Accident Scheduled At Brewer Hall Tuesday

By DAN INMON

There will be an accident behind Brewer Hall, Tuesday, Dec. 5. The Jacksonville Emergency Medical Technicians Association will, in cooperation with Lex Corpus, present a demonstration of proper methods of extracting injured accident victims from a wrecked car. The Emergency Medical Technicians will be assisted by members of the Jacksonville Police and Fire Departments.

The E.M.T.A. is a volunteer organization of men in the Jacksonville area. The E.M.T.'s go through an intensive 81 hour course of emergency medical care which is designed to give the best possible care to emergency patients.

The drivers also are required by State Law to have a minimum amount of training. Each driver must have completed the American Red Cross Advanced First Aid and the National Safety Council Defensive Driving course.

These men devote a large amount of time each week to serve their community. Each man works at least one shift per week and most of them work much more.

The E.M.T.'s and Drivers are continuously receiving additional training, either at the weekly meetings or during time on duty.

Another member of the group, and by far the best looking, is Miss Pat George, a Registered Nurse. Miss George is a cardiac specialist currently working in the Intensive Care Unit of Anniston Memorial Hospital. Almost any evening she is not working, she can be found somewhere waiting for an ambulance call. With her advanced training she has already been responsible for more than one life being saved.

The E.M.T.A. has been in operation since May, when nine men graduated from the first E.M.T. course at Anniston Memorial Hospital. Until August they responded to calls for help until ambulances could be called from Anniston or Piedmont. In August, both Anniston and Piedmont made it known to the City of Jacksonville that they could no longer provide ambulance service to the city. The Piedmont Rescue Squad then made one of its ambulances available to the E.M.T.A. until they could obtain one of their own. Starting Saturday, Nov. 25, Jacksonville's own ambulance was put into service. It's a Dodge Maxi-van, with a capacity of four stretcher patients at one time. The 2-way radio in the ambulance will be able to contact all major hospitals in the state and later other ambulance services.

This ambulance will also be used in the future to test certain electronic diagnostic equipment.

After completion of various other phases of training, the E.M.T.'s will be qualified to do approximately the same type work as the Paramedics in the T.V. program, "Emergency." But, in this case, the care of the patient will continue uninterrupted from the scene to the hospital.

If you're interested in this exciting field, be at Brewer Hall, Tuesday, Dec. 5, for a full scale demonstration.

A Cappella Choir To Present Concert

The Department of Music at Jacksonville State University will present the A Cappella Choir in its tenth annual Christmas concert Monday, December 4, 1972, at 7:30 p.m. at the Performance Center of Mason Hall. They will present the same program again on Tuesday night, December 5, at 7:30 p.m. at the First Presbyterian Church in Anniston, Alabama.

The program will be narrated by Sylvia and Thomas Malone. The choir accompanist is Dona Sanders. Featured soloists will be: sopranos - Carla Carroll, Dian Williams, and Janet Clanton; alto soloists - Colleen Bates and Judi Simmons.

The concert will open with a processional, "Joy to the World", a special arrangement by Handel-Kuykendall. Selections include "God Come Emanuel" by Terri, "The Virgin's Slumber Song" by Pfautsch, "Wake, Awake for Night is Flying" by Christiansen, "A Christmas Carol" by Fast, "Immanuel, We Sing Thy Praise" by Kirk, "Psallite" by Praetorius, "Jesus, Jesus, Rest Your Head" by Warrell, "Angus Dei" by Barber, "Celebrate this Holy One" by Sateren, "The Babe of Bethlehem" by McAfee, "Masters in this Hall" by Shaw-Parker, "Christmas Eve" by Luboff, "Hallelujah Chorus from the Messiah" by Handel.

The A Cappella Choir is a select group of 70 singers chosen each year by audition. In recent years the choir has performed for the Southeastern Choral Conductor's Conference in Baton Rouge, Louisiana and toured throughout the surrounding area performing for high school audiences. In 1968 the A Cappella Choir won first place in a statewide college level choral competition. In 1970, the choir was conducted by the famous composer, Norman Dello Joio, in a concert exclusively of his works.

Party

This pretty young Jax State Coed, Trisha Hallmark of Birmingham is helping a student group to purchase toys for the annual Christmas Party for all families of Military servicemen serving overseas during the holiday period. Also, the students are inviting needy children of this area from a list provided by the Department of Pensions and Securities. The party is set for 3:30 on December 4 in the Leone Cole Auditorium.

