Financial aid

Like many colleges, JSU may face cuts

By ROY WILLIAMS

Chanticleer Senior Editor

In his recent 1988 budget proposal to Congress, President Reagan suggested drastic cuts in education that would have a tremendous impact on college students nationwide. At Jacksonville State University, where nearly one-third of the student body receives some type of student loan and many more receive Pell Grants, the effect of such cuts would be "extremely detrimental", according to financial aid director Larry Smith.

The Reagan Administration wants to completely eliminate College Work Study, Supplemental Grants, State Student Incentive Grants, and National Direct Student Loans, Smith said. The President is also striving to further reduce student eligibility for Pell Grants and Guaranteed Student Loans.

Its aim, according to a White House spokesman, is to make students, not taxpayers, pay their own way through college.

"It makes me wonder where their (the Reagan administration's) priorities are when they talk about cuts in education. I hope Congress will think long and hard about cutting financial aid programs," Smith said.

JSU offers four different student loan programs, which could be affected by Reagan's proposal:

- Guaranteed Student Loans (GSL) -- Between 1,700 and 2,000 students receive the GSL.

- PLUS Auxiliary Loans -- Received by 200 students

- Perkins Loans (formerly called the National Direct Student Loan) -- Received by 200 students

- Logan-Walker Loan -- Received by 50 students.

Smith and other state financial aid leaders are already making preparations to combat cuts in college student aid. The Alabama Association of Student Financial Aid Administrators, of which Smith is a member, will hold its annual conference in Tuscaloosa in April. Their theme -- "Fighting for survival."

"We're optimistic, but we feel the (See FINANCIAL AID, Page 3)

Deaf authors promote new books on campus

By ROY WILLIAMS

Chanticleer Senior Editor

Dr. Frank Bowe and Doug Bullard, two prominent deaf authors in the middle of a national tour to promote their new books, made an appearance at Jacksonville State University last Tuesday, Feb. 3. The program, held in Merrill Hall, was co-sponsored by the English department and the Post-secondary Program for the Sensory Impaired (PPSI).

Bowe, a leading activist in the movement for civil rights for the handicapped, is the author of Changing the Rules, a book that describes the struggle for the passage of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973 and the implementation of its section 504 provisions during the middle 1970s into the 1980s.

Islay, a fictional novel by Bullard, traces the efforts of Lyson Sulla, a deaf man, to establish a state solely for deaf people by taking over the governorship.

Bowe and Bullard, who can both speak, addressed the audience about their books and different issues concerning the handicapped. The proceedings were interpreted by Connie Barnes, a national interpreter for the deaf.

Dr. Susan Easterbrooks, director of the PPSI and an associate professor in special education, said the appearance of the two authors generated a tremendous response from the audience.

"This provided wonderful exposure to JSU and our hearing program. It demonstrates to the community that there is an interest in this area for this type program," Easterbrooks said.

Nearly 130 people attended the program, including local and state representatives from the Vocation Rehabilitation Services, students from the Alabama Institute for the (See AUTHORS, Page 2)

Deaf and Blind, students enrolled in the PPSI and several faculty members, Georgia Brown, a spokesperson for the PPSI said.

"The authors told about their childhood and different anecdotes about what it was like growing up deaf. Mr. Bullard, who in the past has had a dislike for the South, said he was pleasantly surprised with Merrill Hall and had a favorable impression of JSU," Brown said.

Changing the Rules includes accounts from Bowe's life-long struggle to overcome the handicaps placed on him by society. He is the author of over 25 books, the majority of them dealing with disability issues.

Islay is Bullard's first novel, part of a planned trilogy. He is currently working on his second novel, On Deaf Ears, which deals with growing up in a deaf residential school.

Instructors at the PPSI said the two authors were a tremendous boost in confidence to the 21 students actively enrolled in their program.

"Dr. Bowe and Mr. Bullard are wonderful role models for the hearing impaired kids," Dan Miller, resource teacher for the PPSI said.

An autograph party was held following the program. Anyone interested in ordering copies of Bowe and Bullard's books should contact Georgia Brown at 231-3093.

College of Nursing holds mentorship program

The College of Nursing last week held its first "Mentorship in the Making" program for students entering the nursing curriculum. Newcomers are assigned mentors - students who serve as advisers - from among the upper-level nursing students. The mentors provide support and encouragement to the new students as they progress through the program. The mentoring program consisted of a series of addresses and a picnic in the halls of the Lurleen B. Wallace Building.

Phi Mu Alpha to sponsor Miss JSU Pageant Feb. 28

By CYNDI OWENS
Chanticleer Staff Writer

The 1987 Miss JSU Pageant will be held Saturday, February 28, at 8:00 p.m., in Leone Cole Auditorium. The pageant is sponsored by Phi Mu Alpha.

To pick up an entry form, contact Rachael Jones at 231-4249 no later than February 15, 1987.

"For campus involvement, we request that each girl have a sponsor," David Armstrong, a Phi Mu Alpha member who will be helping with the pageant, said.

Armstrong added that it is not necessary for that sponsor to be a campus organization. "The girl's parents, or a business, could be a sponsor," he said.

The pageant, which is a precursor to the Miss Alabama and Miss America pageants, will include four categories: interview, evening gown, swim suit, and talent. The talent competition will comprise 50 percent of the final score.

The prizes for this year's pageant include a full, one-year scholarship to JSU and one thousand dollars cash to be used toward the Miss Alabama competition for the winner, and tuition scholarships to JSU for the Top Five and the Saxon Talent Award winner.

The theme for this, the fifth annual pageant, is, "Let a Winner Lead the Way."

That is very appropriate, because the Miss JSU pageant has been awarded a special prize commemorating the consistently outstanding pageant.

JSU won a special crown from the Jewelers of America, Inc., which will be provided through Couch's Jewelry of Anniston, according to Fred Couch.

"The crown has been provided because of the continuing high quality of the Miss JSU pageant. The crown will be provided for as long as there is a pageant," Couch said.

Students still battling flu bug, infirmary kept busy

By STEVEN ROBINSON
Chanticleer Senior Editor

Achoo! (sniffle, sniffle). This has become the battle cry this winter for that dastardly little virus known as THE FLU.

According to Carol Lawler, head nurse at the University Infirmary, a majority of the 800 cases treated thus far this semester at the infirmary have been flu related.

"Last month we saw over 800 cases, and I would say the majority of these patients had the flu," she said.

Financial aid

President will get some of his cuts through Congress," he said.

Last Oct. 17, for instance, a new law (the Reauthorization Act of 1986) went into effect and greatly cut back on the number of students eligible for the Guaranteed Student Loan.

"Prior to Oct. 17, anyone with an adjusted gross income of $30,000 or less qualified for the GSL. Now everyone must complete a need analysis form and prove their need for the loan. It means a married, independent couple with an income of $12,000 may not qualify for the loan," Smith said.

"This is going to have a greater impact on independent and married students. The government expects a higher contribution from their income to pay for their income than they do from dependent students," he said.

