Bikes On Campus Cause No Problem

By DOTTIE LAWRENCE

Despite the greatly increased number of bicycle riders at JSU this fall, Chief Murray of the Campus Police reports that bicycles have actually caused no traffic problems on campus.

Traffic congestion caused by bicycles has not become a problem here as it has on some other campuses in the country. According to Chief Murray, the only problem the campus police have had with bicycle riders is that some have had to be cautioned about going the wrong way on one-way streets.
by CARI PHILLIPS

Richard Spenser, an Independent from Atlanta, who is running for the seat that incumbent Blount as the junior senator from Alabama, urges JSU students to vote for him, Blount and Nixon, and not to vote a straight ticket.

Since he joined the effort last June 13, he has distributed both mail and handbills, and made personal contact, with the assistance of 30 others on campus, 4 different brochures to 2,000 Blount supporters and 500 Nixon supporters. He has identified those supporters who were not registered or needed absentee ballots.

Spenser feels that Blount should be supported because he is a new dynamic figure in the political arena, and Nixon will create a definite two-party system in Alabama through votes and not through the collection of money.

Spenser also feels that Blount has sufficient experience in government through his former post as Postmaster General, during which time he advanced postal reforms which have been needed. "Since the days of Benjamin "Eisenhower," he believes that the political institution can be remolded into a private, independent organization.

Blount says of welfare, "The present system is a miserable failure. We need to have a system that provided incentives to get people who are able to work off welfare rolls and onto payrolls."

Concerning foreign aid, Blount asserts, "We've given military aid to countries that have missed it, and we've offered economic assistance to other countries that have been un.This has to stop."

As to the matter of the environment, Blount, through Spenser, says that everything possible will be done to reclaim our water, air, and lands. As to Senator Sparkman's poor voting record on the environment, Spenser suggests, "Old people are geared to old ways and it's time to change. This change will be with red Blount."

Spenser, who is relatively inactive with regards to the Nixon effort in Alabama, states that the reason for this is that, according to two major polls on campus, Nixon has the support of over 56 per cent of the JSU student population. Moreover Spenser asserts that the President is not campaigning much because he works full-time, attending to the affairs of the entire country.

As to the issues of Vietnam and of the popularity of cycling as a means of transportation to be a problem, Nixon urges more students to take to the roads. He states that citizens should ride on the right side of the road as motorist do, and that it is preferable for them to ride as far to the right as possible.

POW-MIA, Blount, who wears one of the bracelets and refuses "to use it as a political football," states, "I support the concept of Vietnam refugees to develop capabilities of the South Vietnamese to defend their country. We should continue our efforts to develop the facilities in South Vietnam and not maintain a residual force only until our prisoners of war are safely returned."

As to the statements made by Carl Crutchfield in the last issue of the CHANTECLER concerning the efforts of Henry Kissinger and the continued use of President Nixon's name in the campaign, Spenser states that he tends to disagree with these statements. He asserts that Kissinger's past diplomatic agreements were accomplished by many that the agreements could not have been done; and that if Kissinger was not born a German, he would have been an excellent President. As to the discontinued use of Ike's name, he believes that although it may be true that there were a Korea and Vietnam different situations, but that Nixon does not not need Eisenhower's name as a crutch to obtain more votes.

Concerning the assertion that the Young, for grant and youth for Nixon are eniced and are true volunteers, Spenser counters that, in his experience with the effort since he joined, it lacks credibility, for nothing of the sort was mentioned.

Finally Spenser states that the slogan "RED CAN DO IT!" means nothing unless Blount is supported by the people.

Further information can be obtained from Bill Spenser or Bill Smith at 124 Dixon Hall or 435-1431.

Critical questions confront the eleven million newly enfranchised voters reaching the ballot box. Who will man elected on a promise to end the war broken faith with the American people? Can the American people stomach the idea that the color of the bodies has changed? Has the sense of moral outrage over Napalming and bombing changed? Do the notions of Carvell and Haynesworth to the highest court mark a planned retreat from the commitment to racial justice? Is the bugling of Democratic National Committee Headquarters symptomatic of an emerging Orwellian nightmare? Has the Nixon administration sold out to big business?

