

Band Tour Very Successful

SHOWN ABOVE IS Mrs. Houston Cole presenting a box of home-baked cookies to students to take on their trip.

Finally after many weeks of anxiety and practice the Southerners boarded their chartered Trailway busses and pulled out and headed North. The band was given a box lunch to eat later on that evening prepared by the chow hall and oranges and apples to eat on the way. Mrs. Houston Cole was very kind to prepare several types of cookies for the band members to be eaten on the way also.

As we left we knew that we were in store for a long hard night of travel, but everyone was so happy that they disregarded their discomfort and made the best of it. It didn't take long to notice that snow was on the ground as we traveled north. By the time that we reached Chattanooga, Tenn. the snow was very deep. Soon it was dark, and getting colder outside.

The next morning, one hour ahead of schedule, the busses pulled in to the Holiday Inn at Fredricksburg, Va. After eating breakfast and changing clothes the members of the band left for Washington, which was fifty-seven miles away.

The busses unloaded in front of the old Smithsonian Institute and were told that the busses would pick us up again at eight o'clock that night. Everyone went his separate way. We were just five blocks away from the Washington Monument and only about eight blocks away from the capitol. Everyone was able to see the city of Washington to his heart's content.

The busses picked us up as planned and we were on our way back to the Holiday Inn. The next morning just before we were about to leave for the parade the band warmed up and played some numbers for people at the Inn. When we were through we loaded up and were on our way. We assembled at an Air Force Base and then left in the order that we would march in the parade. When we were finally lined up we found out that the first division had not yet started marching and we were in the fifth division. We had about a two-hour wait in the cold before it came our turn. Finally we were marching. Governor Wallace rode in an open convertible in front of the band. On several occasions he pointed back to the band to show the people that he was very proud of the Jax State Band.

When we reached the reviewing stand the Color Guard lowered the school flag and the state flag, keeping the American flag straight. As we passed, President Johnson applauded.

A few blocks later the parade was over. We were happy and proud to have been a part of the parade, but a general feeling of sadness was evident. We returned to the Holiday Inn, ate supper, and were on our way home by nine o'clock. At two o'clock the next day we arrived back on campus, happy and tired!

We all agreed with the old saying, "There's no place like home."

Nurse Becomes Teacher

For the ninth year Glamour Magazine has invited colleges across the country and in Canada to help them find the "Ten Best Dressed College Girls". For the second year our college has been asked to help in this search by the magazine.

The publishers have asked us to select the best dressed girls on campus and submit their names and photographs to them for judging. The ten girls chosen will be photographed in the spring for the annual August College Issue and will be flown to New York in June via American Airlines for a visit as guests of the magazine.

The highlights of the 1964 trip to New York: the two weeks were off to a swinging start at Glamour's Discotheque Party at the Palladium. One thousand guests packed the place to meet the "Ten Best Dressed Girls". Later they visited the World's Fair; went to the Charles of the Ritz plant in Connecticut to learn how cosmetics are manufactured; had tea with Madame Helena Rubinstein in her art-filled penthouse; even went swimming at a party at the City Square Motor Inn. The winners went backstage after Broadway plays to meet Richard Burton, Beatrice Lillie, and Sandy Dennis, and were given the opportunity of being stars themselves on Johnny Carson's "Tonight Show".

The profusion of gifts they received nearly everywhere they visited encompassed the same wide range of variety: luggage from Hartmann, pewter tankards with their coke-kege crests from Dawson's English Pub, gold Unisphere charm bracelets from Mar-chal Jewelers, striped dresses from Smartee, perfume from Parfums Capucci, birthstone rings from Coro, and many more.

This year is promising to be a bigger and better year for the contestants. From the start in 1957 the contests have become bigger and better from year to year and this looks like the best.

Winners have come from such colleges as U.C.L.A., North Carolina, Florida State, and many more and this is the year for a girl from our college to be in the top ten.

How to be a contestant in this contest is easy, just fill out the form below and give it to any member of the Collegian staff or drop it by the Collegian staff office in the Student Union Building. From the entries a committee of prominent students on campus will select the "Best Dressed Girl" of Jacksonville State along with a faculty adviser.

