SGA elections to be held March 4

Barbour

Newman

Harley

Burton

By ROY WILLIAMS
Chanticleer Senior Editor

Elections for the 1987-88 SGA officers will take place on Wednesday, March 4 from 9 a.m. until 4 p.m. on the fourth floor of the Theron Montgomery Building.

This year's candidates include: Vonda Barbour and Gary Newman, SGA president; Greg Harley, SGA vice-president; and Dwight Burton, SGA treasurer.

VONDA BARBOUR, the current SGA president, says the experiences and ideas she has gained this year make her the best candidate for the presidency. She is a 22-year-old senior communications major geography minor from Boise, Idaho. She has a GPA of 2.37.

Besides acting as chairperson of various SGA committees, Barbour is actively involved in Zeta Tau Alpha Sorority, Campus Outreach, Sigma Delta Chi, and is a Kappa Alpha Little Sister. She is also a member of several presidential task forces.

Her honors include having been selected as the 1987 Miss Mimosa, Most Influential Zeta, and Outstanding Student by the Rotary Club. She was also one of only 12 students in the southeast chosen to attend a Case-3 SGA convention held in Florida a few weeks ago.

"I want people to look at what I've done. I started the Leadership Council, an organization in which the presidents of every major organization on campus get together for round-table discussions. I also set up several spirit competitions and a welcome tea for Dr. Harold McGee. The SGA president's main job is to be a liaison between the students and the administration. I feel my year has been effective because I work well with our administration," Barbour said.

She listed her main goals for next year:

- Strengthening the Leadership Council

"I would like to see every club president on campus become involved in the Leadership Club," Barbour said.

- Upgrading the Spirit Competitions

"It is very important that the student body show their support for our athletic teams," she said.

- Increasing the SGA budget

"I've already talked to Dr. McGee about this. I would like to increase our entertainment and lecture programs. Our entertainment budget this year was $15,000. Most colleges our size have a budget much more than that. For instance, Livingston (which has only 3,000 students compared to our 7,000) had an entertainment budget of $60,000 this year. Dr. McGee may not be able to meet all the increases we ask for, but he's willing to listen," Barbour said.

- Enacting a Student Activity Fee

"I would like to push for a student activity fee. Most of the students I've talked to have said they want a fee. This would allow us to have more activities and better entertainment," Barbour said.

- Improving Freshmen Orientation

"During orientation, we need to be able to sell JSU. I'd like to work on a video, in which we'd videotape the various buildings, sports and facilities such as in Self Hall. We could use this as a tool to attract more students during our freshmen orientation in the summer," Barbour said.

- Utilizing the Theron Montgomery Building

"I want us to use the Theron Montgomery Building as a student center. I would like for it to become a true Student Commons building, with more student activities (such as parties, meetings) held here," Barbour said.

- Increasing the Campus Lecture Program

"At the conventions I've attended this year, I learned about several interesting speakers that would go over well on this campus and appeal to a wide range of the students," she said.

Barbour sees the major challenge of next year as combating student apathy. She feels many students are apathetic because they feel there is nothing to do on campus.

"This year has been a big improvement as far as apathy is concerned, but it's still a problem. At times, it seems as if JSU is split between minorities, clubs, Greeks and independents. If we can all work together, there is no limit to what we can do," she said.

GARY NEWMAN is challenging Barbour for the presidency. He feels that he has the experience and knowledge necessary to lead the SGA based on his past experiences as a leader in various campus activities. He is a senior communication major, minoring in English. He has a GPA of 1.84.

Newman has been an SGA senator and chairman of the Crime Prevention Committee for the past two years, and is a member of Alpha Phi Omega Service Fraternity, Cinematic Arts Council, Communications Board, University Programs Council, College Republicans, the presidential task force on student life, Alpha Psi Omega and Mask and Wig (two drama organizations).

In addition, he was selected an Outstanding Young Man of America in 1986, serves as ICC representative for Mask and Wig, Alpha Phi Omega and Alpha Psi Omega, and is helping to develop a Crisis Line on campus.

Though this is a full-slate of activities, Newman said he is willing to cut his activities down to a more feasible number if he is elected SGA president.

"Most of the activities, reports and research I'm working on with these organizations will be completed in April. But I'm not closing the door on them. I feel I can better represent those organizations as SGA president," Newman said.

Newman said he is running for president so that he can work hand-in-hand with the SGA vice-president in obtaining high-quality entertainment that suits the variety of tastes found on campus.

He listed his goals for next year:

- Improving Entertainment

"With corporate sponsorship I feel we can get some top quality groups and speakers to the campus. I'd like to see more politically-oriented speakers and entertainment that represents a cross-section of the students," Newman said.

- Enacting a Student Activities Fee

"I feel a student activities fee would be good for this campus. It would be voted on by the students beforehand to get their opinions. Every student I've talked to has been in favor of it. You'd probably have to pay less for concerts and, in some cases, possibly nothing at all. Every student could benefit from it, because the money generated by the fee would go to both entertainment and other campus activities," he said.

- To bring foreign films for the Cinematic Arts Council

Junior Jennifer Bolt prepares to fly a Cessna Flight class may be offered on Jax State campus this fall

By WENDY PEACOCK
Chanticleer Staff Writer

Have you ever thought about learning to fly an airplane as a class elective? Jennifer Bolt, a junior communication major has, and is the process of trying to bring a flight training course back to the University.

"I have an extreme interest in obtaining my private pilot license and thought a flight class should be offered on campus," Bolt said.

She said she found out that a flight class used to be taught on campus, and that it has not been offered this past year due to a lack of student enrollment and because the former flight instructor no longer works at the University.

"I took it upon myself to try to rejuvenate the excitement of the students and make them aware of the possibility of the class being offered," Bolt said.

Bolt approached this problem by writing to President Harold McGee and James Reaves, vice president of academic affairs, and asking about the possibility of offering a flight class on campus this fall.

English department to offer Grammar Hotline

By CYNDI OWENS

Chanticleer Staff Writer

The English Department has opened a Grammar Hotline Service which is designed to offer help for problems with any aspect of English.

"It is not innovative. It is not peculiar to us," Dr. Clyde Cox, head of the English department, said. Cox added that Auburn University also has a hotline.

Cox, along with English instructors Carol Cauthen and William Miller, will answer calls on the hotline.

"We have always informally answered questions that the public interests and opinions, I will then talk to Dr. Reaves again. But first and foremost, the students must show their interest by phoning Dr. Robert MacRae at 231-4815 or Dr. William Reid at 231-4814," Bolt said.

If the class, entitled Introduction to Flight, is offered this fall, it would count four hours of credit. The class would offer the students the option of taking a three hour lab, which would consist of the actual flying of a plane, Bolt said.

The flying of the plane would take place at the "Gold-Dust Flight Training School", operated at the Jacksonville Airport by Jean Wagon. The cost for flying is paid by the student. The airport offers a package deal of approximately $1,900, with a guaranteed license, Wagon said. She added that this price is much cheaper than the $2,800 - $3,000 one would have to pay for private lessons.

"The classroom portion of the course will consist of learning plane parts, physics, wing lifts, rules of operation by the Federal Aviation Administration and meteorology,"

"After evaluating the students'

MacRae said.

For more information about the course, students may contact MacRae at 231-4815 or Reid at 231-4814. Students with questions concerning the lab portion (the flying of the plane) should call Wagon of the Gold-Dust Flying Service at 435-2032, Bolt said.

Bolt, who has never flown a plane before, hopes to fulfill her dream of flying and obtain a license through the school so that she can fly solo, teach others this skill, and possibly allow flying to become a major part of her career.

"I'm interested in this flight course. I think this is something that every student should have the option of participating in here on our campus," Bolt said.

Miss JSU Pageant scheduled for weekend

Jacksonville -- The annual Miss Jacksonville State University Pageant, a preliminary to the Miss Alabama Pageant, will be held in JSU's Leone Cole Auditorium beginning at 8 p.m. on Saturday, February 28.

Contestants will include: Melissa Dawn Barnett of Goodwater; Julie Elizabeth of Pinson; Cynthia Paige Fumbanks of Decatur, Ga.; Tzena Lucille Gibbs of Arab; Shannon Lyn Goforth of Gadsden; Veda Janette Goodwin of Ft. Payne; Ginger Denise Hodges of Ellington, Tx.; Dana Felicia Hurst of Rockmart, Ga.; Revonda Amanda Kiser of Piedmont; Julie Marion Sayers of Jacksonville; Millicent Suzanne Smith of Albertville; and Jennifer Michelle Watson of Birmingham.

Barnett is the daughter of Robert Barnett and Mona Green of Goodwater. A computer information system major, she is a member of Zeta Tau Alpha sorority and is a Kappa Alpha Southern Bell. She was chosen Miss Rodeo Alabama in 1982.

A communications major, Miss Durbin is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elwyn G. Durbin of Pinson. Her college activities include membership in Alpha Xi Delta sorority, serving as a senator in the JSU Student Government Association, and president of the Panhellenic Council.

Fumbanks is the daughter of John and Sandra Fumbanks of Decatur, Ga. She is majoring in music education, with emphasis on voice and flute. She presently serves as the choir director for youth and children's music at the East Gadsden Cumberland Presbyterian Church.

Expecting to graduate in May, Miss Gibbs has attended JSU as a Faculty Scholar. She was chosen as first alternate to Miss JSU last year. The daughter of Billy and Martha Gibbs of Arab, she is a finance major. Her college activities include serving as a staff writer and senior editor for the campus newspaper and membership selection director of Phi Mu sorority and ICC representative for SAM.

Goforth is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Goforth of Gadsden. A marketing major, she is a member of the Marching Southerners and sings in the A Cappella Choir.

A business major with a double minor in English and communications, Miss Goodwin is the daughter of James and Phyllis Goodwin of Ft. Payne. She was valedictorian of Collinsville High School last year where she held the Miss CHS crown.

Recognized as one of the top twenty students in her graduating class of Dobie High School in Ellington, Tx., Miss Hodges is the daughter of Doyle and Brenda Hodges and is a secondary education major at JSU. She is a former recipient of the President's Academic Fitness Award and has toured with the Spirit of Atlanta drum and bugle corps.

Hurst is the daughter of Johnny and Nancy Pinkard of Rockmart, Ga., and is a communications major at JSU. She owns her own business, Student Body Aerobics, in Jacksonville. She is a member of Zeta Tau Alpha sorority.

Pursuing a Bachelor of Science in music and elementary education, Kiser is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl C. Kiser of Piedmont. She is the past recipient of a one semester Vocal Scholarship and a one semester A Cappella Choir Scholarship. Miss Kiser is listed in a volume of "Who's Who Among American High School Students."

