by Wen Scherer

From time immemorial man has questioned, accused, disdained, and transformed, producing both admirable and adverse results. Stimulated by a sense of rebellion, he has attacked subsisting institutions and standards, thereby creating inter-slice opposition and action. In this light, the overly debated "generation gap" (which, except for the coinage of the term, lacks any degree of uniqueness or novelty) has assumed precedence in most media of communication over the very real, and possibly critical, intra-generational discrepancies. These "intra-gaps," when viewed in perspective, tend to diminish the significance of inter-generational differences, thus shifting the emphasis to a much more vital area of dissent, that among contemporaries.

In the words of one popular song, "United we stand, divided we fall."

Historically, this simple maxim is graphically demonstrated by the Whig Party, which, formed solely in opposition to the policies of Jackson, attracted diverse elements and ultimately disintegrated in the 1850's as its members were unable to take a collective stand on the issue of slavery. Although the issues are different, the principle is the same -- "A house (or any other self-propagated group) divided against itself cannot stand."

This thesis should not be construed to mean that inter-generational harmony be a foreign element in the aura of human relationships. Not only would such an idea be purely ideological, it would be extremely impractical. For it is through discord that the channel to innovation is channeled. Continued elaboration revealed that interests, resulting from shared experiences, widen in the "Greek" world; that being subject to student scrutiny tends to better the person through his efforts to present a favorable impression; and that the emphasis placed on scholarship is a definite asset. Despite the preceding discrepancies, both

"Greeks" and "non-Greeks" tended to comply on certain issues. For instance, both felt that fraternal organizations often compete against one another. In one event that "fraternity" is made a meaningless term, that people tend to judge a fraternity by one person; that fraternities are directly responsible for many new friendships; and that fraternities create more social activity on campus. Thus, despite differences of opinion, "Greeks" and "non-Greeks" seemed to have some common meeting ground, from which could emerge a new base for understanding.

For a shift in emphasis, a discussion was conducted to determine contrasting campus opinions as expressed by iconoclast and conventionalist. At this point in the survey, the most divergent student sentiments were reflected.

With regard to women's curfew regulations, the conservative notion that young ladies should be in their separate chambers by 9:30 p.m. was soundly disapproved. Argument rested primarily on the assumption that women's hours do not dictate morals, that chastity favors neither side of midnight. As expected, hints for female equality filtered through in the context that as men's hours lacked regulation, so women's hours should be undeclared.

With the focus transferred to marijuana, opinion deviated strikingly. According to moderate viewpoint, the use of marijuana, as its consumption impairs health, should be declared a capital offense with prescribed penalty. However, unorthodox concepts consisted of refutations of "pot's" purported ill effects, rejecting reports that "flash-backs" (hencefore ascribed to LSD) are actually caused by "grass." Moreover, if medical students employ marijuana, and if the states of euphoria "pot" produces successfully alleviate pain, would it not be unlawful? For after all, the damaging effects of mari-
In this edition of the CHANTICLEER, Features Editor Wen Scherer has written a most informative article on those "gaps" within our generation. As the story concludes, there are many thoughts and ideas of a prominent personality on our campus. It is intended to give you, the students, a voice in the faculty of the University an insight into important problems and issues which face the academic community.

Dear Editor:

Four years will have passed soon and I join the ranks of the alumni of this university. Three years have served many purposes. Truths, as well as lessons, have been learned; myths have been destroyed as well as engendered; and campus life still sticks.

I will deal with truths, lessons, and myths shortly, but actually campus life does not stink. I merely lied about it to gain attention or possibly to say something everyone will agree with. I am not sure exactly which one I meant, but it isn't important anyway.

TRUTH: Taxes are high; God is not dead (just disguised); and sex, thankfully, is still fun.

OTHER TRUTHS: If you must violate a dormitory rule, drink liquor in your room, or smoke (SHHH... don't tell anyone), J - U - A - N - A - N - A. You won't get kicked out for this, but throw something out your window, and you surely will.

Park in an unoccupied faculty space (alongside rows of other unused space) and you will get a ticket. Double park, you may occupy three spaces at once within your own zone and all you will get is an obnoxious story from the other two people who can't find another place to park, who then park in a face to face zone, but you know the rest.

Student teachers must be off campus from 8 A.M. to 5 P.M. They must eat lunch at their respective schools. They are refunded the money with which they buy lunches. They are not refunded the money for the nine weeks they buy lunches on their meal tickets while they are off campus. This, by conservative estimates, amounts to over $30. Student teachers, past and present, have asked for a refund. They are welcome for Self Cafe remaining open now operating on our money.

Men do not sign out of their dormitories overnight. Some women don't either. The girl who signs out and is five minutes late on restriction. The girl who doesn't bother to sign out and remains gone all night is not punished, at least not by the Dorm Dictators -- I mean, "Mothers."

If you are free, white, and of the body, 18, etc.) and MALE, you may live off campus. If you are black, it is harder. If you are a woman, it is impossible. An air invasion layer seems to have suspended our Constitution on the female side of campus.

