Dr. C. B. Smith, President Of Troy, Speaks To Seniors Will Graduate

DR. C. B. SMITH, president of Troy State College, is seen talking with some of the J. S. C. seniors after his speech on Wednesday morning.

Dr. C. B. Smith, president of Troy State College, was chosen to give the "charge" to the January graduates at Jacksonville State College, and he addressed them on Wednesday morning. For several years this college has had the custom of inviting outstanding educators to charge or advise the seniors upon the eve of graduation. He was introduced by President Houston Cole.

Dr. Smith told the seniors that he envied them because they are going out at the beginning of what is considered the most significant decade in the 19th century.

"The 1960's promise to be the most exciting 10 years in the century," he said. "The past 10 years have been amazing with sputniks and beatniks, but the next 10 should prove to be even more exciting. I was born 30 years too soon."

Dr. Smith charged the seniors to learn how to get along on a team when they begin their professional careers, explaining that being cooperative does not mean crushing one's personality or individuality, or being a "yes" man, but it is difficult to achieve anything without it. Taking part in community life, being wholesome, and professional are also important, he said.

Dr. Smith told the group he hoped they had developed standards, convictions and opinions, and that they will not consider that they have "finished" their education when they receive their degrees.

"Have an unfinished task in trying to understand more adequately the American system under which you live; get a firmer grasp of the basic tenets of democracy today; find out what must be preserved and sustained," he concluded.

Dr. Willman Confers At U. Of Florida

Dr. Leon D. Willman, dean of students, was sent by the school to the University of Florida to attend the annual meeting of the Southern Association of Deans of Men and Personnel Administrators which met from Jan. 14-16.

While he was at the University, Dean Willman attended meetings which covered the following topics:

- (1) Residence hall programs which contribute to the education and training of students.
- (2) The relations of extra-curricular activities to the educational goals of institutions.
- (3) The responsibility of institutions for the moral and religious lives and attitudes of the students.

The purpose of the meeting was professional growth, and the Dean also hoped to learn more about our anticipated Student Union Building.

The Leone Cole Auditorium will be the setting for the graduation of the first section of the 1961 class of Jacksonville State College. The service will begin at 7 p. m., and the public is invited to attend.

Mr. Ernest Stone, graduate of Jacksonville, superintendent of Jacksonville City Schools and director of the college laboratory schools, will make the commencement address.

A large class will be grad-

Mr. Ernest Stone

uated with six students receiving BS Degrees in Elementary Education; 27 receiving BS Degrees in Secondary Education; one a BS in Vocational Home Economics; 45 the Bachelor of Science; and four the Bachelor of Arts.

In addition to the 86 receiving undergraduate degrees, the Master of Science in Education will be conferred upon Mary Seale Browning, Anniston; Audrey Kellogg Lindblom, Jacksonville; and John Charles Marshall, Talladega.

Students named for special honors because of scholastic attainment were Sarah Johnson, Fort Payne, English; Albert M. Barber, Heflin, mathematics; Sherrell G. Rice, Delta, accounting; and Tommy A. Williams, Weaver, mathematics.

GEM OF THE HILLS

ENJOYING THE FRESH AIR, because we had no other idea, is this week's "Gem of the Hills," Miss Billie E. Campbell. An attractive, brown-haired, brown-eyed sophomore from La Fayette, she is business manager for the 1960 MIMOSA. A former member of the Law Club, and an English major, Miss Campbell hopes to go to law school when she finishes work on her degree.

Facing A New Year

The first of the year is universally accepted as a time for discarding the old and beginning the new. It is a time when resolutions are made, and it is also a time when our people begin to think creatively about the directions their lives are taking.

The prospect of a new year, a very definite beginning again of events, brings many thoughts to mind. A desire is created in us to use the new year wisely when we come to the realizations that time is of the essence, that much which has been done before will be done again, and that past mistakes do not have to be repeated.

This is a period when we come to the realization that time is of the essence. The years have passed with amazing rapidity, and so little has been accomplished in this time. We also comprehend that we have left undone so much, and that we will not live long enough to do everything we have desired to do.

