Omicron Delta Kappa is growing at JSU

What is ODK? Perhaps you have asked yourself this question upon hearing these letters. If your first guess is that it's Greek, you're close. ODK is Omicron Delta Kappa, a rapidly growing national honorary society here at Jacksonville State.

The JSU Circle of Omicron Delta Kappa recognizes leadership and scholarship as important characteristics for a successful college or career experience. Each semester ODK searches for those students who have demonstrated leadership by being active in some of the many areas open to them, while at the same time maintaining a high academic record. ODK emphasizes the development of the whole person in terms of both activities and academics. Thus ODK is an honor attainable by those students who are well-rounded, active in their service to their university and diligent in their studies.

Omicron Delta Kappa recognizes leadership demonstrated through many facets of college life such as scholarship; athletics, social, service, and religious activities; student government; the mass media; and creative and performing arts. The members meet to share their strengths and work toward goals for the circle and the university.

A project of the JSU Circle of ODK is the annual Awards Day program which recognizes groups and individuals for outstanding achievements during the academic year. A new award named in honor of president emeritus Ernest Stone will commend the member of the JSU Circle who has most exemplified the high ideals of Omicron Delta Kappa.

Mimosa picture schedule released for sororities and music honoraries

The class section photographer will be located on the fourth floor of Theron Montgomery Building daily from Sept. 8-18 from 8-12 and 1-5 to make pictures of all students.

The staff for Mimosa 1982 encourages all students, faculty, and staff members to have their pictures made and be represented in the associates section. The company provides one print for use in the yearbook at no cost, but mails proofs to each subject, giving the option for orders if the person so desires. The yearbook staff assumes no responsibility for purchases between the student or university personnel and the photographic company except to provide contact.

The staff recommends that casual clothing or apparel such as that chosen for church attendance be worn for the sitting, but any dress style is accepted.

Students expecting to graduate in December, April, or August should classify themselves as seniors in order to appear in the senior section.

Group and feature pictures for sororities and music honoraries are scheduled for Saturday morning, September 19, as follows. Members are expected to be prompt and cooperative. In the event of rain, all pictures will be made on the 3rd floor (See SCHEDULE, Page 2)

Rush Week Fraternity House Map

Rush Week will be September 16 - 18. All parties at 8:00, 16th is Dry Night. All potential rushees are encouraged to meet at the Roundhouse, Sept. 16, 7:30p.m.

spring semester, by her own choice, and for those of us who are concerned, she did not return to the campus this fall.

In the meantime I applied for the job as Chanticleer editor and was appointed by the Communications Board. At the same time Lisha was appointed editor of the Pertelote.

Months before I had applied to work this summer as a missionary with the Home Mission Board. They placed me in West Virginia. John Denver lied. But that's another story. The call of God was just a little more pressing than the call of the Communications Board, so after putting out an issue in mini, off to West Virginia I went. But not before I took care of business here.

Knowing that Lisha had once been living editor of the Chanticleer, the position whence I came, and knowing that she had the capabilities of editing the whole paper, with her added credentials of the Alumni News and now the Pertelote, and taking advantage of the fact that we're friends and besides she needed the money, we negotiated a deal which made her acting editor of the Chanticleer for two issues this summer.

So we're not playing musical editors. And Lisha wasn't 'kicked' out of the job. She's quite happy on the Fourth Floor in the Alumni offices. And working on a Forthcoming issue of the Pertelote. Me? I'm still getting mail addressed to Jana Moon.

Being a freshman is quite an experience

By ALISON ANDREWS
We've been in school a little more than two weeks now, and we've more or less lost all the initial excitement and settled into the routine. That is, most of us. There is still a part of our student population who maintain eagerness about it all. This group that I refer to, of course, is our freshmen.

Being a freshman at a large university is quite an exciting experience. For many, it is the first time away from home for any length of time. This is probably the best learning experience of all for them, because during that first year away from home, students learn more about themselves than ever before.

Of course, learning is important—it is the supposed reason why each of us came to JSU. But most students don't let studying get them down, and it's important for freshmen to realize that no one expects them not to have any fun. I hope that each of you will always regard your first year with the same fondness I hold for mine. Mine was spent chasing boys, watching football practice with binoculars, hoping Poor Richard's wouldn't check my ID, skipping one class to study for another, short-sheeting my roommate, and burning the midnight oil during finals so that Mom and Dad would let me bring my car down the next semester.

Freshmen are finding out that college is a lot different from high school. Dena Glenn, for instance, told me, "I never had to study in high school, so now it's a real challenge, but I feel it's good." Dena is from New Hope and plans to major in criminal justice or corrections.

Amy Mason of Anniston realizes that, "Everything has a new perspective. In high school, if a teacher used a word I didn't know, it didn't bother me. Now it upsets me because I feel like I've missed something."

Jeff Holmes of Lilburn, Ga., is impressed by "the more relaxed atmosphere. In high school, no one would have dared to wear shorts, and the first time I saw someone smoking inside one of the buildings, I felt an urge to tell them to put it out because a teacher might come."

Jody Ellison of Jemison is pleasantly surprised—"I was told that all professors were strange and weird, but so far, all of mine have been great. They're normal, even helpful."

Also pleased is Kim Duke of Cedartown, Ga. "I love Jax State because everyone is so friendly, super nice. Classes are also more interesting, and here, I'm treated as an adult."

Laurie Gunter of St. Clair is aware of a popular prank, "I know I'm a freshman because my room got rolled."

Freshmen, most of us upperclassmen remember feeling unimportant, but we've found those feelings were unjustified. You constitute a large fraction of our student body; there, your voice is important. Please do not hesitate to relay us your views.

Israel's policy on international terrorism

By MICHAEL W. PALMER

During the past few weeks the PLO has increased its aggression against northern Israel. This escalation has included heavy rocket attacks against Israeli civilian populations in the area of Galilee.

In an effort to combat these attacks, Israel resorted to striking the PLO headquarters which happened to be located in heavily populated areas of Lebanon. Because of this policy, Israel has received much criticism from the U. N. countries.

