Dr. Martin Challenges Freshmen

A record 1,800 incoming Jacksonville State freshmen were challenged to accept "the greatest treasure in the world except for the Christian church -- an education" at a unique pre-orientation session here Sunday afternoon.

Between 3,000-3,500 new students and parents crowded Leon Cole Center to hear Dr. Harold Martin, minister of the Highlands Methodist Church in Birmingham, deliver an inspirational message. In fact, the crowd was so large some 500 persons couldn't find standing room in the huge auditorium.

Dr. Martin, using what he described as "coined words" said the incoming freshmen would find themselves in one of three groups:

"All freshmen enter college as 'not-knowers', some become 'mis-knowers' and misuse what they learn, but I hope that every one of you becomes a 'wise-knower', and utilizes this sea of knowledge that is available to you."

Dr. Houston Cole, Jacksonville State president, told the students "there never has been a generation in history that has a brighter future--if you are willing to pay the price."

He told the students that if they "enjoyed themselves" study at least 30 hours a week outside of class, and "stick with it," the future is theirs.

Enrollment Of 4500 To Start Classes;
Faculty Reaches 170 For Fall Term

With an anticipated enrollment of approximately 4500, the college will start off its 46th year with a faculty of 170 with additional part-time teachers. The number of professors holding doctor's degrees was greatly increased this year, as well as a large number of instructors holding master's degrees.

Dr. Christopher H. Horstfield, who will teach mathematics, has a BS degree from the University of the South, MA from Duke University, and PhD from the University of Alabama, all in math. Dr. Kenneth Earl Landers, who will teach biology, has a BS from Florence State; MS and PhD degrees from Auburn University with a major in botany and minor in zoology.

Dr. John Walker McColl, Jr., who holds the AB from Newberry College; MA, University of North Carolina; MC, Duke University; PhD, University of North Carolina.

Dormitory Named in Honor of The Late Frank Dixon

Mark Sept. 12 as a day when Jacksonville State took pride in honoring the late Gov. Frank Dixon, an adopted son of Alabama.

Mark this day as an opportunity for Alabamians to repay one who did so much for their state.

Dixon once said, according to McGowin, "never again will there be deficit financing in Alabama--and there hasn't. It's too bad the federal government doesn't follow this example."

Judge Beck, representing the State Board of Education, as well as recalling his days in the Legislature when Dixon was governor, said the late governor heartily endorsed him of naming the structure.

"What Frank Dixon was will always be the example," he emphasized. "It is indeed fitting that Dixon Hall in honor of Dixon, who never hesitated when I approached him about naming the State Board of Education, should be named after being a member of the Auburn University faculty for the past seven years. She heads the library science department. She holds a MA degree in library science from FSU, and EdD from Auburn University.

Dr. James A. Reaves, who joined the faculty in 1961, was appointed chairman of the graduate division to succeed Dr. Self. Reaves received his EdD degree at the University of Alabama.

Other new members of the faculty include the following: Cecil G. Golden, assistant professor of mathematics, who will teach Spanish, has a degree from Samford University, MA from the University of Alabama, Ronnie Harris, who is working on his doctorate, and Dr. Reuben Self, who will be assistant professor of foreign languages.

New instructors include the following: Wayne Berry, and Rodney Shirley, who both have received their master's degrees in mathematics at the University of Alabama; Mrs. David Moon, physical education, Paul Allen Dunbar, political science; James L. Walker, history; Charles H. Hatfield, business; Rudolph Lass, piano, part-time faculty.

Graduate assistants include Mrs. Henry L. Chisolm, Ferrell Drummond, Mrs. R. J. Rentchler, English; Mrs. John W. Batjam, sociology; Jerry Edmonds, recreation; Mrs. Marion Rollins, laboratory assistant; and David Moon, laboratory instructor.

Mr. Dunbar received his BA degree in history from The Citadel, and his MA from East Carolina College; Mr. Walker has a BA degree from New Orleans University and a MA degree from Louisiana State University.

