Christmas Party For Viet Nam Servicemen's Families Slated

Jacksonville students and faculty will show their appreciation of the sacrifices being made by U.S. forces in Viet Nam by trying to make Christmas happier for their families in this area.

One GI wrote a letter to a newspaper saying he would like for the people to try to make Christmas happier for his family more than anything else he could think of, and the Jacksonville students are going to do just that.

On Wednesday, Dec. 15, at 5:30 p.m., the Round House will be decked in gay Christmas decorations; old Santa Claus will be there to greet the youngsters; refreshments will be served; and a good time will be had by all.

In order to get in touch with the wives and children or parents of these men, people are being asked to return the names into Mrs. Sawyer at President Houston Cole's office.

Students have been asked to wrap one gift each to be given to the children.

Mrs. J. B. Jackson, dean of women, and A. D. Edwards, Jr., director of housing, are faculty chairmen; Mary Ann McCurdy, Huntville, and Pat Goodhew, Birmingham, are student chairmen. Officers of the Student Government Association will assist.

PARTY PLANNED FOR FAMILIES--Plans now under way by students at Jacksonville State College for a gala Christmas party for wives and children, or parents, of men from this area stationed in Viet Nam, were told by Mary Ann McCurdy (1st row, left to right) to Chip Mathews and Constance Currier, whose fathers are with the 173rd Airborne Brigade at Bien Hoa.

The party will take place Dec. 15, at 5:30 p.m., in the Round House. Gifts, music, refreshments and Christmas decorations will add to the festivity of the occasion. Looking on (2nd row) are A. D. Edwards, Jr., Pat Goodhew and Mrs. J. B. Jackson, other members of the arrangements committee. Families are requested to call Jacksonville 435-7881 for reservations, or their friends may call for them.

SGA News

MEETING OF NOVEMBER 18, 1965.

President John Mann called the meeting to order. Randall Wolfe gave the invocation, the secretary read the minutes from the last meeting, and called roll. Following a discussion of a proposal to dedicate a football game to a player who was seriously injured last year, a letter was read from the injured player's mother which stated that they did not wish to have the dedication made in his name. The talent show is to be advertised.

Funds: $1,237.14, Balance on November 30: $9,745.50.

Pat Goodhew, chairman of the Student Conference On American Government, reported on the schedule for SCOAG which will be Dec. 2-4. All students are urged to attend Paul Harvey's address on Friday night in Leon Cole Auditorium. Judge Hobart Grooms will speak in the Roundhouse at 10:30 on Saturday. Pat thanked the SGA and the students for cooperating with his plans for the conference. He remarked that the meeting last year was the best he had ever attended.

Miss Mimosa 1966

Jeannie Hicks of Marietta, Ga., is the second Georgia student at Jacksonville State College to capture the title of "Miss Mimosa." She was selected by a panel of five judges on Friday night over 27 candidates at the annual "Miss Mimosa" pageant. She was crowned by Linda Curry of East Point, Ga., last year's winner of the title.

Barbara Smith, a senior from Roanoke, Va., was elected "Miss Congeniality" in the contest.

Art Faculty Has Exhibit

Members of the art faculty have an exhibit of their paintings, sculpture and ceramics on display in the gallery of Mason Hall. The gallery is open to the public Monday through Friday, 8 a.m. to 4 p.m., until Dec. 17.

The artists are Lee Manners, head of the department; Mrs. Ruth Sinclair, assistant professor of art; and James J. Froese, instructor.

Students in the art department will have their annual Christmas show and sale in the lounge of Hammond Hall (student union building) on Wednesday and Thursday, Dec. 8-9.
The talent show is to be Monday night, Nov. 22, with rehearsal on Sunday night. M. C.'s are Jimmy Purcell and Janice Boyd. This is expected to be our best talent show ever, and many students are entering.

Jerry Savage, junior class representative, suggested that the SGA find a way to aid the Collegian staff in preparation of the newspaper. Jimmy Purcell moved that the SGA open an account in the bookstore not to exceed $100.00 for the rest of the year's expenditures of the COLLEGIAN. Philip McMahout seconded the motion, and the SGA unanimously agreed to set up the COLLEGIAN account.

The Food Committee Chairman, Marlon Mills, appointed new members to serve on the committee. These include Robert Westbrooks, Gordon Boughon, Jimmy Purcell, Linda Curry, Ruth Neura, and Lane Warren. They are to meet at 6 p.m. before SGA meetings at 6:30. If any student has a good suggestion for the food committee, please give it to one of these committee members, or drop it in the SGA box in the Grab. Delores Smoke moved for adjournment. Jimmy Purcell seconded the motion, and the SGA approved.