In recent correspondence to the Chanticleer office, the Consulate General of Israel in Atlanta stated:

"We stress that Israel has no quarrel with the people of Lebanon but with those terrorists who have been violated Lebanese territory by using it as the launching pad for their murder campaign against Israel. If the Lebanese government is able to assert its sovereignty and reestablish its authority in order to stop the terrorists operating from their country—as Jordan and Syria have done before them—Israel will gladly cooperate with Lebanon to establish peaceful relations and tranquility on the border."

Before 1970 the main base of PLO anti-Israeli attacks was Jordan and there was little trouble on the Lebanese border. But in 1970 King Hussein took military action and drove the terrorists out of Jordan. About 5000 Palestine Arabs died in the conflict "according to representatives of the International Committee of the Red Cross."

Many of these terrorists moved to Lebanon. Gradually, they gained control of the Palestinian Arab refugee camps. Terrorist attacks against Israel become strong and more frequent.

In 1975 civil war broke out in Lebanon and in 1976 Syrian forces invaded the country. Now Lebanon is in a state of anarchy. It is fragmented and the central government has little control. There are about 27,000 Syrian troops in Lebanon today.

The PLO Controls a great deal of Lebanese territory and has profited immensely from the turmoil in the country. There are an estimated 15,000 PLO terrorists in this small middle eastern state.

Israel struck back against the PLO in 1978 by striking southern Lebanon. In March 1979 the U. N. Security Council decided to establish UNIFIL (United Nations Intirim Force in Lebanon). The PLO, however, returned to the area.

"Today Lebanon is the only country in the world which provides a 'legitimate' territorial base to terrorist organizations," states the Israeli Consulate's press release. It goes on to say that Lebanon's capital, Beirut, "serves as the military and political center of the various splinter groups which constitute the PLO."

The PLO has deliberately used heavily populated areas (such as refugee camps) as bases of operation because of Israel's reluctance to attack such areas. In Beirut the terrorists located their headquarters in the middle floors of 7 to 8 story buildings, with civilians living below and above.

Recently, the PLO has received "a massive influx of heavy arms—including long range 130mm artillery some 70-80 T-54 T-55 tanks, mobile BM21 rocket launchers . . . and SAM-9 anti-aircraft missiles—supplied primarily by Libya, Syria and the USSR" says our Israeli source.

In mid May the PLO shelled villages along Israel's northern border causing many casualties and unprecedented damage. Israel was forced to take action—urgent action against the PLO. Israel had to knock out the "organizational infrastructure" in Lebanon.

The Israeli consulate says "The PLO is fully responsible for any civilian casualties caused by this action," and goes on to say "Israel supports the independence of Lebanon and its territorial integrity and desires neighborly and peaceful relations with it. Israel does not have—and never has had—any territorial claims against Lebanon.

As is evident by the above account, the UN's role in the middle east has done little to stop international terrorism. A method of dealing with this problem must be found.

Why do the UN countries (who have not found the answer) criticize Israel for her actions in this matter?

What do you think?

An open letter to JSU students

Becoming a member of a Greek organization can be one of the most meaningful experiences a student can have during his or her college years. Unlike what some people feel towards fraternities and sororities if they are not a part of them, the involvement in a group held together by the bonds of a common cause can be very fulfilling in many ways.

The friendships developed in college are the ones that most of us will retain the rest of our lives. The majority of us are losing contact with most of our high school friends and it is sad. But soon we will begin to make new friends at college, probably very similar to some of our old ones. It is at this point in our lives when fraternities or sororities may begin to appeal to many of us. We not only enjoy being around new interesting people but we may also become curious about how so many different people can all be friends. It is something we don't quite understand, but we knew that these people have a common bond that holds them together. That bond of being a member of an organization with secrets and thoughts centuries old, known only by members of that select group. The meanings and ideas have meaning for only those people who are a part of them. There is also a strong bond of trust between every individual, no matter how different they may be, that is never ending. These are qualities of the most successful Greek organizations and qualities that should be looked for when we are considering joining one of these groups.

The decisions that we make during this important week may affect our lives forever. So, these are not decisions to be taken lightly. So to each fraternity house during rush and observe the people inside them. See where we feel the most comfortable and look for the group that seems to be best knit organization. We are smart enough to come to college and we are intelligent enough to judge a good organization when we see one. There are a great many friendships we may miss out on if we don't give serious consideration to joining a fraternity or sorority. It is not an opportunity offered to just anyone.

The classic dilemma

By BRENDA DEES

To have or not to have, that is the question. Whether 'tis nobler in the mind to suffer the slings and arrows of outrageous fortune. This warped Shakespearian verse accurately describes the dilemma faced by the public in capitalistic America. Many Americans find themselves torn between two evils, the attainment of success versus an unpredictable economy.

Achievement in a super style and its ramifications places bonds on many Americans to either equal up to average standard of living or surpass it. I suppose that this type of programming by the media stimulates the consumer, yet it can be detrimental to the consumer's psyche and purse.

Let's face it. The guy or girl that gets a position (not just a job) with the Honeywell within two months after graduation is an exception. Most of our dreams never materialize because we dream of material success in super-style.

So at middle age we may live in a one level home. And if we're married, we look suspiciously at our spouse and think, "If it weren't for you, I could have gone places." The economy simply can't tolerate all of us as super achievers. Some will make it. Some will.

Of course, we're naive and we believe in TV, Hollywood and Hal Linden. We must work and study and put real effort into what we do best. Be a go-getter and stamp out that naivete.

If we exercise our minds up to our ability and are able to look at ourselves in the mirror to find comfort in what we see, then we will be accomplished. For it is torn minds and divided dreams that foster depression, despair and failure.

Traveling through the Confederacy

Have you ever had the opportunity to travel across the southern states of North America? If you have, maybe you'll understand a little of what it was like for us this summer. If you haven't, you ought to try it—it's an eye-opening, enlightening experience.

On June 3 (a stormy afternoon, I might add), eight innocent Jacksonville students set out to cross part of the Confederacy. Destination: Richmond, Virginia, and eventually Virginia Beach. On August 11, the last three arrived back in Jacksonville. None of them would ever be the same.

