Students Before SGA Question Resolution

A group of about a half dozen students appeared before the Student Government Association at its Nov. 3 senate meeting to question the Veteran's Day Resolution.

In particular, they questioned Steve Gurley, SGA president, as to who wrote the resolution, and his interpretation of a section of the resolution.

Gurley originally presented the resolution at the senate meeting on Oct. 27 in hopes it would be used as an official SGA statement in support of Veteran's Day.

The resolution passed unanimously, and copies were circulated around campus just prior to the holiday last Tuesday.

The section of the resolution was the last line which said, in part, "let us have praise rather than condemnation . . ."

According to the group's spokesman, Dave Smith, the line could imply that views dissimilar to those expressed in the resolution were to be considered as a condemnation of the country.

Gurley replied that "some people do condemn the country." Smith asked the name of the person who wrote the resolution.

"I'd rather not say," replied Gurley.

"Don't you feel the students have a right to know?" asked Smith.

Randy Knox, a senate member, asked Smith.

Egg-Eating Birthday Planned

The JSU Spirit Committee has planned a birthday party for the university.

The occasion is the third anniversary of Jacksonville State as a University on Thursday, Nov. 20.

An egg-eating contest with a "Cool Hand Luke" title going to the winner is scheduled.

A 50¢ entree fee is required, and all organizations submitting entrees must do so to the SGA office by 2:30 p.m. Wednesday, Nov. 19.

U.S. Flags Given Out; Assembly Is Cancelled

By Ken Jones

A group of students who took part in the October Moratorium observance canceled plans to hold an assembly last Thursday, while a second group of students, primarily fraternity representatives, passed out almost 3,000 American flags.

Both movements were originally reactions to the national moratorium observance, but members of the groups were careful in their choice of words to describe what and why they were forming.

This followed Dean Theron Montgomery's emphasis on disassociating the word moratorium with the University's granting permission to use the Student Commons Auditorium.

Thus a group calling themselves "concerned students" scratched out the word "moratorium" on their request slip for the auditorium, and wrote instead "assembly."

A number of this group, however, continued to wear the blue lapel buttons supporting the two-day moratorium. Several people wore flags in addition to the button.

Tony Ballard, senior class president and one of the individuals who handed out flags, said that his handing out the flags was not an "anti-moratorium movement . . . it's a support America movement."

"We're not against what these guys are for," he added, "we're just for what we believe in."

Ballard explained that $60 had been collected to purchase 3,000 small American lapel flags. The group involved in planning this consisted of representatives from a number of campus organizations as well as fraternities and sororities.

Ballard, a member of Circle K, noted that the people were acting as individuals and this was not a group movement by the Greeks or the clubs.

Ronny Robinette, also a senior and member of Circle K, said that he was passing out flags because "I just felt that it was something I would like to do . . . we need to stand up for what we believe in."

In regard to the group that at that time was still planning their formal assembly, Robinette agreed with "their right to express their opinions." But (See FLAGS, Page 4)

SGA President Steve Gurley has been selected the Outstanding Senior ROTC Cadet in Alabama for 1969.

Russell Greenhalgh, president of Alpha Tau Omega, was one of a large number of students who handed out American flags on campus last Thursday. Approximately 3,000 of the small lapel flags were passed out.

Keep Alert

At the last SGA meeting, the treasurer read her report stating that some $9,000 was in the treasury and no checks had been written during the past week. This was the correct figure for what was actually on deposit in the bank. Unfortunately, the figure was approximately $6,000 different than the statement read the week before. The treasurer had made a bookkeeping error which has since been corrected.

Our purpose here is not to admonish the treasurer for the error, but to question the SGA Senate. No one at the meeting asked why, if no checks had been written, the present balance was different from the one of the week before. Earlier in the semester, Steve Gurley, SGA president, warned the senate "you're fooling around with OPM--that's Other People's Money." This warning should be applied not only to consideration of requests for senate funds, but in keeping alert to records and reports.

Apathy

An editorial on apathy was to be written for this space in the paper this week. The more the subject was considered, however, the less important it really seemed to be. Why write an editorial on apathy when nobody who is really apathetic will bother to read it anyway?

Besides, it's a tired subject.

People who do care don't like to be told that they don't care, because it isn't true, and people who don't care hate to be bothered by those people who care and are continually fussing at people who don't care, since people who don't care really don't care, except about being bothered for not caring, so it's all really pretty hopeless, right?

Besides, who cares anyway?