After being selected she will have her picture taken in several different dresses and will be entered in the national contest as Jacksonville's entry.

116 Students Graduate From JSC At Mid-Year

Friday night, Jan. 24, degrees were conferred upon 116 candidates at mid-year ceremonies held in the Leone Cole Auditorium. President Houston Cole and Dean Theron W. Montgomery officiated at the graduation and Lt. Col. John A. Brock, PM&S, awarded commissions to four ROTC cadets.

Dr. J. Revis Hall, superintendent of Anniston City Schools, was introduced by President Cole as the baccalaureate speaker.

In addressing the graduates, Dr. Hall pointed to the speed and extent of change now taking place and the spread of automation, which is sweeping through Western culture and moves to engage the world, as the basic problem of education today.

"Automation of knowledge into every department of human life is beginning to affect adversely the full human personality, even to the point of repressing it or rejecting it," he declared.

"Perhaps it is no wonder that the leading exponents of automation, encouraged by their success, now seek to extend automation to every other human activity, but is automation, by its very nature and on its own strict premise, able to produce the most essential of all human goods--an ever more meaningful life?" he asked his audience.

Some of the dangers of automation as a process he listed as follows:

"Minds that are conditioned to processing mechanisms gradually become incapable of imagining any alternatives. Decisions of critical importance to the human race are being made by specialists on the basis of 10-year old knowledge, rather than on 10,000 years' of human experience and culture.

"Automation of knowledge has no controls for stopping the process as to machines. To cope with this tidal wave of knowledge further mechanical agents are resorted to that only aggravate the original condition because they deal with results of the process and not with the causes. It is erroneous to suppose that better decisions are possible if more knowledge is available."

Dr. Hall suggested that rather than attempt to reverse the automation trend in many fields that "we become more effective in areas which have not been automated."

"We will continue to de-personalize the decision-making process if we cling to our present premises and methods," he stated.

"We must set out standards for fully humanized thought, in which scientific intelligence, stirred by deep human emotion, leads to alert moral practical judgments that serve as a basis for effective action.

"Such a complete use, in thought itself, of the total human personality may not be within the province of computers or computer-minds. Since it is a product of life, critical thinking requires time and experience of life to ripen," he concluded.

The Rev. John Norman, pastor of the First Baptist Church, led the invocation; Mrs. Thomas Warren played "Sarabande" (Handel) for the graduate processional and "Trumpet Piece in Air in D" (Purcell). The Madrigalians, directed by Thomas C. Warren, sang "Create In Me a Clean Heart" (Mueller).

Nurse Becomes Teacher

Mrs. Margaret K. Mizelle, our college nurse, becomes a member of the teaching faculty this semester.

Mrs. Mizelle is teaching bacteriology and she has one class that meets lecture on Monday and Wednesday and lab on Tuesday and Thursday.

Mrs. Mizelle went to school at Iowa State, Ames, Iowa; School of Nursing, St. Lukes,

MRS. MIZELLE

Chicago, and graduated from Emory University, Atlanta, with a Bachelor of Science Degree. She came to Jacksonville State in September, 1963, but plans to retire her post as nurse and teacher at the end of this semester. In June her husband, who is presently stationed at Fort McClellan, plans to retire and they will return to Florida, Mrs. Mizelle's home state.

Before coming to Jacksonville State, Mrs. Mizelle traveled widely because of her husband's military job. She has been to Copenhagen, Denmark; France, Australia, New Guinea, and nine states in the United States.

We asked about her hobbies. Mrs. Mizelle revealed her interests in doing fine handwork, such as sewing and embroidery, and in vocal music - she sings in the Methodist Church choir. Her goal all through school was to study medicine.

Southerners, We Are Proud

The following letter was received by Dr. Houston Cole from the manager of Holiday Inn at Fredricksburg, Va., where the college band was housed while attending the inauguration in Washington, D. C. Friends and patrons of the school will be proud to know that the students were so well received and that they made such a good impression.

