SGA passes seating resolution

"The roping off of stadium seats by fraternities or any other organizations on campus (should) be limited from the fifty yard line east, toward the end zone." So reads a resolution passed by the senate at Monday night's SGA meeting.

The resolution, authored by SGA president Marc Angle and Vice-president Tony Lundy, was offered as a possible solution to the seating problem that has angered many independent students at home football games. An increasing number of students were beginning to complain about the large sections of seats that are roped off and reserved for entire fraternities by only handfuls of pledges. Independents did not feel it fair that fraternities reserved all the best seats in the general admission section of the stadium without actually being present to occupy those seats.

Said senator Mary Hannah of the situation, "It's hard to explain to your parents why they can't sit on the fifty when there are obviously a hundred empty seats there."

The passage of the resolution followed the defeat of a previous resolution authored by senator Ronnie Powell. This resolution read as follows: "Be it resolved that the Jacksonville State senate support the rights of all JSU students and their visitors to have access to all general admission seating in Paul Snow stadium. Furthermore, be it resolved that the senate suggest that appropriate actions be taken to eliminate this seating problem."

The resolution was voted down by a narrow three vote margin, 27-24, indicating that slightly over half the senators felt there was no problem. Noted one non-voting observer, "It was easy to see that the ones who voted against the resolution were members of Greek organizations."

Said Powell following the passage of the fifty yard-line resolution, "Great. We just solved a problem we decided we didn't have."

Marc Angle, who is a member of a Greek organization, said that he was introducing the fifty yard line resolution because he felt that there was a need for action and that he "was not going to play favorites." He said he felt that the solution would be a fair one and that he was "speaking not on behalf of the Greeks, but on behalf of the entire student body."

There was much discussion on the issue before a vote on the resolution was taken. Sue Rogers, a student who attended the meeting, felt that stadium seats should not be reserved in advance at all. Said Rogers, "If different organizations want their members to sit together, they should be like everyone else and come to the ballgame together."

Those students who sympathized with the Greek side of the issue felt that fraternities and their guests should be able to sit together because they lent their group spirit to the cheerleaders and to the football team. According to senator Dan Cleveland, a former Jax State cheerleader, the Greeks have always been the most spirited at home games. He said that the cheerleaders attempts to get the independents to cheer have always ended in failure.

"But we haven't been given a chance," countered senator Pat Barber. Barber felt that this judgement of the independents' spirit was invalid because the independents have always been scattered throughout the stands, and have never been allowed to sit as a single unit as have the Greek organizations.

Pat Forrester felt that the question did not concern which group had the most spirit but was a question of basic student rights. Forrester felt that since there was no law in the JSU constitution that provided for the reservation of sections of the stadium, then something should be written to provide Greeks and independents alike with fair and equal access to good stadium seats. He felt that a written law of some type would serve as a basis on which the students could work to alleviate the problem.

The fifty yardline resolution was passed with only three Senators voting against it, but this does not mean it is a mandate. It simply indicates that the SGA supports the proposition as a fair way of allowing the social organizations and any other recognized organizations to sit together at home games, while at the same time leaving good seats available for other Gamecock fans.

Toys vandalized at coliseum pool

By LYNN LePINE
Associate Editor

According to Dr. Glenn Roswal of the P.E. department, approximately three hundred dollars worth of equipment was destroyed at the Coliseum sometime between Monday, Oct. 11, and Wednesday, Oct. 13.

The equipment consisted mainly of the inflatable toys and balls that were used by the students and special children in Roswal's adapted physical education. "All but a few of the toys were destroyed," said Roswal, "Besides the inflatables, which were punctured or torn, we had 8 or 9 lifeboats for the kids to use. Now we have only two."

In addition to the toys being destroyed, several pieces of scuba equipment were stolen. According to Roswal, this was what pointed toward outright vandalism rather than simple abuse of the equipment.

Some of the pool toys were purchased with university money and much of the equipment was donated by outside individuals and organizations. But while these material losses are significant, the greatest loss was suffered by the children and students who participate in the adapted physical education program. "The students used the toys to encourage the children to use the pool and the kids looked forward to coming to the pool because it was a fun place to play," Roswal said, "Now that most of the toys are gone, so is a lot of the fun."

Those interested in the case feel that an investigation of the incident would be pointless. Said Roswal, "We'd have to fingerprint every piece of equipment, and even if we found out who did it, it would be almost impossible to prove."

My Brother's Bar to sponsor benefit

By LYNN LePINE

To do their part in supporting handicapped children, My Brother's Bar will sponsor a benefit concert on Wednesday, Oct. 27 from 8 p.m. until 1 a.m. The two-band performance, to be billed as "Special Olympics Night", will feature "Casey and Wildfire", a band presently appearing nightly at Anniston's Downtowner, and "Axis", a recently formed group of talented musicians from the Calhoun county area.

According to Dennis Porter, public relations manager for the fund-raiser, the event is not a function of the university. "We're depending on the students to turn out for the concert, though," said Porter, "The handicapped kids and the Alabama Special Olympics need their support."

Admission to the performance will be $1.50 at the door or $1.00 with a validated student I.D.. Along with a sizeable contribution from Brother's, these proceeds will be donated to the Alabama Special Olympics and will benefit Alabama's handicapped children.

Free shakers from the SGA

SGA officers Tara Lee Clark, Tony Lundy, Marc Angle and Phil Sisk redecorated the presidential office last week with thousands of red shakers. The shakers, purchased by the SGA for distribution at home football games, will be available this week at Jax St. vs. Chattanooga. Remember - wear red clothing for Red Night!

Tickets given at Stone Center

By SUSIE IRWIN
Associate Editor

Parking in front of Stone Center, on East 11th Street, could cost some students who do not or can not take advantage of the parking areas, a $5 fine payable to the city of Jacksonville.

Although the curbs are unmarked, Chief Paul Locke of the city police contends that the area has been prohibited for a couple of years.

Recently, "no parking" signs were replaced on the street to remind drivers that the area is prohibited. Locke said that signs were once there but were soon reported as missing.

Due to complaints from residents and the excessive parking on the curbs, Locke said he instructed the city policemen to ticket the illegally parked automobiles.

Dr. William Carr named to Dean of Graduate Studies

An associate director of the Alabama Commission on Higher Education (ACHE) has been named dean of the Jacksonville State University College of Graduate Studies.

Dr. William D. Carr of Montgomery, currently an associate executive director for academic affairs with ACHE, will assume his new post Oct. 25.

In addition to serving as graduate dean, Carr will supervise the extended and continuing education programs at JSU including credit and noncredit activities at undergraduate and graduate levels.

He will also serve as a liaison between JSU and ACHE on program development and approval.

The post was vacated by Dr. James Reaves who became the JSU vice president for academic affairs in 1981. Reaves had served as dean since 1968.

Professor of Education Dr. Roland Thornburg now serves as interim graduate dean.

"We are fortunate that Dr. Carr has accepted this key academic position," Dr. Reaves said.

"His professional competence, experience, and knowledge of higher education both in Alabama and in the United States will be an asset to this university."

Dr. John F. Porter, Jr., a professor at the University of Alabama and former executive director of ACHE, in a letter of recommendation, had this to say about Carr:

"He is a diligent and thoughtful individual who can diplomatically express a divergent opinion and remain totally supportive of ultimate decisions with which he might not agree....(he is) exceptionally well qualified to provide guidance and leadership necessary in a college of graduate studies."

According to Joseph Sutton, associate executive director for academic affairs at ACHE, Carr's assets include "professional judgment, analytical ability and motivation to provide constructive leadership."

