New curfew rules: "concern quality living, quality learning"

Curfew hours for women students now residing in campus housing at JSU have been changed. The new hour schedule becomes effective March 7.

The following plan has been approved by numerous committees on campus--

Freshmen women: Will now have permission to stay out Sunday through Thursday nights to 11 p.m., and on Friday and Saturday nights to 2 a.m.

Sophomore and junior women: Permission to stay out Sunday through Thursday nights, 12 midnight and Friday and Saturday nights, 2 a.m.

With compulsory written permission from parents, senior women students will be given dormitory key privileges. This will enable them to leave and return at the time they desire after regular closing hours.

Women students over 21 years of age will be granted key privileges by law, although parental permission is desired.

The changes give most women students an additional hour before curfew.

All dormitories will be locked at 12 midnight on weekdays and at 2 a.m. on Friday and Saturday nights.

Dr. Ernest Stone, JSU president, said in relaxing the curfew hours, "Our primary concern in curfew regulations is that they are in keeping with the best interest of our women students. We have tried to be fair to all concerned."

As of this date, freshmen women have 10 p.m. curfew on weekdays and 12:30 a.m. on weekends. Upperclassmen have 11 p.m. curfew on weekdays and 1 a.m. on weekends.

Dr. Stone said the study of curfew hours was started on Feb. 1, and this action is a result of numerous meetings concerning the curfew rules.

In making the announcement to all women's dormitories, Dr. Stone said "It is understood that these regulations may have to be altered where students are failing in their academic work. Our main concern is quality living and quality learning."

Pell receives another well deserved award

Charley Pell, the highly - successful young football coach at JSU, has added another coach of the year honor to his growing stack of awards.

Pell, in only his second year at Jacksonville, was voted coach of the year for NAIA schools in Area V of the NAIA, which covers the Southeast.

The voting was done by the coaches and a check with the national office reveals Pell just missed being coach of the year in the nation by a narrow margin. Texas A & I Coach Gil Steinke, who led his team to a second-straight national title, won national honors.

JSU finished with a 10-0-0 record last year, including a victory over Florida A & M in the Orange Blossom Classic in Miami, Fla.

Jax State also won the first Mid - South Athletic Conference championship with a 5-0-0 mark, taking offensive and defensive statistical titles.

In addition to the new award, Pell has taken coach of the year honors for the Mid South, NAIA District 27, and the Birmingham Post-Herald All - Alabama for small college teams in Alabama.

Jacksonville State's head coach played football at Alabama and coached five years at Kentucky before coming to Jacksonville prior to the 1969 season.

Atlanta's Wages stumps Jax State for ROTC

"Charming Harmon" Wages, famous number 5 of the Atlanta Falcons, and corner back Ken Reaves paid a two - day visit to the JSU ROTC Department recently to tell freshman and sophomore cadets why they elected to take advanced ROTC when they were in college.

Both stars were cadet battalion commanders at their respective universities and are currently on a tour of southeastern schools to give their voice of approval to the ROTC program. Wages, captain of the 1968 University of Florida team, says that he owes all of his leadership ability to the training he received as an advance cadet.

Both Wages and Reaves volunteered to visit as many of the southeastern schools as possible since, according to Wages, "we are both young enough to identify 100% with college age youth and we hope they will listen to what we have to say because we both do believe strongly in the ROTC program."

Reaves spent a day visiting Alabama A & M in Huntsville to discuss the new ROTC program that will soon be established there.

Prior to Wages and Reaves arrival on the campus, JSU head football coach Charlie Pell, a staunch supporter of the ROTC program, talked to several of the sophomore

Nixon makes moves to "equalize opportunities"

In his second annual message on higher education to Congress, President Nixon last week moved to equalize individual opportunities for attending college, and to put the Federal government's power behind the forces of innovation and reform in curricula.

Similar proposals last year failed to pass either house of Congress, but have been reintroduced because "existing legislative authority for the basic Federal higher education programs expires at the end of the current fiscal year," President Nixon said.

Basic to the proposal for equalizing individual opportunities is the concept of lifting financial barriers.

At present Nixon told Congress, "a young person whose family earns more than $15,000 a year is almost five times more likely to attend college than a young person whose family earns less than $3,000."

To alter this inequity, the President proposed the establishment of a National Student Loan Association (NSLA). A private, Federally chartered corporation, NSLA would access to grants and subsidized loans much easier than at present. Colleges would be able to "sell" a student's promisory note to NSLA, thus enabling them to provide more loans.

