Dr. Cole Hopes For School Picnic; Better Intramurals

New Parking Lots Produce Modern Scene On Campus

Welcome back to Jacksonville! The only school in the state that doesn't have parking problems.

Since the AEA vacation began the state workers have been busy preparing the parking lots for paving and last Thursday saw the black top surface go down.

Other new looks around the campus include the smooth surface of the intramural softball field, some repairs to the driveways of the veteran's apartments, and the new looks on the faces of the candidates running for office.

Tomorrow is the big day for the student body. You will choose the campus leaders of next year, the people that you will have to put your trust in to get a job done. Many issues have been brought to light in the race and some of the candidates are very sincere in their promises made to the students, others only want to be elected for the honor of the title.

It is for you to decide who will best serve you. What ever happen, be sure that you cast your vote for the man you think best qualified to do the job. Select the man you want and go vote for him. Remember, no one can do anything without your vote and confidence. Every student on the campus, commuters, campus residents, veteran apartment residents, you all have a right to vote. Exercise this right tomorrow!

Remember—vote for the man you think can do the best job, but above all, vote. Last year only a few over 600 people voted. This year let's try to see the entire student body vote.

By Bob Crosby

In a recent interview with Dr. Cole the Collegian acquired some information which may be of great interest to the student body.

Dr. Cole revealed that he hopes to furnish the school with at least two more softball diamonds to provide more students with space for recreation. The two new diamonds will be located behind freshman hall and behind the high school. Dr. Cole also expressed his belief that the intramural program is one of great importance to the students.

He further revealed plans for a spring picnic to be held soon if the details can be worked out. He feels that if the picnic is held on a Wednesday afternoon many students will be able to attend.

Dr. Cole also discussed the possibilities of a student reception at his home. He said that in the past years, he and Mrs. Cole have given receptions to graduating seniors and incoming freshmen. This writer, who has been honored with invitations to these receptions, has found that only a small percentage of the students attend.

Dr. Cole stated that at one time he knew every student on the campus by name, but of late he has lost out on many of the students because they fail to ever visit him. His door is always open to any student who would like to speak to him. He is a busy man, but he wants the students to feel free to drop by his office at any time.

Announcements

Candidates are being accepted for Miss Spring Festival. If your class or organization wishes to sponsor a candidate see Otis Williamson and give him the name of your candidate plus a five dollar entry fee. Today is the deadline.

There will be a vote on whether or not the student body wishes to hold cheerleader elections this semester or wait as usual until next fall. The student body will also decide. (Continued on page 2)

NEXT SGA PREXY—One of the five candidates above will serve as Jacksonville's next SGA president. From left to right, Wilson Sherrill, Leonard Stafford, Joe Mehvin, Curtis Williams and Bob Crosby. Polls will be set up in the basement of Graves Hall tomorrow. Be sure to vote.

POLITICIANS—Just to make sure that he is with a winner, Bobby Kennamer, future SGA vice-president sits with all the candidates in the race for secretary and with two of the candidates who are running for the position of treasurer. Candidates are, seated, left to right, Maretta White, secretary; Bobby Kennamer; Ophelia Conway, secretary; standing, Richard Belcher, treasurer; Sherry Croley, secretary; and Bert Godoy, treasurer. Travis Howie, running for treasurer, was not available for the picture.

Letter To The Students

Dear Students

There has been a great deal of discussion about last month's article, "A Word of Warning". (If this was as far as it went nothing would be said of the article this month). however, word has leaked out that a faculty member has asked the Independent to correct the statement made by the Collegian.

This writer has been accused of using false information in the article about the SGA president and some words have passed between Mr. McManus and myself.

I would like to say that the average of the student mentioned was below a "C" when he transferred to Jacksonville and at the time when he ran for office his overall average was below "C". Grades made while here were not considered or mentioned in last month's article.

To both the faulty member and to the Independent, in case they choose to accuse the Collegian of using false statements, I wish to assure them that when the Collegian does an injustice to anyone or prints information which is not correct, the editor will be the first to admit it and will print a statement of apology. In the meantime, I do not feel that an apology is necessary, since no false information has been printed.

