

Dr. Howard Phillips To Be Graduation Speaker

Learned From The Chimes

Democracy—Throughout his school life, the young American is imbued with the various advantages of democratic government and at a very early age becomes aware that every successful organization must have its president, vice-president, secretary and treasurer. The duties of each and the functions of his office are clarified and learned duly with the multiplication tables. That a president should exert dictatorial powers is unheard of; never should he go beyond the limit of majority rule. However, these lessons are to be found in the secondary schools and below.

In college, the individual is encouraged toward self-expression and the art of influencing others. Perhaps it can be traced to domineering instincts, or an empirical "super-mind", but some invariably set up their own political schemes which, in a sense, parallel democracy but actually lie on a much more radical plane. Suppression and coercion are not and have never been democratic principles, and should they ever become known as such, surely democracy must fail.

Fortunately, such individuals are few, and their careers as limited as their foresight. One taste of a dictator's regime suffices in most instances for the governed parties, who invariably are used to more liberal terms. Down with the dictators!

Invasion—The Daugeffe sunbathing area has recently become the battle ground for ROTC tactical problems. A wise choice, as each pretty day brings more young lovelies onto the landscape in various stages of undress, greatly increasing the hazards of warfare.

In one such round of blank-firing and furtive stares last week, it was noted that Jacksonville ROTC won a decisive battle. Patey died a coward's death, being shot in the back while running. For this, Mr. Patey is post-humously awarded the Silver Congressional Ubangi award, with two gold stripes which are to be worn vertically between the shoulder blades.

Robert Symonds—You are not Helen of Troy nor by any means bewitching. (Your grandmother may have been a witch, but you inherited nothing.) Therefore, lay off the short-shorts. Please, no more.

Richard Belcher Takes Oath Of President In Assembly

Those students who did not attend the assembly on Wednesday certainly missed an impressive and dedicated program. Most of the campus leaders were recognized as pledges and oaths were made.

Bobby Kennamer relinquished his office of president to Richard Belcher in a manner that brought a smile of admiration to the faces of everyone in the audience. Dr. J. M. Anders, SGA adviser, gave the oath of office to the new officers—Melba Young, James Kimbrough, Charles McCain, and Richard Belcher.

Mr. Clay Brittain was recognized as the first president of the SGA in 1943.

"Thanks, thanks for making this the happiest day of my life," was the way Richard Belcher expressed his gratitude to the student body for electing him president of the SGA. He later recognized Bobby Kennamer, Dale Nabors, expressed hope that next year will be constructive instead of destructive. There are too many gripes heard from day to day. Miss Luttrell feels that Jacksonville is distinctive with friendliness but we should also be distinctive in having understanding between the students and the SGA.

The students who received "Letters of Appreciation" are: Richard Belcher, Hal Butler, Lucy Durham, Mary Durham, Jerry Harrison, Delores Haynes, Sergio Lerda-Olberg, Dan McGriff, Jerry McNabb, William Pendergrass, Wilson Sherrill, Tressie Smith, Patsy Thornhill, Kate Welch, and Melba Young.

Six students received "Certificates of Achievement". They were: Dale Nabors, Kay Kirkland, Bobby Kennamer, Wayne Washam, Betty Alverson, and Charles McCain.

Several students were invited to join Kappa Delta Pi, an honorary education society. Betty Alverson, editor of the 1958 Mimosa, presented a yearbook to Dr. Houston Cole, Dr. Green Taylor, Mr. Opal Lovett, and Mrs. R. K. Coffee. The Mimosa was dedicated to Mrs. Coffee who received the honor with tear-filled eyes.

Congratulations are due to Miss Lucille Branscomb who planned the inaugural ceremony. She did a remarkable job.

NOTICE!

The last issue of the Collegian until the summer term will be published next Monday, May 12. If you have any information which should be included, see Kay Kirkland.

Les Brown Band Plays For Soph-Senior Dance Tonight

Tonight is the night! The long awaited Les Brown dance will finally appear in the college gymnasium from 9 to 1 a.m. This will be the last dance of the year so it should be a great success.

