READY FOR BIG PARADE--Pretty Gem of the Hills Sharon Carlisle of Birmingham readies herself for the big Veteran's Day Parade, set for Nov. 11 in Birmingham, as the Marching Southerners and Pershing Rifles have a special invitation to march in the parade. The Southerners were the only band selected to give a special 30 minute concert in front of the Turwiler Hotel at 1:45 preceding the parade.

Goldwater here today at 10:30 for speech

Barry Goldwater, Republican Presidential candidate in 1964, will speak on campus today at 10:30 a. m. at Leone Cole Auditorium. All 10:30 classes will be dismissed for the speech, and all students are requested to attend.

Goldwater, making a series of appearances in Alabama, is scheduled to speak on "The State of the World Today." A press conference is set for 9:30 a. m. preceding the speech.

Goldwater served 12 years in the U. S. Senate representing Arizona before he swept the Republican nomination in 1964. Alabama was one of the five states he carried in the election against President Lyndon Johnson.

As the titular leader of the Republican Party, Goldwater travels extensively throughout the world to learn first-hand of America's most pressing opportunities and problems, and this will be the most important aspect of his speech. He has recently toured Vietnam, Japan, Formosa, Hong Kong and Bangkok.

A major general in the U. S. Air Force Reserve, Goldwater held several key positions while in the Senate. He was the senior Republican on the Labor and Public Welfare Committee and a member of the Armed Services Committee and served three terms as chairman of the Republican Senatorial Campaign Committee.

Goldwater began his political career in 1949 when he was elected to the City Council of Phoenix on a "reform ticket".

Would assure students of rights JSU proposals are accepted by council

Two requests by Dean Theron Montgomery were accepted by the Jacksonville City Council Thursday night during a meeting between the council, JSU officials and several representative students.

Dean Montgomery's first suggestion was that before a JSU dormitory student be jailed, Dean Jackson be notified if the student is a female and Dean Edwards be notified if the student is a male.

"We want to be notified immediately, not eight hours later," he emphasized. Dean Montgomery also made it clear that not only dormitory students, but also any JSU student be given the opportunity to use the phone if ever arrested.

His second suggestion was that a program for Jacksonville policemen be investigated by the council.

The council readily agreed to both requests.

Dean Montgomery, Dean Jackson, Dean Edwards and Campus Police Chief James Jackson represented the JSU administration at the meeting. Primarily the same students were present at Thursday's meeting as were at Tuesday's meeting on campus.

C of C, students and faculty hold meeting

By LARRY SMITH
CHANTICLEER Editor

Preceding Thursday night's meeting, several key merchants and members of the Jacksonville Chamber of Commerce met with Dean Theron Montgomery, Dean Gus Edwards, Campus Police Chief James Jackson and several representative students Tuesday morning in the president's lounge of Cole Cafeteria. In all, there were 35 people present.

Dean Montgomery, who is president of the Jacksonville C of C, opened the meeting by saying: "We have been concerned lately by students who were arrested in Jacksonville and not allowed to use the telephone. Personally, we want the students to appreciate the community of Jacksonville as we (faculty and staff) do, and the purpose of this meeting is to work out these problems as well as possible.

No mob rule

It is worth noting that JSU students did not and are not taking to the streets in mob rule in retaliation for their grievances with the city of Jacksonville Police Department. They could have, but they didn't.

It seemed a far more sensible thing to discuss the matter openly with those in authority. The problem wasn't caused in a day, and it won't be solved in one.

The way the Chamber of Commerce members spoke frankly and openly with the students at Tuesday's meeting helped to bring the communications gap a little closer together. Some of the C of C members recalled their college life, and tried to see our side of the matter.

One prominent merchant said he thought the Jacksonville Police Department gave more traffic tickets than the whole city of Anniston. This is a bold statement, especially from a member of the Chamber of Commerce--but he said it, we didn't. And it made the students present at the meeting feel like they were really interested in our problems.

Meeting half way

If you are one of the many students who has a complaint about the City of Jacksonville, then you might like to know that you are not by yourself. Merchants and permanent residents of Jacksonville have complaints also.

Shoplifting has increased in proportion with the growth of JSU, and is the major complaint of the merchants. This is not a minor problem, it is major. The merchants are not blaming JSU students for all stolen articles which are missing from their stores. But once again, the figures prove that shoplifting is rising in proportion to the growth of JSU. While we are growing in leaps and bounds, the city of Jacksonville itself is not.

The Chamber of Commerce and others have listened to our complaints, and were frank with us.

We will have to meet them half-way before any permanent settlement can be worked out.

No crowded meetings

While we are on the subject of meetings; I haven't been to a meeting this year on campus that was crowded.

One prime example is SGA meetings. It is a pathetic situation when no more people show for an SGA meeting than what we have had so far. In case you don't know, the Student Government Association meets each Monday at 7:30 on the second floor of Bibb Graves.