We also bring ourselves to face the idea that much of what we have done will be done again. We are sometimes pained when we understand that our old habits and old routines will still be with us. Of course, we are not beginning our entire existence again, but we can concentrate less on the mechanical aspects of our lives, such as eating and sleeping, so that our minds will have room for new ideas. We must accept the fact that the new year will not be radically different from the past years, but that new ways of doing things can make the new year a more satisfying experience.

We realize also at this time of the year that mistakes we have made before do not necessarily have to be repeated. The ideal that "no mistake should be made twice" ought to be foremost in our minds. Our mistakes will not correct themselves, but by effort and sheer force of will we can solve the problems and overcome the difficulties that keep us from being happy.

Perhaps the most important aspect of the beginning of a new year is that we have a moment to take stock of ourselves and of our lives, and we have the opportunity to plan to do better and to be better. We can know, too, that our plans can be put into operation only if we can maintain our interest in them.

This Is Our Decade

People have begun this decade with the prophecy that the world will end. Students of this generation have not assumed the attitude of destruction, but we are seeking answers to the future through our own lives.

This progressive outlook is evident in the progress of education, notable at Jacksonville. In seeking the answers to our future we look to the future of Jacksonville State College: the aspects of tremendous growth. The crowded conditions will be removed by the addition to the campus of new dormitories and a student union building. Eventually, there will be a new music building, and a renovated faculty house that will supply ample space for faculty entertainment. As the student body increases, so will the faculty and the administration. Jacksonville is not standing still.

In the future we can see the eventual elimination of diseases. Travel, communication, and education will continue to expand our horizons. All this the college generation of today has to look forward to. The education that we will acquire during these years will help us to meet the responsibilities of tomorrow. We only have to be ready when our leadership is commanded.

Ira Dean Harris And Bill Nichols Share Spotlight New Books

(Editor's Note: The following is merely a selection of new books to be found in the library and by no means is the entire list.)

Peter Fleming — The Siege of Peking. The dramatic, often incredible, always exciting story of the Boxer Rebellion, which startled an orderly world at the turn of the century.

Chang Kia-NGAU — The Inflationary Spiral, the Experience in China, 1939-1950. An intensive study of the causes and effects of a modern inflation.

V. Sackville-West — Daughter of France. The absorbing and entertaining biography of the Duchesse de Montpensier, who was known to the glittering court at Versailles and to the rest of seventeenth-century Europe as "La Grande Mademoiselle."

Virginia Madison and Hallie Stillwell — How Come It's Called That? This is a chronicle of topographical name-calling in the Big Bend country of Texas.

Bernard Blackstone — The Consecrated Urn. This book attempts a quite new assessment of Keats' poetry. It places Keats in the intellectual climate of his time and shows that he was much more alive to the subtler currents of thought in the early 19th century than has hitherto been supposed.

Leonard J. Arrington - The Great Basin Kingdom. An Economic History of the Latter-Day Saints, 1830-1900. The economic aspect of Mormon life is one of the most interesting of all, and the close study of it in this book opens up whole new areas of meaning. A thorough description of the problems, policies, and institutions of the Mormons not only develops into a fast-moving, dramatic story of dedication and deeds, but becomes in a larger sense an important case study in economic history, economic policy, and the economics of religion in the American far west.

Roy F. Nichols — Religion and American Democracy. Against a rich background of social and intellectual history this concise work points up the serious evolution of political and religious beliefs in the U. S., to our own day. Of particular interest in this book is the liberal use of crucial quotations from the leaders and formulators of thought in this country.

Alfred Aldridge — Man of Reason. The life of Thomas Paine. Basing this biography on his thorough research of newly discovered manuscript and printed sources, the author has been able to give important new insight into the man who was one of the most eloquent defenders of humanity but who died in lonely obscurity, unrecognized and unrewarded.

David S. Nivison and Arthur F. Wright — Confucianism in Action. In this volume, twelve distinguished scholars approach the Confucian tradition in a new and challenging way, dealing with the effect of Confucian ideas on specific Chinese institutions and periods of history.

Route of a Bill", and Jim Black, YMCA youth program secretary, Anniston, will conduct a mock youth legislature.

W. J. Musselman, director of the Alabama District, YMCA, Gadsden, will have charge of election of officers, which will conclude the day's program.

The seniors in this week's Spotlight are music major, Ira Dean Harris, and physical education major, Bill Nichols.

