

Features:*Marshall makes mark at SGA.

See story p. 10.

Entertainment/Campus Life:*Review: JSU teachers fill book of poems with feelings, emotions.

See story p. 12.

Sports:*Volleyball preparing for conference tourney.

See story p. 14.

The Chanticleer

Vol. 34 No. 10

Jacksonville State University ★ Jacksonville, Ala. 36265

Nov. 13, 1986

Sociology

Scholarship renamed after Gwen Mulder

By CYNDI OWENS
Chanticleer Staff Writer

The sociology department has awarded its annual scholarship to Tanya Payne of Pell City. This is not the first year the scholarship has been awarded, but this year it has a new name. It is now known as the "Gweneth Mulder Scholarship."

The award was named after Mulder at the Sociology Awards Banquet last April. The faculty unanimously voted to name the scholarship after Mulder, who has been an instructor at JSU for 15 years and who will be retiring in the spring semester.

The proclamation honoring Mulder read, in part, that, . . . through the years, she has encouraged personal growth in students, faculty, and administration."

"I was grateful, surprised and honored when the proclamation naming the award was read. Personal growth is more than saying 'hello.' Growth is knowledge, and thinking, and analyzing, and the self-conditioning to do these things," Mulder said.

The Sociology Department has a scholarship committee, headed by Donna Smith, which receives applications in the fall and spring. The criteria for application are: 12-15 hours completed in sociology, a 2.0 overall grade point average, and a 2.5 grade point average in sociology. Applicants are also considered on the basis of need, as well as academic achievement.

"Academic achievement should be rewarded," said Dr. Carolyn Dunaway, former chairperson of the scholarship committee.

"The money comes from contributions of faculty members, and any

(See MULDER, Page 3)

Payne receives scholarship

Mike Putman Photo

Gwen Mulder, left, looks on as Donna Smith, scholarship committee chairperson, presents a certificate to Tanya Payne, 1986 scholarship recipient.

College budget cuts felt throughout the nation

(CPS) - Public college presidents - normally a decorous bunch of people - in a number of states last week resorted to "last ditch" barnstorming trips, splashy lobbying media events and postures of outright defiance to convince state legislators not to impose what the presidents say will be a ruinous new round of budget cuts.

Texas, Alaska, Idaho, Indiana, Wisconsin, Montana, Alabama, Utah, Iowa, and Missouri, among other states, have recently - or are about to - cut the amount of money they give to their public colleges.

And their college administrators, claiming six years of federal budget cuts already have forced them to cut their operations to the bone, are warning that new state budget cuts will force them to take drastic measures.

They say they will have to close some academic departments, cut back on student services, raise tuitions and maybe even merge with other colleges.

"It's close to squeezing blood out of a turnip," says University of Alaska President Dr. Donald O'Dowd, whose school has had to slash spending by 35 percent over the last several months. "Alaska's state revenue has been cut in half the last eight months.

When Utah did not collect as much in taxes as it had planned, it ordered all state agencies - including colleges - to slash their budgets. At Weber State, it meant firing 58 people, disbanding the men's wrestling and the women's golf teams, and dropping the economics degree program, among others.

Budget cuts left the University of Texas unable to make some promised payments to one of its research partners, and it is now losing faculty to better-paying schools, Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby said last week.

The Kansas Board of Regents last week announced it might soon start closing masters degree programs, while Alaska's O'Dowd reports "We'll probably have to cut academics. We can't continue to protect it any longer.

"This has not been the best of years," observes Montana State President William Tietz, whose campus budget is $1.2 million less than it was last year at this time.

Some state college officials began fighting back with some unusual histrionics last week.

University of Wisconsin System President Kenneth Shaw tried to make the point by saying budget cuts that have forced state campuses to turn students away "make me cry.

The presidents of Idaho's four state-supported colleges went on a highly publicized "barnstorming tour" of six cities to plead their case for more funding.

"We were given a good hearing," reports Idaho State President Richard Bowen. "The minds are more open" to college funding needs.

Purdue and Indiana universities, rivals in virtually everything, have been jointly wining and dining legislators at "breakfast, lunch and dinner" to try to win more funding, reports Purdue Vice President Dr. John Hicks.

The Faculty Senate at Utah State, meanwhile, voted flatly to refuse to join the administration's mandated effort to cut an extra six percent off this year's budget in order to absorb the state funding decline.

Northern Iowa's administrators were so upset by state budget news two weeks ago that they bought an ad protesting state education funding "stinginess" in the Des Moines Register newspaper.

"The governor believes the money spent on this ad would be better spent on student education," Dick Vohs, Gov. Terry Branstad's press secretary, replied angrily. The half-page ad cost $2,050.

But few expect the state funding cuts to stop any time soon, if only because states in the energy and farm regions don't have more oney to give to their colleges.

"Times are tough for the states. I wouldn't call this a decline in state funding, but a flattening," says Illinois State's Dr. Edward Hines, who tracks state funding of colleges.

"I do expect it to last well beyond five years, however. Their economic future is not particularly bright or rosy for some farm states and those with oil or mineral-related industries. They will experience problems again next year," Hines said.

"They can't just raise taxes," he adds, because more unemployed people need state social services, welfare, and other programs which, in turn, consume more of what little money there is.

"Many states are battling deficits, and higher education suffers for it," concurs Corina Eckl of the National Conference of State Legislatures.

Last year, she says, 21 states increased their college budgets more than ten percent. This year, only seven states did. And now some of those seven states, short of money, are asking colleges to cut their budgets in the middle of the year.

"These pleas (college presidents are making) are last ditch efforts," Eckl says.

Adds Hines, "This is affecting lives all over."

"It's a very difficult spiral to break, and we're right at the point where it's most discouraging - if not downright impossible - to cope," he said.

Announcements

Please note: The deadline for announcements is 2 p.m. on the Friday before the edition in which the announcement is to run. •The Volunteer and Information Center's Christmas Wishlist and Group Projects booklet for 1986-87 is now available at their office on 407 Noble Street and at various agencies throughout the country. If any individual or group is wanting to assist a non-profit human service agency at Christmas or any time during the year then our Wishlist and Group Projects booklets are or you. Call the VIC office at 237-1800 for your copy.

•The physical education department is offering an aerobic exercise class through Continuing Education on Mondays, Tuesdays and Thursdays at 5:30-6:30 P.M. For more information call 231-5515.

•Aikido, a Japanese martial art, is offered on Tuesdays and Thursdays at the coliseum. The classes meet from 6:30-8:30. The instructor is Dr. Ron Harris. Call 231-5515 for more information.

•The JSU Student Chapter of the American Society for Personnel Administration meets at 7:30 PM in room 218, Merrill Hall on November 13 and December 4, 1986.

•The Geography Club is now selling National Geographic's new Atlas of North America: Space Age Portrait of a Continent in soft cover for $25. Call the Geography Club for more information, Ext. 4832.

•Phi Eta Sigma, the Freshman Honor Society, will have a meeting on November 18, immediately following the making of group pictures. All officers and members are encouraged to attend.

•Remember! A "Whup Troy" party and pep rally will be held Saturday, November 15, from 4:30 p.m.-6:30 p.m., third floor in the Theron Montgomery Building. Free bar-b-que, refreshments, and entertainment! Sponsored by S.G.A., Calhoun County Alumni Chapter, and Honorary Coaches.

•The Anniston Museum of Natural History is planning a Christmas exhibit entitled "Santa's Workshop" December 4- January 4. The Museum needs teddy bears for this display. The bears can be old or new, well dressed or well loved, in a variety of sizes. (Traditional teddy bears are preferred; no Care Bears or other such commercial types.) If you would like to help the Museum by loaning your teddy bear contact Paige Moreland or Pam Love at 237-6766. The Museum's deadline for accepting is Friday, November 21. Also, the museum will present a Holiday Show and Sale November 7 - December 7 in the

(See ANNOUNCEMENTS, Page 4)

Jump Rope for Heart

Campus campaign begins Nov. 20

The JSU physical education club is hosting the annual JUMP ROPE FOR HEART event, to benefit the American Heart Association. The event will be held at Pete Mathews Coliseum from 7 to 9 p.m. on Thursday, Nov. 20.

Jump Rope for Heart is a statewide event designed to involve students in an aerobic exercise which focuses on the importance of lifetime cardiovascular fitness. The funds raised will support the American Heart Association with public and professional education, community service programs and research.

The PE Club would like to encourage any club or organization to join them in this endeavor by entering teams of six people to take turns jumping rope for a maximum of two hours. Persons will need to secure pledges for each minute their team jumps.

The club needs campus participation to make the event successful. For more information about Jump Rope for Heart, call extension 4519.

BCM holds International Night

By ROY WILLIAMS
Chanticleer Senior Editor

The Baptist Campus Ministry held its annual International Emphasis Night on Tuesday, Nov. 4. Nearly one hundred students were in attendance as Salla Pirhonen, a foreign student from Finland, and three residents of the International House, spoke before the audience about different aspects of their home countries.

"The purpose of this event was to establish friendship with the international students on campus. It is beneficial to all of us to get acquainted with people from other nations. As Christians, we have a responsibility to minister to their needs," Rev. Bob Ford, campus minister, said.

Highlights of the International Emphasis Night included the following: • Forkpa Korlewala, of Liberia, spoke on the Liberian education system, various customs, and ties between the U.S. and Liberia. • Lourdes Florentin, of Paraguay, informed the audience about the lifestyles and customs in her country. •

Jacob Lindeblad, from Denmark, discussed several social aspects in his native land. • Salla Pirhonen of Finland, a former member of the International House, taught the audience a Finnish song, which they sang along with her.

Jason Thrower, a BCM student who acts as a liaison between the International House and the BCM, said the annual event helps to promote a better understanding between the Americans and the foreign students on campus.

"The speeches were very en- (See BCM, Page 3)

THE RABBIT HUTCH TOO

Cordially Invites
You To

Christmas Open House
Sunday, November 16th
One O'clock Until Six O'clock

3 College Center
435-2230

The most exciting few hours you'll spend all week.