The President estimated that NSLA in its first year might buy up to $2 billion worth of loans from banks and universities.

For those students eligible for direct grants from the Federal government (i. e. those from families with less than a $10,000-a-year income), Nixon called for an upper grant limit of $1,000 per year, or $1,400

Editorial Opinion

Thom Simpson

"Damn it, the paper is not censored!"

And the editor proclaimed, "Let it be known throughout the land (university) that the CHANTICLEER is its own newspaper, controlled by no group or the Administration, and owing its allegiance to only those students who wish to know what is worthy of note."

Perhaps that sort of "proclamation" is a bit too dramatic, but, as hard as it may seem to believe, the CHANTICLEER is a free student newspaper. The CHANTICLEER is not censored by the Administration; nor is it the tool of any special interest group in the university. It is written, edited, and produced by Jacksonville State University students.

If there are ever parts censored, it is done by this editor. The quality of the newspaper, like other student institutions, rests upon the judgment, the ability, and the willingness of those involved to perform their specific duties. An editor's duty is to oversee the whole project of publishing a paper. An editor must determine what is worth printing and what is not. It is this fundamental obligation that creates the misunderstanding concerning censorship. The editor censors, not the Administration.

To this editor, censorship is not a word depicting the horrors of totalitarianism or the oppressions of liberty. Rather, reasonable and warranted censorship of articles that appear in publication is a mark of the level of integrity that the newspaper wishes to obtain.

Publishing untrue or unsubstantiated incidents is a crime against the readership. Publishing lewd and distasteful writings is an affront to the general intelligence of the academic community. Publishing sensationalism for sensationalism's sake is a cheap and otherwise barbaric offense to any editor's journalistic pride.

It is the feeling of this editor that the CHANTICLEER lacks. There is little, if any, disagreement on this issue. The CHANTICLEER, however, will not wallow in the filth of "yellow press" sensationalism. Some students apparently want that type of newspaper. If so, it is the wish of this editor that they take their demented and debased minds to institutions where integrity, pride, and conscience are not valued.

Whether criticizing the Administration or attacking student apathy, the CHANTICLEER is free to press what is true. The CHANTICLEER is not permitted, by this editor and by the common sense of the university, to print false accusations and articles.

To those who complain so bitterly of the CHANTICLEER'S stifled existence, this editor extends his thanks for their thoughtfulness and his repudiation of their charges. Charges of censorship laid against the Administration are thoroughly and utterly without merit.

This editor urges those who know so much about the condition of the paper to please drop by the CHANTICLEER office to impart to this editor their infinite journalistic wisdom. Maybe if all those who believe the CHANTICLEER is suppressed by the Administration would write more than talk, it would give their minds a chance to do something different--THINK!

Student defends Stone:

"Give him a chance"

Dear Editor,

On March 4 of this year, only a few days ago, I watched President Nixon's press conference on television, concerning foreign affairs. This was only his 19th press conference since he was inaugurated nearly two years ago. Not only is this an extremely low number of such meetings with the press but they have also been uncommonly short in length. I do not understand why a man who has the answers to so many questions allows representatives from the press only 28 minutes of question/answer time. (Twenty-eight minutes was the length of this conference on March 4th.) These people come from major cities from coast to coast just to hear our

Grass film to be shown in dorms

On Monday and Tuesday evenings, March 8 and 9, a film entitled, "Marihuana" will be presented in the TV Rooms of the Men's Dormitories. Sonny Bono, of "Sonny and Cher", narrates this film on marihuana--its effects and laws pertaining to its use. It is hoped through this presentation that more interest in the critical problem of drug abuse will be stimulated.

The film will be presented at the times, dates, and places as follows:

Crow Hall, 7 p.m., Monday, March 8, TV Room.

Dixon Hall, 8 p.m., Monday, March 8, TV Room.

Logan Hall, 7 p.m., Tuesday, March 9, TV Room.

Luttrell Hall, 8 p.m.,

British comedy set for movie

"Kind Hearts and Coronets," one of the funniest British comedies ever made, will be featured by the Jacksonville State University Film Society Wednesday night, March 10, at 7 o'clock in the Roundhouse.

Starring Alec Guinness in the multiple roles which made him famous, the movie relates the hilarious adventures of a young man who becomes a duke by murdering the eight relatives (played by Guinness) who stand between him and the dukedom. Admission is fifty cents.

