High School Students Here For Meeting

About 350 high school juniors and seniors will assemble on the campus Saturday, Jan. 30, for a pre-legislative meeting in advance of the Youth Legislature which will be held in Montgomery March 21-24. Student meetings will be held at the University of Alabama and in Montgomery.

Towns and cities to be represented include Birmingham, Anniston, Gadsden, Huntsville, Guntersville, Oxford, Ashland, Colbertville, Fort Payne, Decatur, Pell City, Springville, Oneonta, Wadley, Rainsville, Talla dega, Blountville and Calhoun.

The purpose of the training meeting is to prepare members of Hi-Y and Tri-H-Y clubs to take part in the Youth Legislature. The day's program will include the following:

Devotion, Lottie Sears, district chaplain, Anniston; "Youth, Government and a red Christian Citizenship," the Rev. T. H. Carroll, pastor, First Christian Church, Gadsden; "Procedures of the Alabama Legislature" State Representative E. K. Handy, Etowah County; Committee Procedures and Purpose of Committees," former State Representative George Hawkins, Etowah County.

Areas of legislation to be discussed will include education, transportation and highways, conservation and agriculture, commerce and labor, finance, appropriations and banking. These areas will be discussed in workshops with the following as leaders: J. J. Broaden, superintendent of Gadsden Schools.

Dr. C. B. Smith, President Of Troy, Speaks To Seniors

Dr. C. B. Smith, president of Troy State College, is seen talking to an audience of J. C. seniors after his speech on Wednesday morning.

Dr. C. B. Smith, president of Troy State College, was elected to give the "charge" to the January graduates at Jacksonville State College, and he addressed them on Wednesday morning. For several years this college has had the custom of inviting outstanding alumni to address the seniors upon the eve of graduation. He was introduced by President Houston Cole.

Dr. Smith told the seniors that he envied them because they are going out at the begining of what is considered the most significant decade in the 19th century.

"The 1960's promises to be the most exciting 10 years in the century," he said. "The past 10 years have been amazing with空间 and beauties, but the next 10 should prove to be even more exciting. I am born 60 years too soon."

Dr. Smith charged the seniors to learn how to get along as a team when they begin their professional careers. He urged them to be cooperative and that being cooperative does not mean being a "yes" man, but it is difficult to achieve anything without it.

Troy's purpose in community life being wholesome and professional is also important, he said, and "there must be a gain of knowledge when they receive their degrees."

"Have an unfinished task," he said, "in trying to understand more adequately the American system under which you live; get a firmer grasp of the basic tenets of democracy today; find out what must be preserved and sustained," he concluded.

Dr. Willman Confers At U. Of Florida

Dr. Leon D. Willman, dean of students, was sent by the school to the University of Florida to attend the annual meeting of the Southern Association of Dean of Men and Personnel Administrators which met from Jan. 14-16.

While he was at the University, Dean Willman attended meetings which covered the follow-ting topics:

1. Outline of new professional activities which contribute to the educational and training of students.

2. The establishment of extracurricular activities as to the educ-al goals of institutions.

3. The responsibility of institutions for the moral and religious education of students.

Dr. Willman also hoped to learn more about "the important Student Union Building."
Facing A New Year

The first of the year is universally accepted as a time for discarding the old and beginning the new. It is a time when resolutions are made, and it is also a time when our people begin to think constructively about the directions their lives are taking.

The prospect of a new year, a very definite beginning again of events, brings many thoughts to mind. A desire is created in us to use the new year wisely when we come to the realization that time is of the essence, that much which has been done before will be done again. But no time has ever been lost and now we are faced with what can be accomplished.

This is a period when we come to the realization that time is of the essence. The years have passed with amazing rapidity, and so little has been accomplished in this time. We also comprehend that we have left undone so much, and that we will not live long enough to do everything we have desired to do.

We also bring ourselves to face the idea that much of what we have done will be done again. We are sometimes pinned when we understand that our old habits and old routines will still be with us. Of course, we are not beginning our entire existence again, but we can concentrate less on the mechanical aspects of our lives, such as eating and sleeping, so that our minds will have room for new ideas. We must accept the fact that the new year will not be radically different from the past years, but that new ways of doing things can make the new year a more satisfying experience.