As to threats and statements made to me, I wish to remind anyone who is interested in public office that it is the privilege of the free press to criticize as it deems necessary. It has always been my policy to speak up when I felt that certain officers weren't doing their jobs to the best of their abilities. I plan to continue the same policy as long as I am privileged to remain editor of this paper.

Social News

By Betty Fosseh

After a week's vacation, we should all be rested and ready to start studying again.

I tried to find out the latest news, and with the help of a few people, here it is:

Lynell Nelson and Jay Dye, Betty Stephenson and Cush Rives are seen double dating together quite often.

I heard Anita Lockridge and Sonny Johnson are going steady. They are a nice looking couple.

It seems that Mary Durham and Sonny Roberts just can't stay broken up for long. Could this be true love?

"Totsye" Jones and Clayton Arrington seem to be more in love than ever. Here's a couple to watch.

Carole Bone has a ring hanging around her neck. Can this mean she's taken?

Lynette Gilbreath has been seen with the same boy lately. Her roommate, Delores Haynes, seems to like one boy in particular.

It wouldn't be hard to fill a column with news about engagements and weddings.

Dale Nabors plans to take Peggy Brock for his bride sometime soon.

It seems Ed Arrington has been secretly married and just recently told it.

Bill Brown and Marguriete White will become husband and wife before long.

Ann Skidmore decided she would like to have a MRS degree as well as a college degree, so she and Bill Hass were married over the holidays.

After a long courtship which started in high school, Marie Brown and "Toe" Luttrell decided they would like to spend the rest of their lives together. Congratulations!

Professor: (irritated) — "If there are any morons in the room, please stand up." A long pause, and a lone freshman rose.

Professor: "What, do you consider yourself a moron?" Freshman—"Well not exactly that, sir; but I do hate to see you standing all alone by yourself."

Beggar: "Have you got a nickel for a cup of coffee?" Student: "No, but I'll manage some how, thank you."

College Boy: "What did you do with my shirt?" Roommate: "Sent it to the laundry."

College Boy: "Ye gods! The whole history of England was on the cuffs!"

"For goodness sake, use both hands," shrieked the co-ed in the auto.

"I can't," said her escort, "I have to steer with one."

A blazing gun battle had broken up the political meeting in a mountain community notorious for feudin' and fightin'.

"What started the shooting?" asked a visitor from the outside.

"Feller made a motion that was out of order," a graybeard told him.

"What in the world was the motion?" Toward his gun!"

Spotlight

R.O.T.C. Cadet, Ed. Major Outstanding On Campus

By Lynn Dyer

A delightful, friendly personality has been the contributing factor to a successful life thus far by our Spotlight star of this edition. Miss Joan Hagan, now a graduating senior, was a product of Gadsden High School with the class of 1954. While at Gadsden High she participated in worthwhile activities with the Hi-Yi, the Choral Group and the FTA. She could also be recognized as one of the attractive majorettes with the Gadsden band.

Coming to the Jacksonville campus in the fall of 1954, the power of this charming personality is evidenced by her participation in many of the campus activities. During her freshman year, she became secretary of the freshman class, and copped the enviable title of "Miss Homecoming".

The following years found

Joan occupying a position on the "Mimosa" staff and active with the Baptist Student Union. During free moments from obligations, Joan could often be found at the tennis courts or the swimming pool in pursuance of her two favorite hobbies.

However, one of the ultimate experiences of this young elementary education major was to have been selected as the "Outstanding Student-Teacher of the Year", an honor bestowed upon a student teacher by Delta Kappa Gamma, the professional women's society.

Immediate future plans include a June wedding to her fiance, Milton Wiggins, a graduating senior at Auburn, and then a probable teaching position at an undetermined locale due to Milton's military obligation.

Jacksonville State will feel the loss of one of its most accomplished students when Joan graduates this semester but our loss will certainly be the teaching profession's gain as a memorable college career nears its finale.