President's "Let me say this about that . . ." replies. (Locally known as the JSU Suffle). I sometimes wonder if our President actually tries to make a fool of himself on nationwide television. (There is no doubt about this concerning local Deans of Women.)

Not only did Mr. Nixon discuss foreign affairs on this 28 minutes of time, but also did some campaigning. An example of this is such asinine statements like, "The reason I sent troops into Cambodia and Laos last year was to protect my withdrawal plan in Vietnam." Doesn't make much sense does it? He also told his "television viewers" all about HIS brilliant plan to cut off supplies to and from Laos. Our President also filled the silent majority in on the unknown fact that, "Under my administration, we have kept every promise that we made in our campaign in 1968." I find it difficult to even consider that our President has fulfilled every promise he made in 1968. (Of course I will not accept the Jacksonville State University Suffle either). The people have given President Nixon nearly two years to prove himself. He has not (in my opinion) and they will probably give him the rest of his term to prove himself, which he probably will not. (In my opinion). Nevertheless, we can only hope and pray for peace in Vietnam at this time.

A group of students on this campus have decided that because our new President (Stone) was appointed by political means that he is unfair and has no plans to meet the needs of a fastly growing university. When I say fastly growing, not only do I mean in size but also in ideas. I personally think President Stone is a fine man and plans to do everything in his power to meet the needs of a fastly growing institution of learning. On March 8 an entirely new set of women's rules were put into effect. This alone supports my opinion of our new president's intentions. I also know that President Stone personally helped change a few rules in the interfraternity council which had previously been hindered by Dean Montgomery. These rule changes allowed a local fraternity to become affiliated with Delta Tau Delta, national fraternity. (I am not a member of this or any other fraternity.)

President Nixon has been given my respect up until this time. He has not earned it. So, no more shall I support or respect his opinion. President Stone, however, has not been given a chance. I appeal to the readers to at least support him until he proves himself one way or the other. An old saying (See STONE, page 3) in a combination of grants, work/study money, and subsidized loans.

Beyond this $1,400 amount, a student could qualify for an additional $1,500 in a "subsidized 'cost of education' loan," if he attends a school with an average annual cost of more than $1,400 and if he meets the eligibility criteria for subsidized aid.

This legislation, Nixon said, would benefit approximately one million more students than are currently receiving aid. "It would assure that Federal funds go first, and in the largest amounts, to the neediest students, in order to place them on an equal footing with students from higher-income families.

"It would mean that (high school students') choice of a college would be based on their educational goals rather than upon their families' financial circumstances."

The other major piece of legislation asked for in the higher education message would help revamp college curricula. Working through a National Foundation for Higher Education, educators and students alike could obtain help in making colleges more responsive to individual needs.

The Foundation, modeled after the National Science Foundation and the National Institutes of Health, would encourage "a review of the overall needs of the American people for post-secondary education." Its first year's operating budget would be $100 million.

The special problems encountered by Black colleges and universities would also be helped by the Foundation for Higher Education, Nixon said. Already included in the 1972 budget, however, are additional funds for Black colleges to be administered by the U.S. Office of Education, the National Science Foundation and the Department of Agriculture.

"we can score"--Abbott

Baseball looking forward to hitching winning wagon

by Charlie McRoberts,
CHANTICLEER Sports Editor

Jacksonville's baseball coach, Rudy Abbott, has a young and inexperienced team which must stand up to a tough schedule of 36 games in a period of only 40 days. Coach Abbott feels that the best way for a young team to improve is by playing -- so play they will. With only four seniors and three juniors on a squad of 27, the older players must really show some leadership to get things started right in the early part of the season.

The Gamecocks are coming off a 13-12 season last year and are determined to get on the winning bandwagon. When asked what kind of team he expected, Coach Abbott stated, "I believe we can score with our caliber of hitters and we should be able to run with our speed. The defense has sound throwing arms which is most important but the fielding is questionable. Last year errors plus not being able to come up with the double play really hurt us. Several games we would be ahead going into the final inning and our fielders would make errors and we would lose. I can think of five games we could have won last year with good fielding. Our pitchers are young but have ability. If the older players can start strong and let the pitchers get a few games under their belts, we could have a real fine season. Perry Renfro and Jerry Still are going to be great pitchers. They can throw the ball hard plus they have control which is a rare combination in college baseball. On defense, I'm particularly worried about second base and shortstop. After Danny Grizzard was hurt last year we played everybody and their brother at shortstop. This hurt the team because you need to have a second baseman and a shortstop that work together well and that can only come with playing together."

