

THE NEW LOOK

First Order For New Josten's Class Rings To Be Taken Wed.

Jacksonville seniors will have the "newest look" in class rings next fall when the first order of Josten's newly-designed jewelry arrives in early October. The new rings have been designed by the master artists of one of America's best ring companies, and the work has received unanimous approval of a joint committee of Student Government and junior class members.

Mimosas Will Be Delivered Tues. Morning

Tuesday is the big date for Jacksonville students. The big 230 page 1954 Mimosas will be delivered to the subscribers from 8:30 o'clock until 3:30 in front of the Grab. Editor Harry Sherman has announced that the books are ready for delivery and work on the $3,300 job will be complete when the books are signed over to the students.

Circulation Manager Bobby Hawkins has indicated that some extra books are still available for the early buyers. The extras will go on sale Wednesday at 11:30 o'clock, but books may be reserved through Hawkins, Sherman, or Billy Pannell during the first two days of the week. The extras will go at five dollars each, with no credit for earlier payments which were due last November 10th.

Jo Ann Lewis, recently-elected editor of the 1955 yearbook, has announced that work already has started on the next edition of the Mimosas. With a great amount of experience gained from the 1954 production, next year's book is expected to surpass the publication being delivered this week.

The 1955 staff will take advantage of the yearbook know-how of at least six members of the 1954

Jim Durlacher, Josten representative for this area, will be here Wednesday, May 26, to take the first order for the new rings. Students may order with a five-dollar deposit and pay the balance when the rings arrive next fall. Mr. Durlacher has already announced that the new design will cost no more than seniors have paid for their rings during the last two years.

The new design, which is pictured above, combines simplicity with precision in a ring that is expected to become a standard for Jacksonville seniors. Bibb Graves Tower, the most prominent structure on the campus, is featured in perfect detail on one side, with the state flower above. The opposite side of the ring features a majestic eagle hovered above mimosa blossoms and leaves. The mimosa has become a symbol of our college since a group of the trees were planted on the campus over two decades ago.

The crest of the new ring features the name of the college in bold block letters that are hand-tooled. A perfect stone will complete the tear-drop shape of the entire ring.

Another big improvement will be the enlarged block letters for the date and degree.

Arrangements have been made with Josten's for a percentage of the total sales to seniors for the benefit of the senior class. In the past, individual student salesmen have collected the percentage and the senior class has received no direct benefits.

Student Award Winners Are Being Selected

The first evaluation sheets for student leaders on the campus will be filled out by faculty members and organization presidents this week. Dr. Emmett Fields, chairman of the selection committee for the "Certificates of Appreciation", has announced that his committee will begin screening the nominations at the end of the week.

So far, the names of 22 students have been submitted to the committee for consideration. Evaluation sheets for each of the nominees will go out today to each of the instructors and organization leaders with whom the student has been associated this semester.

Each of the students will be judged according to leadership, initiative, character, achievement, dependability, punctuality, attendance at meetings, personality, and scholarship.

When the sheets are returned, the student members of the committee will screen the nominees for the top-ranking candidates. The three-member faculty committee will make the final decision on the winners.

Dr. Fields also has announced that question sheets also will go out to members of the faculty and administration and to the organization presidents for opinions concerning the "Student of the Year". The certificates and the "Student of the Year" award will be made during the graduation ceremonies next week.

School Picnic, 'Sadie Hawkins Day' Scheduled For Thursday

Graduation Exercises Will Be Held June 5th; Rev. McNeill To Speak

The annual school picnic, sponsored by the Student Government Association, will be held at Crystal Springs Thursday afternoon, with a big day of entertainment scheduled to begin shortly after lunch.

Miss Lucille Branscomb has announced that the Civil Air Patrol will sponsor its annual Sadie Hawkins Day in conjunction with the SGA's list of events.

The students will gather at Crystal Springs in the early afternoon Thursday, where they can enjoy themselves by swimming, sun-bathing, dancing, or participating in the several games which the SGA social committee has planned.

Picnic Supper

The supper meal will be served on the picnic grounds at the lake at 4:45 o'clock and the student group will return to the campus for the big "Sadie Hawkins Day" dance in the college gymnasium.

Arlie Gunter, SGA president, has announced that the Student Government will make arrangements for transportation for students who do not have a ride to the picnic grounds.

The CAP will sponsor the traditional "Sadie Hawkins" race and the dance as its part of the day's activities. Miss Branscomb, the squadron commander, has announced that a definite place for the race will be announced by Wednesday. It will either be held on the campus or at Crystal Springs.

Evening Dance

The evening dance will feature Mr. and Mrs. Ed Weaver, professional square-dancing experts, and Bennell Hall, professional

An Editorial Concerning Class Dance, Finances

The Student Government Association and the individual classes have an excellent chance to develop our campus social activities into a well-organized program which will insure highly-successful class dances during the coming years.

The annual dances are becoming more of a problem every year, and the solution to financial difficulties could very well lie in the development of a better organization. The Student Government Association could eliminate much of the financial worries which go with the four big dances each

Graduation exercises will be held at Jacksonville State College on Sautdray, June 5, at 6 p. m., in College Bowl, it has been announced by President Houston Cole.

The Rev. Robert McNeill, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Columbus, Ga., will deliver the baccalaureate address. A graduate of Birmingham-Southern College, he was originally from Birmingham and served as pastor of churches in Fairfield and Jacksonville before going to the Columbus church in 1952.