Sayers is currently working on a Bachelor of Science degree with plans to enter medical school. She is the daughter of Marion M. Sayers of Jacksonville. A graduate of Jacksonville High School, she was a Academic All-American and captain of the Varsity Cheerleading Squad and the Varsity Tennis Team. Miss Sayers was chosen as the 1987 Calhoun County Junior Miss.

A member of the Marching Southerners, Smith is working on a degree in elementary education. The daughter of Glenda Smith of Albertville, she is listed in a volume of "Who's Who Among American High School Students" and is an Alpha Phi Omega pledge.

Watson is the daughter of Tom and Sharon Watson of Birmingham. She is working on a degree in communications at JSU, where she is a member of Phi Mu sorority and performs with the JSU Jazz Band. She was chosen as the 1986 Miss Northeast Alabama.

Harvey receives doctorate

Brenda Long Harvey, assistant professor of nursing at JSU, recently received her doctorate in nursing from the University of Alabama in Birmingham.

Harvey received her undergraduate degrees at JSU, where she graduated with honors in nursing in 1975. She joined the JSU nursing faculty in 1978, and went on to receive her master's in nursing from UAB in 1978.

Harvey has conducted numerous research studies since 1978, including a study of cigarette smoking and chronic airway obstruction, and a study of self-care practices for prevention of low back pain among industrial workers. She has served as a reviewer for RN Magazine and had published numerous scholarly articles within her field.

Active in many organizations, Harvey serves on the board of directors of the Calhoun county chapter of the American Cancer Society and is chairperson of its public education committee. She and her husband Dave reside in Anniston.

Sherman sets powerlifting record

By ROY WILLIAMS
Chanticleer Senior Editor

Jeff Sherman, a 24-year-old weightlifter known to his friends as "Huggy," recently broke the state powerlifting bench press record at the Alabama State Powerlifting Championships.

During the event held January 31 in the Cullman Civic Center, Sherman broke the powerlifting-bench press record in the 181-pound class by benching 425 lbs., then set a new record when he benched 460 lbs. The old record, 415 lbs., was held by Bob McKee.

Sherman, who stands a muscular 5-foot 4 inches, regularly competes in the 180-pound class. He has won numerous weightlifting competitions, including the Alabama state championships in 1985 as a 198-pounder, the Cullman Open, the Big Heart of Dixie, and a contest at the Federal Correction Institution in Talladega.

"It feels really great to have broken the record. But much of the credit for my accomplishments should go to my coach, Pete Pelham. He's been involved in powerlifting and weightlifting for 13 years and has shown me a lot of

"It feels really great to have broken the record." —Sherman shortcuts as my trainer. He can bench press 500-plus pounds himself and I recommend him as a great strength coach," Sherman said.

Sherman, who majors in dietetics, also credited the dietetics department for his success.

"Two dietetics instructors, Debra Goodwin and Dr. Elizabeth Sowell, have been especially helpful with my dieting. They are extremely knowledgeable in the field of dietetics," he said.

Sherman is originally from Miami, Fl. He graduated from high school as a 112-pounder, but a desire to increase his strength and size persuaded him to begin lifting weights. After graduating from high school, he served in the U.S. Army from 1980-83 and participated on the All-Army Wrestling Team. He came to JSU in the fall of 1983.

"The dietetics department has helped me stay in shape. I lose 20 pounds during training before each contest. They've advised me as to the special diets and supplements I needed to build up my strength," Sherman said.

Sherman plans to enter two more events in 1987. In mid-July, he will travel to Virginia to compete in the United States Bench Pressing Championships. In August, he will attend the Police and Fire World Championships in San Diego.

"I plan on squatting 650 pounds, benching 500-plus pounds and deadlifting 650 pounds at the competitions. Only six people in the world in my weight class have ever bench pressed over 500 pounds before, so I'm trying to join a pretty elite group. But if I train hard and concentrate, I'm sure I can accomplish my goals," Sherman said.

Campus bookstore offers pins designed by JSU student

By ROY WILLIAMS
Chanticleer Senior Editor

JSU students can now take a new memento of Jacksonville State University home with them thanks to new 24-karat gold-plated pins being sold in the Campus Bookstore. The pins were designed by junior art major Derrick Smith of Oxford.

The pins are 5 8's of an inch thick, outlined in gold, and consist of a white background with the red letters JSU in the center. The words Jacksonville State University are engraved in the gold circle of each pin. They are on sale in the bookstore for $3.98 each.

Smith says he came up with the design as during a commercial design course he took last fall under art instructor Marvin Shaw.

"It was part of a class project. He gave us the size of the layout and the colors he wanted, and each student came up with their own designs. I was real pleased when I won, received a free pin and even got an A for the course," Smith said.

The pins were made in California and shipped to the bookstore at the end of January, Peggy Peel, manager of the campus bookstore said.

"Each pin was hand-finished. The man who made them has been doing this type of work for over 50 years and puts forth a tremendous effort in his product. That's very evident in the quality of the pins," Peel said.

According to Peel, the pins can be used as tie tacks, lapel pins or even as cuff links.

Smith, a marketing minor who hopes to work for an advertising firm after graduating, says he has had an ongoing interest in art for several years. Last fall, he designed a layout poster that was used for the long distance telephone service on campus. He is currently working on several other art projects in Hammond Hall. His interest include photography, painting and weightlifting.

"I feel the most creative part of the pin was the JSU letters. It was hard coming up with a design on such a small area of space, but I am pleased with how it turned out," Smith said.

Large quantities of the pins are still available in the bookstore, Peel said.

Elections

- To start a Dial-a-Ride program "This program would be designed to provide transportation back to the campus for students who have been drinking too much," Newman said.

- Starting a Dorm Insurance program for students to protect their valuables

- Starting organ donor drives to be run alongside the blood drives.

- Providing legal matter seminars in which professionals visit the campus and assist students with their problems.

- To create better library hours in the summer

"I know they are understaffed. But I feel we could improve the hours by opening the library later in the morning and keeping it open longer at night. More students use the library a night," Newman said.

- Providing nursery care for students who have small children

"The facility we have now is understaffed. If the task forces come through with their plans to ship money around to where it is needed and take away where it is not needed, maybe we can expand on the nursery facilities we have,"

he said. Newman said he wants to deal with student apathy and give the students a reason to stay on campus. He would also like to see more (See ELECTIONS, Page 8)

Black History Month

Thomas addresses AAA, urges campus unity among blacks

By MIKE DOUGLASS
Chanticleer Staff Writer

On Tuesday, Feb. 17, in a program sponsored by the Afro American Association, Anniston lawyer Cleo Thomas appeared in the Theron Montgomery Building Auditorium and spoke on methods of helping Black students cope on predominantly White campuses.

Thomas received his undergraduate degree from the University of Alabama in Tuscaloosa. He was active in the Black Student Organization as well as Kappa Alpha Psi Fraternity. He attended Harvard and Oxford Universities.

Thomas spoke on the fact that although many of the largest strides in the civil rights movement have been made on college campuses, some people feel that Blacks on a White campus should not bother getting involved with student government or even fraternity life.

"There are those that would assert that that life belongs to someone else. Why are we to assume that the activities at the heart of the university are not for us? This is your university; this is your home," Thomas said.

Thomas spoke on the importance of Black student organizations on predominantly White campuses. He also answered some critics who feel that it is inappropriate to allow such organizations to exist.

"It's highly appropriate; we should come together. It would be unnatural, with hundreds of Black students on this campus, to not come together and share like experiences," Thomas said.

Thomas warned against the dangers of Blacks stereotyping other Blacks.

"We sometimes require a certain conformity that all Black people should be like us, and if they aren't, we exclude them as being too White. If we aren't like the racists which we abhor, then we must let people be themselves. Believe me, everybody who looks black is black," Thomas concluded.

Changes seen in library

By Harry D. Nuttall

It has been a couple of weeks since our last column, and that means it is time for a library update. We have ~~some~~ new machines on the fourth floor that will generate some interest. We have two Royal 1803 photocopiers that make copies on three paper sizes: 8 1/2 x 11, 8 1/2 x 14, and 11 x 17. Cost per copy is 10 cents for the two smaller sizes and twenty cents for the larger.

For those needing articles from business periodicals we have a 3M 900 reader-printer. This is used in conjunction with the business microfilm index and contains articles on cartridges that can be inserted into the reader-printer. Cost per copy is fifteen cents. Additional information about these machines can be obtained at the fourth floor reference counter.

International students will be interested to hear that the library is now receiving the weekly news periodical, West Africa, located on the third floor. The call number is DT491.W4. Ask for West Africa at the third floor reference counter.

The suggestion box located at the lobby circulation desk yielded a meager crop of suggestions this time, and all of those concerned what to put in the Coke machine located in the lounge area. We will inquire into the possibility of putting Tab and Diet Dr. Pepper in the machine, but Jack Daniels is not available in cans.

Some students have expressed unhappiness with having their bags checked upon their departure from the library. The delay may be inconvenient, but some security measures are necessary to retard book theft. Without these measures, the book that disappears may be the book you need; and any librarian can show you a stack of cards several inches thick as mute testimony that books do disappear from here.

Compared to some libraries, security measures here are more than reasonable. At some larger mid-western universities one is prohibited from entering in the door without a currently-validated ID card, and if by some miracle one does, he is quickly escorted out. So next time you feel hassled by security personnel just remember that those people are on the payroll to look out for what are ultimately your best interests, and when they ask to see your bookbag they are only doing their jobs.

For some reason when people return books to the library they tend to leave belongings in them. Our experience has generally been to discover abandoned term paper notes, but reports from the field reveal a list of items used as bookmarks ranging from the remunerative (money) to the bizarre (pajama drawstrings and, in one instance, a slice of raw bacon).

Please, if you must leave personal property in the books, at least let it be something we can use. U.S. currency is always welcome, and items such as blank index cards and well broken-in pens are also handy. If we are going to have to cull things out of the books at least make it worth our while.

That's all for this column. Watch for the next library update.

Spelman College to host 'The Cosby Show'

(CPS) -- Spelman College in Atlanta, Ga. has "won" the chance to host an on-location taping of an episode of The Cosby Show.

NBC, which airs the top-rated TV show, -- the wife of star Bill Cosby -- toured a number of southern historically black colleges to find the right campus to become "Hillman College."

Hillman is the fictitious college Denise, one of the show's characters, attends. In the show, Denise's father and grandfather are Hillman graduates.

JoAnne Alfano, a NBC spokeswoman in New York, says Spelman, an 800-student private women's college, "best exemplifies the small college with traditional values that we want Hillman to be."

"Two or three" colleges competed for the chance to serve as a set for the episode, Alfano says.