MEETING OF NOVEMBER 30, 1963
President John Mann called the meeting to order, the invocation was given by Jerry Savage, and the secretary read the minutes of the last meeting and called the roll. Joe Stahlkuppe, COLLEGIAN editor, thanked the SGA for setting up the expense account in the bookstore.

A report on ticket sales for the Four Seasons show was made. These sales are doing well, and Allied Arts Cards are to be honored. Committees were appointed for work during the show. SGA members will be stationed at the door, as ushers, and to keep class rolls for anyone who is missing his night class to attend the show.

Treasurer Randall Wolfe gave the financial report. Balance in November: $8,981.04. Income: $2,001.60. Expenditure:

Pannell Girls Demonstrate

Girls of Pannell Hall are demonstrating—not against anything, but for the American spirit of understanding toward all peoples.

The Neura sisters and Ariel Colburn, who live in Pannell, have led a movement which ended in Pannell's adopting an orphanage in Viet Nam. There are some 500 war orphans who will receive clothing, books, toys, and candy from the girls in Pannell during the next year.

These same girls are also leading a movement on campus to encourage students to write to American soldiers in Viet Nam. Some students have already received answers from GI's in Viet Nam.

One such letter received last week expressed gratitude for college students taking time to show they do care.

Guadalcanal will speak in the Roundhouse at 10:30 on Saturday. Pat thanked the SGA and the students for cooperating with his plans for the conference. He remarked that the publicity had been unusually good.

President Mann reminded the SGA to publicize the Christmas Dance which is to be Dec. 15 in Leone Cole Auditorium. Allied Arts Cards will be honored, and girls have 12 o'clock permission for the dance. It is to be semi-formal and Ronne Milsap's orchestra will provide the music.

SGA members should decide on the style and type of pin before the next meeting so SGA membership pins can be ordered.

Tommy Monroe moved for adjournment. Peters seconded the motion, and the SGA adjourned, Monday night.

Any suggestions of the students will be appreciated if it will help your SGA to function and serve the students more fully.

Mary Jane Baker
SGA Secretary

Tommy Monroe moved for the Amendment Committee to set aside $100.00 for the Campus Crusade for Christ, and to recommend this amount to the SGA. Peters seconded the motion. SGA members agreed to set aside $100.00 for the Campus Crusade for Christ and recommended the amount to the Senate.

The Christmas Dance will be semi-formal. Miss Congeniality and the alternates will be selected from the show. SGA members will be appreciated if they will help your SGA to function and serve the students more fully.

Voting was taken on the proposal to have a Christmas Dance on Dec. 15 in Leone Cole Auditorium. The proposal was passed.
Jacksonville’s Star—Bright And Shining

(From Gadsden Times, Dec. 7, by Howell Talley, editor)

Well, now, that was some experience! The Alabama high school seniors and Jacksonville State College students provided a fresh, stimulating time of it at their three-day Student Conference on American Government.

Their grasp of the U. S. Constitution, the branches of American government and current and past events, leaves little to be desired in these areas of their country’s life.

This editor spent two days at Jacksonville and was closely associated with the proceedings of the conference and the young men and women who participated in it. So closely absorbed was he that on return to work of The Times, a real adjustment had to be made after having been so thoroughly marooned from an off-campus world.

These young people are as different from the peaceniks and their “angry” counterparts as the Stars and stripes from the hammer and sickle.

While I cannot speak for every Jacksonville student, I can rightfully hold much enthusiasm over the ones I did become associated with. Names such as these keep hammer and sickle!

Drawing from all parts of the country, students presented a Christmas edition of the COLLEGIAN to the ordinary class-room, Jacksonville State College fills to the brim all that can hold much enthusiasm over expansion of its facilities is on the campus.

As long as there are young people in this great land of ours and as long as there is life at Jacksonville State, we have nothing to worry about—they’ll handle this nation as good, if not better, than those before them.

Jacksonville State, under the competent leadership of its president, Dr. Houston Colcistics is now the third largest institution of its kind in Alabama. More expansion of its facilities on the drawing board. Its future seems limitless.

The International House to the ordinary classroom, Jacksonville State College seems like a dream all these be desired of an institution of higher learning in these United States.

