

Insurance Card can be picked up Tuesday Nov. 26, between 11:30 and 1 p.m. in the dining hall.

Thanksgiving
Holiday Begins
Wednesday Noon

VOLUME FORTY-TWO

JACKSONVILLE, ALABAMA, NOVEMBER 25, 1963

NUMBER 7

Two Biggest Events Of Semester On Tap After Thanksgiving

Candidates in the Miss Mimosa Pageant are from left, first row, Mary Moon, Kay Walker, Mary Gibbs, Cristal Camper, Tomi Casey, Judy Shanaberger, Pat Vickers. Second row: Paula Abernathy, Diane Culver, Jane Slyhoff, Jo Ann Thrasher, Patsy Lee, Carol Dunkin, Sue Johnson, Patricia Brooks, Kay Waggoner, Linda Walker, Pam Borgfeldt. Third row: Jeanette Rhodes, Donna Wright, Nicole Verellen, Callie Vee Edgar, Linda Casey, Vicki Hallman, Carla Choate, Wenona Jones, Kay Rains, Linna Shirey, Alice Fulwilder. Forth row: Mary Sanford, Willetta Murcheson, and Anita Henry.

Mimosa Pageant Letterman Concert December 4 and 5

Thirty of Jacksonville State's most beautiful young ladies will parade down the Miss America-patterned ramp on the evening of Dec. 4 in JSC's annual Miss Mimosa Pageant. Emceeding the most beautiful event of the JaxState year will be Mike MacDougal of WAAX radio in Gadsden.

The pageant, sponsored by the college yearbook and patterned after Atlantic City's Miss America Pageant, is traditionally one of JSC's best well-produced events, and plans point to this year's being no exception. With candidates from a large number of campus organizations, this year's line-up of beauty is more plentiful than ever before.

In the atmosphere of this year's theme, "Some Enchanted Evening," and with the college orchestra providing the background music, the beautiful co-eds will be seen first in evening dresses and then in sports attire.

Mrs. James Sergio, proprietor of an Anniston charm school, will assist the girls in poise and posture in preparation for the pageant.

Miss Lily May Caldwell, widely-respected for her work with the Miss Alabama Pageant, will be one of the three judges. The other two have not yet been announced. Candidates will be interviewed by the judges in the morning and at a tea in the afternoon on the day of the pageant.

The Lettermen

Annual Fall Talent Show Produces Array Of Talent

"An Evening in New Orleans" was the theme for the annual fall talent show at Jacksonville State College on Wednesday night in the Leone Cole Auditorium. Judy Shanaberger, Jacksonville, and Tony Normand, Birmingham, were emcees, and introduced the show with appropriate songs and jokes.

The acts were as follows: "Don't Think Twice", folk-singing group composed of Lillian Starcher, Columbiana; Jimmy Cherry, Birmingham; Noble Yocum, Larry Selman, Gadsden; solo, "Tonight", Hugh Naftel, Jacksonville; solo, guitar accompaniment, Lynn Self, Blountsville; solo, "Lament", Diana Chu, Hong Kong; "M.T.A." banjo accompaniment, Bob Turner, Heflin; duet, original song, Noel Whatley, Birmingham, Calvin Aycock, Verbena, guitar accompaniment; fire baton act, Judy West, Selma; solo "See

Practice Teaching Keeps JSC'ers Busy

Fifty-eight students at Jacksonville State are taking their practice teaching this semester in Gadsden, Anniston, Piedmont, Talladega and Attalla high schools, and in the Jacksonville High School and Elementary Laboratory School, according to Dr. Greene Y. Taylor, chairman of the education division.

They are assigned as follows: Secondary Education: Edna Sue Bellamy, Oxford; Joseph D. Brindley, Syble D. Brindley, Alene Bullard, Blountsville; Louise F. Marbut, Jacksonville; Kay Webb Savage, Piedmont; Emilea Smith, Blountsville; Ralph Taylor, Fyffe; Beverly Ann Benson, Cordova; Mary Thrasher Gibbs, Judith Rose Lamberth, Gadsden; Martha Hope Smith,

Student Committee Reports Talks With Administration

Candidates in the Miss Mimosa Pageant are from left, first row, Mary Moon, Kay Walker, Mary Gibbs, Cristal Camper, Tomi Casey, Judy Shanaberger, Pat Vickers. Second row: Paula Abernathy, Diane Culver, Jane Slyhoff, Jo Ann Thrasher, Patsy Lee, Carol Dunkin, Sue Johnson, Patricia Brooks, Kay Waggoner, Linda Walker, Pam Borgfeldt. Third row: Jeanette Rhodes, Donna Wright, Nicole Verellen, Callie Vee Edgar, Linda Casey, Vicki Hallman, Carla Choate, Wenona Jones, Kay Rains, Linna Shirey, Alice Fulwilder. Fourth row: Mary Sanford, Willetta Murcheson, and Anita Henry.

Student Committee Reports Talks With Administration

At a regularly scheduled meeting of the Student Government Association Tuesday night, Nov. 18, SGA President Gerald Waldrop reported that a committee of ten students had met earlier in the day with Dr. Cole, Dean Montgomery, Coach Salls, and members of the athletic committee, Dr. Van Keuren, Dr. Strickland, and Mr. Fain to discuss the existing conditions of Jacksonville State's athletic program.

Waldrop reported that although the committee failed to get any immediate changes in athletic policy, it was assured that improvements would be forthcoming. He said that as a result of recent talks with the administration, plans have been approved for the addition of a track team to the athletic program, a project which the SGA has worked toward for quite some time. The SGA president reported, too, that increased emphasis was promised in the areas of tennis and baseball. "The administration has obtained a new respect for the student body as a result of the dignified manner in which we have presented our dissatisfaction," Waldrop continued, "and the student body can be assured that the committee represented it well in voicing what we felt were generally the feelings of most students."

SGA vice president Tony Normand added, "This appeal to the administration was handled in a way the student body can be proud of. Anything we can do to better our respect in the eyes of the administration is a big help to Jacksonville, both now and in the future."

The student committee was appointed from a group of some twenty-five students who had met with Dr. Cole and the athletic board earlier, at the request of SGA officials, to voice student dissatisfaction with the present quality of the school's athletic program.

On the committee were Gerald Waldrop, Tony Normand, Johnny Brookes, David Moon, Judy Shanaberger, Mary Ann McCurdy, Robert Morton, J.V. Williams, A.W. Bolt, and Mike Kimberly.