Smith said it appears the Reagan

Webster's Dictionary defines influenza (flu) as "an acute highly contagious infectious virus disease that occurs in endemic, epidemic or pandemic forms, is characterized by by sudden onset, fever, prostration, severe aches and pains, and progressive inflammation of the respiratory mucous membrane, and is frequently complicated by secondary infections (as pneumonia); broadly."

That may be the proper definition of the flu, but most students would define it another way - pain. Fever,

Administration is advocating that students borrow more to finance their education. From the high interest rates college students face, he says this could lead to "students having a repayment the size of a house mortgage due once they leave college."

"Right now, we (the University) don't do a credit check, require collateral, or even employment to make student loans. But many banks are unwilling to give loans to students. This could result in a drop in student enrollment, because many people wouldn't be able to afford to pay their own way to college," Smith said.

If Reagan's proposed cuts do come about, neither the states, institutions or the private sectors have the funds to make up the difference in loss funds, Smith said.

"A lot of congressional leaders are saying it (Reagan's proposal) is aches, pains, nausea, vomiting and a barrage of other symptoms all attacking the body at once can be more than the average person can take.

There is no proven scientific way to prevent flu infection. It is basically an airborne disease that travels from person to person, but certain precautions can be taken, Lawler said.

"Students need to be careful about eating and drinking after each other," she said.

Lawler recommended that studead upon arrival, but we're not taking anything for granted. It's obvious with Gramm-Rudman, that cuts have to be made somewhere. The financial aid committee is working to combat any cuts in education."

Financial aid for the 1987-88 fiscal year would not be affected, Smith said. Application forms are already available in the financial aid office. The deadline to submit applications is set for April 1.

"We're using a new need analysis form. Students need to submit these forms as soon as possible for early consideration. Don't wait until the last minute," Smith said.

dents take Tylenol for fevers and aches and pains, but emphasized the need for personal attention from trained medical personnel.

"I would suggest they (students) see us at the infirmary or visit their family doctor," she said.

Right on the heels of this sudden outbreak of flu on campus has been the appearance of a virus whose symptoms include severe nausea and vomiting. Lawler said this virus was flu related, and according to Webster's it is a secondary infection brought on by influenza.

By taking proper precautions such as getting plenty of rest, eating the right foods and maintaining personal hygiene, students can help prevent the spread of the winter plague

Something To Think About

Write mayor, request committee be re-formed

It is a problem which needs immediate attention. If left unattended, it could possibly erupt into an all-out war between Jacksonville city residents and JSU fraternities. The problem? Fraternity housing.

Vicky Wallace

Editor-in-Chief

According to Bill Meehan, assistant to the vice president of academic affairs, (in last week's article written by Chanticleer staff writer Kay Robinson concerning Mayor John B. Nesbit's concern with a fraternity row being established to accommodate the residents), it will take five to 10 years before the University will be able to do something. Let's face facts: Fraternities make up only 10 percent of the student body and with budget cuts like they are, I'm sure the University would be hesitant to use state appropriated funds for a project that would benefit only 10 percent of the student body. That's a long wait considering the ongoing problems between area residents and the fraternity members living in houses near them.

Being a member of a sorority myself, I can, of course, empathize with the fraternity side. But looking objectively at the situation, I can see Nesbit's resident view.

Think about it. Put yourself in their shoes. I would like to think that the citizens of Jacksonville are not the monsters some of us may think. They just want to maintain a quiet, peaceful community.

According to Nesbit, one fraternity party results in three things: 1) disturbing citizens until early morning hours, 2) traffic congestion and 3) a litter problem.

I'm sure fraternities can agree with me on this fact: No matter how smooth they try to conduct a party, whether at a fraternity house or at Leon Cole Auditorium, situations can sometimes get out of hand - and half the time the troublemakers are non-fraternity members.

I've seen myself the problem of congestion caused by "60 or 70 cars in a place where only two belong" (maybe a slight exaggeration) as Nesbit explained and we've all probably seen a fraternity yard littered with cans and paper from the previous night's bash.

Your points are well taken by me, Mayor Nesbit, but I agree with Mr. Meehan: The idea of fraternities living in dormitories with other students like the sororities on campus are currently doing is not suitable.

Meehan's suggestion of re-organizing a "town and gown" committee, which can only be formed at the mayor's request, to act as an open channel for communications between the town and the University sounds like a good starting point. It looks like if the mayor wants something done, the ball is in his court.

To all fraternities concerned, write the mayor and request that such a committee be formed. It would be in the best interest of the University and the residents of Jacksonville if this problem was solved immediately instead of waiting five to 10 years from now when a fraternity row may or may not be established.

Brewer crosswalk

Walking has become dangerous

By CYNDI OWENS
Chanticleer Staff Writer

There is a definite health-hazard on campus. It is not drugs, or even asbestos. It is known as walking.

Anyone who has ever tried to cross four lanes of traffic to get from the parking lot to Brewer Hall knows how dangerous walking can be. A student actually takes his life into his own hands trying to cross the street traffic - especially during peak traffic hours.

This is not the only dangerous crossing on campus, but it is the only designated crosswalk not directly under a traffic light.

Alabama law requires motorists to come to a complete stop when a pedestrian is in a designated crosswalk. This means that traffic should stop to allow pedestrians to safely cross all of the lanes, not just the one that the traffic is in.

Many pedestrians report having close calls. An actual case: One female pedestrian said she watched in astonishment and anger after that car that had almost hit her was followed by a University police car, but was never pulled over.

There are several things that might be done to correct this situation:

- An elevated crosswalk. An elevated crosswalk could be constructed which would allow traffic to flow freely and at the same time ensure the safety of pedestrian traffic.

- Unmarked police cars. While we hate to support the idea of students receiving more traffic citations, if it takes this to keep someone from getting hurt, we should all be for it.

- A traffic signal. A signal similar to others on campus, which will alternately allow pedestrians to cross and let motorists pass.

- A crossing guard. Perhaps at least during peak traffic hours (9 a.m. to 1 p.m.), a guard or guards could be assigned to monitor traffic.

- A shuttle system. Not only would a shuttle system help the crosswalk situation, it would alleviate some of the hassles of finding parking space. Students could pay for a card to allow them to ride the shuttle, which would make three or four designated stops around campus between classes.

Of course, there is one way to correct the problem without any extra expense to anyone: common courtesy. And not only is it courteous, it is the law.

We sincerely hope that someone does not have to be maimed or killed before this dangerous situation is corrected.

Learn from past, look to future

By Larry Moore
Guest Editorial

Once again it is time for Americans to celebrate the month of February as Black History Month. It is a time when we can: 1) give special recognition to black achievers, 2) look back at how far black Americans have come in the past 400 years of Afro-American heritage, and 3) learn from the past and look to the future.

The past was a time of slavery, brutality, Jim Crow laws, retrenchment, lynchings, segregation, oppression, depression and overt racism. The future is in our hands-black and white together. We must make ourselves aware of the situation that we are in and do something about it, and not merely gripe and grumble. Commonly referred to as the new racism, this new type of racism can be characterized as insidious in nature and its tendency to thrive on apathy and ignorance.