Camille Cosby toured the school while researching her master's thesis on black students in higher education, says Dr. Oscar Porter, spokesman for Tougaloo College in Mississippi, one of the schools considered for the show.

Spelman is 105 years old -- the oldest black women's college in the... (See SPELMA, Page 6)

Sponsors are the backbone of ROTC program

The ROTC Sponsor Corps is an active branch of the ROTC department at Jacksonville State University. The corps participates in all activities of the Military Science department in a variety of ways.

Each semester these outgoing young women put forth their time and energy promoting and representing the ROTC department. Some of their duties include preparing refreshments for the annual ROTC Week and summer "Step-Up" picnics, supporting the JSU Rifle team and the Scabbard and Blade Military Honor Society, and assisting the department with recruiting activities. The Sponsors also play an essential role in the organization of the annual Dining Out (a formal dinner given in honor of the graduating cadets).

Recruitment is the backbone of the ROTC program. It is here that the Sponsors play their most important role by recruiting new cadets into the program. They travel to area high schools with the department's cadre and answer questions students may have concerning JSU ROTC.

The Sponsors not only provide a service for the university, but they also perform community services. This past semester they spent a large amount of their time conducting fund raisers. The money raised was used to help support a family during the Christmas holidays.

Sandy Nelson, former Sponsor commander, explained that a Sponsor must be energetic, outgoing, and enthusiastic. She further explained the process of becoming a member of the organization.

"Each year we hold a Pledge Tea. This tea allows the prospective members to meet the Sponsors and ask questions about the activities of the corps," Nelson said.

An interview is held for the pledge prospects the following week. The board consists of the Professor of military science, Dean of Women, Cadet Battalion Commander, and the Sponsor Commander. During the interview, the prospects are evaluated on initiative, poise, personality, appearance, and overall GPA.

On February 3rd, the Sponsor pledge class was inducted into the corps. The ROTC department would like to recognize these young ladies for their contribution and thank them for their support.

The new Sponsors are: Kim Borstorff, Belinda Brazelle, Torina Brown, Cayla Campbell, Tabatha Datcher, Dale Hall, Rosemary

Horn, Tracie Lee, Kimberly Magee, Michelle McMyler, Sharon Miller, Lori Moore, Tina Orr, Lisa Poe, Fran Whitton, Susan Wilson. Special recognition goes out to Kimberly Magee. She was selected as Outstanding Pledge for the fall semester class.

As the new Sponsors were inducted, the new chain-of-command took office. Sharon Snead, the new commander, was asked how she felt about being a Sponsor.

"I've been in the corps for three years and during that time I have learned a great deal about the military and leadership. I would recommend (See SPONSORS, Page 15) world, says college spokeswoman Jo Moore Stewart. She adds the school will not be paid for the use of their campus.

"We will be recompensed with national recognition," Stewart says.

"Mr. Cosby has donated to the college generously over the last several years. The figures I am not at liberty to give out."

Moreover, Cosby has a special connection to Spelman.

"His second daughter attends school here," Stewart reports, "and his son will attend Morehouse (an all-male private college nearby) next fall."

"He sat on the podium during our last commencement, and kissed all of the graduates," Stewart recalls. "It was very moving."

Spelman and Morehouse students will work as extras on the show.

Cosby Show publicist Kim Insley isn't sure when actual filming will start on the campus, but says if the episode is a hit, NBC may spin off a series about the character, played by Lisa Bonet, at the college.

One vote, more or less— What difference does it make?

- One vote does count
- One vote made Oliver Cromwell Lord Protector of the Commonwealth and gave him control of England. (1645)
- One vote caused Charles I to be executed. (1649)
- One vote decided that Americans speak English rather than German (1776)
- One vote kept Aaron Burr, later charged with treason, from becoming president. (1800)
- One vote elected Marcus Morton governor of Massachusetts. (1839)
- One vote saved President Andrew Johnson from impeachment. (1868)
- One vote changed France from a majority to a republic. (1875)
- One vote admitted Texas, California, Oregon and Washington to the Union (1845, 1850, 1859, 1889)
- One voted elected Rutherford B Hayes to the presidency, and the man in the electoral college who cast that vote was an Indiana congressman elected by one vote (1876)
- One vote made Adolph Hitler head of the Nazi party. (1923)
- One vote saved the selective service system only 12 weeks before Pearl Harbor. (1941)

Something To Think About

Condom ads: A matter of the public's health

Usually when I flip through my favorite magazines, I give the ads a slight skim over as I turn to the articles of interest. This time it was different.

I had heard it was coming to magazines and television. I couldn't wait to see what all the fuss was about. It jumped out at me, but I was prepared - a whole page advertising a condom.

And talk about stirring controversy and making people hot under the collar.

Proponents of condom advertising argue that these ads will not only help in the area of sex education, but aid in the struggle of preventing AIDS and other Sexually Transmitted Diseases (STD).

Vicky Wallace
Editor-in-Chief

On the other hand, opponents say such advertising and actions of Rev. Carl Titchener of suburban Buffalo, who distributed condoms to the males in his Sunday congregation this month, advocates sexual activity.

Think about this: With more than million teenage girls becoming pregnant each year and the alarming number of AIDS cases rising everyday, don't you think our society needs sex education in our classrooms (starting at least in 8th or 7th grade), clinics that dispense contraceptives and offer family-planning counseling, and mandatory blood tests for other groups besides the military.

I believe abstinence should be taught to children and teenagers FIRST in any type of sex education (until they decided to get married or emotionally and psychologically ready to handle such a situation) - whether it be from the parents, the school, or both. But from the rising number of pregnancies each year, teaching this option alone apparently isn't working. Fact: Public health officials are beginning to worry that sexually active teenagers will be the next AIDS "high risk" group an article in Newsweek reports.

The thought is frightening. I believe children should be told the whole story about the "birds and the bees" - contraceptives, pregnancy, abortion, marriage, love, responsibility, infatuation, AIDS and other venereal diseases plus any other related subjects.

As for the concept for adding other groups to be mandatorially tested for AIDS, I'm on the side of Officials of the federal Centers for Disease Control, who suggested to the government the idea of recommending mandatory blood testing for exposure to the AIDS virus to the following groups: pregnant women, couples applying for marriage licenses, people treated for other venereal diseases and all patients admitted to hospitals.

Am I serious about this? Yes. When I read in Newsweek that as many as two million people in America are infected with the deadly AIDS virus and don't even know it, it was enough convince me that it is an option that definitely needs to be taken seriously by the government. The battle with AIDS is a strong and until we find a cure, no option should be considered too silly or ridiculous if it has any potential to help.

Condom advertising is one good example now. People are shocked to see such ads appearing on some television stations like KRON in San Francisco and major newspapers and magazines like Newsweek and Ebony. But why? Isn't it about time we come out of the closet and frankly discuss something that is growing out of control and what can be done to help prevent it?

Help celebrate freedom of speech

By ZENOBLIA PETTWAY
Chanticleer Staff Writer

Nothing could be more irrational than to give the people power and to withhold from them information, without which power is abused. A people who mean to be their own governors must arm themselves with the power which knowledge gives. A popular government without popular information or the means of acquiring it is but a prologue to a farce or a tragedy, or perhaps both.

-James Madison
Letter to W.T. Barry
August 4, 1822

On March 16, 1987, a celebration will take place. This celebration will be one that each United States citizen should take part in. It will be a celebration that will bring each individual memories that activist and civil rights leaders dutifully exercised. This day entitled Freedom of Information Day will be celebrated on our campus.

FID was proclaimed in the name of James Madison, our fourth President, who was born on this day 236 years ago. Madison was the principal author of the Bill of Rights to our Constitution, through which he assured each citizen, "freedom of speech."

Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion, or prohibiting the free exercise thereof; or abridging the freedom of speech, or of the press; or the right of the people peaceably to assemble, and to petition the government for a redress of grievances.

These words will be reflected upon to bring to mind to each citizen the liberties that each and everyone of us enjoy. FID will help us to remember that only 25 percent of the nations of the world enjoy a free press:

- In South Africa last December, the government announced new restrictions on the press. Journalist can no longer report the news in its entirety. Many South African journalists believe this to be the end of freedom of the press there.

- In the Soviet Union, despite claims that the media had more power, the European people were not allowed to be forewarned of poisonous radiation released into the air by a nuclear accident at Chernobyl.

Such events should make students, citizens and individuals feel that this is a victorious celebration for each of us, because we, as American citizens, have the right to speak out against such injustice.

It is time that we stopped taking our privileges for granted, and began comparing ourselves with other nations. We should be thankful that we are allowed to know what happens in our day to day society, and by celebrating Freedom of Information Day we can show our appreciation.

Jacksonville

City could profit by offering more

By ROY WILLIAMS
Chanticleer Senior Editor

Jacksonville State University has been known as a suitcase college for a long time because of the large number of college students who go home nearly every weekend. Many say the reasoning behind this is that there is nothing to do on campus. But that is not the only reason.

The city of Jacksonville just does not offer any reason for students to want to stay here. There are no movie theaters, civic centers, skating rinks or bowling alleys in Jacksonville. What can one say about a college town when the shopping highlight of the city is known as Walmart?

According to a survey of over 300 citizens, conducted by sociology professor Dr. Adrian Aveni and his 57-301 students last spring, several Jacksonville residents feel the city does need more recreational facilities. In order of preference, they said they would like to see the following facilities in Jacksonville:

- A movie theater
- Twenty percent of the citizens surveyed feel Jacksonville needs a theater. Presently, if a student wanted to go see a movie he would have to drive all the way to Anniston or Oxford or to the new theater in Lenlock. Thus, students who have no means of transportation often do not get the opportunity to see current movies.

• A skating rink
Twelve percent of the citizens surveyed feel the city needs to build a skating rink. Anniston and Oxford both have skating rinks, but again, many students are without transportation and would prefer one within the city.

• A bowling alley
Twelve percent of the citizens surveyed want a bowling alley to be built in the city. The city of Anniston has a bowling alley, a facility which appeals to both the young and old. However, many JSU students have not experienced the pleasure a bowling alley within the city.

• A teen center
Eight percent of the citizens surveyed felt the need for a teen center in the city. Jacksonville has had a problem in recent years with teenagers "hanging out at night in McDonald's, Hardee's or in supermarket parking lots. Not long ago, a young teenager was killed following an incident in the Winn Dixie parking lot. The city does need a designated place for teenagers to gather together. To combat violence or drug usage, perhaps an adult chaperon could supervise the center.

These are by no means all the facilities that are needed within Jacksonville. Students often complain of the lack of well-known eating places found here. True, establishing all of the above-mentioned facilities would involve a great deal of money. Yet, they could bring in an immense profit to the city in the long run.

