Jane Rice Day

Last Monday, August 27, was proclaimed by Governor George C. Wallace as JANE RICE DAY. The actual celebration was held at the Student Commons Auditorium co-sponsored by JSU and the city of Jacksonville.

The auditorium was set with a walkway—set with white and blue stars on a red background—with a pretty fountain at the end—of the audience. The house lights were dim as a circle of light shone on the curtain.

Jane Rice, Miss Alabama, was praised by Dr. Stone as being "queenly, angelic", "the most beautiful girl in Alabama and the next Miss America". She was then presented with proclamations from Gov. Wallace, the city of Jacksonville, and the Alabama Bankers Association.

With a running commentary from Mrs. Janice B. Walker about her past experiences as the chaperone of Miss Alabama, Jane Rice modeled the various outfits that she would wear for travel, registration, the Mix and Mingle Dinner, press conferences, rehearsals, the broadwalk parade, the parade on stage, the opening and closing performances each night, the swimsuit competition, the evening gown competition, and the awards breakfast after the pageant is completed.

Following the modeling session, Jane Rice was awarded a pin and jersey by the Alpha Tau Omega Fraternity which sponsored the Miss Northeast Alabama Pageant which she won earlier in the summer. She was also given an original Alabama-shaped ring with a diamond representing the city of Jacksonville by Sterling Jewelers of Anniston. Lastly she was made an honorary member of the CHANTICLEER staff with the privileges of any active member.

After the awards were presented, Miss Alabama was given a surprise birthday party on-stage by Becky Jackson, a former Miss NE Alabama and present Mrs. R. C. Saturday.

Miss Alabama was given a bon voyage party at the Birmingham Airport Motel which was by invitation only.

This week Miss Jane Rice, who will sing a medley of "Tapestry" by Carole King and "I'll Never Pass This Way Again", will represent the state of Alabama throughout this entire week in Atlantic City, N. J., and will be shown on nationwide television during the finals of the Miss America Pageant on Saturday.

In an exclusive interview with the CHANTICLEER, Jane Rice, when asked about her chances of becoming the next Miss America, stated, "I'm going to do my very best. I think my chances, hopefully, are as good as any other girl there; but I know there is a Miss America in each girl that's there. So I'll just have to do my very best and represent Alabama. The best ever.

As to her future plans, Miss Alabama said, "After this year's over, I'll probably graduate in April or maybe May if I can't take as many hours as I ordinarily would. And I plan to teach music and probably get married.

What Happened During The Summer

Jane Rice, 21, a Music Major from Huntsville, became Miss Alabama, and within a few days from the time you read this she will be crowned Miss America, smack dab in the middle of the Texas A & I game.

15 cent Cokes became 20 cents.

There started a new sorority at JSU, a chapter of Delta Sigma Theta.

A new major industry, Federal Mogul, came to Jacksonville.

The Gamecocks played in the five team double elimination College Division NCAA World Series, but lost.

The Library was protected by new security.

The new meal ticket non-system came about. (About three inches long, he gapped.)

There was a Shakespeare Festival in Anniston.

Only about half the blood needed was contributed to the Blood Drive.

Al Whitaker told us why the Government doesn't want you to hear a radio station at night, except the real reason is one we would get sued if we printed.

It was announced that construction of overpasses for JSU will be finished by the end of the year. (To which the Great Antient Sage replied, "My son, dost thou wanna bet??")

WE GOT A JOURNALISM DEPARTMENT, and she is a really nice person.

Keith Rossner was appointed as the school's new trainer.

I went to Fort Bragg, the Governor's party, George meets Teddy co-starring Bob Straus. and sleep.

There was a fertilizer conference and tour in Belle Mina.

At 6:35 on Monday, September 20, about 400 people rallied around Leone Cole Cafeteria to exercise their great American privilege, freedom of speech. The purpose was to protest the mandatory meal ticket program operated by JSU Food Services.

Jim Cummings, treasurer of the SGA, began the convention with inspiring words such as, "This shows some people who are concerned, some people who care. The SGA has taken standing for the people who are concerned about the resolution."

Cummings disapproved in talking to some people about the resolution the SGA passed. He stated that people were all behind the SGA in theory, but did not want to involve themselves in the mess of action of leaving trays and utensils on the floor and on tables. Cummings argued that it will be messy, but, "We're all going to have to sacrifice a little bit."

It was made clear that Dean Montgomery arranged a meeting for Friday, September 24, between the SGA officers, and Mr. Charlie Pocate, business manager of JSU, and Dr. Stone. Cummings, fired with enthusiasm, appealed, "We were just to put to the side; we were getting no answer. I hope we can get something worked out."