Carr, 46, joined ACHE in 1974 as assistant director for academic affairs. In that capacity, he provided staff support to legislative committees and developed annual funding recommendations for Alabama's 43 public junior, community, and technical colleges.

As associate executive director, Carr was in charge of reviewing new and existing academic, research, and public service programs and he assisted with policy development and funding recommendations for public postsecondary institutions.

Carr has served as a research associate in Florida, as an instructor for the Southwest Texas State University School of Business, as a business manager for a Texas firm, and as assistant dean of students at the University of Texas at Austin.

Carr has a Ph.D. in higher education administration from Florida State

Clep may be for you

By JEAN ADAMS

"Clep is designed to give credit to students with life experiences," stated Bill Meehan.

"Clep has a purpose, but we recommend that students take the lecture courses.

There is no substitute for actual learning experiences in the classroom, especially for major or minor areas," continued Mr. Meehan, Director of Academic Advisement and Administrative Assistant to V. P. of Academic Affairs.

ability," explained the Director.

"Each institution sets its own level as to what they require." JSU requires a score of 500 on all exams, except in English, where a score of 600 is required.

There are two types of Clep examinations, the General Examinations and the Subject Examinations. Both kinds measure factual knowledge and understanding, as well as the ability to apply principles to new problems.

The five General Examinations cover the fields of English composition, mathematics, natural sciences, social sciences, and humanities. They may be taken singly or in any combination. Through Clep General Examinations, a student may show that he has the general knowledge of that field - the equivalent that is required in freshman and sophomore courses.

The 47 Subject Examinations are comparable to end-of-subject (final) examinations in particular undergraduate courses. This subject matter may have been learned through experience, rather than formal classroom study. Subject Examinations are given in the fields of business, dental auxiliary education, education, humanities, mathematics, medical technology, nursing, sciences, and social sciences.

Mr. Meehan explained, "Forty-six is the maximum number of hours that may be earned at JSU as non-traditional credit. We define non-traditional credit as Clep and ACT." It is possible to receive 10 hours of credit for an ACT score of 25 or better.

In highly professional fields, students should not attempt to Clep courses that they would use professionally, cautioned Mr. Meehan.

Given once a month in Bibb Graves Hall, the multiple-choice standardized Clep tests can be prepared for through study of a guide manual.

"Twenty-five dollars is the fee for a first test; $22 for any additional test taken the same month," stated Mr. Meehan.

Students interested in Clep should contact The Counseling Center in Bibb Graves for additional information and registration at least one week before test date.

Stewart explains I.H. selections

By SUSAN MARTIN

For many years, the International House has been an important part of the University. People from 66 different "free world" countries come to JSU each year for the purpose of getting an education and experiencing life in a new culture.

Dr. John Stewart, Director of the International House, explained that the 'best qualified and the most extroverted people' are chosen to take part in this program.

To be selected, a foreign student must first file an application and submit a 500 word autobiographical statement in English. Personal and family photographs are attached, along with three recommendations from other individuals. Mr. Stewart reads all of these and makes final decision by mail. This process begins in January and is completed around the end of March. American students may apply as roommates, and can be interviewed at any time of the year.

Jax State also offers scholarships to these foreign students. Ten women and ten men are carefully chosen to receive these. At the end of the year, one half may be re-applied for another year. There is a limit set, however, because it is a State-Sponsored program, intended only for those who want to visit a different country, not get a degree.

The International House students have no problems adjusting or making new friends. Many experience such minor difficulties as homesickness and transportation problems at first, but as time goes on, life seems to get better. As far as grades go, these students usually have higher averages than the average American. "This is partly due to the fact that many countries do not offer higher education as readily to their students and over here it is appreciated more. Therefore, these students take advantage of what our country has to offer," suggested Dr. Stewart.

Several of the upcoming activities planned for the International House will include the Annual United Nation's Day Tea (on United Nation's Day) and Open House. Both of these will be open to the general public.

"During many social events, our students are encouraged to bring a date. By doing this, we are adequately representing other countries as well as our own. Of course, we are always delighted to have visitors at any time. People of all ages and majors are invited to visit, as well as file an application to live here."

The International House is certainly a lovely place and is considered an asset to the Jacksonville State University campus.

Scholarship applications being accepted

Applications are now being accepted for the third annual Jacksonville State University Alumni Scholarship of $1000. A $1000 undergraduate scholarship is awarded each year by the JSU National Alumni Association. Criteria is based on leadership, academic achievement and character. Applicants must be sponsored by an active alumnus-alumna of JSU (active, as defined in the JSU Alumni Association Constitution). To apply, obtain an application from the Alumni Office, 4th Floor, Theron E. Montgomery Building. DEADLINE FOR ENTERING IS JAN. 1, 1983.

Announcements

Clinic not giving flu shots

The University Clinic is not giving out flu vaccines this year. You can get this from most general physicians in this area.

Computer science holds drawing

The JSU Computer Science Club is having a drawing for a Mattel Intellivision and 3 cartridges (a $300 value). All proceeds go to the Rebecca Suzanne Howell Scholarship Fund. Donations are $1 and tickets can be obtained from any Computer Science Club member or in the Computer Science Labs on the third floor of Bibb Graves. The drawing will be Dec. 2nd and you do not have to be present to win.

Historical museum displays memorabilia

An historical museum displaying pictures and other memorabilia of JSU's 100 years will be open for students during the hours 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. Oct. 27, 28, 29, and all day Oct. 30 in the auditorium of the Theron Montgomery Building.

Geography club holds car wash

The Geography Club will hold a car wash at Billy Isom Realty parking lot Saturday, Oct. 23 from 12 - 5 p.m. The cost will be $1. Proceeds will go to students attending the annual convention of the Southeastern Division of the Association of America Geographers.

Tucker to speak on heart disease

Jacksonville State University nursing students are urged to hear Dr. Michael Tucker of Anniston speak on treatment for heart disease at the Nov. 11 meeting of the Coronary Club of Calhoun County.

The meeting begins at 7 p.m. in the private dining room of Regional Medical Center.

Meetings are held the second Thursday of each month.

Alumni Office

As the official host for the Centennial Homecoming Celebration, the alumni office has been extremely busy since February in planning the events. Shown here are student workers Lisa Thompson, Lisha Brown and Beth Reaves with Mrs. Ann Pack.

Pack leaving Alumni Office

By SUSIE IRWIN
Associate Editor

"It's been a pleasure to work in the same building with her," said Claude Gaddy, director of special services, "there's always a smile on her face."

Ann Pack will serve her last day as Interim Coordinator for the Alumni Association on Thursday, Oct. 21.

When asked the reason for her resignation at a time when the preparations for Homecoming, a major Alumni event, were for all practical purposes completed, Pack replied, "As I am still an employee of Jacksonville State University, I feel I can make no comments at this time."

The office of the Alumni Association serves as the official host of the University for all Homecoming festivities. Much of the planning for Homecoming events was done by the Alumni Association in conjunction with the SGA, the Alumni Association Board of Governors and various other reunion committees.

Joy Brindle, SGA secretary, said that Pack had "helped us (SGA) a great deal in planning Homecoming events. We'll miss her," said Brindle.

Since Oct. 31, 1981, when Mrs. Julia Kingston retired, the Alumni Office has been without a director and the staff has consisted of Pack, and four students on the University work-study program and one graduate assistant.

Pack was transferred to the Alumni Office from the Business College over three years ago to serve as secretary in the office. Functions and responsibilities that were once solely the responsibility of the Director were assumed by Pack.

Duties added to the other responsibilities of Pack include, secretary of the Alumni - Institutional Development Office, secretary to the JSU Alumni Association, and secretary to the JSU Foundation. She relied only on the student assistants in the office to fulfill these responsibilities.

