Coming Attractions! Spring! Old Mother Nature gave us a preview for a few days there, but she is now continuing with the main feature. Any way, I noticed quite a few people, including me, have had a touch of spring fever, already.

From all accounts the Freshman Frolic was a success. However, as always, a few people who really cared did all the work. Ah, such is life.

Read a clever article on Edgar Lee Masters in this month's edition of PAQUIN. It quoted this story of his which I think is hilarious.

It seems that a young Indian brave was out in the desert taking to his sweetheart long distance by smoke signals. In the middle of his message one of the experimental atom bombs was set off. He just stood there in a daze, then muttered, "Pgh. I wish I had said that." This one is too good to keep.

At a recent banquet at the International House honoring its new trustees, the director was making introductions of the speaker. After an appropriate build-up, he ended with a flourish, "Let's all give Dr. Hands a big cheer!" That one is nominated as the Spoonerism of the year.

Someone commented that Pat Watson looks like Cleopatra since she's cut her hair. I think so too. After all, pyramid the girls on the campus Nile bet not many others have that distinction. (Ouch!)

Wise crack of the month comes from Bob McCord. Upon seeing someone's automobile of ancient vintage, he commented, "Pbst guy's out of car." Understand that quite a few Jayvillers made it over to see "South Pacific" in Birmingham. You lucky people!

By the way, an error in the student publication caused some confusion. The letter of resignation was presented to the people of Jacksonville at 8:00 p.m. in Ferrell in the University of Alabama, Tuscaloosa.

Jacksonville Makes Fine Showing In '53 Crusade For Freedom

On Sunday afternoon, March 1, at 3 p.m., Ben Carlton will be giving a recital in the Lecont College Auditorium by the music department. He is a student of Walter A. Mason.

Asisting him will be W. H. Chambon of Jacksonville who will play the trombone. He is a student of John F. McKinley. Accompanists will be Cynthia Hardin and Ann Durham. Jacksonville State Teachers College.

You Walk (Handel), De Wanderer (Hummel), Sunday Morning (Schubert), False Alarm (Franck), Master Mason, Miss Mary accompanying (W. H. Chambon). Concerto in G minor (Mozart), Mr. Ann Durham, Miss Durham accompanying. Mr. Arlo. It is Enough (Mozart), Mr. Carlton.

Dr. Houstoun Cole: This week marks the following statement regarding the Crusade for Freedom: "I wish to take this opportunity in making this appeal to the people of Jacksonville State Teachers College and to the students at Jacksonville State College: may your combined efforts be the means of bringing about the betterment of our country and the peace of the world."
I. Speaking of art forms, reminds me that as a child I was not only fascinated by music but also by the visual arts. I remember how much I enjoyed the Blank Museum in New York, and how the paintings and sculptures there left a lasting impression on me.

II. My art collection is a testament to my love for the visual arts. From impressionist paintings to modern abstract art, each piece tells a story and provides a window into different perspectives and cultures.

III. Despite the challenges of the current global situation, I believe that art has the power to bring people together and to promote understanding and empathy. In these times of division, art can act as a unifying force and a source of inspiration.

IV. I look forward to opening my new art exhibit next month, which will feature works from various artists and styles. I hope that it will spark conversations and foster connections among viewers.

V. I would like to express my gratitude to all the artists who have contributed to this exhibit, and to the museum staff who have supported me throughout this process. I believe that art is a powerful tool for social change and I am committed to using it to make a positive impact on the world.

Forney Hall News

By James Dodson

I've got some good news for my fellow readers—this is my last column. If I can tell you, "Big Deal," in giving me a few hours, I'll allow this institution of higher learning in March. Since I expect this column to be retired in my honor, I imagine that some of our graduating seniors will be glad to take out this stuff next quarter.

Things must have really changed since the time before I learned to sleep through classes. A few nights ago, I awoke suddenly and heard "It's a Schoolteer's night theme." Maybe he's spilling his guts and telling you he wants to enjoy because he's a graduating senior from Jacksonville State University. I'm glad you say it, I guess.

"You want me to go around like a walking dictionary all the time? Nobody is preaching to anybody. Perhaps it is not entirely my fault. Sometime in high school or grammar school, I don't know where, I was first exposed to the remains of an argy, (bet you don't even know what an argy is)."
This is a book that leads you on, page by page, and when the end is reached it is very likely that you will begin again on page 1.

I heartily recommend this volume to you. It's illustrated too, and that should make it a lot easier for some of you. You may find it difficult to find a copy immediately since it's just off the press, but it is well worth waiting for.

This is another one that I insist you read.

Benny?

I was talking to a couple of our boys in a well-known restaurant here in town a few days ago, and one of the topics of conversation was how nice the place was. One of the boys made this statement: "If this place was at Mike's, he'd make a million." I wonder what Mike's is. It must be some night club like Bar One Bar (capitalized out of reverence). Well, I'm running out of paper, news, and anything else you can "do it". "You wuz"; "Don't never". How many of this student body are guilty of murder...Murder of their mother tongue?

The doctors say that her injuries are not as bad as she thought. It is reassuring to think that some of the people who are graduating from this college or any other college are going out to teach, and pass on their poor speech habits to the coming generation.

"I done"; "You wuz"; "Don't never". How many of this student body are guilty of murder...Murder of their mother tongue?

People who are muttering from this mule they may appear, says Cousteau, "are creatures who wish only to be allowed to go about their natural occupations, and these finally do not include swimming human divers." Only on sharks does Cousteau reserve judgement.

Lately some of the people who are graduating from this college or any other college are going out to teach, and pass on their poor speech habits to the coming generation.

"The octopus, the manta ray, and the money ed—alarming as they may appear", says Cousteau, "are creatures who wish only to be allowed to go about their natural occupations, and these finally do not include swimming human divers." Only on sharks does Cousteau reserve judgement.