Although all of the states we crossed or visited were "Southern" (that is, they had more in common with each other than with the Yankees), each was so uniquely Southern that I can't lump them all together and just tell you "about the trip". I'll have to tell you about some of the incidents that took place in South Carolina, North Carolina, and Virginia for you to understand.

Maria Palmer

Living
Editor

After several hours of driving we knew we were in North Carolina when we couldn't tell the difference between the cigarette ads and the names of towns. But we made it through. Apart from the watermelons ($1), and the mountains (free) there weren't that many touristic attractions that could tempt a cosmopolitan group from JSU.

Virginia, oh me. I don't know where to start. Virginians have a definite problem. In the summer they are invaded by Yankees (tourists, they call themselves) so they have to fight the war all over again. There are enough Confederate flags in Virginia to carpet the entire United States. But you know what they do with them? They sell them to the Yankees. I think this time they are winning.

Virginians talk funny. But that's beside the point. Just imagine this scene:

Four of us Alabama residents have just visited the second Confederate capital of the Confederacy in Richmond. A Virginian asks where we're from.

"Alabama."

"Well, you know Virginia has been the most important part of the South since the Civil War."

"The first capital was in Alabama, you know."

"But they moved it here."

"Y'reckon that's why we lost the war?"

Needless to say, JSU students are not the most welcome visitors up there any more. That's OK I guess, 'cause we expected people to be jealous. Not everyone can live in the best Southern state.

One of the incidents that I remember most vividly happened on the way back, in North Carolina. The police stopped us. I guess they just don't like foreigners (Alabamians?) too much in some of them North Carolinian towns. According to the patrolman we were going too slow! I'm not kidding. He said he thought we were falling asleep 'cause we were going 40mph. He looked inside, wanted to know how much we had had to drink (two cups of coffee, sir) and then reluctantly let us go. As fast as we could (we didn't want to get a ticket for "slowing") we left N. C. Beautiful country, quaint houses, and Confederate flags flying everywhere, but you never know what to expect. They practice a strange form of Southern hospitality in that state.

In South Carolina we had an interesting experience. One of the cars broke down (3 a.m.) and we had to pull over to the side of the road. Soon we started receiving friendly messages on our CB: "If you don't move, you're gonna get your tail busted." Finally one compassionate trucker called the troopers and they came to the rescue. I have to admit, it's not in every state that a trooper will stand in the rain holding a flashlight while you fix the car. I wonder what they do in N. C.?

If you are thinking of crossing the Confederacy any time soon, be prepared. Try getting a sticker that says, "I love —" and fill in the name of the state you're going through. You may have a better trip.

P. S. Forgive me for leaving Georgia out. I didn't want to cause a riot on campus.

The reading lab

By MARIA PALMER

Do you ever feel like a textbook is written way above your head? Do you ever wonder whether or not anybody understands it? Do you read slowly and let "other things" wander through your mind? Well, take heart. Your problem may be easy to solve. According to our reading specialist, Ms. Uline, such problems are often caused by poor reading habits (such as seeing words in your mind or word-by-word reading) which slow you down and interfere with your understanding. Your problems may also be caused by a lack of adequate vocabulary (lack "professional jargon") or inability to see the relationship of ideas in sentences.

Through special individual classes at the reading lab you can overcome these problems and improve your reading level considerably (the average student that comes through the reading lab raises his-her reading level by 1.3 grades a semester).

Although the reading lab is not a tutoring service; that is, you won't get help in each individual subject, you can learn how to decode specialized textbooks.

Attendance at the reading lab is voluntary. You don't get credit for it, but you learn a lot and don't have to pay for it. You just go by the third floor of Ramona Woods (MWTH until 3, Tu. until 4, F until 1:30) and make an appointment with Ms. Uline.

You don't have to be in bad trouble to attend the Reading Lab. Maybe you understand what you read, but you wish to improve your spelling, enhance your vocabulary or speed up your reading—you can use the reading lab, too.

For foreign students the reading lab has special tapes which help them with pronunciation, grammar and vocabulary problems.

If you know of a friend who needs help send him to the Reading Lab. Teachers, please make this service known to your students. Students, make use of it.

The freshman - senior syndrome

Every year, there is an influx of a strange breed of animal on this campus. This animal is the College Freshman.

Carla Wheeler

Feature writer

They come in all shapes and sizes, male and female. At times, they can even be lovable. They also have a particularly odd view of campus life, at least for the first few weeks. Witness the following, ostensibly written by the Grade A, government-inspected freshman:

Life at College
by

A. Fressh Mann

Boy, is college NEAT. I have my own DORM ROOM that I go to after class that my ROOMMATE lives in also. We have to go down the hall to the SHOWER, and I have to take my very own SHAMPOO in my very own BUCKET with me. Boy, is it NEAT.

I can stay up real LATE whenever I want to, and I can EAT as much as I want, and DRINK as much as I want, and I don't even have to get up out of bed if I don't WANT to. I NEVER EVER study and I try to make sure my room is REALLY MESSY. It is so messy that I can leave the door open and be proud.

I have to do my own laundry, but I don't have to iron it. It's NEAT to be wrinkled. I NEVER make my bed, which is okay because I throw everything on top of it anyway.

There are lots of PARTIES!!! and I go to all of them until it is real LATE. Boy, is college FFF-FUUUUUUUNNNNNNNNN. There are tons of good-looking guys-girls here, and everyone is working very hard to get a date for the first game. I am so EXCITED. Football games are so terrific that I don't know if life will go on normally after the first one. I know that I will NEVER be the same after my first COLLEGE DATE.

I only hope I am not put on ACADEMIC PROBATION after all this neat fun is over.

...okay, so much for our pal the freshman. No laughing is necessary, because everyone wears those shoes once. There is also another breed here. The senior is king of all he sees. He, too, has written us a short theme on the average senior year . . .

The End of an Era

by

J. B. Doe, Sr.

Three short years ago, I was but a child. I studied as a child, socialized as a child, acted like a child.

Things are different now that I am a man (or woman, depending). All I take are four hundred level classes. All my friends get together and discuss our market research theses, our senior recitals, our student teaching assignments, our LSAT scores. We are MATURE INDIVIDUALS who are getting ready to go out THERE and begin our brilliant CAREERS. We are snooty. We can afford to be, because we are so BUSY with our four hundred level classes. We have long, involved discussions with our ADVISORS. We cannot WAIT to graduate. We will be SICK if we don't.