DEPARTMENT OF MILITARY SCIENCE SPRING 87 CLASS SCHEDULE

MSC 213 Fundamentals of Mountaineering
Sec 1	-----10:00-11:00	MW	308RH	2	McDonald
Sec 2	-----13:45-14:45	MW	308RH	2	McDonald
MSC 116 Unarmed Self-Defense
Sec 1	-----08:45-09:45	MW	Gym/BH	2	Lamb
Sec 2	-----10:00-11:00	MW	Gym/BH	2	Kooyman
Sec 3	-----11:15-12:15	MW	Gym/BH	2	Collins
Sec 4	-----08:00-09:00	TT	Gym/BH	2	Martin
Sec 5	-----09:15-10:15	TT	Gym/BH	2	Martin
Sec 6	-----11:00-12:00	TT	Gym/BH	2	Collins
MSC 101 The Military in U. S. Society
Sec 1	-----08:00-09:00	TT	306RH	2	Murphy
MSC 112 Basic Rifle Marksmanship
Sec 1	-----08:45-09:45	MW	103RH	2	Motika
Sec 2	-----10:00-11:00	MW	103RH	2	Stearns
Sec 3	-----11:15-12:15	MW	103RH	2	Morris
Sec 4	-----08:00-09:00	TT	103RH	2	Morris
Sec 5	-----09:15-10:15	TT	103RH	2	Stearns
Sec 6	-----11:00-12:00	TT	103RH	2	Stearns
MSC 113 Survival
Sec 1	-----11:00-12:00	TT	308RH	2	Motika
MSC 115 First-Aid
Sec 1	-----13:45-14:45	MW	307RH	2	Motika
Sec 2	-----08:00-09:00	TT	307RH	2	Collins
Sec 3	-----09:15-10:15	TT	307RH	2	Murphy
Sec 4	-----11:00-12:00	TT	307RH	2	Martin
Sec 5	-----13:15-14:15	TT	307RH	2	Martin
MSC 152 Rangers
Sec 1	-----14:30-17:30	W	306RH	1	Lamb
MSC 202 Basic Military Science
Sec 1	-----08:00-09:00	TT	303RH	2	Tatum
Sec 2	-----11:00-12:00	TT	303RH	2	Murphy

LOOKING FOR ADVENTURE ?

WANT TO LEARN A VALUABLE SKILL ?

THEN BE SURE TO ENROLL IN ONE OR MORE OF THE COURSES OFFERED BY THE MILITARY SCIENCE DEPARTMENT DURING PRE-REGISTRATION.

Cheerleaders do film for national competition

JSU cheerleaders practice their routines

Mike Pulman Photo

By ROY WILLIAMS
Chanticleer Senior Editor

The Jacksonville State University cheerleaders, who finished second in the nation last year, gathered at Paul Snow Stadium last Thursday afternoon to film their routines to be submitted in the Universal Cheerleading Association's (UCA) 1987 national competition.

The UCA, based in Memphis, Tenn., is currently receiving tapes from colleges throughout the nation, all of which are hoping to be chosen to participate in the competition, Kim Graham and Richey Sims, co-captains of the JSU Cheerleaders, said. The finals will take place in San Diego next January, and will be nationally televised by ESPN. Kim Graham and Richey Sims, co-captains of the JSU cheerleaders, said. Only two Division II schools will be selected.

"We've been practicing on our routines for over three weeks. We'll be notified within a few weeks of the UCA's decision. I feel that with the experience of last year, we have a great chance," Graham said.

Kay Caldwell, sponsor of the cheerleaders, said that leadership the group has received from their captains and the number of experienced members they have will enable them to be successful.

"They have a positive attitude and have put an awful lot of work into it," she said.

"I feel we have a lot of potential. But whether we make the national competition or not, we're going to enjoy ourselves and have a good time," Sims said.

Rains named to 'Outstanding Young Men of America'

By ROY WILLIAMS
Chanticleer Senior Editor

Tommy Rains, a 26-year-old senior from Geraldine, was recently chosen to appear in the 1986 volume of Outstanding Young Men of America.

This award, which recognizes young men throughout the nation who exhibit professional achievement, superior leadership ability and service to the community, is bestowed upon less than two percent of all eligible young Americans.

Rains, who was nominated by Dr. Ivy Mallisham, former CDCS counselor, says he felt very flattered when he received his award certificate a few weeks ago.

"I really didn't think I had much of a chance. I was quite surprised. I'd like to thank Dr. Mallisham for having such a positive impact on me and all the other students she was in contact with on campus," Rains said.

A secondary education major, Rains is actively involved in the Student Government Association. He serves as an SGA senator and is an RA in Crowe Hall. He is also a staff sergeant in the Air Force Reserve, doing active duty in Bessemer. In his spare time, Rains enjoys photography and raises a herd of 24 goats on his hometown farm.

Upon graduating, Rains is unsure whether he will go directly into the teaching field or pursue a master's. No matter what he decides, Rains says he will use his award to inspire his students.

"I'm very proud of this award," he said.

Rains

BCM

(Continued From Page 2)

lightening. Everyone seemed to enjoy it, and there was good interaction between the BCM students and the international students," Thrower said.

The International Emphasis Night is one of several activities the BCM holds to promote Christ and meet the spiritual needs on campus, Ford said. Beginning on Tuesday, Nov. 18, the BCM will begin their annual observance of ADVENT, a traditional celebration of the coming of Christ. Special activities will take place on Tuesday nights for a four-week period, Ford said.

After Christmas, for the week of Dec. 27 to Jan. 4, several BCM students will make a mission trip to Gary, Indiana. The trip, called SPOTS (Special Projects Other Than College), is similar to the BCM's summer missionary program, Ford said.

"The BCM welcomes students of all denominations to come by for guidance or spiritual uplift," Thrower said.

For more information about the BCM, contact Rev. Bob Ford, campus minister, at 435-7020.

Mulder

(Continued From Page 1)

extra revenue from book sales. The bulk of it comes from the Sociology Club."

Scholarship winner Payne is a junior, a member of Phi Eta Sigma, and the sociology club. She is a sociology major and a social work minor, and has been employed at St. Clair Medical Center since 1982.

"I chose sociology because I enjoy learning about people, including myself. I plan to pursue a career in working with children who have mental disabilities. I plan to continue my education in graduate school in the field of Child Psychology," Payne said.

For more information about the sociology scholarship, contact the sociology department at extension 4343.

DOOR PRIZES

PARTY TONIGHT

8-12

Leone Cole Auditorium
Admission: 2 cans of food or $1.00

Fall Harvest For The Hungry

Talent Show
Disc Jockey-Jerry Johnson
Door Prizes from area merchants and cooks

DOOR PRIZES

Sponsored by the
Wesley Foundation
Jacksonville State University

DOOR PRIZES

Layaway Now For Christmas

 DIAMOND Earrings 1/4 CT. SALE $149	 GENTS' DIAMOND AND ONYX INITIAL Ring NOW $129
GENUINE RUBIES AND DIAMONDS AVAILABLE IN SAPPHIRES NOW $99 	7 DIAMOND TULIP Ring SALE $99

435-4076

Griffins JEWELERS
Pelham Plaza, Jacksonville

Save On All Your Diamond Needs!

- MasterCard •Visa
- American Express
- Layaway And
- Griffin's Charge

Taladega, Pell City and Sylvauga
Serving Alabama For Over 35 Years
Open 9 To 5 Monday Thru Saturday

5 Locations To Serve You

PROPOSED EXTERIOR RESIDENCE HALLS IMPROVEMENTS DIXON HALL JACKSONVILLE STATE UNIVERSITY

Chris Miller Photo

PROPOSED EXTERIOR RESIDENCE HALLS IMPROVEMENTS DIXON HALL JACKSONVILLE STATE UNIVERSITY

Chris Miller Photo

Architectural drawings of Curtiss Hall, left, and Dixon Hall, right.

Curtiss and Dixon Halls to look 'more traditional'

By ROY WILLIAMS
Chanticleer Senior Editor

Curtiss and Dixon Halls, due to be closed for renovation at the beginning of January, will be sporting a "more traditional look" once reconstruction is completed in August of 1987, Julian Jenkins, the Anniston architect behind the project, said.

Besides interior work which will include the removal of asbestos, upgrading of the bathrooms, and the addition of new lighting, carpeting and wallpaper, the exterior of both Curtiss and Dixon are being reworked to look more like other buildings on campus.

"When complete, they'll be virtually new buildings. We're changing to more energy efficient windows, doing new roofing and bringing the dorms up to compliance with existing codes," Jenkins said.

The roofing of both Curtiss and Dixon, which are currently flat, will be changed to traditional pitched roof overstructures, he said. In addition, the stairway in Dixon Hall will be rebuilt and closed in.

Phase two of the dorm renovation project will involve Crowe and Weatherly Halls.

"Construction on Weatherly and Crowe should begin after the students vacate after the spring semester. The dorms should be ready to reopen in December of '87.

I can't project what the University will do about the other dormitories after that; it depends on what funds are available," Jenkins said.

Residents express displeasure over dorm closings

By LAVONDA WATERS
Chanticleer Staff Writer

Students of Curtiss and Dixon have been asked to find new homes in the spring as a result of the two dorms closing at the end of this semester for renovations. What is the students' reaction to the change?

A survey was taken at the two dorms with approximately one hundred residents in Dixon and Curtiss questioned. Among some of the questions asked were:

What did you think about moving?

In Dixon about 60 percent did not mind moving. One student who did not wish to be named, stated "I really like Dixon and I don't really want to move, but it's good for the school." Over 75 percent of the residents questioned in Curtiss did not want to move.

Djuana Long, a senior residing in Curtiss angrily said, "It's a bunch of bull. I've been living in the same dorm for four years and now I've got to pack up and leave. They could've waited until the summer."

"we will be shoved in on others dorms like strays," stated Felicia

Braxton.

Were the students given enough time to plan for new living quarters?

In Dixon, 80 percent didn't mind since they were getting first choice of other dorms. In Curtiss, over half the residents thought they should have been informed as soon as school started this semester.

Three resident assistants in Curtiss said they should have been told at least a little earlier than the other students.

One said she was afraid she might not be able to get another job and be forced to leave school.

One student stated that the confusion caused by dorms closing has resulted in many students moving out of the dorms and into apartments.