The meetings should be held in the Roundhouse to accommodate the interested students. We can't fill up one classroom!

Several people have complained about alleged misuse of money, lack of entertainment and 1001 other things. If you have proof of any of these things, we will be glad to publish it free of charge in the CHANTICLEER. But to have proof, you are going to have to become a little more active.

And you SGA representatives who were elected to represent your organization or dorm; you had better start showing up at the meetings, or someone will be named to replace you.

Come to the meetings. It's educational sometimes a little humorous and always original. Wander in some Monday night and watch your SGA representative squirm.

Disputes arise over dorm display judging

Several students have complained about the selection of winners in dorm display competition during recent homecoming activities. The Chanticleer interviewed Steve Carlson, who was chairman of the dorm decorations committee, to determine more on how, and who, judged the dorms.

According to Carlson, an architect, the director of arts and crafts at Fort McClellan and an art instructor at Fort McClellan comprised the judges.

In all, the judges spent about seven hours judging dorm displays and the parade. They selected winners on the basis of: design, 30 points; craftsmanship, 20 points; originality, 30 points and theme or slogan, 20 points.

Carlson emphasized that the judges reviewed each dorm display three times, which was the subject of several complaints. Several students felt their displays were not properly checked by the judges.

A representative of Glazner Hall appeared at the SGA meeting Monday night with a resolution calling for a study of how the dorm displays were judged. The representative asked that the resolution be recorded in the SGA minutes as a protest but his motion did not receive a second, and the matter was dropped.

"Crow Hall won first place," Carlson stated, "for their scale, completeness, carrying out their theme, wide variety of colors and textures and animation. Glazner was given honorable mention for several factors. The judges felt that since there was only going to be one award, exceptionally good displays should receive attention. Glazner was cited for their completeness in design in carrying out the homecoming slogan, and the judges were very much impressed with the animation of the display."

"Both Glazner and Rowan dorms will be given special plaques signifying their good work in building displays this year," Carlson pointed out.

Floats were judged both during and after the parade. The judges requested that the floats be assembled in front of Bibb Graves following the parade, so that a more thorough job of inspection could be made.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor:

I would like to thank all persons who helped in this year's homecoming. A few names deserve special attention: Thomas L. Hicks, faculty coordinating chairman, was a tremendous help in organizing the different committees and seeing that their work was carried out.

Rhett Brock, vice-chairman, did an outstanding job in all areas that he coordinated in, even the two bon fires he built.

The ROTC department was of unmeasurable assistance in all endeavors that we undertook.

I would also like to commend Wayne Crow, parade marshall over performance, on the unique and very satisfactory job he did. Some people have said that it was the best homecoming parade they had seen in four years.

Besides all efforts put forth by many devoted chairmen of different committees, I would like also to thank the workers on those committees whose part helped make this year's homecoming one of the best.

The many persons who did the little jobs that went unnoticed, but not unappreciated, I owe a special debut of gratitude.

I enjoyed serving the Student Government Association in this year's homecoming activities, and wish them continued success in their future endeavors.

Jim Royal, homecoming chairman, 1967.

Dear Editor:

On behalf of the Alumni Association, I would like to express appreciation to the entire university family for a great homecoming.

I commend the students on their over all participating and for retaining the distinction of having the "friendliest campus in the South." You and your campus were complimented by hundreds of alumni over the recent homecoming weekend.

In recapping homecoming events, I have nothing but praise for the 100 or more who served on 14 different committees. A special tribute to the coordinating committee: Mr. and Mrs. Thomas L. Hicks, Jim Joyal, Rhett Brock, Maynard Baker and Lou Botta.

The frosting on the homecoming cake was a superb band performance and a winning football team.

JULIA SNEAD,
Alumni Director

chairman; Ralph Walker, SGA president and Nancy Simmons, Sheila Williams and Carey Harden, dorm representatives.

Most of the complaints stemmed from general treatment of students by the Jacksonville Police Department personnel and jail conditions.

It was somewhat surprising that the majority of C of C members readily and openly agreed that Jacksonville did have a problem in its Police Department, the main problem being that of low salaries which police personnel are paid.

John B. Nisbet, C of C member and also a member of the Jacksonville City Council, pointed out that members of the Jacksonville Police Department, before Oct. 1, were paid $129 every two weeks, and they could not afford to keep "the good men." The average pay for personnel at the police department in Jacksonville is some where around six to eight months.

Nisbet also pointed out that the city had only two policemen who have had any formal amount of training.

James Jackson, chief of campus police at JSU, and also president of the Fraternal Order of Police in Alabama, suggested that a training program for police personnel be set up on or near the JSU campus. Dean Montgomery pointed out that a federal grant is available for this type of program, and the suggestion drew favorable response from the majority of those present at the meeting.