Ira Dean graduated from Jacksonville High School in 1956 and entered J. S. C. in the summer of the same year. An active high school student, she was treasurer of her Senior Class, and a member of the band, the Beta Club, and the FBLA. She was also the Salutatorian of her class.

IRA DEAN HARRIS

Ira Dean has been just as active since she entered J.S.C. She has participated in the college band and chorus for four years. For two years she was pianist for the BSU, and last year she sang in the State BSU Choir. Among other activities, Ira Dean is a member of Delta Omicron, and she was elected to Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities this year.

This capable student not only attends classes, but she is the organist for the Chemical Chapel at Fort McClellan, and she teaches twenty-two piano pupils in her spare time. After graduation in May, she plans to teach music.

The Spotlight now falls on the Flying Gamecock halfback who has made honorable mention for two years on the Little All-American football squad, Bill Nichols.

Bill graduated from Altoona High in 1956 and came to Jacksonville in the fall of the same year. For two years he was voted outstanding football player at Altoona, and for two years he made All-County. He also played baseball.

While in high school, Bill belonged to the Beta Club and the "A" Club, and he was elected one of the Who's Who at Altoona.

Since coming to Jacksonville, Bill has lettered for four years in football. He received trophies for being the "Outstanding Back" in 1958 and the "Most Valuable Player" in 1959. He was also co-captain of the football team this year. Naturally,

BILL NICHOLS

Bill is a member of the "J" Club.

Bill is now in advanced ROTC, and after he graduates in January he will go into the Army.

Ira Dean and Bill are two very friendly and talented students who really deserve to be commended for their accomplishments.

SGA Bi-Weekly Report

By Tressie Smith

The regular meeting of the S.G.A. was held on Jan. 12, 1960, at 6:30 p.m., with the vice-president, Don McMillan, presiding.

Financial reports from the classes were given.

It was decided because of the fact that a sign would detract from the Social Science Department Head that a sign would not be put over the SGA office door.

The point system for the Letters of Appreciation and the Certificates of Achievement was explained by the vice-president. These awards will be made at a later date.

There was much discussion in the group about sending out letters from the S.G.A. and Dr. Anders to thank students for their help and cooperation during the year. A committee was appointed to draw up the letter. This letter will be a "thank-you" to those students who help in such activities as Homecoming, J Day, school dances, etc.

It was definitely decided to have a "Rat Week" for the entering freshmen this semester. There will be a reception for them in the President's Lounge on Monday night, Jan. 25. On Thursday night, Jan. 28, there will be a "Sock Hop" for all entering freshmen in Chat-Em Inn. It will be free provided they wear their rat hats. The admission for the rest of the students will be 25c.

A committee was placed in charge of looking into the tremendous amount of litter that has been left on the campus grounds lately.

The SGA is also thinking of taking over the project of the Student Directory from the Business Discussion Group. Several suggestions were made concerning the use of revenue collected from this project.

The meeting was adjourned.

John Drake Dies Of Cancer

John Drake died at his home in Louisville, Ky., just before the Christmas holidays, after a long illness.

He was stricken in his senior year by cancer and underwent surgery. He spent several months at home recuperating and returned to complete requirements for his degree. Early in the fall he became ill again and left school; his condition gradually became worse and news of his death was received just before classes were dismissed for the holidays.

John was active in the social science organizations and was admired by all who knew him for his scholarship and leadership abilities.

Soundings On Sale

The 1959 edition of "Soundings" is off the press and on sale by members of the Writers' Club. The booklet of poems, stories, and prose is published annually by this creative writing group.

Wayne Wikinson was editor this year; Mary Elizabeth Hubbard, co-editor; and Carlin Woolf was business manager.

Contributors to the book were Scott Ruggs, Hope Smith, Sarah Johnson, Mary Elizabeth Hubbard, and Wayne Wilkinson.

Advisers for the club are Dr. William J. Calvert and Mr. Arch Beckelheimer.

T. Weller Smith Speaks To FBLA

By Joan Lasseter

Mr. T. Weller Smith, vice president of the First National Bank of Jacksonville, was the guest speaker at the Jan. 13 meeting of the Future Business Leaders of America. In his interesting talk to the business students on "Banking and Credit," Mr. Smith explained the functions of a bank and emphasized the value of credit.