Being a newcomer to the Jacksonville campus, your Spotlight reporter has found it to be almost like a page of a Sherlock Holmes mystery trying to locate and recognize the outstanding personalities to be featured in this column. Armed with a pen and my trusty notebook I began my search for the busy Spotlight of this month. After each query as to what this outstanding person looked like, I heard the inevitable: "he's a very tall man."

And Mr. Bob Rogan, who now steps into the full glare of the spotlight is indeed a "tall man" in every respect. Having spent his high school years at St. Patrick High School in Miami Beach, Fla., Bob came to JSC in September of 1953, and immediately lent his stature to many campus activities.

Possessing a keen mind and a natural abundance of leadership ability, he embarked on his college career. Scholastically, he has undertaken a big load with a double major of math and chemistry, while minoring in physics. Not content with just being an average student, Bob has maintained a 2.8 average in chemistry and will receive special honors in that field upon graduation.

On ROTC training days the "tall man" can be seen reviewing the troops in the uniform of a Cadet Lieutenant Colonel. He is also one of the outstanding members of the Scabbard and Blade Society.

The years 1956-57 have been busy ones for Bob as he was elected the student chairman of the homecoming committee, and with quiet efficiency he directed those preparations well.

This year also found his name among those listed in the "Who's Who In American Colleges and Universities". Realizing the genuine effort put forth in every task given him, Bob was recently awarded the "Certificate of Achievement" by the college. As if the above activities were not all-consuming, he still has found time to be a willing participant in the college intramural sports program.

As the Spotlight increase its glow, I am convinced that it will indeed require a "tall man" to follow in the footsteps of Bob Rogan who seems destined for a position of leadership in any field of endeavor.

MUSIC DEPARTMENT PRESENTS—These tough looking characters are cast in the music department's operetta which is scheduled for this month. They aren't quite as ugly as they look nor as mean.

Science Convention Is Due To Meet Here April 25-27

Alabama's Academy of Science will convene at Jacksonville State on April 25-27. Dr. J. Allen Tower, Birmingham Southern College, is president of this organization which has a total state membership of over 500.

The convention will be attended by leading men of science in the field of education and industry. Research papers on biology, chemistry, mathematics, physics, medicine, science, education, and social science will be presented and discussed.

The Junior Academy of Science, composed of 43 Alabama high school science clubs will also meet during the week. The people attending both conventions will stay in the dormitories for the three nights.

The convention will open Thursday morning April 25 with a welcome address in Leone Cole auditorium by Dr. Cole. The senior academy banquet will be held in the high school lunchroom on April 26. Junior Academy members will be guests at a banquet in Hammond Hall.

One feature of the convention will be exhibits by the junior members of their projects. A winner for the best exhibit will be named and will receive a Gorgas Foundation Scholarship. This exhibit will be open for the public on Friday from 2 to 5 p.m. and on Saturday from 8 to 10 p.m.

Phi Mu Chi Beta, the science club on campus, is sponsoring the Academy of Science Convention, which will be the largest one held here this year.

Oaks Has Established Good Record Since Coming Here

By Judy Archer

If anyone on the Jacksonville campus deserves a good attendance medal it's Clarence Oaks. During five years of elementary school he wasn't absent from school a day, and he graduated from Chilton County High School in Clanton without an absence! This alone is commendable, but there's more! A senior who will graduate in May, Clarence has taken but one class cut during his college career. And his excuse was the best in the world—he went to Fort McClellan for a physical.

Upon graduation in May, with a major in chemistry, minor in math and history, and a "B" plus average, Clarence will enter the army with a regular army commission. And if things go just right he plans to make a career of it.

Clarence has been very outstanding on the campus. He is a member of the Kappa Delta Pi, Phi Mu Chi Beta, was active in BSU during his freshman and sophomore years and a member of Scabbard and Blade where he serves as battalion executive and chairman of ROTC social functions. In high school he served as vice-president of the senior class, alternate captain of the football team, and was a member of the Beta Club and Science Club.

Clarence was married August 19, 1956, to the former Melba Sue Thrasher from Ohatchee. She is a junior here at Jacksonville.