The letter is as follows:
Dear Dr. Cole:

This morning as your Band is heading toward home we hasten to tell you how much we of the Holiday Inn here in Fredricksburg, Virginia enjoyed having your fine group of people with us. From the moment they entered our doors until their departure last evening they endeared themselves to us and we can tell you that we were sorry to see them leave.

We enjoyed so much their pre-inaugural practice session in front of our Inn and hope that the picture we took of your group, beside our Great Sign, will turn out well. If so, we will send you one of them. We can tell you also that we watched on the color TV set in our lobby their performance on Pennsylvania Avenue and in front of the Presidential Box more intently and with more interest than we did our own contingent from Virginia.

We hope that they reach home safely. To you, Sir, to Mr. David L. Walters, Band Director, and to each member of the Band and all of its participants we want to say it was grand to have you with us and when you are this way again please stop in to say Hello.

Sincerely yours,
James W. Graham

Library Receives Grant

We of the Collegian staff feel that congratulations are in order for the JSC library.

The Ramona Wood Library received a grant of equipment, Mark VII Microcard readers and selected microcards, valued at $1,000, from the Association of College and Research Libraries, a division of the American Library Association, it has been announced by Miss Doris Bennett, head librarian at the College.

Jacksonville's library was one of 162 selected from 200 applications. The ACRL program is directed toward the general needs for developing library collections, improving the quality of service to higher education through fundamental research librarianship, and aiding the best use of the most modern teaching and learning materials, Miss Bennett stated.

The association's grant program was initiated in 1955 with a grant of $30,000 from the U. S. Steel Foundation. Additional support has been given by a number of large corporations and foundations.

Grants valued at approximately $138,000 were given this year in the form of equipment, fund grants for research projects, etc.

Welcome To JSC, Claude Berneart

"I personally believe that my stay here has been very rewarding although I find the fields too limited," said Claude Berneart of his visit thus far in the United States. Claude who is our international student from Kortryck, Belgium, arrived in the U.S. on Aug. 30 by plane.

Presently he is attending Jacksonville State College on an International House Scholarship. He carried 14 credit hours last semester and is also teaching French conversation classes. In his spare time Claude can invariably be seen with a political or philosophical book in his hands, since reading is his favorite pastime.

Claude lives in Kortryck with her mother and older brother. He attended Mousion High School then continued his studies at the University of Antwerp for two years.

On recommendation of an English professor, Claude came to the U.S. to study American society, American form of government, and public opinion. "Also," he replied, "I wish to visit all of the countries who play an important part in international affairs."

Upon returning to Belgium this June, Claude will begin preparing for his examinations which he must pass in order to continue his education. Later he will serve three years in Tunisia. In Belgium a person has the choice of serving three years for civil service in devastated countries or the armed forces.

After graduation from college Claude hopes to become a journalistic interpreter specializing in problems of developing countries.

"The people of Belgium are much less formal," stated Claude, "also there is much more campus social life here than in Belgium."

Widely traveled, Claude has been in several countries and states. During semester breaks he went to Washington where he observed the government first hand, and conferred with governmental leaders and professors from many colleges.

With his wide interest and curiosity, we of the Collegian staff feel that the name Claude Berneart will some day be in headlines in other newspapers.

Senior Spotlight

The Senior girl spotlighted this week is a 5' 2" brown-eyed brunette from Opelika, Susan Pearson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Pearson. She entered JSC in the summer of 1962 and has attended every session since that time.

Susan is majoring in English with a minor in history. She will graduate in May with a BS degree in secondary education. In July she will receive an AB degree, also.

This outstanding senior began her list of honors at Opelika High School. There she was secretary of the Beta Club and treasurer of the FTA. Upon graduating, she was given the Rotary Club "Outstanding Student" Award and the Danforth Award.

Here at Jacksonville, Susan has been active as a member of the Student National Education Association, Kappa Delta Epsilon, and Pi Gamma Mu. She has recently been chosen to join Sigma Tau Delta, honorary English fraternity. At the present Susan is doing her student teaching with three sections of the ninth graders in Alexandria. She said, "It is certain to be an interesting and rewarding experience."