Members of the dance committee are: Dale Nabors, Maplesville, president of the senior class; Charles Bates, Gadsden, vice-president; Judy McAllister, Piedmont, secretary; Peggy Wood, Altoona, treasurer; Wayne Washam, Albertville, social chairman; Lucy Durham, Gadsden and Dan McGriff, Holly Pond, SGA repre-

Water Color Meet Held On Saturday

The Alabama Water Color Society held its annual meeting at Jacksonville State College on Saturday, May 3, it was announced by Lee R. Manners, head of the college art department.

Presiding over the business session was Mrs. Richard Brough of Tuscaloosa, state president. Registration was begun at 10 a.m. in Bibb Graves Hall and the art club gave a reception for the visitors before the meeting opened.

In addition to a guest speaker and luncheon, there was an exhibit of the society members' work in the art department. Students work was also displayed, Mr. Manners said, and the entire show will be open to the public for the following week from noon until 4 p.m.

NOTICE

Next Monday, the Collegian will feature the "Top Ten Students."

On May 22, Dr. Howard Mitchell Phillips, president of Alabama College at Montevallo, will deliver the baccalaureate address at Jacksonville State College. President Houston Cole and Dean T. E. Montgomery, Jr., will confer degrees upon 143 candidates. The exercises will take place in College Bowl at 6 p.m.

Dr. Phillips, who became president of Alabama College in 1957, has a B.S. and M.A. degrees from Wake Forest College; his Ph.D. from the University of Virginia; and Sc. D., from Wake Forest. From 1938 until 1957 he was a member of the faculty of Emory University, beginning as an instructor, and serving as assistant professor, associate professor, professor and division chairman. In 1946 he became administrative deputy of the College of Arts and Sciences; chairman of biology in 1948; dean of the graduate school, 1952-57.

He is a member of Phi Beta Kappa and a member of other honorary and professional societies and fraternities, and affiliated with many national and regional professional organizations.

Faculty Members Attain Fellowships

Three of Jacksonville's faculty members have received fellowships which will enable them to do future study toward their doctorate degrees.

Mr. William E. Gilbert, a member of the history faculty, has received a fellowship to the University of Alabama to work on his doctorate next fall. It has been announced by Dr. J. M. Anders, head of the social science division of the college. Mr. Gilbert, a native of Geiger, received his bachelor's and master's degree at the University and has done further graduate study at Vanderbilt University, Nashville, Tenn. He has been a member of the Jacksonville faculty since 1954. Since that time, Mr. Gilbert has enriched the subject of history with humor and sincerity.

Mr. Gilbert's fellowship amounts to $1,200.

Mr. Raymond C. Watson, Jr., of Anniston, who teaches engineering subjects at Jacksonville State, has received a fellowship from the National Science Foundation, Washington, D. C., for $8,000 to be spent in any type of advanced study and research at the school of his choice. The subjects he will choose from are

So Little Time

It seems that the last few weeks of our spring semester will be literally crammed full of the social events that we longed for so earnestly last fall. Yes, within the concluding days, there will be dances, picnics, parties, initiations, banquets, exams and finally, graduation.

During the long, cold, dreary winter, many students wondered if time were not actually standing still. Now those some students are wishing for twenty-nine hours in a day so that they might find time to "crack a book". Lucky are those who studied religiously when there was ample time.

Of course the professors and instructors have developed spring fever also but the attack is not nearly so severe as with their humble subjects. All things considered, this is really a happy time of the year and we must develop our sense of balance so that we may enjoy every worth-while activity. Don't forget, however, that here at Jacksonville, the standards have been raised. Now, at this stage of the game, let's not allow the progress that has been made to be destroyed by neglect.

Letter To The Editor

Dear Editor,

We would like to thank the senior and sophomore classes for the activities last week. We are glad that that week comes only once a year, however. This brings us to the reflections in one of the boys' dorms last week.

Because the girls were forced to ask the boys for dates, we got in enough studying to last until the fall semester. We aren't bragging; we are complaining. If we didn't feel like studying, or our eyes hurt us so badly from straining over books, we walked the halls like a bunch of caged lions. We have completely worn out our pool tables and cue sticks. Our beloved television set got so tired from constant playing that it just pooped. We are still mourning the loss of that companion. We burned out so many light bulbs that the administration will probably increase the room and board fee.

