Six to vie for SGA top spot

TIPTON: "Steeped in student gov't"

"I have some good ideas to help SGA, and by helping the SGA to help the school. Up until now the SGA has been a pseudo governmental body. It's been a quote 'farce.' A lot of people get in and say, 'look at me, I'm in SGA.'"

"I think now with the times changing (Dr. Stone, two men in the government for the SGA to stop being a quote 'farce')."

Leland Tipton, graduate of Amston High School, gave these reasons for running for SGA president. Tipton who feels himself well steeped in student government has a long list of past accomplishments to back him. They include: State Youth Legislature, Student Council (AIS), class officer, chairman of the American Chemical Society.

MARTIN: "Reasonable Choice"

I am a graduate of Bessemer High School, Bessemer, Alabama, where I served on the School Student Government Association for three consecutive years, holding the office of parliamentarian my sophomore year and vice-president of the senior class my senior year. I was an officer in the Key Club, and vice president of the "Got Club." I was involved in many activities such as varsity football, basketball, and track with a letter in all three. My interest in school activities continued into college when I was elected president of the Freshman Class, here at Jacksonville. As president of the Freshman Class, I headed many committees such as the Cancer Drive, which collected the most money ever collected at that time. The freshman float, which is my knowledge was the first ever to reach a parade, placed second in all the competition. As you can

ROYAL: "Full Time"

"I think I better represent the majority of the students and am in line with what the students want. I'm willing to go to bat for the students."

Finis Royal made these statements when confronted with why he is a candidate for president of SGA. A political science major, Royal is a graduate of older High School, a former member of SCOAG, has worked

ROLAND: "No promises"

Unfortunately, promises made during a campaign of any type have a tendency to get lost during terms in office. Continuents, administrators, and priorities change. Therefore, I cannot limit myself to a specified platform which would probably have to be changed a dozen times in the course of a year. The issues now could conceivably change without much notice and all candidates should consider

GRAY: "Student Power"

Hans Dieter Gray is a senior from Rainbow City, Alabama. He is also a candidate for the SGA Presidency. The tall and mustached history major and geography minor states that he is "running on a student power platform." His purpose: "to give the students more say in what goes on in the university."

Gray outlined his "student power" platform in six statements. First, there has been no action on the ROTC question. "If nothing happens, says Gray, "I will sponsor a boycott of all ROTC drills." Second, the last set of Disable women were "completely and totally undesirable." Gray went on to advocate "equalization of rules for men and women." Third, Gray pointed out the need for "free speech on campus." Anybody the students choose to speak should be FRAZIER: "I have a working knowledge of the administrative process and those administrators responsible for the policy - making decisions for this university. I believe as Thomas Jefferson said, in revolution by the ballot, if we utilize the ballot in determining actual student opinion and add the basic facts of the issue through research, we can realize the necessary changes that need to be made, where marching and making demands have less influence. I believe that I have the necessary finesse to impress and persuade

Toledo, Frazier stump for second Toledo, a native of San Juan, Puerto Rico, is a political science and Spanish major and economics minor who plans to be a lawyer. He is active in student reform activities here at JSU. He has had no experience in the Student Government Association, but was active in that area on the high school level.

Asked his idea of the "ideal vice president," Toledo stated, "the vice president is the number two man in the government structure. He should serve the students' needs. As number two, he can exert more power than is now exerted. The SGA needs to get more involved and not just accept what the administration says. I believe there is a great deal of dissent among students nowadays, and the problems should be presented to the administration in a way they will realize what we want."

"I don't think we should be appeased any longer. There is a great need for more interaction."

Toledo feels the SGA's relationship with the administration is 'strained,' and he added, "there is always room for improvement."

Gray and Frazier, both third-year men, announce their candidacies for the SGA Presidency, the highest honor a college student can receive. Frazier, with his experience and dedication to the SGA, and Gray, with his drive and determination, are sure to make for a dynamic campaign.
EDEKER

After attending elementary schools in Ken-mucky when his father, an Army non-commissioned ofcier, reassigned the family came to Anniston. Ede-ker finished Saks High School in 1964, and then came to Jacksonville State.