Candidates for degrees are as follows:

B. S. in Elementary Education—Ann Idella Carr, Bynum; Frances Anne Carter, Roanoke; Milton B. Fowler, Vermer Glassco Fowler, Mary Lynn Groover, Dorothy Beatrice Pitchford, Boaz; Ruby Lee Gilmer, Bette Tuck Smith, Alabama City; Mary Weir Hammett, Inez Wood Traylor, Jacksonville; Elizabeth Harper McFarlane, Gaynelle Moncrief, Talladega; Frances H. Funeral Rites Are Held Here For Dr. Cayley

Funeral services for Dr. Charles E. Cayley, head of Jacksonville's Division of Social Sciences since 1952, were held at the First Presbyterian Church here last Thursday, with the Rev. Edwin Wilson officiating.

Dr. Cayley died at the Vanderbilt University Hospital Monday night after an illness of several months. He was stricken with a heart attack last August while vacationing in Canada, and although he had made improvement from time to time, he has been under medical care since his illness began, and his condition has been critical for several weeks.

editor of the 1955 yearbook, has announced that work already has started on the next edition of the Mimosas. With a great amount of experience gained from the 1954 production, next year's book is expected to surpass the publication being delivered this week.

The 1955 staff will take advantage of the yearbook know-how of at least six members of the 1954 staff. Miss Lewis served as a class editor for the '54 edition, and Harry Sherman, the '54 editor, will act as associate editor of the 1955 Mimosas. Billy Pannell, business manager this year, will switch to the Military section, and Bobby Hawkins will change to sports.

Jane Mayes, who was in charge of intramurals this year, will work at the same job next fall. Ann Bennett, 1954 feature editor, also will retain her position on the staff.

The financial department will be completely revamped, with James Royal, a business administration major from Anniston, acting as business manager and advertisement salesman. Tom Freeman will be in charge of circulation.

The remainder of the 1955 staff will have Orble Barnes and Nonie Minor in charge of organizations; Marion Mims and David Cook for classes; Thomas Shamblee, military; and Juanita Carter and Judy Boozer, typists.

Science Club Plans Outing

Members of Phi Mu Chi Beta, the local organization for science students, will end the year's activities with a chicken fry at Darby's Lake tomorrow afternoon, according to Dr. James C. Wilkes, club sponsor.

Club members and their guests have been invited to attend the picnic which will begin at 4:30 o'clock.

Science students attended several interesting field trips during the past month in connection with class work. Members of the science club and botany students accompanied Dr. Wilkes on a three-day pilgrimage to the Smokies early this month. Several botany students also spent two days in DeSoto State Park, near Ft. Payne, last week. The group included Barbara Shirley, Gail Davidson, Jo Ann Lewis, Bobbie McDougel, Gerald Poore, and Harry Sherman.

Another big improvement will be the enlarged block letters for the date and degree.

Arrangements have been made with Josten's for a percentage of the total sales to seniors for the benefit of the senior class. In the past, individual student salesmen have collected the percentage and the senior class has received no direct benefits.

Mr. Durlacher will be here all day Wednesday to take orders and fit the rings. The dies will be cut during the summer and the first order will be returned in late September or early October. Another order will be taken immediately after the first order arrives.

Senior Dance Called Success

The crowning event of Jacksonville's social season was termed a definite success here Friday morning, following the big Senior Ball on Thursday night. The music of Buddy Morrow, his trombone and his orchestra, was well received by the many students and visitors who attended the last dance of the year.

No report has been made as yet concerning the finances for the dance, but early indications were that the stockholders will get at least a dollar-for-dollar return on their investment. The dance was financed mostly through the sale of stock, a system which has proved to be successful for the last two years.

Curtis Shamblee, Senior class president, has indicated that he was entirely pleased with the dance, and has extended his thanks to the seniors, lower classmen, and faculty members who helped to make it a success.

This year's Senior Ball marked a transition from the usual tradition in several ways. It was one of the first Senior Balls which was semi-formal. The seniors also had approved a regulation forbidding the wearing of flowers.

The members of the senior class were featured in lead-out as the orchestra played "Moonlight and Roses." The Senior officers in the lead-out were Curtis Shamblee, president, and Mary Curtiss; Mary Jane Clarkson, treasurer, escorted by David Lacey; Mary Sharp, social chairman, escorted by Norman Propst; J. C. Anglin, SGA representative, and Nancy Burroughs; and Katherine Cooper, reporter, escorted by Cleve Irby.

Dr. Fields also has announced that question sheets also will go out to members of the faculty and administration and to the organization presidents for opinions concerning the "Student of the Year". The certificates and the "Student of the Year" award will be made during the graduation ceremonies next week.

Class Rings, Annuals

Orders for the new Jacksonville class rings will be taken on Wednesday by Jim Durlacher, area representative for Josten's Ring Company. Copies of the 1954 Mimosas also will be on sale in the hall outside the Grab.

The Mimosas business manager has stated that the extra books must be sold for five dollars each in order to complete payments on a $3,300 job. Plastic protective covers also may be ordered by students who desire them. The covers will be ordered at the end of the week and should be here before the last day of school.

squadron commander, has announced that a definite place for the race will be announced by Wednesday. It will either be held on the campus or at Crystal Springs.

Evening Dance

The evening dance will feature Mr. and Mrs. Ed Weaver, professional square-dancing experts, and Pannell Hall's panomine quartet. There will be both square and round dancing on the schedule. Admission will be 25 cents per student and the entire proceeds will go to the local squadron of the Civil Air Patrol.

