Board to select successor

Stone to retire during 1981

The Board of Trustees approved a resolution granting a 9 percent pay raise to all employees, effective Oct. 1, at a meeting on September 15.

In other business, Col. Clarence W. Daugette Jr., of Gadsden, was named president pro-tempore of the Board of Trustees. He was selected by his fellow board members and replaces Hugh Merrill of Anniston.

He has served on the University's board since its creation in 1967, and is the son of Dr. Clarence W. Daugette, who served as president of what is now Jacksonville State University for 43 years.

The board also adopted a resolution concerning the selection of a new president for JSU.

Dr. Ernest Stone has made known to the Board of Trustees that he will retire during 1981 and they will be required to select his successor.

The board would like, if possible to have his successor selected before his retirement in order to give a continuity of administration for the University.

The board feels that there may be those presently employed at the University who are qualified to serve as president of the University and the board desires to give them the first opportunity to be considered for the position.

The resolution, by the Board of Trustees, is as follows:

1. A selection committee be established consisting of: Mr. Graves Musgrove, chairman; Mr. James D. Thornton, Mr. Pete Matthews, Col. C. W. Daugette Jr. and Mr. Bob Kennamer. Mrs. Effie Sawyer will serve as secretary of the committee.

Those people presently employed at JSU who have an earned doctorate degree are invited to submit their written applications for the position of president of the University, said applications to be supported by such other documents as the applicant may desire to submit.

3. All such applications shall be submitted to the secretary of the committee on or before October 4.

4. The secretary of the committee shall send copies of this resolution to all members of the faculty and administrative staff of the University.

Copies of the resolution were sent out on Thursday, Sept. 18.

The board will hold its annual meeting on Monday, Oct. 20, as established by law.

Six bills passed by SGA

By MERRY GRIFFIN

SGA held its regular meeting Monday, September 15, at SCB. Executive reports were given and legislation began. Six bills and three resolutions were passed.

Bill Number 1—Participants on the homecoming committee are no longer required to be in the SGA Senate, but will remain under senatorial jurisdiction.

Bill Number 2—Allocated funds to WLJS to aid in their promotional functions for expansion.

Bill Number 3—Approved funds for a Gamecock mascot to promote spirit at JSU sports events.

Bill Number 4—Was passed to provide a voter registration day on campus for student convenience.

Bill Number 5—Allocated money for SGA T-shirts.

Bill Number 6—Was the confirmation of various committee appointments.

Resolution Number 1—Stan Porter appointed Gamecock mascot.

Resolution Number 2—The student senate will request

3,000 watts or bust

By LEANNE DANIEL
Editor

WLJS will be celebrating their five-year anniversary by kicking off fund-raising projects to make $15,000 in the next few months.

The student-run, campus radio station currently transmits on the power of 10 watts, but will have to increase their power to 3,000 on the air according to new rulings of the Federal Communications Commission. The power increase would permit the station to be heard at least 75 miles in all directions.

The station is currently on the air 19 hours a day, seven days a week and has approximately 27 disc jockeys and five other news announcers.

Plans were started toward a campus radio station in 1973 by a group of interested students. The students, under the supervision of fraternity advisor Major Turner, drew up the paper work and secured money from the University and the SGA. They gained a permit in 1974 and made their first broadcast on September 29, 1975.

When 92-J first started, they were on the air a total of 12 hours a day, seven days a week and staffed eight disc jockeys.

"The station has grown from an inconsistent station to a professional one. They sound much better now," stated Major Turner.

WLJS is basically a top 40 station, but offers a variety of shows to the listener. As weekend attractions, they provide a religious show on Sunday mornings from 8 a.m.-12 p.m., a classical show on Sunday afternoons from 12 p.m.-3 p.m., and a jazzy show on Sundays from 3 p.m.-6 p.m. and an "oldies" show on Sunday evenings from 6 p.m.-9 p.m.

Regular disc jockeys at 92J include David Ford, afternoon drive and news; Phil Osborne and Ross Iddings, mornings; Greg Buffaloe, religious show;

Kevin Dawson, mid-days; Greg Allan (LaFollette), news and late night; Mike Poole, afternoon; Phil Sisk, evenings; Rocky Harnon, evenings; Kryss Mitchell, mid-day; Steve Smith, mid-days; Bryan Brooks, evenings and jazz; Donny Stanfield (Tugboat); late night; John Valdez, weekends; Greg Warren, Sheri Adams, Mickey Hill, Mozi Thamaseb, P. M. Black, late night; Chan Hall, late night; Troi Hayes, late night; Chris Roberts, weekends.; Susan Snow, weekends; and Ron Culver, nights and news.

Featured during the week are specialssuch as The Phil and Ross Show on Tuesday and Thursday mornings, from 6 to 9, the morning show with Big John Selman on Monday, Wednesday and Fridays, and a top 40 countdown from 3 p.m.-6 p.m. every other Thursday with special album give-aways.