Mr. Hatfield has a BA from Wabash College and MBA from the University of Indiana; Mr. Lass received the Bachelor of Music Education in 1962 from the University of Indiana, BM in piano in 1963, and Master of Music in 1964 from the Chicago Conservatory.

Mr. Williams has a BA from Auburn University. MA.

Let's Turn Over A New Leaf

This week a brand new school year begins and there are many brand new things on the campus—a new cafeteria and recreations building, a dormitory, renovated Graves Hall and expanded Snow Memorial Stadium.

All the buildings are hand-some examples of architecture on the outside and of beautifully—planned decor on the inside. Great pains have been taken to make all of them places where students can enjoy to reside and functionally surroundings.

Graves Hall, where many will be attending classes, has undergone a complete face-lifting. For the first time all classrooms and offices are equipped with neon lighting and draw draperies. If these draperies are cared for properly they will last a long time, but if they are mis-treated they will soon become misshapen, bedraggled and unattractive. The same could be said for furnishings and accessories in all buildings.

The best way students can show appreciation for all this improvement, beauty and comfort is to take good care of the buildings and their furnishings. It is hard to imagine their being misused and abused, and such treatment would surely be an indication to school authorities that students have no appreciation for the nicer things.

So, if you have pride in your institution help take care of all the good things placed here for enjoyment and beautification. Express your appreciation for having them made available by protecting them for those who follow.

Your Newspaper

The COLLEGIAN is the student newspaper here at JSC, and it is just what the name implies, a STUDENT newspaper.

Any student, club, or organization on campus may have items printed in the COLLEGIAN, by turning in their material to the COLLEGIAN office located in Hammond Hall by Wednesday before the Monday of publication. All information must be typed and double—spaced before the above mentioned Wednesday. If the articles are not typed, turn in the written stories by Tuesday.

Faculty Invited

As a COLLEGIAN editor, I would like the opportunity to invite all faculty and staff members to join us in producing the COLLEGIAN.

School Spirit

One of the most important problems which the students at JSC have been faced with in the past is lack of school spirit. This especially noteworthy during the fall of the year when football dominates the sports life of every student. It is the responsibility of every student to forget the ties they may have with high school, and begin to develop a strong bond of school spirit here at your home, Jackson-ville State.

Our cheerleaders this past summer went to a cheering clinic held at the University of Southern Mississippi, and competed with many of the major colleges in this region. They financed their trip to the clinic by contributing from both students and the people of the town of Jacksonville, and they were rewarded for their sacrifice by capturing the spirit stick two of the three in competition. The student body should be proud of their fine cheerleaders and show appreciation for their doing their best to follow the cheerleaders at all the football games.

Conduct Regulations

The discipline of the college is administered by a standing discipline committee and the college reserves the right to suspend and/or expel any student without formal charges when such action is thought advisable.

Students who violate the "General Conduct Regulations," violate custom or Christian principles, or shock the community sense of propriety, or reflect discredit upon the institution, may be disciplined by the designated college official, or more likely may have their actions brought to the attention of the discipline committee for appropriate disposal.

1. Students are expected to conform to the laws of the United States of America, the State of Alabama, and the City of Jacksonville. Any student who is charged with violation of a federal, state, or city law, or who is indicted for any such offense, shall be subject to disciplinary action, pending the outcome of his trial.

2. Any student who makes a false or misleading statement to any official of the college is subject to immediate expulsion.

3. Alcohol beverages may not be brought on the campus at any time, and students may not show evidence of drinking while on campus. This applies to all functions sponsored by any organization of the college whether on the campus or off.

4. Smoking is not permitted in the classrooms, library, or dining hall. Women are further restricted from smoking outside buildings and in halls of academic buildings.

5. The possession of fire arms, firecrackers, or any

Letter To The Editor

During recent months, on several occasions, half bushel bags or boxes containing beer cans, filled with beer cans, have been placed in our front yard, or under the shrubbery along the edge of it.

Due to their positions it was obvious that none of these could have been thrown from a passing vehicle. Either a person left a car to deliver them, or they were carried from the point of origin.

