Big Homecoming Week Underway; Game Sat.

By Ken Jones

THIS IS HOMECOMING WEEK! Classes will be dismissed at 9:30 a. m. Wednesday for the crowning of the Homecoming Queen, and the official opening pep rally start off Thursday night's activities.

The crowning ceremonies for the Homecoming Queen

Students To Sing Alma Mater Sat.

As a special feature of the homecoming football game Saturday, Oct. 26, all students are urged to come prepared to sing the Alma Mater, which will be played by the Southerners on the field.

The freshman class was given copies of the Alma Mater at their convocation in September and were requested to learn it in time to be able to sing it at the homecoming game. To insure that every student has a copy, it is printed below.

You are urged to clip and put it in your billfold so that you will have it with you at the game.

Since this is the first time the Alma Mater has been sung at a homecoming game, all students should feel a special responsibility to participate in singing it. Our Alma Mater is one of the most beautiful in the nation, written by a former student, with music composed by a former teacher. We hope you will take special pride in becoming familiar with the words and singing it at the homecoming game.

For rehearsal, the Southerners will play the Alma Mater at the pep rally on Friday night, so every student should be present to practice the Alma Mater, as well as the fight song and the pep yells.

will take place at a special assembly in Leone Cole, with the football players as escorts. Voting for the candidates took place last Thursday.

The opening pep rally will begin with a band show at 7 p. m. Thursday in the stadium and will gradually form into a parade led by the Marching Southerners and the cheerleaders. The parade will wind its way through the campus, stopping off briefly at the athletic dorm to pick up the football players. The mass will then move to the end of Cole Drive, in back of the stadium, for a bonfire.

Yard display judging takes place Saturday morning at 10 o'clock. Judging this year will be based solely on the slogan "Massacre the Indians." A trophy will be awarded to winners in each of three divisions: men's dorms, women's dorms, and organizations.

The traditional home coming parade begins at 1 p. m. Saturday on the southside of town. The

Homecoming Hats Ready

Phi Beta Lambda, Jacksonville State's fraternity for business students, has adopted a project to sell homecoming hats for the benefit of students, faculty and alumni.

These hats are simulated straw with a red band and white lettering, modeled after the hats worn in the "Roaring Twenties." They will go on sale the week before homecoming a $1 each at different locations on the campus. On homecoming day they will also be in the lobby of Bibb Graves Hall. These hats may be purchased from any Phi Beta Lambda member.

Another service to be performed by Phi Beta Lambda at homecoming is

Mayor Nesbitt Speaks To Jax Student Government Association

John B. Nisbet, Jr., newly installed mayor of Jacksonville, was guest speaker at the October 14 meeting of the Student Government Association.

A graduate of Jacksonville State Teachers college, the new mayor welcomed the student senate back for the fall term.

Mayor Nisbet then spoke out on the parking situation which he said presents a problem for the city as well as the University. He said it seems cars increase faster than the enrollment at Jax State. He also revealed that the City Council had been requested to prohibit parking on Washington Avenue, 7th Street, Cole Drive, and Mountain Avenue-- all heavily traveled streets.

With the population of Jacksonville doubling each year in September, the mayor posed the question, "Should the City of Jacksonville furnish parking for University students?"

One solution to the parking problem that had worked on other college campuses was limiting cars to upper-classmen only, the mayor suggested.

Off-campus residents were asked to keep parties quiet and not disturb the peace. Nisbet said city police treated student apartments as homes and exercised authority over them as such. He realized that only a small percentage of students misbehaving could hurt the entire student body image.

Mayor Nisbet said he did not know of any city law giving Jacksonville police authority to enforce the campus rule forbidding University co-eds from young men's apartments. The only exception to this would be a disorderly party requiring police action.

We humbly bow to thee!

Welcome Alumni

Whether you are an old Gamecock come home to roost or a recent graduate of Jacksonville State University, the Chanticleer welcomes you to Homecoming 1968.

Things have probably changed since you were last here, and you may need a road map to find your way around, so don't feel ashamed to ask directions.

Your support is needed Saturday night when we try for 25 years (that's a quarter of a century) in a row of homecoming victories.

Meanwhile, the beat goes on.

Responsibility

It is very easy to delegate duties, but a very difficult job to successfully delegate responsibility. This year's homecoming exemplifies a person that can be counted on to complete a job that is of concern to every student at JSU.

Rhett Brock, homecoming chairman, has been working since last May in preparation for the fall semester's "big event." Objectives such as having coordination within the different committees, plans that are carried out, and the desire to render a genuine service to the students describe Brock's ability to produce a great homecoming.