WLJS is under the student management of station manager Allan Rhodes. Allan is an over-all supervisor who handles budgets, problems and helps in any area needed.

The rest of the production staff includes Steve Malcom, program director, who handles all the music that is aired, Robert Auchenpaugh, production manager, who is in charge of all the public service announcements, Chris Pope, news director, who also trains new DJs to do news and Monica Gray, secretary.

"There is a lot of spirit in all of the staff this year. The people are interested in the operation and they are doing their best," commented Major Turner.

On September 29, the anniversary celebration will be started off with a raffle on stereo equipment. Past station managers and DJs will also be on hand for the festivities. A live remote will be broadcast from a location not available at press time. As the week progresses, more raffle tickets will be sold on other stereo equipment for the

Casual Comments ... Some things slip by

Leanne
Daniel,
Editor

As I stated before in the first issue of this fall semester, many changes are being made in your campus newspaper.

Already I have heard numerous comments about these changes. Many positive statements have come my way and I thank you for these; they are very encouraging.

Several negative comments have been voiced also and even some complaints. I know there is no way to please everyone that would be impossible, but I would like to hear your views on the paper.

The most common complaint I have heard so far is that I did not print news or announcements concerning certain subject areas or clubs. My response to this is that I can not print things if I am unaware of their existence. I try to find out everything that is happening on campus, but some things are going to slip by me.

If you are a member in a sorority, fraternity, club or organization, take it upon yourself to bring it up at your next meeting to put someone in charge of gathering your news for The Chanticleer. Then have that person call or stop by to see me so we can work out a system. Remember that whoever writes your news will also be considered a reporter and will have his name at the top of their article.

When you do see reason for complaint of the paper, write a letter to the editor or drop by my office, 104 TMB, and talk it over.

My feelings are that this is a campus newspaper for the students at JSU and I want to do my best to serve you.

adhere to the philosophy that a well-rounded college student will work hard in the classroom and play hard outside of class.

As Student Government President, I would like to commend every group on campus for contributing to these activities. This will enable us to offer the present students attending JSU a variety of entertainment which would attract even more students to our campus. For too long we have not pushed for JSU activities but rather, visited Alabama, Auburn, or another big school if we wanted to really have a good time. However, we now have students from other campuses who want to visit JSU.

But with the added concerts in the amphitheater, outdoor fraternity band parties, the influx of students around town after the football games, as well as other upcoming events such as homecoming, which are sometimes (most of the time) noisy events, comes an added responsibility to the Jacksonville community.

As some of you know, trouble has already begun to brew and it looks as though we can anticipate more trouble. After being treated rudely myself, I have perceived that some of them have a pre-conceived attitude that we students are a bunch of smart-mouthed kids whose intent is to alarm the neighborhoods and vandalize the town. Some probably fail to realize that our society's accepted mores for college students is slightly different from that of a regular citizen. Traditions are hard to break. I, for one, enjoy them and want them to continue.

However, I might point out that from an objective view, our record is not lily white. And the old adage that a few bad apples can spoil the whole bunch is true in most instances and certain holds true in our case.

Most of the time the police are answering complaints from the surrounding neighbors. Many of the residents around town are elderly, or never attended college at all.

price of $1 from any DJ. Due to a concert sponsored by the SGA on Sept. 30, a showing of "FM" will be held on October 7 at 7 and 9:30. This is sponsored by the Cinematic Arts Association and all proceeds will go to WLJS. A party sponsored by the Greek System will be announced at a later date to raise money.

The University has allocated $5,000 and the SGA has donated $200 to 92J. Many local businesses have contributed along with Cafe 800, Accent Design Florist, Key-West Diving Company and Jacksonville State Bank, who is helping to sponsor the week's activities.

"WLJS is a campus organization through which all other campus organizations benefit," stated Rhodes. "We are totally a student-run station and we try to work with everyone on campus."

WLJS is located on first floor of Bibb Graves Hall and is open to the public from 8 a.m.-5 p.m. Monday through Friday.

As interested students at JSU, get involved and help your campus radio station survive. There will be a money-graph set up in front of WLJS and in the Jack Hopper Dining Hall to show progression of money taken in.

The only impression they have of college students is from the movie, "Animal House." They view us as town visitors intruding upon them, while on the other hand, most of us view our role as a definite attribute to Jacksonville since most of the economic activity in town revolves around the consumption of University students. Therefore, our analogy is that although the individual students may change, we are replacing them with others consequently contributing to a stable part of the community.

According to my thinking, they should want us to have a good time since this would be conducive to us remaining in school here and even spur growth.

Since they do not share our feelings, one of the school leaders, Bill Bolt, and myself decided to conduct a session to brainstorm to see if we could come up with some solutions to try to alleviate some of the problems. We can help dissolve some of these negative feelings with some foresight and planning.