Students may put on their best Dogpatch costumes Thursday, and the best dressed will receive a prize for their efforts. According to Al Capp's Dogpatch tradition, the girl who catches her man in the big race can take him to the dance Thursday night. In Dogpatch the man's fate is even worse. He has to marry the girl!

THE SWING OF THINGS—Alice Jane Williams, a graduating senior from Oxford, isn't the world's best golfer, but who cares about golf, anyway. The month's Gem of the Hills is one of the most popular members of the graduating class and has been active in many of the campus organizations during her stay here.

The annual dances are becoming more of a problem every year, and the solution to financial difficulties could very well lie in the development of a better organization.

The Student Government Association could eliminate much of the financial worries which go with the four big dances each year.

Our school cannot pretend to operate on the same social level that is so much a part of the big colleges such as Auburn and Alabama. Although it is the third largest college in the state, our school does not have the number of students required to make four big dances successful. Yet, we need at least two events each year which will feature some of the nation's top orchestras.

The Senior class definitely should have its Ball each spring. Without the dance, much of the tradition and spirit of the graduating class will be lost. The Senior class this year can claim a definite success as far as entertainment is concerned, but the financial problem is still present.

Why not eliminate the annual dances for the three lower classes and combine their work and leadership for one big undergraduate dance which will bring another of the top bands of the land to our campus. The combined efforts of the three classes should insure the success of a big dance that would rival the annual Senior Ball for entertainment.

Of course, many students will object to such an organization because it would eliminate much of the individuality of the various classes. The lower classes can still have their individual dances, but they should be limited to relatively inexpensive tea dances which will not impose a financial burden on the students or overload the social calendar.

The Student Government Association can do its part by organizing the new system, and perhaps by promoting a dance of its own in honor of many of the student leaders who receive no recognition otherwise.

With the Student Government Association directing the student social calendar, the students could benefit by a no-flower rule which would serve to ease the financial worries even more.

A percentage of the profits from the big dance also could go a long way toward providing a good supply of props for decorations, thereby eliminating more of the work and headaches which usually accompany the class dances here.

Dr. Cayley came to Jacksonville in 1934 to teach political science. He was recognized as outstanding in this field and in 1952, after the retirement of Dr. R. P. Felgar, was appointed to head the social science division. He was an active member of the American Association of University Professors, and had worked untiringly in the interest of retirement for teachers in this state.

Here In 1934

Dr. Cayley has been a member of the Exchange Club since coming to Jacksonville and served as president of the local club, president of the Alabama Exchange Clubs, and as district governor of Exchange. He was an honorary member of the International House Program.

A native of Stratford, Ontario, Canada, Dr. Cayley graduated from the Universities of Toronto and Manitoba. He received an M. A. degree from the University of Manitoba; and an M. A. and Ph.D. from the University of Chicago. He held teaching positions in Missouri and Texas before coming to Alabama, having headed the department of social science at the University of Kansas City.

Survivors
Surviving are his wife, the former Empress Gough; a son, William Charles Cayley of Tuscaloosa; three daughters, Mrs. James F. Sharp, Nashville, Tenn.; Mrs. Julia McDonald, Los Angeles, Calif., and Mrs. Edwin Ford of Birmingham; his mother, Mrs. William C. Cayley of Stratford; and a brother, the Rev. Murray Cayley of Rochester, N. Y.

Pallbearers were members of the social science division: J. M. Anders, Dr. T. E. Montgomery, Jr., Dr. Emmett Fields, Horace Lee Stevenson, Robert E. Williams, Leon McCluer and Dr. J. F. Glazner; and Dr. Frank McLean of the English faculty. Honorary pallbearers will be other members of the faculty.

Members of Hiram Masonic Lodge served as honor guard.

The sense of humor is the oil of life's engine. Without it the machinery creaks and groans. No lot is so hard, no aspect of things is so grim, but it relaxes before a hearty laugh. —G. S. Merriam.

On Better Relations

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The following editorial has been prepared by members of the 'J' Club and is directed toward better understanding and better relations between the athlete and the average student.)

There is a lot of basic truth in the claim that every student has at least two points of view. Without a difference of opinion there would be no arguments, very little discussion, and probably very little progress. Our athletes recognize the important fact that school spirit and morale rest upon the fact that students can have their differences of opinion and still arrive at sound decisions through sound judgement.

Our athletes also realize the fact that there is such a thing as misunderstanding. They are convinced that any breakdown in harmonious relations between athletes and the remainder of the student body stems from the fact that one side has misunderstood the feelings and the opinions of the other.

Several of the outstanding members of the 'J' Club and the football team have expressed their view on the matter of better relations between athletes and the average student. Their views are based upon a little sound thinking and good judgement, and they have helped to clear up any cloud of ill-will that may have existed heretofore.

Our athletes do not expect any special privileges that are not a recognized part of the school's athletic program, or that the student body is not willing to grant. They are governed by the same college rules that are in effect for other students. In other words, they are students first and athletes second.

The problem of line-cutting has caused some concern among the student body. However, the athletes and most of the students feel that the Student Government Association has regulated the problem for the benefit of the athlete and the average student. The athletes are content to wait until the college administration can solve the crowded condition at Hammond Hall, and perhaps provide a training table such as many of the other colleges have.

The athlete here wants to be one of the students and do his part for the good of the school. They ask that students meet them halfway so that both groups can do their part to build campus spirit. They feel that good

It's All In The Point of View

During every school session since our Student Government Association was first established in 1942, there has been a small portion of Jacksonville students who have been dissatisfied with the actions of their student councils. The grumbling and complaints come from only a small percentage, but it still persists and probably will throughout the history of student government here.