Letter To The Editor

Lately, there has been a spurt of editorials in this paper concerning the peace-demonstrations. While I do not agree with the demonstrators in their criticism of U. S. policy in Vietnam, I believe that the people who write these editorials do well to examine their own concept of democracy. If free speech is to be curtailed in this instance then where is it to be permitted? If disagreement with consensus is unsafe here, then where is it safe? If dissent is reason for campus then where is the “loyal opposition” to come from?

For the record, should not be used with abandon. Most would not burn. Many of the draft-card burners have no reason to fear the draft, most are deferred stragglers. The only fear they can be justly accused of is the fear of atomic war. Anyone who says he has no fear of the bomb is a liar or a psychotic.

This, then is the picture. These people are, with some exceptions not traitors or cowards but merely mistaken. Let him who has not erred cast the first stone. As a girl from this school said in a letter to the news, they must not know exactly what is going on. The answer to ignorance is information, not accusation. The present method of the campus, should not be used with abandon. Most

An Essence Of Christmas

Christmas has various meanings for people in the United States as well as for those in other lands.

To many of us Christmas carries with it a tradition of beautifully decorated trees, gaily-wrapped presents, and familiar carols. However these things do not embody the true spirit of Christmas.

To find this spirit or essence of Christmas, we must look back over 2000 years ago to the first Christmas when God sent His Son as a gift to the world. As we exchange gifts with friends and relatives, the giving means not only the gift itself, but it symbolizes the job of the arrival of Christ and a love for our fellow men.

Thus when we give to others the greatest gift we can bestow is a part of ourselves.

—Alice MacConchie

Christmas In The Air

“Christmas is in the air! You can feel it!” Those are the words from a story which appeared in the 1950 Christmas edition of the COLLEGIAN, to the very last line. But what is the “Christmas spirit” or essence of Christmas?

In 1946 a poll was taken to see what all the little boys and girls at the college wanted for Christmas. Girls and automobiles seemed to be the gift most often requested that year. Some of the gifts asked for were: “46 black Buick convertible with one barrel of Schlitz, a double-duty tricycle with balloon tires,” President Cole Buick 47, ‘46 won’t do.

One year the Fine Arts Department presented a Christmas pageant at the Recreation Center. The social committee sponsored a White Christmas Banquet. Another year a dance was held to the music of the Glenn Miller Orchestra. Clubs and religious organizations had banquets and parties; other groups went caroling.

Letters To The Editor

Editor:

Dear Editor: In the last issue of the COLLEGIAN, there was a request from one of your readers that the President of the College stop to talk to a high school student. It is my opinion that his request, as president of the College, is well taken and should be granted.

What’s wrong with wearing these letters? I’m sure the wearers of these letters did not find them easily attained. They earned them; let them wear them.

Secondly, I don’t feel that it lessens the grandeur and deity of the “J” Club members, as all the students know who they are—the ones who get things done, no matter what the cost. Dollars to spend are hard to come by.

Although success is commonly judged by the money you have in the bank or the price of the car you drive, there are more important signs of success. The respect your peers have for you, and the respect you have for yourself are vital parts of the feeling of “success.”

In this modern world, already far too materialistic, human respect and integrity are necessary beyond calculation. For, when the world loses these two qualities, it loses all the reasons
Answering For Our Stand In Viet Nam

The above letter is typical of occasional remarks of letters received. We have heard the LEGIAN has been placing too much emphasis on the "struggle" in Viet Nam. It seems that we could better utilize editorial space by attacking certain campus rules and publicizing certain student's gripes with the SGA, dining hall, women's dormitories, the parking problem and student police, the faculty, and the LEGIAN.

The gripes may be well taken, we are not in a position to do, and will not say. One thing we can and will do is try to clarify and define our reasons for concentrating on the Viet Nam situation.

While we have found many of the above writer’s points to be logical, and true to a certain degree, there is one point on which agreement is impossible. This is the writer’s apparent “negation of the act, through the ignorance of the actor.” This is a point the writer did not accurately or correctly state what was put forth in the articles that he mentions. We mentioned treason, not in the cases of those who merely spoke against, or disagreed with U. S. policy in Viet Nam. We will include that we were not charging the law-abiding demonstrators with treasonable activity. While we feel that many of the above acts are in bad taste and done under the guise of the belief that “peace can be accomplished through negotiation”, it is not to these that we feel treason is applicable.