We live in an APARTMENT. We have tons of plants, our own dishes, and small dinner parties with our friends and neighbors. We pay RENT and POWER BILLS and PHONE BILLS. Some of us are engaged, and we spend hours on the phone negotiating on how we can get to where he-she is, or how he-she can get to where we are. We have begun to read VOGUE and WALL STREET JOURNAL. We still play our STEREO as loud as possible.

We dress up for our INTERVIEWS with RECRUITERS from all over the place. We worry about our RESUMES. We try to plan the year in which we will begin earning 20,000 DOLLARS.

We will be perfectly fine, because we are SENIORS. . . very intense, you are thinking. But what about sophomores and juniors? Take heart. At least you know how to find a parking place around here.

Church of Christ acquires full-time campus minister

By BRENDA DEES

The Church of Christ has a new full-time campus minister. Bob Prichard grew up in Jacksonville. He graduated from Jacksonville High School in 1968. He received his bachelor's degree from Alabama in 1972. In the Air Force, he became a missile launch officer. While in the service, Mr. Prichard embarked upon the vocation of ministering the gospel. In his spare time he pursued masters degrees in Russian history and the ministry. He's also a family man. He is married to the former Sharon Williams of Jacksonville. The Prichards have three children.

Mr. Prichard has had the experience of preaching three years to small congregations; however, this is his first time in a campus ministry. When asked about the serious problems facing campus students, Bob answered, "worldliness and lack of direction or commitment. All problems are summed up in not having a real purpose in life. We'll all be mastered by something. Serving Christ should be the guiding purpose and other things will fall into place."

Bob Prichard finds campus ministry exciting because students are open-minded and they have the time to be involved. With this in mind, a list of activities are planned. These activities include: dorm Bible studies, classes in McCluer's Chapel, possibly publishing a newsletter and participating in intramural sports. Services offered at the Christian Student Center include: Bible classes, devotionals, personal counseling, singing, recreation, occasional meals and study areas.

Bob Prichard welcomes all denominations. He says that some people have misunderstood the Church of Christ. He states that the emphasis will be put on adhering to Biblical teaching taught in the manner of the first church of the New Testament.

Starting this week, the Alabama School of Religion from Montgomery will offer extension courses at the Christian Student Center. The courses are offered as credit hours but the school is not presently accredited. However, the course work will be accepted at most schools. The courses offered are the Systematic Christian doctrine and Job.

This is the first time in 10 years that the Church of (See MINISTER, Page 6)

New faculty in business

By LIZ HONEYCUTT
JSU has 20 new faculty members this fall. Returning to the campus in the Finance and Real Estate Department is Mr. Gene Pagham. Mr. Pagham completed his graduate work here at JSU after attaining a BS in Finance and Real Estate from Syracuse University in New York.

He is a resident of Cedar Springs and his family and school work take up most of his time.

Mr. Pagham's opinion of Jacksonville State. "It's the best place to teach."

I'm sure Mr. Pagham looks forward to this fall at JSU as much as his students do.

In the Management Department we have two new additions. Mr. Michael Akin and Mr. George Davis.

Mr. Akin is a native of Jacksonville and before teaching he worked for several years with industry in Gadsden. While there he edited and published a plant newspaper; and he seemed as curious about the Chanticleer as we were in him! By working with industry Mr. Akin has acquired the experience that most business professors have, that is working in the "real world" and I'm sure his students will benefit from this.

Mr. Davis, the next addition to our Management

Department is a graduate of North West State College and completed his master's at West New England College in Springfield, Mass. Mr. Davis has recently retired from the Army where he taught for several years.

Mr. Davis was impressed with Jacksonville State and found it interesting to work with our students. He is also like many of us, looking forward to JSU's 1981 season.

The new addition to our Accounting Department is Mr. Wilbur Berry. Mr. Berry graduated with a BS in Industrial Engineering and worked in the field as an industrial and construction engineer for some years before completing work on a master's in Accounting from UA. He worked as an accountant for approximately two years. He then applied for and became a CPA.

Mr. Berry was impressed with JSU in that he "found that the administration and faculty were dedicated to teaching." He also mentioned that he enjoys meeting and getting to know the people of Jacksonville.

As a CPA Mr. Berry is very active in the profession. For example he is president of the Gadsden Chapter of CPAs and a member of the NAA Coosa Valley Chapter of which our Dr. Granger is an officer.

In Data Processing our new faculty member, Mrs. Mary Jane Peters. Mrs. Peters attained a BA in math from Duke University. She has worked for Industry in Operations Research, and taught at the high school level for several years.

Mrs. Peters completed her master's here at JSU while teaching Computer Science at Jacksonville High School. Her husband, Dr. Doug Peters, is one of our psychology professors.

Mrs. Peters likes Jacksonville's small college atmosphere. She believes it is a good atmosphere for teaching. Mrs. Peters enjoys teaching students who want to learn, and we have plenty of that right here, right?

In Business Statistics we have Mr. Jerry Reaves. Mr. Reaves is an Oxford native. He is a graduate of Auburn University where he attained both a BS and a master's in Industrial Engineering. He has also taught at his alma mater and in South Carolina.

Mr. Reaves is impressed with the quality of education at JSU in regard to our business curriculum. He was also impressed with our computer science facilities. "Here unlike at Auburn the program comes back in a few minutes." Mr. Reaves was quick to point out.

In all, the new faculty seem capable, experienced and looking forward to the JSU 1981 school year; it sounds like a good start.

Rangers - not for everyone

By MICHEAL PALMER

On my way home last Tuesday afternoon, I waited at the stop sign beside Rowe Hall while a group of Rangers labored their way up the hill by First Baptist Church and across the intersection. I was puzzled by their guide-on which was a Confederate battle flag on a white background. It seemed strange to me that a group of young men training for service in the U.S. Army would carry such a flag. Being the devout Southerner that I am, I resolved to investigate.