GEM OF THE HILLS--This turkey probably knows what it all means, and isn't fooled at all by the flattery, but with this gem's attentions what fellow could worry about the trivials? Getting ready to do the honors for this fellow's day is pretty Jeanni Hicks, a freshman from Marietta, Ga.

year's line-up of beauty is more plentiful than ever before.

In the atmosphere of this year's theme, "Some Enchanted Evening," and with the college orchestra providing the background music, the beautiful co-eds will be seen first in evening dresses and then in sports attire.

Mrs. James Sergio, proprietor of an Anniston charm school, will assist the girls in poise and posture in preparation for the pageant.

Miss Lily May Caldwell, widely respected for her work with the Miss Alabama Pageant, will be one of the three judges. The other two have not yet been announced. Candidates will be interviewed by the judges in the morning and at a tea in the afternoon on the day of the pageant.

The pageant will be held in Leone Cole Auditorium at 7:30 p.m. Admission is 50 cents. Girls will have 11:30 permission.

LETTERMEN

The SGA will take pride in presenting "The Lettermen" in concert as its big entertainment event of the year Thursday, Dec. 5, at 8 p.m. This Capitol Recording trio thrilled a JSC audience last year at the Class Officers' Dance with their unusual talent and fresh variety. From that appearance came an abundance of praise from the students who witnessed the nationally-known group's performance.

"I've never seen a better group of performers," was one comment following last year's visit by "The Lettermen". "I could have listened to their harmony all night," was another. "The Lettermen were absolutely great." ...And so went the student body's reaction to last year's performance.

Interestingly enough, "The Lettermen" all have the same vocal range and interchange their parts, singing the melody line, top or bottom. They feel this is, in part, responsible for some of their success because all can do solos which, they feel, make for better watching.

Tickets for the event are now on sale and can be purchased from any SGA member. Advanced tickets are $2 and $4 but will be on sale at the door for $2.50 and $4.50. Students will be excused from their 7, 8, and 9 p.m. classes to attend the performance if they purchase advanced tickets.

Jacksonville State College on Wednesday night in the Leone Cole Auditorium. Judy Shanaberger, Jacksonville, and Tony Normand, Birmingham, were emcees, and introduced the show with appropriate songs and jokes.

The acts were as follows: "Don't Think Twice", folksinging group composed of Lillian Starcher, Columbiana; Jimmy Cherry, Birmingham; Noble Yocum, Larry Selman, Gadsden; solo, "Tonight", Hugh Naftel, Jacksonville; solo, guitar accompaniment, Lynn Self, Blountsville; solo, "Lament", Diana Chu, Hong Kong; "M.T.A." banjo accompaniment, Bob Turner, Heflin; duet, original song, Noel Whatley, Birmingham, Calvin Aycock, Verbena, guitar accompaniment; fire baton act, Judy West, Selma; solo, "San Francisco", Glenn Hester, Bessemer; "House of the Rising Sun", piano accompaniment, James D. Eldridge, Americus, Ga.; William Griggs, Union Grove, Travis Beshears, Walnut Grove, "Pipe Line".

Other entertainers were Sandra Smith, Jacksonville; Jimmy Purcell, Cedartown, Ga.; Jimmy Nichols, Dutton; Bobby Clotfelter, Gadsden; Martha Yancey, Attalla; Martha Moore, Trafford; Al Berry, Opp; John Carruth, Jr., Gadsden; and Martha Clark, Hamilton.

Winners were Bob Turner, Heflin, 1st place; Glynn Hester, Bessemer, 2nd; Judy West, Selma, 3rd.

Keeps 500 Old Busy
Fifty-eight students at Jacksonville State are taking their practice teaching this semester in Gadsden, Anniston, Piedmont, Talladega and Attalla high schools, and in the Jacksonville High School and Elementary Laboratory School, according to Dr. Greene Y. Taylor, chairman of the education division.

They are assigned as follows: Secondary Education: Edna Sue Bellamy, Oxford; Joseph D. Brindley, Syble D. Brindley, Alene Bullard, Blountsville; Louise F. Marbut, Jacksonville; Kay Webb Savage, Piedmont; Emilea Smith, Blountsville; Ralph Taylor, Fyffe; Beverly Ann Benson, Cordova; Mary Thrasher Gibbs, Judith Rose Lambérth, Gadsden; Martha Hope Smith, Fort Payne; Glenelle Halpin, Lineville; Douglas Stewart, Talladega; Wanda Daves, Rachel Daves, Hanceville; Mary Will Endress, Bonnie Faye Gilbert, Margo Ann Miller, Ashland; Jan Marie Masters, Geraldine; Barbara Buice Maye, Van Gene Newman, Anniston, Jacksonville High School.

Joy Ann McCullers, Ruth Marie Evans, Green Perry Goodson, Gadsden, Gadsden High School; Zeddie Ladon Richey, Collinsville, Gaston High School; Gwendolyn Wallace, Anniston, Anniston High School; Patricia Ann Cates, Anniston, Saks High School; Mary Salter Maddox, Anniston, Calhoun County

CONTINUED ON PAGE 3

From left are winners in the Fall Talent Show: First place, Robert Turner, Heflin; second place, Glynn Hester, Bessemer; and third place, Judy West, Selma.

Editorials

To The Defense Of The Dining Hall

Many of the dining hall employees were quite vexed after the last edition of the Collegian appeared, because of an article pertaining to student complaints. To make the record clear, and to avoid further misunderstandings, we would like to say a few things for the dining hall, but first we want to say something for ourselves. The article in question was written and printed as a news article, telling of the work of the food committee of the SGA--it was not of an editorial nature, and the complaints mentioned in the article were those the committee had gathered, and were not necessarily those of the Collegian staff.

We realize that many of the student complaints are baseless, that others result from things that cannot be helped, and that the dining hall management is trying to correct those things which it can.

To those students who do have complaints we would like to point our a few things. This year we have much more variety in the meals, having a choice of meats, a choice of desserts, and a choice of drinks. Also, this year we have hot chocolate at breakfast. With the exception of meats, seconds are rarely refused. As for the cooking is concerned, if there is anyone who can prepare food for 1200 people three times a day and suit their combined whims and fancies, we are sure that Mr. Haywood would like to meet that person. As for friendliness on the part of the food servers, it would be hard to find another group on campus that do their work in a manner as cheerful and pleasing.

So if you have complaints about the dining hall's food or service, go ahead and tell them to the committee assigned to hear them.

But we would ask that you first consider them carefully and make sure that they are legitimate complaints.

