

It's easier than you think to register for voting in the upcoming elections, details page 2. JSU's Medical Technology students displayed their academic excellence recently. Their story is on page 3. "The Chanticleer" feels great alarm, as do other news agencies, read about the decision and our editorial position, both on page 4. Sports Editor Rick Bragg has put together his section with some very interesting tidbits on pages 6 and 7.

THE CHANTICLEER

Vol. 19—No. 18

Jacksonville (Alabama) State University

Tuesday, July 4, 1978

Jazz Band returns from tour of east European countries

By LEN FITE
Staff Writer

For several weeks, from May 25, to June 23, the Jacksonville State University jazz orchestra visited the Balkan states of Rumania and Bulgaria. Twenty-three people were in the tour which covered 3000 miles in the two countries.

Dr. Ron Surace and his wife, Ann, along with another faculty member, Rose Field, travelled with the band to New York where they were to be auditioned. Dr. Surace explained, "The trip was organized by Friendship Ambassadors, a private non-profit group which is involved in cultural exchange programs with eastern Europe. Youth movements in Rumania and Bulgaria helped sponsor the stay there in those countries." After the acceptance they flew directly from New York City to Bucharest, the capital of the Rumanian People's Republic. "Our first performance," remembered Dr. Surace, "was at the jazz festival at the Rumanian city of Siliu. While there we met two jazz groups which were returning to the U. S. We played at the International Jazz Festival at Bucharest on live television and the program was broadcast to most of Europe."

Mrs. Surace said, "Tapes were made to be broadcast on Bulgarian and Rumanian radio and two people, Tom Kramer, percussionist, and Ray Durr, saxophonist, were interviewed. They not only asked about jazz but about what was happening in America and what they felt about various problems."

"The people," commented Ms. Surace, "were very interested in American jazz. The audiences loved jazz and enjoyed the band." Dr. Surace said that the jazz musicians that he encountered in both nations were the equal of any U. S. jazzman.

In Rumania they communed with the musicians Marius Popp, John Radokano, and Alin Costantlin. They also met with the Bulgarian Vasalin Nickoloff and his quartet.

While in Bulgaria the band stayed for a time at Primorsko, a youth resort on the Black Sea. In sports events JSU band members won several medals. One girl, Niel Pope from Huntsville, won in the women's swimming event. Huck Smith was the finalist in the men's swim meet. The U. S. team won a basketball game with Rumania, but lost the tug-of-war with the USSR.

"Rose Fields sang gospel and jazz songs and was liked very much," said Dr. Surace. Mrs. Surace said that black people were not common in East Europe so many people were interested in Dr. Fields. "The Bulgarians and Romanians consider the gypsies to be their race problem," Ann Surace added.

"We were treated well by the governments and the Communist youth groups," said Dr. Surace. "The people

(See JAZZ, Page 8)

Completion near on amphitheater

The long awaited amphitheater on campus is slated to be completed by September. Student Government Association Vice-President Joe Mucciolo says that only the lighting is lacking now and, "they'll be up by September if I have to go out there myself and put them up."

The project has been in the planning or construction stages for two years. Originally, the SGA was to "rough in" the facility at an estimated cost of $5-$10,000. Instead, the university took over the project and according to Mucciolo, "decided to go all the way. They could've saved a lot of money by just roughing it in."

The final figure on the amphitheater is around $90,000. However, Mucciolo says that he plans to make extensive use of it. "I want to have some kind of program in there at least twice a month," he says. He adds that the first few times the facility is used, he does not expect large crowds. He does feel that word will get around, "and maybe people will start sticking around here on the weekends instead of running home to Mom."

The first program planned will most likely be a small concert sometime in September, and Mucciolo says that students will be urged to "bring their coolers" and enjoy themselves.

There is a possibility that part of the freshmen orientation program this fall will also be held there, but according to Mucciolo, the first planned program will be the September show.

The facility, which will accommodate around 15,000 to 18,000 people has a stage area, rest rooms, and barbecue pits for the patrons' use.

In Sparkman

Security arrests former student

A former JSU student was arrested last Wednesday on a charge of trespassing after he allegedly entered Sparkman Hall on campus. Campus police Chief James Murray identified the man as George Thomas Coleman of Birmingham.

Murray said that he received a call from the dorm director at Sparkman at 6:55 a.m. Wednesday morning. The director told Murray that a man was in the dormitory going through rooms. According to Murray, he found the intruder on the 6th floor of the building coming out of one of the rooms, and when an order to stop was ignored, Murray began chasing the man. Murray stated that he chased the suspect to Crow Hall and momentarily lost him.

After returning to Sparkman, Murray said that he found a car apparently belonging to the suspect. The keys and a billfold were in the car. Murray returned to Crow and then arrested Coleman in the parking lot next to Abercrombie Hall.

Murray told "The Chanticleer" that Coleman said he was looking for a girl who used to live in Sparkman. No assaults were reported. A warrant for Coleman's arrest was signed by Murray and the suspect was taken to the Jacksonville city jail where he was fined and released.

Woodward new VP

The Jacksonville State Board of Trustees met late last week and voted to elevate Dr. Bascom Woodward III to the position of Vice - President for University Services. Woodward has served at the University for six years and has been Dean of Admissions since February 1976.

JSU President Dr. Ernest Stone says that the move to create another vice - president brings Jacksonville more in line with the recommendations of the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools.

'78 Battle of the Brass set

On July 10 at 7:30 p.m., the crowd at Murphree Stadium will roar with excitement as five of the nation's top Drum and Bugle Corps compete in the Third Annual "Alabama Battle of the Brass."