My search led me to Captain Wood's office in Rowe Hall. Captain Wood is the Senior Ranger Advisor here at J.S.U. and Cadet Lt. Craig Bates is the Ranger Commander. These two explained to me a little of the history of the Rangers, and specifically, the unit at J.S.U.

The guide-on stems from the Confederate history behind this particular unit of the Rangers. John H. Forney formed the 10th Alabama Volunteers in 1860, and this group fought in the Civil War (the War for Southern Independence). The 10th Alabama Ranger Volunteers is the name for our local Ranger Cadet unit and thus, the Confederate flag is warranted.

The purpose of this group is to prepare Cadets for the U.S. Army Ranger School, which teaches leadership under severe physical conditions. It is the hardest, most physically demanding army training school. It lasts 58 days at 17 hours per day.

Only about ten percent of the U.S. Army is Ranger qualified.

The 10th Alabama Ranger Volunteers, of course, is not so demanding as the U.S. Army Ranger School. It is only meant to teach students the basics of Ranger training. But, even so, it is not easy. Captain Wood says "Rangers is not for everyone."

Co-ed for Pannell Hall?

By BRENDA DEES

Most either grinned or guffawed when Jo Baker stood for an introduction in a dorm director - RA meeting on Aug. 24. She was to be the dorm director of the female side of the co-ed dorm, Pannell Hall.

Mrs. Baker said that some girl residents after hearing the rumor of a co-ed dorm gleamed and said, "Oh boy!" while others murmured a helpless, "oh no." The deans of housing smiled, joked and took positive opinions about the co-ed facility. One would assume that the dormitory would be teeming with male and female residents by now. Well... it fell through just a few days before school started. Jo Barber said that she was told that there weren't enough males to occupy the east side of Pannell. For whatever the reason relax parents, friends and all for shaving cream and perfume has as of yet to mix at Jax State.

Dorm appearances to improve

By SUSIE IRWIN

Trying to improve dormitory life by creating a friendlier atmosphere is the main concern of the dean of women, Miriam Higginbotham. This fall, new programs and new ideas are now under consideration which would possibly make dorm living more enjoyable.

In an effort to improve the communication between administrators and dorm residents, a new system of resident assistants (RAs) was started this summer. This system hopes to put residents and instructors in friendlier terms.

Curtis, Pannell and Sparkman residents have been working together with the RAs painting, cleaning and redecorating dormitories to improve their appearance.

The new police chief, David Nichols, has agreed to speak to dormitory residents on topics such as fire prevention.

Dean Higginbotham said she is enthusiastic about the new programs and because of Dr. Montgomery's interest in the dormitories, she is optimistic about the outcome.

Christ campus ministry has been full time. When asked about the most important message, he could give to students, Bob Prichard replied, "Teaching them the importance of the Bible. The Bible is a practical Book; it isn't just a quaint book with proverbs. It's one to live by."

Right now the only set event is devotional on Mondays at 7 p.m. Please join Prichard and family and friends at the Student Center located on the old Gadsden Highway.

ROTC plans week of fun

Dr. Theron E. Montgomery, President of Jacksonville State University, has proclaimed the week of 21-27 September as ROTC Week. During this week, the ROTC Department will provide Jax State students with a sequence of existing and challenging activities.

ROTC Week will begin on 19 September in Snow Stadium at the home game between the Gamecocks and Alabama A&M. During pre-game festivities you will be presented with 16 of the loveliest young ladies in the South. Being an ROTC sponsor holds much prestige and honor. ROTC sponsors are well deserving of this presentation as they work hard throughout the year for the Military Science Department.

On 21 September the Brave and the Bold can test their skills and courage. A rappelling clinic will be taught from 1 p.m. until 4 p.m. at the Rappelling Tower at Rowe Hall. All JSU students attending will have the courage and skill necessary to make a successful rappel after receiving expert instruction from Captain Kenneth Wood and Sergeant Major Jack Wesson. Cadet Robert Bates, Commander of the Rangers, and his Ranger Company will assist in the instruction.

On 22 September there will be another Rappelling Clinic from 1 p.m. - 4 p.m. at Rowe Hall. There will also be a Marksmanship Clinic from 2 p.m.-4 p.m. at the rifle range in Rowe Hall. Participating students will receive proper instruction and be given a chance to fire up the targets down range using .22 caliber pistols. This will be a safe and serious clinic on marksmanship. Cadets will assist Staff Sergeant Dewey Godwin with instruction on the range.

On Wednesday all students are encouraged to be on the front lawn of Bibb Graves Hall at 4 p.m. An awards and retreat ceremony will be held honoring students that are proficient in military skills.

We are confident that participating students will enjoy the week as well as learning several skills. Your participation will make the week a success. Come out...learn...and have fun...enjoy yourself!!

Rangers

Rangers is voluntary, but in order to remain a part of the program one must meet rigid standards. Members must score 210 out of 300 on a physical training test. They must also attend one of three field training exercises and successfully negotiate a 5 plus mile Ranger run in the prescribed time.

Physical training classes meet every Tuesday (one hour credit) and the Rangers do individual physical training every day to keep in shape.

If you are interested, contact Cadet Bates in Rowe Hall.

IFC

By SCOTT "PETIE"
MATTIX

The Interfraternity Council, for those of you who are not familiar, is responsible for bettering relations and communications between the Creek letter fraternities on this campus. The council is composed of four executive officers which are elected annually by the IFC, and a representative from each fraternity on campus. The IFC would like to thank Dr. Montgomery, Dr. Schmitz, Dean Edwards and IFC advisor, Mr. Meehan for attending last week's meeting and expressing their concern for the fraternity system on this campus.

In last week's meeting, a motion was passed to amend the current IFC constitution in areas concerning rush, IM sports and scholastic requirements. The purpose of these amendments will be to meet the constant changing needs of today's fraternity system. The IFC also came to an agreement on the schedule of events for the fall semester rush. Rush will be held Sept. 16-18. All men interested in going through rush are encouraged to meet at the Roundhouse on Wednesday, Sept. 16, at 7:30 p.m. Representatives from each fraternity will be at this meeting to answer any questions concerning the fraternity system. Those interested in attending rush will also be advised of the schedule of events for rush. I would like to remind all football managers that they are to meet on Sept. 16 at 4 in the coliseum. This meeting will concern the upcoming IM football season.