All FBLA meetings are publicized well in advance, and the public is invited to attend.

DR. ANATOL VON SPAKOVSKY was the guest speaker at the last meeting of Sigma Tau Delta. Here he is seen with James Holmes, vice president, and Wanda Gilliland, president.

Spakovsky Speaks At Sigma Tau Delta

"Russian Literature from Pushkin to the Revolution" was discussed by Dr. Anatol von Spakovsky before members of Sigma Tau Delta, and English majors and minors at Jacksonville State College on Tuesday night. Dr. Spakovsky, a sociology professor, is a native of Russia. He was introduced by James Holmes, a senior from Sylacauga, and vice-president of Sigma Tau Delta, national honorary English fraternity.

Dr. Spakovsky told the students that Russian literature centered around four periods with the focal points—Kiev, Moscow, Petersburg and again, Moscow. He concentrated his remarks on the time of Peter the Great, 1903-17, which is known as the "golden time of Russian literature." He pointed out that although tyranny reigned under Nicholas I and Peter the Great, the culture flourished, with such notables as Pushkin, Turgener, Dostoevski, Tolstoi and Lermontov.

Under tyranny, he said, the people began to create, possibly as an escape and challenge from suffering. Many of the writers of this period are unknown although there was a wealth of writers at this period.

Hal Hayes

Under The Hayes Stack

Now we're likely to be whistling past the graveyard, but this column firmly stands behind the conviction of our prediction: Hammering Hank O'Neal, whose talent is detectable only with a tape measure, will return this spring to greatly bolster the Jacksonville State baseball nine.

O'Neal, who is likely to explode a home run in any park in the country, including Yellowstone, will be the JSC shortstop, third hitter in the '60 batting order. He will be permitted, and will take 1960 as his second season of varsity competition although, academically he is a January graduating senior. He certainly will be welcomed back.

Jim Glasgow, with a physique stolen from some pantheon of sculptured-granite gods, is expected to continue his football career as a member of the 1960 Montreal Alouettes of the Canadian Football League. Official confirmation is expected within the next 15 days.

"Bill Jim," captain of the '59 Jacksonville gridsman, made a flying trip up North on Dec. 12 but declined to comment on the results of his trip. This journey ended in his playing as the starting offensive tackle for the South squad in Montgomery's Blue-Gray classic of Dec. 26.

Coach Don Salls' self-styled "Country Gentlemen", dieted on grits and corn pone and taught old-fashioned, rough football, will open spring training drills on Tuesday, March 1. Coach Salls in making this announcement declared that these drills would last approximately 30 days.

"It will be a rebuilding year", commented Coach Salls in discussing the spring session, "and we've got a lot of big and fast shoes to fill."

He was referring to the seniors who will be leaving: Ted Boozer, Grover Whaley, Roy Fulmer, E. G. Taylor, Harold Shankles, Jim Mayben, Bill Nichols, Wayne Keahey, and Jim Glasgow.

While discussing 1960, the conversation shifted to the quarterback situation. Only one letterman will return. "Rayford Talley has just undergone surgery but the doctor has assured us that the operation was a success and that he should be ready to go full blast by spring. This year Bill Kinzy will play quarterback and halfback." Mr. Salls, a 13-year veteran of football battles, also disclosed that quarterback Eugene Griep (6'0", 175 lbs.) of Gunterville is one of the three known football players who will join the squad during the second semester to strengthen the man-under-center position.

"Tentative plans for the spring", according to Coach Salls, "are to work mainly on defense with the objective of building the toughest defensive team ever put on a field. We will also work about 30 per cent of the time, on an all out passing defense."

Other definite newcomers who will come in at the beginning of the second semester include Ben Fuller (6'2", 215 lbs.) tackle from Phenix City, and Jim Williams, tackle, from Ohatchee. Williams stands 6'1" and tips the scales at a nifty 210 lbs.

Jacksonville vs Ga. State

Borrowing a baseball cliché, Jacksonville State's basketball Gamecocks came "out of left field" in Atlanta Saturday night, Jan. 9, to slap Georgia State down, in overtime, 66-62. This was victory number six for the hometown favorites.