Susan isn't the only distinguished member of the Pearson household. She has a twin sister majoring in business administration at Auburn University, and she has been elected president of her sorority, Pi Beta Phi.

Susan and Sarah were both active in their Baptist home church. They served as co-presidents of the Youth Council.

In the future Susan plans to be an effective English teacher, eventually obtaining a master's degree. As most every young lady, she hopes

Ronald Adams

Pennsylvania is not only the home state of one of the best football players in Alabama or the nation for that fact, but also it is the home state of one of the best liked young men on Jax State's campus. To begin the semester senior spotlight feature section, we have selected Ronald E. Adams.

Ron's home town, Lancaster, Penn., has long been deserted by him and his parents. His father who is an agent for the Department of Defense was stationed many places and, at the time of Ron's graduation from Anniston High school in 1961, at Fort McClellan. Ron entered Jax State in September of the same year. His parents are currently stationed in Saigon, South Vietnam, and Ron has visited them twice since they have been there.

With no relatives near him, Ron has had to rely on his own determination and ability to make his way--determination and ability really demonstrated at Jacksonville State College.

Since coming to college, Ron has been active in the ROTC. He was a member of the Rifle Team in his freshman year. In his sophomore and junior years he was a lieutenant in Pershing Rifles and in his junior and sen-

Jane Reynolds, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Reynolds of Gadsden, a second-semester homore, is the current Circle K Sweetheart, officers of the Circle K have announced.

Jane was president of her sophomore class during the summer session and was secretary-treasurer of her freshman class and freshman class favorite.

National Teachers Examinations

Less than two weeks remain for prospective teachers who plan to take the National Teachers Examination at JSC on March 20, 1965, to submit their registrations for these tests to Educational Testing Service, Princeton, New Jersey. Dr. Leon Willman, Dean of Students announced today. Registrations for the examination must be forwarded so as to reach the Princeton office not later than February 19, Dean Willman advised.

Bulletins of Information describing registration procedures and containing registration forms may be obtained from the Dean of Students Office or directly from the National Teachers Examinations, Educational Testing Service, Box 911, Princeton, New Jersey.

At the one-day test session a candidate may take the Common Examinations, which include tests in Professional Education and General Education, and one of the thirteen Teaching Area Examinations which are designed to evaluate his understanding of the subject matter and methods applicable to the area he may be assigned to teach.

Each candidate will receive an Admission Ticket advising him of the exact location of the center to which he should report, Dean Willman advised. Candidates for the Common Examinations will report at 8:30 a.m. on March 20 and will continue after lunch until approximately 3:10 p.m. The Teaching Area Examinations will begin at 3:15 p.m. and should finish approximately 5:20 p.m., according to the time schedule for these examinations which have been set up by Educational Testing Service.

Someone Lives When You Give

The American National Red Cross is again sponsoring the nationwide blood bank. Anyone, student or faculty member, may give blood. All persons under 21 must have parent's permission. All dorms have permission blanks, and commuters may pick up blanks in the nurse's office.

Before anyone gives blood he is given a physical examination to determine whether or not he is anemic. The whole operation only lasts fifteen minutes and refreshments will be served immediately after.

The Bloodmobile will be here on February 10 at the Leone Cole Auditorium from 10-12 a.m. and 1-4 p.m. The life you save may be your own.

Any member of the donor's family may receive free blood within six months after the donation.

Phi Beta Lambda Has Meeting

The Phi Beta Lambda business organization and the Accounting Club of Jacksonville State College enjoyed an exciting and entertaining Christmas party at Holly's Farm near Weaver, Friday, Dec. 4.

The inside setting for the party was ranch style with a huge fireplace, above which ivy hung from the mantle. Close by stood a beautiful Christmas tree with presents underneath. Mistletoe hanging from the ceiling highlighted the Christmas spirit.