And what of the senator from South Dakota? Will his economic proposals bankrupt the economy? Do the Eagleton fiasco and the “refining” of the proposals of the primaries portend a presidency based on vacillation? Will McGovern, by reducing the military budget, diminish the diplomatic efforts of the U.S.? Is the war against? Page to the road war?

The questions are, of course, loaded. There are few simple answers. But the issues so far have exposed the intimated promises and four facts are clear:

1. First, the candidates vying for the presidency differ widely in ideology and outlook. The potential voter cannot sit this one out on the grounds that the choice is between Twodle Dum and Tweddle Dee.

2. Second: The new voter who refuses to cast a ballot is shirking the responsibility which he has claimed he deserved. To refuse to vote or vote casualty is to solicit the disgust of those who demanded the 18 year old vote. It is also to walk away from those who told you so in history from the cynics and the sceptics.

3. Third: The college student cannot choose to remain unaffected by the direction of national leadership. If the President of the United States chooses to tolerate unemployment and underemployment, for example, the PH- D. of today will continue to be the cab driver of tomorrow, and students with B.A.'s and B.A.'s will continue to pile into secretarial pools and factories.

4. Fourth: The establishment listens to numbers. History will record that the young rose up from the college campuses in search of a leader to end a war they judged immoral. History should record that the young also managed to sensitize the nation to the need for ecological balance, population control, equal rights for minorities. By refusing to vote, the student invites inattention and guarantees that the interests of the young will not be served.

The message is clear. An important choice must be made. First: Who will be the leader? November 7 will participate in making it. Those who boycott the ballot box will succeed only in ripping themselves off.

The message is simple. Vote.

Jacksonville State prides itself as the “friendliest campus in the South.” This idea, or obsession, is such that the University even stamps this motto on all of its official correspondence. Friendliness, however, is not always that which one finds on the Jax State campus.

Last week when candidate for Alabama senator, Winton Blount appeared on campus, he was generally well received by the students of Jax State.

One student, however, only a few feet away from this distinguished guest, made the remark, “If he comes near me, I’ll kick him.”

Friendliness towards all individuals. It is extremely unfortunate that a gentleman such as Winton Blount would or could ever be exposed to such rudeness. It is even more unfortunate to think that Mr. Blount was to ever be exposed to such disrespectfulness, that it would happen while visiting the “FRIENDLIEST CAMPUS IN THE SOUTH.”

It is absurd to think that just because a student is enrolled at Jacksonville State University that he will fall into such a “friendly” stereotype. It is extremely disheartening, also, to think that those who rebel from this idea to the degree that they make snide remarks in the presence of a former president are the majority, would be a popular and well-known student.

There are times when having a title such as “Trivia” for this column limits one so much as to the extent to which I am able to deal with anything in the column that isn’t trivial. This is not one of those times. Last week’s “Trivia” section of the CHANTICLEER has blessed me with a topic that would warm the heart of even the most devout “trivia-haters.”

Of course, this is a view held by quite a few Americans, most of whom have valid reasons for their belief. It is the reasoning Mr. Coy used in arriving at this conclusion that I found to be worth noting if only as a study in absurdity. Let me outline Mr. Coy’s reasoning for you.

Premise One: Mr. Nixon made a prejudicial statement about the Charles Van Tine trial. Therefore, Mr. Nixon is mentally deficient.

Premise Two: Mr. Nixon ordered the strategic neutralization of Communist bases of operation in Cambodia. Therefore, Mr. Nixon is a mental case.

Premise three: Mr. Nixon went to “that monument” at 5 a.m. to speak with (and try to reassure) protesters there. Therefore, Mr. Nixon is emotionally abnormal.

Premise Four: Mr. Nixon phoned Coach Shula of the Miami Dolphins at 1 a.m. to discuss a football play (and, by the way, to wish him luck in the Sugar Bowl). Therefore, Mr. Nixon displayed mental weakness.

