Do seniors crack up just before graduating? I have evidence to prove that they must. A guy I know tells me that his roommate, just before graduation this summer, began showing strange symptoms. The dorm would be perfectly quiet, and, suddenly, this senior would say "Come in!" and look expectantly at the door. Nothing would happen. At other times he'd jump up, run to the door, and fling it open to reveal—nothing. This guy who told me said he used to kid the graduating seniors mercilessly. Then, just the other day, he came up to me and said, "It happened! I heard a knock on the door, and we were to open it. There wasn't a soul there. And I'm a first quarter senior!"

Excuse me, some one's at the door...
Wolves while he was here. Did you know that the college takes on extra expenses to bring us the best lecturers and guest speakers? I hope we have to, you know; but it does, and we should take advantage of every opportunity we are given. Says, what do the students have to say about the campus? It doesn't seem to have an actual presence, yet by the looks of it, there's a lot of activity.

Speaking of SGA, would it be possible to officially drop the IT? After all, Jacksonville College is much, much more than just a teachers' college now. But you don't know that the Teacubs once was the name of the yearbook here. It was pronounced 'teak-oobs' (A is after E) anyway…

No, that's what's all the promotional posters are. They've been going up all over campus, Nee, nice.

No. It's time to join with Caledonia in finding ways to help with the Bigg, you know, ‘it’s good, just off Broadway is ‘47, and a great candidate for the Critics’ Award for the best combination of music, dance, and drama.

You know, it would be awful nice to see the extra effort that's happening on the campus if the students are elected to participate in the Teacubs with everyone at the events. It seems to me that the job of the reporter has become a mighty plausible office. "Goody, goody! I've got the name in the annual and the papers as an officer of [You name it!] — and I won't have any responsibilities."

Every student should have a Jodie Connell when quiet hours come around. Man, what results they get.

What do you say to a "Letters to the Editor" column? The Editor promises to print any letter that is written with serious intent, which contains no obscenities, and which is signed by the author. If you have something on your mind, drop a letter (please, no more than 550 words) in the Teacubs box in the faculty post office across from the Grab. Of course, we can't publish all of them and the ones having the most timely matter will be considered.

Would it be possible to inaugurate a "Letters to the Editor" column? "Letters to the editor" column? Yes. We've heard that "Letters to the Editor" column.

This is the best place we've been thinking of so happy and glad for you anytime.

Greetings, Grads

This is an informal welcome from the staff of the Teacola, and a chance to tell you that this edition is dedicated to you.

Are you getting a little misty-eyed, walking over the campus? There have been some changes since your day, and you just might not approve of all of them. Certain places used to ring back some right nice memories, don't they? Do you remember?

Rat Race

It is not our purpose to condemn nor coddle this business of "ratting" freshmen. Rather, we prefer to comment on something that was the result of this year's initiation.

For the first time in three years for sure, and maybe longer, this student body was together in something for a change. It's almost like a family; an odd family, but a family nonetheless.

Taking an overall view, this year has got off to a fine start. A tip of the editorial hat and a box of cigars to the freshmen and to the people who are keeping the campus alert.

October

Long, long ago, October really was the eighth month. Spirits were high, people who are usually shy and retiring were yelling their heads off and in the crowd. Both "sides" were joined together and having a fine time.

It was a bit of a good psychology on the part of the cheerleaders who tried the "break-up of rat week" with the "beat Tampe" campaign. If that midnight deal had been dispensed with, a lot of excess energy could have remained stored up for the game. Heaven only knows we needed it, a little more of the spirit shown two nights before. The motive was good, however, you can imagine.

Cadenza Talks Back

Dear Teacola Editor,

I have a problem I want to present. Pelicans are a lot of fun, and they do help to raise spirit. I am not sure what is being done about them. What I do not like are those finance people who think they know what to do about them. They praise the band, but they have no idea how to handle musical instruments, or at least some of Mr. Duncan's music. They don't know anything about music. I think they should try it themselves.

Helen Young: "More boys ask for more girls for dates, and I want to get out of high school, and I'm going to take over the world this year.

George Ann Davenport: "It's a great game, but I wish there were more football players.