A Word About The JSC Band

In the last issue of the Collegian, the suggestion was made that the Jacksonville State Southerners' Marching Band perhaps could be a tremendous addition to our institution's public relations program, by making appearances at high school football games. We regret very much the interpretation which we are told some members of the band chose to give the suggestion. We were in no intentional way being critical of the band.

The Southerners deserve much credit for their outstanding performances which have thrilled audiences time and again this football season. The band's magnificent performance at Band Day must have surely filled with pride every JSC student who witnessed the unusual display of musical talent.

Jacksonville State has every reason to be extremely proud of its band, and we would be among the last to say otherwise.

Madame President?

Those rumors we have been hearing must be true after all, for we understand that Senator Margaret Chase Smith is planning to formally announce her candidacy in the New Hampshire presidential primary soon.

There is an advantage for her in the New Hampshire primary, in that she will be running in her next-door state, where she is very popular. We assume that she will be running against Rockefeller and Goldwater, and as she describes herself, she is "more conservative than Rocky and more liberal than Barry."

be urged to "Peg for Meg" and quite possibly the G. O. P.'s "Operation Dixie" would use the plea, "Coalesce for MCS."

If there were any TV debates--well, what man would have a chance? And with her being able to handle her own paint, there would be no chance of a mess-up on the make-up, as some debaters of recent years have experienced.

If she were elected she would really be the first lady--in two ways. One thing we could be sure of is that from her experience as a housewife she should be good at

Letters To The Editor

International House Called Tool Of Peace

All the divine teachings come to this conclusion, "Know that every true believer in the Faith is the brother of every true believer. All of you share the same liberty! All of you are of the same equality! You are one brotherhood." (Koran) Therefore liberty, equality and brotherhood are the bases of humanity. They work separately as well as together. You cannot have one without the other. They are similar to the trinity. Liberty is loved by every creature on this earth. For the human being, liberty goes to this point.

Liberty is life and life is liberty. They are twins; for liberty one can sacrifice life, but for life one cannot sacrifice liberty.

Life is liberty and liberty is freedom with honor and dignity there is no liberty, and without liberty there is no life.

Patrick Henry stated it by saying, "Give me liberty or give me death." Abraham Lincoln became the hero of liberty by saying, "Every human being has a right to be free."

Millions and millions of people died and are still willing to die for liberty. Liberty is the essence of every man's life. The goal of liberty is equality. Equality? We love liberty but we despise equality. Is it because we are full of prejudices, and because we always like to look down at somebody? Our liberties give us the privilege to argue for, agree on, and defend whatever we believe is right. But it does not give us the right to take other peoples' freedoms away from them because of their religion, race, social rank, opinions, habits, and customs, or because of their backwardness or lack of mental evolution. Who are we to take peoples' freedoms away from them? We are human beings! Are not they? We know that men have always been in need of the help, aid, and worthwhile discoveries of other men. This leads us to brotherhood.

Brotherhood? A word heard in churches, said in speeches, and read in books, but which is not admitted by people. This non-admittance of brotherhood is due to our different political ideologies, to our blinding complexes of superiority and inferiority, and to our lack of knowing one another and our misunderstanding of one another.

Compulsory ROTC Pro And Con

By Gerald Waldrop
Guest Writer

By A.W. Bolt
Guest Writer

Military training would not be mandatory at any institution of high learning except in those institutions which have been set up for that purpose, such as West Point, Annapolis, and Marion Institute. Armed forces training should serve as an extracurricular activity at such institutions as Jacksonville instead of being offered mandatorily.

Military training, first of all, takes too much of the student's time which could be devoted to study of his intended life's work.

Second, the student does not get enough hours credit for the time put into the training. ROTC at Jacksonville State is a good example of this. The students spend two hours in class, one out on the drill field, one hour cleaning weapons, one hour every Thursday afternoon getting a hair cut, three hours on Thursday night polishing shoes, brass, and hat bills, half-an-hour going to the cleaners to get suits pressed, about five hours studying the subject matter, and if the student is ambitious and wants the "gung-ho" rating, he has to spend every minute of his

Many of our male students wonder why four semesters of ROTC are required. Some would regard this as an invasion of our democratic system, and others view it as a necessary evil. Try to look at the situation objectively and realistically.

Agreeing that advanced ROTC is a good thing (at least for those who desire it), one must realize that basic ROTC is necessary in order to have an ROTC program. Without it, there would be no basis for selection into advanced, and also a very valuable leadership opportunity would be lost.

If basic ROTC were not required of students, how many would take it? Chances are that less than 50% of the students would volunteer. It is then well evident that unless the basic courses are required, there can be no program at all.

Think ahead for a moment. How many things do you suppose an individual will have to do in his lifetime that he does not want to do? How many times will his boss tell him to act, yet give no reason? With logical thinking, many such cases will be foreseen.

Many students think that mandatory ROTC and dormitory regulations fall into the same category as this situation. Perhaps so, but the important thing is to accept these situations and do the best possible. With proper training, the end result can be self-discipline, and an individual will be able to adjust much easier.

Our president, Dr. Cole realizes that discipline is very important. "The ones without it are in trouble; it is invaluable." This matter carries over into all phases of our lives--how much to drink, eat, sleep, or how much time to spend in leisure.

Another thing that you are introduced to while in ROTC is this matter of competition. This is a very competitive world we live in, and as Jacksonville's PMS, Lt. Col. Brock says, "This orientation to competition is very spare time over at the "RO" building getting in his "brownie" points. Is all this "worth one hours" credit? I say "No."

GERALD WALDROP

There are some boys who come to college to get an education that are easily swayed by the ROTC line. Often they concentrate all their time on this and "flunk" out of school, thus failing in their original of the band.

the last to say otherwise.

Madame President?

Those rumors we have been hearing must be true after all, for we understand that Senator Margaret Chase Smith is planning to formally announce her candidacy in the New Hampshire presidential primary soon.

There is an advantage for her in the New Hampshire primary, in that she will be running in her next-door state, where she is very popular. We assume that she will be running against Rockefeller and Goldwater, and as she describes herself, she is "more conservative than Rocky and more liberal than Barry." Then too, she might have competition from the always-running-for-something candidate, Harold Stassen.

The charming Senator from Maine will be the first lady in the history of our nation to seriously seek the Presidency, and we wonder just what such a candidacy would mean.

In the first place, the sloganeers could really have a field day with the lady Senator. We would all be urged to "Peg for Meg" and quite possibly the G. O. P.'s "Operation Dixie" would use the plea, "Coalesce for MCS."

If there were any TV debates--well, what man would have a chance? And with her being able to handle her own paint, there would be no chance of a mess-up on the make-up, as some debaters of recent years have experienced.