One student, Lisha Brown, was assigned by Pack to serve as editor of the Alumni News, making her responsible for publishing three major works during the absence of a director. Although placed in this highly responsible position, Brown still attends classes as a full-time student, Pack said.

Recently, additional clerical help requested by Pack was denied by the administration. In addition, the alumni office graduate assistant was reassigned by the administration to serve as a volunteer for the United Way Campaign, thus reducing the office staff to four student assistants. According to Pack, this was done during a period of crucial planning for upcoming Homecoming activities.

While in the midst of preparing for this year's Centennial Homecoming, completing several mass mailings and working to meet deadlines for the Centennial Issue of the Alumni News, the Alumni Office was given only a single day's notice to vacate their offices and relocate on campus due to the remodeling in progress in the Montgomery Building, Pack said.

The Alumni Office serves to coordinate the concerns and interests of the JSU Alumni and students Pack said, "We try to keep each informed of the other."

In the last year, the alumni office has mailed approximately 100,000 individual pieces of mail all handstuffed and hand labelled, according to Pack.

As well as working closely with various local chapters of the JSU alumni association in planning chapter meetings, the alumni office processes all monies received from alumni fees (dues, scholarships donations, and general contributions) and also all monies contributed to the JSU Foundation (contributions by individuals other foundations, and corporations), Pack said.

The JSU Foundation is a non-profit organization which collects donations to the University and scholarships to JSU students.

The Alumni Association Board of Governors, which is made up of JSU graduates, along with the alumni office, has been planning Homecoming since February of this year. The Board is contributing $1000 prize money for parade floats, $1000 for yard displays and is also sponsoring a Homecoming Dance which will be free to all alumni, faculty, staff and students.

Due to the absence of a director, the Board has had to meet on numerous occasions during the year, receiving no compensation, except personal satisfaction of serving their alma mater, Pack said.

"Without the support, cooperation and hard work of these super individuals, Pack said, "the alumni function could not have been carried out during this past year."

As for future plans, Pack said she "intends to take it easy" and make no definite plans until after the first of the year."

Many co-workers of Ann Pack have noted that she will be missed in the Alumni House, but if her contributions to the University are considered, Ann Pack will also be greatly missed by Jacksonville State University.

Pro seminar successful

By LAURA BROWN

"Child abuse is an injury or a pattern of injuries to a child that is nonaccidental. Child abuse is damage to a child for which there is no reasonable explanation. Child abuse includes nonaccidental physical injury, neglect, sexual molestation, and emotional abuse."

A total of 200 students and professionals, 105 of whom received continuing education credit, attended workshops concerning child abuse on Sept. 21-22 at Regional Medical Center and JSU campus. The two workshops were sponsored by Parents Anonymous of Calhoun Co. Inc., JSU, and several local centers and programs.

Thelma Bailey, on the faculty of the American Humane Association, and "a very qualified and expert social work professional", spoke at both seminars.

Becky Turner, a JSU social work teacher, assisted in planning the workshops and stated, "We felt really fortunate to have Ms. Bailey here."

On Tuesday, Sept. 21, workshop "A" was held at Regional Medical Center and was designed to train health care professionals in early signs of infant-mother relationships.

Wednesday, Sept. 22, began the first of a two day seminar at JSU. Seminar "B" was concerned mainly with incest, a form of child abuse and sexual molestation.

The seminar dealt with problems with communities, barriers to effective treatment, where focus was needed, what the community could do to help, and how to deal with resistant and hostile clients.

People commented on how well the speaker handled the questions and concerns of the audience in the relaxed atmosphere. The seminars were a success and "people came away with questions answered," stated Mrs. Turner.

Maxwell retires after 19 years

By DONNA HENDRIX

Miss Winnie Faye Maxwell, a dedicated home economics teacher, served 19 years at

MISS MAXWELL

JSU and retired May 31, 1982.

During her teaching years at JSU, she worked with two administrators, Dr. Stone and Dr. Montgomery.

Miss Maxwell taught family economics and management. She served as supervisor to the student teachers. In previous years, she was director of the College Nursery School and taught child growth and development.

Many students have been influenced by the professional and dedicated manner in which she taught and believed.

During the 19 years at JSU she saw many changes such as the construction of many new buildings and the expansion of the curriculum and the growth of student enrollment.

Miss Maxwell stated that the two most profound changes in the home economics program are the expansion in the clothing and foods departments and the increase in faculty.

Miss Maxwell added, "I thoroughly enjoyed my teaching years and working with the other faculty, members in the Home Economics Department.

Railroad era coming to an end

"We're not Greeks and independents," stated Sue Rogers at Monday nights SGA meeting, "We're JSU and we should act like it."

Lynn LePine
Associate Editor

Miss Rogers was speaking about the separation of the two factions at home football games, and she is right. We are one student body - a whole, not two halves - and it is a pity that the Greeks and the independents have to draw a chalk line between them to achieve a fair seating arrangement at home games. But it seems it must be this way in order for those students who do not belong to social organizations to get good seats in the stadium, something they should have been able to have without question.

Why does it always have to be the Greeks against the independents? In this case, the issue was made a battle by 27 SGA senators. When Ronnie Powell introduced a resolution that the seating problem be recognized and dealt with, all but two Greek senators voted against it. Twenty-four independent senators voted in favor of the resolution, while 27 senators voted, in effect, that there was no problem. The narrow three vote margin indicates to me that there are 27 senators who have forgotten that they are supposed to represent all of the students, not just the Greeks. Since there is no reasonable argument that the present seating system is fair, it seems to me that most of the Greek senators were trying to railroad the independents into silence. With their majority vote in the Senate, a campus minority was trying to ignore a problem that does not affect them, hoping it would go away.

But it didn't go away.

Compliments are in order for Marc Angle and Tony Lundy for two reasons. First, they introduced a second resolution that forced the opposing side of the Senate to deal with the seating problem. Second, these two officers proved that they do indeed represent all students, not just the Greek organization to which both belong. The independents were asking only for fair treatment, and thanks to the unbiased judgements of our executives, and to several outspoken students who attended Monday night's meeting, they got it.

This "us against them" attitude has got to stop. As I said, it's a pity that fraternities have to be separated from other students and fans at home games, because whether we are Greeks or independents, we are all just folks. But since the fifty yard line solution was the best idea anyone has come up with, we folks should cooperate and see that it works.

McWhorter comments on changes, would like to see more.

To the Editor:

I would like to compliment Dr. Montgomery and the administration on the good job they are doing in meeting some of the specific needs of the students.

Putting the bookstore in the second floor of the TMB was a good move. No longer will buying books be comparable to standing in line for the Grizzly River Rampage. Putting the pool tables, backgammon games, and card games in the Roundhouse was a good utilization of space. Also, let's not forget the big screen, remote control, color television that is in the new student game room. Putting the computer center in the old bookstore will make it more convenient for the students than going to Merrill Hall.

However, there are some changes I would like to see. First, college students are old enough to change the channel and volume on the television set in the student game room. Not only is it inconvenient to walk to the desk to get someone to change the channels, it is humiliating to think that the powers that be do not believe students can handle a television without tearing it up or putting sticky chocolate fingerprints on it or whatever it is that the administration is afraid of. Maybe Pat and Bert can figure out the answer or at least do an article explaining why we have such an expensive television but we don't have a subscription to TV Guide.