Announcements

(Continued From Page 2)

museum lobby. There will be gifts for all ages, all custom made by artists representing a wide spectrum of mediums. For information call Pam Love at 237-6766

•The Physical Education Club will sponsor Jump Rope for Heart on November 21, from 7-9 p.m. at Pete Matthews Coliseum. Everyone is encouraged to participate

•JSU Info Line has a list of Agencies providing holiday help. If you need assistance or would like to help someone else. We can tell you how. For more information on these positions and others please call the volunteer center at 237-1800 (A United Way Agency)

•Sigma Tau Delta, the English Honor Society, will meet at 6:15 PM November 17, on the third floor of TMB. All members are asked to attend the meeting, and stay afterwards for yearbook pictures

New Car Blues?

If you are graduating & have a job lined up, we can help. Call Terry or Andy @ 236-4444. Bennett Pontiac, 420 S. Quin. Anniston, AL 36201

In the late 1500's, fashionable ladies decorated their hairstyles with daggers.

If you revel in the Bolero, you might like to know this Spanish dance is named for the man who devised the steps: Senior Bolero.

AIM HIGH

ATTENTION BSN CLASS OF 1987.

The Air Force has a special program for 1987 BSNs. If selected, you can enter active duty soon after graduation - without waiting for the results of your State Boards. To qualify, you must have an overall "B" average. After commissioning, you'll attend a five-month internship at a major Air Force medical facility. It's an excellent way to prepare for the wide range of experiences you'll have serving your country as an Air Force nurse officer. For more information, call

TSgt John Briggs
(205) 838-1115

JACKSONVILLE HOSPITAL
WELCOMES

CAROL ARMON, M.D.
OBSTETRICS/GYNECOLOGY

Dr. Armon has recently joined our excellent obstetrics staff is seeing new patients and expectant mothers in her current offices located on the 2nd floor of Jacksonville Hospital.

For appointments, call 435-1122

Accounting department offers prints for sale

BY STEVEN ROBINSON
Chanticleer Senior Editor

The JSU Accounting Department is now making available a limited number of prints of Merrill Building and Bibb Graves Hall. The prints, done by Marvin Shaw, assistant professor of art, will be available to all students, faculty, staff and alumni for the price of $1 per print.

Approximately 400 prints of each building are now available. The first editions of each print will be numbered.

According to Parker Granger, Professor of Accounting, these prints are the first two in a series which the Department plans to offer each year. Possibilities for next year include Houston Cole Library, Mason Hall and the President's Home.

The idea of prints originated when the Accounting Department came up with the idea in order to solicit donations from accounting alumni. Free prints were sent out to all alumni.

All profits from the sale of the prints will go to cover printing and mailing costs.

The prints may be purchased from the Department of Accounting, Merrill Building, Jacksonville State University, Jacksonville Alabama 36265. They may be purchased either by mail or in person. Accounting faculty offices are Rooms 210, 211, 212, 213 and 205 Merrill.

1987- 2nd in the series

1986- 1st in the series

Florida college students 'bugged out' over annual race

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. — Don't fumigate the dorm! Turn your insect dilemma into improved campus morale! Save your roaches and perhaps they can run in the next Great American Bug Race!

The fourth annual critter contest was Wednesday, October 22 at 4:00 p.m. on the Palm Beach Atlantic College campus.

The Great American Bug Race was sponsored by PBAC'S Science Club. Proceeds from the event were to be used to bring guest lecturers to campus. (At least the weirdness was for a worthy cause.)

This year's race at Orthoptera Downs was the first open to international contestants. You could pit your pest against some of the finest insects in the world for an entry fee of $3.00. If you couldn't make it to

West Palm Beach for the fall classic, you could have sent the fee and gotten a fleet-footed bug in the starting line anyway. For $10.00 you could have gotten the bug and a semi-beautiful commemorative race t-shirt. (This included the $3.00 entry fee, postage and handling.) An 8 X 10 full-color portrait of your prized pet was also available at a very unreasonable cost.

Some important rules were followed by all contestants:

No steroids were permitted. Dr. Ray Waldner, founder of the race, says, "If we catch a bug walking around looking glassy eyed, he's out!" The school encouraged clean, honest, hard training for all entrants. We suggest the trainers teach contestants to "just say 'no.'"

Bugs were required to cross the finish line on foot. No hopping or flying was allowed.

For the faint-hearted in the audience, arachnids (scorpions, spiders, etc.) and crustaceans (crabs, lobsters, etc.), and other potentially dangerous bugs were banned from entry.

In the past year the race gained international attention with a feature appearing in Campus Life magazine and race reports carried on Australian radio. The winning bug for the 1986 race was assured of national recognition.

For even more exciting information and a complete list of contest rules for next year, write to The Great American Bug Race, Palm Beach Atlantic College, 1101 South Olive Ave., West Palm Beach, Florida 33401, or call (305) 833-8592.

SPICY-FRIED SAVINGS

2-PIECE CHICKEN DINNER

NOW ONLY $1.99

Two pieces of Jack's golden spicy fried chicken, french fries, cole slaw and a fresh-baked buttermilk biscuit.

Please present coupon when ordering. One coupon per person per visit. Not valid with any other coupon or special card

Jacksonville, Anniston, Lenlock
Expires: 12/14/86

2-PIECE CHICKEN DINNER

NOW ONLY $1.99

Two pieces of Jack's golden spicy fried chicken, french fries, cole slaw and a fresh-baked buttermilk biscuit.

Please present coupon when ordering. One coupon per person per visit. Not valid with any other coupon or special card

Jacksonville, Anniston, Lenlock
Expires: 12/14/86

The Chanticleer

Jacksonville State University • Jacksonville, Ala. 32217

Vicky Wallace

Editor-in-Chief

Scott Booser

Advertising Manager

Susan Smith, Secretary-Typist

Section Editors:

Roy Williams, News; Steven Robinson, Features; Tzena Gibbs, Campus Life/Entertainment, and Thomas Ballenger, Sports.

Photographers:

Chris Miller, Forlpa Koriewala, Mike Putman

Staff Writers:

Marlo George, Georgia Brown, Wendy Peacock, Leigh Nabors, David Smith, Lavonda Waters, Grover Kitchens, Cathy Abernathy, Cindi Owens, Bobbie Jean Chaney, Kay Robinson, Mike Douglass.

A nation that is afraid to let its people judge truth and falsehood in an open market is a nation that is afraid of its people.

—John F. Kennedy

DR. JERRY GILBERT

Political Science Dept. Head

"I think he's the exact type of citizen we should be electing to high office. He is bright, informed and capable."

What do you think about Browder's winning his bid for Alabama Secretary of State?

DIANE MARSHALL

SGA Secretary

"I think it speaks well of our country, JSU and our community that a man of his caliber be selected to represent us."

DR. CLYDE COX

English Dept. Head

"Glen Browder is steady and stable. He knows when to fight and when to compromise. And he cares about education. We're lucky to have him in Montgomery."

Something To Think About Impulsive action has its consequences

You are sleeping peacefully late at night. Suddenly, you awaken to discover a burglar is in your home. What do you do? Stay in your bed in hopes that he'll go away without taking something too valuable? Or do you reach for the pistol hidden underneath your bed and try to defend yourself and your property? What if the result ends in the death of the would-be thief? Is deadly force permissible in defense of property? According to a case in Miami, the answer is YES.

Prentice Rasheed, 43-year-old Miami storeowner, has become something of a national hero since last month when a booby trap in his store killed a would-be thief. He told a grand jury that he thought his trap, which consisted of a pair of metal grates attached to an outlet by an extension cord, would only jolt an intruder, not kill him.

His testimony apparently satisfied the grand jury in Dade County, who found him innocent of a manslaughter charge because they believed he had acted without the intent to kill. Interesting to note was this comment, which the jury added to its decision: Negligent or intentional killing solely to protect property should never be tolerated.

Vicky Wallace

Editor-in-Chief

This decision was so popular that Rasheed has received an outpouring of public support. That's fine and well. He defended himself. But to have a death on my conscience is something I couldn't handle.

The one thing I didn't like in this particular case was the fact that Rasheed said he set the trap not knowing "the first thing about electrical wiring." If you plan to set a trap for burglars, at least know the mechanics of how the thing works or let someone do it who knows what they're doing.

Of course, the storeowner "got his man," but at what cost? He might as well have pointed a gun at the culprit and fired it at point blank range. It all amounts to the same result. What if the supposed thief had been a child, a police officer, fireman or anyone who happened to wander into the store?

The above case is not the only one concerning crime victims who fight back:

*Two weeks ago, an Oak Park, Illinois jury acquitted a frequently robbed gas station owner after he used a pistol to shoot at armed thieves as they fled.

*Earlier this year, a New York City judge dismissed weapon-possession charges against a subway clerk who killed a mugger with an unlicensed gun.

*Colorado's "make my day" law has produced cases that so greatly stretch the home-under-siege situation that one might say, "Any crime committed in a home is almost impossible to prosecute these days." Just a few years ago, this statement was just the opposite.

As a result of the Miami jury's decision, a Florida legislator is in the process of sponsoring a law that will allow businesses to use potentially deadly devices to protect property, if they report them to police and fire departments to protect their property. If this becomes a reality, look for gun prices to rise. If they permit businesses to do it, then college students - particularly female students - should be permitted to carry pistols, sawed-off shotguns and machine guns while walking alone at night or within their dorm rooms. Many roommates would be shot by mistake and on purpose because the weapon is easily obtainable - in a purse or coat pocket, for instance.

I'm not saying it's wrong to defend your property or your family, because these are the most important things in my life too. Before taking the life of another human being, even in defense, we must take into consideration the consequences of that impulsive action.

Browder leaves JSU, authors book

CYNDI OWENS

Chanticleer Staff Writer

Dr. Glen Browder, a professor in the political science department, has successfully won his bid for Alabama Secretary of State. This is a step forward for Browder, but it also means that, effective January 19, 1987, he will be leaving Jacksonville State University. He and his family will be moving to Montgomery soon, and Browder will begin a one-year leave of absence without pay from the University.

Browder said that he will work with current Secretary of State Don Siegleman to familiarize himself with the operation. After assuming office, he will form a committee to study the state's election laws. The committee will revise and update the laws, and then present them to the legislature. This will take up most of his term. The process will be lengthy in order to insure that the laws will be sound and fair.