Following the arrival of

is the key phrase used to describe fashion for Spring, 1965. Everything from the top of milady's head to the tips of her toes will be softer with emphasis on straight, unobtrusive lines.

Although fabrics will be soft, the soft pastel shades of spring are not the predominant colors this year. Surprisingly enough, the rising colors will be the winey reds, the spice shades, golden mustard, and bottle green. Off-white and gray will be seen frequently, and black and navy will appear more often than in any previous spring.

Dresses will be soft and flowing, giving the wearer an ethereal look. Filmy chiffons, heavier crepes, lighter wools, organzas and silks are the materials just right for the new season.

Skirts will be fuller and wider with plenty of pleats. After-five dresses plunge less daringly. Most necklines will be gently draped or cowed.

the figure beneath them for their shape.

The three piece suit is still very popular especially when the blouse is one of the soft-necked ones. Jackets will be shaped in the front with the back straight. Small collars are in for spring. Shoulders are narrower with sleeves set high. Many jackets will sport a belt of soft leather.

There is good news for those of you who have waged war against pointed-toe shoes for so long. Toes have curved and widened to a smart, comfortable new line. Besides the crescent toe, there is the squarish "blunt," mostly in suit and walking shoes; the wide flat "duck bill," and of course, the completely open toe.

Spike heels are out this season even for evening wear. Heels are mostly mid-level. The lower the heel on the new shoes the wider the toe is apt to be. As the heel rises, a balance is maintained by narrowing the shoe tip.

Welcome To JSC New Teachers

A number of part-time professors have been added to the faculty this semester in order to provide the classes required for the bulging student body.

Among them are the following:

Mrs. Jerome Davis, Gadsden. Mrs. Margaret Mizell, bacteriology; Mrs. Gordon Mainland, cytology; Lt. Russell Eugene Farris, Fort McClellan, chemistry; Mrs. Marion Rollins, Fort McClellan, graduate assistant in biology; Gordon W. Patrick, Gadsden, accounting; Major J. R. Ridgedill, Fort McClellan, business; Mrs. Gary L. Pritchett, Weaver, English.

Other part-time teachers include the following:

Lt. Gary L. Jensen, Fort McClellan, W. B. Allison, mathematics; Eugene F. Johnson, A. B. Garmon, general science; Mrs. Paul Pruett, English; Mrs. J. W. Selman, business; Miss Doris Schultz, Ohatchee, biology; Ralph Brannan, political science; Mrs. Richard J. Rawlings, home economics.

to be an understanding wife and mother.

Being a counselor in New Dorm has been the most valuable asset of Susan's college life, she says. She remarked, "It has given me responsibility and has taught me how to accept it. I have had the opportunity to handle unusual situations with people which should be beneficial to me in later years. It has been a pleasure getting to know so many girls so well."

Reading Shakespearean plays, embroidering, and cooking are accomplished in Susan's spare time. She also is the owner of a collection of 500 postcards from all over the world. Other favorite pastimes are listening to Broadway and classical music, eating pizza, and watching football games.

"I like the kind of people who endeavor to develop and use their potential. Friendliness and sincerity are also two qualities that should not be neglected," answered Susan in response to our questions. "My pet peeve is people who aren't punctual."

A memorable experience for Susan was attending the American Youth Foundation Camp sponsored by Mr. McCluer. Every August, 500 girls from every state in the Union are present at these conferences in Muskegon, Mich. For two weeks they attend lectures which challenge the youth of today to higher goals and attitudes.

"I chose to attend JSC because it was a relatively small college. Here I have received the individual attention and concern of my teachers for which I was searching. I hope that JSC retains this small-school atmosphere."

"To achieve true happiness in life, I will need to be as-freshman year. In his sophomore and junior years he was a lieutenant in Pershing Rifles and in his junior and senior years, a captain in Scabbard and Blade. Ron is also a member of the Rangers, commander of the First Battalion, Cadet Lieutenant Colonel, Distinguished Military Student, and has been awarded the Superior Cadet and Outstanding Cadet awards.