The 1971 Gamecocks return eight starters from last year's team. These include: Eddie Isbell, who was hurt in the fifth game last year and was out for the season. Isbell was batting .500 when injured and should be in top form at first base this year. Benny Bunn returns at catcher along with catcher - first baseman Craig Edge. Bunn batted .315 last year while Edge batted .358 and was an All-Conference choice. Jim Robbins returns to center field with a .211 batting average and a strong arm. He is also a good prospect along with Tommy Cason in right field. Cason and Robbins are both seniors. Charley Mascalco, a sophomore from Birmingham's John Carroll High School, returns at third base. Pitchers Jerry Still and Barney Wilson return with a 2.95 and 0.90 earned run average respectively. This should be a nucleus for a fine team that could prove trouble for other teams in the ACC. As the first game approaches, the starting line-up looks like this: Perry Renfro or Jerry Still - P; Craig Edge or Benny Bunn - C; Eddie Isbell - 1B; Larry Chupp - 2B; Danny Grizzard - SS; Charley Mascalco - B; Larry Foster - LF; Jim Robbins - CF; and Tommy Cason - RF.

Stadium comes alive as Gamecocks invade for spring training

by Jimmy Morrison,
CHANTICLEER Sports Writer

Paul Snow Memorial Stadium has been like a graveyard since Jacksonville played Florence State for its 1970 homecoming victory. But on Monday, March 1, 48 Jaxmen livened up the dreary stadium with the beginning of spring practice. New faces were seen everywhere, 34 new ones to be exact, some are try-outs, others are high school recruits. The other 14 players on the field are returning underclassmen. Seniors for the 1971 season and a few standouts from last fall are excused from the first eight practices.

With just four days of practice gone, several of the athletes are looking real good. Coach Jim Fuller singled out Pug Knox for having an improved attitude and for a little extra quickness. He also spoke highly of Alan Passeur, "We moved Alan from guard to center and he is already doing a fantastic job with just four days of work." Another outstanding lineman was "Tubby" Cundiff who seemed to be getting his quickness back.

Moving from the line-men to the backfield we can't help but notice Eddie Radford and Gordon Knowlton who are pushing each other for the fullback slot. There are also two running backs, Jim Thrower and Ray Laney, that look good. These two plus Herbie Wientzes, Royce Calahan, and Jim Blankenship make up a great group of running backs for Coach Clarkie Mayfield to choose from. At the quarterback spot Buddy Talley is throwing the ball exceptionally well.

In the offense counter part, the defense has its leaders, too. David Radford, an outstanding defensive end, Scotty Marcum, Ralph Clayton, Willie Robinson, and Theo Cotton, all hard hitting linebackers, and Wayne Boyd, who is an impressive halfback.

The Jaxmen are working about two hours a day with a lot of learning and individual drills. They end each work out with 3 on 3; a drill that summarizes football hitting.

could determine a trip to the NAIA Nationals in the mile relay.

James, Lawson honored by team

Seniors Jerry James and Wendell Lawson have been voted top Jacksonville State University basketball honors for 1970-71.

James, a 6-7 forward from Rome, Ga., was selected most valuable player for the Gamecocks while Lawson, 6-5 center from Sand Rock, Ala., was voted team captain.

The members of the squad voted the honors to James and Lawson.

In addition to most valuable honors, James was awarded honors for free throw and rebound titles while Lawson ended the year as the top field goal shooter. The titles were based on averages and percentages.

Jax track team finishes fourth in first meet; expects great improvement

by Lee Berger,
CHANTICLEER Sports Writer

JSU's track team opened their indoor season Saturday, February 13, in Montgomery with a fourth place finish in the Alabama Indoor Meet. Points were gotten by Ricky Basden, David Newton and the mile relay team.

Basden, a transfer from Calhoun Junior College, is used to winning points for his team. At Calhoun, Basden finished second in the State Junior College Meet and finished seventh in the National Junior College Meet. In Montgomery, he won the Loyd ery, he won the 60 yard high hurdles and finished third with a time of 7.6 seconds.

Newton, a slender, but smart runner, is but a sophomore. Yet he ran like a senior Saturday night. He ran against the best in the state in the 880 yard run and finished a surprising third place.

Since being in college, Newton had not run at his best, but against major opposition from Auburn, he ran a 1.59.7, his lifetime best. Coach Slaughter feels that Newton is capable of doing better and will as the season progresses.

The mile relay team finished a disappointing fourth place after finishing a respectable second place last year. Returnees from last year's relay squad are Danny Taylor, Mike Williams and Rodney Trimble.