Actually, student opinion is the basis for good government, and no one has denied any student his privilege of complaining. Yet, there are too many of our students who do nothing but complain, and it seems to be their nature to be dissatisfied with the world in general. They complain because their student officers seem to do nothing to promote activities. Yet, they are the very students who refuse to take advantage of the activities that are available.

The same situation holds for the Teacola, the Mimosa, and many other campus organizations. The small percentage of students continue to complain, but they refuse to take an active part in the administration of our publications, our student government, and our other organizations. Many of them argue that certain groups hold some sort of miniature dictatorship on the campus, and that the majority of the students are on the outside looking in.

When the records are checked, the dissenters will find that the so-called dictators are the individuals who are willing to do the work, and have exhibited the leadership and initiative for the job.

The recent stunt night at Leone Cole Auditorium serves as a good example of what can be accomplished on our campus. Practically every one of the more than three hundred individuals who saw the show will readily admit that it was the best entertainment staged here in a long time. It was a big job. It took a lot of hard work, initiative, imagination, and organization.

No doubt, the skits represented the largest student participation for any activity here in years. Almost every detail of the show went off to perfection, despite the fact that the entire production was initiated and organized within a period of two weeks.

Here is an excellent answer for the students who want to know why we do not have a better student government, better publications, and better organizations. When you do a little work along with your complaining, the situation is certain to change for the better.

Stuff and NONSENSE

All of you history students can relax until time for the final exams. Dr. Fields has announced the good news. The sophomore class is operating in the black again! The good doctor probably was becoming a little irritated at the eighty-five dollar debt hanging over the sophs for more than five months.

After trying tea dances, square dances, twirp dances, and several other tricks, the class and its sponsor finally arrived at the answer. A fifty-one dollar profit from the concession stand on Fiesta day cut a big portion off the red, and the stunt night two weeks ago netted seventy-eight more dollars.

The red has turned to black, but Dr. Fields and the sophomore officers admit that they still owe a big debt. The class received perfect cooperation for the big stage hit when dormitory leaders worked Arlie Gunter, president of the Student Government Association, and three of the newly-elected S. G.A. officers for the next school year attended the State Student Government Convention held on the Huntington College campus in Montgomery recently. The group, which also included Jimmy Reaves, Gene Hanson, and Betty Wade, joined in the various discussions of student affairs which were promoted by the SGA officers from the University, Auburn, Athens, Florence, Howard, Montevallo, Huntington, and Jacksonville.

The convention is an annual affair for the state's SGA officers and is rotated among the several member colleges. Reaves, the new president-elect of the local Student Government, already has accepted the convention for the Jacksonville campus next spring.

The purpose of the conference is to discuss the problems of each school in general, and to help the individual student leader to solve the problems of his home campus.

The four main topics of discussion in the recent conference at Montgomery were: (1) How to overcome student apathy; (2) Fi-

The story you are about to hear is true. The time is 8:30 a.m. on April 6, 1954. I'm a librarian. Arlie Gunter is searching frantically for some material before introducing a political speaker to the student body. All sources have been checked carefully—the card catalog, the Reader's Guide, the ready reference shelf—when suddenly someone thinks of the Vertical File. This hunch pays off, for there filed under "Alabama—Politics and Government" is a November 15, 1953 article from the Birmingham News giving some salient points about the speaker. The results of that experience was a maximum success for Arlie's introduction of the candidate.

In case you are unfamiliar with the Ramona Wood Library's vertical file service, let me explain. Frequently the library receives valuable material in pamphlets, booklets, leaflets, mimeographed material, and newspaper clippings.

Religious EMPHASIS

THE GOOD SHEPHERD

The Rev. John L. Oldham "I think when I read that sweet story of old,

When Jesus was here among men, How He called little children as lambs to His fold, I should like to have been with them then".

And who amongst us—young or old—would "like to have been with them then?"

"I wish that His hands had been placed on my head, That His arms had been thrown around me,

And that I might have seen His kind look when He said, Let the little ones com unto me."

Faith makes of wishful thinking a reality, so that we feel His hands are ever placed on our heads. It is because men of His time on earth knew for a fact He so really cares for us we

John L. Oldham turn to Him today, as to our good shepherd. Years before, the Psalmist perceived this as he wrote in the Twenty-Third Psalm, "The Lord is my Shepherd; I shall not want." Jesus meant us to so accept Him, as He declares in St. John 10:11, "I am the good shepherd; the good shepherd giveth his life for the sheep."

"Yet still to His footstool in prayer I may go,

And ask for a share in His love; And if I thus earnestly seek Him below,

I shall see Him and hear Him above."

In early Christian art our Divine Lord is usually represented as the good shepherd. This is as it should be, and we shall do well, to recover for our day, this so accurately descriptive title for our beloved Master, who came among us as one who serveth. The shepherd loved his sheep and they responded to his love. He kept count of each and every one. He would find them good pastures, and protect them from themselves, as well as from animals and other foes from without. He really cared for them because he truly loved them.

"Thy king of love my shepherd is, Whose goodness faileth never; I nothing lack if I am his; And he is mine forever."

The good shepherd would have us love him, not for his own satisfaction, but for our own good.

The athletes are content to wait until the college administration can solve the crowded condition at Hammond Hall, and perhaps provide a training table such as many of the other colleges have.

The athlete here wants to be one of the students and do his part for the good of the school. They ask that students meet them halfway so that both groups can do their part to build campus spirit. They feel that good relations among all groups of students is necessary for better spirit and better athletics.

