A View Of The Faculty Senate

The Faculty Senate is a twenty-seven member representative organization whose purpose is to aid communications between the faculty and the administration. It is advisory in nature and, as such, does not make policy but seeks to influence it. The CHANCELEER, in order to give a more precise view of the effectiveness of the Faculty Senate in performing its functions, interviewed Dr. Jerry Smith, president of the University.

Dr. Smith, what do you consider the purpose of the Faculty Senate to be?

In my view, the faculty senate serves two major purposes: one, it provides faculty input into the decision-making processes of the university, and two, it facilitates the flow of communication within the university community.

How does this input occur?

Input occurs when the senate recommends changes in existing university policies or which suggest the creation of new policies. The recommendations are transmitted to the University Administration to be added to the mixture of input from other constituencies before a policy is altered or initiated. In addition, the president of the Senate has opportunities to inject faculty input through his service on various University committees, for example, the Educational Council and the Academic Council. Of course, the existence of the senate does not preclude the development of faculty input from other sources, but rather establishes one formal method for faculty use.

How is communication facilitated?

The Senate has attempted to improve its communications function by publishing a FACULTY NEWSLETTER and a SENATE REPORT at regular intervals. The last REPORT was utilized to disseminate information to the faculty regarding the University's newly established salary schedule, simply because the method was a rapid and effective means to reach the faculty on a matter of special importance. The NEWSLETTER and REPORT constitute only a portion of the methods by which the Senate can remove impediments to the flow of communication at this University. A vigorous, ongoing Senate can improve communication in each of the three major organizational directions, upward, downward, and lateral.

Is the Faculty Senate a viable force in determining University policy relating to faculty needs?

Yes, but it needs to improve. The Senate needs to be more on the spot, more responsive to the needs of the faculty. Some progress has been made in this direction, but more needs to be done. The Faculty Senate is really a section of the college community, and as such, it can only serve as an aid to the college community.

Each organization is responsible for having one representative present at the preliminary judging (Nov. 9). Immediately following the judging there will be a meeting of the six Homecoming candidates and their sponsors. This meeting is for confirming dates, schedules, etc., so that there will not be any misunderstandings among the finalists, sponsors, organization, and Homecoming committee.

What changes in Administration policy do you feel are needed and why?

Generally, I think the Administration needs to become more responsive to the Faculty. Progress has been achieved in that direction but more should be forthcoming. I think the faculty is going to seek some change in that area of teaching loads, student

Courses Change Refund Denied

Students who withdraw or drop courses, beginning this semester, face a "no refund" policy. To find out the "why" of the new policy, CHANCELER Staff Writer Lillian Turner interviewed Charles Rowe, Business Manager for the University. Following is a report of that interview.

The cost to handle dropped or added courses come out of every student's tuition. In order to keep students from taking advantage of other students, it was necessary to put the new policy into effect.

When a student registers he creates a contract with the University to prepare a place for him in each of the classes. Even though a course is dropped, the University must still pay for it. This effect.

Why?

Much to the surprise of some senate members on October 11, the SGA did not hold its regular meeting.

Advanced warning, though given, was positive. This, as high expected, caused several inconveniences as several "uninformed" senators showed up for the canceled meeting.

While it will be time before the important things are settled on at SGA meetings, and while it may also time that students were won't be appealing below their lack of representation in this particular week, it doesn't alter the fact that a violation of the SGA constitution occurred.

Absentee Voting

For the average person who votes in the town where he is registered, casting a ballot is as easy as walking down the street, submitting a name to an election official, entering the voting booth and ticking the appropriate lever. But for the person who lives in a town and voting elsewhere, the process means applying for and receiving an absentee ballot.

Voting absentee is a complicated, almost dizzying procedure. It is also risky. The confusion of deadlines, application forms, special signatures and rigid directions may even result in a discarded ballot.

Sometimes absentee voting is a necessity. Certainly, if a student prefers a person's home address, a student in another town may not be able to register there. For freshmen and transfer students, the choice may not exist. Students might arrive on campus too late to meet the thirty-day residency requirement.

For the student who must vote absentee, there are many procedures that must be followed. They all revolve around one important factor: Time.

In many cases, it will take as many as several "uninformed" senators showed up for the canceled meeting.

The red tape involved in voting absentee is a legal requirement of each teacher and is not subject to University policy. Since the point is so obviously clear to all those committed to the development of personal freedom and to personal responsibility for such freedom, it is not necessary to further discuss either the theoretical basis or the implications of this point. It is enough, moreover, to give an example of such a system in practice and the effects which it has had.