Aside from his political responsibilities, Browder also has a textbook that is due out soon. The textbook, titled Civics and Law, was co-authored by Jesse Brown, a JSU alumni. The book is designed for eighth grade high school students and focuses more on Alabama's government than other books. The book is in the process of being revised, and will go before the textbook committee. If it is approved for classroom use, it will be available for use in the fall.

Browder declined to directly comment on the results of the recent election, but would say that he felt that he would be able to work with the incoming administration.

Browder has been involved in state politics for eight to ten years and has been a state legislator for four years.

Browder hopes to help bring some attention to JSU.

"As a friend of JSU, I can help promote it with the people of Alabama," he said.

"I'd like to thank my colleagues here at JSU, and my students over the past 15 years. It's been a good experience for me. I think the University community is a challenging place, and it forces you to really think about your life and your community," he concluded.

Letters to the editor

University should treat students as priority

Dear Editor:

I was pleased by the selection of Dr. McGee as the new president of Jacksonville State University (JSU). I felt, as did many others, that it was time for "new blood" in that position. Time for new ideas after years of internal promotion to president.

I hope that Dr. McGee doesn't forget, in his efforts to institute new ideas, that the students are the most important asset of JSU. The report in the Anniston Star of Dr. McGee being installed as president indicated that he has a great interest in assisting the area in economic development. There was much in the article on this subject. There was little or nothing in the article on ideas to improve the treatment of students, and expansion of available programs and courses. In fact courses available, especially in graduate programs, are being reduced. The political science department and College of Criminal Justice are examples of this.

Another article in the Anniston Star comments on JSU dropping gymnastics. I agree completely with what Mr. Goldberg has to say in this article. This has been a program that contributed to a good reputation for JSU and I would expect has been an asset to the recruitment of students, because it has made the University better known in general, and also known specifically as a University that was interested in and could achieve excellence.

I believe that there is no excuse for the poor treatment of the gymnasts themselves. I hope that this is not an indication of the treatment that will be accorded the general student population in Dr. McGee's administration.

Since one of the reasons the University dropped gymnastics was

Letter increases air of racial disharmony

Dear Editor,

This letter is in response to a letter to the editor which appeared in The Chanticleer on November 6 by Debbie Reaves. In it she questioned the motives of the minorities on campus who voted for Elaina Riley for Homecoming Queen.

It seems to me that Miss Reaves comments only serve to increase the air of racial disharmony on campus. Why make unnecessary comments when all they do is get people upset? It is exactly this type of reactionary mentality that keeps America laboring under the yoke of hypocrisy, racism and divisive derision.

Everyone knows that any kind of contest is no more than a political game anyway. Whoever gets the most votes wins the contest. It's democratic. It is the American way.

Guy Hunt won by a virtual landslide over Bill Baxley but is anyone saying "poor boy" Guy, he was only used to prove a point? Of course not. The intention of most people who voted for Hunt was to try to make a statement about what they thought was dirty politics by Baxley and the state Democratic party. The in-supposed to be to save money. I can't help but wonder how much Dr. McGee's inauguration ceremony cost the University.

Sincerely,
Randolph Blake,
Anniston, Alabama

attention of most people who voted for Elaina Riley was to show togetherness among the Black campus population. Is there something wrong with this? Greek organizations do this all the time. Political parties do this all the time.

The problem is that whenever Black people are involved in something that has any potential for being controversial there will always be someone who will try to attach a racial stigma to it. This only adds fuel to the fire of misunderstanding and strained relations between races.

I know Elaina Riley and I have found her to be a sensible and level-headed young woman (she is no more a girl than I am a boy), who should be a good representative of our campus.

Finally, let me say that college is supposed to be a learning experience. If people spent more time trying to understand and get along with each other then their four years would be not only an exercise in academics but an experience in life.

Larry A. Moore
Secretary of Public Relations,
Afro-American Association

Guy Hunt: Small town farmer takes on governorship

(Editor's note: The following background information was supplied courtesy of The Anniston Star.)

The November 4 election is finally over and Guy Hunt, a Republican, won the bid to the governorship. With this year's governor's campaign consisting primarily of mudslinging, many voters are confused because they do not know honestly where either Bill Baxley or Guy Hunt stood on issues. Who is Guy Hunt? Where are his plans during his years in office?

Background

Hunt's upbringing was a rural one, and everyone in the family was expected to pitch in with the chores on the 155-acre family farm in Holly Pond, Al.

Even though his family could not afford to send him to college, Hunt had several scholarship offers, including one from the University of Alabama. He investigated the prospects of working his way through school but instead decided to enlist in the Army, which was in the midst of fighting the Korean War.

By the time his service time ended, his first of four children had arrived. The daughter, Pam, now 32, was born retarded. She lives with the Hunts near Holly Pond.

Hunt returned home with thoughts of attending college on the GI Bill, but with a family to support he abandoned the idea and went to work farming with his father.

It was a lean but happy life, and there were other things to occupy him. By the mid-1950's, he had followed his father and taken up preaching in neighborhood Primitive Baptist churches, a weekly activity that he still pursues. His start in politics

Politics also were in the offing, and Hunt long had had an allegiance to the Republican Party. His father had been a GOP devotee in a county that was dominated by Democrats.

In 1962, Hunt ran as a Republican for a state Senate seat that covered Cullman and Winston counties. He lost by about 1,000 votes. Two years later, however, the story was different.

Hunt ran for probate judge of Cullman County and defeated the incumbent, Graf Hart, receiving 51 percent of the ballots cast and winning by 270 votes. His election was attributed by most to his own clean-image popularity, not to mention a growing anti-Democratic reaction to federal civil rights legislation being pushed by President Lyndon Johnson, who ran that year against Republican presidential nominee Barry Goldwater.

Estes refers the local Republican successes in 1984 as the "Goldwater slip."

In any event, Hunt was Cullman County's first Republican probate judge since 1940, and the GOP captured the chairmanship of the County Commission, too, the first time that had happened in recent memory.

In 1970, Hunt was re-elected, though by an even narrower margin. With 50.3 percent of vote, he won by 89 votes out of 16,359 ballots cast.

His stand on issues

Generally, Hunt's conservatism makes him more similar to Gradick than Baxley. On specific issues, however, Hunt insists he sometimes differs and sometimes agrees with both candidates. Taxes "I think we're in danger when the first thing a person thinks about is raising taxes. I'm totally opposed to raising taxes," Hunt said.

Hunt said he expected tourism and economic development to increase tax revenue. If budget problems persist, Hunt said he would favor budget cuts. Hunt would not single out any particular programs that might be cut, but he said legislative expenses and appropriations for "pork barrel" projects were too high.

Hunt favors: "restraints on revenue raising" he said new expenditures - especially for education - should come from local governments rather than the legislature. He opposes any repeal of the lid bill and said no local government with the additional revenue to pay for the increase.

Hunt said he would consider lowering the state sales tax, especially to give the elderly some relief. He said he also favored repeal of the utility tax. Any tax cuts, however, would have to be considered in the wake of further cuts in federal spending.

Education

Current proposals for teacher merit pay are too expensive and will never be implemented. In particular, Hunt opposes the proposal to establish a committee for evaluating teachers for merit pay.

"True merit pay should be according to the judgement of those who supervise the teachers. I would not approve of a committee dominated by AEA or Paul Hubbert," Hunt said.

"If we come up with an evaluation system which would find a way to reward the top five percent of the teachers, then I think it should be done. But I don't think that the plan we have now will do it," he said.

On another issue, Hunt said he favors testing of teachers coming into the public schools but opposes testing of teachers already in the system.

"I think if we've got some bad teachers in the system, we should think about firing some principals who hired them," he said.

Economic development

Hunt said he would consolidate the Alabama Development office and the Alabama Department of Economic and Community Affairs to form one agency for bring in industry and helping existing industry expand. In addition he would break the state into ten geographical areas and appoint a representative from each area to act as an advocate before the development office. The enlarged office should report to the governor.

Religious Issues

As an elder who preaches in Primitive Baptist churches, Hunt is a fundamentalist. He favors school prayer and strongly opposes abortion. He said secular humanism is a religion.

Hunt

Hunt said schools have become too secular, and he favors some adjustment of school textbooks. For example, creationism - the Biblical view of creation - should be taught alongside Darwin's theory of evolution.

Hunt also opposes a state lottery. He said a lottery would prey on poor people and promote gambling and organized crime.

"We need industrial growth to give us true wealth," he said.

Students react to Hunt as new Republican governor

FELICIA SIGLER

Senior Communications Major

"Alabama is in a bad state now and we need someone to bring about a change. He can't do any worse than some of our past governors, so I'm looking for some positive input from him. It doesn't matter to me that he is Republican."

SALLA PIRHONEN

Mimosa Associate Editor

"I thought the whole campaign - everybody fighting - was undignified. In Finland, candidates can't say anything about the other person. You can only comment on his party platform."

RANDY GRAVITT

Senior Recreations Major

"These Alabama politicians should get together with Richard Dawson and start a new game show."

JAN RIDER

Freshman Education Major

"I think it is a shame the Democrats shouldn't have handled it in a more mature way, and I am glad we have a Republican governor."

GARY EVANS

Junior Arts Major

"I don't know much about either of the candidates, but because of the mudslinging on the Democratic side, I was very happy with the turnout."

JERRY JACKSON

Junior Management Major

"I think we'll definitely see new changes, whether they are for the better or worse. Maybe having a Republican governor will bring new industry to Alabama and provide a possibility for the state to move forward."

Other student opinions expressed

"I'm glad Guy Hunt won because we need a change and a two-party system in this state." -Terry Bowen

"I personally think he was the lesser of two evils. I would rather have voted 'none of the above.'" - Tony Richie

"I voted for Guy Hunt because I favored his policies over those of Bill Baxley." -Penny Lahner t

"If he can get the job done and represent all of the people in Alabama - not just the Republicans - he'll be okay." -Keith Moore

"It does not matter. I am not saying that Hunt is the best man, and I am not saying that Baxley is the best man. The party is not important, the candidate is." -Debbie Bishop

"It doesn't matter to me that he is Republican. Maybe things will get better under his leadership." - Rodney Neal

"I think some people are going to resent him being governor, and with good reason. He is not qualified for the position. I believe he's going to fall flat on his back." -Rod Hayes

WHUP TROY

Two words tell it all

37 - 6 loss spurred the rivalry to its present form

By THOMAS BALLENGER
Chanticleer Senior Editor

"Whup Troy"

That cheer was the result of a bus trip back from Troy during the 1969 season. Then JSU head coach Charley Pell had just suffered a 37-6 loss to the Trojans of Troy, a game in which Pell thought the score had been run up on his team.