LESSONS: Everyone can see the president of the university. How many get to see Dean Miles about why their graduation date is being held up? You may have a refrigeration in your room as long as it is an SGA regriferator (or a refrigerator that looks like an SGA refrigerator, since dorm directors can't tell the difference). The drop in interest one quarter point last week. The drop was due to six more SGA quar- ter per cent prime interest rate. Chase Manhattan.

In a day when inflation and the rising cost of living are topics of both high social and political discussion, American universities are strongly feeling the pressure of student reaction.

Jacksonville State has begun to experience this constriction of economic pressures. The administration is now aware of the possibility of a closing of Self Cafe after this semester on this campus. Such a problem as described by administrators here has closed four cafes on the Carolina at Berry College in nearby Rome, Georgia. Perhaps we are beginning to see the strings of the purse draw tight.

Christmas vacations were hardly beginning the past season--ask any one. The whole nation is concerned, enough so to take up the cudgels over the problem. The First National City Bank of New York suggests another largest bank: draft your interest rate once quarter point last week. The drop was due to six more SGA quarter per cent prime interest rate. Chase Manhattan.

It is a well known fact that one head, a many--segmented body with each segment growing in a different direction, and turns red? Give up? (So do I, sometimes.)

RIDDLE: "What has one head, a many--segmented body with each segment growing in a different direction, and turns red?"

The drop was due to six more SGA quarter per cent prime interest rate. Chase Manhattan.

"Go to your Senator." (He flunked the same course you did.)

Dean Jackson did not say this. He said this. Dean Simpson did not say this. He said this. Dean Jackson said this. He did not say this.

Perhaps we have been allowed to control society. Too long have the elements of prejudice and ill will been allowed to control society.

"Mothers." How many get to see Dean Miles about why their graduation date is being held up? You may have a refrigeration in your room as long as it is an SGA regriferator (or a refrigerator that looks like an SGA refrigerator, since dorm directors can't tell the difference). The drop in interest one quarter point last week. The drop was due to six more SGA quarter per cent prime interest rate. Chase Manhattan.

Juanita haven't ACTUALLY been proven and probably won't for some time. (Just consider the long life of the "harmless" cigarette.)

Another aspect of the morality scene emerged in the discussion over abortion legalization. As would be expected, hard-core conservative ideas reflected disdain for lawful abortion supplying evidence of moral descent and character degradation. A noteworthy liberal interpretation emphasized the fact that abortion (employed in a legal and appropriate manner) would eradicate the hardship of bringing an unwanted child into the world, from the humanitarian standpoint, a sin in itself. Similarly, abortion would result in fewer illegitimate children (the one's to ultimately suffer) and would dispense with the additional problem of supporting the unwanted child born in poverty.

Probably one of the most controversial issues pervading American thought today in the draft. According to the flag-wavers championed the draft as the spirit of America, the backbone of our heritage. In contrast, iconoclasm signified that while the United States is the wealthiest country in the world, army enlisted men, the core of the military, receive minimal salaries for arduous duties performed involuntarily. In addition, the military fosters the abrogation of citizen rights and practical as a man of from two to four of the most productive years of his life. Theoretically a choice morsel for women's lib was the proposition that women, in addition to men, should be drafted in suitable capacities and should be subject to appropriate service in Viet Nam. Perhaps the answer to the Viet Nam crisis lies in the voluntary and co-operative temperament of the American woman.

As the emphasis shifted from the political battleground to the intellectual army zone, the subject of the Student Government Association captured the spotlight. Considered as the most accessible route to the uprooting of the administration, the SGA grows stagnant, serving no practical as a man of from. In most respects, student government has been reduced to a figurehead which provides extra status for the individual through an additional picture in the yearbook. Practically speaking, if the SGA were given significant power to do an adequate job, it would be an irreplaceable asset to the student body, particularly in this period of rampant innovative trends. However, for all intents and purposes, the SGA remains impotent, its members strutting actors upon a life-stage.

As conclusory material, a general analysis was conducted to determine certain ethical standards of students in toto.

To questions as to whether existence actual sex constituted a vital aspect of college life, 95% of females interviewed replied in the negative. In sharp contrast was male opinion with 64% of campus masculinities answering in the affirmative. Consequently, a discrepancy, well over half of the female students thought that male and female, concluded that their dates were generally of superior character degradation. According to such evidence, the ladies continue to exercise control over campus morally. Interestingly enough, whereas 58% of female students assumed no offensive with regard to masculine advances, 57% of the male students stated that they generally made such advances. Obviously, some of the girls are getting short-changed. Finally, with more than half of the females concerned that marriage should dictate sexual behavior, as opposed to more than half the males expressing contradictory beliefs, it will be of prime interest to note in which direction the pendulum will swing.