One morning last I gathered two heaping bushels of beer cans, liquor bottles, paper cups, etc. from along the edge of the street in front of our place.

Outside of our property line is on State Highway #204. There is a state law authorizing $100 fine for throwing such trash along the roads of Alabama.

I will give $50 for information leading to the identification of the person or persons putting such, or similar, collections of trash on our edge of the street. The sole condition is that person be fined and required to place legally set penalty of $100.

Leon McCluer, Box 14, Jacksonville; 101 Nisbet St, State Highway #204.

Discipline Procedures Reviewed

The discipline procedures of the college were reviewed during the summer and changes have been made as follows:

1. Most discipline cases will be handled by the honor council, composed of faculty members and SGA officers.

2. The honor council will continue the case and make whatever decisions it feels are equitable.

3. In rare cases the matter may be settled by Mr. Bill Jenkins, Dean of Men, or Dean Jackson or Dean Willam in their discretion, rather than the student having to appear before the honor council.

Welcome Students

As a COLLEGIAN editor, I would like to take this opportunity to invite all faculty and staff members to join us in producing the COLLEGIAN. We feel that if the paper is to represent the entire framework of JSC, then we must have the interest and participation of the faculty and staff members as well as the student body.

Just turn your special works into the COLLEGIAN office located in Hammond Hall and we will see that it is printed.

Welcome Students

Welcome, freshmen and all new students. By this time you should be feeling at home on the Jax State campus, and the COLLEGIAN extends warm greetings to the "friendliest campus in the South."

Although official figures have not been released on enrollment, predictions were for the largest number ever for the school to measure university status. The name Jax State is the third campus in November to make a survey of what is needed for the largest number ever. The name change as soon as President Cole and his advisers feel enrollment, predictions were for the largest number ever for the school to measure university status.

A $10 million building project to register here, and judging from observations made by representatives of the COLLEGIAN, these predictions will prove accurate.

As most of you have heard before, Jax State is the third largest college in Alabama, and is rapidly approaching university status. The name of the institution will be changed as soon as President Cole and his advisers feel the school can legitimately live up to the name. Assistance has been requested to the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools and their representatives will visit the campus in November to make a survey of what is needed for the school to measure up to university status.

A $10 million building program is in progress on the campus and several buildings have been completed. Contract will be let this month on a new laboratory - classroom building to be located across the highway on the Marion property recently purchased. Also to be erected on this property will be a new library and an art center. A student union building will be erected between Greene Hall and Stephenason Gym facing the tennis courts.

Between 20 and 25 new faculty members were added this fall, more graduates degrees have been added, and the curriculum is being expanded in many ways.

MANY ACTIVITIES

Many activities are being planned for the students by the college and the Student Government Association. As a member of the Jacksonville Community Concert Association and the college will sponsor a series of musical concerts beginning Oct. 20 with the Birmingham Symphony Orchestra. President Cole has also booked for lectures Miss Pauline Frederick, Dr. Norman Vincent Peale and Edwin R. Canham, editor of The Christian Science Monitor. Other attractions will be announced later.

The first football game, against Jacksonville arch-rival, Florence State, will take place in Snow Memorial Stadium on Saturday afternoon. The college band, "The Southerners", and the Marching Ballerinas will make their first fall appearance on the campus. The appeared recently in Birmingham between halftime at the Houston Oilers-New York Jets professional football game.

In the meantime classes will get under way on Wednesday and the fall semester will be under way before the week is out.

Meeting Stated

A publications board meeting for anyone interested in the position of business manager of the MIMOSA will be held in Dr. Calvert's office Wednesday, Sept. 14, at 11:30 a.m.

"I hear that your son is getting on quite well."

Dr. Smith Joins Faculty

Dr. Charles Smith, new associate professor of political science, comes from the U.S. State Department where he served as public opinion officer for 21 years.

Dr. Smith, a native of Missouri, holds the AB degree from Park College; MA from the University of Michigan; and PhD from the University of Wisconsin. Before going to the State Department he was associate professor of political science at the University of Kentucky, and held a similar position at the University of Alabama from 1936-42.