The first and foremost way of promoting good relations to meet your neighbors and inform them of your plans. Give them the pleasure to meet their "All-American" friendly neighborhood students. You may even want to invite them over. Asking for input on ways to quieten down or interfere less with their privacy is also a good way to promote smooth relationships. In other words, let them know that your group does respect them and is interested in their feelings. Surprisingly, a mere visit may save you a lot of hassle in the future.

To proceed a step farther, your group may try to plan some activities that would involve and benefit the Jacksonville community. Most groups conduct yearly philanthropy projects anyway, so a little constructive, visible publicity on JSU's contributions to the city would greatly enhance our bargaining position with them.

True, the few guidelines which have been outlined to foster better relations is not full proof. The University environment vs. the neighborhood environment are almost like two distinct worlds. And no matter what we do, we can not completely intermingle these two lifestyles.

However, if we put forth some effort, I predict our benefits will greatly outweigh the time consumed to promote good relationships. It is really our only alternative at this time. If we all work at bettering these relationships, maybe we will be perceived in the way in which we deserve, as a positive contributor of the Jacksonville community.

The numerous activities of the fall semester have created an air of excitement and fun on and around the campus of Jacksonville State University. After attending JSU for three previous years, I can say without hesitation that there have been more activities this year than ever before. This enables us to offer students an equal balance between their studies and extra-curricular activities. I Support your Gamecock Cheerleaders ... they deserve it!

By JOE BRYAN

Through the course of a year, many thoughts pass through the minds of students here. Yet how many times do we stop and think how frustrating it must be to be a football cheerleader at this University.

Lets face the facts. The cheerleaders here put in a great deal of work weekly, in preparation for the games. Besides going over and over the cheers and stunts they perform during football contests, the girls must maintain a presentable appearance and the guys must insure the safety of the group.

There are also plans involved pertaining to a certain schedule of stunts to be performed and also coordination of uniforms. Cheerleaders, too, must prepare some special event for the games. This would include such things as pompoms, balloons, small footballs or whatever (although the distribution is not at all times as equal as possible).

Now mind you, this is not official, documented evidence. These are but mere observations over a period of two games. No doubt, there are probably many other responsibilities being overlooked here.

Anyway, what has to be frustrating to the cheerleaders is that after all that preparatory work, the majority of the students sit in the stands with the enthusiasm of raw fish. Zombies through the years have exhibited more exuberance for their personal affiliations than we do for Jacksonville State.

Several rumors have circulated that Jacksonville State is expected to reach magnanimous proportions within the next few years (at least that of other major universities in the South). One can only realize the embarrassment Jacksonville would face if we were to try to compete with the spirit of such schools as Alabama, Auburn, Georgia, Georgia Tech, Florida State, FSU, etc.

Football games are supposed to create excitement. There should be a certain feeling in the air. Yet can anyone truthfully say the student body here makes any effort to create any excitement of any kind? Were it not for the Southerners, Paul Snow Stadium would resemble a mausoleum on Saturday nights.

Is it too much to ask for fraternities, sororities, clubs, independents, alumni, faculty and all others connected with Jax State to band together for two and one half hours once a week and back the Gamecocks with more than the normal decibal level of potato peeling we have witnessed in the past? Can we really classify cheering as undignified and conduct unbecoming our vast collegiate minds?

Perhaps if the cheerleaders could present an award weekly to the group that displays the most spirit, maybe more groups would respond. And if that award were highly publicized and accompanied by a keg or something, then maybe even more groups would respond. And if the cheerleaders threw a party at a mutual sight agreed upon by the recipient of the award, then certainly more groups would respond.

"A little far-fetched," I hear you saying. Perhaps, but something should be done to enable the cheerleaders to warrant the support they deserve. Anything would be a far cry better than having bottles thrown from the stands.

Don't go lynch any Iranians

By GENE WISDOM

Cramming for tests, cheering for the Gamecocks, and partying all hours in between. Yes, we're finally back at school, with another year's reprieve from the real world. There is, however, one stark, though seemingly remote, 'bit of reality, we must not allow ourselves to forget: there are still 52 American citizens being held hostage in Iran.

No, you don't have to postpone the party or put down your books to hoist a gasoline-soaked Iranian flag, but neither should we allow that righteous indignation which exploded in the first Iranian flag-burning in Alabama to subside. At one time we were ready to round up every available Iranian student and counter-extort the Ayatollah (no, ya'll, don't go lynch any Iranians) or were looking in the yellow pages for a mercenary group undergoing desert training that we could join.