JSC In Position Of Favor

Student affairs at Jacksonville apparently occupy a favorable position among the state colleges. When compared with the responsibilities and privileges offered student leaders at other colleges, our student government, publications, and other phases of student activities give the individual more freedom to express his own views and to obtain a lot of practical experience in democracy and leadership.

The State Convention of Student Government Association held in Montgomery recently emphasizes the advantage Jacksonville students have over the students of many of the other state colleges. No doubt, the results are just as emphatic, and the system of greater responsibility is training our student leaders to cope with the big problem that they will face during their college careers and in later life.

The great amount of freedom which our student officers enjoy will pay even greater dividends later. The system is gaining momentum and in the future might even become an important part of the college curriculum. Our students have repaid the confidence placed in them by making sound decisions which have done much to modernize our college and help to maintain a steady increase in enrollment.

The cooperation between the faculty and the student leaders has been excellent in practically every instance. In all but a few cases the faculty advisor is content to watch from the sidelines and allow the students to make their own decisions. The system reduces the load on the administration and the faculty, and makes the student feel that he is an important part of the college.

When the time is ripe, perhaps the state and college administration will see a great benefit in a regulated program of extra-curricular activities for each student enrolled in school. There is much to be learned through participation in student activities that can never be taught in a classroom, and in many cases, the knowledge will do the individual far more good than anything that comes from a textbook.

Perhaps some day we will have extra-curricular activities listed among the requirements for a college degree, with a system of grading very similar to the system used for regular class work. If the time ever comes, the employer who interviews a college graduate need look no further than the student activities to determine exactly how well the applicant will fill requirements for leadership and initiative.

If I Were A Student Again--

(Written for the Alumni News)

We, alumni, each having been personally influenced by our connection with the college, are especially appreciative of the high quality of education for which it stands. We are justifiably proud of J.S.T.C.'s seventy years of fine service to the State and to the nation, and we are particularly grateful for the splendid leadership during the past twelve years of our president, Dr. Houston Cole, whose selfless devotion has been a principal factor in the success of the college.

It has been quite a while since I entered college as a freshman—many changes have taken place in the world and in colleges. Nevertheless, there are some fundamental things that remain. I have been thinking of what I would do if I were entering college again in this changed and changing world.

First of all, I would choose my college with the greatest of care. The four years that a student spends at college are formative years. They will have a great deal to do in determining the direction that the rest of his life will take. A student should choose a college (like JSTC) that will best develop his mind and character and give him the best philosophy of life.

If I were a student I would take part in a reasonable number of so-called campus activities. They have their place in developing qualities of leadership and in making of friends.

If I were a college student again I would try to cultivate the art of making and keeping friends. The Bible gives a good recipe for that: "A man that hath friends must show himself friendly." The best way to make friends is to forget about it and try to be a friend. If I were a student again I would try to cultivate a spirit of humility. The student who knows more than his professors is not going to derive a great deal of benefit from his college course. Great scholars approach their subjects with great humility. They know enough to realize how little they know of all that is to be known.

If I were a student again I would pay more attention to the cultivation of my spiritual life. All too frequently students who were active Christians in their home churches seem to leave their religion at home when they go to college. As I see one generation of students after another graduate and pass out of college, I observe that the finest characters among them are those who brought their religion with them, held on to it, practiced it, and used every means of grace at hand for the development of their spiritual lives. The present organization of college students that I know is a decided improvement over the generation that I knew back in my own student days. I have been thinking mainly of that outer fringe of college students who fail to make the most of their opportunities and of the thousands of prospective students who are planning to enter college in the future. I have been trying to suggest to them a more excellent way than some have taken, a way by which they may make the most of those priceless years that they spend in college.

for the concession stand on Fiesta day cut a big portion off the red, and the stunt night two weeks ago netted seventy-eight more dollars.

The red has turned to black, but Dr. Fields and the sophomore officers admit that they still owe a big debt. The class received perfect cooperation for the big stage hit when dormitory leaders worked up the best entertainment seen here in a long time.

A lot of credit must go to a lot of people for the tremendous success of the stunt night. The whole affair provided definite proof of what can be accomplished here when so many students are willing to take a little of the responsibility.

Herb Griffin, FBLA Leader, Spotlighthed

HERB GRIFFIN

This month's Spotlight shines for Herb Griffin, outstanding senior classman and one of the most active student leaders on the campus. The business administration major has been one of the most productive members of his class since he entered Jacksonville in 1950. A graduate of Shades Cahaba High School, Birmingham, he has held some of the most important offices open to students here.

Herb gained much of his leadership ability through participation in extra-curricular events in high school. He served as president of his class during his sophomore and senior years. He was also president of the Shades Cahaba Hi-Y and vice-president of the high school athletic club.

Probably the most amazing part of Herb's college accomplishments is the fact that he was out for football during the 1950 season, although he wears an artificial leg accepted the convention for the Jacksonville campus next spring.

The purpose of the conference is to discuss the problems of each school in general, and to help the individual student leader to solve the problems of his home campus. The four main topics of discussion in the recent conference at Montgomery were: (1) How to overcome student apathy; (2) Financing new activities and new interests; (3) How the school paper can become a voice of the student government; and (4) The personal responsibility of the student government leader.

The four local officers made individual reports on the discussions during the SGA meeting here on May 11.

which was necessitated by an accident during boyhood.