We want the brave girls who were too "chicken" to ask us for dates to please reimburse us for these damages. If these girls don't want to foot the bill, we would suggest that they hunt this Sadie Hawkins character, and make her pay. After all, it was her fault. If they can't find Miss Hawkins, this will be a lesson well-learned and, we hope, remembered when Miss Hawkins shows up next spring.

Seriously, we want the girls to get into the spirit of things next year. They can at least ask us to go to "Chat 'Em" for a coke. You girls who dated, more power to you. You girls who didn't date, you'd better be a little more courageous next time and ask us for dates, or pay the bills that accumulate at our dorm during "Sadie Hawkins Week."

Yours truly,
Boys of Pannell

P. S. We hope we treat you better the other fifty-three weeks of the year than you treated us last week!

Mr. Miles Attends Registrar's Event

Mr. Lawrence R. Miles was one of the 700 registrars and admissions officers from all over the nation and several foreign countries who were in Cincinnati April 21-25 to attend the 44th annual meeting of the American Association of Collegiate Registrars and Admissions Officers at the Netherland Hilton Hotel.

Problems of admission to colleges and universities, space utilization of campus buildings, adequate staff and curricula, and aspects of records and registration were studied in the light of the approaching increase in enrollments which is expected to become a deluge in the next decade.

gave him twenty-three apples, which he divided equally with Ned, giving him eleven and one-half apples. Ned promptly ate the square root of two-thirds of his apples, burying the seeds in the north corner of the south forty. From an insecticide which had been sprayed on the apples, Ned became very ill and returned the remainder to Johnny. How many apples did Johnny then have? Wrong. Johnny, being much shrewder than you, gave all the tainted apples to Sam, who died as a result of eating them.

SPOTLIGHT

Two Editors Share Collegian May Spotlight Of Honor

BETTY ALVERSON

Our May spotlight comes to a halt and rests on two ambitious, aggressive, and reliable seniors in the field of English—Betty Alverson and Clyde Martin. They have indicated that their main objective in coming to college was to acquire higher learning in preparation for their future careers by their ability and ever willingness to work.

Betty graduated from Munford High School and enrolled at Jacksonville in the fall of 1955. Her major, of course, is English, and her minor is music. Last year Betty served quite proficiently in the capacity of sophomore class president and on the Chapel Committee. Presently she is co-chairman of the publicity committee for the Senior-Sophomore Ball, is social chairman of FTA, and has recently pledged to the Delta Omicron Music Sorority. In addition to these duties and her class work, Betty is employed by the Dean's Office as a student-secretary.

For her outstanding achievements and contribution to leadership on the campus Betty was awarded a Letter of Appreciation last summer and a Certificate of Achievement this semester. Perhaps the instrumental factor in her receiving these awards was that she was Editor-in-Chief of the 1958 edition of the MIMOSA. Betty worked many nights until one and two o'clock and over-cut in many of her classes to produce one of the best yearbooks ever to be published at Jacksonville. Betty will be long remembered for her outstanding work and guidance on the MIMOSA. We appreciate you, Betty!

After her graduation next January Betty plans to become a high school English teacher, and she hopes eventually to be a housewife.

Clyde is from Eulaton. After his graduation from Oxford High School, he served in the Air Force for about three years and worked for a while with the Civil Service before entering Jacksonville.

Clyde is working toward an AB Degree in English with a minor in History. He has been a member and active writer for the Writer's Club for two years and has served as chairman of that organization for two terms. He was chosen to serve as vice-president of Sigma Tau Delta, honorary English society, this past year. Along with Kay Kirkland, Clyde served as one of the co-editors of SOUNDINGS, the annual publication of the Writer's Club. It is evident that Clyde has concentrated his efforts toward the improvement of writing and grammar and should be commended for his ability and endurance in his field.

Clyde is not narrow-minded, though, for you will find that he is one of the few students who is interested in learning all about (or at least all he can) every subject he takes. He is not hesitant in asking questions about things he does not understand, and he is equally willing to answer or help you find the answer to any problem you might have in any class you have with him. He is in many respects a scholar and worth your while to get acquainted with.