The 1969 season was the first season as JSU coach for Pell, and the team only posted a 3-6 record that year, but a rivalry was started that continues to this day.

The story goes that Pell told his players to get their heads up. He also told them that when Troy State came to Jacksonville State the next year, that the Trojans would go home with their butts whipped.

Something else that is interesting is that in the 1967-68 JSU-TSU contests, the Trojans had recorded two shutouts against the Gamecocks. The combined score of the two blankings was 77-0.

Something had to be done to shake up the Gamecocks fortunes against Troy State, and Pell did just that.

When the Trojans rolled into Jacksonville in 1970, the Gamecocks were ready. No prisoners were taken, but the Gamecocks went over, around, and through the Trojans by the score of 55-10. Pell had been a man of his word, the Trojans went back to Troy with more than their pride hurting.

The 1970 game marked the true start of this great rivalry, as both schools had reason to dislike the other. The 1970 season also ushered JSU into the big time of small-college football, as the 1970 team compiled a perfect 10-0 record.

The all-time series between Jacksonville State and Troy State stands at 29-19-2, in favor of the Gamecocks

The first game between the two schools was in 1924, and the then Eagle Owls triumphed by a score of 14-9.

However, starting in 1931, it was nine games before JSU defeated the Trojans, but in 1947, the Gamecocks of Don Salls beat Troy State 14-0, to end an eight game non-winning streak against TSU. Salls' teams had a record of 15-3 against Troy

State, and several lopsided wins were recorded during this time. The last eleven times that Salls coached against Troy, the Gamecocks won. This is still the longest winning streak in the long series between the two schools. After the 1966 meeting, Jax State held a 20-10-1 advantage over Troy State. Since that time the series has been split, nine wins and one tie for each school.

In the eighties, the series is tied 3-3. Jax State won the first three games of this decade, and the Trojans have countered by claiming the last three contests.

Troy State Trojans invade JSU

David Coffey hopes to lead the Gamecocks to victory.

Vinh Rucker Photo

Pat White adds new dimension to team.

Shawn Massey hopes to run wild against Troy.

Vinh Rucker Photo

Keith McKeller leads the team in receiving.

Support the Gamecocks, let's 'WHUP TROY'

***Features***

Marshall makes her mark at SGA

BY WENDY PEACOCK and STEVEN ROBINSON

She is known as "Mama D" to some of the students, but many know her by the warm smiles she gave to everyone at the business office window. Her easy, outgoing personality and talent for conversation make her instantly likeable.

Mama D, whose real name is Diane Marshall has worked for the business office for the past seven years, and last September was named assistant to the executive officers of the Student Government Association.

At the Business Office, Marshall was Supervisor of Accounts Receivable. It was her duty to receipt all revenue coming in to the University.

Her job at the SGA Office is to "mind the store" which involves serving as secretary and making sure all goes as planned during various SGA activities and functions.

"Every day is different. No two days are the same and the opportunity to serve in many capacities makes my job very enjoyable," Marshall said.

Working for the SGA has given her the opportunity to branch out and expand her skills beyond book-keeping, accounting and clerical functions.

She also serves as a confidante and counselor to students, faculty and administration alike. She's like our mother, SGA president Vonda Barbour said.

A dedicated Christian, Marshall is an active member in Daily Street Baptist Church in Piedmont. She has attended services there for the past 39 years. She is a Sunday School teacher and has served as church pianist for the past 25 years. She is a firm believer in the power of prayer and commitment to a Christian lifestyle.

Marshall said that she loved her job at the business office, but felt like God wanted her to have the SGA job.

"I really felt like God led me into this job," she commented.

A Piedmont native, she is the mother of three children. They are: Jason, age 15; Heather, age 13; and Audrey, age 11. Her husband, Joe, is an inspector at the Anniston Army Depot.

During her lunch hour, Marshall attends class. She is taking an English class because she feels it will help her on her job.

"What comes out of this office is PR (public relations) for the University, and I want it to be the best," she said.

Marshall is an Occupational Technology major, but at present is not actively pursuing her degree. She said she was taking classes mostly because she enjoyed it.

Because the SGA offered a tangible relationship with the students and a great amount of input into the school, Marshall was glad to be named to the position.

Diane Marshall lends a helping hand.

"I like counseling the students and people in general, which makes me feel like I'm helping in many ways. I love working with the students because they are of the utmost importance. Without them the employees wouldn't have a job - and I love my job," Marshall said.

JSU holds concert to benefit Special Olympics

By GEORGIA BROWN
Chanticleer Staff Writer

The JSU Dance Company and Percussion Ensemble will hold a joint concert next Wednesday night, November 19, to benefit the Special Olympics.

The Dance Company, directed by Peggy Roswal, includes a core of six dancers and is augmented by members of Roswal's dance classes. Performances will range from ballet to modern dance. Roswal states that the company has been preparing for the evening's events since the first week of the semester. Although the students in the JSU Dance Company do not plan to study dance as a career, they spend many hours in classes and rehearsal - some for no credit at all.

"The people who are dancing here range from beginners to those who have studied dance for years. Most of all, they dance for pleasure. It is an integral part of their lives. We have majors in nursing, sociology, and education, to name a few. For most of the performers, dance is part of the overall philosophy they have about keeping fit and expressing themselves aesthetically at the same time," said Roswal.

Two of the company members have traveled quite a distance to arrive at JSU:

Noriei Cabazon from Santiago, Chile, and Sophie Bouhet from Paris, France. These two women are members of the JSU International House community. Cabazon is here in Alabama to increase her knowledge of English and will return to Chile after this year with a promise of employment.

Bouhet also came to the United States to polish her English skills before returning to graduate from a French university. She will be seen performing a duet with her partner, Rachel Emanuel. Bouhet and Emanuel, both experienced dancers, have worked together to choreograph their number.

In fact, Roswal emphasizes that the production is choreographed almost entirely by members of her company.

"The whole idea behind dance at JSU is enjoyment and involvement of the students. The concert is an opportunity for the students to show their talents while benefiting the cause of Special Olympics."

Percussion Ensemble, directed by G. Tracy Tyler, will accompany some of the dance numbers as well as perform several of their own selections. This will include a piece with Latin flavor, RITMICA Number Five, an oriental extravaganza, WINDING RIVER, the opening number entitled AFRICAN WELCOME. In addition to the JSU Dance Company and Percussion Ensemble, the Chamber Singers, directed by Dr. Richard Armstrong, will appear as special guests in the AFRICAN WELCOME.

Although the dancing will certainly be an enticing part of the program, the Percussion Ensemble

"The people who are dancing here range from beginners to those who have studied dance for years. Most of all, they dance for pleasure. It is an integral part of their lives..."

— Peggy Roswal

is guaranteed to have a few tricks up its sleeve too. Anyone who has seen the ensemble perform in the past will remember the variety and quality of this group. A versatile pack of musicians, the JSU Percussion Ensemble has the ability to do anything from light and jazzy to more cerebral, serious percussion pieces, like the SWORDS OF MODALING number. Without a doubt, there will be a smorgasbord of music and dance offering something almost everyone might be anxious to experience.

Of course, the performers involved are excited about the prospect of an opportunity to show artistic talent. But the most important aspect of the evening will be the benefit for the Special Olympics. There will be no charge for the concert, but patrons will be encouraged to donate to the Special Olympics at the door. The joint concert will be held in the Mason Hall Performance Center at 7:30 Wednesday, November 19th.

Development Center gives aid to area businesses

Pat Shaddix, director of SBDC

BY STEVEN ROBINSON
Chanticleer Senior Editor

The JSU Small Business Development Center, a part of the College of Commerce and Business Administration, offers services for seven Northeast Alabama counties - Calhoun, Cherokee, Cleburne, Dekalb, Etowah, Talladega, and St. Clair.

The SBDC belongs to the Alabama Small Business Consortium headquartered in Birmingham. It involves 12 universities within the state.

Pat Shaddix, the first full-time director of the center, is excited and optimistic about the program.

"We're always in the top two or three (programs) in the state as far as production. We do twice as much business as the Auburn and Alabama programs combined," Shaddix said.

The SBDC has grown from 23 cases in 1982 to 650 cases last year, according to Shaddix.

The Center provides assistance to local businessmen in the areas of management problems, continuing education and research.

In management, small businesses and businesses just starting out are provided professional advice as well as assistance in the different aspects of administering and managing a small business. There is no cost for consultation.

The continuing education aspect includes providing on-going series of workshops for small businesses. Workshops are held regularly in each county seat in the SBDC coverage area and include such topics as:

- Going into business for yourself
- Financial management
- Marketing management
- Advertising strategy development

On request, the SBDC will help businesses with research or assist in locating economical and efficient means for developing and carrying on a particular research project. Statistical services and up-to-date indexed publications of Small Business Administration are kept in the SBDC library.

Miss Black and Gold crowned

Alpha Phi Alpha held their annual Miss Black and Gold Pageant on November 5 in Leone Cole at 7:00 p.m. Seven candidates vied for the title. They were Cordelia Thomas, Carla Foreman, Tawanda Tolbert, Zenobia Petteway, Mary Jones, Cheryl Bevelle and Lisa McGhee. Cheryl Bevelle is the new Miss Black and Gold 1986-87. Mary Jones was 1st alternate, Tawanda Tolbert was 2nd alternate and Carla Foreman was Miss Congeniality. The contestants competed in casual wear, swimsuit, talent and evening gown. Bevelle will represent Alpha Phi Alpha in the Miss AAA pageant next year.

WHUP TROY!

You may ask what is a
ST. PAULI GIRL?

St. Pauli is a German beer that is rated one of the top beers in the world- We'll be warming up all WHUP TROY weekend with $1.25 St. Pauli. This beer sells for $2 to $3 in Atlanta & Birmingham. Tonite St. Pauli Girl representatives will be at CROSSROADS giving away T-Shirts and Posters after the Pep Rally.

Crossroads

Package
&
Bar
435-7650

ST.
PAULI
GIRL
NITE

WHUP
TROY

WHUP TROY!