The staff of the Chanticleer would like to thank Rhett Brock and the many persons that are working to make homecoming 1968 one of the finest.

Hot And Cold Air

Anyone living in one of JSU's so-called "air-conditioned dormitories" is well aware of the $32.50 additional rooming charge. Is it worth it?

This wonderful privilege of air-conditioning is heightened by being placed in a room built for two girls but occupied by three. Another asset is that you might have to climb four floors to get to your "air-conditioned" room.

During the fall season, the weather is sometimes unpredictable - like now. It may cool off one afternoon only to hit 80 the next morning. Whenever the thermometer drops 2 1/2 degrees, "Mr. X" cuts the air-conditioning off! ("Mr. X" controls the master on-off switch to the air-conditioning.)

For the past two weekends, "There have not been enough students on campus to warrant leaving the air-conditioning on." May I remind you that no matter HOW many students are in a dorm - they paid for that air-conditioning and have a right to expect it.

Leave the air-conditioning on, and I dare say that most JSU students have enough sense to turn their switch to "off" if they get home or go home for the weekend.

Someone had the foresight to provide most of the "air-conditioned dorms" with windows that open into the room for a space of five inches. This allows NO ventilation without the air-conditioning. It only stands to reason that my room on the third floor, which we affectionately called "The Furnace", would be unbearable.

"Mr. X", have you ever spent a night on the third or fourth floor of one of your "air-conditioned" dorms? I suggest you try it, and then think before you so calmly switch the air-conditioning off.

Is air-conditioning worth the $32.50 charge? I moved out of your air-conditioned dorm last Sunday night - I KNOW it isn't!

Letters To The Editor

Praises Band

Editor's note: Following are two letters which were received regarding the JSU Marching Southerners appearance at the Atlanta Falcons - Green Bay Packers professional football game at Atlanta Stadium on Oct. 6.

Dear Sir:

On Oct. 6, 1968, I attended the Atlanta Falcon's football game in Atlanta, Ga., where the Jacksonville State University Band performed during half time. I would like to commend this band for an outstanding show.

The Southerners are indeed a credit to the university and the state of Alabama.

Yours very truly,

Mrs. Willis S. Corbin

Dear Sir:

I wish to compliment the Jax State Band for their excellent performance at the Atlanta - Green Bay game on Sunday, October 6. It was unfortunate that the weather was so miserable, however, the band was great and I'm sure that Atlanta fans were impressed.

Please extend my compliments to your fine director.

Sincerely yours,

Charles R. Munhall

Dear Sir:

My wife and I went to Atlanta recently to be thrilled by our home town hero, Bart Starr and the Green Bay Packers. We did not realize that the biggest thrill of the day would come at the half time.

The Jacksonville State University Band and those beautiful dancing girls stole the show. I know Jax State was proud of them.

So were we.

Sincerely,

Robert B. Ingram

Why Not Beauty, Also?

Dear Editor:

"A thing of beauty is a joy forever; its loveliness increases, it will never pass into nothingness; but still will keep a bower quiet for us, and asleep full of sweet dreams, and health and breathing."

Thus wrote the poet Keats about beauty.

We all love beauty. Most of us were born with this love, though of course it is stronger in some than others. That is why we like to look at beautiful things. In doing this we have made discoveries and have learned certain principles, which we can use in our efforts to create beauty. Even if we may not succeed in this, we can all learn to enjoy and appreciate beauty. Sometimes we find it in the pattern of a flower, in the design of a fern leaf, or in the coloring of a bird's wing. Sometimes we see it in the noise and bustle of a downtown street corner or the lines of a building.

Beautiful things have a refining influence upon the mind, even though we may be unconscious of the fact. We are happiest when we live in pleasantly proportioned rooms, and certain lines, arrangements and colors prove soothing to our nerves. We not only like to have beautiful things for ourselves, but we enjoy showing them to others as well.

Our knowledge of art and for the purposes of this speech we will consider the terms art and beauty interchangeable, will tend to make our lives happier. We can always use art, no matter in what occupation we find ourselves. What we learn about line and color will help us in our dress, in the selection of well-designed and appropriate frocks or suits. It will be of value in choosing colors, in deciding which tie and belt to use with a certain suit, or which shoes will adapt themselves best to the whole effect. By ty on canvas or model a city.

We know that art is essential to man's well-being. Take away the finest of our building, our pottery, pictures, poetry and drama, what kind of life would result?

Thus, works of art exist and always have existed and have been essential to man's well-being. They are human experiences translated into forms that we apprehend through our senses.