Ron is not one of those guys who is all military; he is well-rounded as his interests in campus organizations attest. He is a member of the Ushers Club, Circle K, and he has been an officer in his junior and senior classes. He was selected among the seniors for "Who's Who Among Students in American Colleges and Universities."

In May he will graduate with a major in business and a double minor in English and economics.

"The best part of Jax State are the people here," Ron says. We congratulate Ron on his accomplishments and we wish him luck as he reports for active military duty in June after graduation.

English Fraternity Chooses Pledges

Sigma Tau Delta, national honorary English fraternity, has announced its pledges for the fall semester. The pledging took place at the home of the faculty sponsor, Mrs. Alfred Roebuck.

Included among the students to be honored with membership in the fraternity were the following:

Rita Sanders, Pinson; Miriam Walker, Jacksonville; Margaret Linda Cheatwood, Tampa, Fla.; Susan Pearson, Opelika; Judith King, Piedmont; and Gloria Jean Tommie, Gadsden.

Officers of the fraternity are Helen Swann, Asheville, president; Kenneth White, Heflin, vice-president; Charles Gamble, Bessemer, secretary; Mary Jane Lee, Harpersville, treasurer.

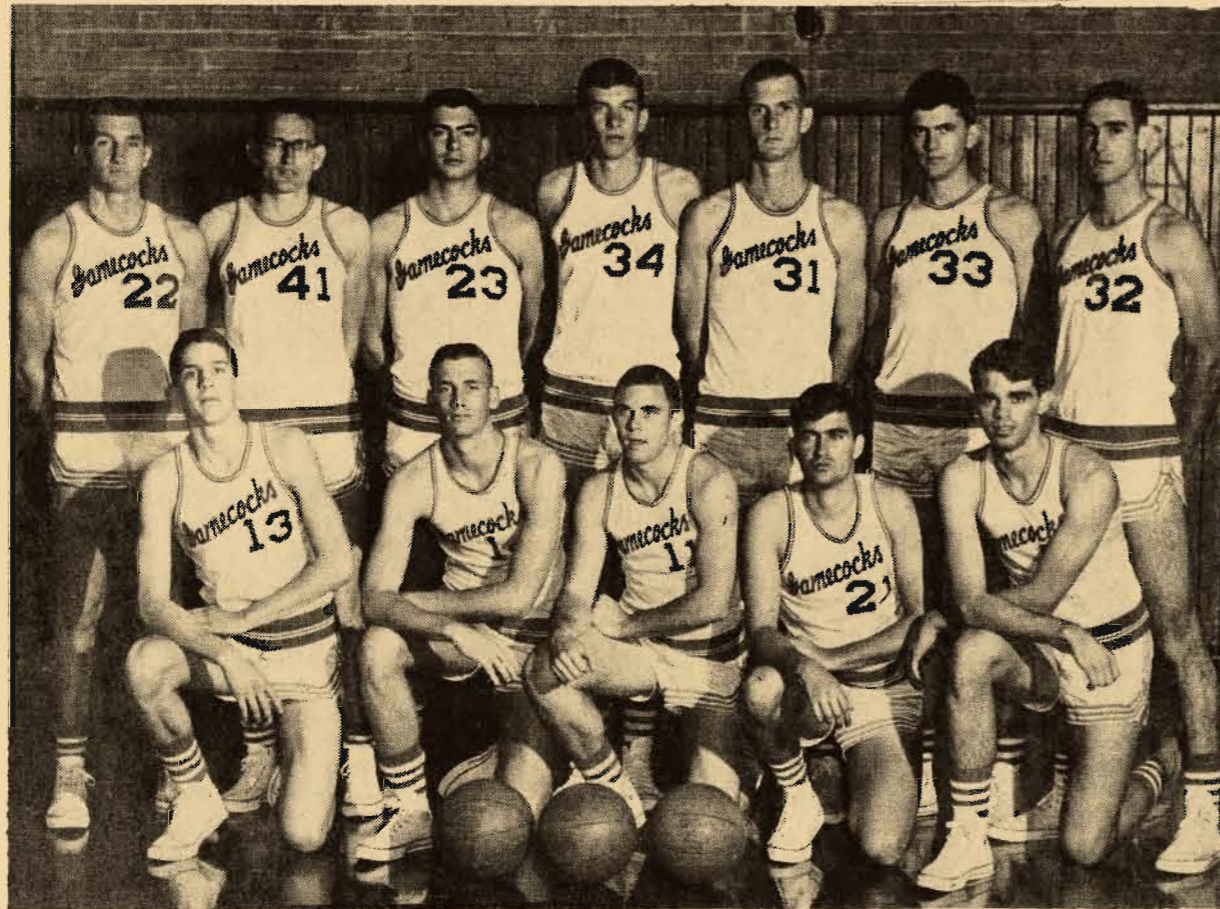

All members and pledges are urged to be present at the meeting on Feb. 17, 9:30 a.m., in 307 Graves Hall.

sured that I have used my abilities to make some definite contribution to mankind, no matter how small, as opposed to being a parasite of society. This, to me, is the essence of happiness."

Gamecocks Fall To Athens Bears

The pace was fast and exciting. It was a close game all the way through. Terry Owens, Jacksonville's 6' 5" forward opened the scoring of the game by hitting a field goal in the first 64 seconds of play. From this point the lead changed hands almost as often as a basket was made. With ten minutes left in the first period the Athens Bears led the Gamecocks by a two - point margin (11-13). When the end of the first period came Athens had increased its lead by six points (30-36). Of Jacksonville's 30 points, Terry Owens had scored 16 and was credited with 13 rebounds. The other scores of the first period were Fred Lovvorn with five, Bill Jones with four, Rodger Pate and Charles Ayers had two each, and Paul Trammell had one.