Twenty years ago it was very easy to recognize forms of racism. Today only vestiges of overt racism remain. This kind can be dealt with.

But there is another kind that exists and it can be easily overlooked. Many will say that there is no race problem today. Why fish around for trouble? This attitude is just one form of new racism, or at least ignorance. Black people have had enough trouble over the last 400 years, and it would seem most logical that the last thing they want to do is make more trouble where none exists.

Unemployment, teen pregnancy, single parent households, and drug abuse, among other problems within the black community, exist in disproportionate amounts when compared to whites.

These and other social problems are reality. But rarely do we see anything in the media about these problems related to whites. Blacks end up with the blame for many social ills when in fact the problems are too complex to single out any group as being responsible.

This perpetuates the attitude among many whites that blacks do nothing but cause trouble and end up on welfare. They figure the less they have to do with blacks the better. There is not much social interaction between the races and therefore not much understanding.

Is this a form of new racism? Any time any individual develops his own ideas and attitudes about a person or group of people based on preconceived notions without actually trying to find out the truth is the definition of prejudice.

Some accuse black men of going around with "black dude chips" on their shoulders. This may very well be true, but there is a reason. Black men are reminded every day of their lives of what it is like to be black in America.

The new racism takes many forms. The purpose of this editorial was not to go into detail of its many forms, but to start Chanticleer readers thinking about this issue.

Since it is Black History Month, we should all take time out to examine our feelings and attitudes towards others. Change and growth are only achieved through a personal conscious effort.

Winners of 'Mr. and Miss' elections announced

Mr. & Miss Jax State, Noble and Kilpatrick

By STEVEN ROBINSON
Chanticleer Senior Editor

On Thursday, January 29, at 4 p.m., the winners of the Mr. and Miss Jacksonville State University and Mr. and Miss Friendly were announced over WLJS Radio 92J. This year's winners are:

•Mr. Jacksonville State - Mark Kilpatrick

Kilpatrick is a senior computer science major with minors in mathematics and business administration. He is a member of Pi Kappa Phi fraternity and is active in many other campus organizations and activities including student government where he serves as chairman of the Traffic Committee and Chief Justice of the Traffic Court.

•Miss Jacksonville State - Maniece Noble

Noble is a senior accounting major with a minor in marketing. She is a member of Zeta Tau Alpha sorority and is involved with Special Olympics and the Big Oaks Boys Ranch.

•Mr. Friendly - Steve Lafollette
Lafollette is a senior and represented Kappa Alpha Order in the competition. He serves in several capacities within his fraternity as well as being involved in other campus organizations.

•Miss Friendly - Rebecca Frost
Frost is an English major and a member of Alpha Xi Delta sorority. She is presently very active in her sorority and in her spare time enjoys reading and aerobics.

This year's winners were chosen from a field of 17 candidates with over 400 students voting.

Requirements for entering the competition included:

- Junior or Senior standing
- Regular enrollment at JSU
- A 1.5 GPA on hours attempted
- Must not have been on any type of school probation

Morton graces campus as director of 'H.M.S.'

By TZENA GIBBS
Chanticleer Senior Editor

"H.M.S. Pinafore," which opens next week at Ernest Stone Performing Arts Center, is being directed by Dr. Burt Morton, a professional singer and actor originally from San Francisco, California.

"I am very excited to be directing and working with students again," Morton said.

Morton was asked to direct "H.M.S. Pinafore" by Carlton Ward of the JSU drama department.

Morton moved to Jacksonville in the fall of 1985 with his wife, Alice, who is the costume director for the drama department. Before coming to Jacksonville, Morton had been Program Coordinator for residents at Louisiana State University in Baton Rouge. "I had a budget of about $60,000 a year. I coordinated all programs for the students such as dances, guest speakers, casino nights. We had a Mardi Gras parade ball and a crazy olympics. Most of the money in the budget went toward different dorm events. We had floor parties in the dorms, field trips, intramurals. I tried to make it more of a home so that people living on campus wouldn't be strangers," Morton said.

Morton said he also printed a weekly newsletter to keep the students informed about campus activities and a monthly newspaper which was a pictorial of dorm life.

"In the position of program coordinator, students came to me as friends and I didn't have to be responsible for giving or grading their tests, but they respected me as a professor," Morton said.

Morton held the position at LSU from 1981-1985. This experience is only a small portion of all of his time spent in educational institutions.

Morton was born in San Francisco and raised in South Dakota and Montana. Upon graduation from high school during World War II, Morton joined the Navy for three years.

"While I was in high school, I started singing for bond drives. I was contacted by a local radio station to do my own radio show and they tried to recruit me for the army, but I ended up enlisting in the Navy," Morton said.

Morton said he joined the navy because he thought it was clean.

"After I joined, I found out why... the sailors kept it clean."

Morton never spent time on board ship because he worked with Naval Intelligence in Norfolk, Virginia. He was still performing the entire time whenever he had a chance.

In 1949, Morton enrolled in the University of Montana in pre-dentistry.

"My family wanted me to be a dentist but I didn't want to spend the rest of my life looking in people's mouths, which, at the time, I didn't realize that I would be doing that anyway as a voice instructor," Morton said.

After one year at Montana, Morton transferred to the University of Denver and began his study in music education. The next year, he transferred to LaMont School of Music where he received his bachelor of arts degree in music education with a minor in theater in 1953.

In 1961, Morton received his Master of Arts degree in English literature from Columbia University. Eight years later, Morton entered the doctorate program at LSU and received his Doctorate of Education in music, media and education in 1972.

While not going to school, Morton taught in the Fairfax County Virginia public school system from 1954-1964. In 1963, Morton was selected as a John Hey Fellow which is an honorary award for teachers who are selected to study humanities together.

"I was recommended by the superintendent and after I was selected, I was sent to the University of Oregon," Morton said.

Once in Oregon, Morton taught for the Eugene Public School system and had a television program for elementary music at the University.

At this time, Morton signed a contract to perform professionally all over the country. He also directed shows, sang in night clubs, sang on television shows and at one point was a voice instructor in New York City.

"As a performer, I liked performing because it was fun. But under contract, I felt like a commodity. I wasn't able to perform as I wanted and I feel that it was not meant for me. I missed the academic life and associating with university people," Morton said.

After a year, Morton went back to the academic life and received his doctorate. He met his wife, Alice, as he was "recovering."

According to Morton, he and Mrs. Morton have been married 11 years and are the proud parents of five children and five grandchildren. He retired his position at LSU to come here with Alice in 1985 after she received her current position of costume designer with JSU.

"I had a fit of male chauvinism that lasted a few minutes at first when I realized that I would be giving up my career. But I am very proud of Alice and I knew it was time she tested her wings a bit. She is very talented and is doing an outstanding job here," Morton said.

Morton said he would not change

On January 20, Vonda Barbour was crowned 1987's Miss Mimosa in the Theron Montgomery Building Auditorium. Prior to this event, the contestants had been interviewed at the International House judges' tea.