ALPHA PHI ALPHA By RAMON ROGERS

Alpha Phi Alpha Fraternity Inc., would like to thank everyone who came out and supported us at our last party. We would also like to welcome everyone back hoping you had an enjoyable summer and a special welcome goes out to all incoming freshmen. We would like to invite you to come and attend our car wash and disco on the 18th and a party after the game on the 19th. Your support will be appreciated. Until next week keep up the school spirit.

ATO By GARY SHAMBLIN

Alpha Tau Omega would like to welcome all incoming freshmen and returning students to Jax State. Rush starts Wednesday and goes through Friday night. We would like to extend an invitation to everybody interested in Greek life to come by the ATO house and meet all the brothers and our little sisters. ATO is going to have a great year and we hope that you will be a part of it.

All the brothers and little sisters of the Eta Theta Chapter of ATO would like to welcome Bruce Thomas to our chapter and Jax State. Bruce is an ATO brother, transferring here from Birmingham Southern.

Three of our brothers have married recently. Congratulations from ATO! Alan Pierce married Lisa Lamb, Bobby Podskoc married Lisa Brooks and Devon Viehe married Melissa Curlee.

Our new social director is Steve Pfannkuche. We are looking forward to parties and mixers under his direction. Mickey Stratham will be our rush chairman with John Battle as co-chairman, Charlie Dickinson is our new house manager.

ATO would like to congratulate each sorority for having a great fall rush. We also congratulate Delta Chi for their move into their new house.

ATO the only way to go!

KAPPA ALPHA ORDER By JAMIE TYLER

The brothers of Kappa Alpha welcome all students back to JSU and welcome new freshmen for the first time. We hope your years at Jax State will be as fulfilling as they are for us. Please feel free to come by the house and see us anytime.

The defending JSU intramurals football champions, the KA Rebels, are practicing for what we hope to be our best season. With our newly initiated brothers, Sherman Conrad, Mark Stevens, Scott Cates, Scott Butler, Dan Cleveland, Rick Hodges, Jack Lyle, Greg Middlebrooks, David Anchors, Mark Pickett, Jacky Payton and Phil Sisk, our brotherhood has grown to 45 active members. One of the most important events of the year, fall rush, is scheduled for Sept. 16-19. All males not in a fraternity are welcomed to rush at KA. Speaking of rush, KA wishes to congratulate all sororities on an excellent rush. We look forward to meeting all your new pledges.

Our first annual Little

Sister Champagne Ball, complete with champagne fountain and waiters, proved to be a great success.

We look forward to our first sorority mixer of the fall Oct. 2 with Zeta Tau Alpha. This will be the country club party. The brothers wish the JSU Gamecocks the best of luck this fall. As usual, the Gamecocks will be top contender for the GSC conference crown. Two KA brothers, Mark Puckett and Dan Cleveland, will cheer the Gamecocks on this fall as cheerleaders.

The brothers thank all JSU students for support at our Chevy Six Beach party. This was one of the campus' best parties ever.

Please don't forget to visit KA and find out what we're all about. Thank you.

KAPPA SIGMA By KENT BAGWELL

Kappa Sigma is happy to report that Thursday night with the Jimmy Church Review Band was a total success. We hope everyone who attended had as good a time as we did and that it will be a party that JSU remembers for a long time. Next week starting Sept.

15, on Tuesday, begins rush for all fraternities on campus. Rush functions will go on all week extending throughout the weekend up to and after the home ball game Saturday night. There will be many exciting parties to attend and a lot of good people to meet. The Kappa Sigma Fraternity will present Visions Trac-4 on Thursday night the 17th at the Fraternity house. This group is a great show band and along with their excellent music will give everyone a very enjoyable time.

All the brothers of Kappa Sigma are looking forward to many nights of good parties and also for a time of meeting the new students (and old) attending Jacksonville State University. Drop by the Kappa Sig house anytime to visit, we are always there and we are always having a good time.

We still have calendars for sale so if you haven't already gotten one, you can get one at the house or at the on-campus bookstore. The calendars are full of good information for students and of course full of beautiful girls.

A rough bunch of birds...

Are the Gamecocks too tough for their own good?

That sounds like a silly question, but let me explain.

+As of Sept. 5, practice, the Gamecock offense had not fielded the same 11 starters since fall drills began.

+Last Monday's practice session was 22 players short.

+Ed Lett, outstanding JSU quarterback, will miss most (if not all) of the season while his replacement, Kirk Paterson, might have his passing ability hampered.

One word ties all these statements together — INJURIES!

"Injuries are causing a lot of changes this year," said JSU head coach, Jim Fuller. "It's disturbing to the unity of the team," he added.

The Gamecocks offensive injuries are more obvious than those of defensive players. After all, who hasn't heard about Ed Lett breaking his hand or about Kirk Patterson bruising his throwing hand on a helmet in practice?"

But that's not to say the defense doesn't have its own worries. Experienced linebackers, for instance, are a rare commodity at JSU.

"Simon Shepard and Randy Lagod are the only two linebackers we have who have played that position in college," relayed Fuller.

Leadership of the team is spread from the seniors to the freshman.

"It has to be distributed like that. You can't ask eight players to carry the whole load," Coach Fuller explained.

Those eight players are made up of senior ball players Harris Montgomery, Calvin Rackley, Lowell Preskitt, Frank Odell, Marshall Riley, Terry Stephens, Brian Khron, Anthony Clark.

Some areas of concentration for the '81 Gamecocks include the passing and kicking games.

"Even before the injury to Ed (Lett) we were working on our passing. We still plan to pass a lot," remarked Fuller. "Of course our kicking game has to be strong for us to win. There were games last year that we won and lost on our kicking, particularly the playoff game with Cal. Poly. If we'd made a few field goals early in the game we might have won."

Speaking of the playoffs, Coach Fuller had a few comments about the Jax State mention in Sports Illustrated.

"We were probably picked because of the capabilities of Lett," he said. "But I'm still optimistic. And I'm pleased they mentioned us. It does the team and the university good."