In view of such variance, the task is thus for a generation, plagued by an immense amount of variance, to incorporate its dissenting opinions and activities into harmonious programs, not only for its own survival as a group, but also for the benefit of posterity. Unlike the youth of the two World Wars and the depression years, our generation is not faced with a concrete and urgent threat to its way of life. Threats, such as totalitarianism, are abstractions to most people and have not yet reached a point of precipitation. However, according to political apologists, the day is fast approaching which will see such abstractions become a threat. It is thus our responsibility to channel our creative impulses into constructive principles for which a new political and judicial order.

Expression '71

Blind Success

Something new has been added to the Jax State line-up, a new program which aims at bringing inspiration to the students. A series of speeches by prominent Americans has been planned.

The first speaker was Mr. John Putman who visited the Roundhouse on January 31 where he was later selected one of the Ten Outstanding Young Men of America. The 28 year old business man said, "The athlete and speaker has been blind since the age of 18. Certainly Mr. Putman enthusiasm on our campus.

Co-chairmen of Expression '71 are Tom Downum and Ramona Sharp. They urge anyone who has suggestions for future speakers to contact them or the SGA office.

CHANTICLEER adds New Editors

Thom Simpson, Editor-in-Chief of the CHANTICLEER, has announced a major shift of positions on the Spring semester, 1971 CHANTICLEER. Kent Anderson, former Sports Editor, has been named Business Manager. Filling Anderson's vacated Sports editorship will be Charlie McRobertson. "Charlie Mac" was a stand-out lineman on Jacksonville University's championship-O football team for Fall, 1970. He brings sports experience and fine writing ability to the CHANTICLEER Sports department. To cover Intramural Sports will be Jimmy Morrison also a member of Charlie Pell's "defeated Gamecocks."

Simpson also announced that he is instituting a new editor's position. The new position will be Student Political Editor. The job will consist of a review of the Student Government Association, class governments, and other issues pertaining to student policy activity. The slot has been filled by Sandy Hips, a veteran CHANTICLEER staffer.

Other minor changes in the CHANTICLEER staff: Judy Applebaum, currently Fine Arts Editor, will assume the head of the Graphics department.

CHANTICLEER CLASSIFIEDS may be submitted by Wednesday prior to press date. Ads may be phoned in either 435-9820, ext. 211 or 435-7452, or dropped by the CHANTICLEER Office in the Student Commons, 4th Floor. Cost is three cents per word.

AST Draws Small Crowd

An estimated group of thirty coeds was on hand in the Roundhouse to receive copies of the CHANTICLEER constitution and information about its arrival on campus.

The purpose of the CHANTICLEER is to resolve student problems and seek solutions relating to the role and responsibilities of women students. CHANTICLEER membership belongs to every woman student enrolled at Jax State. With the representative bodies consisting of an executive council, a house of representatives, and a judicial court.

Gem of the Hills
Nominations For JSU Hall Of Fame Open

All nominations for Jacksonville State University's Teacher Hall of Fame are in, and a sub-committee of the 10-man selection committee will interview the finalists before the Alabama Education Association meeting at Birmingham on March 18-19.

The finalists will attend a luncheon during this time and the entire selection committee will interview those selected.

The committee will vote by secret ballot for their selection and John Stewart, chairman of the project, will hold the ballots until the banquet April 2 at Jacksonville State.

Serving on the selection committee are: A. C. Allen, principal, Dothan High School; Mrs. Barbara Dowse, associate chairman of publications, Alabama Education Association; Dr. Mildred Elliser, professor of education, Auburn University; Miss Margaret Grifis, principal, Golden Springs Elementary School; Mrs. Charlotte Jones, educational consultant, State Department of Education; Mrs. John B. Latham, past president, Alabama Congress Parents and Teachers; Dr. Frank Newell, director of the Educational Leadership Program, Birmingham State College; general manager, WHMA-TV, Anniston; Mrs. Jan Waite, president, Farmers and Merchants Bank, Centre; and Dr. Levi Watkins, president, Alabama State University.

The Teacher Hall of Fame was instigated last year at Jacksonville State to pay tribute to Alabama's "filmsong heroes."

Mrs. Jesse Freeman of Tuscaloosa and Mrs. Dora Gene Hill of Gadsden were the initial winners.

Wow! Cooper and "High Noon"

"High Noon," perhaps the greatest of all Western movies, will be presented by the CHS University Film Society in the Roundhouse Wednesday night, February 3, at 7 p.m.

The story involves a cow town, Hadleyville, which undergoes a crisis, admission for non-members if fifty come.

Educators Rap About Improving State Schools

Rep. Tom Brevill told a group of school officials meeting at Jacksonville State University "it is time for the federal government to give more financial support to education," and added he hopes the 92nd Congress will work in that direction.

Rep. Brevill, of the seventh district of Alabama, told the Alabama Association of School Administrators at their annual regional conference "that local levied taxes for education have come to a point of diminishing return, and it's time for the state and federal government to take over more of the role."