As we drive about our campus there is much beauty to behold. A well laid out campus, green rolling lawns, tall towering trees and a pleasant array of architecture. But, now we take a closer look at our university, as we enter Bibb Graves Hall, two silent unnamed sentries flank over our left and right fields of vision. I doubt if anyone in here knows (See LETTERS, Page 3) who they are. The bust on the left is Bibb Graves and the other is C. W. Dauge. As we stroll down the halls, there is nothing but drab, tasteless walls. And, if you go to the other buildings you will find the same nothingness. In fact, there are only five works of art, the casual visitor will find about our campus.

JSU: And The Beat Goes On

I ask you why? We are supposed to be a university. Yet, we are neglecting a valuable part of our education. Walt Whitman once wrote:

"A child went forth one day. And what he saw he became."

We can be likened unto this child. We are learning - learning to become useful individuals, yet we in a way are neglecting our own education. An education we are paying for.

I enjoy things of beauty and would like to see appropriate pictures and other types of art displayed about our campus. I intend to do what I can to accomplish this goal. Will you help me?

Frank Erwin

Mayor

Jacksonville police do not have any authority to enforce the campus rule forbidding University codes from young men's apartments. The only exception to this would be a disorderly party requiring police action.

Ronnie Smitherman, SGA president, cited several instances of students being asked to leave Germania Springs. The mayor remarked that the 15 acre park was for family use and no one behaving himself would be asked to leave. Steve Gurley, junior class president, spoke up of also being asked to leave the park on one occasion. When asked of the nature of his activities there, Steve assured the mayor that "it was broad daylight and completely legal!"

Dr. Jackson Selman, professor of political science and SGA advisor, suggested that Nisbet talk the matter over with police chief Tipton. The mayor replied that this had been in the back of his mind and did intend to look into this. Mayor Nisbet said he welcomed students to his office and would be glad to talk to anyone.

The proposed Student Conference On American Government (SCOAG) budget for 1968 was passed unanimously by the Senate. The budget had been drawn up by Chairman Jim Royal and had been carefully checked by several SGA officers. Sam Spruiell brought a resolution to the floor forbidding any one girl to hold more than one of the following titles: Homecoming Queen, Miss Mimosa, or Miss Yuletide. The resolution was passed twenty to two votes.

Gloria Connell appeared to make a request on behalf of the cheerleaders. She requested a $60 allocation for five girls travel uniforms at $12 each. As $500 has been set aside in the SGA budget for the cheerleaders, the senate approved the allocation from this sum.

A requested Commuter Parking Committee was formed to work with the SGA to help relieve the parking problem. The committee is composed of chairman John Alves, Jim Henderson, David Goldman, Mike Moncus, and Doug Bevis.

New officers for 1968-69 were elected on Oct. 16 as follows: President, Danny Pitts; first vice president, Johnny Shelton; second vice president, Brenda Almaroad; secretary, Rhonda Troup; treasurer, Carlos Sanchez; public relations chairman, Carolyn Gaston; parliamentarian, Bobby Musick. Permanent committees will be appointed in the near future to carry out the program of activities for the year, which will include publishing the university directory in November, promotion of the alma mater, and a schedule of outstanding speakers and field trips.

PE Dept. To Hold Open House For HC

The physical education department will have an open house on Homecoming, Oct. 26. It will be held in the gym, with refreshments to be served in the faculty lounge.

The hours will be from 10:30 to 11:30.

New gymnasium equipment will be displayed in the gym, and Mr. Hochmann will present excerpts from the dance stage show he is developing for Dec. 3 and 4.

KDE Plans HC Display

The Kappa Delta Epsilon educational fraternity will have a scrapbook and other materials displayed in room 203, Bibb Graves Hall during the day. All former KDE's and visitors are invited to visit them.

Voting was heavy in the Thursday, Oct. 17, election for 1968 Homecoming Queen. The winner will be announced Wednesday in Leone Cole Auditorium at 9:30.

Shown above are several co-eds who were selected recently to serve as sponsors of the ROTC Department.

From My Point Of VIEW

By Jim Royal
Associate Editor

Noninvolvement

Although homecoming has come to be synonymous with gaiety, parades, and parties, it is also has a very heart warming message to many alumni who will travel great distances to renew old acquaintances and enjoy the festivities. To the football team, homecoming has a special meaning, and added emphasis will be placed on this game. No matter what the reason is, everybody should want to be involved in the homecoming activities.

To deny one's self of the satisfaction that always follows a successful homecoming is a great injustice. I know of the tests that sometime pop up when supposedly none were to be scheduled. I also know one can't quit studying completely just for homecoming, but to ignore the events taking place will leave an emptiness that never can be filled.