Eve Bailey: "It's too bad there isn't more talent at the University, and that's it.

 buen Ely: "Everybody cut loose and meet at the Grab.

The play is an impromptu about a Scottish village that appears once every hundred years. It concerns two Americans, last hunting in the Highlands, who stumble on the "Clutha" and become familiar with a few of the songs that made a hit in "Almost Like Being in Love," "Come Into My Garden," and "Bend Me, Heal me on the Field, and "Sus, But for You, Go I'."

We want as many people as possible to come and see the play. You don't have to have great voices, or be great actors. You just have to have a lot of people on stage. If you're interested, come to the Grab. It should be a good time.

The old Saxons called October Wynnmonth; that is to say, Winemonth. The old Romans placed this month under the protection of Mars, who was also worshipped as Jupiter. The old Teacola referred to the moon, during the month in the image, during the "blue moon," as "blue-rated."
October

Long, long ago, October really was the eighth month. After certain noble Romans had tinkered with the calendar, it was pushed into tenth place, but no one had the heart to change its name. Regardless of arithmetic, it’s still October. How many days has October? Let’s see, “Thirty days hath September,” etc. Why there are 31. But it was not always so. October has had less days—30 and 29; also more days—39. Two of the Caesars, Julius and Augustus, are credited with deciding on the present 31.

October

The old Saxons called October Wyrmmouth; that is to say, Winemonth. The old Romans placed this month under the protection of Mars, their god of war, who also was supposed to care for March.

October has a spooky reputation; it is haunted, especially in its closing hours, by witches, reputedly flying on broomsticks; they lend a touch of mystery to Halloween. Other October anniversaries include National Newspaper Week, Fire Prevention Week, Community Chest Campaign, Girl Scout Week, United Nations Day, Columbus Day and Navy Day.

Those persons obviously do not understand the use or the care or the expense of the instruments.

The edge of one of the new symbols was split and bent during the midnight rally. During the “beat,” it “disintegrated.”

JSC Band Members Listed for 1952-53

The marching band has been rearranged on some mighty interesting and entertaining half-time shows at the football games this year. A vote of appreciation is due the organization and its director, Mr. J. K. Duncan. Mr. Duncan promises even bigger and better show for the home-coming festivities. This reporter is not at liberty to give any details, but this half-time feature will be an extravaganza.

Wayne Hopper, Garden, drum major; Florida Phillips, Mary Crighton, Jean Burns, Jacksonville; Nancy Blackburn, Attalla; Bebe Cook, Carolyn Freeman, Gadsden, majorettes.

The Scoreboard
By Jim Moore

OUR GAMECOCKS

Well, it looks bad for the Gamecocks. Four straight entries into the lost column and five tough games left to play. From our perch on the SCOREBOARD we have seen and recorded every play the Jaxmen made this season. They have had bad breaks and have failed to use good many breaks.

We think that the Gamecocks represent a fine squad of very talented athletes. We are sorry that they have lost repeatedly as was against pre-season expectations. We cannot put our finger on the factor that has kept our boys out of the win column but a general observation shows that the Gamecocks have not used all their potential power. In one at least of the four games they have played this season, the boys have showed that they can run, pass, punt, hold the opponents, and hustle with great determination.

Not one game was played this season with all these elements present. There was always something lacking. In the season opener against Livingston, the boys did a creditable job against a team that had held Arkansas State to six points, and that on an intercepted pass. Arkansas State is one of the top smaller colleges in the country.

Jacksonville tore through the Livingston defense for two touchdowns in the first half and went into the final period with a 13-0 lead. You remember what happened then. Livingston scored three consecutive touchdowns for a 20-13 victory. Jacksonville proved that they had a good running offense in that game although it did not appear for the next six weeks. The defense was doing well to withstand for the last three periods.

Two quick TDs and some back breaks in the penalty department led to a 15-7 deficit in the Jacksonville contest. The defense was outstanding for the last three clinics.

The passing attack did not prove itself until it was called again in the Jax game as a last resort to overcome a 13-9 Troy lead. When Joe Dacus took to the air he completed seven straight passes. He later added two more completions and Krochma made one for a total of 122 yards.