Even draft-card burners are probably not guilty of the exact act of treason in the strict letter of the law, but of a misdemeanor punishable by fine, fine, or both. But we will not equivocate on the fact that anyone who takes up money, blood, clothing, medicine for an enemy of the U. S., (despite the fact that no war has officially been declared) is guilty as charged of giving aid and comfort to the enemy—a treasonable and punishable act. For it is quite possible that the above writer forgot a few basic facts, such as, while we are not involved congressionally in a war in Viet Nam, we are losing many Americans who are fighting for a cause which is (to them) very important. There are laws which say that you can say just about anything that you want as long as you do not infringe on the rights of others. These laws protect citizens from slander (which I suppose the writer means we are guilty of) and from libel. These same laws leave room for a person to criticize or even denounce the government and policies of his country both openly and indeed publicly. We would not have it any other way but when a person goes beyond the talking and marching stage and considers supplying foreign soldiers, whose sole purpose is to kill American soldiers, with the necessary means to make the fight last longer and cost more lives, than there is time for a stop to be made. If this is not treason, then what is it?

--J. S.

Dear Sir:

It has been only a few months since I occupied the position of associate editor of the LEGIAN. I graduated from Jax State last January and am now in the very competitive world of the alumni.

As an alumnus, I feel it is my duty to issue a bit of advice to those students still at my alma mater. That is the reason for this letter.

Many times during my college career I have been placed in a very competitive world of the alumni. I have lived through a period where the world values these two qualities, respect and integrity, above all others. For, when the world values these two qualities, it loses all the reasons for existence.

So, I urge all Jax State students to “stick with it” also. Get your college education and see for yourself if life is not more worthwhile and enjoyable.

Sincerely yours,

Richard A. (Dick) Johnson

SGA Proposed Amendments

The following amendments have been duly discussed, considered, passed and approved by the Senate of the Student Government Association.

These amendments will become part of the SGA Constitution upon ratification by a majority of votes cast in a general campus election.

Article II Section 4

AMENDMENT I

To be amended as follows:

(c) The Vice-President and Treasurer shall be responsible for seeing that the books are audited by a certified public accountant the last week in January for the fall semester and the last week of April of the spring semester.

Article II

AMENDMENT II

Section 3, Paragraph 1 to be amended as follows:

All salaries which fall under the constitution shall be set and can not be increased except by an amendment to this constitution. There shall be no compensation to any official who receives a salary as stated in above amendments.

AMENDMENT VIII

AMENDMENT VIII will go into effect June 2, 1966.

All salaries which fall under the constitution shall be set and can not be increased except by an amendment to this constitution. There shall be no compensation to any official who receives a salary as stated in above amendments.

AMENDMENT IX

To delete Article X to be amended as follows:

The President shall have the power to save time and avoid the long lines. It's called "Follow the Leader." Especially the leader in way up in the line. This all sounds rather barren and cold, but nevertheless it is one of our school's biggest and most constant problems.

The cafeteria is designed to feed approximately 1200 people. According to authorities 2700 students eat their meals there. This is normally the part of crowded conditions and long, long lines. Combined with the fact that due to strict class schedules most students have only a certain length of time that they can spend for meals and that standing in line rapidly eats up eating time, this is the result.

One thing can be said for those who should read this article (those guilty of the crime) they are resourceful. They have found a way to save time and avoid the long lines. It's called "Follow the Leader," especially the leader in way up in the line. This all sounds rather barren and cold, but nevertheless it is one of our school's biggest and most constant problems.

Amendment V will go into effect Feb. 1, 1966.

Representatives to student Senate shall be elected by the classes in or during the second week of the summer session.

AMENDMENT VI

Amendment VI will go into effect June 1, 1966.

To delete Article 9, Section 5, to read as follows: Paragraph A: The editor shall receive compensation from the yearbook fund in the amount of $250 per semester and an additional $100 shall be paid if the editor is regularly enrolled in the summer school and is working on the MIMOSA. The salary is to be paid in full upon delivery of the book to the students.

Paragraph C: The Freshman Class will hold its election as stated by the SGA officers.

AMENDMENT X (Proposed change in J-Book sponsorship?)

Tommy Monroe moved to let President John Mann handle the J-Book Sponsor until the amendment is considered. Sue McDonald seconded the motion and the SGA approved. No further action was taken, so Amendment X is not actually ready for student body approval.

