WEEK OF STUDENT UNREST BRINGS PROMISE OF CO-ED RULE CHANGE

After a week of student demonstrations concerning female-dormitory regulations, Jax State President Ernest Stone has promised to bring change to the university. In a meeting of approximately 300 students Sunday night in the Student Commons Auditorium, Stone stated that the changes would be made within “10 days or less.”

The dissent came about as a result of the current university regulation of female curfew hours. Presently, freshmen girls have 10 p.m. curfew on the week nights and 12:30 on the weekends. Students are demanding 11 p.m. on week nights and 2 a.m. for first time freshmen girls.

The students also propose no curfew for all upper-classmen.

The week of demonstrations began on Tuesday night of last week with a gathering of around 200 students in front of Leone Cole Cafeteria. The major grievances of the group were the dormitory rules and compulsory ROTC. After speeches and candle lighting, the group dispersed. On Wednesday, the same type of gathering developed. Again, dorm regulations and ROTC were the topics of discussion.

However, on Thursday, the group gathered in front of Leone Cole as before. After the characteristic speeches and candle, the groups which had grown to about 500 students moved in mass to the areas of the girls dormitories and urged co-eds to intentionally violate the rules and leave their dorms. Approximately 53 girls did so. It was reported that state, county, and campus police officials were on hand to keep the demonstration in order.

There was one arrest. Friday afternoon, a group of 19 students met with Dr. Stone to ask for amnesty for the co-eds who disobeyed the curfew the night before. Stone stated that since there had been no charges brought before the girls, there was no way to grant amnesty.

In the three-hour discussion, Stone agreed to speak at a rally Sunday night. The promise for change came out of the Sunday rally. As of press time, the ‘new’ regulations have not been announced by the JSU administration. A select committee has been set up by Stone to consider the changes. The committee is composed of three administration officials: Dean of Women, Miriam Jackson; Dean of Men, Gus Edwards; and Director of Public Relations, Jack Hopper.

Megalomania

With all due respect for the interested students who so valiantly protected the rights of the university co-eds in last week’s demonstrations and rallies and the Administration who saw the “situation” fit to be changed, the CHANTICLEER feels that someone was not consulted that perhaps should have been.

The “activists” have found a way to gain attention from the Administration. The Administration has found a way to gain applause from the “activists.” All the “activists” do is demonstrate, confront, and demand. All the Administration does is form committees and promise. And all is well with Jax State... or is it?

With rule changes certain, the “activists” are appeased, and the Administration is contented. The “activists” set out to plan what university aspect will be next to fall under their attacks. The Administration breathes a confident sigh for having “headed off any trouble.” Each claims victory, Each claims that it acted in the “best interest of the University.” Each feels proud. Each feels that it is “the champion of the students.” Each feels vindicated from all previous criticism. Megalomania runs unchecked among the ranks of each.

Whether the students—the real students who come to college for the sole purpose of education—are pleased seems to have somehow been lost in the shuffle.

Whether the co-ed curfew and the ROTC program are fair or not, the CHANTICLEER does not wish to discuss here. It would make little impact either way now.

Sure the CHANTICLEER does question, however, the strength of an Administration which is “scared,” and certainly not reasoned, into policy changes by a minority as small as one-tenth of the student body. The CHANTICLEER questions the candidacy of a minority which dared to speak for the entire student body.

But, all of that is over. The “activists” demanded. The Administration promised. The students studied.

Oh well... no rally for me this week. I’ve got a term paper to finish.

Educational Farce

Editor,

I am writing this letter in reference to probably the biggest farce that Alabama education has to offer, Dean Jackson. It amazes me greatly that a university of our size would allow such an institution such as JSU would allow to exist.

"Wrong Image"

Projected” SARUE

Editor,

During the earlier part of the semester, SARUE had a meeting, conducted by Dr. Stone as a question-and-answer period. The sole purpose of that meeting was to find out how Dr. Stone felt about the problems that faced the black student and what action was being taken in helping blacks solve their problems.

The CHANTICLEER’s article, “SARUE Confronts Stone With Familiar Demands,” was a gross misrepresentation of the actual objectives of that meeting. There were no demands made by SARUE in the meeting with Dr. Stone. The members of the organization merely asked questions that directly affect blacks on this campus. That CHANTICLEER did not tell Dr. Stone, “He’d better give some solutions, list of questions, which he had to answer, a really answer. When demands are made by SARUE we will see that they are definitely known and understood by all concerned.

