Superintendent Meadows Presents Awards To Outstanding Students

Dr. Austin R. Meadows, state superintendent of education, speaking at Awards Day ceremonies at Jacksonville State, made an appeal to the student body to remain in Alabama to improve it economically, educationally and culturally.

He especially urged them to become teachers, and pointed to Alabama's growth and its potential opportunities.

"Alabama needs the best intellects in public education," he declared. "There is no more challenging job for the future than being a teacher. Teaching is coming into its own--as it used to be. Education is the key to the future."

President Houston Cole congratulated the students who received awards and urged them to seek spiritual security in their strivings for goals in their future careers. He

Editorials-

So Long

For some time I looked forward to writing my last editorial, but now it seems a rather sad thing to have to do and I hardly know what to say.

I feel that I must say thanks to those people who have helped me with the COLLEGIAN during my editorship, particularly Mrs. R.K. Coffee, my adviser, who has been nothing less than irreplaceable for the help she has given. (And I should say to whoever follows me, listen to her--I've found that she's usually right, after all.)

Thanks also to Mr. Lovett, a great photographer, and to the girls at the Jacksonville NEWS, Bonnie, Margaret and Linda, who help put the paper together. And many thanks to my staff members, especially Carol Millican, Patsy McElroy, and Charles Lybrand, who always "came through" when called on at the last minute. Thanks to all of you who have helped in any way, and most of all, thank you for reading the COLLEGIAN.

The friendships made and the experiences encountered in working with the COLLEGIAN will never be forgotten. I thank you for permitting me to be your editor--I have thoroughly enjoyed it; I hope that, in spite of my mistakes, the COLLEGIAN is just a little better for my efforts.

Mr. McCluer "Graduates"

This week Mr. Leon McCluer is giving spring final exams for the 37th and last time at JSC. He is retiring from the faculty at the end of this semester.

Mr. McCluer, who came to our college long before it was known as JSC, has been here about as long as anyone else--since 1927. In the years since he has seen the school evolve from a state normal school into Alabama's third largest college, and he has helped in that evolution.

The thousands of students who have been in Mr. McCluer's classes have known him as a man who truly loves teaching and sees his duty to help build character in a student while giving him knowledge. They have heard him say many times that "what a student makes of himself is infinitely more important than the grade he makes in any course."

When graduation ceremonies are held for the seniors Sunday night, Mr. McCluer will be "graduating" with them. The COLLEGIAN staff speaks for 37 senior classes when we say, "Thanks for a long lifetime of devotion to young people--we are better students and citizens for your efforts; may your retirement be happy and full."

From Fred--

"So Sorry"

The column "Fred" was based and written on the premise of sheer, unadulterated nonsense. It was an attempt on behalf of its author to observe, through the eyes of a twice removed-by-stander, the oddities and perplexities of our campus and society. There was no malice intended and, most assuredly, no intention on behalf of its author, to incite, enrage or inflict. It was, perhaps, a poor example of satire--a very poor example, and for this failure, the author apologizes--but, it was an honest attempt to help you, the student body, laugh at yourself before someone else got the chance to laugh at you.

The author feels that he failed. It has been brought to his attention--not personally, as he would have wished, or by asking that those who felt that they had been wronged to write him a letter--not personally, but through someone who had nothing to do with the matter, that the last article was offensive to the Jewish religion. Fred completely, unreservedly and totally apologizes. As it has been said, there was no intention to offend.

Also the college newspaper is no place for personal grudges; Fred realizes this and should he have had any preposterously warped intention to insult he would not have done so in print and before the entire student body. The column "Fred" is hereby deleted from the COLLEGIAN and its author, now submits this retraction and apology to those offended by it.

Kappa Delta Epsilon Initiation

Kappa Delta Epsilon members at Jacksonville State College held their annual banquet and installation of new officers at the Battle House in Anniston. The organization is a national honorary education sorority.

Mrs. H. Dempsey, Jr., member of the Elementary Laboratory School faculty, spoke to the group on being a beginning teacher--which most of the members will become.

She pointed out that beginning teachers must accustom themselves to the idea that their teaching is not graded; and because it cannot be gauged, they will never be completely satisfied with their work.

Capt. Mozley Presented Awards For Service

Capt. James H. Mozley, III, assistant professor of military science in the senior ROTC at Jacksonville State College, was presented the Army Commendation Medal for meritorious services at special ceremonies held by the unit. "Our salute to a man who gave more than duty required", signed by all the students.

The plaque was presented by Cadet Col. Robert W. Hanson of Douglas, commander of the battle group.

Capt. Mozley will terminate his duty with the ROTC in June and has been assigned to duty in Heidelberg, Germany. His wife, the former Janice Merry Shreve of Andalusia, and their daughters, Kathy and Jenny, will join him later.