Chief Jackson also pointed out that pay for members of the Jacksonville Police Department should be equivalent to that of Jefferson County's.

Dean Montgomery asked the merchants for complaints which they had concerning JSU students. Shoplifting was termed the most serious problem by the merchants. In general, the merchants said they were pleased with the few bad checks which they get back on students. One merchant said he didn't get one bad check in a hundred, and T. Weller Smith, vice president of the First National Bank of Jacksonville, said he was surprised there were so few bad checks.

When one student said she had several complaints from students who said they were treated rudely by Jacksonville merchants, one C of C member said: "Just don't patronize the stores where the merchants are not nice to you."

Before the meeting was adjourned, Councilman Nisbet suggested that a committee be set up to further investigate the matter.

Pros and cons of off-campus housing at JSU

By PAUL MERRILL
Feature Editor

It was only five years ago that a money-minded business man had the idea of building an off-campus housing project. This project (which Dean Edwards tries to put out of his mind) is the Esquire Apartments. Others followed suit after the apartments proved successful, and built Colonial Arms only two short years after the trend began.

As of now, there are approximately nine off-campus housing projects. Besides Esquire Apartments and Colonial Arms (the former the least expensive, the latter the most expensive) there are: Forney Hall which is not just for married students as I had always thought; Reaves Apartments (in front of Patterson) trailer courts; Jax Apartments, whose price of $68 per month is the mean price of all the apartments; Holiday Apartment the West addition and University Apartments. Other new additions are the Iola Apartments and Campus Inn.

There are the decent and half decent apartment houses. Some students live off campus in shacks in which no upstanding bum would live.

There is no standard set by the school as to what conditions the apartments must meet before Jax State students can live apart from the rush and noise of the campus. Really, the only rule set by the school concerning off campus housing is that members of the fairer sex aren't allowed to live in or visit apartments. However, no record is kept of the people living off campus so there that members of our "fair" sex are being "unfair" and is a great possibility

I had wondered why there was this frantic rush for one to occupy his own homestead, and decided to take advantage of a friend's invitation to inspect his apartment. Two others and myself were taken by the host to his quarters which rest about 50 feet from the ROTC building.

After we had returned stares from some of the other tenants, our host opened the door and proudly revealed his small three room apartment. We went on the grand tour, regarding everything from the crowded closets to the cramped bathroom. Our host showed a proudness

Proposals

Mayor Frank Casey, members of the city council, Chief of Police Ross Tipton and several Chamber of Commerce members represented the city of Jacksonville.

Mayor Casey, who in calling the meeting to order, said the purpose of the meeting was to hear complaints from Jacksonville State University

Dean Montgomery began by saying quite a large number of responsible students had complained recently about the Jacksonville Police Department. He then rehashed Tuesday's meeting (see story below) for the benefit of those who were not present.

"There seems to be a lack of understanding and courtesy by the police department," Dean Montgomery stated. "Ninety nine and forty-four one-hundredths percent of the nearly 5,000 students at JSU are young ladies and gentlemen," he went on. However, he said he knew some students broke the law and was not advocating they go unpunished.

Dean Jackson told of several cases in which two JSU female students were arrested and jailed by the Jacksonville Police Department. "If I had been a parent of one young lady recently jailed, I'm afraid I would have pressed charges," she said.

The question then arose to what constituted "being drunk."

Several complaints were brought up by the students present at the meeting, but no substantial proof could be made of the complaints, as all were by proxy or "hear say."

The council generally agreed that they had a large turnover in their police department, and that they did not offer much pay to the police force.

for his small abode that a dorm dweller would never show toward his room.

After asking various people why they preferred living in an apartment to living in a dorm. I got answers like, "Because I can cook my own meals," and "I can study better." One boy likes the apartments because he doesn't have to worry about room checks and most important of all . . . he has his own private bathroom.

Do you want to be like nearly 1000 other people and live off campus? Does all this sound good to you? Do you dream of having your own apartment? Then get an apartment. Just think, you can cook your own meals and swear that you'll never eat in the cafeteria again. I know one boy that told himself, "If I live in an apartment, I definitely won't buy a meal ticket." He told me this at supper one night.

Not only is off-campus housing advantageous to many males, it is advantageous to the whole school in that it relieves crowded conditions on campus. Not only this, but, as Dean Edwards pointed out, education is not merely improvement academically, but also learning how to live successfully with other people.

In Our Opinion

An off-campus association

Would an organization of off campus students be beneficial to the welfare of the community and better community-student relationships?

An affirmative answer to this question by persons concerned would lay the groundwork for a Jacksonville Off-Campus Association. Depending on the participation of students involved, the degree of recognition by the University administration and the cooperation of rental property owners such an organization could and should be advantageous to all.