Premise Five: Many men have died in Vietnam since Mr. Nixon took office. Therefore, Mr. Nixon is getting away with “murder” and is analogous to Adolf Hitler.

Conclusion: Mr. Nixon is “the worst example of a president we have had” and if we replace him we “can’t make much of a mistake.”

The only redeeming quality I can find in Mr. Coy’s arguments is that they are laughable. They represent logic abused to an absurd degree. Lewis Carroll would be green with envy if Elmer Coy’s intention had been satirical. But it wasn’t.

There are strong, valid arguments to be formed in support of either side of this year’s political choice. I might suggest to our “Coy”-ant-Nixonite that if you decide yourself where you stand the political stand is, back that stand up with all of the facts you can obtain, and then, if you remain undeterred by a logical conclusion, then, you can’t make much of a mistake.

It is my contention that student priorities are very much misplaced at Jacksonville. For instance, three years ago one of the biggest issues concerned the quality of toilet paper issued by the University. Many students complained that this was the cause of too much time being wasted in the bathroom. This was the main reason why there were compelled by the sensitivity of their respective derriers to buy a more sensitive (one might say sympathetic) tissue. Fortunately, the University’s decision was a sensible one. It bought up quantities of a less papermy material and, thereby, actually cut down on the use of a substance which wastes itself on matters having no substantive import. It is actually a credit to the administration of the University that the SGA was not long ago discarded as being an economically unfeasible drain on the University budget.

One example of its ornamentality is that of homecoming. This is hardly the function which is theoretically, supposed to help mold university policy regarding the student body. My reasoning, in effect, is simple. Homecoming was, as its primary function the attraction of alumni attention and, more importantly, alumni money. Its secondary purpose is to provide students with a convenient extra excuse for getting drunk and smoking pot. Therefore, it is only logical that the university (and not a Student Committee with a chairman appointed by the President of the SGA) be entirely responsible for the administration of her own festivities. In that the general atmosphere of homecoming contributes to student debauchery, students should help out through the nature and how committees. In no case, though, should student assistance be expected as a simple matter of cause. For, in essence, homecoming is a medieval
Speed

The Traffic Department here at Jax State should be commended on its fine job of giving traffic tickets. I would dare say that any student who parks in the wrong zone will be given a ticket if he remains there over thirty minutes.

The greater problem on campus, however, is that of reckless driving. Lack of crosswalks in numerous busy places on campus cause hazardous situations for all students who walk to and from classes. Also the traffic lights, or more precisely, walk lights, do not work. Even when the light changes to red, the corresponding “Walk” light does not work. The job done by the Traffic officers on campus, as I have said, is superb. The officers, however, should spend more time enforcing speed limits and watching out for reckless driving before somewhere and sometime, someone gets killed.

Traffic officers should definitely continue to give tickets and regulate parking; however, the present need seems to be that of slowing down the hurried Jax State students.

How many deaths do you know of that have resulted from parking in a wrong zone?

Dear JSU STUDENTS AND FACULTY:

I hope you will join me in supporting Red Blount in the General Election for the U.S. Senate on November 7th. I have met Mr. Blount and was impressed that a man of his stature would take the time to answer my questions in such detail. He impresses me as a man who gets the job done when he starts one and his record in Washington and here at home backs this up. I think we need fewer politicians in Washington and more citizens concerned with getting the job done.

Mr. Blount has worked with the Congress while he was Postmaster General and saw first hand the need for reform in the way our country is managed in Washington. He would like to make our government more responsive to the needs of the people and I believe that Red can do it if anyone can.

I hope that you will support our efforts to get Red Blount elected.

Sincerely,

Editor, CHANTICLEER:

There’s no good reason in the world for Jacksonville State’s not having a wrestling team this year. “Lack of facilities and money,” my rear!

All we would need, besides enough men to participate in the sport, is one wrestling mat, which would probably cost around $2,000--barely a fraction of what is spent on many activities at JSU.