When a person receives the Mimosa, he or she will want to look at all the activities that took place, and if this person has participated, a special interest will follow. After graduation, one will try to recall the memories that were so precious during college days. Wouldn't it be a shame if there were no activities that he or she had been a part of? Could one honestly be pleased with his "noninvolvement?"

Homecoming is one activity that gives everybody a chance to "get in on the action." Whether a person enters a car, works on a float, builds a dorm display, or whatever, a rich reward is usually received from participating. Don't let four years of college life pass by without becoming involved in extra-curricular activities. The time to act is now! Go to it. Enjoy college for a change. One can't be sure that another chance will present itself.

Circle K Officers

Members who will serve as officers of the Circle K Club for the fall semester are as follows: Maynard Baker, president; Dan Penny, vice - president; John O'Brien, secretary; and Paul Lampru, treasurer. These officers plan to lead the Circle K to one of its best years on the JSU campus.

Over 60 High Schools Are Invited To SCOAG

By Bob Lawson

John Conder, first vice-chairman for this year's Student Conference on American Government, announced at the Oct. 8 meeting of student co-chairmen that over 120 high school students representing 60 different schools in the state will be invited to attend the fifth annual conference at Jax State. Also attending will be approximately 30 delegates that will be selected from the student body at JSU.

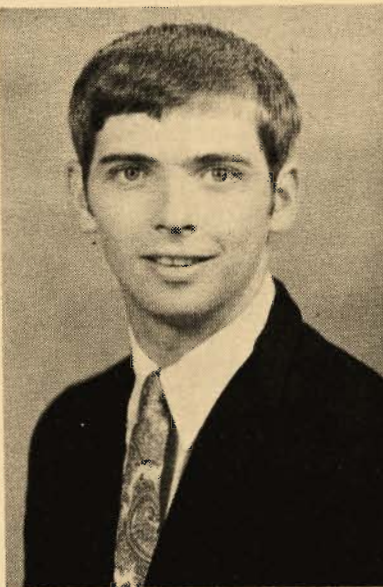

Much progress has been made thus far, and the proposed guest speakers have been contacted in the different fields of government to have them present at the February sessions.

Conder impressed upon all of his co-chairmen that importance of a sincere desire on the delegates' part in attending and actively supporting the conference with these words, "We do not want anyone who THINKS he or she would like to be a delegate. We want those individuals that KNOW they want to attend the conference."

Anyone that is interested in attending SCOAG from the campus should contact one of the following chairmen:

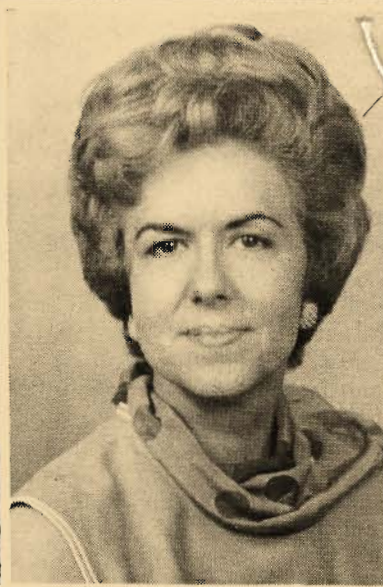

John Conder, first vice-chairman; Marty Murry, second vice - chairman; Tony Ballard, publicity chairman; Roger Killian, program chairman; Gary Davis, student coordinating chairman; Stan Cook, banquet chairman; or Bob Lawson, student procurement chairman.

Academic Freedom or, Guess Who's Coming To The Campus?

The academic year is in deed well underway now - - the issue of academic freedom has been voiced abroad in the land. Getting the most attention is the decision by Dr. Frank Rose, president of the University of Alabama, to refuse the use of university facilities to the Democratic Student Organization of that campus for a series of addresses by four spokesmen of the American left.

The four speakers involved, for those who might not have heard, are Eldridge Cleaver of the Black Panthers, Jerry Rubin of the Youth International Party, Herbert Apthaecker of the United States' Communist Party, and Tom Hayden of the Students for a Democratic Society.

The issue this time has taken a little different tack from the last go-around, when members of the Right were questioning the authority of the university to allow speakers of radical groups to appear on campus during a recent "emphasis" program at Alabama. The university won that one. No de jure authority to prohibit speakers was held to exist. This year, the issue is whether the university itself can for some reason choose to not allow speakers the use of campus facilities, or whether de facto limitations on speakers can be made.