All the factors that go into a winning team are present on the Gamecock squad. Of course every team is going to lose a game they ought to have won and we accept that fact. But we do believe that the Gamecocks have not played a game they couldn't have won. We are not criticizing the boys but just pointing out what great potential there is on the team, proven material, that is.

THOSE STATISTICS

We took a look at the four game statistics, for the Gamecocks this season. We were determined to find something that the Gamecocks excelled in. It was not hard to find, however, as the punting average by Joe Dacus immediately hit our eye. The tables show that Joe has kicked 46 times for 1660 yards and an average of 46.8. This tremendous average was made in spite of a blocked punt that counted for a minus five yards. In about three more punts Joe has reached the sixty mile mark.

Some people like to compare rushing and passing statistics of a team with their opponents. These are cold facts which cannot be denied. A quick glance will show that Jacksonville trails their foes in running, with the running back. A big gaining back with a large margin. In an effort to make this point we came upon this idea. Why not find out how far the teams have moved in a positive direction. We mean how many yards did they advance, how many yards did they advance in good yardage, and knife, all of which count to push back the enemy. From this amusing slant we find this table:

MARYVILLE GAME

Maryville, Tenn.—Two touchdowns in the first period of the Maryville Highlanders and 163 yards in penalties were enough to defeat the Gamecocks by a score of 15-7.

The Gamecocks were by far the best team on the field. They ran through the Scottie's line at will and completely stopped the Maryville offense for the last three quarters. Penalties stymied almost every Gamecock attempt to get back into the ballgame after defensive lags let Maryville race to two touchdowns in the first period.

Jacksonville showed the 3000 fans that they were not through by marching to a touchdown on the first play in the second quarter. Bob Shelley scored second right end for 19 yards and the

TAMPA GAME

The Tampa Spartans came through as expected and downed the Jacksonville State Gamecocks, 29-6. It was a rugged game with Jacksonville recovering five Tampa fumbles and not being able to capitalize on any one. The crushing blow came in the second period after Jacksonville fans had gotten their idea that Tampa was on the way to defeat. The game stood scoreless and Jacksonville was holding up with the big boys from Tampa U. In the first quarter a powerful Jacksonville defense had stopped the Spartans cold eleven yards from a touchdown and drove to the Tampa 32 where Joe Dacus punted. Tampa fumbled on their own 39 and Virgil Holder recovered but again the Gamecocks hit it punt. It was midway in the of four Tampa fumbles in the first half, the Gamecocks were always in Tampa territory needing to break loose just once for the needed score to tie it up and go ahead. Tampa proved that they were big enough to make mistakes and get away with it as they held the Jaxmen at every turn.

The startling first half ended with Tampa leading by a lone TD, 6-0. No one had expected to stay so close so long. The half-time show by the band and Majorettes along with two smooth dancing teams prolonged Jacksonville's hopes during the second half intermission.

Lightening struck swiftly in the third period. Jacksonville took the kickoff deep in their own territory. With two yards to go for a first down, Dacus punted the Spartans back to their own 33. For the game Jacksonville rushed 12 times short of a TD.

The Gamecocks suffered their fourth straight defeat of the season as the Red Wave of Troy State ran to a 19-6 victory. The fans left Jacksonville still looking for victory number one and gave Troy its second conquest in five games.

TROY GAME

Troy waltzed little line in getting started away in the initial period coming in with a 12-0 lead of one TD. The Gamecocks were by far the best team on the field and completely stopped the Spartans c.

<no text>
Jacksonville was the home team against Maryville, and the game was a physical battle from the start. Joe Dacus passed for 131 yards and three touchdowns, while the defense forced four turnovers. The Gamecocks gained 351 yards on the ground and 123 in the air, and the offense was led by quarterback Willie Williams, who threw for 190 yards and two touchdowns.

The Gamecocks were threatening a touchdown in the final minutes of the game when Joe Dacus was forced to stop short of the end zone. Unable to get into position for a field goal, the Gamecocks turned to the running game and were stopped on the three-yard line on their final drive.

Maryville's defense was held in check for much of the game, but they held off a late comeback attempt by Jacksonville. The Gamecocks were forced to punt the ball away with less than a minute left in the game, and Maryville sealed the victory with a field goal from 32 yards out.