Dr. W. B. Bryan, chairman of the AEA legislative committee, told the group that on the state level his committee is working on several proposals, some of which include:

1. Reduction of class size from the present 28 students to 27. He added this will cost over $7 million.
2. Seek a 7% pay increase... no teachers can meet the costs of living.
3. Make sure AA certificates be recognized in salary allocations.
4. Rep. Brevill told the group that local levied taxes for education produce 53% of education's total budget, while the federal government only supplies 7% and the state 41%.
5. Congress appropriated $472 million to foreign aid during the last session, he emphasized, "and this is three times the amount appropriated for education.

SCOAG Making Plans

SCOAG is coming? SCOAG? Is it not a disease, not something you are in Cole Cafeteria, even a super hero with a side kick named Saturday?

SCOAG is the Student Conference on American Government. The theme for the conference is "Is America Dying? A Look At The 70's."

The conference will begin at 4 p.m. Thursday, February 11, with registration in the International House, and will continue through Saturday morning at 10:45.

The impact of the conference is three round table discussions on cities, states and America in the 70's.

Dr. William A. Rusher, publisher of THE NA-TIONAL REVIEW (the newspaper edited by William F. Buckley, Jr.), is the keynote speaker. He will address the SCOAG delegates at 10:30 a.m. Friday. Following his speech he will be a banquet in Leon College Auditorium at 1 p.m. with guest speaker Father David Willlums, rector of St. Michael and All Angels Episcopal Church in Anniston. Attorney General Bill Baxley will speak on Friday at 2:30 p.m. in the Student Commons Auditorium.

Highlighting the conferences entertainment will be the appearance of comedian Pat Paulsen on Thursday, February 11, at 8 p.m.

SCOAG will consist of 40 college delegates plus over 100 high school students from the entire state. For the first time in SCOAG's six-year history, the conference is state-wide, including delegates from Georgia.

The chairman of SCOAG is Les Coleman. Filling other executive positions are Fred Asbell (vice chairman), Mike Powell (secretary), and Phyllis Clark (vice chairman). The executive council consists of Dale Estefinger and Finis Royal, co-banquet chairman, and Harold Ragland, coordinating chairman.

"Not A Dictator" Says Stone To SGA

The SGA held its weekly meeting Monday night in the Student Commons Building. After the endless roll call of our favorites, the SGA secretary, was concluded the meeting got underway.

Charlie Waldrep, vice president, will be dispensing Allied Arts Cards Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday prior to Pat Paulsen's appearance Thursday. Charlie is also trying to have George Stephens, the comedian that performed here with Steve Brook, Oliver, Lou Rawls, Iron Butterfly, and the Nitty Gritty Dirt Band, tickets for the Pat Paulsen show will be on sale Monday before his show on Thursday.

The treasurer, Vince Santoro, stated that the SGA now has $4,710.99, $972 of which was collected from the sale of Allied Arts Cards and refrigerators.

If there is any speaker that you feel would be beneficial to the student body to hear, you should contact Tom Brevill.

Speaking of speakers, Dr. Stone spoke to the few interested and not-so-interested students present before the meeting. He seems to believe in the younger generation and does not feel we are going to be made up of the dogs. He explained that this generation "wasted a lot of things up for you boys and girls," but that their new president has confidence in us and is trying to get at least to the level of the students body since almost everyone will be of legal age to vote in the next election. Republicans, not easily found in Alabama, will also be asked to speak. Dr. Stone reminded us that he did not come to JSU as a "dictator or politician," he is a professional educator.

Our help is what he needs. He does not feel that he should arbitrarily make decisions that will influence students and how their lives are being conducted.

The problem of the cafeteria arose. Until the university was given money to keep both cafes open, Mr. Haywood said he would keep them both operate as usual. (See interview with Mr. Haywood for further information.

A liaison committee was appointed as a go-between of the students and the administration to discuss any grievances which may arise in the future. Those appointed were: Charles Williams, Fred Asbell, Rusty Vant, Debbie Williams, and Jeff Frazier.
Mitchell Voted ‘Most Unpopular’

In a Gallup survey of young lawyers, released today, Attorney General John N. Mitchell was voted "least popular," in a list of public national figures, while his predecessor Ramsey Clark ranked second among the most popular, preceded only by Ralph Nader.

The survey, conducted by the Gallup Organization for Redbook and published in the magazine's current issue, revealed that 60% of 18-24 year-old lawyers in 20 of the nation's top law schools last spring would have voted for Mitchell.

One of the questions used to determine support or disapproval of present society included a list of well-known public figures from which the students were asked to name the ones they admired most and the ones they disapproved of.

A large majority of the students (66%) favor Miller's should be legalize abortion, as and an even greater number (84%) thought abortion should be legal.

Concerning drugs, 77% of the law students favored legalization, but most of them thought it should be strongly penalized for organized crime and pushers. The prevailing view was that drug addiction should be treated as a social problem not a criminal one.

A heavy majority (72%) of the law students called for the abolition of capital punishment.

By far the "most admired" public figure was Ralph Nader, who was praised by 67% of the participants, followed by 57% for the "least disliked."

Mitchell ranked second among the most popular, preceded only by Ralph Nader, who was praised by 67% of the participants.