This is a problem that must be addressed. Jacksonville does need some type of recreational facility to relieve the boredom that often occurs on campus. This would go a long way in keeping more students here on weekends and helping the University get rid of its image as a suitcase college.

Any student who feels that the city needs to establish more facilities for young people should contact Jacksonville mayor John Nisbet and express their opinions.

activities where JSU corresponds with the community.

"I want to see every student, be they Greeks, independent, foreign or minorities, treated fairly and honestly on campus. I want all students to tell me what they feel is needed and, if possible, I will help them reach their goals. I have the qualifications to be president of the SGA and the experience and knowledge necessary to run the office effectively," Newman said.

GREG HARLEY is running unopposed for the office of vice-president. He is a 20-year-old junior from Marietta, Ga. Harley, a finance major real estate minor, has a GPA of 2.1. He is a member of the JSU tennis team (three years), Kappa Alpha Fraternity, and a Phi Mu Big Brother.

The duties of the vice-president consist of running senate meetings, booking entertainment for the campus, overseeing the film program and assisting the president, he said. Harley has three main goals for next year:

• To bring a national act for homecoming week

"I'd also like to bring in three or four more acts that would appeal to all segments of the student body," he said.

• To continue with a really strong movie program

• To bring an organized lecture program to the campus

"I'd like to work with our speaker chairperson to improve our lecture program. To do this, I plan to look for corporate sponsorship this summer," Harley said.

"I feel Kelly McCreless (the current vice-president) has done an excellent job this year. I want to continue what she's done. The big thing I hear from student is that they want a national act. The problem is money. But if we plan ahead and get corporate sponsorship, we can lower the cost for concerts and possibly make a good profit," he said.

Harley wants to hold more concerts on "the quad" behind Bibb

Graves Hall next year, starting in September. He encourages students to bring any suggestions for how to improve student life to the SGA officers.

"Any student who feels they have some good ideas for activities on campus, please come by and talk to me," Harley said.

DWIGHT BURTON is running unopposed for the office of SGA treasurer. He is a 20-year-old sophomore from Wellington. Burton, who is pursuing a double major in management and finance, has a GPA of 2.62.

Burton has been an SGA senator the past two years, and served as Lyceum chairman (in charge of bringing speakers to the campus) this past year. He is also a member of SAM and College Republicans.

He attends JSU on six scholarships, including one from the Faculty Scholars and Walmart.

"I'm running for SGA treasurer because I feel it will give me a chance to be more involved in SGA and improve student life through better entertainment," he said.

Burton feels the fact that he majors in management and finance and has been involved in the SGA for two years will make him a good treasurer.

"I'm aware of the things going on in the SGA. I represent a cross-section of the campus and can see things from the athletic, academic and commuter student point of view," he said.

Burton listed his goals for next year:

• Getting more corporate sponsorship for campus events

"Corporate sponsorship is the key which would allow us to get first rate speakers and entertainers to visit JSU," Burton said.

• To enact a student activity fee to create more money for campus events

"I look forward to working with the other executive officers. I feel they will do a great job. I want to be a very open-door type of officer. If anyone has any problems they'd like to discuss or want to suggest new ideas, I'd be welcome to speak with them," Burton said.

The SGA elections will take place next Wednesday, March 4 from 9 a.m. until 4 p.m. on the fourth floor of the Theron Montgomery Building.

Condom

Think on this thought: The idea of contraceptives in schools and seeing teenagers using condoms and birth control pills on television used to be unheard of, because it was a matter of morality. Today, it's a matter of public health.

Want to know what the experts think? Surgeon General C. Everett Koop, a known conservative when it comes to voicing his views on abortion and birth control, was reported in October of last year to say he favored early (as young as eight years old) and explicit sex education in schools and using condoms as protection against AIDS. Secretary of Education William Bennett believes abstinence and the sex-only-if you're-married side should be taught by schools and subjects of contraceptives, abortions and condom protection should be left off nor should contraceptives be dispensed in school.

Is there a safe road to take for us and our children to look to in this confusing issue with possible fatal consequences? Yes, the Surgeon General argue. Either choose abstinence, faithful monogamy, or use the protection of a condom. You decide.

Griffin selected as U. S. Deputy Marshall

Griffin

By WENDY PEACOCK
Chanticleer Staff Writer

Lisa Griffin, a senior majoring in law enforcement, was one of twelve recipients selected to serve as a Deputy Marshall for the United States in Washington D.C.

Griffin was introduced to this cooperative program while reading an article in Pentacle magazine which is published by the U.S. Marshall's Office. The magazine explains the hows and whys of becoming a U.S. Deputy Marshall.

Griffin quickly discovered that JSU did not offer a cooperative program in criminal justice, but with the help of Bill Meehan, assistant to the dean of student affairs, a program was established and Griffin applied to the program.

"Once I applied for the program, my credentials were then checked, along with a thorough background investigation by the Federal Bureau of Investigation. These processes took around six months," Griffin said.

The program is a one year program in which Griffin will reside in Washington D.C. for six months, then return to Jacksonville State to graduate. She will then report to Greencoe, Ga., to a federal law enforcement training center.

"I would have graduated this semester but I decided this would be a better route to take because I would have had to find the job on my own, and I have found this to be a chance of a lifetime," Griffin said.

On Monday February 2, Griffin received a phone call informing her to report to the federal courthouse in Washington D.C. to begin work that week.

"If it had not been for the experience that I received at Brewer Hall (College of Criminal Justice) working as a U.S. Deputy Marshall would be an impossible task. The Dean and instructors have given me a superb law enforcement background that motivated and helped me to become a U.S. Deputy Marshall," Griffin said.

Barbour one of 12 students selected for CASE

By TZENA GIBBS
Chanticleer Senior Editor

SGA president Vonda Barbour was one of 12 students selected from the Southeastern Conference to attend the 1987 Council for Advancement and Support of Education (CASE) Conference in Orlando, Fl., February 7-11.

Barbour was recommended by President Harold McGee to attend the conference. Jack Hopper, vice president of institutional advancement, wrote Barbour a letter of recommendation which was accompanied by her resume, a conference application and a letter of qualifications written by Barbour.

Barbour was notified on January 7 that she had been selected to attend the conference.

Now in its eighth year, the CASE II Student Delegate Program offered an opportunity for outstanding applicants who were interested in the advancement field to attend a professional conference on scholarship.

The Council for Advancement and Support of Education advances education in two major ways: 1) helping its member representatives increase their professionalism and 2) serving as a principal public affairs arm for education nationally.

The Conference began at noon on Sunday, February 8, and extended through noon on Wednesday, February 11 with a preconference workshop on Sunday, Barbour said.

The conference dealt with such topics as: "Athletic Fund Raising," "How to Identify, Hire and Retain Top Achievers," and "The Disney Approach to People Management," "Professionalism and Ethics," "Alumni Relations Communications and Development," and

"Educational Fund raising."

During the Alumni Relations session, a panel discussed new approaches to parents relations, student-alumni programs, and the use of alumni in recruitment. The panel consisted of Jeffrey L. Franklin, director, Alumni and Parents Program, University of Richmond; Lee Patouilley, executive director, Alumni Association, University of South Florida; and Sandy K. McNutt, director, Alumni Admissions Programs, Duke University.

Barbour also attended sessions concerning fund raisers, marketing institutions using advertising creatively and effectively, managing media relations, getting institutions started in television, and starting a low budget radio operation for institutional relations.

"Throughout the conference, we as delegates were able to mainstream with presidents and faculty of several different universities," Barbour said.

Barbour's resume was published and distributed among the university officials attending the conference and she received two job offers while she was there. North Carolina Greensboro offered her a position in alumni relations involving a great deal of travel and instigating fund raisers.

Auburn University talked to her about a similar position but because she is not graduating until next spring, she was unable to accept as of now.

Barbour said she received many outstanding ideas to promote alumni relations at JSU.

"With a university like Auburn, the alumni are so dedicated that the alumni relations job would be easy because they (alumni) are more willing to donate back to the university. Where as the Jacksonville alumni are not so active so far as making monetary contributions and gifts. This makes me want to be a better SGA president and get the campus more involved in extracurricular activities and bring more entertainment to the campus to make the students feel more like a family so that when we graduate, we will want to give back to JSU what they have given to us," Barbour said.

Barbour was accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Jack Hopper (Jack Hopper is vice president for institutional advancement), and SGA secretary Diane Marshall.

"The experience that I received from the experience was invaluable because it taught me more about what our administrators do and if I wanted to go into that area, it taught me just exactly what the job would entail," Barbour said.

SGA officers attend NACA

By TZENA GIBBS
Chanticleer Senior Editor

The executive officers of the SGA recently attended the National Association for Campus Activities convention in Nashville, Tenn., February 14-19 with the purpose of viewing popular entertainment ideas in the college market. Officers attending the conference included: Vonda Barbour, president; Kelly McCreles, vice president; Greg Harley, treasurer; Rick Davis, business manager; and Jan Weathers, elections chairperson.

The five-day event was a spectacular convergence of 2,000 entertainment buyers representing hundreds of universities and colleges, as well as scores of artists, agencies and firms. The student delegates saw some of the most popular entertainment acts on today's circuits and particular acts available to the college market, Barbour said.

The delegates were able to select from 150 educational sessions and 60 hours of live talent showcases and film screenings. They met with representatives of 175 firms in the exhibit hall that sell talent, products, services and programs to colleges and universities, he said.

One of the most popular features of NACA National Conventions was the live talent showcase. Stars such as Jimmy Buffet and Lee Greenwood got their start at NACA.

The Mainstage Showcase featured 25 acts which were selected for five Mainstage Showcases scheduled throughout the convention. Each attraction was permitted 20 minutes of performance time. Musical acts, comics, dance groups, lecturers, mimes, theatrical groups, and other attractions were selected to perform before the audience of college buyers.

"We (SGA) were shown a wide variety of possible entertainment attractions for the campus and we booked bands, lecturers, and speakers to come for Spring Whoopee," Barbour said.

The educational sessions included a wide variety of campus related topics. The officers attended the campus activities session which dealt with allocating student activity fees, a year's worth of theme programming, creative fund raising, creative programming, developing a budget and the necessary resources, evaluation techniques for activities and how to break the ice. Other sessions included how to plan a major arena concert and produce a major concert for the first time with discussions of promotion and publicity.

A session was held on managing an effective college lecture and how to take advantage of quality lecture programs. Other issues covered during the conference were recreation and travel, residence life, special events, student leadership development and women's concerns.

The session on Greek life discussed integrating black and white organizations and sexism and sexual abuse in the Greek world, Barbour said.