The final score was 17-10 in favor of the Gamecocks, who improved their record to 5-1. Jacksonville fell to 3-3 on the season. The Gamecocks had a tough season, but they fought hard until the end and were able to secure the victory.

The Gamecocks will look to continue their winning ways as they take on their next opponent, the University of Alabama. The Crimson Tide has been a strong team this season, but the Gamecocks have shown they can compete with anyone. With their strong defense and solid offensive line, the Gamecocks are a team to watch in the upcoming games.

The Gamecocks' next game is scheduled for October 27th, against the University of Alabama. The Crimson Tide is a tough opponent, but the Gamecocks are ready to take the field and give it their all. With a win over the Crimson Tide, the Gamecocks could be in position to make a run in the SEC conference.

JSC Presents TV Show Over WAFM-TV

ATHLETIC DEPT. IS FEATURED

On one Tuesday night not too long ago a group of students and administration officers made an exhausting trip from the "Teawla" to Jacksonville, a 2-lap Red Mountain. The purpose of which was to present a TV show on the "Teawla" show, WAFM TV's B'H. The students represented almost every phase of activity at Jax. Along the trip were our captives and co-strongs on the game-which, namely Josie Connell and Abram Hammons. Coach Saia made a very impressive speech asking the team to back these two fine players.

The cheerleaders were there in full swing giving out with a yell to stimulate the ball team and student body. The band was represented by Mr. J. Eugene Jacobsen, Mr. John Filley and the majorettes, who did a fine job. Homer Stephens, our SCA president, and Artice Parker, homeroom's secretary, carried certain activities on the Jax campus.

Dr. Wright was interviewed regarding the program at WTC, and all who saw the show were looking forward to the forthcoming expansions.

To top off the show Mr. Opal Jewell indoctrinated the audience in the finer points of publicity and audio-visual education at the college.

Winds Blow Warmth & Good Will To International House

By Louis Herzberg

It's mid-October, and the red hills of east-central Alabama are dotted here and there with an occasional gold or green. With football rivalry in the advance guard of colder winds to come, fall has come upon us from midsummer days that melted the sea walls and made many a tired student out a close to cool off in some near-by creek or chlorine-infused pad.

In this quick change-over from summer to fall, the United Nations General Assembly opened in New York to a different type of fall wind, not coming to us from Canada but a hot wind from the East, Russia to be precise. Yes, Andrei Vishinsky and his Red friends from Poland are making things pretty airy around the U. N. Assembly Hall.

It was a strong wind from Belgium that sent on two gifts to European countries from the midst of a rebuilding Western Germany will come still another wind bringing a story of what can happen if a wind like Mr. Vishinsky turns into a tempest.

From the little brick house behind the library strong, these winds have blown to France, Tunis, and the University of George, just to mention a few places.

Now the winds are settling to quiet their passengers here at Jacksonville's International House. Our acquaintance is like that of a child's first lighting of his hallowed Jack-o'-Lanterns. We are expecting this year to bring a real harvest of ability, both in foreign and American students, and so when the winds blow we will enjoy them.

KNOX MUSIC CLUB HAS INTERESTING SEASON PLANNED FOR 1952-53

The Knox Music Club of Administration offers a good selection of musical talent for the discriminating listener this season. The first article of the series is one of the top American lyric soprano, Miss Frances Yeend. Miss Yeend appears on Nov. 6. The next attraction is the brilliant young pianist, William Kapell, who is slated for Dec. 3. A ballet company of eight dancers and two conductors is the third attraction, calling their program Ballets Russ. They will appear on Jan. 30. The final concert will be by the Atlanta Symphony, under the direction of Henry Sopkin. This is one of the South's finest symphonies. The date is March 23, 1953.

Bedtime Story For Americans

Once, a few years back, a news reel of a Detroit race riot was shown in Russia. The propaganda ninjers hoped to point up the imperialistic and capitalist racial discriminations here in America to the people of Russia.

They were expecting angry reactions from the people, especially did they think their hopes of one scene showing a Negro man being beaten and knocked down. Instead, the mutterings rose when they saw a man running away.