Prof. McCluer Retiring After 37 Years At JSC

By Patsy McElroy,
COLLEGIAN Staff Writer

The COLLEGIAN would like to pay tribute to Mr. Leon McCluer, head of the geography department, who is leaving us after this semester. Many students will miss the professor who was not interested in them as just students, but was interested in them as people.

Mr. McCluer began his teaching career in 1915 in one of the only two existing consolidated schools in Mississippi at a salary of $450 a year. Except for a period in service and further graduate study at Peabody College, he taught in Mississippi schools until 1927 when he came to Jacksonville State Normal School. At this time he was principal of Jacksonville High School and part time professor of history at the college.

Mr. McCluer has seen Jacksonville State College grow over the years into what is today. He can remember that when he first came here there was only one academic building (Bibb Graves) and a small fram building which served as a dining hall. He has seen the total enrollment increase from about the size of the senior class this year to what the total enrollment now is.

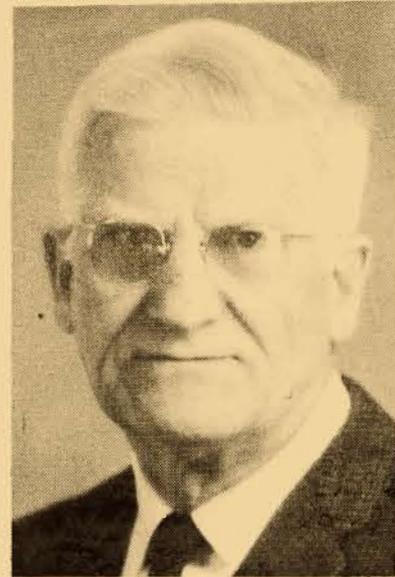

Mr. McCluer has, during his many years at Jacksonville, taught a variety of subjects including history, psychology, English, economics and geography, but for the past twelve or fifteen years he has taught only geography. He has served as head of the geography department since Dr. Glazner's retirement.

For a short time, Mr. McCluer served as faculty sponsor of a college YMCA organization. Through his work in this organization and his work in the local Methodist Church, he became interested in young people. He hopes that he has helped some of them through his words of inspiration to them. When a student enters Mr. McCluer's office, he will immediately encounter shelves of books written about young people, their problems, and ways to help them.

Mr. and Mrs. McCluer had two children, a son, John who was killed in January, 1945, and a daughter, Mary Elizabeth who was killed in June of the same year. Since their deaths, Mr. and Mrs. McCluer have chosen one or two students each summer to send to the American Youth Foundation Camp in Michigan. This coming summer is no exception. They have already chosen Callie Edgar and Agnes Morris to attend this summer's camp.

Mr. McCluer would like to leave these words with the students: "The important thing for a freshman entering college to remember is that what he is making of himself as a person is what really counts. This is true every semester of his college life; the student himself is the most important thing."

When asked if he had any plans after his retirement, Mr. McCluer replied, "Well, I'm going to mow my lawn and cut the weeds out of my orchard."

We wish Mr. and Mrs. McCluer a very happy life filled with joys and satisfactions, for persons who have helped young people as they have certainly deserve it.

Coast Guard OCS Open To Seniors

If you are a senior you may apply for a commission as a Reserve Officer with the U.S. Coast Guard. The next Officer Candidate School class starts 13 September 1964.

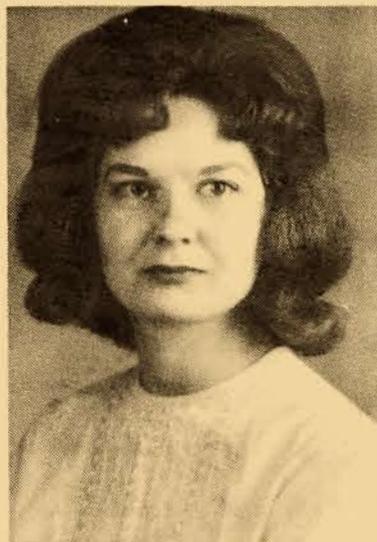

The Officer Candidate School is a 17-week training program conducted at Yorktown, Va. The curriculum covers courses in leadership, navigation, seamanship, communications, ordnance and gunnery, damage control, anti-submarine warfare, military justice and Coast Guard operations.

Since the Coast Guard has only about 3,000 officers on active duty each officer is an important member of the team. It also means that you may have a chance to assume command responsibility early in your career.