Duvio feels visitation hours in men's dorms are too strict

Dear Editor:

My name is Jody Duvio and I'm a first time freshman here at JSU. I'm writing to tell you how I feel about the University and the faculty. I'm from New Orleans and the difference I found between these two places is dramatic. The faculty here at JSU has really impressed me with their care and concern for all the students. Not only do they give me the impression that they care for their classes, but they really want to see us succeed throughout our college careers. My teachers are qualified at what they are doing, so I'm always interested in their classes and really like to be there. In New Orleans the faculty at UNO really don't treat the students quite the same. They know you only as a number and don't care if you pass or fail.

I enjoy being here at Jacksonville because of the difference from what I'm accustomed to. The rolling hills, clear skies, and peaceful countryside let me relax and pull my thoughts together. When I first arrived here, I knew that this was the place where I could study and enjoy myself also.

I have only one complaint and that is the visitation hours in the men's dorms. I feel that we're all adults and should be treated as such. I get the feeling that I'm constantly being watched, and if I make one mistake, I'll be on probation. I also feel that if girls don't want to be in the men's dorms after certain hours, they would not go there. There is really no place for us to go after 10:30 except either to Brother's or Chaps, and if you don't like loud music or smoke, you are in trouble. I feel something should be changed with this problem. I would like to hear some other opinions on this subject. Let's find out how the students, as a whole, feel about these strictly enforced visitation hours.

Thanks,
Jody A. Duvio

Pep rally attendance down --where is the spirit?

By ANDY JONES

Now that we have had a few pep rallies, you can see who has spirit. The first rally showed a great attendance and good spirit. Since then it has slacked off slightly, but JSU needs more than this. It seems as though only fraternity and sorority members are coming to the rallies.

Where are all the other students? Do you have to be a member of an organization to show spirit at our pep rallies? Everyone, including independents, is encouraged to come.

Just get a group of friends together and get fired up. Make a sign and make up a cheer or yell.

The JSU Band sounded good at our first few rallies, but lacked spirit. As soon as the rally started, several members decided to play a game of touch football. The others remaining just sat on the field until someone gave them the cue to play.

Let's ALL get fired up about OUR JSU FOOTBALL SEASON and get involved. Our football team needs it and our school needs it.

Says Gentry, 'We do our best'

Dear Editor:

In response to Miss Brown's letter about the RA's on campus I would like to say that as an RA, the responsibilities are tremendous.

We are forced to work a 24 hour babysitting service for some people in the dorms.

This includes reminding them of quiet hours, visiting hours, and cooking policies. This is not a pleasant job. And we don't try to pick on anyone.

We only try to do our job as best we can. Naturally, we cannot be everywhere and hear everyone. We call the shots as we see them and cannot work on hearsay.

The RA's job is not an easy one, and everyone should remember that we don't pick favorites or blackmail. But when we correct people, it's a lot easier on us if the persons involved do not make smart remarks behind our backs or to our faces.

It's not a rewarding job, but it is a necessary job. We are here for the good of all the residents in the dorm.

As I stated before, if we don't hear it, we can't correct the problem. As for Miss Brown, try working with your RA, not against her. I'm sure it would make for a more pleasant atmosphere.

Thank you,
Janet Gentry

McNutt responds to band resolution passed by SGA

Dear Editor,
I am writing this letter in response to the article concerning the SGA's resolution "to require Southerners to attend all games within a 300 mile radius of Jacksonville."

In the article concerning the SGA resolution, Senator Jeff Butler (author of the resolution), Senator Brad Page, and Senator Prentic Satterfield (sponsors of the resolution) stated "the reasons for the band not accompanying the team were not financial ones", "the band concerts the Southerners attend serve to recruit future band members", and last but not least "the primary responsibility of the band is to be at the football games." I will now proceed to provide the correct answers to these inaccurate and unjust statements which have maligned and besmirched the fine reputation of the Southerners.

In answer to Senator Butler's statement that "the reasons for the band not accompanying the team were not financial" (which was erroneous), I will be most happy to supply the answer. When Southerners returned to this campus during the last two weeks of August, we were given a schedule of our performances, both ballgames and contests. On the schedule we were listed to go to the Livingston game. A week or so later we were told we would not be going with the team to Livingston because the budget provided by the administration would not pay for six buses, bus drivers, gas and the mileage to and from the game. We accepted this fact. We were then approached by officials of the Dalton band contest and asked to perform at their contest. A week later the Dalton officials called asking us not to be offended, but they had to honor an agreement they had made with the University of Georgia's band the year before. We accepted this and we were then promptly asked by the officials of the Rockdale County Contest in Conyers, Ga. if we would perform for them and we agreed to do so. About this time several people from the athletic department approached us because they really wanted us to go with the team to Livingston. Dr. Walters told us this and we took a vote and we voted to go to the game at Livingston. Once again we were told the budget would not allow for this trip. There was nothing else to be done. We then decided to go to the Rockdale contest.

Now the inevitable question comes up. How is it possible for the Southerners to go to this contest when they didn't even have the money to go to Livingston? Anytime a group of officials approaches Southerners about performing at their contest, they have to accept the responsibility of paying for our buses, bus drivers, gas, and mileage. These trips are not funded by the university budget.

Now in reference to the statement that "the band concerts the Southerners attend serve to recruit future band members." First, these are not band "concerts" but are contests. It is true that these trips are to help to bring in future band members, but let me assure you that Southerners don't "have to go with hat in their hands" and beg and plead for kids to come be in this band. Most high school kids would beg for a chance to perform in an organization such as Southerners.

In reference to Senator Page's statement that the "primary responsibility of the band is to be at the football games." I can only say that you have made an error. It is the primary responsibility of the band to perform and to perform well whether it is in a halftime show or an exhibition show. The fine quality cannot be maintained if we do not work at it, and if that means we seek to perform in places that we know will see us and send only their best to us, then we will continue to uphold this tradition of excellence whether we receive ridicule or not.

I think I have presented the case in a clear enough manner that everyone who has any degree of intelligence can understand. The Southerners support the team and will always do so. It is always good for people to check and make sure their facts are straight before they point their finger at someone. These people assumed that they knew the facts behind Southerners' absence from the Livingston game. They did not take time to check with a Southerner. You know what they say happens when you assume things.

In reference to Mr. Donald W. Harris's letter, I can only say that Mr. Harris's knowledge of band etiquette is sadly lacking. Anyone who has had anything to do with a marching band knows that the band always plays to the pressbox side out of common courtesy. The people at Alabama A&M get to see Southerners every other year while folks here can see us at any home game, plus we always play most of the show music after the game is over. If Mr. Harris had wanted to hear the Southerners, all he had to do was to stay after the game for about 10 minutes. When it was over, we played our music for all the JSU fans that stayed around to listen. Mr. Harris has no one to be disappointed in except himself.

In closing, I would like to say thank you to Coach Fuller for taking the time to let the people who attended the pep rally know that the Southerners were not to blame for their absence from the Livingston game. Coach Fuller is a man of great humility. He took the responsibility of trying to smooth down ruffled feathers that other people had stirred up. I can say with absolute conviction that not only do I support Coach Fuller but there are about 250 or more people who are willing to do their utmost for this man.

Yours truly,
Annette McNutt

Seating should be 'first come, first served'

Dear Editor:

Bravo for Pat Forrester and his article in the Oct. 14 issue of the Chanticleer. For too long the fraternities have monopolized the best seats at home football games. If the fraternity members want to get to the stadium as early as their pledges and sit in the seats they want, I say let them have the fifty yard line seats. First come, first served. By the same measure, if an independent gets the fifty yard line seats first, he or she is entitled to them. First come, first served. I realize that fraternities support and promote the togetherness of their brothers and sitting together at a football game is one way to do this, but to do it at the expense of eighty percent of the student body cannot be justified.