Herb's accomplishments during his four years of college have been little short of spectacular. He has been one of the outstanding leaders in the local Chapter of the Future Business Leaders of America, and has had an active part in establishing FBLA chapters in colleges and high schools throughout the state. He has served as president of the local chapter and has attended several of the state and national conventions of FBLA during the last two years. He is also one of the most active workers on the FBLA Placement Bureau, which has gained a lot of interest from national headquarters.

Herb's other accomplishments at Jacksonville include an excellent job of leadership in the Wesley Foundation, the organization for Methodist students on the campus. He has served as president of the group and was elected to Pi Tau Chi, honorary national religious society. During the current school year, Herb has been one of Jacksonville's delegates to the National Methodist Student Movement at Lawrence, Kansas, and the state Pi Tau Chi and Methodist Student Movement conferences.

Herb's list of student activities also include a term as president of Pannell Hall, social chairman of the senior class, and a member of the Student Government Association.

Since entering Jacksonville, our spotlight has compiled a remarkable record of achievements in scholarship and student activities. His stay here will be completed on June 5 when he receives his B. S. Degree in business administration, with a minor in economics.

as well as from animals and other foes from without. He really cared for them because he truly loved them.

In case you are unfamiliar with the Ramona Wood Library's vertical file service, let me explain. Frequently the library receives valuable material in pamphlets, booklets, leaflets, mimeographed material, and newspaper clippings, giving information that is difficult to find elsewhere because it is too new or it is of local interest only or simply because it is obscure. In order to keep these materials at our fingertips there must be some way of filing them. Consequently they are classified by subject, a card is filed in the card catalog, and the material is placed in a folder in the vertical file. We have two shining new steel filing cabinets, and one older less glorious one, running over with interesting tidbits of information. These cabinets can be located at any hour of the day in the Stack Room, a nook designed for your convenience on the first floor in the stacks. All materials, books and magazines may be used here without going through the procedure of checking them out.

One further related item is the recent acquisition of a monthly Vertical File Service Catalog published by H. W. Wilson which gives alphabetically by subject a list of free and inexpensive materials, along with the source for ordering, the price, and a description. This should prove helpful to the librarian in making our present vertical file more complete, to teachers as teaching aids, and to students in writing research papers. With this catalog supplementing our own facilities the library staff is ready to attempt a solution to any mystery for you as well as for the president of S.G.A.

Anniston Senior Wins Scholarship

Eight selected Anniston High School secretarial students completed May 10 at JSTC for a scholarship offered by the Anniston Branch of the National Secretaries Association. This awards competition is directed annually at Jacksonville State College by Miss Lucille Branscomb, head of Business Education Department, at JSTC.

The winner, Miss Tonia DeVore, was presented with a $50 scholarship during the Awards Day Program at the Anniston High School this week by Miss Martha Nunnelly, President of the Anniston Chapter of the National Secretaries Association. This is the second year of this NSA Secretarial Awards Plan.

Students competing for the scholarship were: Naomi Holloway, Ruby Rhodes, Joyce Bazemore, Mildred Waugh, Tonia DeVore, Doris Ellington, Wilma Price, and Janice Martin. All are members of the Senior Class.

Miss Judith Clingo, member of the National Secretaries Association, accompanied the high school students to Jacksonville.

Two of these students plan to attend Jacksonville College next year.

The toughest job of the lot fell to the judges who had to pick the winning skits. There were no drags during the entire show, and the night was filled with comedy from the beginning to the end.

Special thanks must go to Billy Pannell for a great job as emcee, to Charlie Wilson, Ernest Winchester, Shirley Childress, and Jack Collins for their work in producing the skits, to Gus Stephano and Bill Aldrup for between-skit entertainment, and to all of the others who helped to put over the show.

Wesley Group Picks Officers

A new slate of officers for the coming year has been selected by the nominating committee and approved by the Wesley group. They are as follows: President, Ed McElroy; First Vice-President, Dot Cole; Second Vice-President, Bill Powell; Secretary, Kathy Culbertson; Treasurer, Ross Smith; Song Leader, Margaret Watson; Pianist, Barbara Ann Self; and Publicity Chairman, Juanita Carter.

A recent social even given by the Methodist students was a picnic held at Shadow Lake with a large number of students attending.

For the purpose of getting acquainted with visitors and new members, everyone introduced himself or herself; then the person who could remember the most names was determined—Herb Griffin being tops.

Betty Robbins, Billie Shanter, and Bill Hester served as callers for square dancing. Next, there was group singing with a solo by Mary Joyce Thackerston.

The event ended with a devotional by the newly-elected president for the fall session, Ed McElroy.

Seniors Meet For Reception

On Tuesday night, May 11, at the home management house, a reception was given in honor of the seniors in home economics education.

Sweet peas and shasta daisies furnished effective decorations in the reception rooms and the centerpiece for the prettily-appointed refreshment table.

Mrs. Mary L. Lowrey greeted the guests at the door and presented them to the seniors, who were beautifully dressed in evening gowns: Betty Joyce Carter, Carol A. Dunn, Mary Sharp, Ruth Groover, Doris Lee Prather, Alice Williams, Jeanette Honea, Nancy Wood, Athena Arrington, Sidney Ann Clarkson, Joyce Newby, Evelyn Wells, Hilda Tyler and Virginia Ihrle.

Serving were: Inez Morrison, Peggy Morrison, Joy Smith, Wanda Robinson, Carolyn Dews, Ina Martin, Ellen Starnes, Iris Hale, Joyce Powell and Carolyn Baker.

Mrs. S. B. Matthews, Mrs. John F. Green and Mrs. Tyler Posner assisted in entertaining.

Faculty and friends called during the evening.