One factor that will probably displease quite a few folks this season is that the Gamecocks play only four games at Paul Snow Stadium while playing six on foreign fields. Why? "We played six home games last year," Fuller pointed out. "We would like to balance our schedule so that we can play five home games and five away games every season. Playing only four home games is bad for the fans and fans are one of our main concerns," stated Fuller sincerely.

In talking to a few of the players I found that this year's team feels it is well prepared for the challenge. Judging by the Fuller teams of the past, I'm sure of it!

Former UA quarterback

Don Jacobs joins staff

By MICHEAL PALMER

Don Jacobs, a former U. of Alabama quarterback, joined the JSU coaching staff as a graduate assistant this summer and has a hopeful outlook for the upcoming season.

According to Jacobs, Alabama's Bear Bryant had a lot of influence on his theories of coaching. "I've learned a lot from Coach Bryant. He not only teaches you the game of football, but he teaches you the game of life."

Jacobs attributes some of the coaching success of former Alabama players to Bryant's stress of academics. "While you are down there (U. of Alabama) you learn football and learn it good," he says.

When asked to comment on his expectations for the 1981-82 season, Jacobs replied. "We have a good bunch of players with good athletic ability. They give 110 percent effort. We could have a real good team."

In Jacobs' opinion, the offense's major problem is consistency. "We need to work on consistency in just moving the ball."

"We have made a vast improvement. We have more speed in the backfield than they have had in some time."

DON JACOBS

Jacobs coaches running backs, place kickers and punters. He is also in charge of recruiting for Northeast Alabama, which has 26 teams. He has already seen a few players who he is interested in bringing to JSU.

In reference to the Gulf South Conference, Jacobs said, "It's a good conference because there are a lot of teams that play good competitive football. You never know from week to week who is going to win."

Jacobs has some interests other than football, such as golf, skiing, swimming, and hunting, but with his schedule he finds little time for his hobbies.

Ala. State tops JSU

Close... but no cigars

What would have been the perfect ending to an exciting story just never happened as the Gamecocks of Jacksonville dropped their season opener to the Alabama State Hornets in a heart-stopping 20-14 contest.

The excitement reached its peak with the Gamecocks on the eight yard line and only one second remaining to play.

Kirk Patterson, starting in place of the injured Lett, opted to run on Jacksonville's last play of the game against the Hornets. Patterson took the snap, sprinted to the right corner, cut back up the middle and came within a step of the end zone before the Alabama State defense gang tackled him at the one.

The play was a pick-pattern, meaning when Patterson made his move around end, he had his pick of two receivers. Both were covered, and Patterson had to use his third option.

"I'm supposed to sprint out and throw. If I can't throw, then I have to run," said Patterson. "And we almost made it. We almost made it..."

The 20-14 final score still hadn't faded off the scoreboard when a haggard Jim Fuller came out of the Jacksonville dressing room. Fuller was one of the few people who wasn't crying.

"I think Kirk played his heart out in the second half," said Fuller, 0-1 after the unsuccessful opener. "It's hard to come that close and then..."

The record book will say that two fourth-quarter field goals by Donnie Egbuna, the first for 54 yards and the second for 44, gave the Hornets what they needed to snap a 14-14 tie and beat Jacksonville. But Fuller said the Gamecocks may have been beaten before that.

"To beat anybody you've got to have discipline," said Fuller. "We don't have that, and that's my fault. Alabama State came into this football game well-prepared. I don't think we were."

"It would be hard to beat anybody as poorly as we played tonight."

Jacksonville made plenty of mistakes. The Gamecocks were stuck with 141 yards worth of penalties, most on clips and late hits. The Jaxmen fumbled twice (once on their 8 on a kickoff) and threw two interceptions.

Patterson did a good job of moving the Jacksonville offense in the second half, running for long yardage on keepers and passing well on short tosses to the ends.

But it wasn't the Jacksonville offense people are accustomed to seeing. Jacksonville didn't have a drop-back passer, and there were no breath taking bombs. Jacksonville didn't throw the football long a single time.

That allowed the Hornet defense to key on runners Reginald Goodloe and (See GAMECOCKS, Page 12)

'Sports Illustrated' predicts Gamecocks' playoff

By JACQUELINE FOOTE

In the small college section of Sports Illustrated's annual football preview, the magazine predicted the Jacksonville State University Gamecocks would definitely make the playoffs.

But Sports Illustrated's preview was released before Jacksonville's quarterback broke his left hand. Starter Ed Lett was the main reason for Sports Illustrated's prediction.

"... (Jax State) once again is quarterbacked by Ed Lett, who last season broke the Gulf South Conference's completion, yardage and touchdown records."

Although the loss of the original quarterback is of serious concern to everyone at Jacksonville, the Gamecocks feature probably the best defensive front in the Gulf South Conference—a defense that didn't allow opponents to do much damage last season. With a little luck, the Gamecocks will make their fourth trip to the NCAA playoffs.

King of the sideline. . .

Gamecock mascot - a fowl

By TIM STRICKLAND

It's a bird; it's a plane; it's a . . . a . . . oh well, I was right the first time. It is a bird!

But it doggone sure isn't your run-of-the-mill fly-high-in-the-sky little feathered creature! It's Jacksonville's own colorful king of the sideline—the Gamecock.

The hilarious antics of the Gamecock in the 1980 season will be hard to beat. But in an exclusive interview with the Chanticleer, the Gamecock sounded pretty confident this year will be even better.

"They'll be much more to watch and enjoy in 1981," he said. "It will be a lot of fun for kids one to a hundred-and-one!"

What will be different this year? The fans can expect the unexpected because this year anything goes!

Why did the Gamecocks decide to come down to earth at JSU?

"There were a couple of good reasons," he clucked. "First of all I needed a job. The job I had before just didn't work out. You see, I was hired as a weathervane but I kept falling off the roof and busting my tail feathers. You just can't imagine how hard it is to sit on that little pole. Besides that, the pay was chicken feed and I'm a steak and potatoes bird myself. Another reason I chose Jax State is because of a rumor I'd heard—'JSU has plenty of beautiful chicks.' Whoever said it certainly knew what he was talking about!"