The next most popular was Thurgood Marshall, followed by Judge Clement Haynesworth, and William Kunstler.

The survey was taken last spring by the Gallup Organization for Redbook.

SSS Explains "Why" Of Draft

Selective Service System said today that sixty per cent of the country's high school principals and over 62% of the nation's top law schools participated in the Redbook Gallup survey.

For example, New York University, Harvard University, Howard University, Georgetown University, University of Pennsylvania, Yale University, University of Minnesota, University of Chicago, Stanford University, University of Notre Dame, Ohio State University, University of California, Washington University, Emory University, University of Mississippi, University of Texas, and Tulane University.

Only 7% of the students said they would choose a large corporation while 40% preferred to "serve the needs of all people" for a secondary career.

The most popular career choice was a faculty of law school, followed by the Legal Aid Society.

The survey was taken last spring by the Gallup Organization for Redbook.

Kappa Delta Epsilon has been participating in community affairs during the past few months.

Beginning in November, members of KDE sponsored a bake sale, the proceeds of which went to the Jacksonville Day Care Center. In December, the group sponsored a bake sale for the Day Care Center, Medical Park, and an honorary little sister, donated $40 for all the bread and baked goods during the week of Homecoming. The members of KDE wish to publicly extend a hearty thanks to the Phi Chi men for their interest in our campaign and in our educational organization.

During the past few months, two projects proved successful, a Student Information Office, which the director of the Day Care Center, Mrs. C. R. Smith, sponsored, and an honorary little sister, donated $40 for all the baked goods during the week of Homecoming.
"Easy Rider" Making Movie On Life

With campus audiences assuming a dominant role in movie attendance, a Hollywood film project is now being designed for direct distribution via the national campus, ignoring the established movie house distribution routes. Appropriately, the film, "The American Dreamer," involves a maker of cinema's new wave, Dennis Hopper. "Dreamer," now filming in Taos, N.M., is a story about Dennis Hopper played by Dennis Hopper. Co - directors of the film are Lawrence Schiller, one of the leading international photojournalists, and under-ground writer, L.M., Kit Carson.

Because of its subject matter and honest depiction of Hopper's lifestyle and points of view, Schiller plans to market "Dreamer" directly to college audiences, with special two-or three-day bookings to be scheduled on all campuses during a saturation period of three weeks this year.

"The idea isn't revolutionary. It's merely realistic," Schiller says. "The action and the ideas in the film relate to the lives of students. We don't expect other audiences to fully understand it, so why go through the hypocrisy of normal channels of distribution? Quite frankly, we expect many normal film houses would refuse to book this film because it may not be considered pure entertainment in the normal sense of the word. But audiences with young and open minds will be terribly stimulated by it. Will they enjoy it? Does anyone enjoy a bomb? The point is, you can't ignore it."

Schiller, with some one hundred covers on LIFE, NEWSWEEK, SATURDAY EVENING POST and top magazines around the world, made his film making debut with the New York sequence of "Butch Cassidy And The Sundance Kid."

Hopper, a storm center of acclaim and controversy since his film directing debut, "Easy Rider," sent the movie industry off in new directions, has been as much a center of controversy because of his lifestyle as because of his art, especially since a LIFE magazine cover story on the actor-director's way of life.

"The American Dreamer," filmed from an outline rather than a script, puts up situations relating to Hopper and "lets them explode in front of the cameras," according to Schiller. It will treat all aspects of Hopper's existence from his art to his sex life.

Flaming Embers To Appear In Anniston

Kaleidoscope Productions will present "The Flaming Ember" at Anniston City Auditorium at 8 p.m., Friday, February 12. Advance tickets are $2.50 and are available at S.W. Music Co. and Radio Station WDNQ in Anniston. The tickets are $3 at the door. The group's songs are, "Mind, Body and Soul," "Westbound Number 9," and "I'm Not My Brother's Keeper."

Horrible isn't it?

IH Hosts Tiesenhausen Of NASA

A high-ranking NASA scientist Wednesday night emphasized the need for continued space exploration to members of the International House Program at Jacksonville State University.

Georg von Tiesenhausen, chief of orbital services at the Marshall Space Flight Center in Huntsville, said there are many reasons why we must continue exploring outer space.

In addition to the valuable scientific data which can be gathered, von Tiesenhausen said we firmly believe the day will come when we will need the resources space can give us.

But in order to continue exploring outer space, he said overall costs must be reduced considerably. This will be accomplished by new reusable space-crafts now under construction.

The revolutionary new craft resembles a giant jet airplane with a small plane riding “piggyback,” and will cut the cost of travel to one-tenth of what it is now, he remarked.

Von Tiesenhausen is a member of the famous group of German rocket scientists who came to America following World War II.

Although he was drafted into the German Army, he was transferred to the University of Hamburg to work on his degree in mechanical engineering. He then worked with a team of other German scientists, headed by Werner von Braun, in developing the V-2 rocket.