If such an organization on this campus were modeled after those at other colleges of comparable size, it might offer legal counsel for civil or criminal cases so that association members would be aware of their rights and available solutions to problems. Members of the association would not pay cash deposits for power, gas, telephones or apartments. In addition, a complete listing of apartments, houses, rooms and trailers would be maintained by the association.

For these and other services, the off campus resident would pay $15-20 per year rather than plunking down the $100 each year for deposits to set up an apartment.

This year off-campus housing has become big business at Jacksonville with an estimated 800 students living in private commercial rental properties. Conflicts have arisen where both tenant and landlord have lost money on different occasions. From confirmed and unconfirmed reports it appears the student is usually at a disadvantage.

The landlord, however is guaranteed only the amount of his required deposit to cover damages to his property. By giving association members preference on waiting lists for quarters and not requiring a deposit, the landlord could be guaranteed as much as ten times the usual deposit for damages.

When established, the association might embark on such ventures as questioning the wisdom of the University administration allowing persons residing in substandard commercial rentals to enroll with the cooperation of the City of Jacksonville Housing Authority this problem, which observation will bear out to exist, might be corrected.

According to Dean of Men Gus Edwards, the University exercises no control over the off campus housing, but only maintains a list of facilities for the convenience of the student. Dean Edwards said the University leaves the policing of the community to city officials.

Since most students maintain their voting registration at their original home, few have any say in the governing of the community in which they live and pay taxes. Here again an Off-Campus Association might give the 36 month resident a voice in the community.

The JSU student body comprises approximately 35 percent of the population of the city in which it is located. At its present rate of growth, the student body will within five years be greater than the remainder of the city.

Jacksonville State University is growing in physical plant and enrollment at a fantastic rate. Such an organization of off campus students aiding each other and handling their own problems, would indicate the institution is maturing as well as simply growing.

Homecoming a success

A beautiful fall day and the largest crowd to ever assemble on campus both contributed to make Jacksonville State University's homecoming a success Saturday, Oct. 28. It was the first homecoming in four years that was not marred by rain or bad weather.

With the theme, "Hey Look Us Over," and the slogan, "Cage the Wildcats," students arrived at some very imaginative decorations displays and floats. Competition among floats and displays was the greatest this year than ever before, according to observations, from several people.

At the annual alumni banquet Saturday evening, a Birmingham businessman and a prominent Jacksonville woman were named outstanding male and female alumni of the year. Percy N. Plylar president of Utopia Cleaners of Birmingham and Miss Louise Treadaway was honored for their outstanding achievements and for their diligent work for the university.

Pretty Jan Garner of Piedmont reigned over the festivities as homecoming queen. The brown-haired, green-eyed beauty was chosen queen earlier last week by the student body. Over 1400 students voted in the election, which featured 23 entrants. Wanda Coffee of Steele and Gloria Connell of Sylacauga were in the queen's court.

A total of 16 floats were featured in the parade Saturday, which lasted for over an hour. Judging of the floats was as follows: Sophomore Class, first place; Freshman Class, second and ROTC, third.

Company H was judged best ROTC company in the parade Saturday, which lasted for over an hour. Judging of the floats was as follows: Sophomore Class, first place; Freshman Class, second and ROTC, third.

Company H was judged best ROTC company in the parade and the Delta Chi pledge class car was judged best decorated car in the parade.

In dorm competition, Weatherly Hall placed first in the women's division and Rowan was second. Crow Hall was declared winner in men's dorm competition and Glazner was second.

Special guests of Jax State for homecoming were members of the 1947 football team, which had the distinction of being undefeated. Dr. Don Salls, coach of the Gamecocks at that time, introduced each member of the team at the "J" Club Smoker and alumni banquet.

The Gamecock's string of 22 years with a defeat at homecoming was put on the line Saturday night, as a determined Louisiana College team played Jax State a blow-for-blow game until the fourth quarter, when the Gamecocks went ahead to stay, 23 to 10.

A homecoming dance closed out the festivities late Saturday night following the game.

Glazner pres. in hospital

Gorotallah "Jeff" Jafari, a native of Iran, and a senior at JSU, is in the Anniston Memorial Hospital, Room 404, suffering from an infection which followed an appendectomy. Jafari is president of Glazner Dormitory.

Miss Mimosa deadline set

Nov. 30 is the deadline for clubs and organizations to enter girls in the annual Miss Mimosa beauty contest.

Every JSU girl, with the exception of first and second semester freshmen, are eligible to enter. A $15 entrance fee is required of all entrants.

For further information, contact Jeff Hamrick at the Mimosa office or phone extension 273.

book reviews

By Virginia Overton

For all of you serious-minded students at JSU who just have to be the best at everything, there is a book now on the best seller list (don't ask who's best seller list this is from). The book, which you need includes the famous authors name, is "Phyllis Diller's Housekeeping Hints".