Those on hand will view corps from California, Wisconsin, Wyoming, Atlanta, and Miami.

These corps, affiliated with an organization called "Drum Corps International," have been rehearsing since early February 1978.

All of these Drum and Bugle Corps are composed of high school and college students from the ages of 14 to 21 and come from all over the nation.

Drum and Bugle Corps begin competition in late June and continue approximately five days each week, until their grand finale, which is D. C. I. Championships. The goal of each corps is to win the championship contest which this year is being held in Denver, Colo., in late August.

Many hours of practice are a necessity for the corps that has a goal such as that of the top 12 in the nation

The instructors play a key role in the success of the corps. Most of the staff is salaried, however, some contribute their time for personal rewards. Along with full-time personnel, the corps are sometimes lucky enough to have part-time help, such as high school band directors, or college students.

The Spirit of Atlanta, for instance has two area high school band directors working with them: John Armstrong from Anniston High School, and Bill Lazenby from Oxford High School.

For those who have never seen a drum and bugle corps, or have not seen one recently, the style of the show performed is very entertaining, very much similar to that of a high school band half-time show at football games.

To the performing corps, a contest is show business; they realize it is their job to entertain the people who have driven many miles to see them. The competition is stiff in that the scores of the bugle corps are arrived at by 12 various judges, and then totalled and averaged, resulting usually in hundredths of points as the only difference between first and second place.

The Third Annual "Alabama Battle of the Brass" expects a large crowd to enjoy the excitement and thrills this year.

If you would like more information, or tickets, write "Alabama Battle of the Brass," P. O. Box 759, Jacksonville, Alabama 36265, or pick up your tickets at one of the following ticket locations: in Anniston at Hamilton Band Instrument Company; in Jacksonville at the Chamber of Commerce, Jacksonville High School Bandroom; in Talladega at Farm Bureau Insurance, Beik Hudsons, or Talladega High School; and in Gadsden at the Chamber of Commerce, Gadsden Music Company or Litchfield High School.

Florida Vanguard

Spirit of Atlanta

Voter registration easy for students

Students who never registered to vote or who wish to have their voting place changed from their home to Jacksonville will find the process very simple.

According to Pauline Trammell, Secretary to the Calhoun County Board of Registrars, the necessary forms for a student to begin voting in Jacksonville should take no longer than five minutes to complete.

In order to register to vote in Jacksonville, the student must have been a resident of the city for 10 days. The registration would also allow the student to vote in Jacksonville city elections and Calhoun County elections.

Ms. Trammell said that after the forms are completed, "We will write to the students' home county and have their name stricken from the voting list there and transferred here. She said that there is also a provision for students so that the registration process can be done through the mail.

In the past, students have been able to register on campus to vote in Jacksonville Mrs. Trammell said that a ruling by the attorney general's office enables the board to appoint a deputy registrar. She went on to explain that any person wishing to be appointed could go to the Calhoun County courthouse and obtain the necessary forms to register students to vote.

She also said that unless someone volunteers to carry out this service, there are no plans at present to send anyone from the registrar's office to register the students.

Of snail darters and high courts

"Oh yea, Oh yea, Oh yea... the court is now sitting... God save the United States and this honorable court."

Little did the framers of the Constitution realize that one day the Supreme Court might have to put itself in the Creator's seat. The nine distinguished - looking, black-robed justices were placed in that unenviable position on the morning of April 18 in the case of Tennessee Valley Authority vs. Hiram J. Hill Jr., to decide the fate of a small endangered fish in a big dispute over a dam on a river tucked in the mountains of east Tennessee.

Arguing the government's case, Attorney Gen. Griffin Bell told the court that the question is whether there can be "a balance of the equitable factors" in deciding whether the Tellico Dam on the Little Tennessee River should be completed. While conceding that the Endangered Species Act does not apply to projects underway, "we must weigh the stage of development." An injunction stopping the dam is unwarranted, Bell said. (The government however, was not speaking with a united voice in the case. The Interior Department, in an unusual situation, submitted a brief attached to the TVA petition which opposed completion of the dam).

Zyg Plater, the attorney for a number of dam opponents, charged that TVA had done everything it could to speed up completion of the dam after the snail darter's discovery.

The significance of the case is not the trade-off between a $120-million dam and a small fish. The dam structure itself only cost $5 million of the total project cost, Plater noted. "The conflict is between an agency which has, since 1973, taken the position that it would not comply with the Endangered Species Act," he said. Viable alternatives to the project discussed in a recent Government Accounting Office review of the project still exist and could be carried out, Plater argued.

The National Wildlife Federation, along with five other conservation groups, joined a "friend of the court" brief, written by environmental lawyers, Michael J. Bean and Willia Butler, supporting the Tennessee conservationists fighting the dam.

TVA wants the Supreme Court to reverse an appeals court injunction issued last January that halted work on the Tellico Dam. (The appeals court reversed a district court's denial of such an injunction). Conservationists contend that the dam would destroy the habitat necessary for the survival of the snail darter (Percina tanasi), a small member of the perch family that now lives only in the cool, shallow riffles of the Little Tennessee River.

JACKSONVILLE STATE BANK

"THINK YOUNG BANK YOUNG"

Weaver Branch Phone 820-3500

Main Office Phone 435-7894

MEMBER FDIC

Med techs place 2nd in nationals

The Holy Name of Jesus Hospital Medical Technology team, including three Jacksonville students, recently won second place in the national championship of the Student Bowl Competition for Medical Technology students. The team won the right to compete in the finals held in Denver, Colo., after defeating the likes of Alabama, Florida, North Carolina, and others in the state and regional matches.