We realize also at this time of the year that mistakes we have made before do not necessarily have to be repeated. The ideal that "no mistake should be made twice" ought to be foremost in our minds. Our mistakes will not correct themselves, but by effort and sheer force of will we can solve the problems and overcome the difficulties that keep us from being happy.

Perhaps the most important aspect of the beginning of a new year is that we have a moment to take stock of ourselves and of our lives. We have the opportunity to do better and to be better. We can know, too, that our plans can be put into operation only if we can maintain our interest in them.

—Shurtleff.

This Is Our Decade

People have begun this decade with the prophecy that the world will go the way of the dinosaur. Students of this generation have not assumed quite the attitude of destruction, but we are seeking answers to the future through our own lives.

This progressive outlook is evident in the progress of education—attainable at Jacksonville. In seeking the answers to our future we look to the future of Jacksonville State College: the aspects of tremendous growth. The crowded conditions will be relieved by the addition of the campus of new dormitories and a student union building. Eventually, there will be a new music building, and a renovated faculty house that will supply ample space for faculty entertaining. As the student body increases, so will the faculty and the administration. Jacksonville is not standing still.

In the future we can see the eventual elimination of diseases. Travel, communication, and education will continue to expand our horizons. All this the college generation of today bas to look for—future horizons. All this the college generation has to look into the tre countiy. We are seeking an answer to the future, and that answer will be a "thank-you", and a "good-bye", State Repre

SAQ Bi-Weekly Report

By Tresle Smith

The regular meeting of the S.C.C., held in the old college hall, 12, 1939, at 6:30 p.m., with the vice-president, Don McMillen, presiding.

Financial reports from the classes were given. It was decided because of the fact that a sign would be printed on the Social Science Building, that a sign would not be put over the SGA office.

The point system for the Letters of Appreciation and the Certificate of Merit was explained by the vice-president. These awards will be made at a later date.

There was much discussion in the group about sending out letters from the S.C.C. and Dr. Anders to thank students for their help and cooperation during the year. A committee was appointed to draw up the letter. There will be a "thank-you" to those students who helped in such activities as Homecoming, J Day, school dances, etc.

It was definitely decided to have a "Bat Week" for the entering freshmen this semester. There will be an entertainment for them in the President's Lounge on Monday night, Jan. 25. On Thursday night, Jan. 28, there will be a "Sock Hop" for all entering freshmen in Champlin Hall. It will be free of charge. They will wear their rat hats. The classes were given, and it was decided by a vote of the students to have a "thank-you" for the rest of the year. A committee was appointed to draw up the letter. There will be a "thank-you" to those students who helped in such activities as Homecoming, J Day, school dances, etc.

John Drake Dies Of Cancer

John Drake died at his home in Loxsonville, Ky., just before the Christmas holidays, after a long illness.

He was stricken in his senior year by cancer and underwent surgery. He spent several months at home recuperating and returned to complete the requirements for his degree.

Early in the fall he became ill again and left school; his condition gradually became worse and news of his death was received just before classes were dismissed for the holidays.

John was active in the social science organizations and was admired by all who knew him for his scholarship and leadership abilities.

Spakovsky Speaks At Sigma Tau Delta

"Russian Literature from Pushkin to the Revolution!" was discussed by Dr. Anatol von Spakovsky before members of Sigma Tau Delta and English majors and minors at Jacksonville State College on Tuesday, Jan. 12. Dr. Spakovsky is a sociology professor, a native of Russia.

He explained the history of Russian literature, which flourished, with such notables as Pushkin, Turgenev, Dostoevsky, Tolstoy, and Lermontov.

Dr. Spakovsky said the students that Russian literature centered around four periods with the country's capital cities as the focal points—Kiev, Moscow, Petersburg and again, Moscow. He concentrated his remarks on the time of Peter the Great, 1703–27, which is known as the "golden time of Russian literature." He pointed out that although tyranny reigned under Nicholas I and Peter the Great, the culture flourished, with such notables as Pushkin, Turgenev, Dostoevsky, Tolstoy and Lermontov.

Under tyranny, he said, the people began to create, possibly as an escape and a challenge from suffering. Many of the writers of this period are unknown, although there was a wealth of writers at this period.

Wanda Gilliard, Gallant, presided.