Has the counselor been bugging you about not washing your sheets while you keep insisting that they've always been a dull brown? Or that fuzzy, gray rug under your bed that your dorm mother could swear is a two-year layer of dust? Well, if so, my friends there is still hope for you. This handy little book has hints for every housekeeping problem.

It there is an extra bed in your room (though it isn't likely), Phyllis would suggest covering it artistically with books, stuffed animals, food, lamps, rugs, Bo Diddly albums, lobster pots, and anything else you might have lying around.

And for you married couples on campus, there are many hints on making your home entertaining a success. Phyllis suggests that when giving a dinner party, always keep the lights as dim as possible. This way the guests will not see what they are eating. As an added suggestion the hostess should always serve steaming hot coffee at the beginning of the meal. This is not so much to what their appetite is it is to burn their tongues to prevent the guests from later tasting what they cannot see in the extra-dark dining room. Dimming the lights also helps the hostess out if she didn't have time to clean before the party.

If the cake she had been baking for dessert fell, Phyllis suggests stopping it with anchovies and tomato sauce and calling it Italian coffee cake.

Of course by then the effect of the first cup of coffee has worn off, so be prepared with an equally hot cup of coffee to get your guests through the remainder of the meal.

These are only a few of the many helpful hints mentioned in "Phyllis Diller's Housekeeping Hints".

Activities coming up State government to be topic of '67-68 SCOAG

By Norman Brown

"Current Issues in State Government" has been announced by Chairman Steve Carlson as this year's theme for the fourth annual Student Conference on American Government at Jacksonville State University Nov. 16-18.

The three day series of conferences and addresses by state and international figures will begin Thursday, Nov. 16 when Lieutenant Governor of Alabama Albert P. Brewer arrives on the JSU campus. The young Morgan County bred state official, according to Chairman Carlson, "represents the young Alabamians new political thinking."

Former Belgium Prime Minister Paul Henri Spaak will confer with the SCOAG delegates on Friday prior to his address to the JSU student body.

For the first time in its four year history, SCOAG, delegates, this year, plan to publish a formal "conference statement" reporting its conclusions, evaluations and objectives. These thoughts will be the product of 50 high school and 25 JSU delegates chosen to attend the conference.

The purpose of SCOAG is to cultivate among Alabama youth a genuine interest in and a better understanding of our American system of government. The conference is founded on the belief that by bringing together a select group of high school and college students for free discussion on matters of government, the cause of democracy will be furthered and the future security of our governmental system will be promoted.

Activities will consist primarily of five panels moderated by a JSU political science professor. Participating professors are Col. Edwin Van Keuren, Dr. J. W. Selman, Dr. Ira Crawford, Prof. Paul Dunbar and Dr. Ronald F. Howell.

Committees and workers for the parley include Topic selection and Background, Jeff Hamrick; Publications, John O'Brien, Transportation and Housing, Sam Monk; Reception, Theresa Caretti; and Solicitation, Bill Hedges.

Art display to be shown in Mason Hall

The JSU art department is presenting an exhibition of pottery, drawing and paintings by Bill and Maxine Aycock Nov. 7-20. An open reception will debut the exhibition tomorrow (Nov. 7) from 7 to 9 p. m.

Maxine Aycock, for several years an illustrator for Marshall Space Flight Center and painting instructor for the University of Alabama in Huntsville, is a graduate of Cooper Union School of Art and Engineering in New York and also studied at the University of Louisville, the University of Alabama and the Art Students League and Penland School of Crafts.

She has been honored with three scholarships, more than 80 juried awards and 15-one man shows. She is represented in the permanent collection of the Birmingham Museum and in private collections in this country and abroad.

Bill Aycock, an engineer at Thiokol in Huntsville, studied ceramics at Penland and turned his technical skills to a variety of craft media including dulcimer-making, metal sculpture, serigraphs, weaving and silver jewelry making. He exhibits and sells his pottery in small shops and at outdoor art shows in the region.

The exhibits will be in the exhibition hall of Mason Hall. There will be no admission charge.

Music dept. to present "Stop the World" musical

The Jacksonville State Music Department will present the smash British musical, "Stop the World--I Want to Get Off" at the high school auditorium, Nov. 13-16 at 8 p. m. Admission is $1.50 for adults and $1 for students in advance and advance tickets go on sale today in the Music Department. Tickets will be a quarter higher at the door.

"Stop the World", the first musical by Anthony Newley and Leslie Bricusse, was the first in the new wave of musicals that has since produced "The Roar of the Greasepaint, and the Smell of the Crowd", and "The Fantasticks".

The musical comedy, actually a satire on modern life, is set in modern England, but it could be anywhere. It is a representative play, rather than one dealing with specific personalities. The main set is a circus tent, and much of the action is done in pantomime. The actors are obviously actors, and their performances give the impression of being improvised.