"This was one of the best experiences of my life. I intend to become real involved in the regional association and possibly the national," Barbour said.

A special feature of the conference was a placement session which placed students who are interested in the entertainment field into different areas and aspects of the business.

"I want to go back in October for the next conference. I really learned a great deal from every aspect, but I guess my favorite thing was the educational sessions," Barbour said.

"Who is 'they'?"

By TZENA GIBBS
Chanticleer Senior Editor

"They told me it was O.K." "They said it was called off." It was "them." "They said I was supposed to." "They are all talking about me."

The time has come to address one of the biggest issues of our time. Who is the infamous "they?"

"They" seem to be the scapegoat goat of "everybody's" situational set-backs. Who is "they" and who is "everybody"?

After serious consideration, one should come to the conclusion that "they" must be the all-knowing, ever-present, omniscient group of commi-reds who sit back, give judgment, lay down the law and run this entire country.

Have you every noticed that if you ask someone, which could be anyone, or anybody, whoever that is, why did or did not they do something or anything, or who said so, the standard reply is, "They told me this or they told me that?"

Now, let's get serious here. I'm not one who insists on every minute detail of every situation, but when I hear "They," I automatically conjure up this mental image of masses of faceless and-or nameless people who always seem to be on top and in charge of everything.

"They" are the people who said it was O.K. to borrow my clothes, car, money, etc. "They" also said "they" weren't going and that "we" didn't have to.

"They" are the people who gossip about everyone and take full responsibility for any nasty rumors that happen to circulate around about anybody.

"Do you know what I heard? Well, "They" told me that..." and the tongues flap and nobody, or rather no real person, ever fully understands just exactly who "they" are dealing with, or rather, who "they" really are.

For instance, they say that even the weakest ink lasts longer than the strongest memory. They say that blood is thicker than water. They say that only time will tell. They say that the sun will come out tomorrow. They say that nothing lasts forever. They say it's hard to say I'm sorry and they say that absence makes the heart grow fonder.

And so, I must rest my case that whoever "they" really are or is, whichever the case may be, they must be watching us at all times. But then again, who is "us," and how do we know if we're one of "us" or one of "them"?

SPRING BREAK SPRING BREAK SPRING B

Having fun becomes top priority

By STEVEN ROBINSON
Chanticleer Senior Editor

Spring break. Those two words conjure up thoughts of fun in the sun, hope on the slopes, sleeping late, staying out later and having an all around good time.

Many students consider spring break - that one week of freedom from classes - a lifesaver, a splash of reality within a sea of academic confusion and anxiety.

This year, students by the thousands will be making their way to airports, bus terminals, cruise ships and awaiting automobiles in their attempt to cram as much fun as possible into 168 hours.

According to area travel agencies the entire month of March is virtually booked up as far as package deals are concerned, although students may still be able to get airfare and hotel accommodations, but at higher rates.

Those students who have still not decided how to spend their fantasy week are urged to quickly decide because everything is quickly being booked up.

The following travel agencies have these trips still available as of February 20:

Anniston Travel Agency, located at 315 East 12th Street, which advertises itself as "The Travel Professionals", offers complete travel service for business or pleasure worldwide. The agency is pretty much booked for Spring Break, but does have two trip packages still available.

Club Atlanta, March 9-13, includes round trip airfare, hotel accommodations at the Holiday Inn including hotel taxes, and transportation from the airport to the hotel. All this for the price of $495 per person based on double occupancy.

St. Thomas, March 11-15, includes round trip airfare, hotel accommodations at the Caribe Beach Hotel, and transportation from the airport to the hotel. The cost of this package is $642 per person based on double occupancy.

Model City Travel, located at 311 East 11th in Anniston, has only one package still available.

Orlando, Florida, based on either three or four night's stay, includes round trip airfare, accommodations at a Disney Hotel, transportation to and from hotel to Walt Disney World or Epcot Center. The price is $208 per person or $414 for two people.

Brownell Travel, located at 1001 22nd Street, Birmingham, Alabama, has several trips to offer JSU students.

Las Vegas, March 8-12, departing from Birmingham, includes four nights stay at the Sands Hotel, round trip airfare, transfers, hotel taxes, baggage handling, admission to the Omni Max Theater Caesar's Palace, and a Las Vegas Fun Book. The price of this package is $389.95 per person.

Also available are trips to Cancun, Mexico beginning at $239 per person for a three night's stay. Four and seven night stays are also available, and each includes roundtrip airfare, hotel and transfers.

Flights to Denver are pretty much booked up according to Brownell, although higher rate flights are still available for those students who want to spend their spring break on the slopes.

Airfare to Ft. Lauderdale and Miami are going for roughly $200, a Brownell representative said. Hotel accommodations range from $60 and up.

New Orleans trips are still available with most students preferring to drive down, the Brownell representative said. Hotel costs start at $35 and go up to around $150.

Trailways Bus Systems offers the following fares to the cities listed:

- Atlanta $17.25
- Nashville $37.00
- Memphis $42.00
- Mobile $46.00
- New Orleans $51.00

Greyhound Bus Lines also offers the following fares:

- Atlanta $17.25
- Nashville $37.60
- Memphis $53.00
- Mobile $43.70
- New Orleans $65.00

Start now to make your plans for spring break. Airlines, bus lines, and resort hotels are booking up quickly.

Also remember, never drink and drive. Be considerate of the lives of others and abstain from alcohol while behind the wheel. The roads will be extremely crowded spring break week, so safe driving will be a must.

For those students who prefer to just go home and bask in having nothing pressing or urgent to do, relax and take the week off. Sleep late, munch out and be as comfortable as possible. Take advantage of the week of and ENJOY!.

Spring break means keeping it all together in an untogether state of mind.

BREAK SPRING BREAK SPRING BREAK

Plans spring into action

By STEVEN ROBINSON
Chanticleer Senior Editor

With all the hustle and bustle of the week soon upon everyone, students have already begun making decisions on where they will be going. The following results were compiled after a random Chanticleer survey:

- Stay at home
- Work

- Visit with relatives
- Go to Panama City Beach, Florida
- Visit Daytona Beach, Florida
- Go to Ft. Lauderdale, Florida
- Vacation in Gulf Shores, Alabama
- Visit Washington D.C.
- Attend conventions in New York City
- Skiing in the Rockies

Daytona Beach competition provides fun in the sun

The Daytona Beach Resort area, which appears to be Florida's hot spot for spring break, has added something special to the obligatory sun and surf which will lure hundreds of thousands of students this spring: a little friendly competition.

It is called the National Collegiate Festival and it is now in its second year. The festival is conducted throughout March and April and features intercollegiate intramural competition in a variety of sporting events. The civilized will enjoy the golf competition while the savage can revel in spirited rugby contests.

In 1986, NCSF's inaugural year, nearly 10 colleges and universities fielded teams with the University of Wisconsin at Madison taking overall honors. The top twenty schools included large universities and small colleges with trophies going to each of the following:

- University of Wisconsin at Madison
- Millersville University of Pennsylvania
- Lansing Community College of Michigan
- Western Kentucky University
- Indiana University at Bloomington
- SUNY-Potsdam
- University of Massachusetts at Amherst
- University of Missouri
- University of Chicago
- University of Wisconsin at Platteville
- Mississippi State University

- Bethune-Cookman College
- Georgia Tech
- Santa Clara University
- Syracuse University
- Augsburg College of Minnesota
- Michigan State University
- Christopher Newport College of Virginia

"Size of school is incidental. The competition is spirited and there is an impressive history of giant slaying," Casey Leydon, founder of the National Collegiate Sports Festival, said.

Events include softball, basketball, cycling, ultimate frisbee, swimming, tennis, golf, volleyball, fitness obstacle course, rugby, SK running, soccer, flag football and weightlifting. Team events will feature double-elimination competition or round-robin competition. Competition is scheduled for both men's and women's division.

NCSF is funded by various public bodies as well as the private sector.

"This year we are fortunate to have received nearly $109 thousand in funding. The whole community has embraced NCSF. We've received a substantial grant locally from the Halifax Area Advertising Authority which promotes tourism in the area. A second significant grant was made by the Sunshine State Games which encourages sporting competition. What we have not accepted is grants from alcohol and tobacco companies. NCSF is a forum for fun, safety and healthy competition. We seek sponsors whose products underscore this philosophy," local businessman Bill Lloyd, whose Buick/Cadillac/BMW dealership has committed management, manpower and financial resources to the festival, said.

Students give Daytona a sporting chance

The specific dates of competition are March 9-13, March 16-20, March 23-27 and April 13-17. Championship teams from each week become eligible for the Final Four Competition September 26 and 27. Members of championship teams will travel to Daytona Beach for the Fall Final Four competition courtesy of the National Collegiate Sports Festival and its sponsors. At the conclusion of the finals a national champion will be crowned.

As an intramural competition the NCSF is not open to varsity athletes (in their own sport). The composition of each team calls for 80 percent of team mates to be undergraduates taking nine academic hours. Grad students must be carrying at least six hours.

While on-site registration will be conducted, pre-registration is encouraged.

Winners of Juried Student Art Exhibit announced

By TZENA GIBBS
Chanticleer Senior Editor

On Tuesday, February 3, the JSU Juried Student Exhibit of the art department opened in Hammond Hall Gallery producing something no other department on campus could: tangible evidence of learning.

According to Dr. Emilie Burn, head of the Art Department, "The result in our discipline is that you can see what our students have learned."

The show consists of water colors, ceramics, three-dimensional creations, sculptures, photography, print-making, and pen and ink and commercial designs submitted by art majors.

The pieces submitted consisted of work students had done towards their degree. From the pieces entered, the art faculty selected the best to be exhibited and winners were selected from these.

"It's a very big honor for the students, and this is our first year to give awards," Burn said.

Because space is limited in Hammond Hall Gallery, some pieces were not unacceptable to be exhibited.

"We can only hang as much as we can hang," Burn said.

"The exhibit is good not only for the enjoyment of it, but one reason we have it is that as an artist, you continuously have to produce, enter shows and see if your work is accepted or rejected. You need to know what the public thinks about your work," she said.

The exhibit is a good way to get students in the habit of producing work and continuing to enter different shows.

The art faculty is specialized in each area so that, for instance, one professor only teaches either painting or print-making. The exhibit gives the art faculty the chance to see what is going on in the department as a whole, Burn explained.

The first place winner of the exhibition is Colleen Cleveland whose oil on masonite was entitled "Depth Perception." Karen Ann Mohoney came in second place with her sculpture called "Addresses." Easter Thomas placed third with of beetles he is doing. Dennis Bragg received one for "Seeing Red" done with colored pencil and Easter Thomas received an honorable for her "Teapot" creation made out of chipboard which looked like clay. Sue Stewart's "Spring Plowing," a sculpture, received an honorable her chipboard creation entitled "Optical Illusion."