Jacksonville vs Ga. State

Borrowing a baseball doubleheader trick, Jacksonville State's basketball Gamecocks came "out of left field" in Atlanta Saturday night, Jan. 9, to slap Georgia State down, in overtime, 66-62. This was victory number six for the hometown favorites.

The score was deadlocked at 56-all at the end of the regulation game. Halftime also saw the two clubs with equal scoring, 34-34.

But once the buzzer for the five-minute overtime sounded, the Gamecocks showed their superiority. Team captain Gerold Dupree and Earl Cleland each tossed in 6 points and sub-guard Harold Boyd chippered in with a charity toss to end the 15-point "come back" spurt.

Leading scores for the winning five included three men who hit in the double digit bracket. Rayford Talley knocked in 13, with Dupree ended with 13, and Laury Boblin had 11.

The Gamecocks of the "Campus World Series of Intramural Basketball." Both teams are members of the National League.

The Gamecocks, composed of varsity football players, used a sensational fourth period outburst to overcome the Phil Hunt, Darlings. Darlings knocked Wody Hamilton's Tomcats out of championship running, 66-42, Tuesday night, Jan. 12. The new champions edged the defending champions, Bulldogs, 44-44, to earn the final berth.

Hank Sables paced the losers with 9 points.

Outstanding for the victors were: Harold Shankles, one of the more outstanding players of the basketball season, was the leading scorer with 24 points. Hank also excelled in the rebounding department.

Darlings finished with 14 points. Outstanding for the losers were: Wody Hamilton, Hank Shackle, Jack Savage, and Coach Phil Hunt, who ended in the middle of the night, Hunt Darlings. The Darlings were: Jim Moyn, Wayne Hilliard, Hank Sables, Jack Savage, and Coach Phil Hunt, who had to go into action when Hilliard, one of the night's biggest stars, fouled out in the fourth period.

Intramural Results

Under The Hayes Stack

Now we're likely to be whistling past the graveyard, but this column firmly stands behind the conviction of our prediction: Hammering Back O'Neal, whose talent is detectable only with a tape measure, will return this spring to greatly bolster the Jacksonville State basketball base.

O'Neal, who is likely to explode a home run in any park in the country, including Yellowstone, will be the JSC shortstop, third hitter in the '60 batting order. He'll be permitted, and will take 560 as his standard for the season. The competition afternoon academically he is a January graduating senior. He certainly will be welcomed back.

Jim Glasgow, with a physique stolen from some pantheon of sculptured-granola gods, is expected to continue his football career as a member of the 1960 Montreal Alouettes of the Canadian Football League. Official confirmation is expected within the next 15 days.

"Bill Jim," captain of the '59 Jacksonville gridiron, made a flying trip up North on Dec. 12 but declined to comment on the results of his trip. This journey ended in his playing as the starting offensive tackle for the South squad in Montgomery's Blue-Gray classic of Dec. 26.

Coach Don Salls' self-styled "Country Gentlemen", dieted on grits and corn' and taught old-fashioned, rough football, will open spring training drills on Tuesday, March 1. Coach Salls in making this announcement declared that these drills would last approximately 30 days.

"It will be a rebuilding year", commented Coach Salls in discussing the spring session, "and we've got a lot of big and fast shoes to fill."

He was referring to the seniors who will be leaving: Ted Booher, Grover Whaley, Roy Pulver, E. G. Taylor, Harold Shackle, Jim Mayben, Bill Nichols, Wayne Keahey, and Jim Glasgow.

While discussing 1960, the conversation shifted to the quarterback situation. Only one letterman will return. "Rayford Talley has just undergone surgery but the doctor has assured us that the operation was a success and that he should be ready to go full blast by spring. This year Bill Kinny will play quarterback and halfback.

Mr. Salls, a 13-year veteran of football battles, also disclosed that quarterback Eugene Grieb (6'9, 175 lbs.) of Guntersville is one of the three known football players who will join the squad during the second semester to strengthen the manpower under-center position.

"Tentative plans for the spring", according to Coach Salls, "are to work mainly on defense with the objective of building the toughest defensive team ever put on a field. We will also work about 70 percent of the time, on an all out passing defense."

Other defensive newcomers who will come in at the beginning of the second semester include Ben Fuller (6'2, 215 lbs.) tackle from Phenix City, and Jim Williams, tackle, from Gadsden. Williams stands 6'1" and tips the scales at a nifty 210 lbs.