If she were elected she would really be the first lady--in two ways. One thing we could be sure of is that from her experience as a housewife she should be good at selecting cabinets.

Now, in all seriousness we should say that we are glad to see Senator Smith making this race, and we wish her only the best of luck. She spoke on our own campus a few years ago, and those who were here at that time have certainly not forgotten her; she has many friends and admirers here, and we are happy to count ourselves among them.

Under The Chimes

Recently many of the students were out at a very late hour watching the colossal conflagration which destroyed the old Tom Martin house, which had stood for over a century. For years most of the students had thought of the house as part of the campus and they were sad to see it go; some of the students were actually in tears as they watched the once-imposing columns tumble. Seeing now only two lonely chimneys rising to nowhere makes one know that the campus has definitely lost something.

This writer telephoned Luttrell Hall the other day and the phone was answered by a student who is accustomed to going from door to door in the dorm collecting laundry. With a New Jersey accent he answered "Laundry!" Then he said, "Laundry???--I mean Luttrell Hall!"

Though the football season is nearly gone--it seems to be just beginning here--we are reminded of this definition of an atheist: A person who can watch Notre Dame playing Southern Methodist and not care a flip who wins.

During the next 10 years 220 million vehicles will be involved in 130 million traffic accidents.

Thirty-seven million Americans will be killed or injured on the highways.

Make Yours A Safe Holiday
Drive Carefully

people's freedoms away from them because of their religion, race, social rank, opinions, habits, and customs, or because of their backwardness or lack of mental evolution. Who are we to take peoples' freedoms away from them? We are human beings! Are not they? We know that men have always been in need of the help, aid, and worthwhile discoveries of other men. This leads us to brotherhood.

Brotherhood? A word heard in churches, said in speeches, and read in books, but which is not admitted by people. This non-admittance of brotherhood is due to our different political ideologies, to our blinding complexes of superiority and inferiority, and to our lack of knowing one another and our misunderstanding of one another.

What is man doing to live in harmony and in brotherhood with his fellow man? He is building rockets and nuclear weapons? They are the tools of peace. Oh! No! They cannot be. Rockets and nuclear weapons could never be tools of peace. They are tools of hate, destruction, and war. Is there no hope for peace in the future? Yes! There is hope for peace and I am proud of being a part of it.

For 18 years a man, helped by other men, was foregoing a real tool of peace, a tool born in Alabama but for the world, a tool needed all over the world, because it is the path to liberty, equality and brotherhood not for a certain particular faith, race, nationality, or society, but for all. This man is Dr. J. H. Jones. This tool is Jacksonville State College International House Program where the motto is: "Know one another and you will love one another". Also its primary purpose is to promote better understanding among the people of the world.

The goal of the International House Program is not only a human cause but also a divine cause this is what we were created for-- to live in liberty, in equality and in brotherhood.

Mustapha Chtaini (Chris)
International Student
Casablanca, Morocco

COLLEGIAN

Editor Randall Cole
Associate Editor
George Earl Smith
Feature Editor . David Miller
Sports Editor . Charles Couch
Circulation Manager
Lawson Shaw
Adviser ... Mrs. R. K. Coffee
Photographer ... Opal Lovett

GERALD WALDROP

spare time over at the "RO" building getting in his "brownie" points. Is all this worth one hours' credit? I say "No."

There are some boys who come to college to get an education that are easily swayed by the ROTC line. Often they concentrate all their time on this and "flunk" out of school, thus failing in their original purpose of getting that college education.

Last, what is the use of taking two years in college to do what a person can get in eight weeks in the Army?

If the student does not take advanced ROTC, the required basic training will do him no good because he still has to face that obligation after college.

Military training should be offered only for those who want to make the military a career.

It is not that I am not patriotic or do not love my country, because I do, and would die to defend America if it were deemed necessary. But it is not necessary because we are at peace. There are enough future military career men to guard our country. Let them take ROTC.

Jax Police Are Praised

Dear Editor:

It is time a few of us stopped griping about the Jacksonville Police Department and started obeying our traffic laws. Laws are the basis of our civilized way of life. Breaking these laws could mean injury of even death.

The Police Department of Jacksonville tries hard to prevent accidents and to be of assistance whenever they can. They were quick to help me a few weeks ago when my car would not start. Instead of just calling a mechanic they went themselves, brought back a battery charger, and started my car for me.

I would like to commend the Police Department of Jacksonville for being patient with us college students who have invaded their town.

Jean Graben
Rowan Hall

vidual will be able to adjust much easier.

Our president, Dr. Cole realizes that discipline is very important. "The ones without it are in trouble; it is invaluable." This matter carries over into all phases of our lives--how much to drink, eat, sleep, or how much time to spend in leisure.

Another thing that you are introduced to while in ROTC is this matter of competition. This is a very competitive world we live in, and as Jacksonville's PMS, Lt. Col. Brock says, "This orientation to competition is very important." Many get their first exposure to it in ROTC.

A.W. BOLT

Another advantage to requiring basic ROTC is that of leadership training. Although somewhat limited in the basic program, some opportunities are available.

Many young people do not know what is best for them. Many would not go to school past the age of 12 if not required to do so by law, and many would not eat properly if not forced to do so by parents. While both are invasions of personal liberty, they are for the good of the individual and society.

Much of life can be considered in the same light--many things are demanded are expected of adults. Proper training contributes greatly to well-rounded adults; required ROTC serves such a purpose.

Investment Club

Floyd P. Tredaway, former member of the college business faculty, now employed by Courts and Company in Aniston, will speak to the Investment Club on Wednesday evening, Dec. 4, at 7 o'clock, Room 205, Graves Hall.

Spirit Of Morgans And Calhouns Now A Forgotten Tradition

By Charles Lybrand

There has been a great deal of talk lately about our school spirit and how it is waning. From editorials to letters-to-the-editor, and from fired-up protestations to countless remedies appearing in the Collegian everyone--or almost everyone--has developed a genuine interest in the subject. Many, no doubt, have tried to think of some way to regenerate school spirit.

If we consider that our spirit is at a low ebb and that there is danger of its complete demise, we can only look to ourselves as being guilty, for in earlier times Jacksonville possessed one of the most active and explosive student bodies imaginable for a college of its size.

During the '20's--when it was not just a FAD to go to college--these fortunate young men and women who did get to go entered into the swing of things with full force and power, and with enthusiasm that carried them far beyond any level of achievement our students today have reached.

One of the chief outlets for school spirit was the establishment of a literary society in 1900 by Dr. C.W. Dugette, then president of the old State Normal School.