Now, however, as our hostages are sitting through their 324th day of captivity, it seems as though we have adopted the attitude that, by now they should be used to it. After all, if you've looked down the barrel of an AK-47 for three hundred days, what is so bad about another couple of hundred? Or maybe they have become so complacent, they have figured the Iranians will get tired of holding them and let them go before America decides to get up off its hands.

Or maybe we've really stopped caring. After all, the Ayatollah will sooner or later get tired of holding them, won't he? Maybe? Someday? And isn't it possible that the Iranian parliament will decide to free them? Isn't it?

The shameful fact, apparently, is that this has been going on for too long and we are simply BORED. Being extorted by a fanatical mob and an insane religious zealot is no longer thrilling, especially after one rescue attempt has failed and we may go through another Christmas with a ring of unlighted trees on the White House lawn. Perhaps, if we found that an Iranian squadron of looted Phantom jets had made a near miss and almost bombed the hostages, we would pull our heads out of hangovers and books long enough to get incensed.

We haven't really forgotten the hostages, which reassures us; we simply have taken it for granted that they are being held. Am I saying we should burn another Iranian flag? There certainly would be nothing wrong with that, but we must first of all re-light those torches within our hearts—the spark of a burning memory. That flame will be bright long after the ashes of a hundred flags have blown away.

Dear Editor,

Before you get me wrong, please remember that I am a great fan of the Marching Southerners and I think they're one of, if not the best band in the South. I consider their performances and half-time shows superb, but I must say that the same old, short songs they do during time outs and between plays is getting pretty boring. I'm a senior here at JSU and after hearing these same songs for four years, they have begun to get on my nerves. I don't know who is in charge of the selection of songs but can't some new ones be learned? I know that tradition is important to a lot of people but will variety hurt us?

Dear Editor,

Every fall there always seems to be a problem assigning students to the dormitory of their choice. This year has certainly been no exception. However, our women residents have been so patient and cooperative I could not pass up this opportunity to say to each of them again, "Thank You!" Mrs. Gardner and I hope all our girls are happily settled in their new homes. If they are not, they need to come by our office and we will try again.

Dear Editor,

I would like to thank all of the people involved in the Step-Up program held this summer. Without their help, I would be totally lost. There were some lapses in the time schedule where people were wondering around waiting for the next orientation session. They later corrected this. Thank you, again, for the help during orientation.

Dear Editor,

Bring a resident at Jacksonville State University for only three weeks, I have yet to find many problems with the campus. However, last night on my way to the library I discovered one problem which I'm sure is somewhat annoying to others who may have evening classes or just have to walk across campus after dark. It's the shortage of ample lighting on the streets within the campus.

I realize that this problem is, as most problems, related to the money supply. I do believe, however, that special consideration be given to the safety of the students at JSU.

Sincerely,
Monica Musick

Dear Editor,

One of the very few things that I have found wrong with this institution is the fact that students are not allowed to cash checks on campus. I realize that we can write checks for the amount of purchase, but that's all. What are we supposed to do when we need cash? We can't write a check for every little thing we buy. I am from another part of the state and my parents find it easier to deposit money in my checking account rather than send it through the mail. Since most of the students at JSU live on campus, the University should provide a way for students to cash checks at their new "home".

Dear Editor,

This letter here is just a few of my thoughts of how I feel being at Jacksonville State University campus for the first time. I remember my first day, it was total confusion for me since I did not know where the buildings for different classes were located, and how much time I needed to get from one to the other. After the first week, things started to go very well. I felt as though I've been here a year already. The people are pleasant and make you feel welcome. I find the people in the South to be more open with and friendlier than the North.

The only complaint I have is the time you spend waiting

Scholarships announced

Barber Dairies president Albert E. Geiss has announced the 14 winners of the company's first annual scholarship awards.

These winners are selected from a large number of candidates submitted by the faculty dean of the Business School of each of 12 colleges and universities located in the Barber marketing areas. The winners and their schools are as follows:

Christi Johnson, University of Alabama; Brenda Weiss, Auburn University; Joan Chaney, Birmingham Southern College; James A. Howell, Auburn University, Montgomery; Lisa Monti, University of Alabama, Birmingham; David Young, University of South Alabama; Sonja Thornton, Springhill College; Dicky Sparks, University of North Alabama; Deborah Lynn Morgan, Northeast Mississippi Junior College; Dennis Meek, Northeast Mississippi Junior College; Amy Drexler, Jacksonville State University; Mary McKinney, Itawamba Junior College; Robert Baker, Itawamba Junior College; John McWhorter, Samford

Amy Drexler

When the winners were determined, those chosen were presented their scholarship awards by Barber managers in each division at a campus Honors Day, according to Geiss.

"This scholarship program was initiated by George W. Barber, Jr., chairman of the company, as evidence of Barber's dedication to the progress of higher education in our region," Geiss added.