College seniors desiring to obtain additional information regarding the Coast Guard Officer Candidate School program should contact the Commandant, U.S. Coast Guard, 1330 "E" St., N.W., Washington, D.C. 20226

Report On May 5 SGA Meeting

S.G.A. President Tony Normand began the meeting by encouraging the Senate to publicize Awards Day and "J" Day scheduled for May 6th. Volunteers were asked to help take up tickets at the J-Day Dance. The entrance fee was set at 50¢ per person. Chaperons previously appointed for the dance could not attend; therefore, Normand appointed four Senate members to be responsible for getting four replacements.

Treasurer Clotfelter asked Senators to turn in ticket money from the Glenn Miller Dance.

Recognition was made of the award given to the two outstanding SGA members on Awards Day.

The Senate voted to send a telegram of support to Governor Wallace.

Mary Ann McCurdy, spokesman for a committee composed of Ron Adams, Ronnie Harris, Bobby Clotfelter, Martha Ann Moore, and Mary Ann McCurdy, appointed previously to investigate possibilities for distribution of SGA money, reported its findings. The committee presented the following items for consideration:

2. Appropriation of $50 for shoes for the tennis team.
3. Appropriation of $250 to the new International House.
4. Appropriation of $500 to be set aside in a savings fund for emergency use.

It was moved by Jimmy Purcell, seconded by Eddie Brown, and approved that the

Five JSC Seniors Receive Assistantships

Stanley Martin of Anniston, who will receive his Bachelor of Science degree at Jacksonville State College on May 24, has received a graduate assistantship at Tulane University. He will work toward a master's degree in the field of bio-statistics. He will receive an annual stipend of $2800.

Martin has carried a double major in mathematics and chemistry. He has also taken ROTC and will receive his commission as a second lieutenant upon graduation. His active duty has been deferred for him to complete requirements for his master's degree.

The bio-statistics department is taught in a different university every summer and he will be a student at the University of North Carolina this summer and will enter Tulane in the fall.

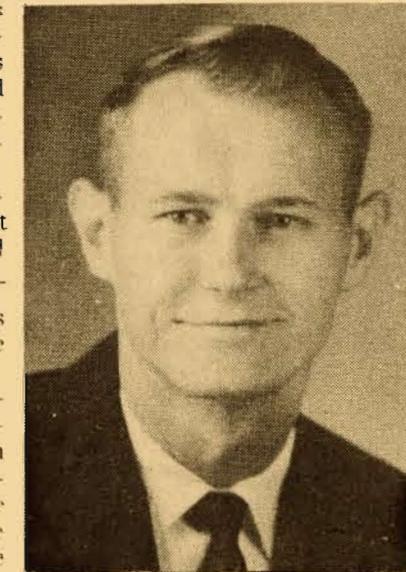

Larry Martin, Stanley's brother, who graduated at Jacksonville in 1961, received a graduate assistantship in biostatistics, and he will be awarded his master's degree this summer at Tulane. He plans to continue his study in the field of parasitology.

The Keener Edge

LARRY KEENER

As the 1963-1964 school year draws closer to the last day, it seems appropriate to make some observations concerning the sports scene on the Jacksonville Campus.

For a long time now, people who know Jacksonville and its students have been impressed by the upgrading of the academic requirements and the physical growth of the school. However, one of the glaring shortcomings of this college has been the lack of enthusiasm for the social and athletic life that comprises so large a part of the student interests at most of the well-known schools.

Now, at last, it seems that we at Jacksonville can point to a marked improvement in school spirit. Part of the improvement can be attributed to a general feeling among students that we no longer need to take second place to any college in the academic sphere.

Also, there seems to have been an increase in interest in student government on campus. Although this increased interest has not been definitely reflected at voting time, it is reflected in the number of discussions that one overhears regarding the activities of the SGA.

Along with the increase in other areas of campus life at Jacksonville has come more interest in the athletic program. This year we saw the construction of better tennis facilities and the inauguration of a tennis team. Track was added to the program for the first time in twenty years.

And, although the football team didn't fare as well as most would have liked it to, student interest in the Gamecocks' gridiron battles reflected a new desire to excel in athletics.

Basketball enjoyed a similar revival of interest with attendance at home games definitely improved over recent years.

And now, as the second semester ends, Jacksonville's baseball team has enjoyed a fine season and students are anxious for this type of performance to be characteristic of all Jacksonville sports efforts.

If we, as students, continue to show our appreciation through increased spirit and attendance, we may be sure that our athletes and their coaches will continue to make every effort to field teams that add to the prestige of Jacksonville State College.

Players Have Been Selected For Membership

As the Intramural Softball League ends its activities for this season, the following players have been selected for All-State Team membership.

Jones of the Sand Mountain Boys will man the outfield.

Hodges of the Vikings was selected to manage the first team.