Foreign Students Are Listed

Students from 18 foreign countries will make up the International House family this fall, according to Mr. Stewart, director of the program. Mr. Stewart stated that there will possibly be two more added before the summer ends.

The new students include the following:

Guiaupe Bolognese from Bari, Italy, who plans to take courses in political science and economics. He was the recipient of an American Field Service Award and graduated from Mariemont High School in Ohio. He speaks four languages.

Robert Fisher of Oberstdorf, Germany, son of a lieutenant colonel in the German Army who was stationed at Fort McClellan Chemical School as a liaison officer. He speaks four languages and plans to study economics and business.

Gilbert Frankenhuys of Enschede, Holland, whose family are friends of the late Lee Friebaun, a trustee of the International Endowment Foundation. He speaks three languages and is interested in business.

John Gelnner of La Paz, Bolivia, speaks four languages and is interested in engineering subjects. He also plays the violin and has been a member of the National Symphony Orchestra of Bolivia.

Said Hisain of Amman, Jordan, who will study biology. Son of a merchant, he speaks Arabic and English and is interested in football and folk dancing.

Ana Sophie Lacarrière of Paris, France, will study literature. Daughter of the manager of a public relations firm, she speaks three languages, plays the piano and guitar.

Marketa Partanen of Haapa-aurvi, Finland, plans to study English and to be a teacher. She speaks five languages and is interested in literature and art.

Scottswoman Joins JSC Faculty to Teach German

Dr. Martha Webster Simpson (Mrs. C. L.), a native Scotswoman, language professor, artist and world traveler, joined the faculty this fall to teach German. Her husband is assistant professor of French.

Dr. Simpson's interesting career has included dual roles. She holds the Ph.D. degree in French with a minor in German from the University of Grenoble in France with highest honors—recognition normally given to native students only—and Ion, and in Hong Kong and Japan where she spent two years teaching and painting. She has also traveled in Spain, Luxembourg and Switzerland.

After her marriage to Mr. Simpson, a native of Aniston, they lived in New York City where he taught French until coming to Alabama last year. They have two children, Jan. 4, and Allison. Hope, one-year-old.

Student Health
Senator Kenneth McMahan.

A school retreat was held by the Baptist Student Union on Sept. 11, at the First Baptist Church. Wayne Bowman of Gadsden, newly elected president, presided. The Rev. Charles Martin, pastor of Parker Memorial Baptist Church in Anniston, was the keynote speaker; Rodney Hare, youth minister of Piedmont First Baptist Church, interpreted the retreat theme, “Deepen With God”; and Terry Jordan, Gadsden, directed the singing.

The Rev. Jimmy Sims, pastor of Alexandria Baptist Church, spoke on Friday evening, Sept. 9, and the Rev. Dorial Martin, pastor of Leeds First Baptist Church, addressed the retreat on Saturday night. The Rev. John Norman, host pastor, closed the retreat Sunday morning. Other features of the meeting were a freshman orientation conference for all new Baptist students led by Mrs. J. B. Jackson, dean of women, and a breakfast attended by 500 students. There were speakers, table discussions, and a special event where students were encouraged to make new friends and get to know each other.

Virginia Yancey, Lima, Peru, was accepted as a BSN summer missionary in Jamaica. She received several academic awards in scientific subjects and is interested in sports, classic music and travel. Following last year, she will study chemistry. She is planning to study English and to be a teacher. She is interested in music, history and photography.

Carlos Sanchez of Asuncion, Paraguay, plans to major in economics. His father is a lawyer and he is interested in sports, music, dancing and the theatre.

Virginia Yancey of Lima, Peru, will study chemistry. She received several academic awards in scientific subjects and is interested in sports, classical music and travel. Following last year, she will study English and to be a teacher. She is interested in music, history and photography.

Mr. Norman and Mr. Rosen, Anne Kress of Gadsden told about her experiences as a BSN summer missionary in Jamaica during the summer, and there were planning conferences and recreation.