I do not think that the problem is as complicated as some think. We do not need the Administration, the Greeks, or the SGA to solve this problem for us. Let us take this into our own hands. Independents, if you want to solve this problem, then simply sit where you want to, not in the space that is left by the fraternities. We are all free and American and have fought wars to keep it that way. It's time to fight another war. So independents unite! If you want to sit in an unoccupied seat on the fifty yard line, sit there and laugh at anybody who tries to move you. If you let the fraternities keep you out of a seat, you don't deserve to be there anyway.

Uncleanliness at Jax State?

Dear Editor,

I'm a freshman majoring in accounting. So far, I've enjoyed my stay here at Jax State, but there is one thing that I don't particularly like — uncleanliness. Many students fail to realize that cleanliness is next to godliness. Each day, my dormitory is filthy with trash, and I can't function until the mess has been cleaned up. Some may think that this is not their home. Why should they worry about cleanliness? I feel that Jacksonville is my home away from home; I would rather be a part-time janitor and a part-time student than to live in an unclean atmosphere.

Sincerely,
Sandra Welch

A few minutes with Pat and Bert

BERT

While glancing through the latest issue of "Variety", we read that CBS was auditioning replacements for Andy Rooney's slot on 60 Minutes. We figured what the heck, let's do it. We cut a demo tape at WLJS and sent it to Hollywood. Here's a transcription of our shot at stardom.

Bert: "Hey Pat, did you ever notice the Southerners? Boy, they sure are touchy. You can't say anything about them."

Pat: "Yeah, I know. I told one of the members that I thought the band was good. Good, what do you mean good, he shrieked. We're much better than good. We're at least perfect. I suppose all those long, hard hours of practice had finally gotten the better of him."

Bert: "Yeah, it must be tough watching the Ballerinas do their chair routine every day."

Pat: "I guess so, but I'll tell you something even more difficult: eating at the cafeteria every day."

Bert: "What's so tough about that? After all, it's only food, isn't it?"

Pat: "Is it? I haven't decided yet but as a biology major I have some serious doubts."

Bert: "Have you ever really noticed the Jacksonville Police?"

Pat: "Not often enough, and I have the tickets to prove it. Why do you ask?"

Bert: "Well, they certainly aren't a pleasant bunch, especially lately."

Pat: "Yeah, I have seen an abundance of tickets being issued recently. I wonder what's up?"

Bert: "Well, money is tight these days, and it's almost Christmas. Maybe they need new decorations for the Square? Hmmm. Think there's any truth to the rumor that they're going to rent Jamaica for their Christmas party?"

Pat: "What's this rent stuff? With the money they'll make from the sudden appearance of a no parking zone at Stone Center, they'll be able to buy the place."

Bert: "Pat, have you ever noticed how nice marching bands, especially the Southerners, look in new uniforms?"

Pat: "No, why? Have they gotten new uniforms?"

Bert: "Not yet, but if we make it to the playoffs, maybe Dr. Montgomery will have had enough time to decide on the colors he wants."

Pat: "What's he have to do with uniform selection anyway?"

Bert: "Ever notice how much power college presidents have?"

Pat: "Well - yes. Suppose we change the subject. Ever notice JSU has no student activity fee?"

Bert: "Sure. Ever notice the bands we get around here?"

Pat: "No, and I don't think anybody else does either. Have you ever noticed the power of an editorial?"

Bert: "No."

Pat: "Should have been at the game Saturday. There were actually independents sitting on the 50 yard line. Will wonders never cease? Speaking of wonders, where did all the Valley Girls come from on campus this fall?"

Bert: "My theory is that they are all descendants of that bus load of Berkeley radicals the Administration hired in the 60's."

Pat: "For sure. Ever notice how funny our pictures for the column look?"

Bert: "Yeah, the pictures don't look like us in the least. After all, we get mistaken for Newman and Redford all the time, but you'd never know it from those pictures."

Pat: "I've noticed that, but have you ever noticed how hard it is to end a newspaper column."

Bert: "No."

Unfortunately, CBS never contacted us. So don't rush out to tell your friends about the big stars you know, because you don't know any. Ever notice that?

Centennial homecoming will be an event to remember

Committees are hard at work preparing for this year's Centennial Homecoming Gala at Jacksonville State University October 30.

The theme is "JSU: 100 and Growing" in observation of the Centennial Year of Events. JSU is now celebrating its 100th birthday which will culminate in April, 1983.

JSU plays Delta State at 2 p.m. October 30. The Gamecocks have never lost a homecoming game.

All alumni are invited to open house at their new Alumni House on Pelham Road (Roebuck property) across from the Theron Montgomery Building on Saturday morning.

JSU students have many pre-homecoming activities in store for them in the days ahead, including the following.

--The selection of Miss Homecoming. More than 50 finalists are expected to enter this year's pageant October 19. Five judges will narrow the field to the top ten and students will vote the following week for their favorites.

The top five finalists will be revealed during the pep rally Friday, October 29. Miss Homecoming will not be announced until the following day at halftime.

--The homecoming pep rally begins at 6:30 p.m. at the intramural field adjacent to Pete Mathews Coliseum. The rally will feature a bonfire, fireworks, the Southerners and ballerinas, cheerleaders, and football players.

--The homecoming concert follows the pep rally at the intramural field on the 29th. Chevy 6 will perform music from the '50s and '60s. The concert is free.

--Mel Blanc, the voice of such cartoon characters as Bugs Bunny, Elmer Fudd, and Daffy Duck, will perform a free show at Leone Cole Auditorium Oct. 28 at 8 p.m.

--The campus will be in full color by Friday, Oct. 29, as fraternities, sororities and other organizations prepare for the yard display contest. Judging gets underway at 2 p.m. Prizes will include $500 for first place; $300 for second; $200 for third.

Homecoming Day events include:

--Alumni coffee and registration, third floor, Theron Montgomery

Building, 9-12 a.m.
--Open house, new Alumni House (Roebuck property), 10-12 a.m.

--General meeting, JSU National Alumni Association, third floor, Theron Montgomery Building, 9-10 a.m.

--Homecoming parade, beginning at TG&Y parking lot on Pelham Road, 10 a.m., ending at Martin Hall on Pelham. A number of high school bands are expected to participate. Prize money for best entries include $500 for first place; $300 for second; $200 for third.

--The J Club smoker gets underway at the Field House, 10 a.m.

--The Ballerina Alumni Association will meet at 11 a.m. on third floor, Theron Montgomery Building.

--Alumni luncheon (seated buffet) will be held from 12-1:30 p.m. at Leone Cole Auditorium (reservations required). Phone Alumni Office, 435-9820, for additional information.

--A picnic lunch will be held at Jack Hopper Cafeteria from 12-1:30 p.m. Call the Alumni Office for reservations.

--Pre-game show, 1:30 p.m.

--Kickoff, 2 p.m.
--President's reception following the game, home of Dr. and Mrs. Theron Montgomery.

--Open house, Hammond Hall art department, 9-12 a.m. Alumni art show will be in its final day of exhibit.

--Open house, home economics, Mason Hall.

--Open house, music department, Mason Hall.

--The College of Nursing; a coffee for all nursing alumni and faculty retirees.

Scheduled reunions include:

- the class of '32
- the class of '57
- the class of '77

Members of the listed classes should contact the Alumni office if they have not received invitations.

In addition, members of the classes of '62, '67, and '72 are invited to attend the alumni luncheon and sit with their classmates in a special section.

Other special events include:

--The Music Man'', produced by the JSU Drama Department, will be on stage October 26-30 at Ernest Stone Performing Arts Center beginning at 8 each evening. For reservations, phone 435-9820, ext. 447.