"Mrs. Kelly Is Ideal Mother" Say Boys Living In Pannell

Ask the boys at Pannell Hall who is housemother there and they'll proudly tell you Mrs. Myrtle Kelly. A very lovely, congenial person, Mrs. Kelly has charge of the entire dormitory, and carries out her duties well.

Jacksonville has known Mrs. Kelly only since September, 1955, when she came here to be housemother for freshmen girls. This position she held until the second semester of the '55-'56 school year, when she moved to Pannell Hall to fill the vacancy there.

She hasn't always been a housemother. During the eight years before she came here, Mrs. Kelly was dietitian at Snead Junior College.

Does this lady like being a housemother for a large crew of college boys? She beams all over as she answers "yes" to this question, and packs a lot into the statement, "I like Pannell." Asked what she enjoyed most about her job, she laughingly said, "It isn't inspecting rooms. . . I like the association with the students, bossing them around." Getting serious, she says, "I really enjoy knowing students, and learning enough about them to learn what they want to do with their lives." Long before she even thought about being a dormitory director, Mrs. Kelly was a mother. She has raised a family of six boys, and one girl. Now she has eleven grandchildren, all but two of them boys. This explains the likable manner that Mrs. Kelly has with the boys in her dormitory.

In her spare time when she isn't busy with dormitory needs, Mrs. Kelly reads a lot. She likes to spend some of her time in her attractive apartment at the end of Pannell's lounge, knitting and "messaging around" with flowers.

Mrs. Kelly firmly states that she is very happy in her job, and has every intention of staying a long time. The boys under her direction seem happy too. In fact, the popularity she has gained is phenomenal.

Once you get to know Mrs. Kelly, you see plainly why this is, for she is extraordinarily likable, and indeed is really a "housemother".

Freshmen Girls In Daugette Live A Typical College Life

By Fay Blackwood

Many girls and gadgets can be found in Daugette Annex, but the one thing that can never be found is a "dull moment". According to Mrs. Arnold, the three-ring circus begins at 6:45 a. m. and ends in the wee hours. Such varied and daring capers should not be kept secret.

In the early morning the girls can be found primping for their "fellows", studying for a test, cleaning for a white glove inspection, and skipping class for general principle.

Mid-afternoon is a perfect time for the Daugette girls to walk, shop, work, eat, sing, sleep, stare, and gossip.

About 7 o'clock mild traffic jams occur. Automobiles participating range from A-models to Cadillacs. The owners of the cars may have crew-cuts, Elvis Presley shags, curly tops, or bald.

Those male callers who do not resort to blowing their horns or exercising their lungs and vocal cords by yelling through windows, keep the monitors busy. Every resident's name is called during the course of the night. The sound of the word "telephone" and

Marine Recruiters Will Visit Campus

The Marine Officers Procurement Team will visit JSC on 2-3 April, 1957. While on the campus they will talk with students who are interested in earning a Marine commission.

Qualified students may enroll in one of three courses: The Platoon Leaders Class, Officer Candidate Course, and Aviation Officer Course.

The Platoon Leaders Class is designed for the college undergraduates. Students in the program attend training during two summer vacations from college. The classes are of six week duration. The training will be conducted at the Marine Corps Schools, Quantico, Va. It is designed to provide the initial leadership development and necessary military introduction to prepare college men for appointment to commissioned rank in the Marine Corps Reserve.

The Officer Candidate Course is designed for college seniors. Candidates selected are enrolled during their senior year or after graduation. The Officer Candidate Course is a ten week training period conducted at the Marine Corps Schools, Quantico, Va., after graduation.

The Aviation Officer Course is designed for the college student interested in earning a commission in the field of aviation. Applicants for this course must be seniors or recent graduates. On completion of ten weeks pre-commission training he will receive his appointment to the rank of Second Lieutenant. After receiving his commission he will go to Naval Flight School, Pensacola, Fla., for an intensive fifteen to eighteen months of flight training as a Marine Aviation Officer.