Members of Kappa Phi Kappa, honorary fraternity for men in education, held their annual banquet at Noble Inn in Anniston on Wednesday night, May 12. The famous Purefoy menu was served.

The guest speaker for the event was Dr. Houston Cole, president of our college. He presented, as usual, a very interesting and witty speech concerning the importance of honorary fraternities upon a student's record—primarily for future job reference. He also mentioned a few fine opportunities offered by the teaching profession to a young person beginning his career.

Those attending were: Dr. and Mrs. Cole; Dr. Emmett Fields, adviser, and Mrs. Fields; Mr. and Mrs. Denton Kenamer, Woodville; Mr. and Mrs. Stassel Cole, Dadeville; Mr. and Mrs. Howard Waldrep, Anniston; Bob Hand, Wadley, and Mary Dale Campa, Vernon; Byrd Tucker, Cullman, and Carolyn Mayes, Mobile; J. Mr. and Mrs. Walter Mason entertained the music faculty and students at a party on Tuesday evening, May 11, at the music hall.

Square dancing under the direction of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Weaver was enjoyed in the large recital room which was colorfully decorated with balloons and cut-outs of music symbols. Quantities of roses and mixed flowers were also used.

Mr. and Mrs. Weaver gave several exhibition dance numbers and informal games were played at small tables.

Punch and dainty refreshments were served during the evening from a table centered with mixed yellow and white garden flowers.

Miss Olive Barnes served punch.

With the termination of the athletic year drawing near, one can look back with a feeling of success in the field of competitive sports for Jax State. Whatever one club lacked, another made it up. Possibly the most successful team is Mrs. Calvert's tennis club. A great many things were expected from the tennis team since it had two experienced newcomers and a couple of old Jax veterans to start the season. The Jax netmen have lost only one college match. The only loss was at the hands of the revengful University of Chattanooga. After having beaten the Mocs in a previous contest, the Jaxmen were nosed out by a scant 4-3 margin at Chattanooga on May 11. While on its winning rampage, the tennis team beat Huntingdon, Florence and Chattanooga once, and West Georgia, and Marion twice. Lionel "well groomed" Layden hasn't lost a singles match. Also Frank Stewart has lost no and Jim Mosley. Substitutes are Gerald Johnson, Ray Bullock, Jerry Dupree and Jacques Corman. Several of the fellows will be around for next year's team, and with the experience picked up this season there should be a repeat performance.

With several games still unstaged the Jax baseballers are struggling around the .500 mark. Of a total of 13 games played thus far, Coach Steve's boys have won six while dropping seven. Records of the pitches are: Jack Hull, 2-2; Hunk Barry, 4-4; and Ronald Upshaw, 0-1.

The baseball club should finish the season successfully. Coach Steve is scheduling more games, and the Gamecocks should take their share of them. Perhaps the reason for dropping the seven contests was due to the lack of hitting and consistent fielding. Buddy Miller is the leading slugger with an average over .300, followed closely by Ernest Spann. Larry Lyde is the most natural hitter and his clutch slugging has been a great asset to the Game-another made it up. Possibly the most successful was Calvert's tennis club. A great many things were expected from the tennis team since it had two experienced newcomers and a couple of old Jax veterans to start the season. The Jax netmen have lost only one college match. The only loss was at the hands of the revengeful University of Chattanooga. After having beaten the Mocs in a previous contest, the Jaxmen were nosed out by a scant 4-3 margin at Chattanooga on May 11. While on its winning rampage, the tennis team beat Huntingdon, Florence and Chattanooga once, and West Georgia, and Marion twice. Lionel "well groomed" Layden hasn't lost a singles match. Also Frank Stewart has lost no singles matches. Joe Tommie, the number one man, and Ray Bullock, the number three man, have lost only one singles match each.

Tennis has gained quite a lot of enthusiasm on the campus as quite a few fellows are out for positions. The starting positions, one through six, are as follows: Joe Tommie, Lionel Layden, Ray Bullock, Bill Hammill, Frank Stewart more games, and the Gamecocks should take their share of them. Perhaps the reason for dropping the seven contests was due to the lack of hitting and consistent fielding. Buddy Miller is the leading slugger with an average over .300, followed closely by Ernest Spann. Larry Lyde is the most natural hitter and his clutch slugging has been a great asset to the Gamecocks. Buddy Mayes is a great defensive catcher. The Mobile boy has three more years in which to don Gamecock apparel. His seasoning as a Jaxman might prove to be interesting to some scout.

AQUATIC EXPERT

BENJAMIN NODAL

Ben Nodal will leave on June 8 for Roosevelt State Park, Chipley, Ga., where he will represent the Calhoun County Red Cross Chapter at the 10-day National Aquatic School sponsored by the American Red Cross.

On completing the intensive training, Ben will be certified Red Cross water safety instructor, qualified to teach classes in swimming and lifesaving in the community. R. J. Rowe, chairman of the local chapter's safety committee, said.

"We realize that there are some 7,000 drownings in the nation every year", Mr. Rowe said, "and in order to prevent these tragedies from happening in this county, our chapter is financing this training. As a result, youngsters who enroll in the free swimming and lifesaving courses to be offered later in the summer may be assured of learning how to take care of themselves in the water."

Students attending the aquatic school at Chipley will be trained in such skills as swimming, lifesaving, water safety practices, diving, and first aid. All courses will be under the direction of Red Cross first aid and water safety leaders and other specialists in these fields from various schools, colleges and safety organizations.

Lewis Leath, what's all this news floating around the dormitory? There is a cure you know...