While you're at
CROSSROADS
be sure to check our prices
on to-go beer!

So don't be DUMB as a
TROJAN,
COME PARTY with us all
WEEKEND!

$1.25
ST. PAULI GIRL
TONITE!

JSU teachers fill book of poems with feelings, emotions

By CYNDI OWENS

Chanticleer Staff Writer

The Trees Are Mended, the new book of poems by Susan Hall Herport, William Miller, and G. D. Richards, definitely has something for everyone. No matter what your taste in poetry, it is covered in this volume.

The first section, by Herport, is a personal look at life. Many poems are comments on life. Herport seems to be a "people watcher." She has captured many interesting characters for subjects. She also shows a deep appreciation for the beauty of nature, exemplified in her "Gift of a Dead Bird," which is full of rich imagery.

There are those who will be shocked at some of the contents of some poems. "Love That Man Jesus" was definitely a surprise, as was "Sister Mary What'shername Along For The Ride."

Of all of Herport's poems, "In A Stand Of Silver Birch" is the best. She illustrates the power of art by narrating the creation of a scene in the woods. By the end, the reader has a complete picture in mind.

The second section, by William Miller, will likely be the choice by students. His writing is vivid, and college students will relate to it more than the other sections. This is not to say that it is amateurish; it is far from that. However, his writing is not as personal as in the other sections. It is broader based, and should appeal to a larger cross-section of readers.

His "National Geographic Women" is a wonderful piece that will hit very close to home with many readers. Judging from his poems "Bride of Frankenstein" and "Horror Movie," he must be a fan of old movies. He looks inside the monsters and gives them human qualities. His "Bride" has a desire to have a new husband and children. His "Biography" is the best poem in the book.

The final section, by Dr. George Richards, seems at first glance to be for the more mature tastes in poetry. However, on reading them again, they are fascinating on many levels. Even the reader with the simplest tastes can identify with the pictures drawn by the poems. "This Love of Mine" tells about an appreciation of things in which others may not see the beauty. "The Starling Poem" is a beautiful, long poem in which the starlings are used to show people's relationships with each other.

It is hard to pick one poem that might outshine the others. However, "I Write This" had the greatest effect. The rich pictures drawn are breathtaking, and a bit sad.

Throughout the section, Richards uses images that all are familiar with. He speaks of farm machinery, mountain streams, railroad cars, and a variety of animals. Reading this section leaves one with a peaceful feeling that there is some beauty left in this world.

This eclectic collection is a must for everyone's library. Do yourself a favor and pick up a copy soon.

Musically Speaking

By RICH DANIEL

92J Program Director

Another busy week musically. Taking over the number one spot is Boston with "Amanda." Bon Jovi slips to number two but still pulling strong requests. The rest of the top ten . . . Cameo, Cetera-Grant, Human League, Madonna, Eddie Money, Ric Ocasek, Til Tuesday, and Lionel Richie closes out the Top Ten.

Additions this week are Janet Jackson's new single "Control," Paul Young "Some People," Talking Heads "Wild, Wild Life," Glass Tiger "Someday," The Steve Miller Band "I Want to Make the World Go Around," Kool and the Gang "Victory," and The Pointer Sisters, "Gold Mine." Number one requests among teens are Cameo "Word Up" with Boston taking number one honors in the adult category.

New L.P.s are John Lennon "Men Love Ave.," Kansas "Power," Freddie Jackson "Just Like the First Time," Commodores "United," and British bombshell Samantha Fox with her first single from "Touch Me." This one will be HOT!

Rock News! three appears to be Boston's lucky number! Their third album Rocketed to Number one in its third week on Billboard's charts. Rita Coolidge has left her job as a V.J. (Video Jock) on VH-1 after commuting back and forth from her home in California to the studios in New York for a year and a half. Kool and the Gang will release their latest L.P. effort later this month with "Forever." Eric Clapton has a new album on the way out entitled "August." Due out in February is a new album from Tom Petty and the Heartbreakers.

The feature artist this week is Timbuk 3 and how they came up with their name. Some mistakenly believe that the name refers to the faithful boom box the husband and wife team use in performance. Pat and Barbara MacDonald explain that their name is actually an allusion to a holy capital of a religion started by a deceased friend concocted a humorous, pseudo religion he called the "Waslamic Faith" and coined the phrase "Waslam is as Islam was." The center of the Islam faith was Timbuk 3. Also they feel that their lucky number is three.

This week's "Get what you pay for Album Pick" is the new Kansas L.P. "Power."

This is it for this week.

Top Ten

- |  |  |
|--|--|
| 1. Amanda - Boston                     | 6. True Blue - Madonna                     |
| 2. You Give Love A Bad Name - Bon Jovi | 7. Take Me Home Tonight - Money            |
| 3. Word Up - Cameo                     | 8. Emotion in Motion - Ric Ocasek          |
| 4. Next Time I Fall - Cetera-Grant     | 9. What About Love - Til Tuesday           |
| 5. Human - Human League                | 10. Dancing on the Ceiling - Lionel Richie |

Picture of a dorm room Misery lives in messiness

By TZENA GIBBS
Chanticleer Senior Editor

The room is total chaos. A frumpled, stained mattress dominates the room, laying stiff against its cold metal frame.

The sheets lie in a pile on either side of the mattress, and a filth-stained blanket is wadded up in a corner.

Dirty bluejeans, underwear and socks are scattered like confetti around the floor, left in the same spot they landed as they were taken off.

A lonely clothes basket sits empty on the dresser, blocking dust underneath it. The empty walls contradict the clutter beneath them.

A rusted metal frame book case holds only a few pennies, a dirty sock and an unpaid phone bill.

Beside the clothes basket on the dresser is a lamp without a shade and a shot light bulb in it.

Coat hangers wait in the floor to attack bare feet. The mildewed brown carpet is matted underneath the clothes and begs for sunlight to shine life back into it.

A half-eaten bag of potato chips spills over into the floor, unhealthyness lurking inside the bag.

A broken fan is lying on its side as a reminder of the oppressive heat in this cell of a room. The smell of bug spray, mildew and something yet to be determined, permeates into every inch of the room.

The drab colors intensify the lost desire to keep things clean. Living sloppy makes slob. Order must set in soon or misery will.

The guy who lives here has not always lived like this. This way of life is a reflection of the turmoil and indirection he is feeling inside. He can no longer see past his surroundings for the dust in his eyes.

The two-paned window is the only bright spot in the room and the only hope for a better life outside of the room, but cleanliness can only come from within.

The room is only temporary, just as this lifestyle, until the guy decides to clean up his life and polish his future.

As clothes, bills and responsibilities pile up, so do nerves, tension, guilt and unhappiness.

The more permanent this mess becomes, the more permanent this lifestyle will seem. When there is no view over the clothes pile, there is no view of a better future.

Neil Simon's comedy, "Come Blow Your Horn," opened at An-niston Community Theatre on November 7. The play, which will be ACT's entry in the Festival of American Community Theatre competition in Mobile on November 22 focuses on the comical adventures of two brothers, portrayed by Greg Spoon and Lee Pope, and their struggle to achieve independence in the adult world. Other cast members include Bob Noll and Lucille Bodenheimer as the parents, and Kim Gould, Tara Bennett and Sandra Brown. Seen at rehearsal here are Spoon and Bodenheimer. Performances will be Nov. 7, 8, 14 and 15 at 8 p.m., and November 9 and 16 at 2 p.m. For ticket information and reservations call 236-8342. Tickets are $7 for adults and $5 for students.

Club News Club News Club News Club News

Phi Mu

Tomorrow night is Phi Mu's annual Cow Pasture Ball. The party will be held at the farm of Pepper Clark.

Congratulations to Julie Garner who is Sister of the Month for November. Julie is Alumni chairman and has been doing a great job. Congratulations to Vanessa Cross who was pledge of the week last week and to "T" Rimmer who is pledge of the week this week.

The first annual Cowboys and Indians mixer with the brothers of Delta Chi was a huge success.

Sunday November 16 is Phi Mu Parent's Day. The day will begin with church service at West Side Baptist Church in Jacksonville. After church, the banquet will be held in Theron Montgomery auditorium and will be catered by SAGA. After a guest speaker, the girls will perform their Phi Mu Circus Spectacular Extravaganza rush party for the parents to let them get a glimpse of what rush is all about. The skit makes an analogy between going off to college and walking a tight rope at a circus. Songs such as "The Bear Necessities", "Consider Yourself at Home", and "Out Here on My Own" represent how a sorority can help girls adjust to college life. Also included in the skit are songs written and performed by Jamie Masters, Julie Bolton and Tzena Gibbs.

Plans are also underway for Phi Mu's annual Campus Wide Thanksgiving Service. Kristi Ramsey is Thanksgiving Service chairman and has a very nice program in store for the campus.

Phi Mus are selling raffle tickets to win $100 in cash. Tickets are $1 and may be purchased from any member.

Delta Chi

The Delta Chi fraternity would like to express their congratulations to Pi Kappa Phi for winning the Greek Flag football championship. Delta Chi placed six players on the All-Fraternity team. They are Tom Costigan, Bill Griefin, Sirus Tahmaseb, Jim Ryan, Paul Woodruff and Marvin Knight. Tom Costigan was voted the MVP of the season. Keep up the hard work. You make Delta Chi very proud.

Volleyball season has heated up and the Chis are off to their best start in four years. Bill Griffin is again the captain of the team with Sirus Tahmaseb and Paul Woodruff as co-captains.

The brothers have had two mixers this semester. Delta Zeta had an "Almost New Year's" theme and Phi Mu's "Cowboys and Indians" mixer were both very successful. The Chis are looking forward to having mixers with Zeta and Alpha Xi in the near future. Pat Ryan has done an excellent job in organizing these mixers. This year's mixers have had a key drop at every party this year.

"We urge all fraternities to put the key drop program into use," said Tim Wirick, president of Delta Chi.

The little sisters held their annual Pledge-Little Sister banquet November 3. Sam Wright, pledge president said he and the other pledges greatly enjoyed the banquet. The record for most hot dogs eaten at a Pledge-Little Sister banquet was six but rumor has it that Kevin Watson ate a record nine hot dogs in less than an hour.