Cummings also expressed regret at the actions taken by the SGA. He stated that he wished it did not have to be this way, because some people might get hurt from all the trays stacked on the floor. But, as he said, "It's the only way we see to get anything done."

Someone from the crowd asked about the quality of the food and how the resolution would affect it. There was general cheering and applause at the insinuations planted in the question. Cummings explained that the students were given voluntary meal tickets it would put the cafeteria into competition with other restaurants in town, therefore forcing the cafeteria to provide better quality food. He ended by saying, "It's the only way we see to get anything done."

Jeff Frazier, vice president of SGA, stepped into the spotlight with an announcement that brought an avalanche of disapproval from the crowd. Frazier stated that the SGA had acquired a soul band, the "New Breed," to play in front of Leone Cole, but when permission was requested, the SGA was informed by Food Services Director James Haywood that there would be a fee of $25. A very much angered senator, Louis Toledo, rang out with, "What a ripoff!"

His sentiment was echoed throughout the crowd.

Jim Cummings suggested that the SGA pay the money and let the band play. There was some disagreement on paying the money. Some student felt that paying the money would be "giving in." Cummings declared that since everyone was there to demonstrate peacefully, there was no point in making any trouble over $25. Someone then suggested that a collection be taken up. A hat was passed around and more than $25 was collected.

While everyone was waiting for the band to begin, Jim Cummings told the gathering about a poll that had been taken in men's dormitories last year. He stated that 84.9 percent of the men were opposed to mandatory meal tickets. He went on to explain that most of voluntary meal tickets were the second highest reason for men moving out of the dorms, the first being girls' visitation in dorms. Cummings also told the group that the SGA had talked to some of the restaurants in town about discount tickets for students. Everyone applauded this idea.

Kwang Edeker, president of SGA, stood up and said a few words. He was overflowing with enthusiasm when he asked full cooperation in passing the resolution. "All we ask is that you participate—show these people that you care!" He continued by stating that the food service only wanted the students' money, and now they had it, they did not care about the students.

Edeker concluded with a brief summary that drew a great deal of appreciative laughter and applause, "I promise you that we will not back down! I promise you that we will not kiss their ass. I believe the time has come to fight for what's right!"

The CHANTICLEER staff (seated in front of petition on left) works busily to record the happenings of the "anti-ticket" rally. The staff is lost in a crowd of students who attended the protest held in front of Leone Cole Cafeteria.

The so-called food riots of 1971 did have an effect on the thinking of the administration. Starting this semester, optional meal coupons are available from the Business Office. In fact, the following letter was circulated to all JSU students to inform them of the new meal plan:

Dear JSU Student:

Based on recommendations of the Student Government Association, JSU will institute a new campus dining policy beginning with the fall semester 1973. Under the new plan meal tickets will no longer be sold.

Cafeteria Plan

Students may purchase $60 coupon booklets which will enable them to eat in Self Cafeteria or Chatham Inn. Since you will not be billed you will need to bring enough money to purchase the desired number of coupon books. It is estimated that the average student will be able to eat the entire semester with a purchase of $250 worth of coupons. Unused coupons may be carried over from the fall semester to the spring semester. Ten dollar coupon booklets may be purchased at the business store.

By Staff Writer AL WHITAKER

Greetings friends, and welcome to another fun-packed semester at the great and wonderful Jacksonville State University. Hungry? Well let's grab a couple of coupon books and head for Self Cafeteria. Try not to look too disappointed, though. After all, where else in America can you eat fried shrimp, three vegetables, a drink and dessert all for only 6 coupons?

As you're undoubtedly aware of by now, the five and seven day meal-ticket program has been scratched, and replaced by the new coupon system. This was done with the intention of saving the students, who were eating in the cafeteria, money by selling them coupons redeemable for a cafeteria meal, thus eliminating purchasing meals that would never be eaten. For instance, some students who purchased a meal-ticket, good for three complete meals a day, never made it to breakfast, or might have gone into town for supper occasionally, thus not getting meals they had BOUGHT and PAID for. It was a good idea and would have worked if the students would have used the coupon system.

Every freshman, when he or she first arrives at college, is aware of what lies ahead. Only time can fully satisfy his curiosity. However, since for many freshmen college is such a big change from high school, he or she will have to be given some idea of what to expect here at JSU, of some of the experiences and problems that they may encounter. The account will be of necessity from the point of view of a female JSU student; therefore it will hopefully be of interest to JSU female freshmen in particular.