His job with the National Aeronautics and Space Administration is coordinating the evolution and development of space stations. The Huntsville scientist said in two years the U.S. will put a small space station into orbit, which will be followed by larger, more sophisticated ones.

New ROTC Policy On Grad School

The United States Third Army Command has announced several new policies concerning graduate deferments for ROTC advanced cadets.

The new policy is the following: (1) ROTC scholarship holders (both Regular Army and Reserve Officers) will be permitted to delay two years to work on their masters degrees. (2) Non-scholarship Distinguished Military Graduates will be permitted a two year delay for graduate work. (3) All non-scholarship Distinguished Military Graduates in the top 5% nationwide will be authorized to attend graduate school while on active duty (with pay and allowance due their rank of second lieutenant) in a field in which the army has a valid need. (4) Those students (scholarship and non-scholarship) who have Regular Army commissions and are Distinguished Military Graduates in the top 5% will have the option of attending graduate school now or deferring it until the end of their fifth year of active duty. (5) Professional programs for ROTC graduates remain unchanged.

Alpha Xi Delta

Alpha Xi Delta Sorority will have initiation for their new sisters Saturday, February 7.

Peggy Yevick is representing AZD in the Miss Missomo Pageant.

Alpha Xi’s are looking forward to their fourth annual Rose Corillion, which will be off February 12 at the Downtown Inn.

Faye Thompson is representing the Chanticleer in the Miss Missomo Pageant.

Zeta Tau Alpha

Zeta Tau Alpha Sorority held a reception on Sunday, January 10 in honor of Dr. Stone. Members of the faculty, dorm directors, and all Greek groups were invited to the reception, which took place at the International House.

The Zeta’s had their winter initiation ceremonies on Friday, January 22.

Phi Mu

Newly elected officers of Phi Mu Sorority are Sherrill Bailey, president; Janice Wobach, vice president; Janice Craig, secretary; Mary Cagle, treasurer; Lynn Harris, Panhellenic delegate; Debbie Collingsworth, rush chairman; and Linda Lamons, pledge director.

Phi Mu is proud of Susan Pelham and Diann Weaver who were recently named to Who’s Who in American Colleges and Universities. Carol Chambers and Linda Houston were recently chosen ROTC sponsors. Betty Bell is Phi Mu’s candidate for Miss Missomo, and Ceil Jenkins is sponsored by ATO in the pageant.

Dobby Gardner was chosen Phi Guy for the Month of January.

Phi Mu is looking forward to February 6, when they will have initiation ceremonies for ten new sisters. A highlight of the week will be a dinner party at the Battle House.

Alpha Tau Omega

Alpha Tau Omega Fraternity is having a skating party this Wednesday with their Little Sisters.

The event was a success. It was held on January 23 at the Holiday Inn. Several awards were presented at the banquet. Outstanding pledge award went to Mike Whisonant, while the outstanding active award, which is the Blue Glove Award in honor of the late Mr. Glover, went to Norris Galde and Jim Moree. Jack West and Kent Anderson received the highest grade point average awards for pledge and active, respectively. Brother Charlie Pet was speaker at the banquet, and Dean Miles was toastmaster.

Delta Chi

Delta Chi was recently honored by a visit from their regent, Claude B. Layfield of Auburn University.

DX has made February their “Service Project Month.”

The DX’s are proud of brother Sam Spruille who was elected to Who’s Who in American Colleges and Universities.

Delta Chi’s “F, O,” team has not won a game in two seasons, according to Tim Reynolds, but their “A” team is in the basketball play-off this year.

Delta Tau Delta

Delta Tau Delta Frat. is planning initiation for the incoming active members for February 3 and 6.

New officers of DTD for the spring semester are Buddy Rogers, president; Liburn Tipton, vice president; Buffy Burke, recording secretary; David Blackmon, treasurer, and Buck Buchanan, corresponding secretary.

Kappa Sigma

Kappa Sigma Fraternity has elected new officers for 1971. They are Ron Hulsey, grand master; Steve Smith, grand treasurer; John Kidd, grand master of ceremonies; Dick Spencer, grand scribe; John Chappell, grand treasurer; and Danny Lee, guard.

Initiation ceremonies for pledges becoming actives within the colony were held on January 18. Those initiated were Buddy Baughman, Bill Earley, Bill Horton, Bob Sims, and Thomas Tallafaro.

The Kappa Sig’s little sisters—the Starburters—gave the chapter a beautiful new rug for the fraternity chapter room.

Kappa Sig’s basketball team is still shooting that ball like pros. Rusty Vann—K’s coach—guided the K’s last week to a 45-35 victory over “F Troop” team.
Some surprising statistics from a study made by U.S. NEWS AND WORLD REPORT, Fifty-nine per cent of companies completing their questionnaires disguise women from certain jobs. Thirty-nine per cent of the companies had no women in managerial positions within the organization. A woman with four years of college makes, on the average, $600 a year, the wages are the same as men with only an eighth grade education. A man with four years of college average a yearly salary of $1,795.