Zeta Tau Alpha

Zeta Tau Alpha member of the week is Sheila Micale. Pledge of the week is Carrie Rhodes. Congratulations. Barbara Henderson has been selected as Zeta Lady and Cheri Holsclaw is the spirited Zeta of the week.

Zeta had a mixer with Pi Kappa Phi last week. The theme was MTV. Everyone had a great time.

Zeta's Champagne Ball is this weekend at the Anniston Sports Club. Everyone is looking forward to a great time.

Zeta has a mixer with Delta Chi the 20th and they are looking forward to a blast.

The Zeta volleyball team under the direction of Susan Roper is 2 and 1. Go Zeta.

Alpha Xi Delta

Last Thursday the fall 1986 Honors Banquet was held. Alpha Xi's attending were Lisa Allbert and Pam Hutcheson.

Last Friday night, Alpha Xi held their annual Pledge Formal at the Downtowner in Anniston. The pledges were honored with awards and roses from their big sisters. Everyone had a great time.

Last night, the Alpha Xis road-tripped to Georgia Tech and had a fantastic time at their mixer with the Phi Deltas.

Next Thursday, Alpha Xi and Sigma Nu will have a mixer at the new Sigma Nu house.

The Alpha Xis are looking forward to their annual Parent's Day Tea which will be held Sunday, November 23. The pledges will enertain the guests and refreshments will be served.

Congratulations to Emily Sides, sister of the week, and Karen Clark, pledge of the week.

SAM celebrates birthday

By TZENA GIBBS
Chanticleer Senior Editor

The Society for the Advancement of Management celebrated their first birthday on campus on Thursday, November 6. SAM received their charter from the Senior SAM chapter in Montgomery one year ago.

After a welcome by David McAllister, president, a short history of SAM at JSU was presented to the guests present.

The guest speaker for the celebration was Ralph Foster, president of the Montgomery Senior SAM chapter.

"Being a member of a professional organization like SAM gives you an edge when you are interviewing for job," Foster said.

SAM is a business club open to people in all majors, not only management. A common mistake made by reluctant joiners is that SAM is only for management majors. SAM is a business club and offers benefits to all business majors.

"The good thing about being a member of SAM if you are an accounting, marketing or finance major is that it shows future employers that you have a wide range of interest outside of your specific major," Foster said.

Foster spoke of the many advantages SAM has to offer and praised the Jacksonville chapter for a very outstanding first year.

"After the SAM student banquet last year in Montgomery, other college chapters expressed to me that they were especially impressed with your chapter in Jacksonville and wanted to implement some of your ideas into their own programs," Foster said.

Janet Sullivan, vice president of programs spoke on upcoming events SAM has planned for members. Lisa McElroy spoke about her participation in SAM's Shadow program and encouraged everyone to take advantage of this opportunity to learn about specific job roles.

A drawing for a door prize was held and refreshments were served. Rita Chandler, faculty advisor, has worked very hard for the success of SAM.

"I see this first birthday more as a challenge than anything else. We have a very successful first year but we do not need to dwell on our accomplishments of the past and must look ahead for future successes," Chandler said.

AUDIO/VIDEO CENTER

TELEVISIONS STEREOS VCRs HOME AND CAR RADIOS

PIONEER

We Feature Car Amps And Speakers by:
PIONEER, SONY, BLAUPUNKT, CON-CORD, SANSUI, AND PROTON.

KE-4141 $189.00

KE-1111 $149.00

$139.00 Pair

150 Watts Per Speaker

BECKER

100 Watts Per Speaker
15" 4-Way Woofer
4-Way Tweeter
4-Way Midrange
and 4-way Horn
5 Year Warranty

Suggested Retail $850.00 Pair
OUR PRICE $250.00

FOR CHRISTMAS

Stereo system with dual cassette decks for tape duplication. Semi-automatic turntable. AM/FM Receiver with digital clock/time display. Plus, built-in graphic equalizer. 2-way speakers and deluxe cabinet.

$349.99

TOSHIBA $388.00

VCR HIGH QUALITY EDIT MODE
117 Channel Cable Compatibility
4-Heads, 4-Program, 7-Day
VHS VCR
VCRs From RCA-$329.00 And Up
EMERSON $249.00 And Up

CD PLAYERS AS LOW AS $139.00

MANY MODELS TO CHOOSE FROM

RADAR DETECTORS

MICRO EYE MODEL 840 $149.95
MICRO EYE MODEL 844 $88.00

MAGNAVOX

AM/FM STEREO CASSETTE RECORDER

5 SPEAKERS
3 AMPLIFIERS

DISCOUNT STEREO TV and APPLIANCE

•90 Day Same As Cash Customized Installation — We Sell Home & Car Stereos, TVs, Appliances, VCRs, Radar Devices
 •Instant Credit Qualified Buyers
 •No Down Payment

435-2757
9 a.m.-6 p.m.

Pelham Plaza
Jacksonville

The Gamecocks will have to be tough this week, story below.

Volleyball preparing for conference tourney

By THOMAS BALLENGER
Chanticleer Senior Editor

The Lady Gamecock volleyball team defeated Huntingdon College and Livingston University in matches this past week and also finished second in the West Georgia Invitational, held at Carrollton, Ga.

Lisa Highley and Gena Higginbotham led the Lady Gamecock attack, as the two players dominated the net against Huntingdon, which fell to Jax State by the scores of 15-7, 15-11, 14-16, and 15-10.

The team traveled to Livingston to take on the Lady Tigers and returned with a 15-7, 15-6, 15-1 victory. Karen Graham and Highley played well for the Lady Spikers.

The Lady Gamecocks finished second in the Carrollton tourney by beating Samford 15-2, 15-12. Alabama State 15-6, 15-12. Next in pool play the Spikers beat Alabama-Huntsville by the scores of 15-8, 15-11. In their pool finals, the Lady Gamecocks lost to Mississippi

University of Women 6-15, 9-15.

In the semifinal round, JSU beat Rollins College 15-11, 15-12, to set up another encounter with MUW. However, MUW was well up to the task, as the Lady Gamecocks fell by the scores of 15-7, 15-9.

"I am very pleased with the team, we played very well. I think we are ready to go on and win the conference," Coach Janice Pace said.

The Lady Gamecocks take on West Georgia College tonight in Carrollton, in the last regular season GSC match for the team.

This weekend, the team travels to Florence to participate in the GSC Tournament. The Lady Gamecocks, along with the host school, North Alabama, will be favored to walk away with the conference title.

"I think our chances are good. I think we are getting ready for the tournament. I hope we do well, and I think we will," Pace said.

The team's overall record now stands at 17-12, 7-4 in the Gulf South Conference.

Lady Gamecocks are gearing up for a GSC title run.

Highly ranked Trojans march into Jacksonville

Already assured of at least a share of the Gulf South Conference football championship, Troy State University will bring a No. 4 national ranking into Paul Snow Memorial Stadium here Saturday night to face the ever-improving Gamecocks of Jacksonville State.

JSU, 4-3-1 overall and 3-2-1 in the GSC, had an open date last week, while the Trojans were blasting Tennessee-Martin, 50-30. TSU is currently 8-1 overall and 7-0 in league play.

"What can you say, other than it ought to be a heckuva football game," said JSU head coach Bill Burgess. "It has all the ingredients you could want. We have the opportunity to host a nationally-ranked and conference championship team for our final home game of the season.

"I just hope we hold up our end of the bargain.

Both teams employ the wishbone offense, although the Trojans are more of a pure wishbone team than the Gamecocks. TSU racks third in the country in rushing, averaging 315.3 yards per game, and third in total offense with a 452.7 average.

Jax State, which relies on the arm of senior quarterback David Coffey, is second in the GSC in rushing, averaging 227.1 yards per game, but Coffey has thrown for 1,413 yards and six touchdowns so far in '86.

"What makes their offense go is their quarterback, Mike Turk," said Burgess. "He is one of the better players in the country. Plus, he has a lot of quality skill players to support him.

Turk, however, suffered a slightly separated shoulder in the win over UT-Martin and his status won't be known until game time.

"This is an important game for us," Burgess said. "We feel like we have our program going in the right

"We have the opportunity to host a nationally ranked and conference championship team for our final home game of the season."

— Burgess

Pi Kapp claims IM title

By THOMAS BALLENGER
Chanticleer Senior Editor

Pi Kappa Phi captured the 1986 intramural championship last week, as they defeated the Vikings 24-21 to take the title.

Pi Kapp, the fraternity champions, waltzed to the championship game by mauling Kappa Alpha, and Delta Chi.

The Vikings, champs of the independents, defeated the Terminators and Chosen One to take its place in the final.

The Pi Kapp's jumped out to a 24-6 halftime advantage and appeared to be on its way to another rout, but the Vikings had other ideas, and the game tightened up.

The Vikings closed the score to 24-14 late in the third quarter, and tallied again late in the fourth quarter to trim the Pi Kapp lead to 24-21.

The independent champs had one last attempt at a win, but on fourth-and-three from their own 37-yard

"I was pleased with the way things went."

— Mark Jones

line a pass failed, and the game was history.

"We had a real good tournament. There was no trouble, and I thought everyone did a real good job. I was pleased with the way things went," said Intramural Director Mark Jones.

direction, but this will certainly be our stiffest of the season. A win would do a whole lot for our program, and I know it means an awful lot to our seniors.

Six Gamecocks will be making their final appearance in Paul Snow Memorial Stadium. They include defensive end Rusty Grimmett of Stone Mountain, Ga., safety Reggie McCord of Griffin, Ga., tight end Keith McKellar of Fairfield, halfbacks Shawn Massey of Rock Hill, N.C., Monte Coats of Kissimmee, Fla., and Coffey of Enterprise. All six have been named game captains by Burgess.

Kickoff is set for 7 p.m.

Tennis looks good during fall

By THOMAS BALLENGER
Chanticleer Senior Editor

Both the men's and women's tennis teams recently completed fall practice, and the outlook for both teams is promising.

The men's team was undefeated in eight matches this fall, and the team showed great depth.

Greg Harley played the number one position and compiled a record of 6-2. Jim Reagan was 4-3 at the number two spot. Keith Nix was 6-2 at the three spot. The players who played the number four through six positions were a combined 22-0. These players are Luis Escobar, Mark Baker, and Rob McCluskey.