Taylor, from Oxford, has speed and ability to help lead this relay team to the NAIA Nationals this year. He is a hard worker and an important member of the relay team.

Williams, from Sylacauga, is capable of running with the best "quarter milers" in the state. With a little hard work, he just might be the best quarter miler in the state. Trimble, from Cullman, is a transfer from Calhoun Junior College. He is the fastest member of the mile relay team. While attending Calhoun, he finished fifth in the 440 yard dash in the National Junior College Meet. He works hard and has speed to burn, his staying healthy

Intramurals come to season finale

Before any of the teams or players are mentioned we would like to thank Coach Steve for another outstanding intramural activity. Without his unselfish devotion intramurals would not be as well organized as they are. Good organization leads to terrific action and at 6:30 on Monday, March 8, the final game of the Intramural Basketball Tournament will be played and a champion will emerge.

The four top teams were the Big Apple, West and Mop Co., North Gate Raiders and the Cosmopoltans. The Big Apple had a bye in the first game of the tournament and came from behind to beat the Crackers for their place in the semi-finals. Their opponent, the West End Mop Co. beat two undefeated teams, the Running Roosters and Kappa Sigs for their chance at the finals.

In the other semi-final game, two undefeateds, North Gate Raiders and Cosmopolitans, play for a chance at the finals. North Gate Raiders, led by Bruce Nichols and Jim Farrel, beat the L. L. W. G. and the Hurt for their slot in the tournament. The Cosmopolitans, led by Lee Burger and Jerry Giles, reached their present position with a bye and a victory over the B. S. U.

which might apply to this situation is, "You can catch a fly quicker with honey than you can with fly paper." If we give President Stone a chance, we may even get rid of Dean Jackson, FOR GOOD. The sky's the limit.

Sincerely yours,

This 'n That

If you will notice, the sports pages are full of articles about every spring sport Jacksonville participates in. The authors of these stories did fine jobs in covering their respective assignments and I salute them. With all these good articles a sports editor should have no problems . . . except one. What do I write about?? Since all major sports are covered, I would like to take this space to talk about anything and everything which may or may not be appropriate for a sports editor to indulge in.

Good Sport

All coaches, when talking about athletics, emphasize good sportsmanship. I believe Dr. Stone used his "sportsman like conduct" in the handling of the demonstrations for the new girls' rules. Dr. Stone has an athletic background and was himself a Jacksonville State University Gamecock. The new rules for girls is a step forward or should we say a "first down" for Jacksonville State. A first down does not a touchdown make, but it is much better than having to drop back and punt. Once again I salute Dr. Stone and award him my first "Good Sport Award."

Sports Quiz

For lack of any other excitement around Jacksonville, I'm having a sports quiz this week. To enter, write your name, address, and telephone number on a piece of paper along with your answer to this week's question and slip it under the door of the "Chanticleer" office. Because any question I could think up to ask would be relatively simple for you sports fans, also include a number between one and ten on the slip of paper with your name on it. The first correct answer which coincides with the number I have behind my back wins. Prizes include: A free classified in the "Chanticleer", one free Zuma Burger (not all the way), a pepperoni pizza and a Coke from Pasquale's on the square, not to mention your name listed as a big winner in the next issue of the "Chanticleer." Okay fans, this week's question is "Who was the first National League baseball player to hit 40 home runs in one season?" Only two entries per person, please! Don't forget to put a number between one and ten on your entry.

James Gets Try-out

Jerry James traveled to Montgomery, Alabama last weekend with a chance to show his ability with a basketball to a representative of the Baltimore Bullets. Evidently, James showed the scout some of the same things he has been showing Jacksonville fans for the three years as he has been invited to the Baltimore Bullets summer camp for a tryout. The last time a basketball player from Jacksonville got that close to a pro camp was Buddy Cornelius. If you remember, Buddy led Jacksonville to the ACC championship and got a tryout with the Atlanta Hawks after the 1969 season. Buddy was having a great camp but was cut the last day for cuts. Cornelius now coaches football and basketball for Minor High School in Birmingham. Jerry has the physical characteristics to make it in the pros and with some determination, he will. Once again, good luck, Jerry!!!!

Wrestling--maybe?