When asked why he thought himself a worthy candidate, Edeker explained, "I can talk to anyone about their beliefs on any issue, I can communicate with feelings as well as words."

When asked for a platform, Edeker named over ten topics which he believes are of great importance to the student body.

Edeker's first point was the need for additional outside assistance on campus. He believes these to be an important part of a college education.

The FTC topic, still much alive in this campaign, brought response from Edeker. An adanced cadet and a ranger said, "I love ROTC; however, I strongly believe that it should be better provided for." Entertainment seems to be a popular platform and Edeker had the word, music. He believes the need for a larger grab, better auditorium accommodations, a place for plays and musicals (a new library), as well as more modern style entertainment.

Edeker mentioned the high prices in Chat' em Lin and the possibility of its usage for a number of points for business students. This, run at cost, would provide more students jobs and give a place for student responsibility.

The SGA, according to Edeker, should also try to bridge the gap with Jax State Alumni.

Edeker spoke of a new plan for revamping the student newspaper, the Chat. He mentioned that a continuation of the board which now selects the editor, but he favors senate appointments until a final choice is made.

As for the SGA itself, Edeker mentioned that his organization proposes more preparation, a per-mature curriculum committee (to be brought in on the text book problems esspecialy) and to have a reevaluation of various degrees.

The meal ticket situation was discussed with Edeker and he offered two solutions to the problems, 1. A cafeteria for full time tickets, one part time.
2. Buying a one meal ticket

TIPTON ROYAL

Tipton says that the main goal of his campaign is that he believes that he can get things done that are needed.

When asked about his platform, Tipton explained that most of it would be dealt with not because he wants to fore-Tipton's first point was the strengthening and streamlining of the SGA. He proposes to do this by increasing planning and organization, trying to work with those who agree (with the administration), and to be active in all student affairs. He expressed the belief that from 75% to 90% of students should have 99% of student affairs and leave the administration to handle academics.

Communists are neglected, according to Tipton (a commentor, at least, sits in the stands), because he feels that they should be polled as to whether they would rather have better provided for by the SGA.

The subject of what is to be taken out of the meal ticket situation was brought up by Tipton, especially the offered courses in summer school. He believed the alleys card idea is not working. Tipton also mentioned that there is room for more improvement such as dances, bar-cue's, and perhaps a professional carnival.

Tipton believes that the system should be polled as to whether it would be better provided for by the SGA.

Royal's second point was his plan for revamping the lege education.

In an interview with the Chat, Miss Murphree explained on the idea of the "ideal sec-tary." She thought herself a worthy candidate for the pres-cipal's position.

Miss Murphree's platform includes no promises of greatness; just one -- to serve and to do my very best.

The Chat covered with Matt Dixon and Miss Murphree wanted to know if there were any other questions. Miss Murphree answered, "I feel a willingness to serve.

Murphree and Supon clash for secretory

One of two candidates vying for the office of sec-ratey of SGA is Cathy Supon, a sophomore majoring in English and writing toward a double minor in sociology and German. Although having held no prevous offices in student government, Cathy's basic qualifications are commanding. Not only can she claim a 3.8 average, but she has also been honored with such positions as school board chairman of Alpha Xi Delta Sorority, former entertainment editor for the Chat, and membership in the A Capella Choir.

Cathy provides no platform as such as she feels that the office of SGA secretary is not in such a position of power.

With regard to her views on recent campus events, Cathy is most lucid. Concerning the new rules, she feels that they were in only to change things hurtfully needed but that a good compromise was also used. According to Cathy, the new regulations were not made under pres-

tion of power.

Upon discussion of student government associations, Cathy stated that in all schools SGA has been dormant, that is just being to come into a position of action.

Speaking in Cathy's behalf, campaign manager Lynn Ash stated the candidates belief that, for purporse of adequate representation, a pulse should be taken of the student body, also, that all on campus officers are elected by the students. In such a case, it is the fault of the student if he feels that he is not represented.

Viewing the election to be a very interesting one, Ash proposed a general platform for Cathy. Special emphasis was delegated to accurate records, acceptance of responsibility, and efforts toward total involvement. Because a sec-rectary has certain duties to consider, such a platform cannot be controversial. In sum, Ash feels that Cathy would represent the students.

provement. The SGA has time and time again refused to take certain is-issues to the student body and ingestion presently have a "limslic committees and ined SGA reform. We will quickest way to capture interest."