The score was deadlocked at 56-all at the end of the regulation game. Halftime also saw the two clubs with equal scoring, 34-34.

But once the buzzer for the five-minute overtime sounded, the Gamecocks showed their superiority. Team captain Gerald Dupree and Earl Cleland each tossed in 6 points and sub-guard Harold Bobo chipped in with a charity toss to end the 13-point "come back" splurge.

Leading scores for the winning five included three men who hit in the double digit bracket. Cleland was high with 18, Dupree ended with 13, and Lefty Bollinger had 11. JSC scoring: Cleland, 18; Dupree, 13; Bollinger, 11; Watson, 9; Ray, 9; Bobo, 5; and Bowen, 4.

Darlings Play In Finals

If ever the term "Cinderella Team" applied to a group of determined youngsters, it most definitely applies to Phil Hunt's Khrushchev Darlings, although-defeated, 44-32, in the finals of the "Campus World Series Intramural Basketball" finals by the Gridsmen on Wednesday night, Jan. 13.

Throughout the season, which saw them end with a highly respectable 8-1 mark, the Darlings exhibited an uncanny knack of out-rebounding taller opponents by simply being where the ball was when it bounced off the backboards.

Mixed with speed and deception, these youngsters unfolded one of the sharpest and surest passing units seen in the intramural program in some time. They had great team spirit and worked together with the precision of a Swiss watch.

Talents enumerated above brought Phil Hunt and his group into the finals. The Collegian sports department salutes you for your determination . . . going so far through the rugged competition that you faced . . . with only five men on your squad roster!

Intramural Results

By Percy Powell

Rayford Talley's Gridsmen bolted into glory as the first semester champions of the JSC Intramural Basketball League Wednesday night, Jan. 13, when they dropped a scrappy Khrushchev Darling five, 44-32, in the finals of the "Campus World Series of Intramural Basketball." Both teams are members of the National League.

The Gridsmen, composed of varsity football stars, used a sensational fourth period outburst to overcome the Phil Hunt Darlings. The Darlings knocked Woody Hamilton's Tomcats out of championship running, 46-43, Tuesday night, Jan. 12. The new champions edged the defending champion Bulldogs, 45-44, to earn the final berth.

Harold Shankles, one of the more outstanding players of the basketball year, was the leading scorer with 24 points. He also excelled in the rebounding department.

Hank Seales paced the losers with 9 points.

Outstanding for the victors were: Harold Shankles, Ted Boozer, Bobby Johnson, Bill Kuykendall, Wayne Keahey, Jim Clepper, Arland Carter and Charles Baker.

Standouts for the Darlings were: Jay Lee, Andy Page, Wayne Hilliard, Hank Seales, Jack Savage, and Coach Phil Hunt, who had to go into action when Hilliard, one of the night's biggest stars, fouled out in the fourth period.

Student Recital

The Division of Fine Arts of JSC presented the second student recital of the 1959-60 series on Tuesday, Jan. 12. The recital was held in the Music Building, and the program consisted of the following:

Even Bravest Hearts from Faust (Gounod): James Bentley, bass; Frances Moss, accompanist.

David's Seed Established (Ravel): Tommy Moon, bass; Dorothy Powell, accompanist.

Moderato No. 3 from Three Romances (Schumann): Nancy Hagan, oboe; Robert Cantrick, accompanist.

Silent as Night (Bohm): Eunice Stephens, soprano; Sally Redden, accompanist.

Pastorale (MacDowell): Mary Lou Dumbbar, organ.

I Walked Today Where Jesus Walked (Malotte): Lanier Denison, tenor; Frances Moss, accompanist.

Andante (Mozart): Linda Murphy, organ.

Sarabande and Menuette (Bach): Freddie Pollard, trombone; Suzanne Barton, accompanist.

Who Is Sylvia? (Schubert): Joe Gilliland, bass; Jimmie Dean Carnell, accompanist.

All Through the Night: Linda Turrentine, soprano; Sally Redden, accompanist.

Cradle Song (Brahms): Ann Page, organ.

My White Knight (Wilson): Julia Phurrough, soprano; Vera McAbee, accompanist.

Bill Hai (Hammerstein): Dorothy Powell, mezzo-soprano; Frances Moss, accompanist.