Seventeen Lonely Human Souls
Surrounding A Christmas Tree
A True Story
by ANATOL VON SPAKOVSKY

It was many, many years ago. We, 17 men and one woman, forced our way through the encirclement of Bolshevists and skied to Finland. Soon we ceased to count the days, and time ceased to exist for us. It was transferred into something amorphous, in a darkness from which we went and in which we came again. Our whole consciousness was dominated by our desire to escape and to reach Finland as soon as possible.

In one of these timeless days, when we stopped for lunch, our female companion, Maria Ivanovna, said to us: "Gentlemen, do you know that tomorrow it will be Christmas Eve?" "How do you know it?" asked our commander. "Why simply," answered Maria Ivanovna, "I have my calendar, and I note every day of our traveling." "Very well," said our commander, "I shall adorn it with ribbons." "I shall make some candles and we shall have our Christmas tree," said the commander. "I shall adorn it with ribbons," added Maria Ivanovna. "But where will you get ribbons, Maria Ivanovna?" I asked her. "I shall cut my blue house which I have in my knapsack and answer she. Nobody objected.

The next day was a beautiful sunny winter day. We got up early and skied till the first beams of sun began to gold the tree tops and the shadows in the forest became longer and longer. Then we chose a small glade for our night's lodging (halting place). I went out a fir for our Christmas tree and my other companions were occupied in preparing our halting place for the celebration of the Christmas Eve. We put our pike in the middle of our halting place so that we could sit around it. We fixed our candles on its branches, and Maria Ivanovna adorned it with blue ribbons.

And when the night threw its dark veil on earth, we lighted the candles, and our small place became a Christmas tree. It was something mystic, almost unreal in this picture of Christmas Tree and 17 human beings sitting around in the thicket of the primeval forest. This forest never saw this picture before, and maybe it will never see it after. The mystic magic of the candles' light of our Christmas tree and of the Holy evening in the forest was also in our souls. All was forgotten; the pinching frost of northern wintry night, our weariness, the hardness of our traveling, the darkness of the future. We felt only the Son of God among us, and it was no more hatred in our hearts, only love to God and men, alike to friends and to enemies.

Our commander said a prayer, we all sang some Christmas hymns, and then we sat silent, everybody absorbed in his own meditation, and hearing the voice of God in his heart. It seemed to me that even the forest trees participated in our celebration of the birth of God of love. I saw some gleaming eyes behind the trees in the forest, or maybe it was only my excited imagination.

"Now, gentlemen," interrupted our commander, "we shall end our celebration by therefore salvo in honour of the God of God." He arose. The military command followed, and the threefold salvo awakened the forest. The candles burned out. We lighted our wood pile and took our places around it. It became again dark around us, but not inside us. Invisible candles of God's love and sacrifice glowed in our souls and a hope, too, that the divine grace will not be denied.

Two weeks afterward we crossed the frontier of Finland. (A True Story)

Resume Of Success SCOAG 1965

December 2, 3, 4 was the time for the consumption of a long year’s worth of hard work, numerous seemingly unseen problems and a lot of hope. This was the date of the second annual Student Conference on American Government. This conference, initiated in 1964 by Randall Cole, has for its purpose the “cultivation of a genuine interest in and better understanding of our American system of government” among the youth of Alabama. This it did, and admirably so.

High school students from all over the state were invited to attend the conference and hear what learned advisers and distinguished speakers had to say concerning the importance of America in a changing world. These students, along with delegates chosen from among JSC students, covered the basic areas of the executive, legislative, and judicial branches of government.

During the conference, Representative Glenn Andrews of Calhoun County spoke on the legislative branch of Congress. Representing the judicial branch was Judge H. H. Grooms of Birmingham who outlined the judicial setup.

The crowning feature of the conference remained the discussion groups with the high school delegates proving to be very knowledgeable in matters governmental. Group advisers: Van Keuren, Anderson, Selmon and Bossire, reported active participation, intelligent questioning, and sound opinion typical of each group.

The conference ended on Saturday, Dec. 4, with the farewell message from chairman Goodwin and summary of the conference by conference summarizer, Don Jones.

Nichols Visits Judson

Jimmy Nichols, state SNEA president, spoke recently at Judson College in Marion, to the SNEA organization there. Jimmy announced that the new year's membership for the state organization was expected to reach an all-time high. The student organization now boasts 864 members as the membership drive nears its close with prospects of surpassing the thousand mark before the drive ends.

The Judson SNEA chapter, newest of the local college chapters, is headed by Sara Mitchell. Faculty sponsor is Dr. J. Clyde Walker. The chapter, organized only two months ago, has already reached a membership of 33.