For the first case, I shall give the example of a close friend who recently graduated from the University of a particular week, it does not alter the fact that a violation of the SGA constitution occurred.

Jacksonville State is high school for the wrong reasons. That is, compared with German Universities, the teaching professors. For the rest of the semester, he worked. In his spare time (taken from his activities as a woman-chaser and wine drinker) he managed to study enough to make a C average that semester.

I also know the case of a student at the University of Heidelberg who has arranged with his teachers to do all of his work at home. In this way, he continues to study while supporting himself and his wife as a teacher.

This system applies also in Japan, where classes are usually too large and seats may or may not be gotten in the lecture rooms. Here it is often impractical to study a good part of notes than to attend class.

Thus, we can see, that at least in the case of class attendance, there is an alternative to the liberal arts system. Furthermore, considering the high standard of living (and the even higher standard of culture) existing in Europe as well the phenomenal economic progress being made by the Japanese, their way of doing things can hardly be adjudged as a failure. For in the final analysis, there is only one system which can be regarded as being truly effective, for which the teacher is expected to be good enough to receive respect and the student responsible enough to be successful.

This then, is a true education, as opposed to a liberal education.
Editor's note: The original title of this letter was "TO JOHN CHARLES EVERYWHERE I MAY FIND HIM (The Obscure Son of a Gun)."

In addition to the new and somewhat indifferent developments occurring in our detectability of matters unknown, in fact, to ourselves or to our instructors in such matters, it becomes obvious that certain definite realizations are in order to insulate the path of that of the greatest facilitation of which few are found in spite of extra-seeings into one's own or one's own associates' lives, writings, and deliveries. In defense of these propositions which in true unrelated necessity is totally non-existent for the simple reasons of the mere detection of these pre-existent facts! It becomes a reason for such minds as cannot be found by meager and whimsical detection or by hearted, superficial effort for doing, well. Furthermore, by the mere fact that their experience with such matters is, in truth, one of light lregarb; tribute to the glory of these facts and to the eventual destruction of these means by which these goals are attained, or by their attempted attainment.

In realization of the fact that the discussion can, by no surpassable means, or our ever-exchanging society of ideas, or (by all means) their non-candid manifestations, can we, by any stretch of our excruciating and ever-ending ambitions, in a happiness worthy of our affluent approval or even acceptance. What, then, are the reasons for the execution of such things as the public do the job requires. Few realize the trials and tribulations, and the upper-tiers of victims of drunk, small-time thieves, big-time thieves, practical jokers, non-practical jokers, and numerous other misdemeanors and felonies. With all these problems, the Jacksonville City Police have a way to keep their cool.

Speaking from some experience with the Jacksonville City Police, they are excellent. And efficiency comes from the police. It should be hard to find a more guy than Assistant Chief Jackson. Attitudes like his help to reconcile the police with the students. To understand what makes a student do what he does and to be able to cope with it makes for good police work. From the looks of it, the Jacksonville City Police have the ability and the time and the students and the citizens of Jacksonville will give them a chance. Maybe we have started already.

A simple look around will show Jacksonville is a pleasant place. Tom town, too quiet for some, but, nonetheless, quiet enough.

Dear Editor,

As a recent graduate of Jacksonville State University, I would like to present my thoughts with the class of 1976. Many of you have vigorous ambitions and goals that bring you to this place. Let us pursue them during the next four years.

Perhaps many of you are here just to see your friends, hear your lectures, and learn....

No matter what or where you have been, you've come to Jacksonville, the next four months will be great moments in your life.

This period of your life could be the most exciting and challenging, but also could be the period of much frustration and loneliness. Is it possible that Jacksonville has not fulfilled your expectations you had set as instant happiness or success as you had hoped? I know that I expected more, and I've been in the crowd until I realized that I could not be reached until I reached out. Take advantage of the Jacksonville City Police. They are a college police, reach out and become a full-fledged student of the "Friendliest Campus in the South.

I wish success and happiness to each of you and hope that you will join the ranks of a alumni in 1976.

Sincerely,

Kwang N. Edeker
President

In getting through the year, one becomes personally involved with the shape of the university and the city. After all, the Jacksonville State police are known for their hardness with outsiders. This myth has less weight than it is given credit for.