Letters To The Editor

Tennis

Dear Editor:

This letter is of concern to we Jacksonville students who are unable to journey home during one - day holidays.

This past Tuesday, Nov. 11, was Veteran's Day, and we were only too grateful to be able to express our appreciation to the defenders of America's freedom, both past and present.

We would like to thank the Jacksonville administration for dismissing classes because we, as well as many other students, were able to use our time for studying, relaxing, and exercising.

Personally, we like to get our exercise by playing tennis. This we did, but it wasn't easy.

The school tennis courts were closed so we climbed over the fence because the gate was locked, and joined a multitude of students and faculty members who were already playing.

Not only did we have to wait to get a court on which to play but while we were at the tennis courts, three observations were made.

1. We personally counted 12 people waiting to play tennis during the time we were there.

2. People were constantly walking up to and away from the closed doors of our Student Commons Building.

3. During the afternoon, an intramural football game was played near the tennis courts.

Students are paid to officiate at intramural games and indeed, there were student officials at that game. We can see no reason why students facilities are closed when there are still numerous amounts of students on campus.

In the future, we would appreciate these before mentioned student facilities open to general campus use.

We realize that the mass of Jacksonville students still run home to mommy and daddy every chance they get, but for those of us who stay in Jacksonville, please keep our student facilities open.

Ken Dave and Bill Goldman

City Thanks

Steve Gurley
SGA President
Dear Steve:

As mayor of Jacksonville, I would like to express to you and the other students our thanks for the fine homecoming activities that were conducted on the campus last week - end,

There were more people in town for this homecoming than any previous homecoming. The floats and displays were the best ever and the behavior of the students was much improved over last year. To my knowledge we had no unpleasant experiences as far as the city was concerned.

Please express my appreciation to your organization, to the student body and to the homecoming committee.

Sincerely,
John B. Nisbet, Jr.

Dear Editor:

On behalf of The Alabama Federation of the Blind I express my sincerest appreciation to the Zeta Tau Alpha and members of the student body

By scrutinous observation of the wooden benches adjacent to the great edifice where he resides, this sage has deduced that time is best made after dark.

Another great deduction of his formulation is that, notwithstanding the variety and quality of automobiles in the great lot before Bibb Graves Hall, the sales rate is too low to produce a profit.

Finely rounded observation also is that the tower in which he resides is now several hundred pounds (avoirdupois) heavier than when he first became patriarch - in residence, this condition accruing from the collection of certain by - products of noble living.

What Are Your Thoughts On The The New Library?

Johnny Miller, senior, Tarrant. "I feel that the new library will be a great asset to the students and the campus. I think it should have classrooms for instructional media classes, maybe some film rooms. Maybe certain rooms could have soft music piped in."

Marla Johnson, freshman, Jacksonville. "The only thing that amazes me is that I can't imagine it being that tall. I've had trouble finding old periodicals; they need to have more of the older periodicals, maybe more storage space for them."

Sue Reaves, sophomore, Weaver. "First of all I think it's a great advancement for the school. The instructional media center should be enlarged. Students should be made better aware of the library. And it should be open on Saturday and Sunday afternoons."

Truman Abbott, senior, Bessemer. "I think maybe the new library will solve some of the problems that we have in the old library, such as inconvenient space, and quieter facilities for study. I think it will be better for the students, with more books."

Joe Patton, senior, Boaz. "I think that they're making significant improvements, such as ordering more primary materials particularly in preparation for implementation or expansion of the graduate program. I'd like to see the mechanization of the card catalogue system, a supplementary list of subject areas to facilitate research or parallel reading in subject matter. They're going to the Library of Congress system of classification and that will be a significant improvement in itself."

Circle K Explained By Group's Member

By Tony Ballard

Just what is Circle K? Circle K is the largest national college organization in existence with over 500 chapters and over 15,000 members throughout the United States and Canada.

Circle K is not just a social club, but a service organization for college men operating on the campus and is similar to Kiwanis.

Circle K is an opportunity for college men because it provides a means for a type of leadership. Circle K serves the student, the college, and the community.

Here at JSU the Circle K has been on campus for over eight years. Circle K has had both social and service projects. Circle K has sponsored Otis Redding in 1967 and the Platters in 1968. The list of service projects is long.

Circle K has helped with the Christmas party for the children whose fathers are in Vietnam, raised money for the Cancer Fund, holds an annual Easter party for the Children's Home in Talladega, clean-up for the city and for the Nursing Home. Again, these and new projects will be carried out by the club.