Participating schools are the University of Alabama, University of Alabama, Birmingham, Samford University and Birmingham Southern College in the Birmingham area; in Montgomery area, Auburn University and Auburn University in Montgomery; University of South Alabama and Springhill College in the Mobile area; Jacksonville State University in the Anniston area; and University of North Alabama, Northeast Mississippi Junior College and Itawamba Junior College in the Tupelo, Miss., area.

University. The 10 $1000 and four $500 scholarships go to students in the business education field, and are made in support of Barber Dairies' strong allegiance to the free enterprise system. Criteria for selection include academic achievement, campus leadership, individual initiative and financial need.

The JSU Infirmary

Infirmary treats various illnesses

By KEITH BROWN
The Jacksonville State University Infirmary, located between Ivo Sparkman and Mason Hall, is open to treat students for various illnesses and also for medical counseling.

Head nurse Carol Lawler and Dr. Sam Crawford are prepared to assist students in areas such as colds, sore throats, finger tip blood tests, urinary tract disorders, venereal diseases, pregnancy tests and some blood work. The infirmary also has a pharmacy and handles prescriptions.

Severe cuts, broken bones, ulcers, etc., should be taken care of at a hospital of the student's choice, however. The staff of the infirmary is very well experienced in this area as they handle approximately 50-60 students per day, and in the 1979-80 year they had 7,272 patients.

All services and counseling is strictly confidential and the only cost to students are the medical and laboratory tests.

Infirmary hours are 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Monday through Friday but if a student should need attention after hours or on the weekend they are advised to call the campus police and inform them of the situation. The police, in turn, will get in touch with one of the staff of the infirmary.

KAPPA ALPHA PSI NO REPORT

KAPPA SIGMA

The brothers of the Lambda Gamma Chapter of the Kappa Sigma Fraternity would like to extend a special thanks to all the hundreds of people that helped to make Kappa Sigmas fall 80 rush the best ever. We would like to congratulate our new pledges and say that we are glad to have them aboard. And how can you have a rush without littler sisters who did a great job once again.

With the season opener tomorrow the Sigs have another fine football team that may be the best ever. Brothers like John Cooper, Ken Frazier, and Jed Morrow returning to the team this year along with newcomers in IM, but not to football, like Keith Kilgore and Tim Spears will get the job done says assistant coach Bill Bibb. But the key chance this fall will be Moose moving from guard to center, according to Charlie's wife.

PI KAPPA PHI

The Brothers of Delta Epsilon Chapter of Pi Kappa

Phi are looking forward to an outstanding fall semester this year. After a great formal rush, it looks like Pi Kappa Phi has picked up another fine crew of sharp, young guys, and are expecting even more in the next couple of weeks during "wildcat rush."

The fraternity is proud of its achievements last year. We received from our national office the prestigious President's Plaque Award for outstanding alumni activities, Master Chapter Award which includes excellence in scholarship, membership, financial management, and leadership, and The Most Outstanding Organization here at Jax State. This year we are planning an even better fall and spring.

Coach Andy Arnold said, "The football team is really working hard and can't wait to get the season under way." All of the new guys are really fired up about I-M sports and are ready to get involved.

Since last spring we have made many renovations on our house and would like to invite everyone to come by and visit us.

SIGMA NU

The brothers of the Sigma Nu Fraternity here at Jacksonville State would like to formally extend congratulations for the fine job the executive officers of the inter-fraternity council performed during rush week. We not only feel that we at Sigma Nu had an extremely successful rush, but also that the Greek system as a whole fared exceptionally well. These results are directly related to the careful planning and hard work of the inter-fraternity council.

Also, we would like to encourage those who, due to some uncontrollable circumstances, were not able to participate in rush, to look into each fraternity's policy regarding wildcat rush. Jacksonville State's Greek society becomes more elaborate and beneficial each year and therefore we feel everyone should consider a future in the fraternity system.

As was stated last week, Sigma Nu has many activities planned for the fall, including a celebration of Sigma Nu's 111th birthday, open parties and, of course, the Sweepstakes.

We also hope everyone will find time to come by and tour our house and explore its historical significance and Southern heritage.

THETA ETA OMEGA PSI PHI

The brothers of Theta Eta Chapter of Omega Psi Phi mourn the death of Kenneth Pettway. In memory of Kenny who enjoyed football so much, the brothers are dedicating the 1980-81 intramural season to him. Every man in the fraternity has pledged to offer his best during the upcoming season in honor of this friend.

Sorority news

DELTA ZETA

Delta Zeta has challenged Phi Mu to a powder puff football game to be held Oct. 21. This was issued all in fun and will serve to strengthen unity between the sororities. There will be a joint beer bust afterward at the Copper Penny.

The Dee Zees are sponsoring a Parents Day Saturday, Sept. 27. The sisters want their parents to become better acquainted with each other and with the sorority itself. They are having a picnic lunch at Germania Springs with skits and songs from rush.