As part of the Centennial Celebration, the Hall of Presidents will be unveiled October 30 in the lobby of Houston Cole Library.

In addition to the homecoming gala, other major events planned for the Centennial include Centennial Week, Feb. 21-25; the honoring of 100 greatest athletes of JSU on November 20; and the conferring of degrees to Centennial graduates.

Kappa Alpha

By STEVE MARTIN

The KA house has just recently been flooded by some of the most gorgeous females on campus. These ladies are now little sisters of KA, and we are very much proud of them. They consist of: Melanie Cummings, Donna Fuller, Cindy Alexander, Tara Lee Clark, Pam Love, Danza Masters, Darla Martin, Leeanne Hamby, Tara Atkinson, Amy Wolff, Peggy Hodnett, Mary Kay Gordon, Monica Stuart, Kelly Flowers, Stacy Boozer, Tammy Bradshaw, Kristi Allan, Kim Moore and Kerry Perry.

Also, a special welcome to our new pledges is in order. These gentlemen are Robbie Walters, Buckley Kennedy, Dewayne Shumate, Blake Blagburn, Johnny Blackwell, Jeff Ramey, and Johnny Bowers. These new additions will surely be vital assets to our chapter. Welcome, guys!

At this time we, the members of the Delta Phi Chapter, are joyous to mention a member who is always dear to our hearts, especially at party time. This distinguished member's name is The Amazing Crock-o-matic. Why, without the Crock-o-matic our parties would be simply, blah! Thank you brother Jack Lyle for introducing this member to our chapter. Our parties are always good, but with "Crocky" we'll never have another boring gathering.

Delta Sigma Theta

By MS. BRENDA CALLOWAY

Greetings from the Kappa Beta Chapter of Delta Sigma Theta Sorority, Inc. We would like to thank everyone for their support at our Pyramid presentation on Sunday 10, 1982. We are proud of our little sisters and are hopeful that they will one day make it into Delta land.

Deltas are continuously setting the pace. We are "the ladies of the 80's". Everyone is working hard on Delta week activities, as well as our continuous community involvement. Our visit to the children's ward was successful and the Pyramids, along with their big sisters, are planning a trip to Jacksonville's nursing home to put some of our fortune and thanksgiving into the lives of others. We are a public service organization.

Realizing that a lot is going on now with study for mid-term exams, football games, and pledges, some things are bound to be overlooked. So please remember the election coming up Nov. 2, 1982. All of you who are registered voters should go to the polls. Absentee ballots should already be in.

One last serious note-the Sorors of Delta Sigma Theta Sorority, Inc., would like to challenge other Greeks, as well as the Afro American Association in pledging full support-not just at parties but programs involving cultural enrichment, awareness, and academic excellence.

Sigma Nu

By JOHN VALDES, JR.

The Iota Lambda Chapter of Sigma Nu would like to say thanks for all of the support the campus is giving to the Fighting Gamecocks as they are on their way to becoming number 1 in the nation. We would like to thank the Miller Co. for the keg that our backwoods pledges won at the Valdosta pep rally, and Karl "Jed" Peterson will offer free buck dance classes later on in the semester.

In sports Sigma Nu is looking forward to our climactic rally at the end of the season. We were unable to play KA last week because of the rain and the game will be rescheduled at a later date.

The chapter as a whole is giving the students, faculty and community a chance to win a free semesters tuition for just one dollar a shot. The raffle will continue until the day before the UNA pep rally in which then a winner will be chosen. Remember tickets are available from any Sigma Nu brother, pledge or little sister for $1.

Until next week walk in the way of honor follow a Sigma Nu...

Sigma Nu raffle

Sigma Nu will be raffling a semesters free tuition ($350) for a donation of $1 a ticket. The tuition will be given away Nov. 18, 1982 at the JSU-UNA Pep Rally. Tickets are available from any Sigma Nu on campus.

Pi Kappa Phi

By WAYNE PIERCE

Things are almost back to normal here after enjoying a shipwrecked evening with the girls of Delta Zeta last Friday. Everyone had a great time. Thanks, girls, for a wonderful evening.

We Pi Kapps are extremely proud of our pledges this fall. We know we have the finest group of young men on campus. The Pledge of the Week last week was Duane McMannus. Keep up the hard work, fellows. Our football game with ATO has been rescheduled for the end of the season, but we have two more tough games before then. This afternoon we take on the challenge of Sigma Nu, and hopefully Monday will be the battle of the unbeaten as we meet Kappa Sigma in what could be the game of the year.

The attendance and participation at the JSU games has been great, but this week's opponent could be the toughest of the season. Everybody come out to see the Cocks kick UTC's --. Until next week.

Delta Chi

By JAY LOCKRIDGE

Jacksonville State is celebrating its one hundredth birthday and Delta Chi isn't far behind. We are wearing that mark and celebrated our annual Founder's Day this past week. The event included dinner at the Village Inn followed by a speech by Bill Cove, an alumnus brother from the class of '72.

The Chi's are also proud of our group of new little sisters. These ladies were received this past week. This week marks the beginning of a tug of war between the fraternities. The first heat will be at the Delta Chi house with other heats following at KA and Sigma Nu. Our intramural football team goes up against Kapps Alpha this Thursday. We would like to congratulate the Gamecocks for extinguishing the Valdosta State Blazers. We are behind you all the way to N.M.

Alpha Phi Omega

The Omega Chi Chapter of the Alpha Phi Service Fraternity welcomes its fall pledges Sharon Norton, Ronald Dye, Anthony Jones, Tonya Smith, Karen Morelock, Greg Lafollette, Stanley Spicer, Susie Samuels, Alma Woodward and Chris Reynolds. The Brotherhood of A-Phi-O is really looking forward to getting to know and having lots of fun with these great pledges.

Alpha Phi Omega would like to congratulate the following couples on their recent engagements - Stanley Spicer and Elizabeth, Kevin Showden and Elaine Melton, and pledges Gerg Lafollette and Susie Samuels. We wish you all the best of Luck!

In Leadership, Friendship and Service - Alpha Phi Omega.

By JANICE THOMAS

Thanks to Sigma Nu for a very nice time at the picnic last week. Everyone enjoyed themselves very much and we really appreciated all of their hard work. Thanks guys!

Congratulations to our pledges on winning the song competition at the Pep Rally! We love you Pledges!

Congratulations to all of the Alpha Xis in class elections. They are as follows: Kim Stephenson - Sophomore Beauty; Melanie West - Junior Beauty; Kathy Owen - Senior Favorite; and the Big Brothers in the elections were: Bull Kay and Burt Grisham - Sophomore Favorites; Jim Gunter and Dan Cleveland - Senior Favorites. Congratulations to the winners of Mr. & Miss Jax State - Marc Angle and Susan Head and Mr. & Miss Friendly - Tony Lundy and Page Travis.

Alpha Xis are looking forward to the pajama party with ZTA on Wednesday, Oct. 20. Maybe we can have a pillow fight, girls!

This week's Little Sister of the Week is Nicki Yow and Pledge of the Week is Pam Holmes.

We would like to thank Dean of Women, Miriam Higginbotham, for attending our Chapter Meeting last week and giving a very beneficial speech. We hope to see her visit our hall much more often in the future.

Alpha Xis are now selling raffle tickets for a chance on two free tickets to the Sugar Bowl in New Orleans and two nights in the Holiday Inn. This game will be held on New Year's Day. The drawing will be held at the halftime of the JSU game on Nov. 20. You do not have to be present to win so contact any member of Alpha Xi Delta to get your ticket.