Speaking at a dinner in his honor, Nichols told the organization, "Be proud that you are a future educator. Whereas in the past students dropped out of other curricula to fall back on education as a profession, now they are transferring to other fields from education, simply because they can't pass the requirements to stay in. We are upgrading our standards in order to become a widely recognized professional group."

The all-girl officers were presented with red roses by President Nichols. He emphasized that he hoped the roses would symbolize the blossoming of an enthusiasm for student educational work on the Judson campus. He challenged each member to work hard toward the common student educational goals of the state organization.

This is the second in a series of speaking engagements at different college chapters through which Jimmy hopes to impress the importance of the State SNEA work upon the individual chapter members.
Pershing Rifles Have Successful Semester

The Pershing Rifles have had a very successful first semester. They have participated in five parades and held one major and several minor inspections. Long hours of practice prepared the PR's for the Governor's Day Parade during which they gave a fine display of 22.5 drill.

After Governor's Day the PR's began working on trick drill preparation for the Jacksonville High School and Jacksonville State College homecoming parades.

High point of this semester was the Veteran's Day parade in Birmingham. This parade is one of the largest in the nation and is televised throughout Alabama. Just before the parade, PR's marched and performed trick drill for the crowd that gathered at the parade forming point. It was apparent from the applause and shouts of approval that the PR's had a very successful first second semester; if he is willing to work for it.

Pentacostal Activity

The PCF, an organization for the promotion of Christian fellowship among followers of the Assembly of God, Church of God, Congregational Holiness, and the Pentacostal Holiness on campus has had much activity this semester.

With officers Bev Price, president; Earnest W. Tompkins, vice president; Sandra Almula, secretary, and Donald Plants, treasurer, the PCF has been the sponsor of a variety of meetings, socials, and other types of campus activity. They hold a regular Wednesday night prayer meeting, as well as Saturday night gospel hour at Smitty's Christian Service Home. They also have had a picnic, a Halloween party, and a lively Christmas party on Dec. 12.

Also in the full list of activities, campus - oriented functions is a touring drama, "The Importance of Being Earnest," performed by the Masque and Wig Guild's choice of its first presentation of the year, presented Nov. 18-19, was a happy one, and Oscar Wilde's Gay Nineties comedy of manners, "The Importance of Being Earnest," was both acted and received with high good spirits. Much delighted laughter throughout the performance indicated that greatest audience appreciation was intended by playgoers in the foyer of the Leon Cole Auditorium after the show and in informal gatherings. Registration at the end of the play presented appreciation intended equally by the several hundred persons who attended.

Overheard comments made by playwrights in the foyer of the Leon Cole Auditorium after the show and informal gatherings later seemed to indicate that greatest audience appreciation was intended equally by the several hundred persons who attended.

Gamecocks-All Stars Play To A Draw

On Thursday, Nov. 19, at the intramural All-Star football game, the only loser was the intramural program as the scoreboard read 36-34 in favor of the Apaches when the official buzzer sounded at the end of the first half. Despite this, the officials called the game an all-star event.

In the second half, the two teams started with where they had left off and the Apaches were the first to draw blood in the second when Ware passed 18 yards to Dennis Love for the score. The extra point failed and the Apaches now led by the score of 36-20.

The second quarter saw both teams score, with the Apaches leading 8-0. The Stars came to life when George Showmaker intercepted a Ware pass and Tim McGaffin took an 11-yard pass from King for the score and then teamed up again with King to add a two-point conversion to their score. The Apaches now faced a fired up All-Star team and were unable to move the ball so after a short punt the Stars cracked up the passing arm of Buddy King once more and this time after a fine run by Bill Little and a pass to George Showmaker the ball rested on the Apache line with 3 minutes left in the game. On third down King found Johnny McDevitt to airborne for the score. On fourth down McGaffin took a 17-yard pass from King for the point and the game was over.

Basketball - A History

It can be said and proved that the sport of basketball was the only major sport to originate in the United States. Basketball employs a five-man team, the positions being center, left and right forwards, guards, and center. The Gamecocks' next home game will be against Alabama College on Dec. 14 and Samford (Howard) on Dec. 16.

Gamecocks Down The Lions 6-0

The Jax State Gamecocks used a 17-yard pass from Richard Drawdy to Terry Owens in the second quarter and a four-quarter goal-line stand to defeat arch-rival Florence by the score of 6-0 in the last football game of the season. The victory also gave Coach Jim Blevins a season record of 7-2 and the team's second Alabama Collegiate Conference championship in as many years.