Delta Zeta and Scabbard and Blade are having a mixer at the Officer's Club at Ft. McClellan.

The sorority is holding study hall Monday and Wednesday nights from 6-9 on the 12th floor. Everyone who wanders up there is invited to stay for an evening of serious studying.

Several Delta Zeta sisters are little sisters for fraternities. They include Pam Champion, Tammy Ellison, Karen Burns, Kelly Felker, and Terrie Matthews for Delta Chi; Patty Johnson, Sigma Nu; Lisa

Williams, Kappa Alpha and Vickie Page, Pi Kappa Phi. —Debbie Holt

PHI MU

Phi Mu is ready for a great fall semester with a new pledge class and many activities planned. To show their enthusiasm and spirit for the Gamecocks, Phi Mu is selling bumper stickers with the slogan, "Honk if you're a Gamecock" printed on the sticker. They are being sold for one dollar each and can be purchased from any Phi Mu, and also at home games. The proceeds from this project are being donated to the lupus foundation in memory of Julie Reed. Another recent chapter activity was the selection of new big brothers. Fifteen bids were given out and all were accepted. These new brothers were inducted in Monday with a pledging-in service and a get-together afterwards for everyone.

The fall pledge class is planning to hold a car wash to raise money. Pledge officers include Diane O'Brian, president; Jenny Barker, secretary; Michele Hefferly, treasurer; and Cam Perry, chaplain.

Phi Mu's upcoming events include a beer bust at the Copper Penny on Oct. 9 and participation in the Miller Drive.

ZETA TAU ALPHA

By LYDIA DUNWOODY

Zeta Tau Alpha started out this school year with some unusual events for the new pledges. To welcome them into our fraternity we had a Hug-a-Zeta contest. Everytime a member met a new pledge on campus she would hug her and pin an "H" on her. At the end of the day the pledge with the most hugs won. We would like to congratulate Kim Prater for being the first annual Hug-a-Zeta contest winner.

The following week a Strawberry Party brought Zetas closer together.

On Tuesday, we sponsored an open party at the Copper Penny and are very excited that it was such a big success. We are looking forward to many more like it.

Zeta pledges have started out the year as winners of the sign competition. The members would like to congratulate the pledges on a job well done.

Sells first sticker

Members of Phi Mu Fraternity will be selling Gamecock bumper stickers beginning this week. Proceeds will go to the Lupus Research Fund in memory of Julie Reed. Left to right, Coach Fuller, Perri Goss, Anniston; Kelly Reed, Jacksonville; Monica Stewart,

TYR in concert

Coming to JSU in concert will be TYR, with special guest Bittersweet. The concert will be held at Leone Cole Auditorium on Sept. 30 at 8 p.m. Admission will be $1 for JSU students and $3 for the public.

Ring Day

Ring Day will be Sept. 30 and Oct. 1. The Ballfour Ring representative will be present on the second floor of Theron Montgomery Building from 10 a.m.-1 p.m. Support your SGA!

Registration

Voter registration day will be Oct. 8. Registration tables will be outside the SGA office, Theron Montgomery Building and possibly other locations to be announced later. Make your voice heard in the coming elections!

Internships

The American Student Association in which the Student Government Association is a member, sponsors internships at its Washington, D. C., office. Internships are available for summer, fall, winter or spring, 1980-81.

Students who seek first-hand experience in the American political system should apply. ASA needs students to research, report, act on student issues, and to help manage and develop a national organization. Many students arrange academic credit for internships through their schools.

Anyone who is interested in applying for this program or obtaining additional information for this may contact the Student Government Association.

Fashion show

A family fashion show benefiting the Jacksonville Community Concert Association will be held in Montgomery Auditorium on Monday, Sept. 29 at 7:30 p.m. The show, featuring current fashions, will be modeled by men and women of all ages, from children to adults. Campus sororities are expected to participate. Entertainment will be provided by the Jacksonville High School Fourmost Barbershop Quartet. Participating merchants are Lou's, Bob's Campus Shop, The Quality Shop, Kitchin's, Withit, The 'N' Shop. A door prize will be awarded. Tickets are $1 with JSU Student ID and can be purchased from Community Concert members or at the door.

JSU Young Democrats to meet

The JSU Young Democrats will have their first meeting on Sept. 25 at 6 p.m. on the fourth floor of the Theron Montgomery Student Union Building.

The JSU Young Democrats are planning a full fall schedule due to the election year. Many volunteers are needed to man the booth at the Calhoun County Fair as well as work in the Calhoun County Carter Headquarters. They are also planning to participate in several appreciation dinners for outstanding Democrats throughout the state which will be sponsored by all the Young Democrats chapters throughout the state.