Legally, it is not known who will win yet (this is written the 14th), but the papers have reported that the student group has announced plans to file suit against the university questioning the university's authority to ban the speakers. The question is a sticky one at best. It can be argued that whereas municipalities have the authority to restrict use of its facilities (as George Wallace has occasionally in this campaign run into), then likewise, the administrators of Alabama can likewise deny use of its facilities, at least under certain conditions, to certain speakers. Countering this, however, is the fact that almost any way you choose to look at it, the reason that they are being denied facilities is because of their political persuasion, and so this would seem to amount to a denial of their right to free speech. And so it goes. I leave that issue to the courts.

Ethically, Dr. Rose has my heart. The purposes of the Democratic Student Organization in desiring to present these speakers must be held suspect due to the avowed positions of the speakers involved. An atmosphere of sensationalism, rather than honest dissent, seems (and I'll leave my options open by using the word "seems") to motivate their invitations. The DSO, according to news reports, has a membership of all of 40 people. Whether or not the speakers will speak without a fee is doubtful, so where will the money come from? Charge admission? It probably wouldn't raise enough money, and that's a very poor way to promulgate one's position anyway. All of which again leads back to the idea that sensationalism, rather than honest dissent, is behind this. (And remember, I'm not now discussing legal rights, but ethical responsibilities.)

The stated reasons for presenting the speakers, according to Prof. Stephen M. Raphael, faculty sponsor of the group, is that "The speakers in question have interesting and perhaps provocative ideas on many of the major issues of our day. Certainly their positions . . . would be valuable contributions to the educational experience of our students and faculty--to say nothing of our administration." If "interesting" and "provocative ideas" were criteria, then why must they without exception be from the Left? Last year at Auburn's equivalent of our SCOAG, criticism was (justly, I feel) levelled against the planners because the speakers were all liberals of one degree or another. In an atmosphere of controversy, shouldn't an effort be made to present various positions? (Yes, for the Liberals here at Jax State who are asking, we should certainly have a wider spectrum of speakers here than we have had.) Not that we must have a one to one relationship among views represented, but let's avoid a four to nothing position as well.

And so my comments boil down to a dissatisfaction over the misuse of the phrase "academic freedom" in defense of a policy of one-sided presentation. Other points could be raised, but I wanted to close with an application locally. Whether or not "academic freedom" is involved or not is not the main concern, but some aspects of the recent speech by State Sen. Tom Radney are open to criticism. Foremost among them is a long-standing criticism of mine - - namely, that events on this campus are not publicized widely enough, and sometimes (as seems in this instance) not at all. I don't know where the blame should

Faculty Reading Is Termed Big Success

On Wednesday night, Oct. 16, the Roundhouse was the scene for one of the most impressive events that has taken place on campus this semester. The event was the Faculty Play Reading Group's presentation, "Trio Duet."

Mr. George Teague opened the program with his interpretation of Robert Benchley's "The Sunday Menace." Next, Dr. Pauline O'Brien presented "The Waltz," by Dorothy Parker. Dr. Charles Johnson then read a portion of James Weldon John-go here, but there were at least four ways to publicize this by those in charge of presenting him, none of which was used, and all of which should have been: (1) an announcement in the Chanticleer, (2) an an-board, (3) posters in all the buildings, and (4) announcement sheets to all teachers. Other issues have been raised, all of which are founded (to my knowledge) on hearsay. But I'll leave such issues to some enterprising letter writers closer to the situation than I am. If you're one with one of these gripes, air it and let it be confirmed or denied.

Finally, wouldn't it be nice if some groups or somebody would care enough to present more speakers than we now have? For an institution this size, our speaking program is woefully limited.

Jeffcos To Play Big HC Game

The Jeffco's of the intramural football league would like to announce their annual homecoming game this year to be played on Tuesday, Oct. 22. This game will feature all the activities of the big homecoming games with a queen and her court to be crowned at halftime. This year's queen will be Miss Diane East, her court will be first alternate Miss "Red" Garner and second alternate Miss Carol Ellis. These girls were selected from over 75 entries and the Jeffco players and coaching staff made the final selection.

The homecoming activities will be held at halftime of the big Jeffco game with The Gang. Officials of the homecoming committee told me that following the game a parade with the winning float will be on display at the White House next to the ROTC building.

The Jeffco's wished to announce the homecoming party at the White House beginning on Saturday morning and lasting until Saturday night. Game officials have informed me that only a few more select tickets remain for this event which will never be forgotten.

Lou Botta

ert Frost's well-known poem, "The Death of the Hired Man."