"Our number five player is not much different from our number one. We are going to work hard this winter, with a goal of winning the Gulf South tourney. We had a very productive fall season," said Coach Steve Bailey.

The closest match the men had this fall was a 5-4 win over GSC foe North Alabama. The other fall matches were routs.

The strength of the men's team appears to be depth and experience. The top four players are all experienced in GSC competition, and this should help out in the spring.

The Lady Gamecocks compiled a record of 5-1 this fall, as the team hopes to claim the GSC title for the third year in a row.

Sheri Circle, the top player for the team, recorded a 5-1 mark. Mary Ann Borysovitz recorded a record of 4-2 at the two spot. Lea Clayton was 4-2 at the third position. Kim Hamels posted a 5-1 mark at the fourth spot. Jamie Masters, the fifth seed, went 4-2 during the fall. Number six player Tara Downs posted the only losing record for the fall, as the freshman failed to win any of her matches.

The Lady Gamecocks only loss was to Huntingdon College, by a score of 5-1.

"We must have a good year from each girl to repeat, if we are going to win the GSC again," said Bailey.

Both Jax State teams have realistic shots at their respective GSC titles. The men should be considered one of the favorites for GSC honors, and the women will be battling for their third consecutive GSC title. It should be a good year for Gamecock tennis.

Big time sports have big time ills

Big-time college athletics is mired in scandal. Top high school athletes are lured by recruiters with under-the-table payments. Players who can barely read or write are admitted to well-known colleges, then kept academically eligible just so they can compete in sports. Coaches, alumni and school boosters regularly bend and break rules, all in the name of victory.

The bottom line is cold, hard cash, reports the October Reader's Digest. Winning guarantees income. Football alone can generate up- to $10 million a year in some schools. Last season 18 bowl games disbursed over $40 million.

Schools will often do almost anything to ensure success. The NCAA revealed this year that Texas Christian University boosters handed over cash payments of $49,025 to one student and 37,500 to another. In New Orleans, Tulane University abolished its varsity basketball team following disclosure that players were paid to take part in a point-shaving scheme.

As if all this were not enough, the specter of drugs hangs over American athletic programs. At Clemson University, in South Carolina, three former coaches pleaded guilty to illegally dispensing steroids and phenylbutazone, an anti-inflammatory agent. At the University of Maryland, Len Bias, number one draft choice of the Boston Celtics, died in June of cocaine intoxication.

Hurt most by schools looking the other way are the student athletes themselves. Bias' death was followed by the revelation that he had not passed a single academic course last spring. In 1982, basketball player Kevin Ross confirmed the shocking story that he had played four seasons for Creighton University even though his reading and writing ability was no better than grade-school level. Only a minute fraction of these student athletes ever become professional athletes. Once their college eligibility is used up, most are left to fend for themselves as best they can.

Without a doubt, reform in college sports is sorely needed, and the NCAA is making a start. This year the NCAA began phasing in a significant rule change affecting academic eligibility for athletes. Known as proposition 48, the measure is scheduled to be fully implemented by 1988. At that time, in order for athletes to be eligible, they must have achieved a 2.0 (C) high school grade-point average in a core curriculum of 11 academic as well as a minimum combined score of 700 out of 1600 on the SAT, or a composite score of 15 out of 35 in the ACT Assessment program. The NCAAL has also approved drug testing at football-bowl games and at selected NCAA championship events.

College season winds down, Miami still tops

By THOMAS BALLENGER
Chanticleer Senior Editor

PENN STATE at NOTRE DAME

The Fighting Irish are coming off of an impressive mauling of SMU, and Lou Holtz's men should be ready for the Lions. PSU barely defeated Maryland last week, and if Paterno's troops are not careful, the Irish could surprise them. I think they will. NOTRE DAME 24, PENN STATE 23.

GEORGIA at AUBURN

The Bulldogs played a good first half last week against Florida, but they never untracked themselves in the second half. Auburn cruised against Cincinnati, and Pat Dye's troops appear to be heading for a thriller against Alabama later in the year. If Auburn is not careful, Georgia could bite them, but Auburn is just too strong for the Dawgs. AUBURN 35, GEORGIA 24.

TEMPLE at ALABAMA

The Crimson Tide had the inside track to the Sugar Bowl, that is until they lost to LSU. This is a non-conference game, and it should be just what the doctor ordered. If Alabama is to beat Auburn, then a big win is needed to restore lost confidence. This is that big win. ALABAMA 52, TEMPLE 17.

LOUISIANA STATE at MISSISSIPPI STATE

LSU is coming off a very emotional win over Alabama, and the Bengals may be ripe for the picking. Mississippi State is out of the SEC race, but a victory over LSU would be as sweet as sugar. LSU should win, but what if they are still thinking about Alabama? MISSISSIPPI STATE 28, LOUISIANA STATE 24.

TEXAS A..M at ARKANSAS

Arkansas was upset this past week by Baylor, and the Hogs appear to be out of the conference race. The Aggies have reeled off eight wins in a row, and the team looks to be rolling to a Cotton Bowl berth. That roll will not stop this week. TEXAS A..M 38, ARKANSAS 24.

Other Games:

Boston College 31, Syracuse 24. Southern Cal 45, California 17. Clemson 28, Maryland 24. Oklahoma 56, Colorado 21. NC State 45, Duke 28. Florida 30, Kentucky 17. Florida State 35, Southern Mississippi 24. Indiana 27, Illinois 20. Iowa 45, Purdue 21. Nebraska 56, Kansas 14. Michigan 45, Minnesota 14. Mississippi 24, Tennessee 21. North Carolina 24, Virginia 21. Ohio State 52, Wisconsin 20. Pittsburgh 23, Rutgers 21. South Carolina 30, Wake Forest 28. Texas Tech 30, Southern Methodist 24. Texas 30, Texas Christian 21. Washington 24, UCLA 20. Virginia Tech 35, Vanderbilt 24.

CHANTICLEER

Top 20

- |                  |       |
|------------------|-------|
| 1. Miami         | 9-0   |
| 2. Michigan      | 9-0   |
| 3. Penn State    | 9-0   |
| 4. Oklahoma      | 8-1   |
| 5. Arizona St.   | 8-0-1 |
| 6. Texas A&M     | 8-1   |
| 7. Auburn        | 8-1   |
| 8. Nebraska      | 8-1   |
| 9. Louisiana St. | 6-2   |
| 10. Ohio St.     | 6-2   |
| 11. Southern Cal | 7-2   |
| 12. Alabama      | 8-2   |
| 13. Clemson      | 7-2   |
| 14. Stanford     | 7-2   |
| 15. Arizona      | 7-2   |
| 16. Arkansas     | 7-2   |
| 17. NC State     | 6-2-1 |
| 18. UCLA         | 6-3   |
| 19. Texas Tech   | 6-3   |
| 20. Va. Tech     | 7-2-1 |

All-Around Sports

Jax State-Troy State, it should be a dandy game

Thomas Ballenger
Sports Editor

Watch out everyone, here come the Trojans. The Troy State Trojans, one of the powers of Division II football, come to town this Saturday to take on the Gamecocks of Bill Burgess.

Troy State is led by quarterback Mike Turk, who is the best signal caller in the GSC. Turk was injured against Tennessee-Martin last week, but he should be his ever-dangerous self come Saturday night.

The Trojans present several problems for the Gamecocks. One, Turk is the best quarterback in the conference, and he can hurt a defense many ways. Second, the Trojans play very good defense, and JSU may have trouble running the ball. Third, the Trojans are very experienced. Several Trojans wear national championship rings from TSU's 1984 Division II title team.

However, as good as the Trojans are, they are not unbeatable. Coach Burgess and his staff have done a good job all season, and I am sure the team will be prepared for Troy State. I am just not sure if they are ready for them this season, but the Trojans will be in for a game, that they can be assured of.

Troy State clinched at least a share of the GSC title with a 50-30 win over Tennessee-Martin, but the Trojans are not assured of an NCAA bid, so every game is important to their playoff hopes.

Hopefully, there will be a big turnout for the game, the Gamecocks deserve a capacity crowd. The team has come a long way this season, and in future years dividends will be earned from the hard work of this season.

The Gamecock roundballers open their season November 24, here against Tougaloo. What is a Tougaloo you ask? Isn't that what you tell someone before you leave? Well, tougaloo. OK, Tougaloo is a college in Mississippi, but the mystery about their basketball program will be answered on the 24th. My guess is that they will be quickly hiding Jacksonville tougaloo.

The Lady Gamecocks open their season on the 22nd of November against Springhill College, at Mathews Coliseum. The Lady Gamecocks will be improved this season, and let's hope that their season opens well.

Janice Pace's volleyball team travels to West Georgia tonight to take on the Lady Braves. This weekend the Spikers travel to Florence for the Gulf South Conference tournament. Will this be the year that Pace wins her first GSC title? I think this is Pace's year.

Pi Kappa Phi is to be congratulated for capturing the campus intramural football title last week. The Pi Kappas dominated the tournament until the finals, but they hung on to defeat the Vikings 34-21. Cheers also to the Vikings for advancing to the title game.

I would like to encourage everyone to attend the Troy State contest. Game time is 7:00, and the game will be held within the cozy confines of Paul Snow Memorial Stadium.

Let's all remember.....WHUP TROY

Around the GSC

Last week's results:

Delta State 42, West Georgia 27
 North Alabama 21, Livingston 17
 Valdosta State 21, Mississippi College 10
 Troy State 50, UT-Martin 30

This Week's Schedule:

Troy State at JACKSONVILLE STATE (7 p.m.)
 West Georgia at North Alabama (1:30 p.m.)
 Valdosta State at Delta State (7 p.m.)
 Livingston at Tennessee-Martin (2 p.m.)

Gulf South Conference Standings

	GSC	OVERALL
Troy State	7-0-0	8-1-0
Valdosta State	5-1-0	7-2-0
Mississippi College	5-2-0	7-3-0
Delta State	3-2-1	5-3-1
JACKSONVILLE STATE	3-2-1	4-3-1
Livingston	2-4-0	3-6-0
North Alabama	1-5-0	4-5-0
Tennessee-Martin	1-5-0	2-7-0
West Georgia	0-6-0	2-7-0

Gary Walters could play a big role in Saturday's game.

Burgess hopes his team can pull off an upset of Troy State

'WHUP TROY' GO COCKS