Kappa Sigs Celebrate 103rd Birthday Dec. 10

The Kappa Sigma Fraternity celebrates its 103rd birthday in the Western Hemisphere with the annual Founders' Day Reception on December 10. The Founders' Day Reception will be attended by the parents of the brothers and pledges, distinguished Kappa Sigma alumni, the presidents of campus fraternities and sororities, and distinguished campus personalities. At the reception several awards will be given. One is the Big Brother Award, presented to the outstanding active Kappa Sigma men chosen by the pledges. A second award to be presented is, the Little Brother Award which is given to the outstanding pledge of the semester selected by the active chapter. A third award to be given is the Kappa Sigma Scholarship-Leadership Award through which Kappa Sigma offers over $20,000 annually to worthy members of Kappa Sigma, based on their achievements in scholastics, in athletics, and in campus activities.

Awards Sigma Alpha Alpha of Jacksonville State and the Gadsden-Anniston of Certified Public Accountants held its annual buffet dinner November 28. At the meeting, Mr. Herschel E. Morrison, President of the Alabama Society of CPAs presented awards to the three most outstanding accounting graduates of JSU. Shown above (l-r) are Mike Head, who received a certificate of recognition, Mrs. Rebecca Lee, who also received a certificate of recognition, Douglas New who received the Alabama Society of CPAs Accounting Achievement Award, and Dr. James Edwards, distinguished Professor of Accounting at the University of Georgia.

In an attempt to insure that all groups and organizations on the Jax State campus receive equal representation and deserved recognition in student publications, the MIMOSA, in cooperation with the SGA, is again attempting to establish an official file of all chartered organizations.

Faculty advisers and/or presidents of each organization are asked to fill out the following form, place it in an envelope, and either bring or mail it to the MIMOSA office, Room 101, Bibb Graves Hall.

last Sunday in a four-car accident 18 miles north of Wetumpka on U.S. 231.

Shirley R. Little, 24, died Sunday morning as the result of injuries received in the accident, according to a report from the Montgomery District Highway Patrol office.

Mike, the husband of the victim, who was selected as Jacksonville State University's Most Valuable football player in 1970 and their son, Michael Jr., aged 6, were admitted to the surgical intensive care units of the Baptist Hospital in Montgomery following the accident. Their conditions Monday morning were listed as fair.

Mrs. Little was accompanying her husband on a visit to Jacksonville Sunday. The family was reportedly returning to their home in Brewton when their car was involved in the accident, troopers reported.

Little, a native of Albertville, is an assistant coach at T. R. Miller High School in Brewton. Mrs. Little was a native of Albertville.

While at JSU, Little was a fullback and played his senior year in 1970 one of Jax State's finest teams. That year the Gamecocks had a record of 10-0 and a victory over Florida A & M in the Orange Blossom Classic in Miami.

In his high school career, Mike led his Albertville team to an 8-1-1 record his senior year and the Marshall County Championship. He was named All-

While the party is a big treat to the youngsters, it is enjoyed almost equally as well by the mothers who attend. They are served refreshments and get a chance to meet with other housewives who share a similar state.

Each child who attends the party gets a sack full of fruits, nuts, candy, and other goodies, in addition to a nice toy.

Persons who would like to attend the party should call the Jax State Public Relations Office, (435-9820 ext.289). The age and sex of the children should be given so that appropriate gifts can be arranged.

Dean of Women Miriam Jackson said no room checks will be made in dormitories which contribute 100 percent to the party. ROTC cadets will erect a giant 14 foot Christmas tree for the party, and Santa Claus has agreed to take time off from his busy schedule to be there to meet all the kiddies.

Students of Jacksonville State University are getting ready for the annual Christmas Party for families of military servicemen now serving overseas and for needy children of this area of northwest Alabama.

The party is set for 3:30 p.m. on Dec. 4 in Leone Cole Auditorium. All military dependents concerned are urged to contact the university as soon as possible. Names of the needy families have been provided by the Department of Pensions and Securities.

This is the seventh time the students have organized such a party which has been very successful.

Calling All Intramural Players

By TIM ATKINSON

"How tall is he? Can he get thru the door without ducking? Yes? Can't he even DUNK the ball? Huh! Basketball's a tall man's game! What does he think this is - the intramural league!"

You're just an average sort of guy? Well, you've got lot's of company, old pal. Just because you are average in height and skill and in coordination and basketball ability doesn't mean you have to be just an average basketball competitor. IM basketball has a place for everybody.