Clyde is married to the former Adalene Lipham of Oxford and the father of a five-year-old daughter, Debbie. After graduation in July, Clyde plans to enter graduate school and later become a teacher.

Betty and Clyde, the COLLEGIAN feels that you are deserving students and it is people like you who make Jacksonville the campus it is. Keep striving as you are now and success can't help but be yours.

About two months ago the politicians went to work around here. At that time we thought it best to keep quiet and see what happened. This is what has happened, Judge George C. Wallace seems to have taken over the campus in mass! Around every corner there lurks a Wallace man with a button or sticker for the unsuspecting student. It is not for us to say if Wallace is the man, but in view of the fact that many commuters are older students, and therefore voters, we'd like to urge you to listen carefully when "the little Judge" speaks about education. This is a vital issue especially to the students of JSC because the man who wins the governor's race this year will help set our salaries, as teachers in the next four years. In all fairness to the Faulkner camp we'd like to say that Mr. Faulkner is also promising big things for education in the next four years. It is very important that we vote this year because our future (to some extent) are at stake. We say regardless of who's "your man" —VOTE!

Sincerest apologies go to Libby Whatley, who is very definitely a candidate for Jubilee Queen.

The rumor has it that Ed Pyle, Gene Hawkins and Pete Dean are "chicken" cause they shaved (I'm quoting you know which high sheriff). Maybe they are just being smart, Hank!

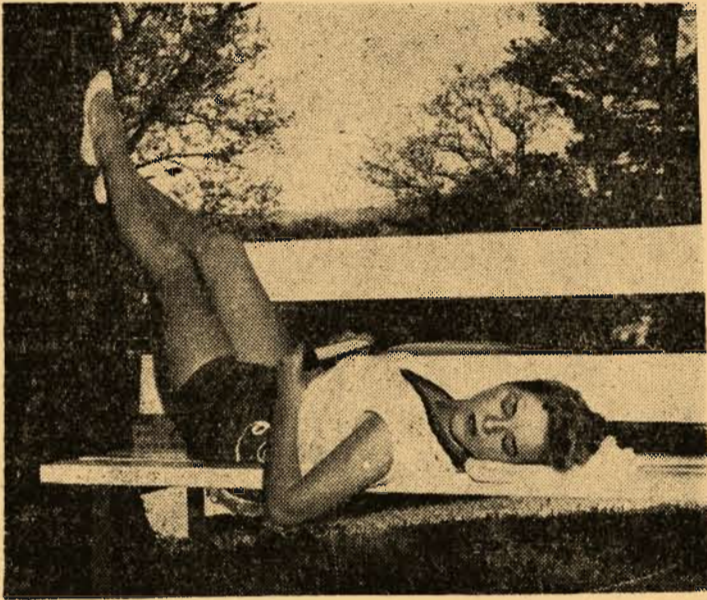

The short skirts of Sadie Hawkins week caused a big stir around here but the cutest thing we've seen lately was Barbara Haynes looking like a tiny china doll.

Congratulations to the new officers of Alpha Rho Tau and especially to Betsy Robinson, Madame President, Joann Coppock, Madam Secretary and Nancy Hammett, Madam Treasurer—all are commuters.

Farewell Sadie Hawkins— Try It Again Next Year!

By Mary Ann Waldrep
Sadie Hawkins days are past, but each girl at Jacksonville will long cherish the memory of the week when she could have had a date every night. All she had to do was ask for them.

As Utopian as this situation sounds, there were obstacles to overcome in accomplishing this feat. Some girls just lacked the courage to approach Don Juan and say, "What are you doing tonight." (Now we girls know why we are so often asked this obnoxious question. There just isn't anything else to say!) This absence of heroism was apparent Monday night when about fifty stag boys came to the square dance that was held in front of the gym. An unattached girl would really have been in demand, but all the girls there were the sturdier of the sex and had brought a date.

Do girls really like to dance so much or was it the fact that you had to pay to play bingo that made dancing so popular at the sock hop Tuesday night? This didn't keep them from getting hitched by "Marrin' Sam" Wednesday afternoon. Of course, you can always find a way to do the really important things. Some of us girls won't get a chance to get married again until next year at Sadie Hawkins days.