The sweetheart for the month of October is Miss Sharon McClellen and for November is Miss Linda Jones. These two girls are the first of Circle K's Kettes. More girls will be asked to join during the year. Circle K offers many opportunities to college men, who are willing to work. Anyone wishing to join may come by room 119 BGH at 6:45 p.m. Wednesday night, Nov. 12.

ley at the conclusion of the National Veterans Day parade held last Tuesday in Birmingham.

The Alabama Chapter of the Reserve Officers Association of the United States made the selection after consideration of the top ROTC cadets in the colleges throughout Alabama.

A senior, Gurley is brigade commander at Jax State, and holds the rank of cadet colonel.

SGA

(Continued from Page 1) member, interrupted Smith at this point and stated that "if you don't like it, throw it away."

Smith answered, "we should discuss this like gentlemen."

"This resolution doesn't say we're for the war," said Tom Downing, another senate member. "It just says we're honoring people who died in it."

Returning to the question of the resolution's source, Smith asked if the University administration had written the draft.

(A number of senate members questioned by the Chanticleer shortly after the resolution was passed felt that the administration may have written it.)

Gurley replied that "no one in the administration wrote it."

He added, "what does it matter who wrote it?"

"I think if it was adopted by the student government," said Smith, "it should be written by it."

In backing up a statement that "we'll circulate what our group agrees to, you circulate what your group agrees to," Gurley also noted that it was "entirely your business what you put out."

"If you're insinuating that we're afraid," said Smith, "we've already talked to Dean Montgomery."

Representative Don Sims "respectfully requested" that the senate move on to other new business.

Sam Spuriell, junior class president, brought up a point of order that a different topic had been under discussion when the resolution was brought up.

The discussion then returned to a senator who had suggested raising parking fines to discourage students from parking in faculty spaces in front of Bibb Graves.

In other business, Claudette Smith asked that the senate investigate the rationing of toilet tissue in the girls' dorms.

Miriam Jackson, Dean of Women, noted that "the end is in sight," that the rationing was created when excessive use of the new, finer quality toilet tissue exhausted the supply on hand.

Zion Greenfield requested permission to solicit his monogramming service on campus, in accordance with requirements in the SGA constitution. The senate granted him permission.

The topic of soliciting on campus brought up a complaint against the numerous insurance agents who call on students in the dorms.

President Gurley acknowledged the requirement in the constitution that such agents are first re-he added, "I think these people don't know what they're doing."

"They're trying to use this (referring to the national moratorium) to say what they think is wrong with our university," he went on, "and if they're doing this, they're going about it in entirely the wrong manner."

He added, "I believe in America and what it stands for . . . therefore, if these people want a moratorium, I am going to go down and pass out flags for my country."

It was the possibility of this type of situation that organizers of the assembly felt might lead to a strict emotional confrontation and thus destroy the value their assembly might have.

In a brief, handwritten statement given the Chanticleer Wednesday night, David Smith said that "in order to support the true American ideal of Democracy, the assembly to discuss the war in Vietnam (is) called off . . . by the students who organized the assembly."

He then listed five reasons for the move saying that it was "in the best interest of the University and the community." There was the strong possibility of "conflict with radical students who are opposed to the assembly."

"The failure of all students approached," he went on, "to support publicly their views supporting the Nixon administration's stand on the war," created the problem of getting speakers for the assembly.

One of the students asked to speak at the assembly was SGA President Steve Gurley.

Gurley at first agreed to speak so long as the assembly was not in the form of a debate. He later decided not to take part in the program at all claiming a lack of organization in planning.

Smith also pointed out that "the professors who were asked to speak declined for various reasons."

In regard to the national moratorium, Smith said "Any violence on the national level might reflect a bad image on our University."

Late Wednesday night, however, the group agreed to hold an informal assembly in McCluer Chapel. Approximately 25 people attended the discussion, required to obtain permission from the SGA. A violation of this regulation, it was later learned, can lead to an arrest by campus police.

A girl dorm resident requested some type of shower curtains be installed in

Coed Shares Experience Of Her Mission Work

(Mary Alice Graves, a senior from Fort Payne, spent two weeks this summer working for missions in San Francisco, San Pablo, Albany, and Hayward, Calif. She was under the appointment of the Alabama Baptist Student Convention. Mary recently agreed to an interview with the Chanticleer to share some of her experiences with the student body.)