Too much? Not if you are made of the right stuff. If you can pass you can play - on any IM team. In fact, they'll love you for it. You see, that's the trouble with most IM "stars"; they won't move without the ball.

Yes, Skinny, I know. You think you're too light. But you're pretty fast aren't you?

Heavyweights? Sure. Plenty of them. So what are you looking so glum about, Fat Stuff? You're too heavy and too slow? Well, now, that's no REAL handicap. Not if use your weight and "throw it around" to advantage.

Now you skyscrapers. Basketball is the game YOU ordered. Tall, ungainly "left-footers" have a place in the game, too. You're closer to the basket,

Lt. Gov. Lt. Gov. Jere Beasley spoke recently at Jacksonville State University as guest of the Student Government Association. He mostly answered questions from the audience, and said later he was very impressed with the students' interest in Alabama's assets and problems. Health Products Available

Sanasu Health Products are now available in Jacksonville.

The products include two kinds of tablets which supplement the diet. One tablet contains vitamins and herbs; the other contains minerals.

The purpose of the tablets is to bring about a good balance by providing the nutrients which are lacking in the diet because of the consumption of foods raised in poor soil and of too many processed foods. The specific purpose of the vitamin and herb table is to aid the reparative work of the tissues of the body, while that of the mineral tablet is to aid in the rebuilding of structures in the organs.

The tablets may be obtained in 60-day supplies from Charlie Severson, a JSU student. According to Severson, the tablets are "GUARANTEED TO MAKE YOU FEEL GREAT." He may be contacted at UCM House (435-7084).

Callahan - Remarkable

After the coaches saying that Boyce Callahan of Anniston's Saks High School was too small to play college football, it is now evident that sport coaches can be wrong as Boyce has stacked up a total of 3285 yards in rushing and passes the thousand-yard mark for the 1972 season, as he ran for 1087 yards this season.

Boyce has broken many records at JSU, the Gulf South Conference, and the N.A.I.A. during these three years and he is expected to break many fore records during his senior year at JSU. Even though this fame has come his way, Boyce is the first person to praise the ten other members of the offensive unit.

Boyce has a 2.0 average in the campus' school of Business. He is both an athlete and a scholar.

Coach Pell has stated that it was an honor to have such an athlete on the team and that he expects even greater things from Boyce next year.

Safety

Today it seems that everyone hears something, sometime about safety. We all seem to know that wet roads are dangerous, that speeding is hazardous, and that "defensive" driving could mean the difference between our life and death.

While it is easily recognized that if we speed that we run a higher risk of having an accident, and that if we do have an accident that one occurring while going 100 m.p.h. will probably be more serious than an accident which happened while doing 35 m.p.h., we all seem to forget and go a little faster than we should. We're late for school, so we get in a perhaps fatal rush.

We also realize that we must drive "defensively" and literally "Watch out for the other guy." Often we read about accidents which have involved wreckless driving and generally we tend to place these drivers and their accidents into a "drunken" category. But it isn't always the drunken driver who loses control of his car—it could be the minister who is daydreaming, or the mother who is trying to be a baby sitter while also a chauffeur.

We all seem to know something about safety on the highways. Yet it seems that what none of us really understand is that each of us is a potential fatality resulting from a car accident. Even when we read about accidents, we tend to remove ourselves far from the reach of the hand of death.

While all of us are potential victims of traffic mishaps, all of us who drive are, more important, potential murderers—that is, if you take the word murderer to mean one who takes a life.

Every coin has two sides. In the driving sense, we can be both victims and assailants. While we must watch out for the other guy, we must also watch out and see that we do not drive wrecklessly.

Even if we drive safely and so does everyone who we meet on the road, there is, unfortunately, still some chance that we will be involved in an accident. And there is, too, the factor that the more we're on the highway, the more likely we could meet this accident and, ourselves, become a statistic.

With holidays coming up and everyone returning to their homes, the CHANTICLEER would like to remind every Jax State student that, just like death, safety is a reality. It is not merely something dreamed up by the National Advertising Council to sell. Safety is your key to a happy holiday.

Broadway

Whoever invented the old saying that the best things in life are free, obviously was aware of the caliber of entertainment which has recently hit the Jax State campus.

Wednesday's presentation, CELEBRATION, played to a full-house of Jacksonville State students. It was not a hard rock concert, yet it was attended by numerous "freaks" who were obviously having a good time.

I'm sure that everyone who attended CELEBRATION will agree that it was professional in its lighting, scenery, and coordination. While its performers were not of the highest caliber, they were definitely above "average."