Mimosa To Establish File

In cooperation with the SGA, the MIMOSA staff is making an attempt to establish an official file of all chartered organizations on campus. It is important that such a file be available to assure adequate representation and deserved recognition in the university publications.

Faculty advisors and/or presidents of each organization are asked to fill out the following form, place it in an envelope and put it under the door of the MIMOSA office, Room 101, Bibb Graves Hall.

The information requested on the form will be shared with the Student Government Association.

census purposes. This means that the college town receives the benefit of the student's residency; the student is counted to the town's advantage in its reapportionment formula for Congress and state legislatures and in its per capita formulas for state and federal aid.

The myth that students are more transient than the rest of the population and therefore are less interested in the community than others has been disputed by a Student Vote study. The study shows that students within a one-year period are less transient than non-college youth. Young professionals, for example, are subject to frequent or sudden transfers or moves. Zimmermann feels strongly about the input students can offer to the political structure of his college town.

The Supreme Court states: "The energy and idealism of the young is probably needed even more at the local level than at the national level."

Another argument against students registering on campus infers that because a student may have a different viewpoint from the town's traditional electorate they therefore shouldn't be able to vote there. "The Supreme Court has clearly said that how a voter will cast his ballot is irrelevant in determining whether a citizen can vote at a place," says Zimmermann. "If a student who is a bona fide resident brings a more national, less parochial viewpoint to local issues, that is what is known as democracy.

Where a student registers and votes depends on his own life, as well as ease of voting issues and the effects of local elections in local government, knowledge of the issues and the effects of local elections on his own life, as well as ease of voting must be considered.

"Everything You’ve Always Wanted To Know About The Cougars But Were Afraid To Ask"

Analysis

The Cougars are a team about which many things could be said. Also, the Cougars are a team about which many things have been said, many of which perhaps should not have been said. To get to the bottom of it all, in an attempt to separate fact from fiction, we went to David White, and the manager of the Cougars.

First, he told us about his offensive team. At center is 195-lb. Richard Thompson; you’ll hear more about him later. Right guard is big 280-lb. Mike Rah. Tight end is 165-lb. Billy Nolan. Split end is 195-lb. Roger Cassen. Alternating with Roger is Duane Willoughby. The left tackle is romping, stomping 225-lb. Champ Goolsby. At right flanker is 205-lb. Rickey Floyd. Their left end is 200-lb. Randy Blaire. Defensive tackles are Richard Thompson and Champ Goolsby. The linebackers are 200-lb. Wayne Vandell, 180-lb. Jim Quillian, and Vacarella. The defensive backs are David White, 180-lb. Jim Roberson and 160-lb. Don Thrasher. They have a very strong defensive team.

Vacarella also told us about his defense. The nose man is 200-lb. Randy Blaire. Defensive tackles are Richard Thompson and Champ Goolsby. The linebackers are 200-lb. Wayne Vandell, 180-lb. Jim Quillian and Vacarella. The defensive backs are David White, 180-lb. Jim Roberson and 160-lb. Don Thrasher. They have a very strong defensive team.

Vacarella

The Cougars have a glorious past. In the last 5 years they have won the championship four times. They have had three perfect seasons. One year they were 94 and last year was their worst season with 7-3. In fact, they have dominated all intramural sports, not just football. Because of this Vacarella believes that everybody is against the Cougars.

Richard Thompson

Center on offensive, tackle on defense and also playing on the special teams, is the strongest man on the team. He plays everywhere on the field. He has never been beaten. Hewhips everybody he goes up against. Vacarella honestly believes that no one can beat Thompson. He is mean and aggressive and he gives 100 percent all the time. Unfortunately, because of this he draws more than his share of penalties for unnecessary roughness.

The defense is big and quick. The linebackers have amazing speed of movement and the line, believe it or not, is even quicker. If you are going to beat them, you have got to want to beat them. Speaking about the whole team, Vacarella has words of praise. They have potential at every position. They have lots of experience. They are bigger and faster than last year. Last year the team carried 40 players, but this year they have cut it down to much less because they had too many Indians. Now they are balanced at every position and they play as a team rather than as individuals.

The Cougars have a glorious past. In the last 5 years they have won the championship four times. They have had three perfect seasons. One year they were 94 and last year was their worst season with 7-3. In fact, they have dominated all intramural sports, not just football. Because of this Vacarella believes that everybody is against the Cougars. You know, when you are No. 1 everybody is out for your blood. People always root for the underdog, so if you are on top it doesn't matter who you play-everybody wants to see you lose.