 Speaking of the SGA’s relations with the student body, Toledo said, “there’s a lot of criticism lately. A lot of students have gone to meetings and seen how they are handled. I know ten or fifteen students who are upset that once you pass new business, nothing else can be brought up. Students don’t really understand the SGA; they are just now waking up --and are lost. Relations could be better. Some senators work hard but I don’t believe the majority of them do. I’m sure the officers put in many long hours, but I don’t think they worked hard enough. I think the SGA should know the students better. I don’t think they all know the students better.

 Toledo named some problems and stated, “the sign of system of punishment, such as call-downs, is ridiculous. They ing, now are they qualified to handle problems of other students? I believe people who are qualified in the areas of guidance counseling should be hired. This would bring about a better atmosphere.

 "I believe the system of punishment, such as call-

 Toledo mentioned the problem of social reform. He referred to Dr. Stone’s announcement that the students will be consulted in the selection of new buildings, etc. Toledo stated, “Now we will have to see the same consultation as the others (ROTC) where the students were ignored. A veteran of the Air Force, Toledo had this to say concerning ROTC: “I am not opposed to ROTC as a system because it provides the armed services with forward thinking young men who are needed in the future of our country. What I am opposed to is compulsory ROTC.

 Frazier feels that the SGA is in question, and that student welfare is in question. Speaking of the dorm life should be more attractive. "When Dr.
 Stone announced new curriculums and then ignored the new housing suggestions for allowing off-campus living of women’s students, I would compare dorms now to cells. When they prohibit the housing of picture carriers, it doesn’t leave much of an atmosphere for the students to create.

 "I feel that dorm informdators should be replaced with people with new ideas
 "I feel that dorm inform-
 dators should be replaced with people with new ideas

 Toledo said he wished he knew the students better. "I wish the students would tell me what they think, I don’t think it should take demonstrations to bring about change. It should be the SGA’s job to listen.

 In reply to a request for his platform, Toledo smiled and stated, “I’m not a polished politician. I don’t want to separate myself from the people and don’t want a polished speech. . . . This is the quickest way to capture interest.”

 Toledo also mentioned the problems of student housing. He referred to Dr. Stone’s announcement, and stated, “Now we will have to see the same consultation as the others (ROTC) where the students were ignored. A veteran of the Air Force, Toledo had this to say concerning ROTC: “I am not opposed to ROTC as a system because it provides the armed services with forward thinking young men who are needed in the future of our country. What I am opposed to is compulsory ROTC.

 tion to improve relations through delegation of responsibility, which is the quickest way to capture interest.

 FRAZIER: “finesse to impress” those empowered to make the decisions where student welfare is in question. I also feel that I can communicate with the students and give them a fair shake, and that I am dedicated enough to treat the everyday concerns of the students. I have been involved in running the vice president’s office as if they were of my concern. Also, you’ve got to realize, that you can’t be a fairweather vice president and you have to accept the everyday work along with the emotional issues at hand.

 Frazier feels that the SGA and the administration present have a “limited relationship because of the lack of dedication by both the SGA and the administration, if I am elected, I will make sure that the students will be the top priority. I can influence the senators and the administration to improve relations through delegation of responsibility, which is the quickest way to capture interest.

 In reply to a statement of his platform, Frazier stated, “One of the major planks of my platform is SGA reform. We will amend the SGA constitution to establish some basic committees and incorporate subcommittees. When we encounter a problem in SGA that doesn’t necessitate immediate action, we will assign the issue to its respective sub committee for investigation, with the ro-ducers to make a report at the next SGA meeting. In this way the senators will have more of a responsibility to their constituents in that they will be required to find out how the people they represent want them to vote. I want to win the faith and respect of the students for the SGA.

 “Also, I’d like to see increased utilization of the president’s Laison Committee. This committee has the potential of really helping the student if we use it more extensively.”