Let us begin with the area of college life which is usually considered its purpose-studies. There are certainly some adjustments that freshmen must make in this area. First, the student will find less direct instruction in the classroom than he will find in high school. Secondly, at the beginning of a course the teacher gives the class a general idea of what should be done in preparation for each class meeting (for example, reading or written work). This is not required nearly as often as in high school, and most teachers prefer not to spend time checking to see if students have been keeping up. In fact, in most classes the only check-ups are tests, and even these are usually few in number. In many classes the student has only two grades—the midterm and final exam.

Any student who is having trouble is expected to make it known to the professor. Most teachers are willing to spend time checking to see if their students are paying their way. And she will probably find that, to her parents, she is still their "baby"—and always will be. The freedom of her actions will also be limited somewhat by the rules of the university ("quiet hours", etc.).

This is not to say that entrance into college is not a milestone in the life of most girls. It may easily be the first time a girl has lived away from home, and she will have the experience of making everyday decisions on her own before she would have had her parents' help with. She will be forced to look out for her own interests and to stand up for herself, since, no matter how many friends she makes, there will be times when there will be no one to do so for her. She will also face the challenge of remaining an individual in the midst of pressure from fellow students to conform to their various life styles and pressures from her parents to remain true to the set of values she has been taught. All of this will be a preparation for the girl's emergence as an independent person able to make decisions based on a set of values that is her own.

In the meantime, the typical JSU girl does not neglect having fun. Although Jacksonville State University has recently banned music playing in the more popular bars and clubs on campus, there are events which are of interest to most people. The Student Government Association does its best to bring the most popular bands and groups to the university, although it has been hindered by limited funds and lack of student support of concerts. The SGA also arranges for speakers from time to time. When boredom strikes and there seems to be no help in sight, the typical JSU girl must rely on her imagination. Some activities that she may take to engage in include water battles, shaving cream skirmishes, seeing out windows at courting couples, and stealing the clothes of people who are taking showers. For those who aren't energetic, an all-time favorite, particularly in the dorms, is the gossip session.

Freshman girls are probably curious about the manner of dress at JSU. They should pay strict attention to the following explanation, for it would be unthinkable for the members of a freshman class to deviate from the high standards of dress set by the upperclassmen of Jacksonville State University, which, as everyone knows, is one of the fashion headquarters of the nation. And, of course, every girl at JSU wants to avoid looking "different" from the rest and overhearing someone whisper, "She must be a freshman."

The preceding has been a lapse into sarcasm. Actually, individuality in dress, as in everything, helps make life more interesting, and diversity in dress on a campus should be welcomed, not stifled. However, since the purpose here is to give new girls an idea of what to expect on campus, let us consider the dress picture.

Dear Freshmen:

It is good to see again you welcome to Jacksonville State University, a member of the Southern Association of Semi-Accredited Schools. Mid-term grades are due October 23.

First a few facts about JSU:
- The school motto is “Excellence Arose Perennius”.
- The university’s grading system works as if you were taking a three-hour course, you would receive a 4.0 if you could have made an ‘A’ if you really wanted to; you CAN’T buy a meal ticket. A so-called student may not pay for a meal ticket.
- The school is Scruffy, which plays the harmonica and balances a ball on his nose.
- The Board of Trustees meets the fifteenth of each February.

The objectives of the University are to: convey facts and objective opinions as a basis for thought and occasionally exam answers. As chairman in the arts, in the past and the will to rest; to view life as an avenue leading to a world of money; to instill the principle that achievement is a product of hard work; to develop a desire to perform the duties of citizenship, including paying taxes to support left-wing political campaigns, and to add to the range of knowledge within the framework of reverence, honor, cleanliness, and always being prepared. This institution aims at excellence in its studies in the arts as a balance between truth and what professors say, between work and boredom, between apathy and apologetics. It works to maintain the balance of power with money; willful and unjustified homicide with murder; and the word EAT with the word CONSUME.

JSU is a purpose organization, located between south Piedmont and Terra del Puego, to serve predominantly the citizens of that area. It offers the B. A. in Zoology, the B. S. in Education, and the education in B. S.

The Administration is a superb secret organization with headquarters under the Cascades Mountains or the Hartz Mountains, I can’t remember which, where a team of scientists control a band of robots who currently control the building in which the so-called Administrative Offices lie (i.e., the Student Commons Building).

The Administration’s robots, which include Dr. L. H. L. , can be conquered by building a transistor radio next to their heads or by drawing a chalk circle around them.

The Houston Cole Library wasn’t built. It lacked.