Barbour is a senior majoring in broadcast communications and minoring in meteorology. She is the daughter of Mrs. Sue Smith and Mr. Barry Barbour of Boise, Idaho. She is presently serving as president of the Student Government Association, is a member of Zeta Tau Alpha sorority, and is actively involved in Kappa Alpha fraternity and Campus Outreach. She was sponsored by Kappa Alpha Order.

First runner-up in the competition was Scarlett Mayhall. A junior majoring in clothing with a minor in marketing, she was sponsored by Alpha Xi Delta sorority. She is involved in Pi Kappa Phi fraternity and the Student Government Association.

Second runner-up was Deona Evans. A junior mathematics major and computer science minor, she is active in Baptist Campus Ministry, and is a member of Phi Eta Sigma Freshman Honor Society.

The title of Miss Congeniality went to Kim Richey. This honor was bestowed upon Richey through a vote of the other contestants. She is a freshman majoring in communications.

The event was emceed by Teresa Cheatham, former first runner-up to Miss America.

Preliminary judging was done on an individual basis. Awards were presented by Paula Wray, editor of the Mimosa, who was assisted by staff writers Jan Rider and Romaine Hulsev.

Sigma Nu

The brothers of Sigma Nu would like to thank all those who attended the Sigma Nu party at the Pub on January 29. The party was a huge success and everyone had a good time.

Congratulations to brother Leo L. Laughlin III for being elected pledge marshal.

Congratulations to the newly initiated Sigma Nu little sisters. They are: Susan Arnold, Rhonda Cash, Amy Faulkenberry, Gennie Hitt, Ruth Keller, May Kilgore, Leigh Nicodemus, and Wendy Wildes.

Last Thursday was the Sigma Nu - Delta Zeta mixer. The theme was "Reincarnation" and although the evening was a bit bizarre, everyone enjoyed themselves.

On February 18, the brothers will be getting together with Zeta Tau Alpha for a mixer.

Preparations are underway for the Triad Party. This party will be preceded by several Pre-Triad parties and should make history since it will be the only one of its kind at JSU.

Beware... the Triad is closer than you think.

Phi Mu

Congratulations to Michelle Becker who is Phi Mu pledge of the week.

Phi Mu sends out a special thanks to Jamie Masters, vice president, who successfully planned the second annual Sweetheart Ball last Friday night. After several different warm up-parties, the Phi Mus and their dates traveled to Solid Gold and jammed to the music of Tomboy all night.

Congratulations to the following Phi Mus who received fraternity little sister bids during rush: Amy Horn, Pepper Clark, Cheryl Carlile, and Dawn Gentry for Alpha Tau Omega; Donna O'Daniel, Susie Cockrell, Tracy Seymour, Jill Duvall, Lisa Richardson, and Michelle Becker for Kappa Sigma; Julie Hayes for Kappa Alpha; and T' Rimmer for Pi Kappa Phi.

Phi Mu is very excited about their mixer with the brothers of Alpha Tau Omega tonight. The theme is "California Cooler" and t-shirts will be sold.

The tea honoring Mrs. Katherine Hammett has been changed to Sunday, February 22.

Phi Mu and Kappa Sigma are having a mixer March 5. Kappa Sig plans to dig a hole in the back yard and fill it up with water and make a slide down the hill for the mixer.

Phi Mu will be holding elections for the 1987-88 school year on Tuesday, March 3.

The mixer with Delta Chi has been set for March 19.

Plans are still underway for Phi Mu's sisterhood retreat for the weekend of March 27 in Destin, Florida.

A mixer with Pi Kapp has been tentatively set for April 2 and the KA mixer is set for April 16.

Pi Sigma Chi

The brothers of the Pi Colony of Sigma Chi would like to express warmest gratitude for the welcome thus far received from the sororities here at JSU. Mixers have already been set with the ladies of Alpha Xi Delta (March 5) and the ladies of Zeta Tau Alpha (April 16). Plans are also in the making for mixers with Delta Zeta and Phi Mu.

Pi Sigma Chi invites all interested young ladies to come by the house tonight at 8:30 pm for the second night of Little Sister Rush.

Come by and find out what it is like to be a Sigma Chi li'l sis with the chance of someday competing for the title of SWEETHEART OF SIGMA CHI, an internationally famous position.

Kappa Alpha

The brothers of Kappa Alpha would like to thank everyone who attended little sister rush and made both nights a big success. It seemed that everyone had a wonderful time, especially on Thursday night since many people stayed until the early hours of the morning. Congratulations to all of the new Kappa Alpha little sisters.

KA would also like to wish Steve LaFollette a speedy recovery from his illness. Steve, who has been hospitalized for several days, is KA president. The brothers said that it just wasn't the same without Steve around.

The KAs are very excited about the Valentine's Day Massacre party tomorrow night. It is sure to be a night of fun and entertainment, with plenty of music and refreshments for everyone. Valentine's Day may never be the same.

Congratulations to those who just got new little brothers.

Delta Chi

The brotherhood of Delta Chi has grown to a total of 34 brothers with the recent initiation of Rick Lyle, Kevin Watson, Paul Woodruff, Mark Watts, Bart Brand, Tommy Bonds, Rodney Cooper, David Gay, Balke Jennings, Danny McLean, Mark Payne, Kenny Ramey, Sam Wright, and Bill Stanton.

Delta Chi is looking forward to a better semester and more community service than last semester.

The brothers are awaiting mixers with Phi Mu and Alpha Xi Delta.

This year's formal is planned for

March 6, 7 and 8 in Fort Walton Beach, Florida.

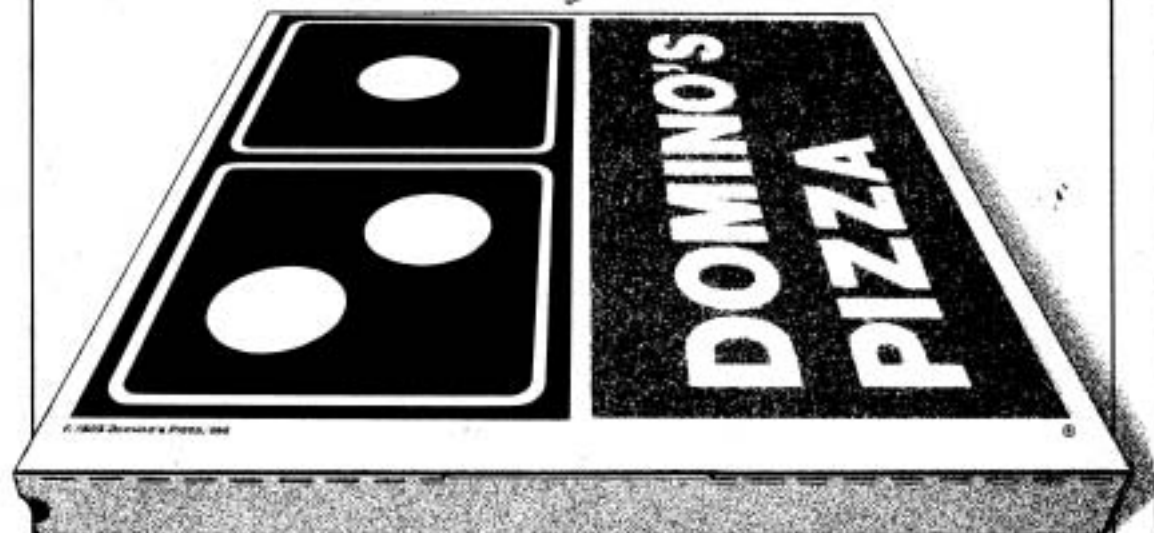

The pledge class for spring semester has nine pledges and they are working toward a fund raiser for their community service project.