According to Medical Technology coordinator Bill Meehan, all of the students are working a year of clinical experience in cooperation with the Holy Name of Jesus Hospital in Gadsden. It is one of four hospitals which work with the University on the program. The students completed three years of academic work on campus before being able to compete for an internship at one of the hospitals.

The student bowl is a competitive venture between schools of medical technology sponsored by the American Society of Medical Technologists and American Society of Clinical Pathologists. The teams then compete on state, regional and national levels.

The event is recognized for its steep competition among the various teams and is considered quite an attribute to a school's program when its students reach the upper levels of competition.

In the final competition, the Holy Name of Jesus team competed with six other teams including Michigan, Hawaii and South Dakota.

Members of the team are Jacksonville students Lanette Peek, Vanessa Wilson and Donna Hollingsworth, along with Steve Herman of the University of Alabama at Huntsville, and Jane Milwee of the University of Alabama in Tuscaloosa.

Meehan says that while Jacksonville State has had a medical technology program for several years, it has begun to rank itself with the finest programs in the past few years.

He said that the field of medical technology offers students starting salaries of around $10,000 a year and is an excellent field for career growth.

Jacksonville med tech students Donna Hollingsworth and Lisa Shumaker display some of the equipment used in performing tests in the medical laboratory at Holy Name of Jesus Hospital in Gadsden.

The Holy Name of Jesus Hospital med tech team poses with the regional trophy which they won, giving them the chance to compete in the national competition. Seated front, left to right, Lanette Peek, JSU and Carol Abernathy, JSU. Standing left to right, Jane Milwee, University of Alabama, Tuscaloosa, Vanessa Wilson, JSU and Steve Herman, University of Alabama Huntsville.

CDCS installs new micro catalog system

The Career Development and Counseling Services has acquired a new and valuable system for the Career Library in Abercrombie Hall. It's called the Microfiche College Catalog Collection. The system features the complete descriptions of over 2,900 institutions of higher education represented by more than 3,600 catalogs.

Both graduate and undergraduate catalog information is available for quick and simple reference.

An additional feature of the collection is the "Special" section which contains the Post Secondary Education Directory published by HEW, Army Career Information, the AMA requirements for admission in the U. S. and Canada, the Dental School requirements for the U. S. and Canada and all 50 States' Educational Directories.

Whether you are job hunting, contemplating graduate school or other professional opportunities, the CDCS College Catalog

Collection is a valuable tool you'll want to include in your research. The CDCS is located in Abercrombie Hall and is open from 8-4:30 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Life in a lecture hall

Just as I started to take the notes you said were sure to be on the exam, my pen ran out of ink.

One night in two years I didn't bother to read the assigned chapter and you pick today to call on me.

Remember those reports due today? They're lying on top of my desk. I put them there so I wouldn't forget to bring them.

After a week of intimacies with the flu, I walk into class only to hear you say, "Get out a sheet of paper."

I gave my weekend up for this term paper. Why aren't you impressed?

The only remark I've made in class in six months and you politely inform me that I couldn't be more wrong.

I'd planned a great weekend, but I come to class and you just have to give us our tests back.

I don't understand why you got so upset. You said to give a book report, and you didn't tell me it couldn't be on "Cheaper by the Dozen."

The first time the guy with the gorgeous black hair has ever said a word to me, and you get on to us for talking.

I know that you knew I didn't do my best on your exam. That's why I avoided your eyes when you handed my paper back to me.

How did you know that all my other professors assigned tests for next Wednesday, too?

The fact that I partied all night last night has nothing to do with my not being able to give my oral report today.

SAVE EVERY DAY THE WINN-DIXIE WAY

Welcome Jax State Students

28 OZ. CHEK DRINKS	5/$1.00
CRACKLING GOOD POTATO CHIPS	8 OZ. 69¢
GIANT VIVA PAPER TOWELS	2/$1.00
CALIFORNIA PLUMS	79¢ LB.
HICKORY SMOKED BACON	99¢ LB.

GO GAMECOCKS

WINN-DIXIE IS ALL BEHIND THE "THE RED" AND INVITE ALL JSU STUDENTS TO DROP BY AND SEE US.

PELHAM PLAZA JACKSONVILLE

The Chanticleer

Opinions

Letters

Comments

Court decision could pave way for police state

By DAVID FORD
Editor

One sure way to begin the root system of a police state is to inhibit the operation of a free press. In the recent decision of the U. S. Supreme Court in "Zurcher vs. Stanford Daily" such a threat exists.

A fundamental requirement for maintaining a free press lies in a reporter's ability to guarantee a confidential source of absolute anonymity. Without the guarantee most confidential sources will "dry up" for fear of being identified.

These people play a vital role to a reporter obtaining information on a story. Much of the time a source holds the only means to a story, especially if the story deals with corruption.

The decision allows law enforcement officials to obtain a warrant for the purpose of searching a newsroom.

But it does not end there.

It also allows law enforcement officials to enter with a warrant, a private home or business to look for evidence in a crime. That search can be conducted even if the person is not suspected in the crime.

This decision arms the people who would quash civil liberties a valuable tool. There are too many people in this country who already feel that individual freedom is fine as long as it "stays within limits."

Congress is now holding hearings on legislation to correct this gross misjudgment by the court. "The Chanticleer" urges students to write their representatives and senators stating support for the Citizens Privacy Protection Amendment of 1978.