CHANTICLEER: Mary, what were the qualifications for working with the Summer Missions of the Student Convention and what type of position did you hold?

MARY: To be appointed, a person must have completed at least 64 college or university hours and have permission to return to his respective school.

A person must have an interview with the Presidents of the College Baptist Student Union Organizations in Alabama. In the missions field, a person is considered a missionary and the position varies according to situations.

CHANTICLEER: What are some of the highlights of your experiences?

MARY: Man oh man-- would you like a book for an answer?

Seriously, every day was a highlight, but these highlights really came with the people with whom I worked around.

I shall never forget Tommy; a boy we worked with during the first week who was on drugs. We were never ever to help Tommy to see the merits of our "high" Jesus Christ.

Then there was Roger, an international student at the University of California at Berkley who was searching for something but did not realize what it was. We could not give him correct answers to his questions for his questions seemed so fake.

Debbie was one person with whom we helped to discover the dynamic joy of having Christ as Lord of her life.

We worked with several other people this summer whose search for happiness ended through a discovery of Christ's love. It was really great.

CHANTICLEER: In what ways can you relate your summer missionary experiences to the campus of JSU.

MARY: I think that my experiences in California helped me to relate more to people. I am now able to understand the problems of people to a greater extent.

Since everyone has things bothering him, it helps to find a person willing to listen to your problems without condemning or trying to give all the answers. I think that I am better equipped to contribute to the entire campus life.

Cagers Open Season Nov. 25

Jacksonville State University opens its 1969-70 basketball season Tuesday night, Nov. 25, in Rome, Ga., against the Berry College Vikings.

The Gamecocks of Coach Tom Roberson lost twice last season to the Vikings, but only once the remainder of the year as the Jaxmen turned in the finest record (19 - 3) in the modern history. Along the way, the Gamecocks captured their 4th straight Alabama Collegiate Conference Championship. No ACC team has ever accomplished this feat.

First home game for the Jaxmen is slated for Saturday night, Nov. 29, against Huntington College of Montgomery.

"We have little hope of replacing Buddy Cornelius, Gary Angel, and Bill Brantley, but we should have a representative team," Roberson said recently before heading for a Jax State workout.

"We have five seniors who have played on three championship teams and if they give us the leadership Buddy, Gary, and Bill gave us last year, we will do alright. There are an awful lot of questions to be answered. It's just hard to tell without actual game testing."

A few of the spots Roberson will have to fill are the two guard posts, plus help for Ken Rathbun, senior from Albertville, under the boards. David Mull, senior from Albertville, under the boards. David Mull, senior from Sylacauga, will battle Rathbun for the starting nod at center and is an excellent rebounder.

At forward, David Robinson (6 - 5) and Jerry James (6-7) return while help will come from junior college transfer Wendall Lawson (6 - 5) and Jeff Angel (6-5), a freshman.

Wayne Wigley, a senior, and Bobby Terrell, also a senior, will probably replace Brantley and Angel at guard while Billy Almon, freshman from Anniston, is pushing hard for playing time.

All home games will start at 7:30 p.m.

Cougars Are Champs Again

By Mickey Campbell

The powerful Cougars have made it two straight as they edged the Jeffcos 7 to 3 in the intramural football championship.

The defending champion Cougars made it to the championship by virtue of a 28 to 13 playoff victory over the Delta Chi while the Jeffcos won their championship berth as a result of a hard fought 17 to 10 win over the protesting GBU.

After a scoreless first half, the Cougars opened the scoring with a fantastic 55 yard pass to touchdown seeking Howard Webster.

Ronnie Morton added the extra point and the score was 7 to 0. Later in the third period, the Jeffcos hit pay dirt with a 30 yard Jim Cooper field goal. The Cougars penetrated deep into Jeffco territory on several occasions but the pesky Jeffco defense was able to contain them.

With two minutes remaining in the game, the Jeffcos broke for a long touchdown which went for naught due to a Jeffco off-sides penalty. The Cougars were able to intercept three Jeffco aeri- als as the Jeffcos were on the receiving end of two Cougar tosses.