The Gamecocks offense was stopped mostly of the afternoon by a strong Lion defense and by key passes and interceptions. After receiving the opening kickoff and being unable to move the ball Bruce Peck punted 45 yards and from there on in the game was mostly a defensive struggle. Midway in the second quarter the Gamecocks began their scoring drive with Drawdy, Robert Kelley and E. J. Smith doing some fine running. On fourth down and a yard short of the Florence 17-yard stripe Drawdy found Owens in the open and hit him with a pass and the 6-0, 220-pounder would not be denied the goal line as he carried two Lion defenders with him across the goal. The extra point was missed and the Gamecocks led 6-0 at the end of the first half.

In the second half the Gamecocks mounted several scoring drives but a couple of pass interceptions killed these drives. In the third quarter Bruce Peck tried a 43-yard field goal but it was partially blocked and the Gamecocks lost another scoring chance.

The Florence Lions came fighting back and had it not been for some fine defensive plays by Tennessee and Mike Mann the Lions might have scored. Twice the Gamecocks had the Lions inside their ten-yard line the last time in the closing minutes of the game.

On offense the standouts were Drawdy, Kelley and Smith, while on defense Mann, Turner and Terry Owens played good games.

Lou Botta
It can be said and proved that the sport of basketball was the only major sport to originate and be developed in the United States. Basketball was invented in 1891, by Dr. James A. Naismith in Springfield, Mass. For the first two years, Naismith chose two wooden peach baskets which he hung up at the end of the local YMCA gymnasium. Naismith also selected a soccer ball to be the first type of ball used for the game. Play began by tossing the ball up between two players one from each team, who were stationed in the middle of the court.

The first game was played on a field, in front of members of a YMCA class, the sport had become popular — especially in the north where the boys looked for some form of exercise during the winter months. Many colleges and universities in the north as well as in all parts of the country have basketball teams and may not have a football team.

Basketball is a five-man game, the positions being center, left and right forward, and left and right guard. A field goal in basketball is worth two points while a free throw is worth one point. The dimensions of a basketball court must be at least 74 feet long and cannot be any longer than 94 feet; at least 42 feet wide, no wider than 50 feet. The basket is 10 feet off the floor.

Select Gamecocks

In the recent professional football player draft held on Nov. 27, two players on the 1965 ACC champs, Jacksonville State, were selected by the pros. End Terry Owens 6-6, 220 pounds from Samson, was selected in the 12th round by the San Diego Chargers of the American Football League, while the Chicago Bears of the NFL selected Terry in the 20th round. Terry will not sign a contract until the finish of basketball playing season. Also center — linebacker Mike Mann was chosen by the Houston Oilers of the AFL. Mike is a 6-0, 200 pounder, from Guntersville.

Both Mike and Terry played an important part in the success of the Gamecock team this season. Mann starred off offense as well as defense. Terry was the key man in the defense and played defensive end when the other end had the ball. The COLLEGIAN would like to wish both of these fine players the best of luck in their pro football careers.

Two Gamecocks Are Honored

Last week the Associated Press released their 1965 Little All American team and two the 1965 Gamecocks, End Terry Owens and Quarterback Richard Draydow, made Honorable Mention. News and Record Editor Terry Davis said, "Richard Draydow is one of the best quarterbacks in the Southeastern Conference. He is a running back, but he can also pass well. He is a leader on the field. Terry Owens is one of the best defensive ends in the Southeastern Conference. He is a great football player."

The Decline Of A Great Sport, Hard To Behold

The decline of a great sport is sad to behold. The past decade saw the rapid fall of wrestling as a popular professional sport. The present is looking upon what might be the death throes of boxing, but the sport I mourn here is much closer to my heart than either. It is line-cutting — the art of line-cutting.

The best days of line-cutting are gone. No longer is it an art to be mastered only by the daring and agile. Once an old pro line-cutter had many tricky ways of entering the queue, but now the slide, the shift, the red-dog, and the other professional maneuvers seem unnecessary. The most ignorant amateurs simply go into the front of a line without any danger of being caught.

Nobody seems to care! In the good old days, the amateurs were indeed fortunate to escape penalty at the hands of some of the brazen walters-in-line. There is no longer any skill in this sport, and the other professional maneuvers seem unnecessary. Even PE majors and Rangers go with it.