The fast-moving, funny action centers around the life of an ordinary Englishman, Littlechap, played by Carl Stewart, who also is doing the choreography. The plot is not so easily summarized, since it is rather unconventional, but the title itself does the best job of explaining the purpose of the play -- it's about someone like many of us, who found the world going too fast for him.

Others in the cast include Miss Minihan in the female lead and Pat Monk in the role of the older daughter. Some of the hit tunes to come from this production include "What Kind of Fool Am I", "Gonna Build A Mountain" and "Once in a Lifetime".

Ring rep. to be on campus

A representative for Josten, the official ring for Jacksonville State University, will be on campus Nov. 8. He will be at the Grab with ring samples all day.

Gamecocks extend HC winning streak to 22

Jacksonville State University continued an undefeated 22 game homecoming record with a 23-10 victory over the Louisiana College Wildcats before 10,000 enthusiastic fans in Paul Snow Memorial Stadium.

At tight defensive battle prevailed through the third quarter when it was broken up by the Gamecocks with two touchdowns in the last four minutes of the game.

A few new wrinkles were shown by the Gamecocks which included a Bruce Peck to Lynn Swinford pitch-out, which ground out steady yardage throughout the entire game.

The defensive troops of the Gamecocks and the Wildcats fought to a scoreless first quarter, with Jacksonville's deepest penetration being to Louisiana College's 43 yard line.

Louisiana's only threat was an unsuccessful 46 yard field goal attempt, following a drive to Jacksonville's 31 yard line.

Jax State, celebrating their first Homecoming as a University, dominated the second quarter with a touchdown, a fumble recovery and a pass interception.

Playing without the services of their Little All-American Candidate Bubba Long, Jacksonville's Jim Gaines of Jasper, and Glen Spann, Arab rolled up ground yardage on the 88 yard scoring drive, which ended with Swinford carrying the pigskin over left tackle for the score. Peck converted for the 7-0 halftime score.

Louisiana started fast in the third period with a 49 yard pass from Harrington to wing back Tom Thrower. Carrol Hymel carried over right tackle for the touchdown. Harrington's PAT tied the game.

Trailing by three, Peck tossed 30 yards to sophomore end Jimmy Jackson. Three yardage losing plays in a row forced the Gamecocks to try a field goal. Peck's thirty yard attempt was true, and with three minutes remaining in the third quarter the score was all tied-up at 10-10.

In the fourth stanza, Robert Kelley found running space for 45 yards, putting the Gamecocks in position for a Swinford dash around left end and the tie-breaking touchdown, from six yards out. Peck kicked the extra point for a 17-10 Jax State lead.

A 53 yard drive by the Gamecocks ended with a 20 yard sprint down the middle by Glenn Spann, who dove into the end zone as the game ended on a Gamecock note. Peck missed the extra point.

The victory over the Wildcats from Louisiana brought the Jax State record for the season to 3-4.

Newberry falls to Gamecocks

Jacksonville State's Gamecocks snapped a four game losing streak with an overwhelming 35-6 victory over Newberry College's Indians. Coach Jim Blevins called off the first string at the end of the half and played the entire second half with a freshman and sophomore lineup in order to give the younger boys some good experience.

Bruce Peck led the Jaxmen to a 21-6 lead at half-time connecting on two of eight passes for 107 yards and two touchdowns. Donald Gables finished the game, completing four of nine passes for 29 yards.

Bubba Long once again led the Gamecocks in rushing with 80 yards on 13 carries. Robert Kelly ground out 51 yards in eight trips while Glen Spann had 40 in 14 attempts and Peck 29 on six carries.

Jacksonville, striking with a powerful offense, scored its first touchdown of the game on a 37 yard pass from Peck to Halfback Terry Harris with 5:58 left to play in the first period. Peck's extra point attempt was no good and the Gamecocks had a 6-0 lead. This capped a 70-yard drive in six plays.

Moments later, after gaining possession of the ball once again, the Gamecocks traveled 70 yards in just three plays with 2:33 left in the initial stanza. Peck gained 11 yards on first downs and Kelly charged for four but a 15 yard penalty pushed the Jaxmen back to their own 30. Peck then teamed up with End Don Cassity for the 70 - yard touchdown strike. Peck boosted the score to 14-0 with a two-point pass conversion to Bernie Giovingo.

The Gamecocks tallied their last touchdown of the first half with just 32 seconds gone in the second quarter. Peck rambled the final 18 yards for the TD on a 51 yard sustained drive. Peck's point after was good and the score read 21-0 in favor of the Alabama visitors.

Newberry scored its only touchdown of the night with just eight seconds remaining in the half. Ray Heffe, the Indians quarterback, hit George Taylor from six yards out for the score. The point after was no good. Jax was leading at intermission 21-6.

The first time the Gamecocks had the ball in the second half, they drove 58 yards in nine plays for the tally. Long, the big running back, bulled over from the eight yard line for the touchdown. Peck's PAT was good and the score stood at 28-6.