Another well-received presentation on campus was also "free." The SGA applauded for its candor and sincerity.

While the present entertainment at JAX STATE has always been good, it seems that those concerts and events which are free are somewhat superior. These concerts are superior, largely, in that they are well-received by students from all phases of the campus—conservative to liberals to ultra-liberals.

Perhaps all this points out a need for "re-evaluation" on the entertainment committee's part to determine exactly what kind of groups the Jax State campus wants. It is obvious, when one attends such events as CELEBRATION that a lot of students here still enjoy such things as "Fiddler On the Roof", and the like. Perhaps Broadway has an

LEDITORS

Editor, CHANTICLEER:

Whoever wrote the article denouncing "Who's Who In American Colleges and Universities" was obviously disgruntled that he was not among the group receiving the honor. He attempted to conceal his jealousy of those who were selected by describing the honor itself as "political in nature" and by describing the honored as "relatively obscure".

Apparently the author of that ego-restoration device knows very little about the selection procedure employed and the qualifications for "Who's Who." The administration has nothing whatever to do with the nomination of students to "Who's Who." Any student, regardless of how militant he may be, is eligible for nomination for the honor. Whether or not he is selected to appear in the publication is dependent upon many factors including grade point average, character, and participation in school affairs. A special committee makes the selections. I am told that neither Dr. Stone nor Dr. Montgomery is on that committee. Even if they were, I am sure they would make selections depending upon the person's accomplishments—not his opinions, political or otherwise.

He has insulted such people as Kwang Edeker, Jeff Frazier, Jim Cummings, Ricky Jones, Sharon McClellan, Harold Ragland, David Wirwahn, and others (including myself). These recipients of the 1972 "Who's Who" awards include SGA officers, a drum major, a campus beauty, and an associate editor of the MIMOSA. By participation in these and other campus activities, "Who's Who" members have distinguished themselves on this campus. Yet, he calls them obscure.

His further distortions include the statement that these people do nothing to help the average student. I daresay SGA members in 1972 "Who's Who" did more to help the average student than any SGA in the history of Jacksonville State University. Were they not instrumental in changing the curfew at girl's dormitories? Did they not lead the forces to change the meal ticket program? These people were always ready and willing to brandish the sword for any cause to help their fellow students at this University.

I think the author of that bit of misguided pen-lashing would consider "Who's Who" the ultimate achievement on campus if he had been chosen to that elite group. His disappointment must run deep to suggest that the University abrogate this honor on campus.

Sincerely,
Bill Spears

Editor, CHANTICLEER:

This is a letter concerning the present blood drive at Jax State. I realize that blood is needed throughout the country and I am not against the blood drive.

However, I am sure that an entire publication of the CHANTICLEER concerning the drive, along with a good number of posters is sufficient notice to all students.

Please, the food in the cafeteria is hard enough to swallow without one having to look at a big red drop of blood on the table. There is a time and a place for everything and the cafeteria IS NO PLACE to present such material.

Name withheld by request

Dear IM basketball players:

You are likely to be carried away by the glamour of the game and perhaps feel that your own personal gain is important, so important that you will be selfish and do things that will put you in the lime light. In doing this you neglect the others and make yourself disliked. Never lose sight of the fact that selfishness repels friendships. The proof of this is your own feeling toward selfish people. Others will feel the same way toward you, if you show yourself to be a selfish individual.

So when you are tempted to sacrifice principle for temporary gain just remember that immediate gain is sometimes not to be desired. The person who steals, gains for the time being but he pays and pays a terrible price for that gain. Life must be lived thru the years. What you do at fifteen will have much to do with what kind of life you are living at fifty and sixty and seventy. Many men live their lives only for immediate advantage. They never take the long-time viewpoint. As a result they become cynical old men, sometimes derelicts, because they failed to follow right principles in life. "If only youth knew what age can tell." Your face fifty years from now will reflect the kind of fellow you are now. Do not fall a snare to glamour. It is here today and gone tomorrow. Let galmour be incidental, never seek it.

Sincerely,
Mr. G. Sportsmanship

Mechanics

By Jim Harrington

I think we should all bow our heads for a moment of silent prayer for anyone who has ever faced the futile task of having work done on his car in Jacksonville. To try to make it plain to one of our mechanics exactly what the problem is, is not unlike trying to explain the advanced principles of atomic physics to a rutabaga. This is not to imply that they are of substandard intelligence; on the contrary, they are wizards of the highest magnitude. Their apparent ignorance is pre-planned and diabolically programmed to cause the customer the maximum in money as well as in torment.