The second part of the program was a group reading of Truman Capote's "Among the Paths to Eden." Mr. Tom Malone read the part of the narrator, Mrs. Sylvia Malone read the part of Mary O'Meagan, and Dr. Lawrence Miles read the part of Mr. Belli. "Among the Paths to Eden" is the unusual and amusing story of a lonely woman's attempts to find a husband in - - of all places - - a New York City cemetery.

Considering the ability of the faculty members who participated in the reading and the selections which they presented, "Trio Duet" was without a doubt a most enjoyable reading for all of those who attended.

HC Corsages Are Offered

The Student Accounting Association of Jacksonville State University will offer corsages to the students, alumni, and guests of the university in conjunction with homecoming activities on Oct. 26.

Representatives of the SAA will visit each men's dormitory beginning today. SAA representatives will also be located in the Grab for the convenience of the commuters.

Corsages will be offered for $1.50 and a receipt will be issued to the buyer. Corsages are to be picked up at the Roundhouse entrance between 9 a. m. and 6 p. m. on Saturday, Oct. 26. Receipts must be presented for the corsage. Earlier pick up may be arranged with

Although the Writers' Club is almost an unknown organization on JSU's campus, it is the oldest organization of its kind in Alabama. It has been organized for almost twenty years.

Kemp's Field Goals Give Jax First Win

Jacksonville State University did the impossible here on the night of October 12, beating a Tennessee Martin team no one believed it could whip except the players and 200 loyal followers who made the long trek here and were rewarded by a stunning upset.

The final count read 16-12 for the Gamecocks as Danny Kemp, a non-scholarship freshman from Oxford, booted three crucial field goals to go with John Niblett's 32-yard TD catch from Doc Lett.

The game a real thriller, saw the Gamecocks come up with two sterling goal-line stands in the last three minutes, that would have made any coach proud.

Stars in the first Jax State victor of the year were numerous, including several freshmen. On defense, first-year men Ralph Murphy, Wayne Carroll, and Barney Nicholson teamed with linebackers Rickey Weems and Bruce Nichols, also freshmen, were the big difference, but they had plenty of help from ends Randy Hatfield and Charles Sandlin and defensive backs Lynn Swinford, Wayne Hornbuckle, and Bill Williamson in addition to soph tackle Jimmy Champion.

On offense, Lett engineered the Jax State Gamecocks in Vol territory six times in the second half, and got points on three of the trips, all from Kemp's big toe.

Bubba Long, with his usual brilliance, ripped off 108 yards against a defense which a lot of people said could not be penetrated on the ground. Some of the other key men were Herby Wientjes, who gained 40 yards in the second half while filling in for an injured Mike Little; Niblett and Mike Munhall caught three passes each for 55 and 50 yards respectively. The offensive line, including such as Tony Ingram, Johnny Newman, George Holcombe, Henry Hobbs, did a magnificent job. Star guard Allen Rhinehart was ejected early in the game on a questionable call by the officials.

Tennessee took advantage of a JSU gamble on the opening kickoff to set up their first touchdown as the kickoff, an offside attempt covered just seven yards, giving UTMB possession at the Gamecock 47. From there the Vols went driving to the JSU three where quarterback Allan Cox hit end Steve Allison on a TD strike with 11:49 left in the first period. The PAT attempt was no good.

The second Tennessee score also came as the result of a key break as the Vols set up shop at the JSU 43 following a short punt and two 15-yard penalties. From this point Cox and his home-team Vols scored in four plays with the final five coming on a pass from Cox to end Richard Whitfield. Again the PAT missed and the score read 12-0 with 6:48 left in the opening stanza.

The rest of the game belonged to JSU.

With eight seconds left in the first half, Swinford gathered in a Tennessee punt and returned it 60 yards to the UTMB 32-yard line. On the next play Lett dropped back and hit Niblett in the end zone with one second left and Kemp booted the margin to 12-7.

In the second half, the Jaxmen stayed in enemy territory the final 30 minutes, getting three field goals as a result. Jax lost out on three other drives when Long fumbled at the one and UTMB picked off two Lett passes.

Kemp cut the lead to 12-10 with 12:34 left in the third period when he booted a 35-yard field goal and then put the Jaxmen on top with kicks of 29 and 40 yards in the final period.

Parachuters?

If there is anyone interested in joining a Sports Parachuting Club, then they're in luck. A parachuting club is now being formed on the Jacksonville State University campus.

For more information on the club, potential parachuters can contact Zion Greenfield in Room 125 Dixon Hall.

If you're interested in joining the club, but hesitate because you've had no experience, don't hesitate . . . come ahead.