The Chis are also looking for a new house. The brothers are setting a date for the move some time during the summer.

The basketball team is led this year by Bill "Nutty" Griffin and Bill Summerlin. Norman Bonds, Sam Wright, Blake Jennings, Tommy Bonds, Paul Woodruff, Marvin Knight, and Sirus Tahmeseb are the other members of this year's team. Norman Bonds, who plays forward, said he sees the team in the playoffs if they keep playing as a team.

Paul Woodruff has announced his marriage to Kathy Hey for December. (See CLUB NEWS, Page 8)

SGA's contemporary Christian concert is successful

By C.A. ABERNATHY
Chanticleer Staff Writer

Mylon LeFevre and Broken Heart recently brought their Christian rock to the coliseum. The concert was more than just a hot rock and roll show - it was good entertainment.

The evening began with the dynamite Christian band Sacred Fire. A crowd of over 700 clapped hands, cheered and sang along with nearly every song.

The audience was excited, but well mannered for most of the show. The concert lasted several hours, and every age group represented enjoyed the stage show.

"Our music is a positive message for today's living," Jimmy Bennett, lead singer for Sacred Fire, said.

Bennett further explained that the band will soon be in the studio recording their second album and possibly touring with Petra.

Other members of Sacred Fire are: Dean Harrington on guitar, Rob Cali on drums, Thurston Bell on bass, Roger Lowe on keyboards and Teddy 'T.J.' Kemp on sound.

"The best way to let people know you enjoy what you do is to smile. Be yourself," Bennett said.

Members of both bands feel strongly about the music they play and the interpretation of their lyrics. It is obvious to the audience that they mean every word both on and off stage.

After a short intermission, the lights dimmed once again and a unanimous cheer welcomed Broken Heart.

The band cranked out the familiar sounds of "Train Up In the Sky," "It's Alright With Me," a song written by fellow musician-guitarist Dana Key. Also played were "Love Is All You Need," and "Gospel Ship," during which Sacred Fire joined in on stage.

Several times Mylon spoke about what his past was like and encouraged people to "Look Up," in a sense, for the answer. Broken Heart's newly titled album is their first for CBS records. They have released four previous LPs on an independent Christian label Myrrh.

This concert may have been the best concert on campus ever as far as music goes. It was an experience, not because of one person or group, but because of the atmosphere that prevailed throughout the evening which was one of friendship and caring.

Behind the scenes the technicians, managers, engineers and directors kept over 60 tons of sound and light equipment functioning smoothly, despite minor feedback problems.

Broken Heart and Sacred Fire albums are available at local music stores. Broken Heart also has an address to receive newsletters. Write: Look Up, 2055 Mt. Paran Road N.W., Atlanta, GA 30327.

Mylon LeFevre and Broken Heart sign autographs at Christian Bookstore before concert.

Alpha Xi is proud of Emily Sides and Kim Garriss who were chosen Who's Who Among American College Students.

Congratulations also to Jerri Whitlow who is the new head ballerina.

The Fuzzies are fired up about their mixer with the men of Pi Kappa Phi tonight. Everyone is looking forward to a great time.

Alpha Xi would like to welcome the Sigma Chis to Jax State. The Fuzzies are very excited about their mixer with them on March 5. Also, Alpha Xi and ATO will get together for a mixer on March 26.

Congratulations to Kim McGee who is pledge of the week.

Good luck to Julie Durbin who is playing a role in "H.M.S. Pinafore."

Congratulations also to Alpha Xi big brothers Steve LaFollette and Mark Kilpatrick who were elected Mr. Friendly and Mr. Jax State, respectively.

Alpha Phi Omega

Alpha Phi Omega Service Fraternity announces the following pledges for the spring semester: Debrony Clark, Leslie Dawkins, Velda Dobyns, Forkpa Korlewala, Robert Oakes, Patrice Oden, Mylane Perry, Linda Riggins, Christine Sieg, Suzanne Smith, Lysandra Walker, Amy Williams, Lisa Williams, Susan Wilson, and Paula Wray.

The fraternity is looking forward to an active spring semester.

Zeta Tau Alpha

Zeta sends a special thank you to their social chairman, Elizabeth Goode, who made the mixer with the Lambda Chis at Auburn on January 30 such a success. Many of the Lambda Chis came to Jacksonville on the 29 and had a great time with the Zetas at Brother's Bar listening to Baghdad.

The Zetas are looking forward to upcoming mixers starting with Sigma Nu on Friday, February 20. The theme will be "Be My Baby."

Zeta is having a mixer with ATO on Thursday, February 26 and the theme is "Trading Places." Other mixers include Pi Kapp on March 19, Kappa Sigma on March 26, and their first mixer with Sigma Chi on April 16.