International House Student Pass in Review-Hobbies, And Talents Listed

The bus stopped in front of Bob Graves, and little Cousin Jack looked rather dubiously from the window before picking up his bags and walking over to the library. He liked Jacksonville as well as one man who has just arrived from Mexico City, but he was surprised that his utterance "I don't understand English" had succeeded in getting him to his destination.

Little Cesar's reluctance, however, was not shared by Ben Nodal of Cuba, who was on the way. This veteran of one year in the Old World knew all about the foreign hospitals, and Ben was confident that he would find his way around.

Regula Schaefer doesn't speak any language, but English, French, Italian and German are among her repertoires. Her father is conductor of the Zurich Symphony Orchestra. Her brothers and sisters are all musicians. Without going into the hereditary-environment controversy, we'll say that Regula is naturally talented and as profile in the violin as you could ask for; organ and viol being her speciality.

Regula was disappointed to find that the music building was still closed. "There is just no time for a good breakfast," she moaned. "If we still go to school and eat our croissants and have our greasy ham, we'll just have to go for something to eat."

For Ben as well as Cesar it was the beginning of a sturdy friendship.

Little Cesar was assigned to his first roommates, but he couldn't believe that English either—and he asked Regula if she would be able to help him a little.

Little Cesar is very kind to his friends. He has invited every member of the International House and the campus to his room over the last few weeks. "We are all friends," he said.

We understand through interpreters that Cesar's heart is open to the project—but we can't help feeling that his roommates have a little more room in theirs.

First, Canada's Elaine Bryant was elected president. From there on, the list went to the Student Senate, and finally to the International House. The first President Bryant's heart is open to the project—but we can't help feeling that her roommates have a little more room in theirs.

"Elaine has a lot of talents," one of her friends said, "She is very good at playing the guitar, and she can sing beautifully." Another friend added, "She is very intelligent and has a lot of energy."

Elaine's hobbies are classic dance- and singing. A hobby common to many international students, Elaine hopes to continue her studies in Europe. She is looking forward to the next few months. Elaine doesn't miss Canada too much. She likes having her around. She does not smoke or drink.

FBLA Plan Activities For Year Ahead

The FBLA plans to hold their first meeting of the year on September 24. At that time, the FBLA will be introduced to the freshmen and new members of the club. The members of the FBLA are looking forward to the new year. They are eager to meet new people and share their experiences with others.

The FBLA also plans to hold a charity drive in support of the Red Cross. They hope to raise money to help those in need. The FBLA is a great club to be a part of, and they look forward to a successful year.

JUNIOR CLASS MAKES PLANS

Plans are being made for the JUNIOR CLASS to host a Winter Carnival this year. The carnival will be held on Friday, January 25. The Junior class is working hard to make this event a success. They plan to have games, food, and music. The Junior class is looking forward to a fun-filled evening.

“World Not Cruel Place,” Dr. Wolf Tells Students

By Doda Lasseter

“Don’t think of it as a cold and cruel world. It’s the nicest place you’ll ever be in,” preachers well trained will have a good chance! These are the words of the very capable and inspiring personality who visited our campus for the annual Religious Emphasis Week—Dr. Paul A. Wolfe, pastor of the Brick Presbyterian Church of New York City. After this profound advice to college graduates, he emphasized the fact that the younger generation was not “going to the dogs”, but declared, “They’re pretty nice kids.”

Miss Lucille Branscomb Tells Of National CAP Workshop

By Lucille Branscomb

Director of Aviation, JSC

As Alabama’s only representative at the National Aviation Workshop ever to be held, suggests that more Alabama teachers and Civil Air Patrol senior members were not with us to take advantage of the wonderful opportunities afforded by the workshop, the first of its kind ever held anywhere in the world.

 Held during July and August, this year under the capable and dynamic direction of Dr. Mervin Stachnik, U.S. Aviation Education for the Civil Air Patrol from Washington, D.C., assisted by the administration and engineering faculty of the University of Alabama, the Air ROTC, the Air Force, and outstanding aviation precedence from universities aviation branches; the local airport at Bolder, Colorado; and a 3,000-mile flight to Maxwell Field and Eglin Experimental Air Base, to give the group of 120 representative teachers and CAP workers from all over the country practical experience in the technical and general aviation education knowledge vital to the understanding of the far-reaching tenets of the Air Age whose sword covers the world today.