Women students also do not take certain leadership- ships, for example, 85 per cent of college student body presidents are men. Women are offered secretarial jobs and editorships of school newspapers and yearbooks rather than decision-making jobs.

Dr. McMillan stated, "Every job lib is a joke," and went on to add that the word sex was added to the Civil Rights Act as a joke. However, to Dr. McMillan, "Equality for women is really not a joke." She pointed out that women were not as intelligent as men. A myth that a woman would work if she didn't have to. Dr. McMillan feels that a lot of women probably work because they must support the house. The most important thing that women's lib can accomplish is to let women know. Dr. McMillan is, that "It can improve women's options. Women should have a choice." She concluded her speech with this thought, "I hope the ridicule and extreme of women's lib won't make the men laugh us right out of court."

Dr. Johnson takes the peanut butter approach to women's lib: "It's sticky no matter how you look at it."

She has an ambivalent attitude toward women's lib as a movement, noting that we object to women's lib because we object to the extremes but that nearly everything done as a movement has to be pushed to extremes. Dr. Johnson said she thought she got women's lib out of the breakfast you thought you were supposed to eat and the classes you were going to, and the things you were going to do in school. She said that if a woman is supposed to have freedom of choice, then she must be able to decide what that service is the keynote to freedom, and women must be able to serve in the best possible way.

At the question-answer period, there were quite a few laughs. Dr. McMillan gave this answer as the reason for the rules for women on campus: "Boys don't phốily do this, so why the rules for women?" Also, Dr. McMillan made the understatement of the year, Jackson vs. Board of Education. "It's a conservatory school." Many chuckles came from the students when the rules for coeds are much more lenient than they were in the past. For example, in the 1920's at JSU girls were not allowed to ride in cars with married men. What are we complaining about?!

PA Lifers Can Obtain Fellowships

Students interested in a career in public administration in the national, state, or local government are invited to apply for fellowship to study at three different universities. Each fellowship will provide $3,500.

Beginning this June, fellows will serve a three-month internship either with a department of the state government in Alabama, Tennessee or with a federal agency in the South such as the TVA. During the internship, they will take graduate courses to prepare for admission to the University of Alabama, in Tuscaloosa, Alabama, in Tuscaloosa, Alabama, or the University of North Alabama in Huntsville.
When Aristotle, the Greek philosopher said, "Melancholy men are the most witty," he knowingly predicted the appearance, several millennia later, of Pat Paulsen, who currently is on a national university and college lecture tour called "Pat Paulsen Looks At The 70's."

Paulsen will be at Leone Cole Auditorium on February 11 to bring students and friends an up-to-the-minute projection of what's in store for the nation in the fields of education, politics, ecology, the sexual revolution and astrology.

Paulsen, who is particularly able to articulate and communicate with young adults, believes that his sudden rise to popularity began with those "public service editorials" he used to deliver on the Smothers Bros. Comedy Hour, which drew up to 15,000 fan letters a week. "And as they were nearing an end, we realized that we would have to think up something new. It was about then the presidential race started humming and I decided to run for the highest office in the land. It was only a natural extension of what I'd been doing."

Pat's campaign, which almost all political observers agree was the most unique in the nation's history, took him on a tour of 43 states in eight months in search of "votes." He estimates that he received some 200,000 to 300,000 write-in votes, a figure which astounded leaders in both national parties.

But whether or not he runs again, Pat Paulsen is one politician who has the facility of making the public laugh with him—not at him as seems to be the case with some of our more prominent national leaders.

The admission charge for Pat's 8 o'clock performance is $3.50 for general public and $3 for students, and free with Allied Arts cards.
Greetings

Amidst a changing, progressing university, a catastrophe has come upon the Chanticleer. With nobody to write sports the Chanticleer desperately looked high and low for a sports editor. At the very low they found him—Charlie Mac. For those who don’t know me, I’m a senior majoring in general business which, of course, provides an excellent background for a sports editor!

I hope to make my column entertaining as well as interesting. I hope you’ll like it. To get in touch with me when it’s to wring my neck or to provide some information you would like to see in the sports page, you may come by the Chanticleer office or call 435-9280, extension 211, or call me at home, 435-4581.

Comments On Miami

The Gamecocks as well as the band and cheerleaders all enjoyed a fine trip to Miami for the Orange Blossom Classic. One of the events that brought goose bumps to young and old alike was the pep rally put on by the cheerleaders and band around the Dillido Motel. To me it was one of the highlights of the trip. The spirit was at a higher tempo than at any other point during the season. The music of the Southerners plus the accent of the cheerleaders was most impressive.

The “happening” surely won several new Gamecock fans in and around the Dillido Motel.

I certainly want to recognize Fran Bickley and Sandra V. Lawton for representing the “S” Club in such an elegant manner. There were many beauties to be seen in Miami, but none could stand beside our girls. Thank you Fran and Sandra for a job well done.

The sportsmanship displayed, on the court and off, during the Orange Blossom Classic weekend, was a credit to both institutions as well as to the coaches and players for both universities. The team returned to Jacksonville with the added respect of those who witnessed the Gamecocks for the first time as well as a beautiful winner’s trophy presented to the team after the game. Boyce Callahan received the Most Valuable Player trophy.