The price is $1 donation which is worth seeing Alabama or Georgia in the Sugar Bowl!

Zeta Tau Alpha

By WENDY FEAD

Our "Hal-o-weekend" was a ton of fun! Sisters Beth Owen and Kris Johnson's hard work was behind the success of the evening. Everything was great - thanks ladies!

Congratulations Alpha Xi for winning the song competition at last week's pep rally! And thanks for entertaining us last night at the "Popcorn Party." We all had a wonderful time!

Tonite the Zeta's will be the guest of the brothers of ATO. We will be "masquerading" as our favorite characters! The evening will be very entertaining and we are eagerly awaiting the "bewitching" hour!

Well, plans for our second annual Champagne Ball are being formalized! The big event is Nov. 5 at Gadsden Country Club with Visions-Track 4 providing the musical entertainment! Sounds like a great evening!

We would like to thank sister Stacey Bristow for her hard work as Service Chairman. As a service project, we have been collecting canned goods and distributing them to families within the community. Future projects include hosting a Halloween Party for Ms. Edwards pre-school class and Christmas Caroling at Jacksonville Nursing Home. You're doing a great job, Stacy!

Alpha Kappa Alpha

By WINIFRED WILSON

Two Sorors from the Lambda Pi chapter of Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority, Inc. have been chosen as candidates to participate in the 1982 Homecoming Pageant. They are Soror Pamela White, who will also represent Alpha Kappa Alpha in this year's Homecoming Parade and Soror Caroline Allen, who will represent Miss Black and Gold. Ladies, congratulations!

For those of you who do not know, Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority has moved to a new location. The sorority will now conduct all affairs in the basement of Curtiss Hall. The sisters had a wonderful time decorating and christening the new office. Also new are the officers. Lambda Pi's new governing officers are: Basileus-Caroline Allen, Anti-Basileus-Phyllis Foster, Grammateus-Epistoleus-JoAnn Gwinn, Tamiochus-Tometta House, Dean of Pledges-Parliamentarian-Pamela White, and Ivy Leaf Reporter-Hodigus-Winifred Wilson. With these new officers we are sure that Lambda Pi will have a successful year.

For the month of October, Lambda Pi's service project is sponsoring a Halloween celebration for the children of the Eastwood Day Care Center, and for your entertainment this month, we will be giving a costume party. Be looking for the announcements to be posted on your dormitory bulletin board! Remember, Alpha Kappa Alpha sisterhood starts in loving hearts!

Delta Zeta

By JANET GENTRY

Thank you Pi Kappa Phi! The mixer was a blow-out! The night began with a journey to find our pledges. Then what should happen, but a storm and our poor ship was wrecked. We managed to arrive on a deserted island without casualties. Yes, a "Shipwreck" Party. How much fun, you ask? Loads! Thanks again, you guys!

Thanks go to Ann Holder for the great job she did in organizing our Big Brother Picnic. Also, thanks to Vickie Page. Parents Day went great.

We appreciate everyone who brought raffle tickets and we would like to thank Angela Evans, our Fundraising Chairman, for the wonderful job she did in organizing the Raffle and Open Party. Ang, you're the greatest!

We are proud of all our new fraternity little sisters. Way to go girls! Until next week remember; "If you can imagine it, you can achieve it. If you can dream it, you can become it." Be the best; be a Delta Zeta.

Strike Force Wins Over Hardees

by Paul Nixon

Strike Force has invaded the intramural football field at Jacksonville State University. After two weeks of fighting deserters and losing two major battles, Strike Force struck over an opposing Hardee's team. We did this with the dedication of 15 loyal team members.

We take great pride in our team -STRIKE FORCE. Although we have only fifteen players, we feel we will be a competitive team. With each passing week of the season, we improve in every position.

Strike Force challenges every intramural team in both the independent and fraternity leagues to play hard, clean football and to conduct themselves with good sportsmanship. Good Luck to all teams!

SAGA Bandits

The 1982 edition of the SAGA Bandits is a fine one. The Bandits are probably the most talked about intramural football team on campus.

This year, the Bandits have scored 114 points so far and have lost no points to their opponents.

The formation of the Bandits began in the spring of 1980. Former Bandit, Robert McIntosh along with current bandits Pig Clark and Keith Cloud coined the idea for the team. When school started in the fall of 1981, Eric Hill from the cafeteria agreed to sponsor the Bandits and purchased jerseys for the team.

The SAGA Bandits were undefeated in the 1981 season, however the Bandits ended the season in defeat when they lost to a fine Kappa Sigma team in a 12 to 8 decision. Although 1981 was an excellent year for the team, 1982 promises to be even better. The Bandits have scored 152 points this season and have given up none.

The 22 SAGA Bandits are led by Keith Cloud and are currently in first place in the independent league.

Government to choose twenty White House Fellows

The White House Fellowship is a highly competitive opportunity to participate in and learn about the Federal Government from a unique perspective. For one year, the 14-20 persons who are chosen as White House Fellows are full-time employees of the Federal Government, working in a Cabinet-level agency, in the Executive Office of the President, or with the Vice President.

The actual nature of one's assignment varies with the particular talents and interests of the Fellow, and depends greatly on what needs to be done. The experience and role of an individual Fellow depend to a substantial degree on the personal relationship he or she forms with a specific Cabinet-level officer and his or her regular staff, on how hard and successfully the Fellow applies him or herself to whatever tasks are assigned, and on the Fellow's individual initiative in developing relationships and initiating worthwhile projects. By the end of the year, however, most Fellows will have written speeches, attended conferences, supervised staff work, reviewed or helped draft proposed legislation, answered Congressional inquiries, chaired meetings, drafted reports, conducted briefings, and spearheaded one or more projects.

The educational program is a distinguishing feature of the White House Fellowship. The Fellows participate as a class in a series of off-the-record meetings, usually held two or three times a week throughout the Fellowship year, with prominent representatives from both the public and private sectors. The meetings in the Washington area are supplemented with occasional travel to experience, observe, and examine firsthand major issues confronting our society. In addition to the domestic focus, Fellows have in some years examined international affairs and U.S. foreign policy, and developed an understanding of the philosophies and points of view of other governments through overseas travels.

U.S. citizens are eligible to apply during early and formative years of their career or profession. There are no basic educational requirements and no special career professional categories. Employees of the Federal Government are not eligible, with the exception of career military personnel of the Armed Services. There are no restrictions as to specific age, sex, race, creed, or national origin, nor any physical requirements.

As a government employee, each Fellow is paid by his or her agency at an appropriate scale based on experience and education, generally not higher than a GS-15.

Interested faculty or staff should contact Dr. Claudia McDade at the Center for Individualized Instruction for application and further information. November 15 is the deadline.

Antibiotics and alcohol don't mix

By Andy Jones

The University Clinic is now treating a lot of students with cough and cold symptoms. An antibiotic is usually given to fight the infection and sometimes an antihistamine or decongestant is given in addition.

If you want to speed up your recovery, then give the medications a good chance to work. Some ways you can slow the effectiveness of an antibiotic are alcohol consumption, lack of sleep and not taking it properly.

Antibiotics work by building up a level of concentration in your blood stream. Sometimes this may take a few days. Then the drug goes after the harmful bacteria causing your problems. Two common organisms it fights are streptococcus and staphylococcus.

Shortly after taking an antibiotic, many students start on their daily quota of alcohol consumption. Common sense will tell you that an antibiotic is a drug. So is ethyl alcohol, commonly called beer or liqueur. We also know that many drugs don't mix and nothing mixes right with alcohol. What you are actually doing with antibiotics is killing them and slowing down your "speedy recovery". Once you build up the blood level if for example, Penicillin, it will be lowered by alcohol ingestion.