Rats only unbeaten Intramural grid team

By LOU BOTTA

A safety, one of the most unusual scoring plays in football, for three quarters was the only difference between the Smith Lake and the Rats - A - Go - Go. The only other scoring threat of the first half was a field goal attempt by George Shoemaker, but it was short. This win left the Rats as one of the few undefeated teams in the intramural football league.

The safety was scored on the Lakers when one of their backs was trapped in the end zone attempting to run out a punt. The Rats held on to this slim lead until the closing minutes of the third quarter, when Alvin Adams tossed a 15-yard scoring strike to put the Lakers out in front for the first time. The extra point was missed and as the fourth quarter began the Smith Lake eleven held the lead, 6-2.

Taking the kick - off the Rats wasted little time in regaining the lead, and behind the running of Barclay Fisher the Rats went ahead to stay. It took only six plays for the Rats to score the go-ahead touchdown, five of these plays being running plays. The climax to the drive came when Fisher behind some fine blocking blasted up the middle for the score. The extra point was good, as Fisher passed to Tim MacTaggart, and the Rats led

The Rats were in business once again following George Shoemaker's kick - off as Jack Washburn intercepted an Alvin Adams pass and the Rats were off again.

The key play in this drive was a nice run by Wingback Bill McArthur. Fisher once again scored on a run to put the Rats in a commanding lead, 16-6.

Standouts for the Rats were Ken Waite, who was returning to action after a lay - off of two games due to injuries suffered in the Jeffco game. Other stand outs for the Rats included; Jack Washburn, Randy Maner, Jim Campbell and Barclay Fisher.

For the Lakers, Alvin Adams, Butch Wilson and Rick Maddox were standouts.

The win was a big one for the Rats, for it makes them one of the few undefeated teams in the league.

In other results from last week, the Jeffcos played in two close ball-games winning both by the scores of 86-6 and 60-0. The 86-6 game set a record for the most points scored in recent years. The old record was set last season by the Rats who scored 85 points in one game.

It is rumored that a play - off will be set up this year instead of the usual All - Star game.

Until next issue.

(SECOND IN A SERIES OF COLUMNS ON THE PROBLEMS OF RECREATION AT JACKSONVILLE STATE.)

My column this issue takes the form of an interview with the president of the SGA, Ralph Walker.

Q. To what extent is the SGA responsible for providing recreation at Jax State?

A. I suppose the SGA is really responsible for providing most of the entertainment at Jax State. The college itself -- about the only recreation they provide is through the Auxiliary Services and the tennis courts and ping-pong tables and stuff like that in the Grab.

Q. Is there any particular program that the SGA carries over from year to year?

A. The Community Concert Series has been carried on for two years, and the SGA pays a set amount which is determined by each incoming SGA president through the Community Concert Series Board. And, just generally speaking, the SGA provides, or has provided, most every dance during the years. However, there is more and more dances provided by different dormitories. Crowe Hall has provided, or is planning to provide one, this year for the benefit of everyone. The Junior Class has provided one, and later on in the year, a lot of the girls' dormitories will have formal type dances.

Q. Exactly what has the SGA done this year, and what do they have planned for the rest of this year?

A. Well, there are the five concerts in the Community Concert Series all yet to come, and I'm not precisely sure what they are right now. And so far this year, with few if any exceptions, there have been two dances each week sponsored by the SGA, one on Wednesday night, and one on Friday or Saturday night, depending upon whether we have a home or away football game.

Q. What about the stuff in the Grab and Self Hall, is the SGA connected with that in any way?

A. About the only thing in the Grab that the SGA is connected with, or at Self Hall or the cafeteria, is the juke boxes, and the rest of the stuff -- the pool tables in Self Hall are provided by -- I'm not sure if it's Auxiliary Services or completely separate recreation type facility. I know that it's different people working in a different system on the work.

Q. I've heard a lot of complaints, and I'm sure you have, too, about the fact that Self Hall is only open two hours a night. Who could the students go to to try and influence to get the hours changed?

A. I'm not real sure that it could be done. I guess really the person to go see would just about have to be Dr. Cole. When you're about this -- now the person in charge, and the person who's responsible there at Self for the pool tables and ping-pong tables over there is the dormitory director and he has a full time job period, and that in addition. And, what would have to be done -- because I've already talked with him -- he wouldn't want to do it anymore, and couldn't, any way that I can see, handle more than the two hours he's handling now, and so it would come down to Dr. Cole's approving more money to hire someone else to handle it full time, or whenever Mr. McAfee can't do that.

Q. Would the SGA, or has the SGA, ever considered taking this on itself?

A. I'm afraid that, considering our present finances, unless we could get students to work, which wouldn't hardly seem fair without pay, the SGA couldn't finance an operation like that, because there is no income whatsoever from that recreation complex there at Self.