Linda "Retreat" Wade seems to think he has some new admirers. With his charm, success is assured...

Wonder what Abercrombie will do when Rayford Boozer makes his way out into the business world? Who will take care of the pool table...

Bonnie Hood certainly presents a fashion show of his own with all those loud colored pajamas. Joe Anglin has been busy keeping Bonnie out of fights lately...

Bill Powell says he didn't get those strips on his sweater driving a school bus...

David "The Colonel" Lacy will soon be leaving us to take up a federal job...

Jerry Miller, "The lover boy" from Delta, is making a diligent search for the girl of his dreams. Jerry don't follow any rainbows or you might find a gold digger...

It is assumed that Peter Acker will be appointed to a state position for the next four years. "Pot" Williams just missed the job by 200,000 votes...

Note: all political debts will be paid the 1st of June...

THE WINNERS—Ben Nodal, campus Chesterfield representative, presents J. V. Painter, Joe Tucker, and Jay Meadows with their cartons of Chesterfields as the prizes for naming last month's mystery girl. Byrd Tucker, manager of Chat 'Em Inn looks on.

Business Leaders Have Been Among Most Active Students

The Jacksonville Chapter of the Future Business Leaders, in an effort to give its members valuable practical experience outside the classroom have been very active this Spring in promoting the following activities.

The FBLA PLACEMENT BUREAU, operated by the students themselves to assist the graduating business seniors in securing positions, has been quite successful this Spring in making contacts with the business, industrial, and educational world which will be of value now and in the future.

Educational Society Ends First Year

Kappa Delta Epsilon, one of Jacksonville's newest honor societies, has completed its first semester of activities on the campus. The honorary educational sorority headed by Mrs. William J. Calvert, Jr., was organized at the beginning of the current semester.

The first installation of officers and introduction of charter members was held in Bibb Graves lounge on March 31. Installing officers were Dr. Eoline Moore, Dr. Evelyn Wiley, Mrs. Mary Ruth Holleman, and Miss Elizabeth Davis.

The first officers to be installed by the new campus organization were Carol Dunn, president; Jo Ann Lewis, vice-president; Carolyn Mayes, secretary; Elaine McGraw Campbell, treasurer; and Margery Clark, publicity chairman.

Other charter members include

FBLA Officers Attend Associated Industries of Alabama Convention. Herbert Griffin, Jacksonville Chapter President, and Rosamond Ponder, newly elected State FBLA President, and Jack Collins, state treasurer, were the guests of the Public Relations Director of the Associated Industries of Alabama at its convention held May 7 in Birmingham where they were introduced to the 200 delegates representing the top business and industrial executives of the state. They were also given an opportunity to present to the group Jacksonville's Placement Bureau program and were cordially and enthusiastically received by the executives. They were the only students present at the convention.

Business And Educational Leaders Present Programs. This month the FBLA sponsored two programs which featured demonstrations of interviews between employer and prospective applicant for a position. Participating in the first program were Mr. W. L. Thomas, Employment and Personnel Director of General Electric Corporation, with Mr. Charles J. Cater, of JSTC as the prospective applicant; they demonstrated a typical interview, giving the students an insight into the proper way to approach a prospective

Local Civil Air Patrol Nears End Of Busy Year Of Activities

The Jacksonville Squadron of the Civil Air Patrol is the proud owner of a newly-licensed Piper Cub airplane, to be used for flight orientation for senior and cadet members. Assigned to the squadron and Wing Headquarters, the silver and blue Cub is the realization of a long-time dream of the squadron to have its own airplane.

The Squadron has engaged in many varied activities this spring, including the organization of a new unit in Anniston made up of high school students and adults, pilots, radiomen, etc.

The following Squadron officers attended the annual Southeastern Regional Conference of Civil Air Patrol held recently at Warner Air Force Base; 2nd Lts. Ivan Smith, Eugene Johnson, John Davis, and Major Lucille Branscomb, Squadron Commander. Those attending the conference were national and regional officials of the Civil Air Patrol and Air Force, and squadron officers from all the southeastern states.

Group visits Lockheed Aircraft factory. On May 15, Armed Forces Day, a group of cadets and senior members visited the Lockheed Aircraft Factory in Marietta, Ga., where the jet bombers, the B47, and the G130 cargo planes are built. They also attended the air show at nearby Dobbins Air Force Base.

Drill Teams to Compete
The Jacksonville Squadron this year will have both girls' and a boys' drill team at the annual state CAP competition to be held May 23 at the Birmingham Air National Guard Base. The Jacksonville Drill Team won the state championship in 1953.

Several of the Jacksonville cadets will attend Summer Camp at Maxwell Air Force Base in June. As a new experiment, the Aviation class this summer will be presented as a teacher education class with the objective of preparing elementary and high school teachers in techniques of teaching aviation either as a separate course or integrated with other subjects or grades. All students enrolled in teacher education are invited and encouraged to take this course as an elective. In this way Aviation Education can be spread throughout the schools of the state.

Miss Branscomb Addresses Club
Major Lucille Branscomb, Squadron Commander was guest speaker at the Anniston Junior Chamber of Commerce meeting on May 20 on the subject of the work of the Civil Air Patrol and its promotion of aviation education among the youth of Calhoun County. The members were enthusiastic and expressed interest in working with the Jacksonville-Anniston Squadron in its various activities.

Plans are underway to set up a joint program between the Civil Air Patrol and the Air Scouts of Jacksonville. It is hoped that this will be accomplished in the next few weeks.