First of all, no matter what the problem is, and no matter how well you explain it, the typical mechanic can't tell you a thing until he has "taken a look." This is an ingenious device on the part of the mechanic by which he is enabled to do his collective bargaining with you with the distinct advantage of having your car completely disassembled and scattered all over his garage floor:

"You was right, Hoss, it was just a loose sparkplug wire."

"Well good, I was worried about having to spend a lot of money on getting it fixed."

"Naw...hell, it won't cost ye a thing 'cept the labor...I can't put her back together for ye now, got to do a grease job on the '56 out yonder by five...you can come and git it a day after tomorrow."

"But..."

"Let's see, three days at $7.50 an hour comes to..."

And there you stand. What can you do? Take your car home in a shopping basket and put it back together yourself?

Secondly, no matter what is wrong with your car when you take it in to the shop, it seems mysteriously to acquire several other ailments before you get it back. Perhaps garages breed contagion in the same way as hospitals:

"Hi, did you get that carburetor fixed?"

"Yes sir, she's all fixed; settin' right over yonder."

"Good, what's the charge on that, I'll write you a check..."

A few moments later...

"Uh, excuse me...why won't my car start?"

"Well sir, I don't know. Elmo and I finished working on that carb this afternoon and when I tried to crank her for a test drive she just wouldn't spin! Guess the battery's dead."

"Well how much would it cost to have it charged?"

"Three dollars...but that won't work. We already tried that."

"Well, what IS wrong with it?"

"Well sir, I don't know...must be the voltage regulator probably got screwed up because the alternator's screwed up...I just don't know."

"Do you have any ideas on how we could find out what's wrong?"

"Well sir, I can tear it down and take a look for you...but I can't get to do it till day after tomorrow."

The day after tomorrow...

"Ole Elmo was right, Hoss, it was just a loose sparkplug wire! Wasn't nothing serious after all...Let's see; three days at $7.50 an hour comes to..."

"Forget it! Keep the damned thing!"

(Victim walks off into the sunset, sobbing uncontrollably.)

MAN AND CITIZEN: DE HOMINE AND DE CIVI, By Thomas Hobbes, Edited, with an Introduction by: Bernard Gert, publication date, December 1, 1972, $2.95, 400 pages.

This book brings together for the first time the complete translations of Hobbes' DE HOMINE and DE CIVI and should replace the LEVIATHAN as the best representation of his moral and political thought available in English. It contains the important second part of DE HOMINE in which Hobbes expressed his most mature thoughts on human nature and morality, which has never been translated into English before. Here it is translated jointly by Charles Wood, T.S.K. Scott-Craig and Bernard Gert. DE CIVI expresses his political philosophy and surpasses the more commonly studied LEVIATHAN in this area.

In his critical introduction to MAN AND CITIZEN, Bernard Gert clarifies misinterpretations of Hobbes' views on human nature, reason, morality, rights, obligations and laws using references in DE HOMINE and DE CIVI as verification. Gert goes on to discuss the attainment of peace and the avoidance of war as the motivation behind Hobbes' moral and political philosophy. In view of the fact that DE HOMINE was written several years after both DE CIVI and LEVIATHAN, Gert also feels that it should be considered the presentation of his final views on the topics discussed in all three.

Bernard Gert is Professor and Chairman of the Philosophy Department at Dartmouth College and author of THE MORAL RULES: A New Rational Foundation for Morality. Charles Wood and T.S.K. Scott-Craig are both Professors at Dartmouth, of History and Philosophy respectively.

THE OTHER ISRAEL: THE RADICAL CASE AGAINST ZIONISM, Edited by: Arie Bober, Foreword by: Sol Yurik, Publication Date December 1, 1972, $2.50, 280 pages.

ISRAEL...founded on the traditional religious concept of the Jews that this is their true homeland, granted them by God.

If one decided, as the Israeli Socialist Organization has, that the only solution for peace between the Arabs and the Israelis lies in the invalidation of this emotional appeal for Jewish survival and the reconsideration by the Jews of an entire national group (the Palestinian Arabs), one would have the beginnings of a heated controversy advocating the formation of a socialist federation in the Middle East, composed of Arabs and Jews.