The Calhoun Society soon became a very popular activity--most likely because at the time there were few other activities for students. An overflow enrollment soon forced the Calhoun Society to split, for sake of competitive spirit and for convenience at their monthly meetings which were getting into a rut. The new society was called the Morgan Literary Society after Senator John T. Morgan (following the example of the Calhouns who named their society for John C. Calhoun).

Literary societies in those days were really clubs which had periodic meetings and held events designed to broaden the students' scope of understanding and interest. They were organized along the lines of a debating club to give the student practical opportunities to develop the arts of oratory and argumentation. It may be hard for some of us today to visualize a debating team as a medium of school spirit, but let us look at some of the old enthusiasms that prevailed and see if we can match it today.

There was a water tank behind Forney Hall that was a constant battleground for the rival color guards. Each club challenged and accepted challenges from the other, from volley ball to basketball, to shouting contests. It was nothing to find oneself hemmed up in Graves Hall with fellow Morgan's trying to find a door left unguarded by the besieging Calhouns. Tomato and egg battles besmeared aspiring young scholars frequently and nauseatingly during the last few weeks of preliminary "mud-slinging". True, things did get a little out of hand, but there was always the alternative of reciprocation as balm for the wounds.

In contrast, today we elect ONE homecoming queen. Back then they had FOUR flower girls--two for each debating team. The array of natural beauty and Philadelphia-lawyer-like oratory made the debates objects of great importance drawing alumni and townspeople alike from miles around to set on either one of the two sides of the auditorium and cheer their champions on to victory.

After each speaker delivered his speech one of the dainty little "posie-toters" bedecked him with a bouquet of flowers. Each side then tried to out-yell the other and standing ovations were not uncommon. It is said you could feel electricity in the air--especially when Dr. Dugette gave the report of the judges.

In 1936 the Morgans won the negative side of the subject, "Resolved--That Alabama should adopt a sales tax". The Calhouns also had their share of victories, winning one year on the affirmative side of the subject, "Resolved--That the U.S. should have a six-year presidential term". As you can see, by these subjects, these people were nobody's fools. They not only got a capital chance to blow off steam in the right direction (and they blew off plenty of it) but they were also conscious of the fact that you had to be intelligent as well as enthusiastic.

The Morgans and Calhouns somehow died out--perhaps for the sake of the health and welfare of the members (seeing as how the atomic bomb had been invented and could produce much more devastating results than a water balloon). Anyway, they are gone... but don't go around making it known that your mother was a Morgan (as this reporter's was) for you might find yourself confronted by a very much 'alive' Calhoun who just doesn't want to forget that year when the Morgans won the debate and woke him up early the next morning parading to Jacksonville with tin cans and whistles.

Societies Important

These societies met regularly and held discussions on art, literature and music, giving each student a chance to excel in his chosen field with emphasis upon the development of oratorical abilities in particular. So great was the interest that the societies soon became as important to their respective members as have the Democrat and Republican parties in the field of politics.

Competition became strong and you were either a Morgan or a Calhoun, and you stayed a Morgan or Calhoun as long as you drew breath. The following story is related by one of Jacksonville alumni which illustrates the competitive spirit:

A couple which graduated from this college in the '40's was divided with the girl retaining Morgan loyalties and the boy retaining Calhoun. The

Sponsors for the National Society of Pershing Rifles at Jacksonville State College are, left to right: Dixie Dennis, Heflin; Glennis Maddox, Fyffe; Charlene Tarpley, Rome, Ga.; Mary Moon, Gadsden; and Lynn Thompson, Anniston. Pershing Rifles is an honorary organization for basic ROTC cadets.

Dr. Frank Glazner Served JSC In Many Capacities

by Carol Millican

Dr. J. Frank Glazner, for whom the college's freshman resident hall for men is named, served Jacksonville State in many different capacities before his retirement in the spring of 1954.

He first became connected with the college in 1921, when he joined the faculty as head of the science department. He served as registrar for a period and also as acting dean. After the death of Dr. C.W. Dugette, he was acting president until the appointment of Dr. Houston Cole.

Dr. Glazner, a native of DeKalb County, finished a two-year course here in 1909. He went on to graduate from the University of Alabama, and later was employed as a chemist for a large industry in Birmingham. He received his master's degree in chemistry from the University of Alabama, and his Ph.D. from Peabody.

He was a deacon in the First Baptist Church and sang in the choir for many years. He was married to the former

DR. J. FRANK GLAZNER

Esther Meade Coupland of Springville after the death of his first wife, and they had one daughter, Marynell, (Mrs. J. T. Pate). He and his first wife had a son, Dr. L. J. Glazner, now a Jacksonville dentist.

The building which bears Dr. Glazner's name was opened for occupancy in 1956, four years prior to his death.

Pershing Rifles Led By Beauties

With their new sponsors to lead them, Jacksonville's company of the Pershing Rifles will be stepping out proudly at many events this year.

They have already participated in Jacksonville High School's homecoming parade, as well as that of the college. They also performed a retreat ceremony on the college quadrangle the Saturday of homecoming.

The Pershing Rifles paid tribute to our soldiers with a 40-gun salute on Veterans Day in the town square.

December 9, they will compete against Auburn University in the state's largest Christmas parade at Talladega.

Having to earn money for future trips, the company has already handled this year's football programs as well as a candy sale. Another sale is scheduled in time for Valentine's Day.

Practice

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

Schools.

Home Economics: Kitty Martin, Leeds; Barbara Bryant, Patricia Williams, Nancy Anderson, Gadsden; Sundra Ingram, Lineville; Jean Garner, Pisgah; Billie Ann Bush, Pell City, Jacksonville High School; Anne Harris, Eastaboga, Walter Wellborn High School; Jan MacConchie, Jacksonville, Piedmont High School; Mary Fink Taylor, Summerville, Ga., Alexandria High School.

Music Education: Lavon Lang, Albertville; John Caruth, Jr., Gadsden, Jacksonville High School. Elementary Education: Sue S. Bryan, Jacksonville; Nona Sue Moore, Anniston; Dorothy Patterson Wood, Dadeville; Virginia A. Wilson, Sylacauga; Alice F. Hood, Ashville; Delores Butler, Bynum; Dora Elaine Moore, Woodland; Patricia Ann Strickland, Summerville, Ga.; Judy Brice Guin, Birmingham; Mary Louise Turner, Cropwell, Jacksonville Elementary Laboratory School.