Government employees Can now 'get involved'

Editor's Note: The following act became law in the state of Alabama with the governor's signature on May 4. Because it directly applies to the people on this campus, "The Chanticleer" is publishing this law in its entirety.

Enrolled, An Act, to remove all restrictions relating to Public Employees of any County or City in the State of Alabama, pertaining to his right to participate in certain political activities and allow public employees the right of free expression in public welfare. BE IT ENACTED BY THE LEGISLATURE OF ALABAMA:

Section 1. (A) No person in the employment of any city, whether classified or unclassified, shall be denied the right to participate in county and state political activities to the same extent as any other citizen of the State of Alabama, including endorsing candidates and contributing to campaigns of his choosing.

(b) No person in the employment of any county whether classified or unclassified, shall be denied the right to participate in city and state political activities to the same extent as any other citizen of the State of Alabama, including endorsing candidates and contributing to campaigns of his choosing.

(C) No person in the employment of the State of Alabama, whether classified or unclassified, shall be denied the right to participate in city or county political activities to the same extent as any other citizen of the State of Alabama, including endorsing candidates and contributing to campaigns of his choosing.

(D) All persons in the employment of any city or county shall have the right to join local political clubs and organizations, and state or national political parties.

(E) All persons in the employment of any city or county shall have the right to publicly support issues of public welfare, circulate petitions calling for or in support of referendums, and contribute freely to those of his choosing.

Section 2. No person shall attempt to use his official authority or position for the purpose of influencing the vote or political action of any person. Any person who violates this section of this act shall be guilty of a felony punishable by a fine not to exceed $10,000 or imprisonment in the State penitentiary for a period not to exceed two (2) years, or both.

Section 3. All laws or parts of laws in conflict with this Act are hereby repealed.

Section 4. This act shall become effective immediately upon its passage and approval by the Governor, or upon its otherwise becoming a law.

On Ruling

Bayh Opposes high court

WASHINGTON, D. C. — The Senate Judiciary Subcommittee on the Constitution opened its first round of hearings recently on the controversial Supreme Court decision in the case of Zurcher V. Stanford Daily, with Subcommittee chairman Sen.

Birch Bayh (D-Ind.) calling that decision a serious threat to Constitutionally guaranteed rights of individual privacy and freedom of the press.

Bayh, author of the Citizen's Privacy Protection Amendment of 1978—

(See BAYH, Page 5)

Chanticleer staff

The Chanticleer, established as a student newspaper at Jacksonville State University in 1934, is published weekly by students of the University. Editorial comments expressed herein are those of the students and do not necessarily reflect the policy of the JSU administration.

The Chanticleer office is located on the fourth floor of the Student Commons Building, phone 435-9820 ext. 233. All correspondence should be directed to The Chanticleer, Box 56, Jacksonville State University, Jacksonville, Alabama 36265.

David Ford Editor
Susan Isbell Assistant Editor
Rick Bragg Sports Writer
Jana McWhorter Entertainment Editor

Dr. Clyde Cox, Bob Clotfelter Faculty Advisors

BUSINESS STAFF
Sondra Johnson Business Manager
Sandra Waites Ad Manager

Christine Maxwell Typist

Art Work Dutch Carr

Joni Barker, Cathy Ratliff, Carol Davis, Sandra Bozeman, Lenhardt Fite, Nancy Wade, Blake Pettus, Arenetta Willis, Christine Calderon, Maurice Bowles, Jean Stewart, Gilbert Sanders and Terry Groce.

CROOK-OF-THE-MONTH CLUB

TODAY'S CROSSWORD PUZZLE

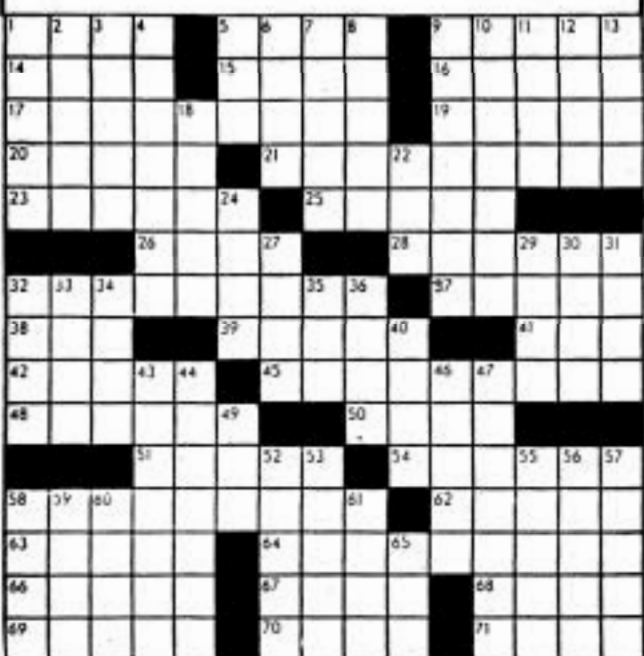

ACROSS

- 1 Narrow land point
- 5 Gender: Abbr
- 9 Looks over hastily
- 14 Pram pusher
- 15 Greek guilt
- 16 John -----: Explorer
- 17 Not called for
- 19 Boston Gardens
- 20 Cuts down
- 21 Be overly blasphemous. 3 words
- 23 Armadas
- 25 ----- and Drang: Literature style
- 26 Second-year student
- 28 Shish -----: Var.
- 32 Jet aircraft creations
- 37 Hold back: 2 words
- 38 Gold: Sp.
- 39 Stage production
- 41 Humorist George ---
- 42 Class
- 45 "... a ---- out of a sow's ear"
- 48 Garment part
- 50 Support
- 51 Thaws
- 54 Oration
- 58 Very interesting
- 62 Emboss
- 63 Want greatly
- 64 In the distant past: 2 words
- 66 Legends
- 67 Historic times
- 68 Stratum
- 69 Organ
- 70 ---- precedent
- 71 Muffs