In THE OTHER ISRAEL, members of the Israeli Socialist Organization begin with an historical analysis of the problem, tracing it back to the start of the Jewish emigration under the direction of Baron Rothschild; they continue with an interpretation of Israeli as well as Jewish history in terms of political, economic, social and ideological factors, and then present the case for the Palestinian Resistance by outlining some of the evils associated with the Zionist nature of Israeli society. Its distinguishing feature is its radical internationalism.

Arie Bober and the other members of the ISO split from the Communist Party when its strongly anti-Zionist stance became too unpopular among orthodox Israeli Communists. Both Jews and Arabs make up the membership of the ISO, which is the sole factor distinguishing it from other leftist parties, and although the party is legal, its members are subjected to police harassment, and the Arabs are often driven into hiding.

JSU Keeps Tradition

By JIM OWENS
and RON FLOYD

The Gamecocks kept their 27-year Homecoming tradition by scoring a 39-20 win over the Florence Lions on a cold, dreary, and wet Saturday afternoon.

The Lions drew first blood as they scored a TD on a 23 yard drive after a JSU fumble. William McCormick kicked the PAT to make the score read Florence - 7, Jax State - 0. The score remained the same throughout the first quarter.

Wayne Boyd started the second quarter off in the right way as he intercepted a Florence pass at the 32. This event began the first JSU scoring drive with Terry Grammers catching a Brock pass deep in the end zone. Joe Hix made the PAT and the score read Jacksonville - 7, Florence - 7, with 14:34 left in the second quarter.

A few moments later a FSU defender grabbed another JSU fumble at the Florence 36. From this point Florence mounted a 64 yard scoring drive that was finalized by a nine-yard aerial from Weavers to Trimble. The PAT was void and the score read FSU - 13, JSU - 7.

With 29 seconds remaining on the clock, JSU began another drive and with one-half second of time showing, Grammer grabbed a Brock pass in the end zone. Hix booted the PAT and the score read JSU - 14, Florence - 13, at the half.

The fans had their usual great treat of bands during the homecoming half.

The third quarter was overwhelmingly JSU's as they got a gift from the defense in the form of Marcum intercepting at the 40. From this point the Gamecocks mounted another scoring drive in the form of Boyce Callahan as he carried the ball on all six plays of the drive as he rumbled the final 6 yards into the end zone with just over a minute elapsed in the quarter. Hix put his toe through the ball to make the score 21-13, JSU's favor.

quarter. The PAT was no good and the score read JSU - 27, FSU - 13.

With 1:09 left in the third, King made a 3-yard run around the end for six more points. The PAT was made good by McCormick, as the scoreboard JSU leading 27-20.

The final quarter had more fireworks as Blankenship scored a 3-yard drive making the score read JSU - 33, FSU - 20.

Boyd presented Brock with another interception at the FSU 26 after a 36-yard return. The Gamecocks took only 7 plays to hit pay-dirt as Grammer grabs the pigskin for 6 points. Hix misses the PAT and the final score read JSU - 39, Florence - 20.

IT'S GREAT TO BE A GUY WHO IS ON THE BALL

Anytime. Anywhere. And if you're going to college, you've obviously already thought about being the man on the ball. Army ROTC can help you get there. With a commission as an Army officer at graduation you can go right on to get the kind of leadership experience that only the officer corps can give. Managing men and material. Dealing with people from every background. Real responsibility. All negotiable in a later civilian career. ROTC can be a lot of help to you in college, too. Give you walking around money your last two years. Good pay at summer camp. And a chance to get a full-tuition scholarship. ARMY ROTC. A great way to make it. For additional information contact the

JSU Vs. Montevallo

The JSU Basketball team got their season off to a hot start on a cold November night by defeating the Montevallo team by a score of 103 to 77. The Montevallo team was 4-2 at the time while the Basketball Gamecocks were just starting their season.

The home warriors were paced by forward Billy Almon with 23 points. The other members of the team scoring were John Woody 19, Larry Ginn 11, Ronnie Money 10, Charles Nunn 9, Howard Hatcher and John Cobb had 8 each, Danny Smith had 7, while Jim Curry and Jerrold Berry had 4 each for the Gamecocks.

Chris Davis and Gerald Douglass lead the scoring for Montevallo with 21 and 12 points respectively. The other members of the teams that scored were Ernie Cullop with 10 points, Charles Averhart had 9, James Newman 8, Owen Butts and Dale Hughey had 6 each, Gene Meadows had 4, and Mark Adams rounded out the scoring with 2 points.

This game was never in doubt as far as the JSU supporters were concerned as the team lead by a tune of 47 to 34 at the half.