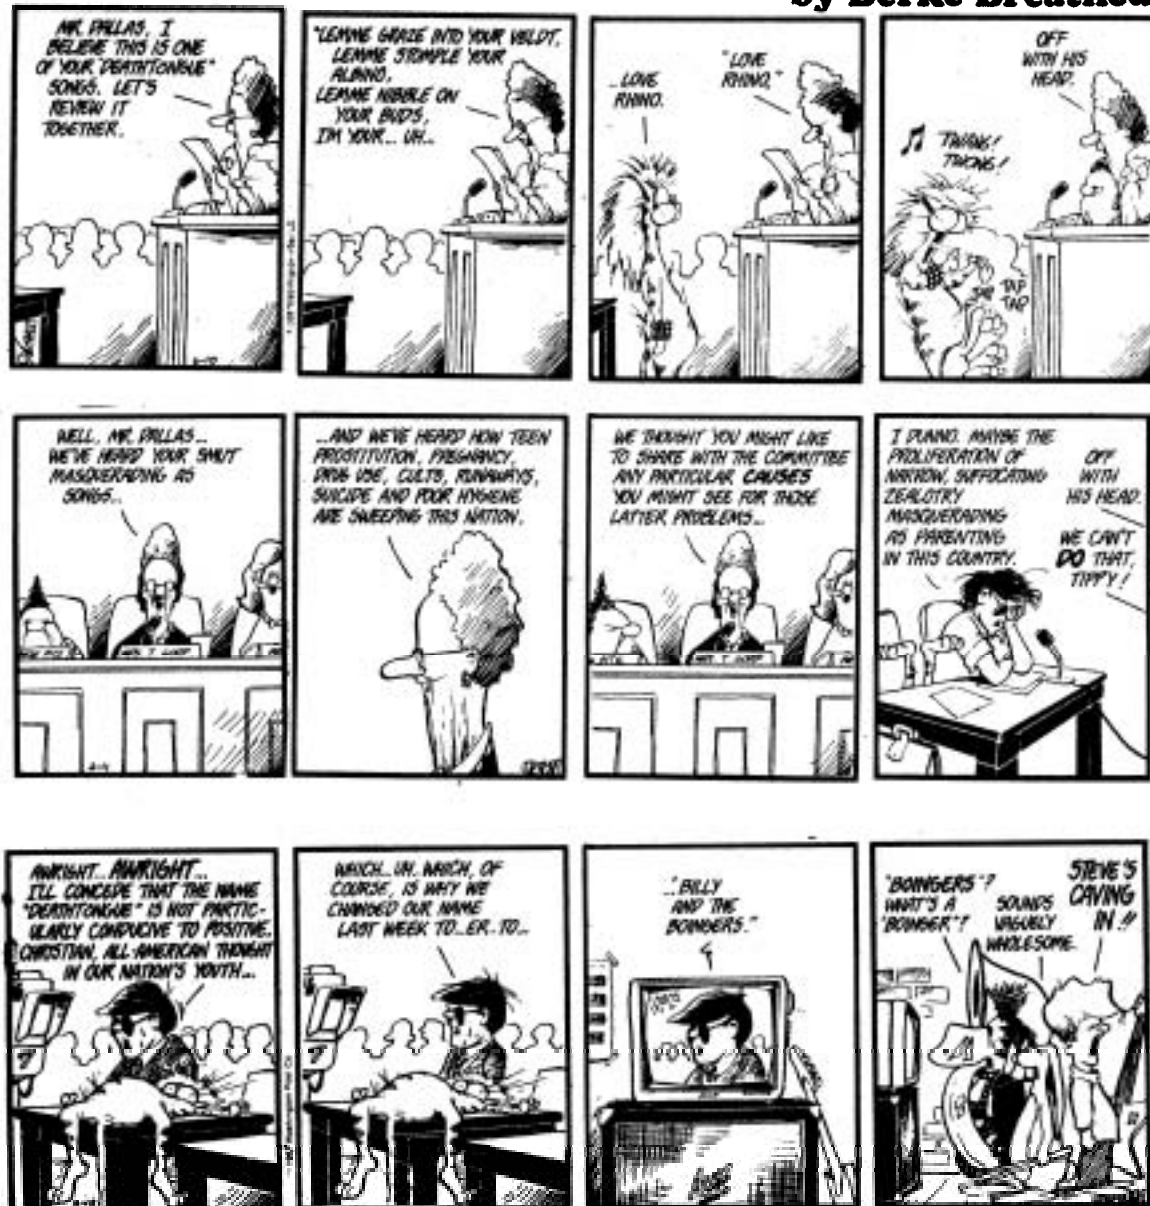

Congratulations to the Zeta basketball team who won the game against Sigma Nu little sisters on January 29. Two games are scheduled for next week on February 15 at 6:30 against the Jams and February 18 at 7:15 against the Jammers. Good luck.

Zeta is proud of their pledges who received bids during little sister rush. They are: Nan Green, Pi Kappa Phi; Brooke Kent and Sherri Reynolds, Kappa Sigma; and Holly Savas, Delta Chi.

Further congratulations to Pam Wester who was initiated into the Kappa Delta Pi national education honor society on February 4.

Zeta Psi's member of the week is Sonya Buice and pledge of the week is Missy Nuss. April Sauceman is Zeta Lady.

JSU still alive in GSC

By THOMAS BALLENGER
Chanticleer Senior Editor

The Jax State Gamecocks refused to roll over and die in their quest for the final Gulf South Conference tournament slot, as they upset the 16th ranked team in Division II, Delta State, 71-67, Monday night at Mathews Coliseum.

The victory raises the Gamecocks' record to 9-11 overall and 4-8 in the GSC. Delta falls to 17-7 overall and 8-5 in the GSC.

JSU started well and almost four minutes into the contest held a 4-0 advantage. DSU broke its scoring drought as reserve Victor Smith buried three long three-point shots in the span of 1:11 to give the visitors a 9-6 lead.

Delta State led 15-6 with 12 minutes remaining in the opening half, and things did not look good for the home club.

However, with 11:37 remaining in the half things got better for JSU. Gerald Glass, DSU's leader and also the GSC's leading scorer, picked up his third foul of the contest, which forced him to the bench for the remainder of the half.

After Glass' exit from the game, JSU ran off 13 unanswered points to grab a 19-15 lead with seven minutes left in the half.

Both teams continued to battle it out for the rest of the half, and when the smoke cleared Delta State had a tenuous 35-31 lead.

Terry Rutledge led the Gamecocks with eight points and seven rebounds in the opening half, and Robert Lee Sanders and reserve Henry Williams each added six points to the Jax State totals.

JSU shot only 26 percent for the first half, but DSU's 39 percent was not much better. If Jax State had not outrebounded Delta State 25-12 in the opening half, the game could have been already settled. As it was, DSU had a fight on its hands.

Delta State grabbed control of the game early in the second half as the Statesmen led 54-44 with 11 minutes left in the game. However, the Gamecocks, with the help of two Kevin Riggan three-point baskets, outscored the visitors 15-5 over the next five minutes to tie the game at 59-59.

After Gerald Glass' fourth personal foul gave JSU the ball, Riggan again provided the heroics. The senior from Mt. Vernon, Ill., hit one free throw, and drove the lane beautifully for a bucket to give the Gamecocks a 62-59 advantage with 5:21 left in the contest.

JSU led 68-65 with 2:21 left in the contest after Jeff Smith buried a corner jumper. Then on their next trip down the floor, Delta State was stopped by a big blocked shot by Terry Rutledge. However, the game was not over by any means.

On the next possession, Gerald Glass stole a pass and went the length of the court for a slam that cut the JSU lead to 68-67 with 1:21 left in the game. Rutledge answered with one foul shot after the big freshman grabbed an offensive rebound, and the Gamecocks had a 69-67 lead with 1:09 left on the clock.

After a missed DSU free throw attempt, JSU had the ball and the clock on its side. Delta State fouled Riggan, and he missed the front end of a one-and-one opportunity. Delta had a chance to claim the win.

With five seconds remaining, Lionel Jones missed a potential game-tying jumper, and in the ensuing chase for the ball, Delta State knocked it out of bounds.

Three seconds were left, and Gerald Glass picked up his fifth foul of the game when he tried to set up Kevin Riggan for a charging foul. Riggan calmly sank both foul shots, and the Gamecocks had achieved a 71-67 win over Delta.

"From the start of the game till the end we rebounded well, defended well, and ran our offense well. We had to play well to beat a fine Delta State ball club," Gamecock mentor Bill Jones said.