There is only one group on campus able to remedy the situation. That group is the SGA. No one else is responsible; no one else can do the job. It is your job, SGA, to protect this great sport from its ruination at the hands of these amateurs and restore it to the professional! If line-cutting gets any more boring, I will have to find a new hobby. -William Reich, III

Sports Editor's Letter To Santa

It won't be long till the jolly fat man will pay a visit to all good students and some sports editors. I hope that the jolly old man will leave this sports editor the following things in his sack at Christmas:

1. A new typewriter ribbon to replace the old one that mows the last week.
2. A couple of staff writers to take some of the burden off my shoulders.
3. Four 50-yard line tickets to the 1966 Alabama-Auburn game.
4. A beautiful secretary to type my stories, leaving out all mistakes.

If Santa leaves any two of these gifts, I hope that I will take No. 5 and No. 4. Wishing all a Merry Christmas, I hope Santa leaves you what you want.

Football- A History

In this issue of our discussion on football we will look at the benefits that players in the past and players today have over players in the past. College football today has enabled many young men to get a college education, in return for the school at the school they choose. Certain conferences have in recent years offered a full or partial "grant in aid" system to college football players which play football. This is a system by which a high school player is offered a full scholarship to further the education of the young man plays football. This differs from the "aid" system used by many schools. A high school player is offered a scholarship for $1,000 from Collier's Encyclopedias for his records of sales during the summer vacation. The presentation was made by Ronald Nolan (left), district sales manager, in the office of President Houston Cole.

Basketball Terms

For those fans who know little of the game of basketball here are a few of the terms you might hear and not understand:

1. Dribbling -- continuous bouncing of the ball on the floor while standing or moving without permitting the ball to come to rest in the hands.

2. Zone Defense -- defense where each defensive player is assigned a defensive area and is responsible for all scoring and play in that part of the court.

3. Man-to-Man Defense -- defense where each defensive player is assigned to guard a particular opponent and is responsible for that man's action.

4. Free Play -- means that the attacking team depends upon clever passing and maneuvering to free a season, while a high school will use six to nine dozen a season.

In our last article on football we will study the formation of various conferences and discuss the growth of pro-football in America.

Gamecocks Drop Cage Opener

The Jacksonville State basketball Gamecocks opened their '65-'66 cage campaign before a full house on Nov. 23, but the game ended with a sour note as LaGrange grabbed a 77-70 win over the Gamecocks in a game marred by three technicals on the LaGrange bench and ragged floor play. The Gamecocks slipped into the last place in the south conference.

Medicine Through The Ages

"There's a plant in the world for every ailment; all you have to do is find it!" This "back-woods" wisdom from an old Louisiana hayo woman is not as far fetched as you might think. For the belief in a cure for everything--if we will only search for it--has been the activating faith of medical research through the ages.

The famous German writer and scientist Goethe held the opinion that the most despised weed was as valuable as the most exotic flower. Backing up our old hayo woman's wording, cavemen plucked the world's first "medicines" from plants. And still today, medicinal plants abound.

You may have purple fox-glove growing right in your own garden and not realize that it furnishes, as in ancient times, a very helpful stimulant for dropay patients. Seeds from castor bean trees are the source of castor oil. The old fishermen's tale about cod-liver oil being good for your health has been substantiated by modern vitamin research. Burnt natural sponge has long been a method of extracting iodine--an age old must for gout.

In olden days many races believed that snakes had a special healing power, and thus, they played an important part in many religious ceremonies. Since the beginning of the 20th century, snake venom serums have been developed to counteract bites of poisonous reptiles. Antibiotic miracles have been recorded since the beginning of history. Three thousand years ago, for example, Chinese physicians used mold from food in treating boils, carbuncles and infected wounds. Long before the discovery of penicillin, bread mold was applied to wounds with success.

Rebounding -- retaining the ball after a shot by a teammate or an opponent.

Necessary expenses for the student intramural sports program at the University of Texas in 1963 included the cost of uniforms and equipment. In recent years the number of college football players has increased greatly in size in the Southwest, where the University of Houston team recently averaged sixfeet two inches in height, 210 pounds in weight.

The equipment has changed during the years. Uniforms and gear now weigh about one third of what they once did, and most uniforms are washed and laundered by the players themselves. Today big colleges have as many as 15 coaches on their staff. Besides coaching some facet of the game, each coach acts as a scout on teams his teams must face during the season.