Mr. Greenfield extends especially an invitation to those who have a United

IM Fate

By Lou Botta

In the first three weeks of action in intramural football there has been an unusual number of serious injuries and this matter has greatly disturbed Coach Horace Stevenson the Director of the Intramural Program. Two players last week required hospital attention, and with this in mind Coach Stevenson put up posters calling for a meeting of all managers and officials to determine whether or not IM football was to continue.

Not since the All-Star game three years ago has Coach "Steve", considered doing away with IM Football. In that particular game, members of both teams came to the game drunk, looking for a chance to settle old misunderstandings created in their regular season. The game got completely out of hand in the final minutes of the game with numerous fights breaking out on the field. After order was restored, similar disturbances forced the game officials to call off the game and declare a tie.

A meeting was held on October 10, 1968, with all the managers and officials supposed to be there, but nothing conclusive was decided. Representation at this important meeting was disgraceful as only seven of the twelve teams were representative and only a handful of officials attended.

Several measures were discussed and some of these measures were adopted, trying to cut down on the number of injuries. The first new rule which was adopted was that the stiff-arm was outlawed, however, no measure was adopted whereby the officials were in-powered to enforce this new rule. Secondly, it was decided that all fumbled balls would become dead balls. Finally, it was resolved that all backs and ends must wear longer flags than those worn by the linemen. If the backs and ends did not comply with this regulation they could be expelled from the game by the officials.

Sports Parachuting Clubs are springing up all over the country, and its organization at Jax State would certainly help broaden the sports program on our campus.

These measures seem to be a step in the right direction, but still the people to whom this meeting was directed, the intramural officials, the ones in complete charge of the games, failed to show up.

The main reason for most serious injuries in intramural football is the ineffectiveness of the officials. They are cursed, yelled at, forced to make decisions only after advice from both sides, and often once the decision is made it will be over-ruled by another official. The purpose of all this yelling at the official is to confuse him. The official is to confuse him into making a decision which might effect the complexion of the entire game. Most of the officials are ill-trained and as one player summed the situation up, "some of the officials must be immigrants, because they don't know what football is, let alone know the rules."

Action should be taken whereby the officials should be able to be in complete charge of the game from the toss of the coin to the final play. The officials should have the power to give fifteen yard penalties for roughness and if necessary remove any player whom they deem unfit to play intramural football. They should have the power to impose penalties on teams when they constantly confused the officials by sending eight or nine men shouting what penalty needs to be imposed. And most important the officials should have a good foundation into the rules of football or basketball or softball. The officials should be able to work together and help each other out and maybe then so many people wouldn't get hurt.

Big Bubba Long, Oneonta tailback, finds the going rough. Bubba rushed for 107 yards against a tough UTMB defense in Jacksonville's 16-12 upset over the Vols.

With The Greeks --

By Kaye and Fave Thompson

After a successful blanket party Friday night, and a post - game get - to - gether Saturday, Omega Kappa is finalizing its plans for the homecoming festivities. The pledges have designed a unique yard display and hopes are high that it will be a winner.

The Kappas are anxiously awaiting the big game, and the party Saturday evening which will top - off the weeks' activities.

The pledge class has recently elected officers, and they are as follows: Tom Wright, president; Sam Chitwood, vice - president; Barry McDaniel, secretary - treasure; Steve Greenleaf, sergeant-at-arms.

What a precedent was set by the Alpha Xi Delta - Delta Chi pledge swap last Wednesday night! It was a real rouser on which to model future pledge swaps. The Delta Chi's as a group picked up the Fuzzies at Weatherly and took them to the Xi House where the welcome mat was out. The get - to - gether was held so that the pledges of the two groups could get acquainted.

Dancing and card games were part of the entertainment, but the roof - raising bit came when the groups sang to each other. The Fuzzies, led by Carol Jean Smith, Claudette Smith, and Phyllis Melhorn, blared out Axi songs, while the DX pledges, under the excellent leadership of Otto Fox, voiced their praises with their "Film Flam" cry. Axi and Dx joined forces at the close of the party and held an impromptu pep rally in front of the athletic dorm. Those Greeks proved their Gamecock spirit by their great yelling.

Speaking of spirit, Axi pledges are selling JSU "spirit buttons" for only a dime. Buy one and support your fighting Gamecocks!

Axi has begun work on its float for the homecoming competition. From Delta Chi comes the same report.

Delta Chi's party after the Troy game was really tuff. It will not soon be forgotten . . .

The living room of the Xi house is sporting a new item - a huge painting of the Delta Chi crest. It was painted by Axi Carol Watson.

The Alpha Tau Omega members are really do - or - die for dear ole ATO. Jerry Cantrell proved this while playing football for the Tau's last week. He ended up in Anniston Memorial Hospital with a broken nose. We'd like to wish Jerry a speedy recovery. Sorry the effort was in vain. (ATO lost).