Bill Smith

President, SARUE

(EDITOR’S NOTE: The headline for the SARUE article in the February 16th edition of the CHANTICLEER was written by the editor on the basis of the contents of the article. If the article carried with it an incorrect connation, then the CHANTICLEER apologizes to SARUE and Dr. Stone. It is the hope of the CHANTICLEER to present the fair image of all organizations on campus, and not to lead the university community astray with misleading articles and headlines, TWS.)

Prayer

Grant me the strength to keep my eyes open and my mouth from drooping wide open while I sleep.

Help me to hide behind someone bigger than I am so that, since I am only human, when I get sleepy the fool will not see me.

Help me to control my temper when the “educated one” makes degrading and childless remarks and prevent me from knocking through the wall.

Thanks much,
RM

SGA JUMPS ON BANDWAGON AND RECOMMENDS RULE CHANGES

In the SGA meeting of February 22, with what was perhaps the SGA's greatest attendance of the year, a resolution was proposed by Angie Glenn.

The new rules submitted for JSU coeds were: Eleven o'clock permission on weekends for freshmen, unlimited curfew for upperclassmen, authorization to live in an apartment for anyone 21, and for 18 year olds with parental consent. After a lengthy discussion composed of several readings of the above resolution, a few "out of order" comments referring to the character of some of the administration, and an amendment to limit upperclass women to 3 o'clock on weekends because "some day we will be parents and will not want our children staying out all night." The resolution was passed as proposed.

Tom Downing offered another resolution. His was that the SGA ask the administration for permission to run the university newspaper. He suggested that the students select the editor and that funds would continue to come through the administration. Others present at the meeting made comments concerning censorship. Charles felt that the SGA should get the rules changed first and then worry about the newspaper.

STONE: "No One's Career Will Be Ruined"

On Friday, February 19, 19 representative students participated, in a closed-door session with Dr. Stone in his office at 3 p.m. According to Dr. David Smith, primary spokespeople for the students, the offenders’ request for the meeting was based initially on collegian desire to present their interpretation of recent campus incidents and to implicate a reasonable amount of understanding where apparently none exists. Suggestions, demands, and appeals of the order of the afternoon, as many grievances and evaluations were aired.

Triggering what was to evolve into a two-hour discourse, Smith’s query as to the chances of aligning women’s dorm directors together and talk to form, a committee, at the college campuses. In the context of resulting in a motion hadn’t been enacted promptly enough. Stating that, beforehand, the dorm directors had materialized the past week, Stone explained that, beforehand, he had made on the dorm directors absorption of the makings of what we want.

A group of 300 intercollegiate students met to hear Dr. Ernest Stone on Sunday, February 20, in the Student Union auditorium. Stone offered to meet with students for a question-answer period concerning women’s rules. Along with comments by “Rocky” were speeches by 12 JSU students.

Stone began his speech saying, “I came to this university 50 years too slow,” and that we have more fun now than we did when he was a student here. He wondered aloud if the perhaps students don’t get a real thrill in doing things behind closed doors.

Mentioning the flaws of world’s problems, Stone said we are here at JSU to learn to cope with and solve problems. He said we do have the right to peaceful dissent, contending that of ourselves has become greater through disagreement and compromises.

Conceded to the students for not having done more about student’s problems, but he has only been in office for six weeks, and he and the new business manager have been working on a biennial rewritten that is due, and as he aptly phrased it, “I’m not saying that’s more important than the student program and the amount of time there was no compromise.”

Replied, Stone said, “I try to be fair to everyone concerned.” At this time he announced that the new punishment for any girls who had been involved in the women’s rights movement, including the zone area, will be “within 10 days or less,” and also to put the new rules into effect at the time they are announced.

Stone on that evening announced that he would in favor of the suggestion that freshmen women be allowed to buy students and your university. Dr. Stone concluded the meeting by stating that the administration wants to make dorm life more pleasant and eating on the campus more attractive, too. He suggested that everyone could find a way to live in dorms without buying compulsory meal tickets.