DOWN

- 1 Tobacco product
- 2 Inset
- 3 Colored linen tape: Var.
- 4 Highest
- 5 French month
- 6 Equips with weapons
- 7 Frets: Informal
- 8 Kingston or West Point student
- 9 Badly marked
- 10 Spanish oath
- 11 Seth's brother
- 12 Taboo joke: Informal
- 13 Office copy: Informal
- 18 Early fur merchant
- 22 Diving bird
- 24 Spirit
- 27 Goes quickly
- 29 Persian poet
- 30 Sprouts
- 31 Graf -----: Ger. admiral
- 32 Teeth
- 33 City on the Oka
- 34 Nobody
- 35 56: Roman
- 36 Act moodily
- 40 Manages somehow
- 43 Extractor
- 44 High mountain
- 46 Gazes
- 47 Elevate
- 49 Jujube
- 52 Glazed items
- 53 Breathe vibrantly
- 55 Excavator
- 56 Movie award
- 57 Margosa trees
- 58 Hormone medicine
- 59 Slope: Scot.
- 60 Spanish parlor
- 61 Winged insect
- 65 Gen. Serv. Admin.

See answers, page 8

downtown

Bayh

(Continued From Page 4)

legislation now before the subcommittee, said that while he believes prosecutors should have access to necessary evidence in criminal proceedings, the Zurcher decision sets an inappropriate standard for seeking such evidence from persons and organizations not themselves implicated in any criminal activity.

In his statement at the outset of today's hearing, Bayh noted that the recent Supreme Court decision held that police armed with a warrant could—forcibly and without notice—search a person's home or business for evidence of a crime, even if that person is in no way suspected of complicity in that crime.

"I don't believe proper enforcement of our criminal law requires that innocent Americans surrender their right to privacy to unannounced government searches of their homes or businesses," the senator said. "The Zurcher decision has left us with a serious potential for governmental abuse of our right to privacy—the most fundamental and comprehensive of all Constitutional rights.

"In its decision, the majority stated that Congress was free to establish more stringent legislative standards than the rule laid down by the court in Zurcher," Bayh said. "I believe we have a responsibility to respond to that invitation."

Specifically, Bayh's amendment to the Civil Rights Act requires that any federal, state or local official seeks evidence of a crime from the home or business of a citizen not suspected of being involved in the crime, the proper procedure is to serve a subpoena duces tecum rather than conduct a surprise search. Violations of the prohibition would result in civil damages, the Senator noted. The only exception granted under Bayh's bill would permit search warrant procedures to replace a subpoena when there are specific indications that the evidence to be sought might be hidden or destroyed.

"In large part, the very independence of this nation can be traced to the desire for individual privacy from unannounced and unwarranted governmental intrusion," Bayh said. "Our founders drew up the Bill of Rights in order to secure for themselves and succeeding generations the individual dignity, security and privacy inherent in a government of free people. I believe it is our responsibility today to carefully nurture and protect that heritage, and I hope these hearings will contribute to that process."

The Indiana Democrat also urged the subcommittee and those scheduled to testify to bear in mind that the implications of the Zurcher decision pose a particular threat to the media and their Constitutionally - protected functions of news gathering and dissemination. He said the fruits of standard journalistic investigations in pursuit of a story could "almost routinely be considered 'evidence' relating to crimes" and would, under the Zurcher decision, be subject to seizure in unannounced police raids of newspapers, radio and television stations.

"A search warrant obtained without notice or an opportunity to be heard would allow police to rummage through the files of a newsroom, inspecting every letter, notebook, film and document until they found those they are authorized to seize," Bayh said. "Throughout this process of course, the authorities will see and inspect many more documents than the ones named in the warrant."

Bayh noted the likelihood of news sources becoming, through this process, "a journalistic relic."

"It can only be a matter of time before a free and vigorous press finds their Constitutionally protected functions hampered by the resultant limitation of information," the senator said.

Bayh cautioned that the area of legislation before the subcommittee is "a difficult and largely uncharted one" which raises serious and troubling questions of federal jurisdiction and legislative authority.

"But I believe we must face these questions with one thought in mind," the senator said. "We are not attempting here to extend the power of government authority over our citizens, but rather to restrict that power, and to preserve individual privacy. We seek not to regulate private conduct but to control the government's power to engage in searches of our homes for evidence of someone else's crimes.

"Simply put, the Citizen's Privacy Protection Amendment embodies an attempt to protect the legitimate privacy rights of American citizens," Bayh said.

Distributors

IMPORTED
CAR PARTS
Anniston

237-6295
117 W. 18th St.

Dial A Prayer
435-3454

SPORTS

Rick Bragg

Sports editor

A place to play

Over the years, Gamecock football fans have filed through the gate at old Paul Snow Memorial Stadium to watch some of the most exciting football this side of Legion Field.

But not anymore.

The type of football that Jax State fans have grown accustomed to shouldn't change drastically (Last second TD passes, 99 yard runbacks, fumbles on the one yard line, etc.) only now they have a much nicer place to watch all this in. Meaning that old Paul Snow Memorial Stadium isn't old anymore, and over the summer contractors have turned the much used field into a thing of beauty. Thanks to renovations that included a new fieldhouse, concession complexes, and a new three sided grandstand, Paul Snow Memorial is now one of the most beautiful stadiums in the Gulf South.