****

At press time Delta Chi was still undefeated in intramural football.

Several members of ATO opened a party held by their ATO brothers at Birmingham Southern two weeks ago. IT WAS A REAL BLAST.

Plans are being made for another big blow - out at the Downtowner Inn in Anniston this coming Friday night. The Tau's hope that this one will be as good as the last one. ATO is becoming well known for their fun parties.

ATO's skit at the pep rally last week was original and really cute. So was XI's.

****

Alpha Tau Omega is proud of its 1968 homecoming candidate, Miss Gloria Connell, a senior from Sylacauga. Gloria has served as a cheerleader for three years, two of which she has been head. She is presently secretary of the senior class.

Homecoming weekend will be a busy time for the ATO's. Besides supporting the great Gamecocks the Taus will be having a good time at their VICTORY parties.

The ATO's are looking forward to entertaining a group of brothers from the ATO chapter at Newberry during the homecoming festivities.

"Midnight Special"

Listen my children, and you shall recall of the midnight journey of Weatherly Hall. With screeching of whistles, much to our dismay, Grabbing raincoats and towels, we soon were away.

In minutes the dorm stood vacant and bare;
Cold, shivering girls with rollers in hair.
Some were displeased, some got a thrill,
All over Weather's midnight fire drill.

Mrs. Mildred Roundtree, director of Weatherly Hall, poses with a few of her 300 girls at an Oct. 10 surprise birthday party. A dozen red roses, two birthday cakes, and a 300-voice chorus of "Happy Birthday" all go into saying how much Weatherly girls appreciate their Mom.

With four team waiting in the wings for Delta Chi to fall, the Cougars and the GBU's took time out from their attempts to catch Delta Chi and played one of the greatest games in the history of JSU intramurals. No less than five records were set, if records were kept on intramural games, but for the handful of fans who saw these two fine defensive teams struggle last week they will never forget the effort of both teams.

The GBU's, coming off a tough 13-6 loss to the Jeffco's, tripped the almost invincible Cougars by the score of 21-14. The game featured exciting touchdown runs, passes, a freak touchdown, a safety, and last but not least a field goal.

With the score tied 6-6 and playing midway in the third quarter, the GBU's were driving for what seemed the tiebreaking score. But, their drive was stopped by the hard charging Cougar line, and on fourth down and 19 yards to go for a first down, Bobby Rhinehart of the GBU's lined up for his fourth field goal attempt of the day. The other three had been blocked as had an attempted field goal by Jim Hart of the Cougars. But with the ball on about the 28 yard line Rhinehart lined up for what seemed to be a 45 yard attempt. The ball was snapped, both lines charged in opposite directions, but the ball sailed true through the cross-bars for a field goal and the GBU's led 9-6. From here the action got torrid.

Unable to move the ball, the Cougars punted and once again the GBU's were on the move until they had first down on the five yard line of the Cougars.

A running play lost 10 yards and on the next two plays the GBU's were penalized back to a fourth and goal on the 19 yard stripe. Here the hand of fate once again came to rest on the GBU's as one of the Cougars was guilty of roughing the kicker and the GBU's had an automatic first down. On the first play from scrimmage, the quarterback hit spread end Marc Calton with a quick pass over the middle and Marc ambled for the score. The point after touchdown was missed and the GBU's led 15-6.

The following kickoff saw one of the most unusual plays in football happen. The safety man for the Cougars let the ball roll around in the end zone thinking it was a dead ball, but instead of getting the ball on the 20 yard line it was downed by Bill Gilliland of the GBU's, and the official signaled touchdown for the GBU's.

The Cougars came fighting back using trickery on the next kickoff to get back in the ballgame. Rick Lampkin received the kickoff and threw a lateral pass to Ronnie Morton, who although his flag had been pulled, raced 60 yards for a touchdown. The GBU's protested but the official on the spot said that the flag was pulled before Morton had gained full possession of the ball, so that score counted.

With less than two minutes remaining in the game the Cougars trapped the GBU's quarterback in the end zone for a safety, and on the free kick drove deep into GBU territory before four passes fell in the end zone thus breaking their winning streak.

Standouts for the GBU's were Brice Rumsey, Gene Vinson, Bobby Rhinehart team. For the Cougars Johnny Glass, Danny Short, Rex Shannon and Bob Rast were standouts in a losing cause.

Records set besides the field goal were: Most field goals tried in one ballgame, 5; most field goals tried in one half, 4; and most field goals blocked in one half, 4.