Six honorable mentions were presented. Martha Higgins' soft sculpture of fabric entitled "Hamburger" was complete with pickles, tomato, lettuce, meat, ketchup and mustard made out of fabric. Todd Taylor received an honorable mention for his water color entitled "Beetle II" which is one in a series mention, and Todd Taylor received one for his oil on masonite "Self Perception."

The prize winners from this exhibition will be exhibited at the South Trust Bank after the show closes on February 28.

"I am really excited about what the students are doing here. We have an outstanding faculty and I just can't say enough about them. Our faculty is very conscientious and is able to work with each student individually," Burn said.

The next show is the Youth Art Month Exhibit and March is Youth Art Month. The show opens March 17 from 6 - 8 p.m. in Hammond Hall Gallery.

H.M.S. is spectacle of sound, color and talent

By CYNDI OWENS
Chanticleer Staff Writer

Bravo! Bravo!

There are just not enough adjectives in the English language to describe the spectacle of sound, color and talent in "H. M. S. Pinafore."

A joint production of the drama and music departments, the Gilbert and Sullivan musical was directed by Dr. Bert Morton.

Everything about the musical was outstanding. The costumes were a profusion of color, and the music was excellent.

The cast consisted of about thirty-five performers, and although all the performances were good, there were several notables.

Lee Pope and Georgia Brown had substantial roles as the young lovers who cannot marry because they are not of the same class. Brown has an outstanding voice, and handled her role beautifully. Her asides (stepping out of character to explain to the audience) to the audience were done extremely well.

Pope, whom I have seen in several roles, showed his versatility as an actor with a superb singing voice. It was a pleasure to see, as well as hear, this feature of his talent. He has a strong voice, and his performance makes me wish there were more than one musical production each season. I hope to hear more from him.

While Sally Simpson, as Buttercup, does not have the commanding voice of many of the others, she was delightful in her role as a bumboat woman. Her movements and facial expressions were very funny, and made her role endearing and charming.

As I said, the entire cast was very good, but one was far and away the best performance of the night. That performance belonged to Steve Whitton, who stole the show. From his first entrance to the finale, his promenading and high-flown camping were hilariously funny. Portraying the First Lord of the Admiralty, his prancing kept the audience laughing. He had a marvelous command of the diction, and generally seemed to be really enjoying himself. That was what made his part the most enjoyable to watch.

The cast and orchestra received a well-deserved spontaneous standing ovation.

A special commendation should go to all the people who worked behind the scenes on the musical. The show was beautiful and should be the hit of the season.

Assistant D.A. speaks out on sexual offenses

By TZENA GIBBS
Chanticleer Senior Editor

Carol Morgan, who received her bachelor's degree of education in political science and history from JSU, spoke to Lambda Alpha Epsilon, the law enforcement fraternity on sex offenses Tuesday, February 17.

Morgan attended Cumberland School of Law in Birmingham and became a social worker for the Department of Public Safety. She is now the Assistant District Attorney in the seventh circuit for Calhoun and Cleburne counties.

"We have been handling a lot of sexual offenses and I have been doing a lot of the prosecution of sexual offenses," Morgan said.

Morgan stated that the first thing people must understand when dealing with rape is that it is not sex or a sexual desire. She said it is a crime of violence in which a person, usually a female or young child, is violated in the most inhumane way.

The State of Alabama Codes classify sex offenses from Class C misdemeanor which can lead up to a maximum time of three months in jail all the way to a Class A felony which can be punishable with life imprisonment.

Morgan said rape is classified into two sections: first degree and second degree. The elements surrounding the incident determines the classification.

Rape deals strictly with having sexual intercourse with a female under the following conditions:

•First degree rape is a Class A felony and the following elements must be present. This rape is a forceable compulsion where the perpetrator does not have consent of the victim. If the victim is mentally or physically incapacitated when sexual intercourse occurs and is not in any condition to give consent, this is also first degree rape. Example: If the victim was under the influence of alcohol or drugs. When the victim is less than 12 and the offender is older than 16, first degree rape has occurred.

•Second degree rape also deals with sexual intercourse with a female without the presence of forceable compulsion. Second degree rape occurs if the defendant is 16 or older and the victim is between 12 and 16. However, the defendant must be at least two years older than the victim as opposed to the same age or similar age. Second degree rape also occurs if the victim is mentally retarded, and is unable to give active consent. Second degree rape is a Class C misdemeanor.

"Most victims, after being violated, want to shower, bathe, get clean, and burn their clothes. They should never do this until after they have gone to the police station or hospital and had a rape kit performed so that later, saliva, blood, hair, pubic hair and skin particles can be matched with the alleged perpetrator," Morgan said.

In the past, victims were victimized more during the trial than they were during the crime. The jury tried the victim for her past experiences or past conduct, she said, but in recent years, the judicial process has been changed a great deal. Questions about prior or past sexual activity are strictly forbidden during the trial.

"We have a lot of attitudes that need to be overcome in this county. The biggest area of sexual offenses in Calhoun county are victims under 16 and under 12 at the hands of people they trust and people they love," Morgan said.

After the lecture, Morgan held a question-answer session which included questions about date rape, child abuse laws and mental health.

"The trouble with date rape is that the offender feels as if he is entitled to have sex with his date if he takes her out to eat, dancing and a movie, regardless of whether she says no or not. And if he is bigger than she, which is usually the case, what can she do? Most girls don't even realize when they have been violated," Morgan said.

Kappa Sigma

The annual Kappa Sigma Boxer-Rebellion turned out to be another exciting evening last night. With a little help from their little sisters everyone was furnished with their boxers and had a great time.

Now with a look into the future, Kappa Sigma is getting ready for their mixer with Phi My March 5 and also for their Spring formal will be April 3 and 4. Kappa Sigma has also begun to prepare themselves for the upcoming softball games. With Coach Brian Clark, they are looking forward to a rewarding season.

For now, they are working on getting into the basketball playoffs which they still have a good chance for with a record of 5 - 2.

LAE

Lambda Alpha Epsilon, the law enforcement fraternity, held a meeting Tuesday, February 17 in room 141 or Brewer Hall. Lori Higginbotham, president, conducted the meeting and spoke about upcoming for the year. The guest speaker was Carolyn Morgan, assistant District Attorney for the seventh circuit who spoke on sexual offenses.

Alpha Tau Omega

The brothers and pledges of Alpha Tau Omega enjoyed their successful mixer with Phi Mu last week and are looking forward to the mixer with Zeta Tau Alpha tonight. The mixer begins this afternoon with a water battle, and then tonight the theme "Trading Places" will take full effect. The Taus are hoping some Zetas will come dressed as Vikings.

ATO won two intramural basketball games last week as they defeated Sigma Nu and Pi Kapp. The team is looking forward to the playoffs. The ATO B team has gone undefeated so far this season and only has one game left. The B team is coached by Billy "Spaz" Richards and Jim "Terminator" Crysel.

The little sisters of ATO had a party last Monday night and invited the pledges to come join them later on in the night.

The Triad is coming.

PE Club

The PE Club met February 19, to discuss the Southern District Convention at Birmingham and to discuss the wrestling matches that will be held at the Jacksonville High School Gymnasium.

The Southern District Convention will be held February 26 through March 1, at the Birmingham Civic Center. This will be an experience no one has ever had before and all those majoring in Physical Education and Health are encouraged to attend.

The PE Club and Jacksonville High School are sponsoring a wrestling match at the Jacksonville High School Gymnasium on March 19, at 7:30 p.m. The price for tickets are as follows: 12 and under- $3 or $4 at door; adult- $4 or $5 at door.

People may purchase these tickets in the secretaries office at the coliseum or in the main office at the high school. There will be a Battle Royal with ten men in the ring, women wrestlers, midget wrestlers, and of course, men wrestlers. Everyone is encouraged to come out and support the PE Club, and the high school.

Congratulations to Jeff Nelson on winning the NASPE Award and Barbara Nolan for being nominated for the Bernice Finger Award.

Kappa Alpha

The brothers of the Delta Phi chapter of the Kappa Alpha Order would like to express their deepest thanks to the ladies of Alpha Xi Delta for the wonderful mixer last Thursday night. The theme for the mixer was "Soul Train." Everyone who attended had a great time and the costumes that were worn really added to the mood of the party. Since this was the first mixer of the semester, it has really gotten everyone fired up about the upcoming mixers with Phi Mu and Delta Zeta.

Continued good luck goes to the KA basketball team as they fight for a playoff spot. The KAs appreciate the effort given by all of the players.

Everyone is excited about Old South and spring formal, both of which are approaching real soon. These events along with the Triad party, which is scheduled for April 9, will make spring semester very special.

The KAs would also like to wish Steve LaFollette a healthy recovery. Steve, who has been ill for a couple of weeks, is missed by everyone. Hurry back, Steve.

Zeta Tau Alpha

All of the Zeta's are really excited about their spring formal dates being set for April 10 at the Carriage House in Anniston and April 11 at Solid Gold in which the Swinging Richards will be performing.

Softball, track, tug of war and volleyball will be the events that the Zeta's will be participating in during Greek week.

Everyone had a really great time at the Sigma Nu mixer Friday night in which the theme was "Be My Baby." The Zeta's are looking forward to the mixer tonight with the ATO's in which the theme is "Trading Places." T-Shirts have been ordered to add to the theme.

Welcome back to Vonda Barbour who attended the National Association for Campus Activities in Nashville, Tennessee at Opryland, February 14-17. All of the SGA officers attended to acquire better ideas to improve JSU campus life. The Zeta's would like to wish Vonda good luck in the election of SGA President on March 4.

Congratulations to Lisa Houston and Kim Tidwell who accepted little sister bids for Sigma Chi fraternity.

The 1987 Men of JSU calendars are now on sale for three dollars and can be purchased on the fourth floor of Sparkman dormitory at any time.

The Zeta Lady was awarded to Natalie Brittian, Social Bunny was Niece Noble, and Pledge of the Week was Staci Wright.

Phi Mu

Congratulations to Gina Williams who is pledge of the week.

Phi Mu is very proud and excited about their new 23 sisters who were formally initiated last Friday night. An awards banquet was held after initiation at Western Sizzlin in Anniston. Congratulations to "T" Rimmer who was awarded Best Pledge and to Holly Hightower who was awarded Most Outstanding Pledge. Congratulations also to "Little" Julie Hayes who was awarded Best Scrapbook.

Congratulations to Gina Williams, Holly Hightower, Tara Bonner, Christina Nall, and Robyn Foust who all received bids to become Sigma Chi little sisters.