"Good luck, boys!" I think of it. It's getting late anyway. I wouldn't be up this late except for the fact that I've been looking through my Marilyn Monroe magazine for five hours. I'll have to decide which is most important—the article or Marilyn. I've decided. Exit.

Howard Boyajian Gets Critic’s Applause

The article below appeared in the Montgomery Journal and will be of interest here where Boyajian is known as a member of the college faculty. He will appear in recital here later this month.

The comment from the Montgomery paper was as follows:

Howard Boyajian, violinist, and Stevanus Barrett, pianist, highly praised a very appreciative audience at the Fine Arts Museum yesterday afternoon in a concert sponsored by the Montgomery Music Club and the Museum, the second in the annual Free Sunday Afternoon Civic Series.

The program consisted of Part 1 in E Minor by Bach not two hours for violin and piano by Beethoven and Brahms, respectively, was a compliment to the Montgomery audience. Even though hours are not available for classical programs of this caliber following the drama the audience enthusiastically applauded the more. The artists were uniformly well pleased with the audience’s appreciation. It was a most enjoyable evening for all concerned.

Air Force Team To Be Here Feb. 23

An Air Force Aviation Cadet Selection Team from Moody Air Force Base, Ga., headed by Maj. Herk Nelson will visit State Teachers College as part of its Mid-Year 1949-50 conference track and field team.

He was also a participant in the National High School Track Meet, at New York City in 1947—earning second place in the javelin in the college age division and first in the javelin in the high school age division, and third in the javelin in the college age division.

Herbert, a senior, will be giving valuable advice and tips on how to play up in his sixth year of high school athletics competition.

An air force team is expected to play up in the event in January of his career at Aviation.

Maj. Nelson stated that the team is in no way connected with recruiting but is here merely to disseminate information and accept applications from students who wish to take the Air Force mental and physical examinations to determine if they are qualified to join the Air Force as an enlisted man.

While at the University of Alabama, he was chosen to play in the annual Turkey Trot meet in Atlanta last year and has played many matches in the Air Force as a member of the Air Force Track Team.

All boys may be interested in becoming part of the Air Force Track team and may wish to contact Mr. Dillin or Dana Herbert, varsity track coach, to get more information and to sign up for the program.

In conclusion, the program is entirely for the benefit of students who wish to join the Air Force as an enlisted man.

Graceland Members Attend Regional Meeting

Representing Jacksonville and Asst. President the past week-end at the two-day Southeastern Regional meeting of Civil Air Patrol at Maxwell Field in Montgomery Maj. Louis L. Bancroft, Co-ordinator of the Jacksonville Squadron; First Lt. Sam Coates, Commander of Cadets of the Jacksonville High School flight; Eugene J. Johnson, assistant supply officer; and First Lt. E. K. COMPLETE BASIC TRAINING

Our garage is in mobbest state that it would collapse if the tet-erites were to stop holding hands.

Bach's, Beethoven and Brahms, respectively, was a compliment to the Montgomery audience. Even though encores are not customary for classical programs of this caliber following the Brahms the audience enthusiastically called for more. The artists who apparently were as pleased with the audience as the audience was with them immediately repeated the first movement which was applauded more enthusiastically than the first hearing.

The partita by Bach was originally written with a figured bass, only, but was played with accompaniment written by Tidmarsh. In the violinists' performance the whole work covered the range of the instrument and displayed the qualities requisite for good Bach playing—that of clarity, simplicity, and a preening, enchanting line. In the Boccherini Sonata for Violin & Cello in C Major Op. 13 No. 3 both artists showed a keen sense of the dynamics so essential to Boccherini.

The musicians, Boyajian, professor at the University of Alabama; State Teachers College; and Burrett, chief musical director for the University of Alabama, were given a standing ovation and an encore for their performance, the students to the state, are distinct assets to musical Alabama.

VETERANS MUST REPORT EARNINGS BY MARCH 1

Montgomery, Ala.—World War II veterans taking GI Bill training were called upon today by the Veterans Administration to report the status of their 1952 earnings must be reported to the nearest VA Regional Office no later than March 15. To fail to submit the returns by the deadline, Harry A. Smith, V.A. Regional Office, warned, may result in discontinuance of GI subsistence payments and the loss of the report's value.

Trainees who haven't yet received the report forms may obtain them from their instructors. The form is easy to fill out and returns should be filed within 60 days of issuance.

First, they are used by VA as the basis for computing GI subsistence allowance, so it is important that the reports be submitted.

Scabbard and Blade Plans Spring Touring

By Jack Abbott

In the second year of its existence, the Scabbard and Blade has planned a spring tour of the southern and northeastern states. The tour will be the second major tour of the organization, and it is expected to attract a large following of supporters and members.

This year's tour will begin in the southern states and then move north, visiting cities such as Nashville, Atlanta, and New York. The tour will culminate in a grand finale in Washington, D.C., where the organization will hold a major conference and award ceremony.

In preparation for the tour, the organization has been working closely with local chapters to ensure that the tour is well-received and supported. The chapters have been tasked with hosting events and organizing local support for the tour.

The Scabbard and Blade was founded in 19xx to promote the ideals of chivalry, honor, and respect among its members. The organization has been growing in popularity, with new chapters springing up across the country.

Gamecocks Lose To Semi-Frogs

On Feb. 6, the Gamecocks five-game streak was broken when the Peavey Mill from Rossville, Ga., defeated them by a 44-36 score. The Peavey Mill's defensive efforts were the key to their victory. The Gamecocks were led by Rich Anderson, who scored a game-high 16 points. The loss puts the Gamecocks at 16-17 for the season.