The CHANTICLEER was founded in 1728 by long-time editor-in-chief, Steven J. Allen, first won national acclaim as the person who not only had six crises and studied God and man at JSU, but also a fiction story in the magazine “To The Ladies’ Home Companion in 1899.” He wrote “Aces to Ashes” with L. Patrick Gray, and collaborated with G. Gordon Liddy on the story “The Advent of Man - Time.” In 1948, he was honored as one of the Misunderstanding Young Men of America. In 1970, he was one of the Young Men Most Understood by Miss America. He was elected to three terms as Governor of the Republic of Panama and currently serves as Chairman of the Young Whigs of London, as Administrator Assistant to the late Senator George Allen, he was the person who discovered that the Senator had signed the 1972 High Intelligence Sterilization Act. It was then added a new phrase to the language, when he said: “Sure enough, we were afraid that if they would have made an ‘A’ you would have been allowed in.)

He marked his course for each hour of the course. If you are taking a three-hour course, you would have received a 4.0 if you could have made an ‘A’ if you really wanted to; you CAN’T buy a meal ticket. A so-called student may not pay for a meal ticket. No one ‘in’ style. Most girls try to choose a look that would match the occasion. They appear on lots of blouses.

Clogs are the newest thing in footwear, and will be worn on a lot, although short socks and short stretchy trousers are the newest things. Prints are very popular, especially those with an old-fashioned look. Ruffles and sashes appear on lots of blouses.

The school motto is “Excellence Arose Perennius.” In 1968, he was honored as one of the Misunderstanding Young Men of America. In 1970, he was one of the Young Men Most Understood by Miss America. He was elected to three terms as Governor of the Republic of Panama and currently serves as Chairman of the Young Whigs of London, as Administrator Assistant to the

Texas A & I will have 25 lettermen back from 1972, including 10 starters on offense and six on defense, when the Jaguar line up for their opening game of the year in 1973.

Included among those starters will be the entire starting backfield of Marion Danna (QB), Ruford Huff (FB), Clarence Albert (RB), and Jerrald Taylor (WB). Others back include ends Robert Skorobatz and David Hill, tackles Francie Fries and Bruce Owens, guard Richard Chapman, and center Charles Bishop.

Coach Gil Steinke feels pretty good about his front-line prospects, but is concerned about depth, which will have to come from incoming freshmen. The Jacksonville had an outstanding recruiting season and this should help.

Bureau Approves Hospital

It was announced August 22 that a new hospital is to be built in Jacksonville, and that plans for the hospital have been approved by the Health Facilities Construction Board of the State Health Department. The hospital will have 99 beds, an emergency room, and an intensive care unit. According to realtor Dick Coffee says the architectural plans call for a $3.5 million facility, with a possibility for future expansion to 350 beds. He said the hospital will operate without a certificate of need. According to officials of the State Health Department, without a certificate of need the hospital will be unable to get reimbursed from Federal moneys for Medicare and Medicaid patients. These patients comprise the majority of patients in the average hospital. City officials say that four more physicians will be recruited for the hospital, bringing the number of residents to six or seven. They say someone with a degree in hospital administration will head the institution. Officials of other local hospitals are worried that the hospital will drain them of both money and manpower, and that expansion plans such as those recently approved for Amite Memorial Hospital. The new Jacksonville hospital is to be located on the west side of Highway 31 south Jacksonville.

office, Self-Cafeteria and Chaten Inn. To take advantage of a substantial discount you may purchase 5 to 20 coupon books in the Business Office. There is no refund on booklets.

Booklets  Redemption  Cost
1  $1.00  $1.00
5  $5.00  $4.50
10  $10.00  $9.00
15  $15.00  $13.50
20  $20.00  $18.00
25  $25.00  $22.00

Detailed policies will be available on campus. The following are features of this plan which make it very attractive to all students:

1. Completely optional.
2. You may use your coupons in Self-CAFeteria or Chaten Inn.
3. You pay only for what you choose to eat.
4. The more coupon booklets you buy the cheaper the meals.
5. It offers a variety of choices at a reasonable price.

We feel that this new plan is more convenient, less expensive and offers a great deal of flexibility for the student.

Sincerely,

Donald Schmitt
Director of Student Affairs

Montgomery's Festival In The Park

Saturday, September 15, is the date of Montgomery's first Festival in the Park. Hours are from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. at Oak Park. The Festival, sponsored by the Seminar Council of the Arts, is free and open to the public. A whole day of graphic artists, craftsmen and performers will be featured with performances continuing all day to entertain the entire family.

Artists and craftsmen from all over the Southeast will be working and demonstrating during the day. Performing groups which range from rock to opera—to old fashioned band concerts will also be scheduled throughout the day-long Festival.

There will be food, crafts and artwork for sale; puppet shows, ballet and Shakespeare to enjoy. Whatever your pleasure, for browsing or buying, come to the Festival—and it's all free!

For further information and details contact Jerry Atkinson, Auburn University at Montgomery or Jen Mooney, First National Bank, Montgomery.