Congratulations to Lori Wright, Eileen Lowder and Tzena Gibbs who are the recipients of the Phi Mu Alumnae scholarships.

The sisters of Phi Mu would like to extend a very special thanks to the brothers of Alpha Tau Omega for an outstanding mixer last Thursday night. The theme was California Cooler and everyone had a blast. Jamie Masters, social chairman, said she didn't want to point her finger at anyone for having the most fun, but if she did, she would have pointed at Danny Hall.

Phi Mu held their formal pledging in last Tuesday night. Congratulations to the new girls who were pledged in. The slate committee met to slate the new officers for officer elections to be held next Tuesday, also.

Last Sunday afternoon, Phi Mu held an honorary tea for Mrs. Katherine Hammett at the Methodist Church in Jacksonville. Many alumni and friends attended the (See CLUB, Page 15) special event which was well deserved by Mrs. Hammett for her many years of dedication to the sorority.

Phi Mu is very excited about their mixer with Sigma Nu tonight and are already making plans for their 2nd annual Surf Naked mixer with Kappa Sigma next week.

The weekend of March 27 has been set for the Phi Mu sisterhood retreat. The retreat will be held in Destin, Florida at Sandestin Beach Resort.

Phi Mu extends good luck to Michelle Watson and Tzena Gibbs in the Miss JSU pageant this Saturday.

Pi Kappa Phi

With the addition of fifteen new initiates, Pi Kappa Phi is now stronger than ever with sixty-one active brothers.

The Pi Kapp social calendar has gotten off to a great start for the new year. The annual Rose Ball, held in Boone North Carolina, was a great success. The brothers would like to express their thanks to Chris Worel and Charles Payton for organizing this event.

Other social events for the semester have included the "Head for the Mountains" party with their Little Sisters and Valentines with Alpha Xi Delta. Everyone had a great time. They are also looking forward to mixers planned with Zeta Tau Alpha and Phi Mu.

Everyone is already getting a little anxious for Luau '87. This year's Luau promises to be the best ever. The date has been set for mid-April.

Pi Kapp is doing very well intramurals again this year and they are hoping to retain the All Sports and Greek Week titles for the third straight year.

Alpha Xi Delta

The sisters of Alpha Xi Delta and the brothers of Kappa Alpha enjoyed a great mixer last Thursday night. Everyone had a blast and the mixer was considered a success. A big congratulations goes out to the KAs who worked so hard and also to Becky Frost, the social chairman, for a job well done.

Emily Sides was recently accepted to the University of Alabama School of Law upon her graduation from Jacksonville State. Although they will miss Emily, they want to wish her the very best of luck.

Susie Green was named to Who's Who Among American College Students. The honor was more than well deserved.

Bonnie Gray received a bid to be a Sigma Chi little sister. Congratulations, Bonnie!

The pledge class continues to be a hard-working, dedicated group of young women. They think they are the greatest! Pledge of the Week was Paven Smallwood.

Upcoming events for Alpha Xi include four more mixers, Province Convention April 4 and 5 in Atlanta, Gatlinburg Retreat, and of course, Rose Cotillion March 21 with the band "Newboys."

Delta Zeta

Delta Zeta recently held new officer elections. The new executive officers are as follows: President, Janet Fowler; First Vice President/Rush Chairman, Shelly Wall; Second Vice President/Pledge Educator, Lisa Blanton; Treasurer-Sonya McFerrin; Corresponding Secretary, Melanie Patterson; Recording Secretary, Jeana Campbell.

The parachute was designed in 1783 by Louis Lenormand, who designed it to save people who had to jump from burning buildings.

The new chairpersons are: Social, Lisa Brewer; Philanthropy, Marianne Britz; Activities, Susan Arnold; Enrichment, Patti Hipp; Scholarship, Misy Renslow; Alumni, Penny McGee; Panhellenic, Angie Askew and Pam Payne; and Chaplain, Elise Tillman.

The members of Delta Zeta would like to thank Sigma Nu for a great "Reincarnation" mixer. Other mixers have been planned with KA and Sigma Chi.

Congratulations to the Delta Zetas that are new fraternity little sisters: Angie Hilsenbeck, KA; Ronie Cash, Sigma Nu; Susan Arnold, Lisa Brewer, Penny McGee, Tracy Parris, and Nancy Howard, Pi Sigma Chi.

DeeZee would also like to welcome their new big brothers: Scott Lanier, Zachary Maner, Art Patin, Jeff Painter, Tim Jones, Bobby McGee, Oscar Honeycutt, Jeff Bishop, David Jennings, Randy Tuttle, LRicky Sauls, Jeff Hill, Bret Hill, and Stephen Smedley.

Delta Zeta's new pledges are: Terran McCloud, Deidra Harris, Tracy Parris, Jenny Southerland, Penny LaTaste, and Kathy Daley.

A special congratulations is extended to those girls that were initiated into the sisterhood of Delta Zeta on Thursday, February 19: Patti Hipp, Rhonda Cash, Missy Renslow, Susan Arnold, Starr Allen, Angie Walker, Penny McGee, and Lisa Brewer.

Everyone is getting excited about the upcoming Tahiti Sweetie Tenth Anniversary celebration to be held on March 27, and the Killarny Rose Ball, which will be on March 28.

Sigma Nu

The brotherhood of Sigma Nu would like to thank the brothers of Sigma Chi for the softball game on February 17. Everyone involved had a great time and it gave everyone a better opportunity to become acquainted.

The Sigma Nu Little Sister basketball team is doing an outstanding job and is to be congratulated for their victories over The Jams and the Alpha Xi Delta Little Sisters. Way to go girls.

The brothers would like to thank the sisters of Zeta Tau Alpha for the mixer in February 20. The theme for the mixer was "Be My Baby" and everybody had a great time. A word of thanks is also in order for the Sigma Nu Little Sisters who sponsored a Brother Little Sister roller skating party on February 19. Everyone had a blast and thankfully no one ended up in Intensive Care.

Congratulations to all the Little Sisters who received their Big Brothers during the Valentine's Day Party on February 14.

The Sigma Nu formal this spring will be held on March 19-22 and will take place in Lexington, Virginia, the birthplace of Sigma Nu. All the Sigma Nus are fired up about the trip and are looking forward to visiting the campus of Virginia Military Institute which is where Sigma Nu originated.

Don't forget, the Triad Party is coming.

Rutledge and Sanders are reasons why JSU should be better next year Gamecocks end with victory

By THOMAS BALLENGER
Chanticleer Senior Editor

In a very entertaining game, the Jax State Gamecocks ended the 1986-87 season on a positive note defeating Valdosta State 101-94 in a Gulf South Conference game played Saturday night at Pete Mathews Coliseum.

In the opening half, the Gamecocks grabbed an early 13-11 lead after a basket by Terry Rutledge.

JSU continued to lead the remainder of the half, and twice led by as many as 10 points, the second of two which occurred with 5:03 left until the half. However, Valdosta State closed the gap to four at the half, 44-40, after a three-point basket by Marlon Jones at the buzzer.

Valdosta State took a 52-51 lead with 14:12 left in the game after a basket by Walt Webb. The two teams traded baskets, and the lead until the 9:55 mark when Valdosta State enjoyed its last lead, 67-66. From that point, the game belonged to the Gamecocks.

JSU assumed a seven-point lead with 6:08 left in the contest. Robert Lee Sanders hit a three-point jumper and also added another bucket, giving the Gamecocks the seven-point advantage.

VSC stayed close and with 1:04 left the Blazers had trimmed Jax State's lead to four, 92-88.

But the Gamecocks were not to be denied as Sanders and Jeff Smith each canned two foul shots to expand the JSU lead to eight, 96-88, with :49 left in the game. Then came the backbreaker for VSC.

After Smith's foul shots had given JSU an eight point lead, the Gamecocks put the game away. After a steal, senior forward Kevin Riggan roared in for a slam which ended the Blazers hopes for a win over Jax State and also ended VSC's GSC playoff hopes.

Terry Rutledge led the Gamecocks with his total of 28 points and 13 rebounds. Robert Lee Sanders scored 24 points and dished out six assists. Kevin Riggan, playing his last game as a Gamecock, responded with 15 points and seven assists. Jeff Smith came off the Gamecock bench with 13 points. Lastly, Derek Hicks added 12 points to the Gamecock totals and the junior from Brunswick, Ga., also pulled down nine rebounds.

Marlon Jones led the Blazers with 23 points. Mike Brown hit for 17, Leon Jones for 15, Bruce Patton - Roark for 14, and Walt Webb finished out the Blazer double figure scorers with his total of 12 points.

"I am very proud of them. We ended the season on a very positive note, and the way we're playing, I hate to see our season to end. We ended well, and the credit has to go to the players," Gamecock coach Bill Jones said.

JSU finishes up the season with a record of 12-12 overall, and a 7-9 GSC mark. Valdosta State finished up 16-10, and 8-8 in conference play.

Lady Gamecocks fall to Valdosta

By THOMAS BALLENGER
Chanticleer Senior Editor

The Jacksonville State Lady Gamecocks ended their 1986-87 season playing one of their best games of the year, but their effort was not enough as the visiting Valdosta State Lady Blazers posted an 89-72 Gulf South Conference victory, on Saturday night at Pete Mathews Coliseum.

Valdosta State started fast, and led 15-4 after four minutes. However, the Lady Gamecocks played a near perfect final 15 minutes of the half, and only trailed the Lady Blazers 46-40 at intermission.

Alicia Wright led JSU in the first half, as the junior from Huntsville tallied 15 points. Fellow Lady Gamecock performer Idella DeRamus scored eight points and claimed five rebounds in the opening half.

The second half proved to be close as both teams played well. With 12 minutes remaining in the contest, JSU trailed by only seven. With a few breaks, the Gamecocks could pull off the upset. But, alas, it was not to be.

Valdosta State outscored Jax State 22-12 the rest of the way, and claimed the 89-72 win.

Idella DeRamus concluded her JSU career by scoring a game-high 22 points, and collecting a team-high eight rebounds. Alicia Wright scored 21 points, and added two steals. Sue Imm scored 10 points, and also gathered in seven missed shots. Luchy Cabrera scored eight points, and dished out five assists. Kim Welch led the Lady Gamecocks in assists with her total of six.

Valdosta State was led in scoring by Bridgett Moore, who scored 21 points on 10-12 shooting from the floor. Candace Fincher added 20 points. Shannon Williams scored 17 points, and Pam Hand added 14 points, nine assists, and two steals to the Lady Blazer totals.