The Gamecock will dawn a few new faces this season from a feathered cowboy named Tex to a mustached, cigar flipping Groucho (Gamecock) Marx. And don't be surprised if you're attacked by the Kissing Bandit.

What does the Gamecock do for fun in his offtime?

"Well, sometimes—just for a little excitement you understand—I raid one of the local hen houses."

One courtesy the fans can extend to the Jacksonville mascot is to call him by one of two acceptable names—either "The Gamecock" or "Big C."

"Being called a 'chicken' is extremely offensive," said the Gamecock. "That's using my name in vain."

The Gamecock is the brainchild of Stan Porter, a JSU senior and a brother in the Pi Kappa Phi fraternity.

Stan made the costume himself with the help of Elaine Livingston of the former Ball Four Sports Shop in Jacksonville. The costume is certainly impressive, but it's only a mass of cloth and feathers until Stan slides it on. After all, a costume is just a costume. It takes a creative mind and lots of talent combined with hours of practice to create a character as magnificent as the Gamecock.

Porter received much of his training at the United Cheerleaders Association Camp.

"The camp was a great learning experience!" Stan recalled. "It gave me many new ideas for props and gimmicks."

One remarkable and little known fact is that Stan Porter has personally funded all aspects of the Gamecock mascot without the slightest notion of turning a profit.

"I'm currently in search of a sponsor to help minimize the expense," Porter remarked.

His idea is to set up a fund for future mascots. Stan plans to donate the costume and related materials to the cause.

The unselfish Porter wishes to thank those who have aided in the success of the Gamecock character. They are: former President Stone, President Montgomery, the SGA, Athletic Director Jerry Cole, Coach Fuller and his staff, the team, the cheerleaders, the students and faculty, the fans and the honorary coaches.

I'm sure I relay the feelings of everyone at JSU by stating that we are very fortunate to have such an individual among us.

Walter Broughton, and although the Gamecocks rushed for a big 252 yards, little of that yardage hurt the Hornets.

There was no strategy to Alabama State's offense. The Hornets got their scoring off Jacksonville mistakes and with the big play.

There wasn't much Jacksonville could do against Egbuna's field goal. His first, with 12:25 to play in the game, soared 55 yards and broke a 14-14 tie. His second, from 44 yards with 3:55 to play, gave the Hornets a six-point edge and put the game out of reach of a Jacksonville field goal.

"There's not a whole lot to do on defense, because it's hard to keep him out of range," said Fuller. "He kicks them 60 yards."

The first half was a disaster for the Gamecocks offensively. The quarterbacks couldn't throw and the receivers couldn't catch, and what little bit of yardage the Jaxmen got, they got from runs by Patterson, Broughton, and Goodloe.

Jacksonville's first touchdown came from that no-frills running game. Broughton scored it from 2 yards out, diving through a hole off left tackle to cap a 14-play drive that ate up eight minutes of the first quarter. Bruian Krohn's PAT gave the Gamecocks a 7-0 edge with only 16 seconds left in the initial period.

Jacksonville's defense was tough against the ASU run, but Hornet quarterback John Caldwell kept his team alive by either stinging Jacksonville with short, sharp passes over the middle, or scrambling out of the pocket for long gains on the ground.

ASU's Ricky Smith gave Caldwell his first chance to sting Jacksonville by intercepting a Patterson pass at the Jacksonville 23. Four plays later, Caldwell drilled a TD pass to Craig Franklin from 17 yards out. Egbuna kicked the PAT for a 7-7 tie with 7:22 to play in the half.

Alabama State grabbed the lead with just a minute gone from the second half. A. W. Clark fumbled the opening kickoff at the JSU 10. Caldwell hit Franklin with another TD pass six plays later, this time a 7-yard toss to the corner. Egbuna's PAT gave the Hornets a 14-7 edge.

Jacksonville moving a little better on offense in the second quarter, capitalized on a Hornet fumble at the ASU 45. Patterson got most of the yardage in that drive on the keeper, and ended it with a 5-yard toss to Broughton in the right corner for the score. Krohn's PAT tied it with 3:27 to play in the third quarter, setting the stage for Egbuna's two-fourth quarter field goals.

Jacksonville's almost - successful drive late in the fourth quarter started on its 25 with only three minutes to play. Jacksonville ran 16 plays before the Hornet defense picked up Patterson and put him down on the 1-yard line.

On any weekday afternoon, a variety of sounds can be heard through a door marked WRESTLING on the ground floor of Pete Mathews Coliseum—evidence that JSU's wrestlers are once again hard at work. And, for the fourth straight fall, Gary Erwin can be found among those inside.

This spring, Gary represented JSU as he took second place in his classification at the Division II National Wrestling Championships held on the Davis Campus of the University of California.

Competing in the 150 pound weight class, Gary was up against 31 of the best collegiate wrestlers in the nation, finishing only behind Glen Cooper, a senior from California State University at Bakersfield.

When asked about his success, he simply said, "It just felt good."

After his trip to California, Gary attended the Division I National Championships, where the top two in each class of Division II are allowed to compete. He did extremely well, winning two of the four matches he participated in. Of the two he lost, one was only by "riding time" after he and his competitor tied. He finished tenth in the nation.

Gary has not only done well in his collegiate wrestling career, but has an impressive high school record. Attending Gardendale High School, he received third place in the state in the eighth grade and held first place for the next four years.

Gardendale's team record during Gary's time there was also notable. In five years, the team finished first in the state two times, second twice, and third one year.

Currently, JSU has the only collegiate wrestling program in Alabama. The season officially opens for the team when they meet Pembroke on Nov. 14.

Gary says about the upcoming season, "I look forward to a good year, especially team-wise. I think that we have a lot of good members and as far as getting in shape, we're working harder than last year."

As for his personal aims for the year, he remarks, "I can only set my goals for the highest. It's my senior year and I have to do my best."

Captain Guy Foster, in his second year as the team's coach, says of Gary. "I believe he's going to win the nationals this time. He wasn't far away from it last year, you know."

At the present, Gary plans to make coaching on either the secondary or college level his career. Is his knowledge of wrestling sufficient for him to teach the sport effectively? If you think the answer is no, there are quite a few of his competitors who could argue with you over that issue for a long time.