JSU outrebounded Delta 47-24 for the contest, which allowed the Gamecocks to overcome a 39 percent field goal total for the game.

Kevin Riggan led the Gamecocks with 19 points, nine of which were scored from three-point territory. Riggan also collected five rebounds, and dished out four assists in what has to be his best all-around game of the season.

"Kevin had his best game of the season. He shot the ball well. He didn't rush his shots, and he let the shots come to him. I thought we did a good job of getting him the ball in a position for him to help us," said Jones.

Derek Hicks and Terry Rutledge combined to deny Delta State the inside. Hicks totaled 14 points and 16 rebounds, while Rutledge added 13 points and 10 rebounds.

Delta State was led by Victor Smith's 17 points. Guard Scott Nagy added 14 points, and Delta's candidate for All-American honors Gerald Glass only scored 12 points.

Jax State travels to North Alabama Saturday night for a tilt with the Lions. The tipoff is at 7:30! Monday night, JSU goes to Martin, Tennessee for a game with UTM. The UTM game will start at 7:30.

Pacers slip by Jaxmen

By MIKE DOUGLASS
Chanticleer Staff Writer

The last time that the University of Tennessee at Martin Pacers beat the Gamecocks was during the 1983-84 season. Unfortunately for the Gamecocks, history repeated itself as they bowed to UTM, 66-61 in a tough loss Saturday night at Pete Mathews Coliseum.

"We just couldn't get the big baskets to go down at the times that we needed them to. Its been that kind of year," Gamecock head coach Bill Jones said.

JSU shot a horrid 8-25 for 32 percent in the first half and 35 percent overall. They were also outrebounded by UTM 46-36.

Things seemed to be going the Gamecocks' way as they took the lead, 19-18, on a Henry Williams jumper, with 7:05 left to play. On the next possession, junior forward Derek OQDoc' Hicks brought the crowd to its feet as he grabbed a Robert Lee Sanders alley-oop pass and slammed it home to put JSU up by three, 21-18, at the 4:30 mark.

The Gamecocks maintained their lead until the 1:56 mark when the Pacers went on a 6-1 scoring spurt to take control 28-26 at the half.

Early in the second half, and down by four, 37-33, Robert Lee Sanders picked up a big assist as he dished to Derek Hicks, who slammed another crowd-pleasing dunk. UTM 6-1 junior point guard Marvin Watts quickly answered the cheering crowd with a smooth 15-footer to put the Pacers back up by four.

JSU would not tie it up until the 9:20 mark when freshman guard Randall Holmes, starting for the slumping Jeff Smith, dropped in a 15-footer to tie the contest at 51-51. When Henry Williams nailed both ends of a one-and-one, he put the Gamecocks up by two, 53-51, with 8:07 left to play.

Jax State stayed on top until a Watts jumper put UTM in front, 56-55, where they would stay for the rest of the game. The Gamecocks threatened, but could not make the big plays as they lost 66-61. His loss puts the Jaxmen at 8-11 on the season. Derek Hicks led JSU in scoring with 17 points. Randall Holmes hit 5 of 11 shots from the field for 13 points. Point guard Robert Lee Sanders shot a woeful two of 14 for four points and dished out two assists. With the victory, UTM upped its record to 15-7 overall and 6-5 in the GSC.

Delta rolls over ladies

By THOMAS BALLENGER
Chanticleer Senior Editor

The Lady Statesmen of Delta State University upheld their advance billing as they blasted the JSU Lady Gamecocks 89-45 in a Gulf South Conference contest played at Pete Mathews Coliseum Monday night.

Neither team played well at the outset, and with 12 minutes remaining in the opening half, the Lady Gamecocks only trailed 13-9. However, Delta then took control of the game.

At the half, DSU led 44-27, and the rout was on.

The Lady Gamecocks only shot 28 percent in the opening half, while their visitors hit 21-30 shots for a 70 percent mark.

Delta resumed control of the game in the last half as they outscored the Lady Gamecocks 45-18. JSU's shooting woes continued as the Lady Gamecocks hit only 5-20 second half field goal attempts, which left the team at 27 percent shooting for the game.

The Lady Statesmen hit 59 percent of their shots for the contest, and outrebounded the Lady Gamecocks by a 50-32 margin.

JSU committed 30 turnovers, but many of the miscues can be attributed to Delta State's overall quickness and their alertness at playing the passing lanes.

Delta was led by forward Betsy Hubbs, who totaled 25 points on the evening. Three other Lady Statesmen players scored in double figures as the visitors completely dominated the action.

Senior Idella DeRamus was the lone JSU player to finish in double figures, scoring 13 points. DeRamus also gathered in a team-high 10 rebounds. Kim Welch and Alice Wright both scored nine points.

With the win, the Lady Statesmen's record now stands at 20-1, and the team is perfect in the GSC. JSU's record is now 6-18 overall, and 1-10 in the conference.

The Lady Gamecocks travel to Florence for a Saturday night matchup with the Lady Lions of North Alabama. UNA is the only GSC team to fall to the Lady Gamecocks this season. Monday, the ladies play at Tennessee-Martin.

DeRamus leads win

By THOMAS BALLENGER
Chanticleer Senior Editor

The Lady Gamecocks of Jacksonville State defeated the Talladega Lady Tornados 77-60 in a non-conference women's game last week.

JSU led only 33-29 at the half of the contest with both teams having difficulty finding their shooting range.

Idella DeRamus led the JSU women with nine points and 10 rebounds at the half. Also in the first half, Alicia Wright and Sue Imm each scored eight points for the Lady Gamecocks.

The second half saw the Lady Gamecocks take control of the action as they outscored their hosts 44-31 over the game's final 20 minutes.

Four players scored in double figures for Jax State. Idella DeRamus continued her fine play by scoring 20 points and grabbing 19 rebounds. Freshman center Sue Imm scored 18 points and hauled in 13 rebounds. Alicia Wright hit several long-range shots during the second half, and finished with 16 points. Wright also dished out seven assists to lead the team. Allison Rachel (See DeRAMUS, Page 11)

All-Around Sports

Gamecocks may not go far in 1987, but everyone had better look out in '88 and '89

For the first time in several years, the Gamecocks will not be participating in any post-season competition. Going into this season, a look at the youth on this year's roster was an indication that this season could possibly be a long one - and it has been.

Thomas Ballenger

Sports Editor

However, do not feel sorry for Bill Jones or assistant James Hobbs, because the next few years should be very special for the Gamecocks.

Take for example this year's starting roster. Of the team's top nine players, only two are what might be considered veterans. Kevin Riggan, a senior, and "Doc" Hicks, a junior. But both of these players were junior college transfers, so they are still young in Jones' system.

Of the other seven players, three are true freshmen, one is a redshirt freshman, and the other three are sophomores. Terry Rutledge and Robert Lee Sanders have performed well for freshmen, but they will get even better. From these numbers it is clear as to why the Gamecocks have struggled this year, the team is woefully young, but the experience gathered this year will pay dividends in the future.