Another important note is alcohol may increase some expected side effects of antihistamines. Remember sometimes getting sleepy after taking a cold medicine? Well, it wasn't the antibiotic but probably the antihistamine. Alcohol can increase a side effect like drowsiness and cause some dangerous problems, for example, while driving.

So, if you want to get rid of a cold fast, give your medications a chance to work.

P.S. In response to many "herpetic rumors" on JSU, only about 10 genital herpes cases have been diagnosed in the past year.

Jax smothers Flames

Even as the Gamecocks enjoy a 5-0 record, (3-0 in the GSC) Coach Fuller still feels his team hasn't reached their potential. "We haven't, other than the Livingston game, had to play an entire ball game and I don't think we can go the rest of the way that way."

But Gamecock fans are content with the latest victory, a 43-11 win over Valdosta State, former leaders in passing offense in the Gulf South Conference.

Alison Andrews
Sports Editor

With 3:44 left in the game, Arthur Jenkins carried the ball 1 yard, making the final touchdown for JSU.

Five touchdowns were scored by the Gamecocks, enhanced by five PATs by Hobbs, the Kicker with the perfect record.

The latest victory was chalked up without the help of many. The defense has suffered the loss of Alvin Wright, who is going to be out the rest of the year and Simon Shephard still hasn't gotten back into the game. On offense, Chris Ray and Jeff Miller were out.

During the game, Jon Barefield injured his knee ligaments and may be out the rest of the year. Wayne Williams received a concussion, and Randy Lagod hurt his shoulder.

Next week the Gamecocks meet the University of Tennessee at Chattanooga at 7 p.m. in the Paul Snow Stadium.

The Valdosta Blazers enjoyed a 3-0 lead for the better part of the first quarter on a 42-yard field goal by Brad Bauer with 11:43 remaining.

But at the 1:48 mark, the Gamecocks took the lead and didn't let go. The first touchdown for the evening was via an Ed Lett pass completed to Rusty Fuller from the five yard line.

The Gamecocks added two more touchdowns in the second quarter, the first on an eight yard toss from left to Joe Hartsfield, and the second on an eleven yard shot from Lett to Walter Broughton that capped a forty-six yard drive.

Two points were scored after VSC's Tracy Soles mishandled a pitch from quarterback James Owens and was tackled in the end zone, and a 37 yard field goal kicked by Chris Hobbs put another three points on the scoreboard giving the 'Cocks a 26-3 lead at halftime.

The third quarter was played in a similar manner to the second, but not with the same exuberance. Early in the quarter Steve Hill carried the ball 12 yards for a touchdown, and at the 5:30 mark, Chris Hobbs kicked another fine field goal - this time for 35 yards.

Four seconds into the fourth quarter, Valdosta made an attempt for recovery. Owens' pass was completed to Kelvin Sheppard for 4 yards and a touchdown. The Blazers' attempt for a two-point conversion was good through an Owens pass to David Williams.

Kickers valuable to Gamecocks

The Jax State kickers have made strong showings this year in the Gamecocks' first four wins. Handling the kicking chores this year are Chris Hobbs and Ray Vollenweider.

Hobbs is a 5 feet 10 inch 155 pound sophomore. He is a graduate from Anniston High School and a computer science major. Hobbs handles all the extra-points and short range field goals. He won the starting job in the fourth game last year and has started every game since then. Although he has not missed an extra-point this year, he gives half the credit to the holder Fran Blanchard who is also a wide receiver for the Gamecocks.

Vollenweider is a 6 foot 180 pound sophomore. He is a graduate from Montgomery Catholic High School and a chemistry major. Vollenweider handles the long field goals and the kick-offs because he has the stronger leg. This year he has kicked all the way into or out of the end zone.

The Chanticleer would like to congratulate Chris and Ray and wish them continued success along with the rest of the Gamecock team and staff.

5-0 'Cocks seek first win over Moccasins

By BRUCE TINKER

"Rivalries are established when one team loses to another," Coach Fuller said Monday. Well, the Gamecocks have had enough of losing to UT-Chattanooga. Since becoming head coach, Jim Fuller has never beaten the Mocs. The last Jax State victory in this rivalry was in 1975. This is always a hard fought game and this weekend's contest should hold to this pattern. JSU is ranked 3rd in the nation while UTC leads the Southern Conference.

Several objectives will have to be met if the Gamecocks are to come out on top. Coach Fuller's main concern is the defense. With Alvin Wright, Simon Shepard, and Randy Lagod out of the line-up, several other players may have to adjust to new positions. Other injuries include Jeff Miller and John Barefield from the offensive line.

The past few years, the defense has been the key to the game. UTC boasts of a strong defensive unit. The one they will put on the field Saturday night will be made up entirely of last year's starters. Thus far on the year, opponents have averaged less than 13 points a game against this powerful defense.

Besides a good secondary, UTC also has a strong pass rush. But, JSU's "Red Bandits" have also been strong against the pass, racking up 11 interceptions in only 5 games.

Offensively, the Mocs run out of a wishbone set and alternate 2 quarterbacks. They average 205 yards rushing and 80 yards passing per game. The Gamecocks have not seen the wishbone this year.

At the beginning of the season, Coach Fuller thought the Gamecocks had a good chance to beat the Mocs. Now, with all the injuries, it looks like the game will be much tougher. Hopefully, being the underdog will only serve to make the team even more intense and tenacious than they have been in the past 5 games.

Of course, the Gamecocks still have several points in their favor. Ed Lett and a corps of talented receivers will give UTC all they can handle and more. Already, Lett has completed 92 of 153 passes - 12 for touchdowns-and he usually plays only the first half. Jacksonville's backs, led by Reginald Goodloe and Walter Broughton, have averaged over 130 yards a game. In addition, Gregg Lowery has averaged 44.5 yards per kick, slightly higher than in 1981 when he led the nation in punting.

Coach Fuller is always appreciative of the great Jax State fans, but hopes they will turn out in greater numbers for this tough game. With Jacksonville a heavy favorite in most of the previous games, the crowds were understandably small. Some people don't like to see one team run all over the other, but personally, I enjoyed it. This week, everyone is asked to show their Gamecock spirit by wearing red. Let's turn out in full force to help the Gamecocks clear this major hurdle of the season.

Volleyball team trounces Trojans

By GEOFFREY TYRONE HILL

In the past two years the girls' volleyball team has placed high in the GSC. In 1980 the team placed first and in 1981 they placed second.

Last Thursday night the Lady Gamecocks won an impressive victory over Troy State University. In the best three out of five match with Troy the girls clinched the victory quickly by winning the first three games, 15-13, 13-7, 15-10, but Troy State was not a pushover. The lady Trojans built up an early 0-5 lead in the second game, but the JSU girls allowed their opponents only two more points in the game.

The team, which competes in the Gulf South Conference, Division II, is made up of 12 girls on partial athletic scholarships. They include Cherylece Morris, Cassie O'Hearne, Michelle Richardson, Debbie Seales, Nancy Enger, Lisa Holtzclaw, Jean Fowler, Julie Whitworth, Martha Butler, Robyn Boozer, Donna Oden, Melissa Twigg, and Lupe Manning. Seniors Seales, O'Hearne Richardson and Morris have shown great leadership in this outstanding teamwork-orientated sport. The girls' ability to work as a group is very important. When recruiting, Coach Creel looks for desire, aggressiveness, and the ability to master skills involved in volleyball. The team's record for the last two years has been helpful in recruiting.

Janice Creel, who has been coaching the team for the past four years, replied that she is especially proud of her girls.