JSU Professor Publishes Book

A JSU professor recently released his second book on gem and mineral locations, "Gem and Mineral Locations of Southeastern United States, Vol. II," is the name of the book written and published by Dr. Leon Willman, who has taught at JSU since 1958. A native of Cleveland, Ohio, he received the bachelor's degree from Mt. Union College, Alliance, Ohio, and then did graduate work in geology at Ohio State University.

He later worked with the U. S. Geological Survey, and then switched his field of study to education, earning the masters and doctorate at the University of Alabama.

Although he now teaches education and psychology courses, geology and rock collecting have continued to be a hobby for the JSU professor.

The book is basically a catalogue of locations of important gems and minerals. It contains numerous maps which aid in locating the sites, which are scattered throughout the Southeastern United States.

Consider the raccoon — one of the earth's friendliest, most lovable creatures. He is part of the woodland lore and wonder of nature. Favorite children's stories endow him with almost human qualities along with the fox, the beaver, the muskrat and other forest dwellers.

Trapping animals like the raccoon is a necessary and loveable occupation. Forty million leg-hold traps are set out continuously in the United States and Canada alone. The cruel, legged-toothed traps can crush an animal's leg, leaving him to bleed, suffer and starve for days before the trapper comes to deal the final death blow. The animals are so enigmated that they often chew off their own feet.

It takes forty raccoons to make one coat for a human. Yet hundreds of defenseless animals may die before these forty pelts are collected. The traps snap at anything — turtles, eagles, groundhogs, porcupines, dogs and cats. A trap doesn't have any feeling about that... and neither does a trapper.

There is no such thing as a TENDER TRAP

You, too, can help in the crusade to stop the vicious killing of animals that keep our environment alive and give joy to our children. You can refuse to wear the skins of animals for prestige or pleasure. You can speak out against these ungodly trapping practices in the name of the animals that still survive. And you can, make a TAX DEDUCTIBLE CONTRIBUTION to Friends of Animals which is doing something constructive about this wanton destruction. DO IT NOW and feel better immediately — in the knowledge that you are helping to preserve our natural wildlife heritage — for your children and their children.

MARKSMEN PLACE HIGH IN STATE COMPETITION

Jacksonville State University marksmen won both the men’s and women’s individual titles in the Alabama Intercollegiate Smallbore Rifle Championships at the University of Alabama Tuscaloosa campus February 12th.

Terry Thames of Huntsville fired 271 of a possible 300 to win the men’s championship. Ida Jo Willis of Prattville led the JSU women on a clean sweep, of 1st, 2nd and 3rd places in the women’s division. Susan Baker of Grant, Alabama placed 2nd and Kathy Qgle of Albertville placed 3rd.

The JSU women then added Vicky Beckner of Birmingham to their team and promptly won the Alabama Intercollegiate Women’s Championship.

The men’s team went on to the 1971 JSU record score of 1048 and won 2nd place in the men’s team championships.

David Skiles duplicated Thames’ earlier 271 score; Thames fired 260 while George Franklin and Jim Moree fired 259 and 258 respectively. The record 1946 score failed to budge.

IM Tournament Shaping Up To Be Exciting

Fourteen big teams entered the intramural playoffs that start Monday night at 6 p.m. All of these teams have played real fine basketball, and they have all had a good time playing.

Some of these teams had tremendous scores, up in the 50’s and 60’s, and none of the scores have even been in the 70’s. Some of the high scoring teams have been the Faculty Fossils, Big Apple, North Gate Raiders, Running Roosters, the Hurt. A few high individual scorers are David Radford, Doc Lett, David Webber, Hugh Bland, Ronnie Harris, Bruce Nichols, and there are many others, but they are too numerous to mention. Students are urged to come out Monday night at 6 o’clock in the gym for the intramural playoffs.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY

CONFERENCES

Jacksonville’s only player to be named to the ACC All Conference team, Jerry James, will be given a chance to try out with the Baltimore Bullets. James will be a representative from the Bullets in Montgomery where we all hope Jerry will impress the Bullets as he has impressed the people in this area with his basketball talents. Good luck, Jerry!!

TENNIS TALK

Jacksonville’s new tennis coach, Graham Primrose, is an excellent tennis player himself and will help Jacksonville’s tennis team to develop the skills needed for a top team. Primrose is an economics professor as well as the tennis coach. As a former student at Mississippi State, he has many years of experience to pass on to the players. Spring is almost here and the tennis teams are looking forward to the new season.