This past year the Young Democrats were instrumental in bringing Bobby Kennedy Jr. to campus, as well as attending the Chip Carter Dinner held in Birmingham. In addition, they co-sponsored a political forum for representatives of each Presidential candidate during the primary. A group also recently visited Tusculumbia to hear President Carter kickoff his Presidential campaign and were able to talk with the President personally.

A week of experience can be fun

By MARK HOWARD
Dr. Ernest Stone, president of Jacksonville State University, has proclaimed the 22nd - 27 of September as ROTC Week. During this week, the ROTC Department will provide Jax State students with a sequence of exciting and challenging activities.

ROTC Week began yesterday with a volleyball game at Rowe Hall between the Cadre and Cadets. Today at 2 p.m. a marksmanship clinic will be held at the rifle range in Rowe Hall. Students will receive proper instruction and be given a chance to fire up the targets down range. This will be a safe and serious clinic on marksmanship. Cadet-Maj. Travis Heard will assist Capt. Allen Ohlstein with instruction at the range.

Wednesday is the day for the Brave and the Bold. A rappelling clinic will be taught from 1 p.m. until 4 p.m. at the rappelling tower at Rowe Hall. All JSU students attending will have the courage and skill necessary to make a successful rappel after receiving expert instruction from Capt. Scott and MSG Hogan. Cadet-LTC Don Owens, commander of the Rangers, will assist in the instruction.

On Thursday all students are encouraged to be on the front lawn of Bibb Graves Hall at 4 p.m. An awards and retreat ceremony will be held honoring students that are proficient in military skills. There are no scheduled events for Friday. I'm sure the time will be well spent in preparation for Saturday's games.

ROTC Week will end at 7 p.m. on Saturday in Snow

Stadium at the home game between the Gamecocks and Alabama State. During pre-game festivities you will be presented with 15 of the loveliest young ladies in the South. Being an ROTC sponsor holds much prestige and honor. ROTC sponsors are well deserving of this presentation. They work hard throughout the year for the Military Science Department.

I am confident that participating students will enjoy the week as well as learning a few skills. Your participation will make the week a success. Come out... learn... and have fun... enjoy yourself!!

Proclamation

In recognition of the largest enrollment in contributions of the United States Army Reserve Officer Training Corps to the safety and security of our country throughout our history, Jacksonville State University is proud to honor the Army ROTC program on this campus. This year marks the 34th anniversary of the arrival of Army ROTC at JSU. Since the first group of 14 officers, over 800 male and female officers have entered active duty through this university. This year, Jacksonville State University has achieved its largest enrollment in Military Science since the advent of the volunteer program in 1971. Many of these students will choose and will serve proudly in our own Alabama National Guard. It is for service to our state and nation, and for the support of the citizen-soldier concept, that the week of Sept. 22-27, is proclaimed as Army ROTC Week at Jacksonville State University.

Urinary Tract Infections (UTI) are a bothersome part of college life for some women and men. It is caused by bacteria in the bladder. When allowed to grow the bacteria multiply, which may or may not give rise to the symptoms that send a person to the physician.

UTI may manifest itself with chills, fever, low back pain and - or burning, urgency or frequency of urination. The burning sensation is usually located in the urethra (small tube leading out of the bladder) and is prevalent at the beginning and end of the stream of urine. Pain and tenderness are often present in the region over the bladder. Changes in the appearance of the urine are often noticeable, and may appear as darkened or odorous urine.

Due to the anatomy of the female, women are more susceptible to contamination than males, and sexually active or pregnant women are most susceptible. Retention of urine and incomplete emptying of the bladder increase the risk of infection.

Treatment usually consists of culturing a sterile urine sample to identify the invading bacteria. Medication is then prescribed specifically for the contaminating bacteria, and often a pain reliever for the urinary tract until the antibiotics are effective.

Preventive measures are most important since reinfection may easily occur. Increase fluid intake helps flush bacteria out of the bladder. Urinating every two-three hours and completely emptying the bladder reduces the ability of the bacteria to grow. It has been reported that cranberry juice helps reduce the rate of bacterial growth. Women whose reinfections appear to be related to sexual activity should empty their bladder and drink several glasses of water immediately after intercourse.

A most important factor is to recognize that burning, pain and frequency of urination are not normal and that one should see a physician as soon as possible since UTIs seldom disappear on their own.

Puckett...All American Gymnast

By LEANNE DANIEL
Editor

Susan Puckett was recently awarded the International Gymnast All American Collegiate award for the second year since she has competed at Jax State.

The girl gymnast won the award in the vaulting events at last year's national finals where the JSU team placed 10th in the Division I competition.

"I set a goal and worked hard all along to reach it. I now look back and realize how it all payed off," said Susan.

Susan also won this award during her freshman year at

JSU. "She did so much more than I expected of her during her first year here," stated Coach Dillard, girls gymnastics coach.

Due to sicknesses and injuries, Susan did not compete the full season as a sophomore, but came back her junior year to become All-American again.