Next year, with the return of this season's players and the addition of redshirt players Lenard Hughes and Rodney Stallings, the Gamecocks will pay back many of the defeats that have been inflicted on this year's team. And in two years, JSU fans may be making another trip to Springfield.

Once again, have no pity for the Gamecocks, they will be heard from loudly again in the upcoming seasons.

Lady Gamecock roundballer Idella DeRamus continues to impress. Her totals for three games this week are 68 points and 38 rebounds. It is a shame that the team has not been better during Idella's two seasons at JSU, but she has put some very impressive numbers on the board nonetheless.

Keith McKeller had a positive showing at the Scouting Combine workouts held in Indianapolis last week. Keith did not post as good a time in the forty yard dash to the best of his capability, but he proved to be the strongest tight end candidate at the workouts.

Yesterday was national signing day for high school football players, and from the looks of the early commitments, the Gamecocks were guaranteed of a successful recruiting campaign. Next week, The Chanticleer will have a complete rundown of all of the Gamecock recruits.

The men's and women's tennis teams open up soon, and Steve Bailey is very optimistic of his team's chances. The JSU men will be hard pressed to win the GSC due to the overall depth of the conference, but don't count them out. Their female counterparts are two-time defending GSC champs, and do not be surprised if they make it three titles in a row. Both teams are very talented.

Rudy Abbott's baseball team is gearing up for the 1987 season, and next week in The Chanticleer look for a preview of the Gamecock baseballers.

The JSU baseball team will be hard pressed to match last year's record of 46-12, but with Coach Abbott at the helm, nothing is impossible. A trip to Montgomery for the Division II World Series would sure be nice this year, but let's get the season underway first.

1987 JSU Hall of Fame Inductees

men were each recognized for their achievements and accomplishments for themselves and for Jacksonville State.

Livingston batters Gamecocks

By THOMAS BALLENGER
Chanticleer Senior Editor

In a loss that all but ended Jacksonville State's Gulf South Conference playoff hopes, the Jax State Gamecocks lost to the Livingston Tigers 91-76 last Thursday night at Livingston.

LU led 44-27 at intermission, which was the result of the home team's fine field goal percentage. LU hit 53 percent of its first half attempts as opposed to only 36 percent for the visiting Gamecocks.

During the second half, the Gamecocks came out inspired and cut into the Livingston advantage. Twice during the half JSU had chances to get within two points of LU, but it was not to be. The Tigers did a good job hitting their shots, and also crashing the offensive boards. JSU's road woes were not going to end on this night.

JSU outscored Livingston 49-47 during the final twenty minutes, but the halftime deficit of 17 points proved to be too much to overcome.

Derek "Doc" Hicks led the visitors with his total of 25 points. Hicks hit 9-14 floor attempts, and also grabbed 10 rebounds. Freshman Terry Rutledge scored 16 points, and also gathered in a game high 16 rebounds. Kevin Riggan added 11 points, which included three three-point baskets, and Robert Lee Sanders followed with 10 points to help the JSU cause.

Livingston was led by forward Mike Flynn, who scored 22 points and collected 11 rebounds. Guard Otis Adams added 17 points, two on a spectacular steal and dunk in the first half. Robert Bendolph and Barry Randles added 15 and 13 points respectively to the LU totals.

The loss drops JSU to 8-10 overall, and to 3-7 in the Gulf South Conference. With only six GSC games remaining, the Gamecocks cannot afford any other setbacks if their faint playoff hopes are to be kept alive.

Livingston raised its record to 9-11 overall, and 4-8 in the GSC.

The Gamecocks take on old rival UNA Saturday night in Florence. Tipoff is set for 7:30. Monday night the team travels to Martin, Tennessee for a 7:30 contest with UTM.

Lady Pacers control action at JSU

By THOMAS BALLENGER
Chanticleer Senior Editor

The Lady Gamecocks of Jax State hosted the Lady Pacers of Tennessee-Martin last Saturday night and the visitors came away with a 76-53 Gulf South Conference victory.

UT-Martin dominated the opening half and at halftime led 42-19. Big center Mary Long led the way for the Lady Pacers as she totaled 12 points and 10 rebounds in the opening half.

JSU played Martin on even terms during the second half with both teams scoring 34 points, but the damage was inflicted during the first half.

Senior forward Idella DeRamus was the lone bright spot for the Lady Gamecocks. DeRamus scored 23 points on 10-15 shooting from the floor, and collected nine rebounds. No other JSU player scored in double figures.

Lady Pacer center Mary Long scored 18 points to lead her team. The 6-3 player also grabbed a game-high 11 rebounds, despite sitting out almost the entire second half. Pam Rudolph scored 12 points, and reserve guard Pam Hutcherson added 11.

UTM outrebounded JSU by a margin of 41-29, and outshot the Lady Gamecocks in field goal percentage by a margin of 53 percent to 37 percent.

JSU's overall record is now 6-17 on the season, and 1-9 in the Gulf South Conference. Tennessee-Martin's record now stands at 11-10 and 4-8 in the GSC.

The Lady Gamecocks play at North Alabama this Saturday, and also travel to Tennessee-Martin for a Monday night contest.

LU women demolish Lady Gamecocks

By THOMAS BALLENGER
Chanticleer Senior Editor

The visiting Lady Gamecocks of Jax State took one on the chin last Thursday, as they were defeated 82-59 by the Lady Tigers of Livingston in a Gulf South Conference contest.

LU led 40-26 at halftime, as the homestanding club shot 57 percent from the floor during the opening half. JSU's 10-12 from the foul line of the first half deficit could have been much worse.

The second half was not any kinder for the Lady Gamecocks, as the Lady Tigers continued to add to their lead.

Idella DeRamus scored 25 points to lead to JSU effort. DeRamus shot 10-14 from the field, and 5-6 from the charity stripe. The senior from Prattville also raked in 10 rebounds to lead the team in that category as well. Alicia Wright hit for 14 points as she, along with DeRamus, were the only Lady Gamecock scorers in double figures.

Livingston placed five players in double figures, led by Dorothy Moore's 14 points. Tina McCloud scored 13 points. Cassandra Barker and Lena Taylor 12 each, and Carla Dudley added 11 points.

LU shot 56 percent from the floor for the game, and compared to JSU's 38 percent shooting, LU's total is even more impressive. The Lady Gamecocks were out-rebounded 40-27 by the host team.

The loss drops JSU's record to 6-16 overall, and 1-8 in the Gulf South Conference.

The Lady Gamecocks travel to North Alabama for a Saturday evening contest, then to Tennessee-Martin for a Monday night game.

DeRamus

was the final Lady Gamecock player in double figures, as the senior guard hit for 14 points, highlighted by an 8-8 showing at the foul line.

Jax State outrebounded the bigger Lady Tornados 54-43, and because of their dominance on the boards, the Lady Gamecocks were able to gain the victory.

JSU's overall record now stands at 6-15. The Lady Gamecocks next game will be Saturday as they travel to Florence to take on the Lady Lions of North Alabama. The following Monday the women will travel to Tennessee-Martin. Both games will start at 5:15 p.m.