 In an interview with the student body, Frazier stated, “In that the SGA constitution delegates the responsibility for student housing to the student body, we have some very definite plans to increase the entertainment program. This will be a bigger and better things, and to bring it up to a parallel with other colleges and universities in our state. Especially, we plan to do a that we can achieve to raise the in activity fee that a majority of the students have indicated that they are unfavor of raising it $3 per semester. Dr. Stone has informed me that he sees no reason why we can’t raise the fee by that amount. We are going to try to make this change. With the present enrollment, this would mean approximately $18,000 per semester for entertainment.

 "I haven’t fully decided whether or not we’ll sell allied cards, but if we do I’ll be here this summer and will prepare a tentative booking list of groups so that when allied

 The students do have a right to exercise their responsibilities for the SGA now, accepting the senators instead of the students. They probably are bound to gain. They should probably have 50 per cent of the senators instead of the present 8.

 Asked his feelings on entertainment, Toledo said that he would like to see some effort to here, such as Grand Funk and Mountain. We also need some speakers, to accept the appeal of the SGA now, accepting the administration’s refusal to allow the students to do without the SGA now, accepting the administration’s refusal to allow the students to do without Toledo ended his interview by referring to the recent demonstration against women’s rules. “I believe that was the first time many students felt that they were not respected, and I hope it won’t be the last. The beauty of it was it was legal. The students did have a right to dissent and to have their opinions heard. I am not opposed to ROTC, but if it goes on I will be here this summer. I will go into further details later on my campaign cont pul committee.”

 According to Frazier, the students have an option to either support or oppose the ROTC and then make suggestions to the ROTC staff. If ROTC is voluntary, the ROTC department will have to make suggestions to the ROTC department to make things more attractive to students. Also the credit

 "I will create an entertainment committee comprised of interested students to help select the groups to come because they have the students’ money, and students should have more voice in the groups that are selected.

 “I’d also like to see an increased speaker program and film program. I don’t see why we can’t have some of the more recent films.

 “These are the main points of my platform,” Frazier concluded, "but I will go into further details later on my campaign speech.”

 A communication problem is common with both students and the administration, said Frazier. He plans to work on it all legal procedures. The students have a right to have their opinions heard. I am not opposed to ROTC, but if it goes on I will be here this summer. I will go into further details later on my campaign cont pul committee.”

Vann, Moore, Cummings run for money

March 25, 1971

The competition is heating up as Moorhead, Cummings, and Glynda Moore run for student government. Each candidate has their own platform and goals.

Vann

Vann is running for office under the slogan of "a more active and effective SGA." His campaign focuses on improving student representation and increasing student involvement. He sees himself as a problem solver and aims to address the issues that are facing the student body.

Martín

Martín is running as an independent candidate. His platform centers on improving student representation and increasing student involvement. He is committed to listening to the concerns of the student body and working towards positive change.

Gray

Gray is running as a Republican candidate. His platform focuses on improving student representation and increasing student involvement. He is committed to listening to the concerns of the student body and working towards positive change.

The candidates are all committed to improving the student experience and ensuring that the student voice is heard in the decision-making process.

Chanticleer Election Special

CUMMINGS Holds Definite Postitions.

With regard to their qualifications for the job of treasurer, Jim presents his personal evaluation of the situation. He began by stating: "Because I'm from so far away, I'm still here. In this respect, I'm full-time, much more so than others." He has spent so much time on campus, Jim harbors great concern for what transpires at Jax State. In his words: "I think Jackson State can be a better university than it is."

Concerning his platform, Mr. Cummings has definite proposals. In the first place, he advocates a definite increase in the opposition to Mr. Cummings is a political science major with an economics minor and aspirations to eventually become established in the field of law. Having proved himself to be a conscientious student of law, he is determined to currently hold the position of SGA senator, under which title he was selected a SCAO delegate. In addition to these honors, he has served as a junior member of the student's judicial court and has claim to membership in the President's VA honor committee. Further evidence of Rusty's ability and dedication is reflected in his being dubbed "outstanding freshman cadet." He is a member of Delta Chi Fraternity, secretary of the ROTC Department for the first semester of the past school year, and, in the present year, being nominated named senator of SGA, the student government of the University of Alabama, is Rusty Vann.