But Athletic Director Jerry Cole had another purpose in mind.

"We're not really trying to make it pretty," he said. "We just wanted to make it a better place to watch a football game."

According to Cole, the new stadium will be much more comfortable, with new aluminum seating, convenient exits, concession stands, and restrooms.

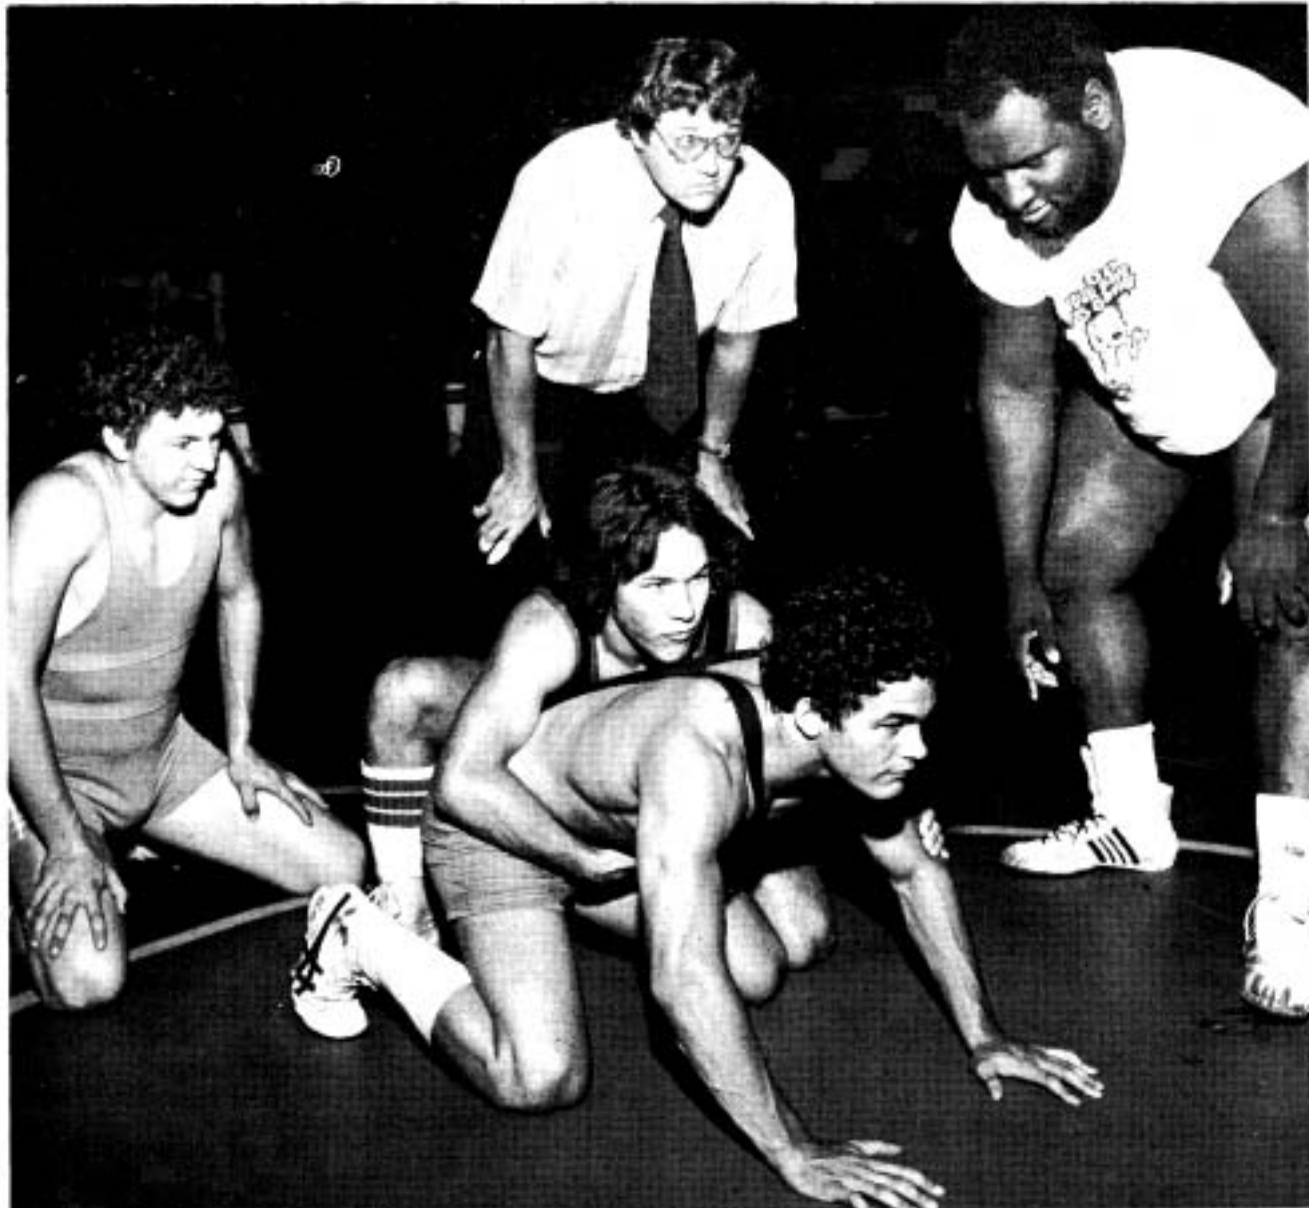

Cole also commented that the new stadium could be a boost in recruiting, offering better facilities to high school hopefuls, who might help Coach Jim Fuller's Gamecocks out in years to come.