QUEEN OF MILITARY BALL—Miss Frankie Smith, Fort Payne, was elected Queen of the Military Ball by the cadet battalion. She is escorted in the leadout by Phil Powell. Frankie served this year for the second straight year as Queen of the Ball. In addition to these honors, she has been freshman beauty, a finalist in the Miss Spring Festival contest, and was chosen as "Gem of the Hills" last year by the Collegian staff.

the phrase "someone to see you", echoes until 10 p. m. when the chimes play and the "good-night-boys-bell" rings.

Near bed time, the rooms are checked and all is well. Suddenly musical notes of "Jim Dandy", "What's The Reason I'm Not Pleasing You?", "Into The Night", and "Drink, Drink" blend and sound somewhat like a dog fight in the middle of a band rehearsal. After several visits from the house-mother, a noisy silence exists.

Rook, poker, and black-jack card games get into full swing in some of the rooms. Then there are those girls who spend hours in giggling hysterics, which look something like hypnotic suspensions, while discussing their family, dates, and teachers.

Alarm clocks can be heard ringing at all hours for those who need to study. These few girls have good intentions but fatigue usually overcomes them after 10 minutes of sleepy concentration and they again slumber.

Never a dull moment and seldom a serious mood—that's how the 24 hours of the day go in Daugette Annex.

SECOND GUESSING

By Bob Crosby

Collegian Sports Editor In Hospital

Dale Nabors, who generally writes this column and does a much better job at it than I can hope to do, is in the Veterans Hospital in Montgomery. Dale has informed me by the mails that he will be out of action for about two weeks or so. Here is hoping you a speedy recovery Dale.

Better Intramural Program

From all indications, the intramural program is improving. Of course, this will have to be proved by time. However the softball field is being scraped and two more fields are in the planning stage. Rumors also have it that a new backstop has been ordered to replace the one that tore apart a few years ago. Nine teams have shown a desire to take part in the spring softball league and there are high hopes that even more teams will be formed to get another league.

It would be nice to have two leagues and a pennant game at the end of the season between the two leagues.

Small Colleges Catching Eyes of Pro's

Professional football has undoubtedly seen the light and decided that the small college football player can be just as good as the big college player. Of course with players like Harlan Hill of Florence State already in the big time and other small college players doing almost as well, the pro's were bound to take a second look sooner or later. To prove this point, look at the Jacksonville players who were sought after and signed this year. The pro's gave Billy Hicks a hard time trying to get his signature. Philip Smith, who missed last season completely, has been offered a contract and Carl Harrison was badly wanted before the army used a priority to get him. Last year Al Woodham was signed. Most likely these boys will make good as professionals.

Basketball Looks Better

Basketball didn't look too good here this year. To begin with, the team's average height was a factor against it. Then they were hampered by the usual number of injuries. Next year's picture looks much prettier though. Coach Tom Roberson has scouted and talked and made offers until he has some up with several "biguns" for next year. Latest reports showed at least three, if not four, men ranging above 6'5". If Roberson can work in good reserve strength he might prove to have something for the next two or three years. Of course, it may take a year of experience before the boys really start clicking, but you can look out—a winning surge of long endurance is coming.

Intramural Softball Season Will Open This Afternoon

By Huelon Davis

The intramural softball season is due to get underway today if the weather will permit.

Team managers or representatives of nine teams met on March 20 and a nine team league was organized. The following teams will compose the nine team league: The Aces, Old Pannell, Wolverines, Goof Balls, Sharks, Vets, Steelers, Moonglows, and the Walls.

The nine representatives voted in the following rules:

1. Players will be eligible to play for one team only.
2. Games played before supper must be under way not later than 4:10. No inning will start after 5:15 in the games played before supper. A little later in the season games will be played after supper. These games must get underway by 5:15.
3. Balls hit to right of the light pole in right field are ground rule doubles.
4. The plate umpire's decision will be final.
5. Balls that hit tree limbs will be dead whether foul or fair but will be registered as a strike against the batter.
6. No game can be protested.
7. All games postponed by rain or otherwise will be rescheduled and played at the end of regular season's play.