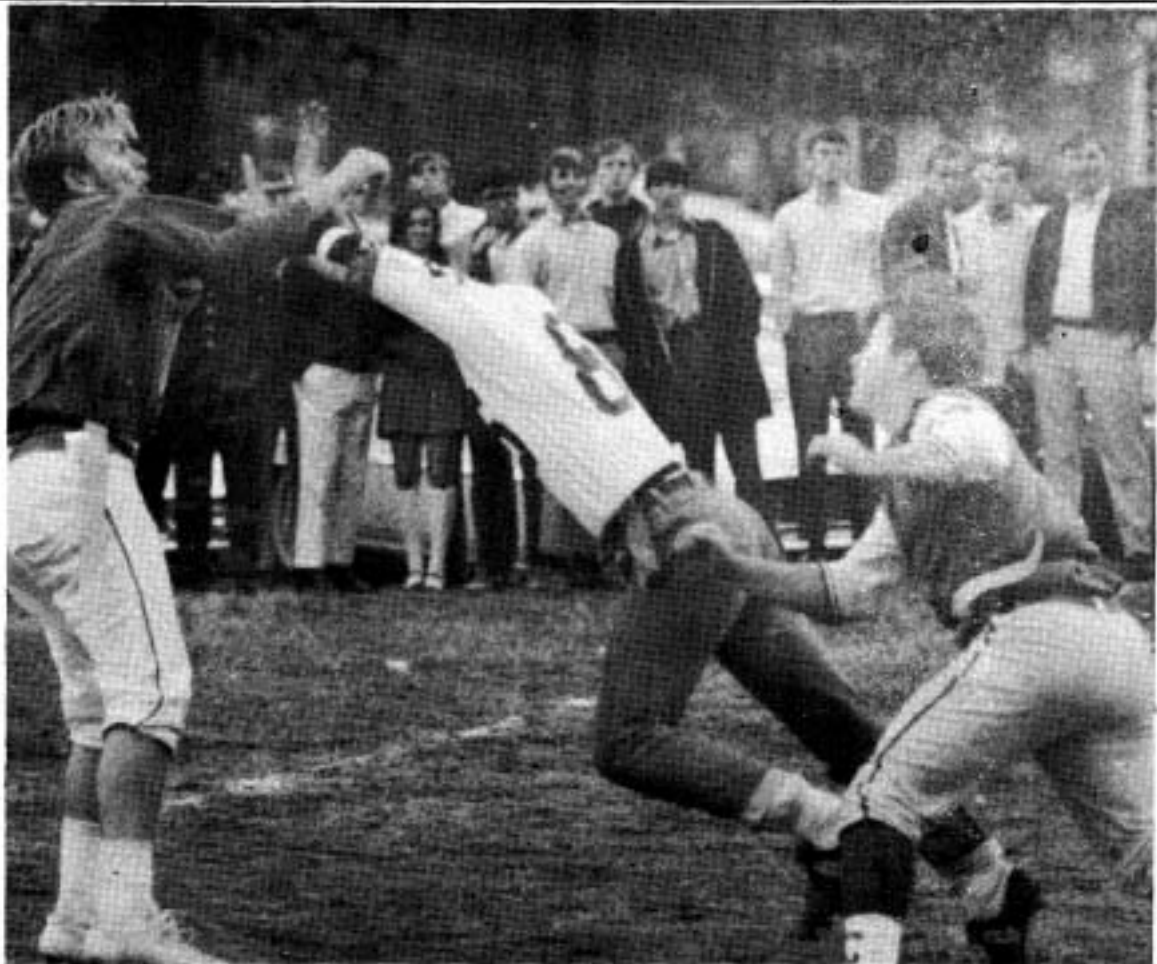

All in all, the championship game typified the hard fought intramural season which has proved to be the toughest ever. Congratulations are in order for the tough champion Cougars and the skillful runner-up Jeffcos.

Jaxmen Keep Record Alive

The Jacksonville State University Gamecocks exploded for three touchdowns in less than six minutes of the second quarter on homecoming night and that was more than enough for their third win of the season and 24th consecutive homecoming contest without a defeat.

The explosion netted Coach Pell's Jaxmen 21 points in a come from behind 21 - 13 victory over the visitors from Delta State that looked as if they might make the game a runaway during the first few minutes.

After the Senators scored on a first stanza punt return, JSU's defense --led by such as David Radford, Sam Johnson, Gary Godfrey and Jimmy Morrison - - shut the door, allowing the Statesmen a net rushing offense of only six yards. Delta State didn't score again until late in the final period.

Delta State took the opening kickoff and behind the passing of quarterback Randall Bradberry, drove all the way to the JSU two yard stripe. Jax State's defense rose to the oc-

Shepherd Leads Jax

Jim Shepherd, an elementary education major, is the leading cross country runner at Jacksonville State University. "Jersey" hails from Bellmaur, N. J.