Q. Are there any limitations on who can be responsible for bringing in groups, and if so, who has to permit that?

A. It's really about three-fold. It gets rather complicated after a while. Number one, David Milam (SGA vice-president) under the current system -- now this could be changed, but this is the only part of it that could be changed -- has to approve it and sign a slip so stating, and then it's carried by to Dean Jackson's office to approve the date for the calendar, and still it's only tentative, if Dr. Cole wants something else on that date, or if there's something already on the calendar, because Dr. Cole wouldn't deliberately pick something when somebody else had already planned something, but if Dr. Cole had already decided on using the date for something else, then it's his, and the master calendar is in Jack Hopper's office, but it's controlled by Dr. Cole.

Q. Has the SGA in the past sponsored concerts other than under the Community Concert Series and do they plan to do so this year?

A. The Tommy James and the Shondells' show was a concert sponsored by the SGA already this year and, though, actually you have a bigger audience and CAN have a bigger audience because of the limitations of Cole Auditorium, the SGA will probably sponsor at least one more concert at some time during the year of the rock variety, rather than the jazz or folk, like the Community Concert Series provides.

Q. Is the SGA in contact with city officials or any other people outside the university community in respect to providing for, or working toward recreation?

A. Well, in light of a meeting held this morning (Oct. 31) with 19 local merchants and myself and several other students on campus, Dean Montgomery, Dean Edwards, and Mr. Jackson, talking about the problems, I would say that the reason why these recreational facilities have not been put up in the town is because the people with the money themselves, don't believe that they can make money here. Like Shoney's Restaurant -- they have a $350,000 investment in each one of their restaurants, and in a town where with the students combined the population of the town itself has 10,000, well, it's going to take a lot of time for them to get their money out of their investments, and besides a restaurant or a business like that has a high overhead. As far as theatres go, there was a theatre in town before, and it just shut down. It was a walk-in. I personally believe, and I talked with one of the merchants later on during the day, and he seemed to believe also that a drive-in theatre somewhere outside Jacksonville, but close in could make pretty good money, if they showed strictly good movies, and not the trash like the Midway and the Bama and even downtown Anniston at times.

Q. Is there anything else that you would like to comment on, as far as the recreation situation relates to the SGA?

A. The SGA is looking into having movies sponsored by us. As a matter of fact, I already have the projectors checked out, I just don't have a movie yet for Nov. 10, I believe it is, which is coming up right away, so I'll have to come up with something fast or drop it. A poll was supposed to have been taken. David (Milam) was supposed to take a poll on campus, but I didn't believe he did, in looking at that sheet he ran off.

Q. This has been tried before and dropped. For what reason, lack of student support?

A. I think the reason that it was dropped was lack of student support. I don't think, really, that the movies that would really draw a crowd, though.

Q. How will the movies be selected, then?

A. Actually, about the only way that you can select them--because if you put them up to grabs, there are hundreds and hundreds of good movies--but you can take them simply off of the ratings system, or by the catalogs, because they rate each of their movies as good, bad, or indifferent, and also according to the type movie. You know, if you want an adult movie, which could probably be used well here, or you could use movies that have done well on other campuses. The Laurel and Hardy movies have been extremely successful, and for no particular reason, except the students just liked to get away from the hum-drum life, and just get out and have a big time. Other types--cartoon series--have done real successful -- an hour of roadrunner cartoons has been extremely successful. But it's been more or less random, because there have been hundreds of good movies and fine movies in the last ten years or less, even.

Freshman's Lament

Searching for recognition
Once so prevalent in high school
Now condensed to false security.
Transition from high school
To college, or is it fallacy?
Wide eyes stumbling down
Paths of illusion hoping
To be noticed in some way.
Seeking refuge in crowds
Becoming a face among faces
All alone and searching.
A smile is all they ask
Such a small and common gesture
Yet far removed from campus.
--MERI GRAY

Freshman's Folly

I'm free, I'm free, I'm free!
Good grief, I can't believe it,
The world's mind to do with what I wish.
And--I think, yes, I think I wish to have fun.
Parties, football games, new friends, dates; there's no end to it all.
STUDY! Who said study?
Dirty word that it is.
Well, if I have to, I guess I could squeeze it in somewhere.
What do you mean I HAVE to squeeze it in somewhere?
Oh!
But I'm Free, Free, free.
What rules and regulations?
This
Uncle Sam? If I don't squeeze it in?
But what if I'm a girl?
Nine o'clock! You've got to be kiddin.
Quiet hours, hours,
hours . . .

Portfolio: Photogenic homecoming

Homecoming took the spotlight at Jax State during the past few weeks, and what a homecoming it was. Spirit, which had been previously sagging, was so thick at the pep rally Thursday night that you could cut it with a knife. Competition among dorm displays was nothing short of "all out."

Teachers cooperated during "dead week" and our tradition of winning homecoming games continued.