++++

I was a little surprised last week when I heard that Dyer Carlisle was leaving Banks High School in Birmingham to come out and assist Coach Fuller here at Jax State.

The fact that a high school coach would like to work at Jax State is easy enough to believe, but Carlisle will be leaving a paying job to work as a student assistant without

(See RICK BRAGG, Page 7)

Coach Mac Gillam, center, looks on at Jacksonville State University's first wrestling clinic, held last week at Jacksonville's Pete Mathews Coliseum.

Wrestling clinic

Gillam to coach Gamecock Matmen

Wrestling established At Jacksonville State

Jacksonville State University has never tried to play "keep up with the Joneses" in Gulf South Conference Athletics.

But keeping ahead can be an entirely different matter.

The sport in question is wrestling, and JSU will floor a wrestling team this fall under the direction of Coach Mac Gillam.

"It was an outgrowth of student and community interest," said Gillam. "In one or two years, other schools in the Gulf South Conference should do the same."

Until they do, the Gamecock Matmen will be competing against several schools in the Mid-South and Ohio Valley Conference, teams like Georgia Tech, Tennessee Tech and Chattanooga.

Gillam, who coached wrestling at Anniston High School several years ago, seems to be happy with the way the new sport is working out.

"We can have a first class program here," he said. "The administration has been very supportive."

Gillam has already signed a few wrestlers, including Steve Dalton, a former Jacksonville High School star and two-time state champion. Dalton should wrestle somewhere around 150 lbs.

Gillam is holding back on the remainder of his scholarships, reserving them for the athletes who are not already signed that performance well when practice starts.

The Gamecock grapplers will begin practice as soon as school starts this fall, preparing for their first match which is scheduled for Nov. 10.

"We'll give the kids a chance to become familiar with the campus," Gillam said. "Then we will get started immediately."

Take a friend home to study.

Study with Cliffs Notes. Because they can help you do better in English class. There are more than 200 Cliffs Notes covering all the frequently assigned novels, plays and poems. Use them as a guide while you're reading...and again as an efficient review for exams. They're great for helping you understand literature...and they're ready to help you now. Available At:

JACKSONVILLE BOOK STORE

"Up Town On The Square"

Rick Bragg

(Continued From Page 6)

pay. Carlisle will attend graduate school this fall, and will also work with the football squad as a back coach.

Carlisle will be in charge of the running backs, giving Coach Watson Brown more time to work with receivers.

Strictly personal, but it says a lot for the school's academic and athletic programs when a man leaves a paying job to come and coach for nothing while furthering his education.

As Head Coach Jim Fuller has already stated, we're very lucky to have a coach of Carlisle's caliber and he should be a big asset for the team.

++++

I spoke to Fuller the other day about the coming season, and he seemed very pleased with the way things looked for '78.

"I'm very optimistic," he said. "We have 10 out of 11 coming back on offense, and seven or eight on defense, and I know we'll be a contender."