Sara Sizemore And Raymond Kay

overcrowded enrollment soon forced the Calhoun Society to split, for sake of competitive spirit and for convenience at their monthly meetings which were getting into a rut. The new society was called the Morgan Literary Society after Senator John T. Morgan (following the example of the Calhouns who named their society for John C. Calhoun).

Literary societies in those days were really clubs which had periodic meetings and held events designed to broaden the students' scope of understand-townspeople alike from miles around to set on either one of the two sides of the auditorium and cheer their champions on to victory.

After each speaker delivered his speech one of the dainty little "posie-toters" bedecked him with a bouquet of flowers. Each side then tried to out-yell the other and standing ovations were not uncommon. It is said you could feel electricity in the air--especially when Dr. Daugette gave the report of the judges.

Posing for the Channel 6 cameras on a recent visit to that Birmingham television studio are members of Mr. Opal Lovett's audio-visual class. From left are: sitting, Sandra Scroggins, Sara Sizemore, Mary Endress, Phyllis Lett; standing, Larry Meharg, John Gaudin, Brenda Kuykendall, Gay Brewer, Margie Baldwin, and Pat Vickers; behind, Dixie Dennis and Ira Joe Crawford. The group was guest of the station for a study-tour of their tele-casting system.

Mimosa Staff Hopes To Produce Best Book

Work is progressing satisfactorily on this year's Mimosa with the layout already completed and copy's being assembled to turn over to the printers in time to meet deadlines.

More books have already been sold than in previous years and orders are still coming in. The Mimosa staff hopes to produce the best book in history with more color pages than ever before.

Right now the immediate project is the "Miss Mimosa Pageant" which is scheduled for Wednesday, Dec. 4.

Members of the staff working on this year's publication include the following:

Dale Dison, Talladega, editor; David Moon, Sycamore, business manager; Ren

Wheeler, Pell City, circulation; Judy Shanaberger, introduction; Wenona Jones, Guntersville, Dixie Dennis, Heflin, Pat Vickers, Ashland, senior class, personalities; Todd Holman, Harvest, Sharon Harris, Atlanta, Ga., Janice Russell, Birmingham, organizations; Bobby Forbus, Anniston, ads, classes; Vickie Hallman, Guntersville, Peggy Entrekinn, Bowdon, Ga., music; Dona Nichols, Birmingham, Susan Pearson, Opelika, classes.

Catherine Burn, Jane Hubbard, Anniston, personalities; Mary Ann McCurdy, Huntsville, Martha Wilson, Jacksonville, beauties; Brenda Plunkett, Gadsden, art; Lilly and held discussions on art, literature and music, giving each student a chance to excel in his chosen field with emphasis upon the development of oratorical abilities in particular. So great was the interest that the societies soon became as important to their respective members as have the Democrat and Republican parties in the field of politics.

CONTINUED ON PAGE 4

Competition became strong and you were either a Morgan or a Calhoun, and you stayed a Morgan or Calhoun as long as you drew breath. The following story is related by one of Jacksonville alumni which illustrates the competitive spirit:

A couple which graduated from this college in the '40's was divided with the girl retaining Morgan loyalties and the boy being a Calhoun. To add to the entanglement, she was a Methodist and he a Baptist--just about as different as you can get. Well, the girl finally consented to join the young man's church when they were married but she absolutely refused to become a Calhoun. This is loyalty!

What caused all this partisanship? Why such rivalry and competition? And, most baffling of all, why such spirit?

It is doubtful that the answer will ever be forthcoming, and it is definite--at least in the minds of old Morgans and Calhouns--that such spirit will never be equalled again--even by our present offering on the altar of patriotism--Homecoming.

Debate - Big Event

The big event of the year--and by big we mean something a little stronger than tremendous and not but a little weaker than colossal--was the annual Morgan-Calhoun Debate. This debate swept across the old campus once a year with such steam and devastation that it took the student body at least a month to get the dust settled--and, indeed, it was truly NEVER settled.

For weeks before the debate actually came off, the Morgans and Calhouns, students, faculty, alumni and townspeople took sides on a particular topic (chosen usually by Dr. Daugette.) Competition ran high and one found it hard to avoid a civil war under the ferny oaks of our nascent institution. Rivalry was the thing and each society tried to get its colors--red and white for the Calhouns and purple and gold for the Morgans--on the highest pinnacle possible.

Daugette, he was acting president until the appointment of Dr. Houston Cole.

Dr. Glazner, a native of DeKalb County, finished a two-year course here in 1909. He went on to graduate from the University of Alabama, and later was employed as a chemist for a large industry in Birmingham. He received his master's degree in chemistry from the University of Alabama, and his Ph.D. from Peabody.

He was a deacon in the First Baptist Church and sang in the choir for many years. He was married to the former

DR. J. FRANK GLAZNER
Esther Meade Coupland of Springville after the death of his first wife, and they had one daughter, Marynell, (Mrs. J. T. Pate). He and his first wife had a son, Dr. L. J. Glazner, now a Jacksonville dentist.

The building which bears Dr. Glazner's name was opened for occupancy in 1956, four years prior to his death.

Alexandria High School. Music Education: Lavon Lang, Albertville; John Caruth, Jr., Gadsden, Jacksonville High School. Elementary Education: Sue S. Bryan, Jacksonville; Nona Sue Moore, Anniston; Dorothy Patterson Wood, Dadeville; Virginia A. Wilson, Sylacauga; Alice F. Hood, Ashville; Delores Butler, Bynum; Dora Elaine Moore, Woodland; Patricia Ann Strickland, Summerville, Ga.; Judy Brice Guin, Birmingham; Mary Louise Turner, Cropwell, Jacksonville Elementary Laboratory School.

Sara Sizemore And Raymond Kay Hard Working Seniors Featured

by Donna Browning

The Senior Spotlight this week turns its beam to the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Sizemore of Sylvania, "sparkled-eyed" Sarah Sizemore.

Sarah is an avid reader of historical novels and fiction, besides being an accomplished pianist and we hear she can really "jazz-up" her saxophone. In fact, she was in the band while in high school, one of her many extra-curricular activities which also included being in the Library Club, a member of the Beta Club, and the Student Council.

She can't seem to get away from student government for here at Jacksonville State Sarah is a representative from a library assistant in the Ramona Wood Library for three years.

She is to do her practice teaching in the spring at Jacksonville Elementary and then will graduate in July with a degree in elementary education. After she graduates she would like to teach the first, second, or third grades. However, her main goal in life is to be head of her own kindergarten.