Fabulous Support

As a member of the 1970 - 71 Gamecocks and on behalf of the coaching staff and the members of the team, I would like to thank the Jacksonville State, Sandra Norton and the Ballerinas, Mr. David Walters and the Marching Southerners, Norma Kay Vercliglio and the Gamecock Club of Florida and the people of Jacksonville for their fabulous support the team and coaches received this year. It was really inspiring to see the crowded stands and the unbelievable amount of loyal followers who attended the away games. I hope same support will carry over to the basketball team as they try to win their sixth straight ACC championship. This year is a rebuilding year for Coach Tom Roberson’s cagers and we will need our support as never before.

Super Shucks

A quick comment on Super Bowl V. One could not help but feel sorry for Tom Landry, the Dallas Cowboys. Dallas lost the game to Baltimore in the last few seconds as they had done in previous years to Green Bay. Coach Landry coached his last game for Dallas as the third try failed to develop the charm. Dallas could use a new quarterback before trying the Super Bowl again. Craig Morton failed to impress me as a winner.

Earl Morrall, 1968 NFL Player of the Year, came off the bench, replacing injured Johnny Unitas, and won the Super Bowl with a sterling performance. The Washington Redskins certainly seemed to pick up the morale as well as the execution of the, up until then, sluggish Colts. I, for one, think Earl Morrall deserves better than being a highly touted second string. Rookie Jim O’Brien knew how to win the field goal with only nine seconds remaining in the game. I wonder how many times he kicked that winning field goal in his dreams the week before the Super Bowl?

Tough to lose your loss to Cedarton Friday night, January 15. . . . And Jim, you had better work on that quickness!!
Belated Comments On Football

by Jimmy Morrison

At the beginning of the 1970 football season not too many people thought JSU would go undetected and be site No. 2 team in the nation. But, a group of men had already dedicated themselves to a perfect season.

This group of football players did not receive an abundance of publicity, nor do people realize the hard work that these dedicated athletes put into this season. These athletes are none other than the offensive line.

All season long they had to prove that quickness and dedication could win over tremendous size and numbers.

The average weight of Florida A&M University's offensive line was 260 lbs, compared with JSU's average offensive line weight of 205 lbs. Even with this tremendous weight advantage the line- men continued to make holes for the running backs. Without these holes the backs could not have kept a sustained drive, which is so instrumental in winning.

Each individual had something special to offer. Henry Hobbs, the smallest man on the unit, could come off the line lower and faster than anyone else. The biggest down field blocker was Jimmy Champion, and the tackle that stayed with his man the best was Wayne Carroll.

The most important asset that these ballplayers have to offer is that they lost 66-50.

They won by a score of 55-26 with David Radford being high point man with 18 points. Others in double figures were excellant pass blockers, and were seen down field quite often. All of these ballplayers were excellent pass blockers.

In practice the hands, elbows, knees, feet and other parts of the body are used as weapons. This practice is not for men alone, it develops and tests the effective defense tactics for what otherwise appears a defenseless woman. Karate was introduced to Japan in 1917 and has rapidly expanded over the world since then.

Raines To Speak At Banquet

Albert Raines, former Congressman and a graduate of Jacksonville State University, will be the guest speaker at Jacksonville State's first football banquet. The banquet, set for Friday night, February 5, will be in honor of the Jacksonville State football team which finished with a perfect season, number one in the newly formed conference and number two in the nation. Mr. Raines is a former athlete at Jacksonville State University.

Roller Derby comes to Alabama Tuesday, February 16, at 8 p.m., at the Birmingham Municipal Auditorium. When the San Francisco Bay Bombers meet the Northeast Braves. The Bombers are headed by Coach Don Morgan, current and former himself. They are priced at $4 and $3 for reserved seats. They will be on sale from January 25 at the auditorium box office. General admission tickets at $2.50 will be on sale on the night of the game only.

IM Swings Into Action After Holiday Break

The intramural teams got off to a big start with every high scoring games. The Running Roosters beat the F0's 66-12 with herculean Weinfegen, Doc Lott, David Webster, and Roger Higgs in double figures. Needless to say, they are among the top teams this year.

Another top team is the Big August. The Roadrunners by a score of 63-25 with David Radford being high point man with 18 points. Others in double figures were Eddie Radford and Ralph Clayton.

North Gate Raiders are good not only at slipping auds but at basketball, too. They won by a score of 55 to 31 over the Eagles. Top players were Bruce Nichols, Danny Kemp, Rick Weems and Gary Adams.

There is also a team composed of faculty members. They have lately played one game, against the Big Apple who have been averaging 64 points a game, 85 to 45.

The Bombers are headed by Coach Bob Morgan, currently and former himself. They are priced at $4 and $3 for reserved seats. They will be on sale from January 25 at the auditorium box office. General admission tickets at $2.50 will be on sale on the night of the game only.