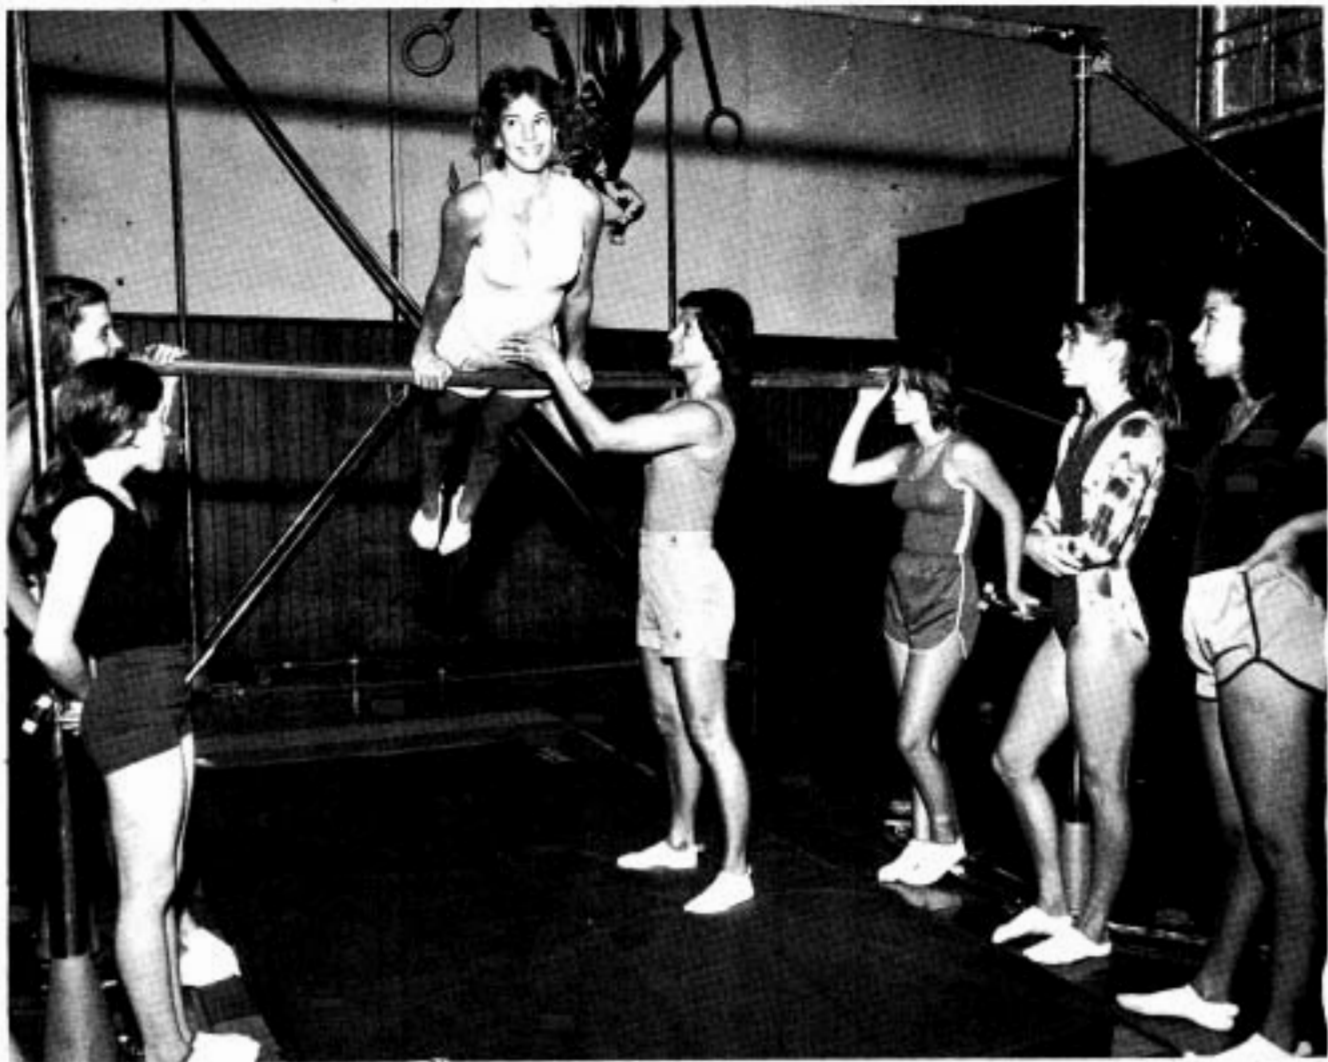

If the Gamecocks play the same type of football this year as they did last season, they should "contend" themselves right back to the national playoffs.

++++

This may be another "Bear Bryant" story, but I was told the other day that Mac Gillam, the new wrestling coach here at JSU once wrestled a bear in a carnival or circus, for something like $500 or so.

My heart goes out to him.

The poor bear never had a chance.

Almost ready to fly

These pretty young ladies are part of a large group now attending a gymnastics camp at Jacksonville State University. For a week the young people engage in every form of gymnastics. Shown here from the left are Bridgett Scott, Birmingham; Corinne Pruitt, Birmingham; Carolyn Clark, Homewood; Noma Gant, instructor, Anniston; Lila Garrison, Corrith, Miss.; Kathy McMinn, Weaver, and Candice Creecy, Atlanta.

Cheerleading clinic

The staff of the Alabama High School Athletic Association is preparing for the annual cheerleader clinic to be held at Jacksonville State University on July 9-13.

This is one of three clinics sponsored by the Association for all cheerleader squads of Alabama school system.

Shown here, from left, are: Marilyn Lee, Vanderbilt University; George Godwin III, Auburn University and Cynthia Walker of Jacksonville State University. Mrs. Tom Calvin and Mrs. Elizabeth Hatch are coordinators of the clinic.

SUMMER TIME MOVIES

July 5

7:00 & 9:30

Student Commons Auditorium

ALL WE CAN TELL YOU IS THAT MEN WHO
DON'T SMOKE
LIVE ABOUT
6 YEARS LONGER THAN MEN WHO DO SMOKE.

If you want someone to help you stop smoking cigarettes, contact your American Cancer Society.

AMERICAN CANCER SOCIETY

*This ad was created for the American Cancer Society by Ogilvy & Mather Inc. of New York City, as a public service.

POOR RICHARD'S

Disco at its Finest!!

Weekly Specials

Tuesday - 8 oz. Bud - 35^c

Wednesday - Ladies Night

Thursday - $2⁰⁰ Pitchers

Student Night

Proper attire required.

Coming July 28-29 - ELI

The tug-o'-war team from left is Ravan Durr, Charles Collins, Ron Culpepper, David Turner, Ralph Whitfield and Huck Smith.

Stage Band

Jazz Band

(Continued From Page 1)

who organized the tour made sure that we dealt with the right persons in music. At the Folk Fest and the hotel in Bucharest the students were treated to Rumanian and gypsy music."

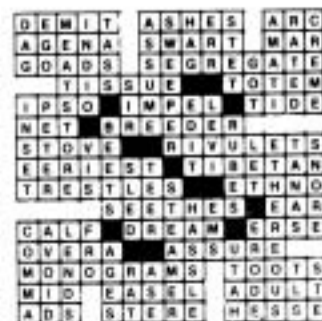

Students were made aware of their being in a Communist state by the numbers of soldiers about and restrictions on activity.

Ms. Surace stated that "People were risking personal safety by just talking to us in the streets. In cities people would crowd around our bus and ask for autographs. Some even gave their medals away to the students. Medals are given to those who do well in those countries." She also said that despite the disapproval of the governments and the Communists parties the young people have an interest in western fashion and rock and roll. "They know all the rock musicians even though the music that they usually listen to goes back to the 1950s."

Answers to crossword

puzzle from page 5

ABORTION

INFORMATION
TOLL FREE 9-9
1-800-438-8039