Jacksonville State is actually just a "family affair" for Sarah. She has an older brother and sister who have come to Jacksonville before her. Her sister graduated with a degree in chemistry and is now a teacher at Woodlawn High School in Birmingham. Sarah will have been at Jacksonville only three years when she graduates but this won't be all of the Sizemore family at Jacksonville, for she has a sister who will be an entering freshman this summer. Thus, you can easily see that Jacksonville is just "in-the-family" as far as the Sizemores are concerned!!

Raymond Kay is certainly one boy who deserves to be spotlighted. He is one of the few students around who has found that a good way to keep warm is to get all wrapped up in his work. And this is precisely what Raymond has done, and as a result he now has a 2.0 average. However, Raymond is not one of those people who practices the old saying of "all work and no play." He is a member of Phi Beta Lambda and was recently chosen for "Who's Who", 1963. He is also an active member of the Tennessee National Guard.

He graduated from Lafayette, Ga., High School in 1958 after having played football and being a member of the L Club. For two years after graduation, Raymond worked on the construction of highways in Georgia. At the end of two years he and some friends came to see how they liked Jacksonville. Raymond decided that it was a fine school and he started here as a freshman majoring in business with a minor in economics. He is planning to get a degree in accounting and work in that field after graduation.

RAYMOND KAY

Raymond is from Rock Springs, Ga., and he is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Kay also of Rock Springs.

If you should ever want to locate Raymond you can find him at Luttrell Hall where he has been a counselor for the last three semesters.

SARA SIZEMORE

Abercrombie to the SGA. She also belongs to the Three Keys, NEA, and the Young Republicans. Sarah has been

JSC

SPORTS

with

CHARLES COUCH

The Editor Speaks

For the past few weeks there has been much unrest among the students and some of the alumni of Jacksonville State College over the present condition of the athletic program at this institution. Several persons, student government leaders, organizational leaders, and other influential students have held several meetings with the administrative officials to attempt to work out a logical solution to this problem.

Many people hold the belief that the blame lies within the coaching staff and their's alone. Others feel as if all the football and basketball players do not put forth full effort. And still

And still others feel that the majority of the blame lies within the student body itself.

Speaking as an individual, we say this, "There is no one factor that is the cause of the present crisis!" There is much more to consider.

Let's look at facts:

1. In the 1963 season Jacksonville had only a 4-4-1 record while playing schools of inferior quality.
2. Jacksonville athletes are not kept on, and do not maintain a rigid athletic training program.
3. The number of home spectators for a Jacksonville State game is seldom as large as for a Jacksonville High School game.
4. School spirit at Jacksonville State is at a terribly low ebb.
5. Seldom, if ever, is a Jax State team "up" for a game.

There are indisputable facts. The malefactors are the coaches, the players, and the students of Jacksonville State. Often we hear rumors of students wanting to hold a demonstration in protest of the situation and demand that action be taken.

This is definitely NOT the answer to, or solution of the problem confronting us. Speaking as a student to students, we say that all a demonstration of this sort would accomplish would be to cause the administration of the college to be far less receptive to any plan or ideas of students about this or any other issue.

The real test lies with the students, the athletes, and to no small degree, to the administration. Each of these bodies need to do some serious "soul-searching" to determine what comes next. The students need to be far more enthusiastic and to support the team to a greater extent. The players need to take it upon themselves to try harder, have more desire to win, and acutally train and keep in top condition.

As to what the administration could do, we cite Memphis State College as an example. Between five and seven years ago this college was much the same as Jacksonville State. The enrollment was about 2,000 and the school had about the same problem as Jax State has today. The administration went all-out for a new athletic program. Today, in only five years, there enrollment has increased to approximately 10,000 and their football team is one of the finest in the nation with an 8-0-1 record, their tie coming from a clash with Ole Miss.

The Intramural Picture

By David F. Hay

In the last game of the year, the Apaches upset the Bengals 7-6. Brookes scored on a long run of about 50 yards. On two attempts the P.A.T. was no good. In the second half, the Apaches rallied behind Holder and Love, and finally scored by driving the ball on the tough Bengal line. Holder scored and Carter boomed the P.A.T. through the uprights. Now the Apaches held the upper hand; this held until the gun went off.

This loss was the Bengals first, but it put them in a tie with the Spartans and will merit a play-off for first place.

I.M. ALL STARS OF '63
At the end of each season, the coaches of the various teams vote on an All-Star team. This year, with so many good backs and linemen, it was hard to decide on one team but here is what we came up with:

Backs: Bobby Sides, Bengals; Andy Page, Spartans; "Buggar" Brooks, Bengals; Larry Holder, Apaches.

Ends: Charles Lumsden, Bengals; Charles Parks, Chargers; Dennis Love, Apaches.

Linemen: Tom Tindell, Apaches; John Coggin, Spartans; Darrell Hyatt, Bengals.

Second Team

Backs: Parker, Bengals; D. Sanderson, Red Necks; Jim Griggs, Spartans, B.T. Johnson, Spartans.

Ends: Hanks, Spartans; Chandler, Bengals.

Linemen: Folse, Apaches; Carter, Apaches; and

Bengals Listed As Intramural Champs

BY DAVID F. HAY

The Bengals again prove themselves to be the best in the intramural football league of Jacksonville State College by virtue of a 32-7 defeat of the second place Spartans.

Speedy Bobby Sides got the Bengals off to a swift start when he ran the opening kick-off back 85 yards for the Bengals' first score. Other of the Bengals to tally were Darrell Hyatt who struck pay-dirt twice, James Chandler on a pass from Brooks, and Brooks who ran for the score. Brooks also converted twice in five attempts.

Outstanding for the Bengals was the entire forward wall, but deserving special mention were Hugh Wheeler, David Moore, Darrell Hyatt (on defense), Scotty Dorough and Charles Lumsden. James "Duke" Chandler who plays end opposite Lumsden, was the leading pass receiver for the Tigers.

The defensive backs of the Bengals were a terror to Spartan passers and Adolph Lee picked off several wayward Spartan aeriels, returning one for some forty years. This set up the Bengals final score of the night.

Ronnie "Duney" Harding and Richard "Dickie" Serviss played good ball according to some of the opposition. Also, many felt that the difference in the ballgame was the quarterbacking of Morris "Wooly" Parker.

The Spartans played well too, but were unable to match the combined running and passing attack of the Bengals.

Andy Page, the fine passer of the Spartans was hard-pressed by the Bengal linemen all night and was forced to hurry many of his passes. His prime receiver was James Hanks.

Larry Patterson caught a pass and ran or a total of 35 yards for the longest Spartan gain of the night. From this, Page scored from the one. Hay converted for the Spartans, only score of the evening. Jim Griggs, the Spartans' best running back was well contained all night and was unable to turn the corner.