Beginning her senior year, Susan reflects back on her years at JSU. "Coach Dillard recruited me here and I like it. I like him, the people and the size of the school."

"We were lucky to get Susan," commented Dillard. "She is very powerful and dynamic. She has a style all her own. She is also a good leader for the other girls."

The judges are very high on Susan. She helped JSU to gain respectability in Division I competition.

"The physical education major hopes to one day go into physical therapy. "I'd also like to teach or coach," she said.

To carry out the title of All-American, Susan enjoys other aspects of college.

"She's a good student and has real good grades. She's involved with all parts of campus life," Dillard said.

A native of Bristol, Va., Susan's hopes for the coming year include the whole team and not just individual goals.

Susan Puckett

"I want us to be real good. We are all one big family and if we all work together as a unit, I think we can make nationals and place in the top six-eight teams."

"One of the most important things to remember is to keep a positive attitude. I get frustrated and it is hard at times, but I know in the end it will pay off," she concluded.

Go Gamecocks

After long, hard struggle...

Win brings record to 2-1

By LEANNE DANIEL
Editor

With 11 seconds left on the clock, Mike Foxx failed at his 37-yard field goal attempt giving JSU a close 29-28 victory over Alabama A&M.

From a JSU fumble on the first play from scrimmage til the missed field goal by A&M at the end of the fourth quarter, Saturday's game at Milton Frank Stadium was filled with non-stop action.

"That was the longest first half of my life," stated Coach Jim Fuller after watching his team fight for a 23-21 lead at half-time.

"We were awful sloppy at times," Fuller continued. "I almost lost the game for our kids. They caught us a few times in some situations that good coaching could have eliminated. We didn't help our players in some critical points."

"We still played well," Fuller added. "This is the best A&M football team we've seen."

This win brought Jacksonville's record to 2-1 for the season. Jax State bounced back last week to defeat Mississippi College after an opening loss to UT-Chattanooga.

This was also the first time JSU won two games back to back since 1978.

Excitement was aroused early in the game Saturday when A&M recovered a JSU fumble on the first play from scrimmage. A&M quarterback Ananias Harris passed to Reggie McGary from the Gamecock 16 on the next play for the first touchdown of the game. Foxx's PAT was good and the score stood 7-0 with only 13 seconds gone off the clock.

JSU player Kenny Stokes blocked an A&M punt only a few minutes later to start the Gamecocks on their way to lighting up the scoreboard from the A&M 27.

Seven plays later JSU quarterback Ed Lett sent Harris Montgomery up the middle for a touchdown play. Brian Krohn missed the PAT making the score 7-6 where it stayed until the second quarter was underway.

Defensive end Ralph Battle intercepted a Harris pass and took it in 41 yards for an easy touchdown with 12:44 left in the half. An attempt for two failed leaving the score at 12-7.

With 10:38 left on the clock, another interception by JSU player Greg Colton headed the Gamecocks toward another touchdown. Lett completed to split end Derick Whitely seven plays later for the points. Another attempt for two succeeded this time bringing the score to 20-7.

A&M quickly sought revenge and overtook Jacksonville 21-20 in a matter of moments.

The Gamecocks bounced back to regain their lead when Krohn succeeded with a 32 yard field goal to bring the score to 23-21 at halftime.

The A&M Bulldogs scored their final touchdown in the third quarter with 6:11 left on the clock bringing the score to 28-23 for A&M.

Early in the fourth quarter Lett passed five yards to Walter Broughton giving Jax State their final points in the game making it 29-28.

A&M had one more chance to overtake JSU with an attempted field goal with 11 seconds on the clock. The Bulldog punt was barely off leaving the final score 29-28. JSU fought long and hard for the victory which they well-deserved Saturday in Huntsville. Nobody ever told them it would be easy though.

"This was the toughest one yet," stated Derick Whitely after the game. "It was so tough that I didn't know what to do so I just laid my head and prayed," he concluded.

Besides having the scheduled events, the coliseum is also available for informal use. The coliseum contains two gymnasiums, pool, tennis, and handball courts, weight room, and intramural fields. All that is required is sufficient ID.

Intramural tennis begins

Play began on Monday, Sept. 15, for the singles competition with five players competing. In the first match Paul Gore defeated Frank Higginbotham (6-0) and (6-1) in the second match Jeff Speegle defeated Andrew King (6-1) (6-1). The only other match was won by default by David Pace since his opponent failed to show up. There was another scheduled match, but neither of the players showed up for that one.

On Tuesday the only semi-final match was between Paul Gore and Jeff Speegle. Gore won the match easily (6-0), (6-2). David Pace was allowed a bye so he will face Paul on Wednesday in the finals. It's hard to tell who will win.

There will also be doubles competition starting on the 18th with four teams in the running.