It's a shame a school the size of Jacksonville doesn't have a wrestling team. There are many students who are very interested in a wrestling team for Jacksonville. Several of these who are interested are former state champions in high school for their weight divisions. When asked why Jacksonville doesn't have a wrestling team, Athletic Director Jack Hopper stated, "I agree, we need a wrestling team at Jacksonville and I would like to see one started here. The problem is money for equipment such as wrestling mats and uniforms." Mr. Hopper said that he would meet with Dr. Stone and see what could be done. Ralph Murphy, a former state champion in wrestling and a defensive end for the Gamecocks, has also approached Mr. Hopper as well as Coach Pell. Both men expressed interest in creating a wrestling team. Surely the school could come up with some money that would help to broaden the athletic program. Maybe Coach Fuller, offensive line coach for the football team, could help coach the wrestlers. Coach Fuller was a top notch wrestling coach at Fairfield High School in Birmingham before coming to Jacksonville. Coach Pell may not be happy to loan Coach Fuller out but maybe Coach Fuller could recruit some good football players as well as wrestlers--maybe a Jim Krapf or two!!!

Confidential

Jimmy, you were a close second for the "Good Sport Award." Maybe you should try just a little harder!

Golf team prepared to tee off and start swinging

by Kent Anderson,
CHANTICLEER Staff Writer

"There are two teams we really want to beat-- St. Bernard and Troy." Coach Walt Hughes conveyed that expression which leads one to believe that it just might happen.

"We're going to have a pretty 'good' season," he went on. Hughes is blessed with four returning starters from last year, particularly with number two man, junior Mark Heaton. Heaton will be back with three compadres--Joe Warren, Joe King, and Jack Phillips. In addition, two new names enter the lineup this year--Mike Little and Bob Ellis. Little, a fullback for the past four seasons here, is in his last year at JSU, while Ellis holds sophomore rank.

The loss to the cap and gown of last year's number one golfer may pinch the Gamecock squad in the top slot. Bob Purdy graduated, as did number three golfer Emory Mann.

The Jax squad, playing out of Anniston Country Club, has fourteen matches ahead of them, all with ACC opponents. Seven conference teams will each play twice, and the conference title will go to the season leader.

The Gamecocks will open their season on March 13, at the Anniston Country Club at 10:00 a.m. against Athens College. Spectators are permitted and welcomed at all matches. Weekday matches (in the schedule below) will be held at 1:00 p.m.

Practice scores have so far run in the low 70's with several rounds below the par 72 of the Anniston layout.

Four sign with Jax State

JSU basketball coach Tom Roberson announced the signing of four outstanding prospects of the 1971-72 season recently.

Inked to grant - in-aid scholarships were three high school standouts and one junior college star.

The three prep players include guards John Cobb of Jacksonville, and forwards Eddie McCreary of George High in Atlanta, Ga., and Howard Hatcher of Carver of Gadsden. The JC star is John Woody of Southern Union.

Cobb (6-1), voted top player in Calhoun County this past season paced his Jacksonville High teammates to a 23 - 6 record. He averaged 26 points per game. His prep coach is Van Deerman.

Hatcher (6-5) was one of the key players in Carver's successful season, which ended the finals of the region tourney. Hatcher, who averaged 25 points per game and 22 rebounds is expected to contend for starting honors next year at Jax State. His prep coach is George Baker.

McCreary (6-5), considered one of the top prospects in Georgia, averaged 27 points per outing at George High School in Atlanta and is expected to strengthen the Gamecocks under the boards next year. He is considered an excellent shooter. His prep coach is Richard Hall.

Woody (6-3), who paced Southern Union to a winning year, is considered a "take charge" player by Roberson and is expected to start next fall. His junior college coach is Frank Gourdouze.

Tennis profile: stronger

by Jan Armstrong,
CHANTICLEER Staff Writer

According to Coach McCool, the Jacksonville tennis team looks much stronger this year than it did last. In addition to the old regulars, there are three new players with much promise--Rick Loeb, a freshman from Huntsville; Jack West, a freshman from Birmingham; and Glen Roswal, a sophomore from Hornell, New York. Also, there are Bill McCargo, a most outstanding player, and Byron Bryant, another very effective team member. The other players are Jim Gray, sophomore; Henry Merritt, junior; Warren Dove, sophomore; Allen Henry, junior; Carl Howard, junior; Steve Bell, freshman; Tom Brewer, freshman; and Jack Osborn, freshman. The number will eventually be reduced to a twelve-man team, including the eight-man travelling team.

The team will play a total of twelve games, each match consisting of six singles and three doubles. Incidentally, for those interested in watching, the team practices every day between 3:30 and 5:30.