Of the interior linemen of the Spartans, John Coggin was definitely the standout. He proved a definite asset on both offense and defense.

But as we said earlier, the Bengals were just too powerful for the Spartans. We take this opportunity to, along with the Collegian sports staff to congratulate the Bengals as 1963 INTRAMURAL CHAMPIONS.

The seniors among those pictured below have played their last game for the Jax State Gamecocks. The COLLEGIAN salutes these seniors and also wishes the very best from those who will be returning to do further service with the Gamecocks.

stration in protest of the situation and demand that action be taken.

This is definitely NOT the answer to, or solution of the problem confronting us. Speaking as a student to students, we say that all a demonstration of this sort would accomplish would be to cause the administration of the college to be far less receptive to any plan or ideas of students about this or any other issue.

The real test lies with the students, the athletes, and to no small degree, to the administration. Each of these bodies need to do some serious "soul-searching" to determine what comes next. The students need to be far more enthusiastic and to support the team to a greater extent. The players need to take it upon themselves to try harder, have more desire to win, and actually train and keep in top condition.

As to what the administration could do, we cite Memphis State College as an example. Between five and seven years ago this college was much the same as Jacksonville State. The enrollment was about 2,000 and the school had about the same problem as Jax State has today. The administration went all-out for a new athletic program. Today, in only five years, there enrollment has increased to approximately 10,000 and their football team is one of the finest in the nation with an 8-0-1 record, their tie coming from a clash with Ole Miss, a school which neither Alabama nor Auburn cares to tangle with.

What exactly are we saying? Just this--Jax State needs some reforms, but these will take time, patience, and money to bring about.

However, we will go way out on a limb and express this opinion: Without some wholesale changes in the athletic program of Jacksonville State College as it stands today, the enrollment will decrease, percentage wise, and the name and quality of the school as seen by people outside the school will deteriorate appreciably in the near future!

Jax, Lions Tie For Lead

Dr. Don Salls, head football coach at Jacksonville State, made a prediction at the Alabama Collegiate Conference season's beginning the league would be "better balanced this year than at any previous time." He was by no means disagreeing after his team whipped Livingston, 13-7, Saturday.

Jacksonville, with an earlier tie with Florence to its credit, climbed into the first place seat with the Lions with the come-from-behind win. Livingston finished third in the league and Troy was last. Troy lost at Presbyterian Saturday, 24-14, and Florence dropped a 27-2 football decision at University of Tennessee, Martin Branch. Independent Howard lost, 17-16, at home.

Livingston went ahead in the second quarter on a long aerial connection from Quarterback Rocky Plaia to End Don Jennings, leading at the half 7-0. Jacksonville scored again in the third and fourth quarters.

"I thought I had seen about everything our opponents could do," said Troy's Coach Bill Clipson, referring to incidents in the game in Clinton, South Carolina, Saturday. Presbyterian kicked off one time with the ball hitting a Troy player's helmet, bouncing straight up, then away before Presbyterian recovered. Livingston's Coach Jim Garner didn't seem too disappointed over the loss, refusing to take anything from Jacksonville.

"They've got a real good ball club with lots of power," he noted. "I'm not making excuses for us, but when we substitute we just about have to substitute freshmen. And I'm not taking anything from the freshmen, either. They've helped us a lot."

Florence State finished at 3-5-2, only the second losing season in Coach Hal Self's 14-year coaching tenure there. Fullback Bill Burnette scored three touchdowns for UTMB in their clash. Dan Bunn ran for the hosts' first touchdown, and a few minutes later was tackled by FSC in the end zone for a two-point safety.

Jacksonville's final mark is 4-4-1, Troy is 2-7, Livingston's 4-5 and Howard 5-3-1.

was hard to decide on one team but here is what we came up with:

Backs: Bobby Sides, Bengals; Andy Page, Spartans; "Buggar" Brooks, Bengals; Larry Holder, Apaches.

Ends: Charles Lumsden, Bengals; Charles Parks, Chargers; Dennis Love, Apaches.

Linemen: Tom Tindell, Apaches; John Coggin, Spartans; Darrell Hyatt, Bengals.

Second Team

Backs: Parker, Bengals; D. Sanderson, Red Necks; Jim Griggs, Spartans, B.T. Johnson, Spartans.

Ends: Hanks, Spartans; Chandler, Bengals.

Linemen: Folse, Apaches; Carter, Apaches; and Wheeler, Bengals.

It is our belief that these two teams could take any intramural team that we have ever seen.

Gentles To Be Blue-Grey Manager

Allen McKeen, general manager of the annual Blue-Grey Game held in Montgomery, announced today that Glen Gentles will join the athletic training staff in the capacity of head manager for the South. Gentles, a native of Jackson County, and former prep football star at Scottsboro High School, is the son of Mrs. Stella Hodges of route 4, Scottsboro.

Gentles, former Scottsboro football star, came to Jacksonville in 1959, and immediately became affiliated with the athletic department. He is in his fourth year as athletic trainer for the Jacksonville State College football team. He is an asset to the athletic department and will be greatly missed upon graduation in May of 1964.

Mimosa

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 3

Ilan Haber, Rahway, N.J., Brad Johnson, DeFuniak Springs, Fla., Dick Johnson, Oxford, Larry Crowder, Mary Fain Maddox, Jacksonville, Carolyn Pettus, Orlando, Fla., activities; Lani Mainland, ads and faculty; Morgan Canady, Birmingham, Linda Wood, Huntsville, Fannie Lee Fuller, LaFayette, Judy Graham, Carolyn Harris, Gadsden, ads and circulation; Vicki Pidot, Anniston, International House; Kay Akin, Bowdon, Ga., typing.

The seniors among those pictured below have played their last game for the Jax State Gamecocks. The COLLEGIAN salutes these seniors and also wishes the very best from those who will be returning to do further service with the Gamecocks.

TOP, left to right; front row: Carter Howard, Joe Marler, Johnny Tipton (Senior), Billy Thompson, Jimmy Lee (no longer with squad) Doug Wheeler (Senior). Back row: Donald Vinson, Calvin McCoy and Eugene Griep (Senior).

BOTTOM, left to right; front row: Paul Beard, James Turk, Joe Turner, Zack Rober-son (Senior), Jack Gaudin (Senior), Ronnie Harris (Senior). Back row: Frank Dean, J. L. Pass (Senior) Cecil "Farmer" Dunn (Senior), Larry Joe Davis (Senior), and Wendell Hubbard (Senior).