Boys never seem to be nervous when they call for their dates. They should let us girls in on the secret. Following their gregarious instinct, the girls herded together when they went to Pannell Hall or Freshman Hall to get their date. When the date thus acquired proved obstinate and demanded other little attentions like, "You're supposed to open the door for me," it was just too much!

Even old man weather objected to this peculiar twist where the girl takes the initiative. All week long he brooded and sulked. At the Inaugural Ball Thursday night, gentle showers showed he was very glad the whole business was about over (Maybe Wayne Willis' soothing music curbed his antipathy.)

Someone might extract a moral from all this. Here's mine:

BSU Reports

During the Spring Retreat at Shocco Springs April 25-27, James Kimbrough was elected B.S.U. State Sunday School Representative for the 1958-59 school year.

KIMBROUGH—James is a junior from Daviston, majoring in history and minoring in physical education.

He was valedictorian of his class when he graduated from New Site High School in 1955. Since then, he has taken part in various college activities. Presently, he is vice-president of the SGA, vice-president of the Order of the Three Keys, treasurer of Kappa Phi Kappa, and corresponding secretary of Phi Mu Alpha. He is also a member of the Social Science Club, Future Teachers of America, and the Jacksonville State Color Guard.

JAX Splits With Powerful Howard Team

The Jacksonville Gamecocks downed Howard College of Birmingham on Saturday April 26, 4-3 in the second game of a twin-bill after dropping the first game 11-5 at Jacksonville. The Gamecocks got one run in the first, one in the fourth and scored the clinching runs in the sixth.

Behind 3-2 going into the bottom of the sixth the Gamecocks pushed across two runs when Joe Ford singled and scored on Don Taylor's triple. Taylor came home on a fielder's choice. Stevens picked up the win for Jacksonville while Galloway was tabbed with the loss.

In the first game Howard scored four runs in the first, three in the second, one in the fifth and three in the seventh.

Tuck homered for Howard in the third inning. Taylor homered for the Gamecocks in the eighth and Bud McCarty homered for Jacksonville in the ninth inning.

MAYFIELD

Jax Loses To Oglethorpe 5-4 in Extra Innings

Jax started the game with Oglethorpe off in the first inning by scoring three runs. The Oglethorpe team managed to score two runs in the seventh and tied the game in the eighth inning. Ace pitcher, Ralph Stevens relieved Weedle in the eighth for Jax and had two men out in the eleventh. The next batter hit a slow roller back to Stevens and first baseman Don Taylor made a very costly error at first base by missing the throw to him. Oglethorpe scored the deciding two runs to end the hard fought game, a real heart breaker for the Gamecocks. For the Gamecocks, McCarty got one hit and Harris, who has been in a slump, got his eye on the ball and hit twice to bring his batting average up.

Jax Downs Livingston 7-1

The Gamecocks played the best game of the season against a powerful Livingston team in a hitting holiday for the Jacksonville squad.

First baseman Don Taylor got 4 for 5, three of these being doubles and one single. Dupree hit 2, Harris 2, Ford 2, Whiteside 1 and Langston 1 for the Gamecocks. Jack Sanford, scout for the Kansas City Athletics attended the game and stated that Jacksonville had a very good ball club. He singled out short stop Gerald Dupree, who is signed with the Athletics, and first baseman Don Taylor for the Gamecocks.

The Gamecocks are sporting a 8-5 season record.

Duces Leading Intramural League

The Intramural softball league is getting more heated as the teams go into the last two weeks of play. The Ducers held on to their one game lead by defeating the Scholars on April 29. The Ducers are followed closely by the Slashers and Stogies; each sporting a 3-1 record. The Ducers are sporting a 5-0 record. The Battery for the Ducers, rated best in the league by a recent survey conducted by Ben Stewart, is composed of ace Pitcher Tommy Autry and catcher, Kay Gibbs. Autry is supported by a very tight infield composed of Jerry McNabb, first base, Charles Morris second base, Peanut Sherill third base and Don Wilson short stop. The outfield is composed of Belcher, left field, Hodges centerfield and Williams, right field.