Vacarella likes the new rules in flag football. He thinks they are better because they protect both teams and they cut down on fights. The game is still rough, but people don't get hurt as much as they used to. He believes that intramurals should be open to anybody in the school. Any limitations such as a certain grade standard, etc. would destroy the whole program.

The Cougars have played in the Allstar game three years in a row. This year they have eleven players who were allstars last year. They have always been the team to beat and they will be the team to beat this year. And it will take a mighty good team to do it.

Some people (perhaps many people) don't like the Cougars. They call them the Fighting Fraternity. (Cougars refer to themselves as Sigma Gamma.)

They say the Cougars go into a game wanting to kill off your team's opponents. Vacarella maintains that this is not true. The cougars don't want to hurt anybody. They are just trying to play their best, to put out 100 percent for their team and for the sport. They just want to win. After all, doesn't everybody?

Basketball Officials Needed In Anniston

The Anniston Park and Recreation Department needs several basketball officials.

Any person interested in these positions should apply at the Office of Parks and Recreation in the Municipal Golf Course Building on Johnson Drive in Anniston.

The department will conduct a series of clinics for those who fill these positions. Experience is helpful, but definitely not essential.

These positions are paid positions.

Top shooter for Georgia State was Barney L. Tucker with a score of 266. The team shooters were Brent Williams, score 264, Sonny Adams, score 261, Steve Curlee, score 247, Ronald Shook, score 241.

The Lion's luck at running an offense against the stubborn JSU defense and Mother Nature's waterfalls but they failed.

Fumbles and turnovers highlighted the playing style for both teams throughout the rest of the first quarter.

The Flaming Marching Southerners show was rained out but "The Little Group", the brass section of the Southerners, bravely a drumming to perform on the field.

The Gamecocks received the third quarter kickoff and raced 62 yards in 8 plays to score with 2:43 left in the quarter. Hix added the PAT to make the score read JSU 10 - S.E. Louisiana 6. This scoring drive was the only offensive action in the quarter as the defenses dominated the other.

Coed First To Enroll In Military Science Program

By JM SELMAN

If you should enter the Military Science I classroom at the ROTC building, Jacksonville State University, around eleven o'clock in the morning you will probably look twice. For among the cadets you will see an attractive redhead, Pam Byrom.

This fall Pam became the first co-ed at Jacksonville State to enroll in Military Science.

Miss Byrom is an interesting addition (and attraction) to the regular cadet classes. When asked why she enrolled in the program she stated, "I wanted to see what the boys were being taught for one thing, but the primary reason is that I wish to become an army nurse, and this way I can find out what the Army is really like."

Being around the military and military subjects is not a strange thing for Pam. Her father is LTC Robert Byrom, an Assistant PMS in the ROTC Department at Jacksonville State for almost three years.

She is a 1972 graduate of Jacksonville High School, where she was active in the French Club and the National Honor Society. She was the Exchange Club Girl of the month for December 1971 at Jacksonville and is a member of the JSU Rifle Team. Pam resides with her mother and father at 1208 Eighth Ave., Jacksonville.

IM Spectators Support Urged

The intramural athletic department wishes to remind all spectators at the new field that the road adjacent to the field is a one-way road and that you cannot park there or you may get a ticket from the friendly police. You are also reminded not to drive your car across or upon the other fields which are not in use.

Driving across the fields will definitely ruin them and thereby defeats the entire efforts of the intramural department who are trying to keep the field in its best condition so that no one will get hurt.

Pep Rally

There will be a pep rally this Thursday night and all loyal supporters of the Gamecocks are reminded to attend and show the Gamecocks that you are behind them all the way.

Coach Scouts

Twenty-two shooting awards have been won by 48 Boy Scouts of Troop 8, Choccolocoo Council during a Rifle Team-Law Enforcement-Hunter Safety and Training Exercise conducted on the JSU ROTC Range.

Scout Deni Moran of Weaver, coached by Malcolm Street led the field of shooters with a close-to-perfect 96 of 100 possible points to be awarded the National Rifle Associations POMarksmen Medal. Scout Stan Allen of Aniston was second with a score of 91.

Scout Charles Lanundo, also of Aniston, placed third.

This challenging and exciting shooting program is now in its third year at JSU. Over 75 shooters will participate in it this semester. Over 41 other JSU students and locally affiliated club members also participate in the Hunter Safety, Competitive Rifle, Competitive Pistol, and Police Pistol Programs.