VSC shot 57 percent from the floor on the evening, and the Blazers collected 37 rebounds. Jax State hit only 44 percent of its shots, but JSU did out rebound its visitors, but only by a 40-37 margin.

JSU concludes its season with a record of 6-21. The Lady Gamecocks were victorious in only one of their 14 Gulf South Conference contests. Valdosta State now has a record of 19-7, and the Lady Blazers will be one of the four participants in the women's Gulf South Conference tournament this week.

Women's basketball coach reassigned

By THOMAS BALLENGER
Chanticleer Senior Editor

Sources within the Jacksonville State athletic department have confirmed that the current women's basketball and tennis coach Steve Bailey will be relieved of his basketball duties at the end of this semester.

Bailey, who led the women's basketball program at Jacksonville State for three seasons, will remain the men's and women's tennis coach, and will have other duties assigned to him in the future.

"I think it will be good for the program, not only for me, but for the basketball players as well," Bailey said.

The team posted a record of 15-68 in Bailey's three years of coaching.

"The girls need a full-time head coach. College athletics is so time consuming, I think a coach needs to zero in on one thing," Bailey said.

Bailey was simultaneously coaching three sports before this decision to hire a full-time coach for the women's basketball program.

"I am looking forward to tennis this year, and being back next year to coach tennis and perform whatever other duties I am assigned. This move is going to help everybody," Bailey said.

Choctaws no problem

By THOMAS BALLENGER
Chanticleer Senior Editor

The Gamecocks of Bill Jones continued their impressive late-season play as they defeated Mississippi College 86-67, Thursday night at Mathews Coliseum, in a Gulf South Conference match-up.

Neither team gained an upper hand in the game's first 15 minutes, but that was soon to change. Spurred on by a 7-0 run, Jax State led 37-29 with 4:45 left until the half. But the Gamecocks were not done.

Over the last 3:46 of the half, the Jaxmen outscored Mississippi College 10-3, and at the half, Jacksonville State led 47-34.

JSU was led in first-half by Terry Rutledge who scored 11 points and grabbing nine rebounds. Robert Lee Sanders scored 10 points and Derek "Doc" Hicks added eight.

Mississippi College opened the second half with more enthusiasm than the team had exhibited in the opening half, but the Gamecocks were still in control.

The Choctaws hung tough in the final half, and cut the JSU lead to 10, 61-51, with 10:17 left in the contest. However, the Gamecocks answered back with authority.

First a Terry Rutledge layup hiked the JSU lead to 63-51, and back-to-back Derek Hicks dunks gave Jax State a 67-51 lead. The first slam by Hicks was off of an alley oop pass from Robert Lee Sanders, and the second dunk was off a fast-break.

MC clawed back and trailed by only 10 again with 1:54 left in the contest. Terry Rutledge fed Kevin Riggan for a layup, and Jeff Smith and Riggan each hit a foul shot, and the lead had been eased back up, to 79-65, with 1:19 left in the game.

JSU controlled the action for the remainder of the game, and closed out an 86-67 win.

"We have now played two excellent games in a row. The way we played in the first half tonight, and the second half at UT-Martin are about as well as we can play. I am awfully proud of the boys for what they have done," Jones said.

Terry Rutledge scored 21 points and claimed 14 rebounds to lead the team's effort. Derek Hicks scored 18 points and gathered in 12 rebounds as the Gamecocks controlled the inside against the smaller Choctaws. Kevin Riggan scored 14 points and dished out six assists. Also, lead guard Robert Lee Sanders scored 11 points, handed out a game-high seven assists, and also gathered in five rebounds.

MC was led by Bruce Franklin's total of 15 points. Jay Hughes came off of the bench to toss in 14 points, 12 of which were scored from three-point territory.

JSU's overall record is now 11-12, and their GSC mark now stands at 6-9. The Choctaws record is now 11-15, and 5-10 in the conference.

Tennis team drops two

By THOMAS BALLENGER

The Jacksonville State men's tennis team opened up their season last week with three matches; however, the Gamecocks were only victorious in only one.

In its opening match of the season, Jax State defeated Huntingdon College of Montgomery, 5-4.

Three Gamecocks won their singles matches against Huntingdon. Keith Nix triumphed with a score of 6-0, 6-2; Chris Crump won 6-3, 6-4; and number six player Bob McCluskey won by the score of 6-3, 6-2.

JSU won the final two doubles matches, and thus claimed the overall win. The team of Mark Baker and Nix won by the score of 6-2, 6-3, and the pairing of Greg Harley and Les Abbott also won in straight sets, 7-5, 6-0.

In their second match of the year, the Gamecocks did not fare as well. Gulf South Conference foe Troy State defeated JSU 7-2. Bob McCluskey won the only singles match

Baseball team hasn't got time for the rain

Rain, rain go away, come again . . .

That might be the cry of the 1987 Gamecock baseball team if the season's first weekend is any indication of the weather the team can expect this spring.

Twice this weekend the team tried to play the season opener with Tuskegee, but mother nature had other ideas.

If the opener was not rescheduled, then the season commenced Wednesday afternoon at LaGrange College. The first home game will be tomorrow as the Gamecocks entertain Montevallo.

Thomas Ballenger
Sports Editor

The Montevallo game will begin at 2:00, weather permitting, of course.

Coach Bill Jones' troops ended their 1986-87 campaign by stopping Valdosta State's playoff hopes, 101-94, Saturday night.

The loss ended VSC's Gulf South Tournament hopes, as the Blazers wound up tied with UT-Martin for the final tourney spot. However, UTM held the wild cards in the tie-breaking procedure, so the Pacers are in.

The Gamecocks only finished one game out of a tie for the last spot, and with a few breaks, could have made the GSC tourney.

Looking back over the season, a few losses are haunting. Early in the year, the Gamecocks lost a two-point game at Valdosta State. Then during the course of the season they lost to GSC Champ West Georgia after leading much of the game, and also dropped tough one-point games to Mississippi College and to North Alabama. No one likes to dwell on what might have been, but the experience gained just may be the difference in Jax State fielding a good team or a great team in 1987-88.

Positive things did come out of this season. Newcomers Terry Rutledge and Derek "Doc" Hicks each performed well, and both should continue to be major forces in the GSC. Rutledge has had the best year of any freshman in the Gulf South Conference, and he deserves the league's "Freshman of the Year" award. If the last three games of 1987 are any indication, then Terry Rutledge is ready to rule the lanes of GSC coliseums for the next three years.

Robert Lee Sanders was a mid-season acquisition of the Gamecocks, and he quickly adapted to Bill Jones' style of play. Sanders was asked to play lead guard, which is not his best position, but he responded well.

Look for Delta State to win the GSC tournament. I realize that West Georgia should be favored, but the Braves have faltered of late, losing three of their last four games. Either way, both schools deserve NCAA bids, but strange things have been known to happen when the selection committee get together. Just ask any Gamecock roundball fan.

The JSU women ended their 1986-87 season by playing what might have been their best game of the season. Valdosta State defeated JSU 103-52 in an earlier meeting this season, and the way the first four minutes looked Saturday, a similar beating was in the works. Give the Lady Gamecocks credit, they played well, and with a few breaks could have pulled off the upset. The final score was 89-72, but the game was much closer than the score indicates.

Idella DeRamus capped off a brilliant career with 22 points against VSC. Idella's JSU career numbers are 17.8 points per game, and 9.8 rebounds per game. Idella deserved to play for a team with a better record, but the Lady Gamecocks never quit, and you have to respect them for that.

Remember, JSU hosts Montevallo tomorrow for a 2:00 baseball game at University Field. If you go to the game, you might bring along a raincoat. You just never know about mother nature.

Conference tourney is tonight

By THOMAS BALLENGER
Chanticleer Senior Editor

The 1987 Gulf South Conference Tournament opens tonight, as four teams fight it out for an automatic invitation for the Division II NCAA national tournament.

The top team in the regular season, the West Georgia Braves, hosts the fourth place finisher in the GSC, the North Alabama Lions.

West Georgia, 23-4, won both matchups with UNA during the regular season. The Lions finished 18-9, after starting the year 12-1. West Georgia has had trouble of late, losing three out of its last four games. However, on their home court, the Braves may be too strong for the Lions.

Also tonight, the Tennessee - Martin Pacers travel to Cleveland, Miss., for a first-round game at Delta State. UTM finished 17-10 in the regular season, and gained a split in the season series with Delta State. DSU, 20-7, won its last three games of the season, and appears to be the hottest team in the GSC tourney. Strange thing about the regular season meetings between these two schools is neither team claimed a victory on its home floor.

Saturday night, the highest seeded first round winner will host the other remaining GSC contender at 7:30. If West Georgia defeats North Alabama, the contest will be played at WGC, on campus at the HPE Building. If UNA should upset WGC, then the championship game would be hosted by the winner of the Delta State - Tennessee - Martin contest.

Barge 'Player of the Year'

Kevin Riggan's Gamecock career has ended

By THOMAS BALLENGER
Chanticleer Senior Editor

The long Gulf South Conference regular season, and many players distinguished themselves over the season. Ten players have been chosen to the second annual The Chanticleer All-GSC Basketball team, and no one who follows GSC action should be surprised at any of the choices.

First of all, Delta State's Gerald Glass was the number two scorer and the number one rebounder for the GSC this season. JSU fans have probably seen the last of Gerald. Delta State was picked to finish in the lower half of the conference this season, but the Statesmen wound up second. Glass is one of the major reasons for this reversal. Glass, a sophomore, is rumored to be following former coach Ed Murphy to Ole Miss.

The GSC's number one scorer was Anthony Barge. Barge averaged 29.1 points per game, and over his last seven contests, the senior forward averaged a staggering 37 points per game. West Georgia was picked in the bottom half of the GSC in preseason, like Delta State, but the Braves won the conference, and maintained a national ranking the entire season.

The Chanticleer 1986-87 GSC "Coach of the Year" is West Georgia's Roger Kaiser. This is the second year in a row that Kaiser has won this award. Kaiser's team won the GSC regular season title, after being picked to finish in the back of the pack this year.

The Chanticleer 1986-87 "Freshman of the Year" is Jacksonville State's Terry Rutledge. Rutledge became one of, if not the best, big men in the GSC by the season's end. The next three years look rosy for Rutledge.

The 1986-87 Chanticleer GSC

"Player of the Year" is West Georgia's Anthony Barge. Barge won the GSC scoring title and led his team to their second straight regular season conference title.

Finally, the 1986-87 Chanticleer "Surprise team of the Year" is a tie between two clubs. On the positive side, the West Georgia Braves played above expectations, and claimed the conference title. But, just as surprising was the collapse of the preseason pick to claim the GSC. Troy State was picked to win the GSC, but the Trojans never challenged for the top spot.