The softball field between the gym and the football field is being worked on and should be in good order for today's game. Two additional fields will be fixed and these will be available in the near future. Dr. Cole hopes to see several more intramural teams organized before the season is too far underway. In an interview with the editor of the Collegian, Dr. Cole also expressed his desire to see the intramural program well enough organized and equipped to allow any student on the campus who wishes to play the opportunity to do so.

An official record book will be kept and the top ten hitters, pitchers, and latest standings will be printed in each edition of the Collegian in hopes that more interest will be taken in the program.

The World is Full of People who speak twice before they think.

Learn from the Mistakes of others—You haven't time to make them all yourself.

GAMECOCKS GET WORD—Coach Don Salls gives instructions to six players during the spring training workouts. Salls is facing the tough job of rebuilding for the most rugged schedule that the Gamecocks have ever faced.

Football Training Reveals Need For Passers, Kickers

By Dale Nabors

As the Jacksonville football coaches continue rebuilding for next season's tough schedule, they face the task of replacing thirteen lettermen lost by the way of graduation.

Gone from the line are such dependables as Jerry Cole, tackle; Joe Roberts and Alex Mandli, guards; Johnny Johnson, Joe Currie, and Don Standridge, centers.

The backfield must function without the services of Philip "Rabbit" Smith, who reportedly has signed with the Detroit Lions; Billy "Tank" Hicks, who will most likely do a lot of playing with Montreal next year, and Carl Harrison, who has been called upon to visit with Uncle Sam for the next couple of years. Carl was badly wanted by the Chicago Bears. Other valuable backs that will be missed in the J'ville camp next year are: Venoy Jolly, Fred Casey, Chester Skates, and George "Shorty" White.

A brief summary shows that graduation took all the center candidates, both starting guards, one starting tackle, and the entire starting backfield. Gone are eight first string performers and five valuable reserves. As a result, the Jax coaches are working the smallest number of experienced athletes that they have worked with in ten years.

Pro-T Faulters

The Pro-T Spread T attack (a new formation used by the Gamecocks since the beginning of Spring Training) is faulty due to the lack of good passers. Although there is little thought of dropping the passing attack, the latest plans will call for a variation of offenses. The coaches hope that Gary Howell, a sharp passing quarterback from Comer High School, will help to ease the present passing problems.

Kicking Is Also a Problem

In the kicking department, which has been a problem at all during the past few years, suddenly becomes a major one.

Punting was handled magnificently last season by Hicks, Harrison, and White; Kick-offs were handled by the same three, and points after touchdowns were usually handled by either White or Roberts. The kicking will have to wait until the season's first game. The big question mark will be the center and quarterback spots.

Out of the squad presently engaged in spring training drills, approximately thirty-three will combine with some incoming freshmen to carry on for the Jaxmen next fall. Of this total, only eleven players have lettered or been active.

Almost every team is forced to rebuild every two or three years—and this is the year for Jacksonville. The unfortunate part is this: The Gamecocks face their toughest schedule in their toughest year of rebuilding.

In spite of the difficulties faced by the coaches and players. This writer predicts one of the best teams ever fielded here next season.

Soundings Ready To Take Orders

Stop! Don't skip this article! You may be glad you read it. Something very interesting will soon be available for everyone on Jax Campus at a very low price. The 1957 "Soundings" is in the making.

In case you don't already know, "Soundings" is an annual publication of work done by members of Jacksonville State's Writers' Club. The book includes poems, short stories, and essays, and is compiled every spring.

Representatives of the club will be in front of the Grab today to show you what the book is like and let you pay for your copy now. The cost is only thirty-five cents.

Advisers for Writer's Club are Miss Douglas Olsen, and Dr. William Calvert. Members include Clyde Martin, Mohammed Boutaleb, Betsy Robinson, Sarah Johnson, Bobby Sherman, Jerry Hamilton, Lynn Dyer, and Kay Kirkland.

Any of the people named above will be glad to show you a copy of Soundings, and to take your order.

ONLY TWO CAN START—These six men are trying for the two starting berths at the end position on next season's Gamecock eleven. Ends will be a big position if Coach Salls carries out his plans for a passing offense. Under the new offense both ends and half-backs play an important role in pass receiving.