The Gamecocks inched up closer and closer to Athens in the second period of play and then finally went ahead by a score of 43-42 when Bill Jones hit a field goal with 12:18 left to go in the period. For the next five minutes of play the Jacksonville cagers were to hold the lead. With 7:46 left in the period Terry Owens fouled Bobby Coggins of the Athens team committing his fifth foul and had to retire to the bench for the rest of the game. At the free throw line Coggins was accurate and evened the score up at 49-49. In only 16 seconds left Roger Pate even more now that time was getting scarce.

With 4:25 left Athens tied it up again 55-55 with another free throw shot. The pace was getting faster; the time was running out. Henry Mathis fouled an Athens player with 1:44 left on the clock. When the free shots were over Athens had 57-62. The Athens team tried to keep control of the ball now to run out time. The Gamecocks had pulled the score up to 61-62 when Charles Ayers fouled out with 32 seconds left to go. The Athens player missed his shot and the Gamecocks got the rebound and went off running down court. In their effort to guard even more closely Henry Mathis was fouled with 19 seconds left and one point behind. He hit his first free throw tying the game up but did not make his second.

Athens took the rebound but was unable to score.

The game now went into a five minute overtime. Athens broke the tie and kept the lead for the rest of the game making good a chance at the free throw line. the score stood 61-62 with 4:32 left, with 1:10 showing on the clock and the score at 64-67 Coggins hit two foul shots making it 64-69. The Bears were stalling now with 51 seconds left Roger Pate hit one of two foul shots raising the score to only four points from Athens. Five seconds later Rod Coggins of Athens with only 26 seconds left in the game. With 13 seconds left to play Roger Pate scored the last points of the game by stripping the net with a field goal making the score 67-72, and it stayed that way.

In the game Terry Owens led both in scoring and in rebounds. He had 17 points and 18 rebounds. Roger Pate was next in rebounds with 10 followed by Ayers with nine. Jones had five along with Mathis. Lovvorn had two and Trammell had one. Other scorers were Jones with 14; Pate with 12; Lovvorn with 11; Mathis and Ayers with 5, and Trammell with 1. As a whole, the team was hitting only 32% of the field goals they attempted.

With this loss the Gamecocks now hold a 7-6 overall record with a 5-4 record in conference play. Athens, with the win, has a 10-0 conference record.
