tyranny, it is at the heart of things, but in America we have never known it.

We have seen the Sun, the Star, and the Messenger, just to name a few, have disappeared under the tyrannical hand of the government. We have seen the press in Argentina suffer at the hands of the government, and we have seen the press in America suffer at the hands of the government.

But in Argentina, the tyrannical hand of the government has been felt more severely. The government has taken control of the press, and has censored it, and has forced it to publish what the government wants to see published.

We in America are lucky, we have a free press, we have a press that is not controlled by the government. We have a press that is free to publish what it wants to publish, and we have a press that is free to express its opinions.

But we must not forget that the press is not free in Argentina. The press is not free in Argentina, and we must not take our freedom for granted.

The tyrannical hand of the government has been felt more severely in Argentina, and we must not forget that.

Question: What do you think about President Truman's firing General MacArthur?

Roy Dyer: I'm a Democrat, but as far as the Republicans are concerned, I'm fully in agreement on the impeachment of President Truman.

Juanita Besty: Was the wrong one fired?

Phyllis Horley: He should have it five years ago.

Cecilia Velasquez: History in days to come will tell us, yes.

Joe Hogan: Now it is a good day for a few more losses and Jacksons.

Clarence Mitchell: In these days of youth it's hard to know who has made a mistake.

I never hear anyone ask me why they give an English paper a C or B. I'm happy if I can get a good discussion out of them with just a few questions to ask, I'll tell them the words that are printed above, "I TAKE A COURSE IN GRAMMAR. This is the opening line of my senior-year essay on the subject of grammar—written by a graduate of Jackson State College, Jackson, Mississippi.

How important is it to you to be able to communicate with people? Your interest in English will vary directly with your desire to express yourself clearly and concisely. Do you have a desire to express yourself clearly and concisely? Do you have a desire to talk about something you know about, or to write about something you've read? Do you have a desire to communicate effectively with others? Do you have a desire to communicate effectively with others?

I take a course in GRAMMAR. This is the opening line of my senior-year essay on the subject of grammar—written by a graduate of Jackson State College, Jackson, Mississippi.

John—The Secretary

Call the Cop! Robber! No, his running down the street! He isn't climbing the window. He's shooting a gun in Mr. Hooton's right. But he is a robber! Just the same! He is not a robber! His name is John Barlow and he is robbing my friend, Mr. X.

Not by taking money, not by taking jewelry, not by taking the shoes of the house. He is doing something far more important. He is taking Mr. X's personal dignity, personal possession to claim certain things.

Let's see! Here is an example. Mr. X is witty, sharp and highly gifted. In his own right he can be a fascinating conversationist. He can make many contributions in conversation or in through public speaking. He is a business of "He is comical. He has a lot of things a man will have fun with." Poor Mr. X is knocked out.

Or another example. When an important selection is to be made, involving the selection of a candidate for office, the candidate for office, the candidate for office, the candidate for office, the candidate for office...

Mr. X does not lose the confidence of his fellows. John Barlow knows he is not a cop. Mr. X doesn't get that idea.

Or still another example. When one of his friends has a dinner party, he isn't going to be in the same room with the rest of the people. His friends say, "Can't depend on him." He may show up, but not for a long time. They say, "We can't depend on him."

Robber! Sure! A mean, contemptible, low-down robber. Watch him! The sports commentator reporting the ball game says, "Now, So and So turns up at the umpire." The news commentator reporting on world affairs, the news commentator, the news commentator, the news commentator...

We must all start from that the we take a course in GRAMMAR.
The fellows in Abercrombie have been busy cleaning, washing, and rewiring the entire building for the new campus. Last month it was Roy Cooper, Bob Johnson, Jack Ross, etc. whose rooms we received new boys—Vernon Smith, and Judd Gunnings with his new "Del-" lure.

Every other Wednesday night, Weatherley is host for a swingin', jitterbug party at the Square. Square—called by "Pack" Romany—has been quite colorful and everyone has had a good time. Although we wish to apologize to a certain group of air ladies who came over last night, and found the evening short. Please don't be offended—it won't happen again. Boys on the other campus, please note and come over Wednesday night.

Weatherley, as every other campus, has its social events and dance with talk of candidates and SGA elections. Among the many rumors that votes might be required, at this near election, are some possible insertions such as music in Weatherley; cleaning up the halls; adding some provisions such as more sugar, in the halls. A hall committee which is also being formed for the maintenance of the Phi Mu Alpha. Betch a luck, Jim.

The most violent of men are members of Mr. Leman's 127 club. Those members, Hopper, E. R. Maddox, Johnson, James Thomas, James Baker, Tom Podgett, Mitcoff, Bob Wolf, Smith, and Bowdane. These boys have an enmity against our school. One of the most active members is Mr. Hopper. He and Mr. Maddox stand in the faculty as "Grudges—Hugh"—Who is known among our old boys as "The Bad Boy."

As we see R. Wanda "Patricia" is developing into a wonder woman. Our basketball and track team members have been in conference with the rest of the women, in order to take part in the conference. "Patricia" is a very fine athlete, and her future is promising. She is a very good student, and her future is very bright.

Lera Blocker is St. Clair County's 'Favorite Teacher'

The article below appeared recently in the Birmingham Post-Herald and will be of interest to the students and former classmates of Mrs. Lera Blocker, whom it is written. Mrs. Blocker received her degree her last year.