Nicholas Murray Butler, American educator, once said: “Fundamentally, the force that rules the world in conduct, whether it be moral or immoral. If it is moral, at least there may be hope for the world. If it is immoral, there is not only no hope, but no prospect of anything but destruction of all that has been accomplished during the last 5,000 years.”

Abbott Receives Sports Award

Rudy Abbott, sports information director for Jacksonville State, has been selected the winner for producing the outstanding football press brochure in 1965 for a small college. This award was made to Abbott, by the Football Writers Association of America.

Abbott, who is only this summer was named to a full-time position on the Jacksonville staff, is out to win this award for the second straight year.

NFL Deals Severe Blow

If the American Football League ever expected to reach the level of the NFL it was dealt a severe blow in the merger this winter. While final merger between the two leagues will not take place for a few more years, the American League lost its chance to gain on the older league. Due to the new common draft between the two leagues, the AFL can no more than hold its status quo for the moment. There will be no tremendous bidding wars between the two leagues that fattened the pocketbooks of the NFL. The merger only succeeded in strengthening the NFL.

There will be a championship game between the two league champions. The NFL has been made a three touchdown favorite before the season has started. The Nevada bookies may take it off the betting board by January. There won't be much action then.

Gamecocks To Meet Florence

When the Jacksonville State Gamecocks line up against the Florence Lions on Sept. 17 they will be trying for their third straight win over the Lions, plus, shooting for third straight ACC championship.

In the 14-game series between the two schools, the Lions hold the winning edge, winning eight, losing four and there have been two ties. However, in the last four years the Lions have found it very difficult to beat our Gamecocks, the last time was in 1964, when the Jaxmen fell 17-0. Since then the closest the Lions have come have been two ties; (7-7 in 1962, and 0-0 in 1963), with the Gamecocks winning the last two years, 28-0 in 1964, and 0-0 in 1965.

This year the Lions should be stronger and ready to improve on last year's record of 4-6. Strongest points for the Lions will be the backfield and line, with the only notable weakness lying at the end position.

Renewed Interest in Division Race

There will be renewed interest in the eastern division race in the National Football League. The Cleveland Browns, with the great Jimmy Brown, appear to be more human than in the past two seasons and are carried away with the division championship and one world title. Best bet is that the Browns are the young and healthy Dallas Cowboys. The Cowboys, first expansion club in the NFL, appear ready to make a run for the title this time. With their younger players finally maturing, the Cowboys have the horses to win this year. The new roll-out attack developed by Coach Tom Landry fits well with quarterback Don Meredith's style of play.

The New York Giants are the prohibitive favorite to finish third in the east. The Eagles, Redskins, Steelers, and Falcons are slated to bring the rear, the often-injured St. Louis Cardinals were once a title hope, but injuries have eliminated them from consideration by most.

The western division is in a dog fight as usual. There may be three teams in the West better than any one in the East. Cincinnati and Green Bay Packers are co-favorites to win the title, backed up and armed hard by the Chicago Bears and the Minnesota Vikings. The L.A. Rams, S.F. 49ers, and Detroit Lions trail the field.

The Bears have many individual stars, such as Gale Sayers and Dick Butkus, but don't seem to have the consistency to do it. My pick is the Colts. They came close last season but were defeated by injuries to their quarterback backs as much as anything else. With John Unitas and Gary Cuozzo Healthy, the Colts have the favorite in my book. The Packers don't have the passing attack that will win the divisional crown, but they do a good job, but he is short of outstanding receivers. If the Packers' defense does not do a better job, and the Colts have the receivers. So ends our fearless forecast.

Dr. Kenneth Earl Landers, a native of Leighton, joined the faculty during the summer as professor of botany.

Dr. Landers graduated from Florence State College with a BS degree and received his MS and PhD degrees from Auburn University with a major in botany and minor in zoology. At Auburn he was graduate research assistant and taught botany.

He had National Science Foundation and NASA fellowships for working on his doctorate degree. He is a member of the American Phytosociological Society, Ecological Society of America, Alabama Ornithological Society, Alabama Academy of Science and a number of honorary fraternities.