Teachers of every level, from grade through senior college, of every subject, private and commercial pilots, CAP officers and members who work with the youth of America, made up the 120 “students” of the workshop, and not only was there a learning situation of tremendous implications for each one, but a fellowship and a meeting of minds.

The workshop opened with a trip to the National Civil Air Patrol, at the end of which Dr. W. L. Doster, president of the American Association of State Colleges, addressed the group. An interesting and informative demonstration of the Civil Air Patrol was given by Dr. Doster, who was assisted by two CAP pilots.

The highlight of the workshop was the final session, which was held at the headquarters of the National Civil Air Patrol in Washington, D.C. The session was attended by representatives from all parts of the country and was devoted to the discussion of the various aspects of the Civil Air Patrol, including its history, organization, and activities.

The workshop ended with a dinner and dance at the headquarters of the National Civil Air Patrol, at which time Dr. W. L. Doster gave a farewell address. He expressed his appreciation to the group for their cooperation and cooperation, and assured them that the workshop would be repeated in the future.

Dr. Paul A. Wolfe Concludes Series Of Talks At College

Religious Emphasis Week was concluded on Oct. 16 at Jacksonville State College. Dr. Paul A. Wolfe, pastor of the Brick Presbyterian Church of New York City, spoke Sunday morning and evening at the Presbyterian and Methodist churches, and held one service each day in the Leon Cole Auditorium through Thursday.

His topics for the four days were "Jesus Christ Our Lord—the Foundation of Christianity"; "The Character of God," "Christian Morality—is It Outworn?"; and "Tins Generation—is It Fortune- or Unfortunate?"

His last sermon was especially timely for college students because he reversed the common maxim—"that security is the most important thing in life." He declared that this generation is unfortunate because it has been given the notion that life can be secured, whereas the note of expectancy (everything must be done now). It is fortunate because it has more knowledge than any preceding generation, and it has the greatest opportunity. The good world is one where one life is insecure, where nobody knows each day will bring forth, where men keep the faith high and reach their goal. The greatest freedom on earth is the freedom from government, he also pointed out that there has been no time in history when life was secure. Dr. Wolfe assisted this week by officers of the Student Government Association and members and leaders of the town.

Solo Class Presents First Fall Recital

The faculty of the music department presents students in small recitals once a month. The purpose of these so-called solo classes is to give the students a chance to appear before an audience and to help them overcome stage fright, which is often beneficial in developing solo performances. Although these performances are not advertised, anyone is invited to attend them, and they may do so by asking any music major the date of the next one. They are held in the big rehearsal hall at the music department. They rarely last more than half an hour or so, and the public is warmly invited.

The program for the last one included the following:

Nocturne in E-flat, Op. 9, No. 2 (Chopin)

Where Eve You Walk (Handel), Ben Carlton, baritone.

Poe m (Boellmann), Marlene Bauer, organ.

Andante and Allegro (Barratt), W. H. Ashburn, trombone.

Sonata Pathétique (Bach), Blanche Spradlin, piccolo.

Calm As The Night (Bohm), Dolly Eastwood, soprano.

Concerto in C Major in style of Vivaldi (Kreisler), Cynthia Kern, violin.

Field during July and August of this year under the possible and dynamic direction of Dr. Marvin Priestley, U. S. Aviation Education Office, Washington, D. C., assisted by the administration and engineering faculty of the University of Colorado, the Air ROTC, the Colorado Army National Guard, and outstanding aviation professors from universities all over the nation, this magnificent project cannot fail to be the beginning of a nation-wide effort to provide aviation education in the important place it deserves in the general education of American youth. For no one can deny that this is the Air Age, and not one of us, who has had more than 30 hours away, and who has not seen a modern airplane, has gone to the last few weeks by the airplane. And when one considers the history of the Colorado University, a school which has been known for the last few years by the airplane, and when one considers the history of the Colorado University, a school which has been known for the last few years, it becomes evident that this idea is not new; it is just beginning.