This week will be a very important week of play for the Ducers. They will meet the Slashers today at 5:30 in what promises to be one of the best games of the season. On Tuesday the Ducers will play the Rinkydinks and on Thursday the very capable Explorers. The Explorers have lost only two games behind the pitching of Big Jim Hodge and Mr. Manners of the art department.

Tuck Porter, chairman of the intramural league stated that the sportsmanship shown throughout the season was very good and the participation was excellent. Tuck commended Dan McGriff, Gary Durham, Billy Ledbetter, Dale Sandlin and "Baby" Joe Radford, for their excellent officiating throughout the season.

Men's Fashions Change Some Also

The Ivy Look is on the way out.

This is what Frederic A. Birmingham, fashion director of "Playboy," the nation's foremost authority on men's fashions, says in the April issue of the magazine. Birmingham recently switched to "Playboy" after serving for 16 years as editor of "Esquire."

Writing on things-to-come in the smart men's fashion field, Birmingham warns that "there are gentle seismographic rumblings indicating the first cracking in the Ivy stratum." Taking its place will be the elegant, slim continental style.

This, Birmingham says, will not happen overnight. "Men's fashions don't really move: they ooze along imperceptibly like a glacier covering a few yards every year." But a current attempt at what he calls "a kind of super-Ivy," featuring extremely narrow shoulders and trousers so snug and tapered "that the lads have a literally self-contained look," will result in a reaction against Ivy fashions.

What will the "new look" in men's fashions be. Says Birmingham: "The shoulders will be natural, without the definite attempt to squeeze, a la extreme Ivy (which too often results in a pear-shaped appearance), and there may even be a bit of padding in them, although never as much as the old swagger type carried. The suit will strive for a casualness, with a touch of the tailored look, which will probably cut a few inches off the long jacket which hangs low—in stern denial of any desire to suggest following a body line. The new suit will not be quite so deliberately unconscious of styling; the ultra-Ivy lapel will broaden a bit, and the top button of your jacket, which you may have expected to find right under your chin in about one more year, will relax and slide down a bit lower on your chest. The shorter jacket will, of course, give your trousers a longer, leaner look. European clothiers favor tapered trousers; these will undoubtedly stay with us. The more dashing versions will probably go in for fancy pockets or even Edwardian cuffs on the sleeves. The least you can expect is something of a nip-in at the waist."

How permanent will this continental style be? Says Birmingham: "Fashion creates its own obsolescence; today's fine-feathered friend may well turn out to be tomorrow's dodo."

'58 ROTC AWARDS DAY TO BE HELD MAY 9

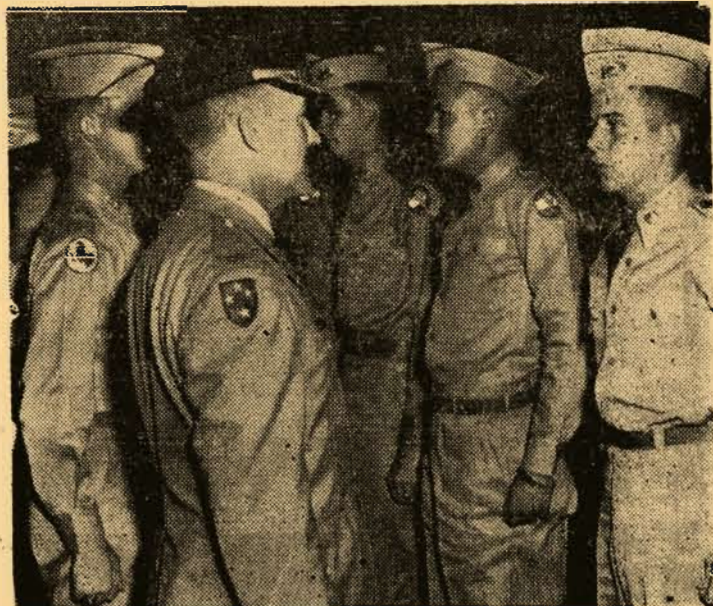

The 1958 review of ROTC cadets will be held on Friday, May 9, at 11 a.m. This year, 467 cadets will be on parade. Many awards will be presented to deserving men.

In case of rain, the review will be in the gymnasium, otherwise, it will be on the drill field.