Named to the second team were:

Johnson of the Vikings at first base; Dollar of the River Rats and Stewart of the Diploids at second; Chandler of the River Rats and Pruett of Scabbard and Blade at third base; M. Harold Brooks, A Real Slugger

BY DICK JOHNSON

The Jax state Gamecocks have finished their baseball season with a very respectable record of 7 wins and 4 losses. Leading the team in batting, defensive play, and spirit was Harold Brooks, the Gamecock shortstop-second baseman extraordinary. "Bugger", as he is known to his friends, swatted the ball at a .511 clip during the past season. Among his hits were three home runs, which is good in any college conference.

Harold is a graduate of B.B. Comer High School in Sylacauga where he played baseball under Coach Jim Cunningham. But his baseball ex-

Salls Has Fine 17 Year Record

In seventeen years of service to Jacksonville State, Coach Don Salls has compiled a coaching record that even Bear Bryant would envy. Under the tutelage of Dr. Salls, the Gamecocks have made known that they are not soft touches by any means.

Coach Salls' record is:

JSC Football Team Is Eighteen Points Better Than Maryland

EDITOR'S NOTE: The Associated Press Article that is reprinted here appeared in 1955, one of Jacksonville's better football years. Mr. James Moncrief, Jacksonville history instructor, found the article and thought it to be of interest.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

You can arrive at some peculiar results playing around with comparative scores, and here's a dilly: Unbeaten, untied and mostly unheard of Jacksonville (Ala.) State Teachers College's football team is 18 points better than unbeaten, untied and top-ranked Maryland--based on a long series of victory margins connecting the two teams.

Using some false logic, here's how you arrive at such a startling result:

Jacksonville is 12 points better than Chattanooga. Auburn is only nine points better than Chattanooga, so Jacksonville is three points better than Auburn.

Auburn is two points better than Georgia Tech, which is 27 points better than Duke, which is six points better than Ohio State. That makes Jacksonville 38 points better than Ohio State.

Stanford was only six points better than Ohio State, so Jacksonville is 32 points better than Stanford. UCLA was only eight points better than Stanford, making Jacksonville 24 points ahead of UCLA.

Since Maryland could beat UCLA only 6-0, little Jacksonville is 18 points better than the nation's first ranked power.

1 on the Red Wave's diamond. Three days later, the Gamecocks split an afternoon double header with the Livingston State team, winning 8-2 after losing the opener, 5-3. Then followed the season-ending loss to Florence.

Many names could be cited for praise among the Jax State baseball team. The line-up which did such a good job for Jacksonville State all season long was:

Larry Holder, catcher; Lane Blankenship, first base; Clyde Jenkins, second base; Glen Wadsworth, third base; and Harold Brooks, shortstop. The flychasers in the outfield were:

Mr. Sanderson of the Comanches at shortstop; Morton of Scabbar and Blade, D. Moore of the Nannies, Massey of the Vikings, and Beavers of the Comanches will be in the outfield.

Sanderson was selected to manage the second team.

Tennis Team Ends Season

The Jacksonville State tennis team ended season play last week with a losing effort to Troy.

However, the season record for the Gamecocks is a respectable 5-4. Among the victories were two shutouts of St. Bernard. Jacksonville also beat Florence once and Huntingdon twice and Troy once.

Members of this year's team were Tom Hamm, John Mann, Frank Whit, Rod Shirey, Mike Kimberly and Herschell Turner. Hamm, Whit, Kimberly, Shirey, Mann and Turner handled both the singles and the doubles chores.

GLENN WADSWORTH has been a bug gun for Jacksonville this year and is the second leading hitter on the squad.

HAROLD BROOKS

experience dates back to his little league days, and includes playing in Babe Ruth and American Legion competition. That "Bugger" is not a one-sport man is evidenced by the fact that he played both football and basketball for the Comer Tigers.

In his freshman year at Jax state, "Bugger" batted .320 and he hit .375 in his sophomore year. It would seem to an astute baseball observer that next year holds great things for Harold. The major league scouts who have approached him will surely want to watch Harold next year to see if he doesn't fit in the .600 class.

Harold is married to the former Miss Becky Hughes whom he met in high school, and who attended Jax State. During the summer "Bugger" is kept busy with semi-pro baseball and working with a retail store chain.

The man who led the Gamecocks to such a fine record, and who established such a fine record for himself deserves the applause of all sports-minded fans at Jax State.

Castleberry Wins Tennis Championship

Johnny Castleberry won the Tennis Singles Championship in Intramural activities last week by defeating Richard Johnson in the finals 6-3, 7-5. Other semi-finalists were Tom Williams who lost to Johnson, and Darrel Dye, who lost to Castleberry.

The Doubles honors went to Terry Newsome and Earl Slayton over Donnie Myers and Richard Ellis.