The Calhoun County Theater is offering a special discount to JSU students.

Students may purchase tickets from the SGA which are regularly $1.50 for only $1.00.

Tickets are good for any showing.

Dear Editor:
The article “Crutchfield Urges Students to Vote Straight Ticket” in the October 24 CHANTICLEER contains several misrepresentations and a few outright fallacies.

According to the article, “McGovern further asserts that while Nixon claims to be a peace candidate, he asks for the largest defense budget in U.S. history.” If Senator McGovern does assert this, then he isn’t very well informed on defense matters. Due to President Nixon’s support of efficiency programs, the cutting of red tape, and his gigantic troop withdrawals from Vietnam, the decrease has been significant between Fiscal Year 1969 and 1973 fell $3 billion, which, in terms of constant buying power, is the lowest since 1961. During the Nixon Administration, the defense budget has been cut by a third—the sharpest cut since World War II, and our manpower levels are at the lowest point since 1960. Yet during the last four years of the Johnson Administration, Defense spending rose $32 billion. Senator McGovern wants to cut our defense budget to $64.4 billion for 1976, a move which Senator Hubert Humphrey says would cut “not just the fat, but the very bone of our defense.” The Brookings Institute, using study methods developed by McGovern advisor Charles Schulte, has determined the lowest safe Defense budget to be $66 billion—11.2 billion more than Senator McGovern’s suggestion.

Senator McGovern would like to “help (the) ordinary citizen avoid heavy taxes by plugging loop-holes that allow large businesses to escape paying share.” Yet the Senator, in the McGovern encyclopedia, proposes no less than twelve new “loop-holes,” for such purposes as getting people to move to rural areas. But all “loop-holes” have a good reason behind them—whether it is giving tax breaks to people who live in rural areas, or giving oil depletion allowances so the prices of gas and oil won’t skyrocket. Sen.

Sincerely,
Richard Sprouse
JAX Student

Editor,

As a “walking member” of the Jacksonville State University student body, I wish to encourage all students to be extremely careful when crossing streets.

Many students who drive completely ignorant pedestrians in the crosswalk. Going to class each day has become quite a challenge—you never know if you'll make it.

Why can’t policemen who give tickets stop giving tickets to. If I can’t finish my whole meal while I’m in the cafeteria, but want to bring it with me, shouldn’t I be allowed to do that? I’m supposed to throw my food away whether I want to or not. I find that very unrealistic and unfair.

About the quality of the food. More pure meat prepared in grease free. The vegetables prepared with less butter and flour. No limit on the amount of salad you want to eat, and fresh fruit for desert.

About the times and the place, when and where the weekend meals are going to be served. The information could be published in the newspaper each week, and in addition to that, properly posted in the cafeteria, at least one day in advance.

About the rule, that says that we can’t carry-out from the cafeteria. The food we have paid for, and belongs to us, is taken away from us, without our agreement, and we don’t quite know what to call that impolite? Illegial? legal? I just hope the rule will be taken away very soon.

The nicest day I’ve eaten in the cafeteria, so far, was on lunch Tuesday Oct. 17. Being able to take whatever you wanted, in the exact amount you wanted. The food also tasted. The roastbeef not so dry, and the ham done without all that butter. I hope there will be changes to the better in a short amount.

Yours sincerely,
Keratin Adell

IH To Hold Open House

On Wednesday evening, November 1, the International House Program will hold its annual "open house" for the students of Jax State from 7:00-9:00 p.m.

For this event, the entire facilities of the International House will be open for students to view. The student members of the Program will serve as official hosts.

The International House Program is a state-approved, cultural exchange program which had its genesis in 1946 with five students from France. Presently the Program consists of forty full-time Jax State students-twenty foreign students, representing nineteen different countries, and twenty American students. To further bridge existing gaps in understanding, each foreign student has an American roommate.

The officers and members of the International House Program extend a special invitation to the students of Jacksonville State and look forward to meeting you on November 1. Our motto is "Know one another and you will love one another."