Last year he placed 13th in New Jersey's Cross Country Championship and in track he was fifth best in the state in the mile run. He has been clocked in the mile at 4 minutes and 28 seconds; has run a 9:57 two-mile; and has recorded two minutes flat in the half mile.

"Jersey" placed ninth out of 49 runners in the Alabama Colleges Cross Country Championship which included the University of Alabama, Auburn, Livingston, Troy, University of South Alabama, and Alabama State. Coach Daniels feels he will challenge the best this spring in the mile and two-mile runs.

JSU Rifle Team Splits

By Linda Day

The Gamecock Rifle Team split a tough double-header Nov. 1 against Spring Hill and Florence State on Spring Hill's home grounds in Mobile. The Gamecocks administered Spring Hill its second defeat of the season topping them by 17 points while Florence State nipped JSU by only 4 points to even up the Jax rifle team's record at two wins and two losses.

The growing strength of the Gamecock riflemen was reflected in two extraordinary performances. The first came as a woman shooter, Jacki Benefield outfired all 20 competitors of four teams in the very first stage of the match and recorded the top score of 96 out of possible 100.

The second came as Sandy Berry captured the top scoring position of the four teams with an aggregate score of 252 of a possible 300 - - the highest score posted by a JSU firer this year.

Both Spring Hill and Florence were surprised as JSU fielded two full teams a "Gold" first string team and a "Blue" novice team shooting scores close behind the first lineup. The Gold team was led by Berry's 252 and all other members grouped close together as George Frankl fired 229, Terry Thames 224, Rick Gray 220 and Dan Watson 205. casion, however, and took possession of the pigskin on downs.

After Bubba Long was able to gain only four yards in three carries, Preston Newman stepped back into the end zone and boomed a 51 - yard punt that was caught by Delta's Bobby Mitchener on his own 45. Bobby ran laterally, picked up some key blocks and raced down the sideline 55 yards. Ernie Wells' PAT was good and the score was 7 - 0 with 8:45 left in the first stanza.

The score remained that way for the next 10 minutes as the two teams treated the 10,000 plus crowd to a defensive showing.

The Jaxmen took over on their own 42 just before the first quarter ended. From that point they moved 58 yards in 12 plays for their first touchdown of the evening. The key play came on third down at the State 32. Doc Lett, JSU's soph quarterback, made a fake to Bubba Long that would have defied Houdini, and half of the State defense went after Long.

Lett then bootlegged the ball around left end for 28 yards to the Delta four yard line. Four plays later Mike Little knifed in for the TD and Danny Kemp tied it up at 7 apiece.

The clock showed 10:30 left in the half. Less than a minute passed until the Jaxmen went ahead for good.

Radford, a 6 - 1, 210 pound frosh, from Cadiz, Ky., scooped up a State fumble and went 40 yards with the pigskin for the go - ahead touchdown. Kemp made it 14 - 7 with 9:32 left.

Five minutes later, JSU had a 21 - 7 lead. Following a Delta punt to the Jax 29, JSU began a 71 yard drive that took eight plays to reach pay dirt. A Lett to Munhall pass was good for 28 yards to the visitor's 42. Five plays later Lett hit Jackie Clark with a screen pass and the Athens, Tenn., freshman scampered 25 yards through the Delta secondary for six points. Again Kemp converted for the 21st JSU point with 4:51 remaining in the half.

It wasn't until the fourth quarter that Delta was to get their final score. Bradberry threw the Statesmen to the three of Jacksonville and Steve Bailey went in to score from the one. The Statesmen two-point conversion attempt was no good, and it was all over but the shouting. Final score: Jax, 21; Delta State, 13.

JSU's blue team was led by Jacki Benefield's 199 and matched by Regina Pruitt's identical score of 199. Paul Barney fired 184, Steve Robertson 182 and Linda Day 180. The Blue team's aggregate 764 did not threaten any of the first string team scores but it gives JSU formidable depth of seasoned shooters whose match jitters are flushed out and who can quickly replace first liners in the highly disciplined sport.

JSU's team is presently coached by Sgt. First Class James Keeton and advised by Lt. Col. Robert Byrom. The team has a return match scheduled with Florence Nov. 22.

Most of the fun of Homecoming is on the night before. This is when all of the girls stuff tissue into chicken wire while their dates gather round the fires to keep warm. Miss Modine Grunt appeared in the parade on behalf of University Apartments. No comment on the bird dog.