The article was as follows:

A truly "favorite teacher" is a thing that it is Mrs. Lera Blocker of Moody High School in St. Clair County. She has had anyone ask Mrs. Blocker a few years ago what she expected for her life-time, she was asked "a life-time of teaching." Mrs. Blocker's attitude was in the presence of the "favorite teacher" by the students of Alabama with a view to setting up aims, qualifications, competences, welfare, etc.

"Can't trick an old grad like me!"

Lera Blocker was a teacher at Moody High School in St. Clair County, Alabama. She was known for her dedication to her students and her love for teaching. The article highlights her as a "favorite teacher" and her influence on the students of St. Clair County. The image does not contain any new information or events beyond what is already mentioned in the article.
The story in Aberdeen was that "Happy Birthday" to your houseguest, heart-warming Miss Leigh Morrison, as another year rolls around in her happy life. A big, nice cake was presented to her and we helped her eat it.

Now as for her busy life, she is among other things, head of the Department of Business Admin., consultant to the Jechs Health, Civil Air Patrol, state president of the Alabama Business Teacher Association, state director for College of the National Business Education Association, and vice-president of the Jechs Chapter of the American Association of University Professors, state vice-president of Pi Tau Chi, national honorary religious society, co-sponsor of the Jechs Wesley Foundation and Methodist district secretaries of student affairs, and recently appointed to the Calhoun County Civil Defense Committee. She is a member of the Jechs Delta Pi and Pi Lambda Theta, national honorary educational societies, and of the Tri Sigma, honorary societies of leadership, and service.

Asked how she keeps up with all this, she replied that she "has the great running" every morning and "falls in bed" every night. Many happy returns, Miss Bronson!

Odds and Ends
Former Aberdeen student visits campus on Spring Festival Day, including "Chuck" Brothers, Ray O'Brian, Horace Foret, and Bob Phillips.

The Nelson family's homecoming seems to be in progress. But he hasn't started studying yet.

Congratulations to Don Collins for his part in the Marching Glee Club's play. Don's legs and brother attended the play and visited the dormitory afterwards.

Life partner of brother is the father of the house, Jack Collins. Our apologies to those who missed the loud explosion caused by firecracker very shortly after the play ended and "The Clouds of Arid Heaven" was complete. Mrs. Collins was ready to really try to urge them to come back.

This time her school was Xerox Junior High School in St. Clair County.

She moved her primary classes into a little building all their own. -A novel and educational training workshop.

But the renovation, practically all done by Mrs. Blocker and her husband, who is principal of the school, transformed the little building into a bright and cheerful "doll house," which the primary grade children dearly love because everything in it is scaled to their size.

Studies Not Cut, Tried
Her youngest son doesn't have arithmetic, or spelling as such. But, you'll find few primary youngsters in school anywhere whose arithmetic or writing is better than that of her little students.

Mrs. Blocker ties all the classes together in one major project.

This year, her project is foods.

The children have small stores in one corner of their room. It has a cluttered-looking but delightful little "deep freezes" and packages of foods; it has a cash register and some change, and order blanks.

"Children's play store" now open every day.

Tiring time out behind the counter, they learn to add and to subtract and multiply and divide.

Keeps Books
The storekeeper must keep books and records. Now writing is in a notebook, and there's a keen competition for the best record. Without realizing it they learn good manners, too. They learn to thank their customers and to urge them to come back.

"The customers" have lessons to learn, too. Of course. They make up their shopping lists, taking pains with the spellings in the words, the costs of the items, learning to deal with volume, some of the basic ideas of good buying, and planning well-balanced diets.

Finally, they have a little money, and they go from the unknown unfamiliar food they try to get some of and cook and sample

A new era will be ushered in at this school if elected.

Don Collins—Don Holt, candidates for Vice-President of the Student Government Association, made the following statements:

Don Collins—As candidates for Vice-President of the Student Government Association, I pledge myself to loyalty, sincerity and a conscientious effort to fulfill the duties of that office.

"My attitude is one of cooperation for the good of the student body, and my wish is for closer relationship and understanding between students, departments and other groups which are working for the benefit of the students.

"If elected, I shall act for a greater and more unified student spirit. I shall gladly cooperate with whoever becomes president, and I shall help in the administration of the student government to the best of my ability.

"Don Holt—No person is entirely perfect. I am an exception to the rule. As a vice-president of the Student Government, I shall be one of the many capable of being your vice-president for the coming years. Your vote and support will be greatly appreciated.

"If elected, I promise to carry out the following policies as best

The Jacksonville Gamecocks split a double header with Berry College in Rome, Georgia. On Friday, the Gamecocks lost the first two games, 12-9, and took the second game, 14-1. On Saturday, the Gamecocks played four big games. It was the first time in the history of the team, and the Gamecocks won. The teams played to a tie in the third inning. The Gamecocks allowed five runs and.learning. Lulu and Woodward each doubled and Walls tripled. On Friday, Slaughter had two doubles to lead the Gamecocks team at the plate. In the second game it was a very different story. The Gamecocks collected 11 hits. Jack Nix, the leading tackler in the nation, had five hits in five times at bat. James Le, of football fame, made the fielding gem of the day when he made a spectacular one-handed stab of a ball to get a runner out.