The workshop was not intended to be a mere glorification of aviation, but rather a demonstration of the engineering labor, which is being done in many places, and which is being done every day and will continue to do so as time goes on and science and science education catch up with each other.

Local CAP Gro p . (to Participate in Operation "SARCAP")

Jacksonville Civil Air Patrol Squadron will participate in a mission to be held at Muncie, Indiana, and the operation is designated "SARCAP" which is the abbreviation for the Southern Air Command, Civil Air Patrol. Its purpose is to give training to CAP members in the use of modern equipment and methods so that they are prepared to go on actual racial problems facing the nation and respond to the needs of the nation.

In addition, there are the usual training programs, such as the engineering school of the University of Colorado, the Air Force Academy, Air Force Basic Training, Air Force Basic Academy, and the field training of the University of Colorado, field training of the University of Colorado, and the field training of the University of Colorado, and the field training of the University of Colorado, and the field training of the University of Colorado, and the field training of the University of Colorado, and the field training of the University of Colorado, and the field training of the University of Colorado, and the field training of the University of Colorado, and the field training of the University of Colorado, and the field training of the University of Colorado, and the field training of the University of Colorado, and the field training of the University of Colorado, and the field training of the University of Colorado, and the field training of the University of Colorado, and the field training of the University of Colorado, and the field training of the University of Colorado, and the field training of the University of Colorado, and the field training of the University of Colorado, and the field training of the University of Colorado, and the field training of the University of Colorado, and the field training of the University of Colorado, and the field training of the University of Colorado, and the field training of the University of Colorado, and the field training of the University of Colorado, and the field training of the University of Colorado, and the field training of the University of Colorado, and the field training of the University of Colorado, and the field training of the University of Colorado, and the field training of the University of Colorado, and the field training of the University of Colorado, and the field training of the University of Colorado, and the field training of the University of Colorado, and the field training of the University of Colorado, and the field training of the University of Colorado, and the field training of the University of Colorado, and the field training of the University of Colorado, and the field training of the University of Colorado, and the field training of the University of Colorado, and the field training of the University of Colorado, and the field training of the University of Colorado, and the field training of the University of Colorado, and the field training of the University of Colorado, and the field training of the University of Colorado, and the field training of the University of Colorado, and the field training of the University of Colorado, and the field training of the University of Colorado, and the field training of the University of Colorado, and the field training of the University of Colorado, and the field training of the University of Colorado, and the field training of the University of Colorado, and the field training of the University of Colorado, and the field training of the University of Colorado, and the field training of the University of Colorado, and the field training of the University of Colorado, and the field training of the University of Colorado, and the field training of the University of Colorado, and the field training of the University of Colorado, and the field training of the University of Colorado, and the field training of the University of Colora

DAUGETTE HALL
By Vivian Carlisle

We know that vacation time is over when we see the halls of Daugette filled again with busy rows and old faces. The grade haven't been forgotten; but the seventy new freshmen have already taken their part in the dormitory affairs.

The leaders for the coming year are as follows: Miss H. L. Gower, director; Miss L. E. McWhorter, dean; Miss J. S. Wilson, advisor; and Miss V. L. Collins, advisor. Miss L. E. McWhorter, dean, Miss J. S. Wilson, advisor, and Miss V. L. Collins, advisor, have all been very helpful in organizing the dormitory affairs.

and Accessory Organs not Adversely Affected by Smoking Chesterfields

First such report ever published about any cigarette

A responsible consulting organization has reported the results of a continuing study by a competent medical specialist and his staff on the effects of smoking Chesterfield cigarettes.

A group of people from various walks of life was organized to smoke only Chesterfields. For six months this group of men and women smoked their normal amount of Chesterfields—10 to 40 a day. 45% of the group have smoked Chesterfields continually from one to thirty years for an average of 10 years each.

At the beginning and at the end of the six-months period each smoker was given a thorough examination, including X-ray pictures, by the medical specialist and his assistants. The examination covered the sinuses as well as the nose, ears and throat.

The medical specialist, after a thorough examination of every member of the group, stated: "It is my opinion that the ears, nose, throat and accessory organs of all participating subjects examined by me were not adversely affected in the six-months period by smoking the cigarettes provided."
