Reagan proposes cuts in student aid

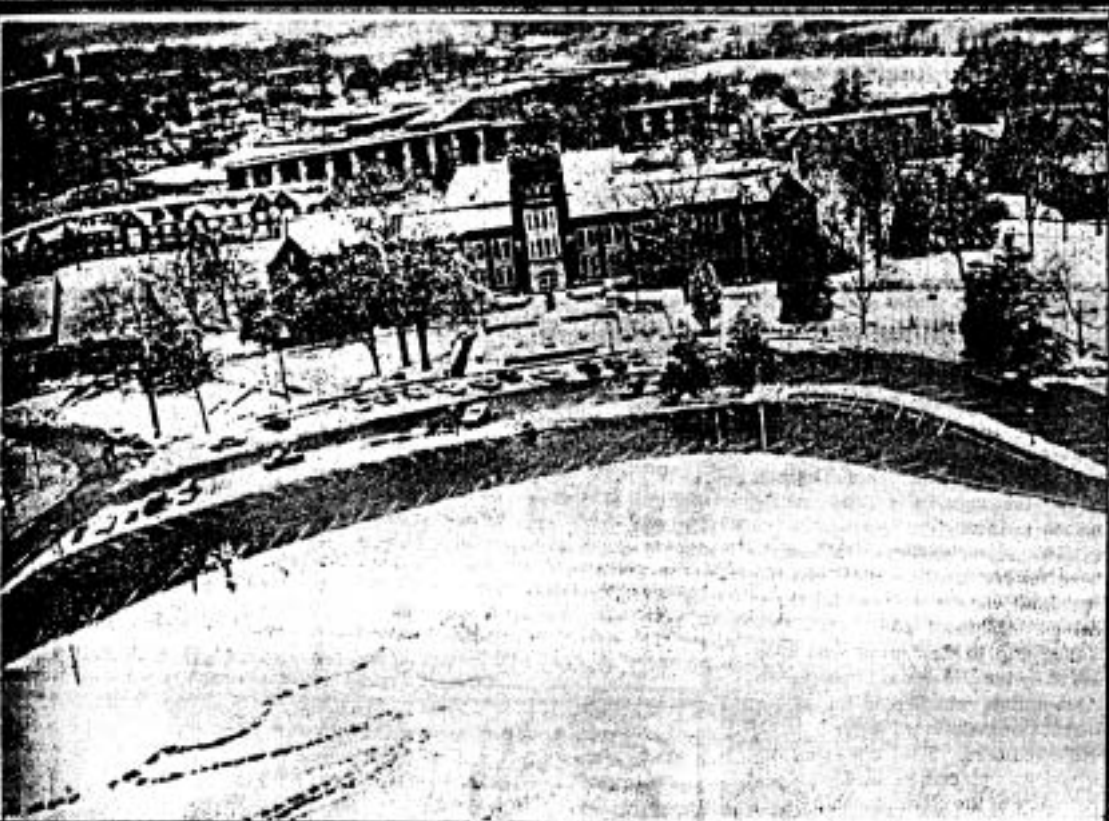

Washington D.C. (CPS) -- In its budget proposal to Congress last week, the Reagan administration suggested radical education cuts that would push some three million students off federal financial aid programs next year. The administration -- which proposed similarly drastic cuts in 1981, 1982 and 1983 -- wants to abolish the College Work-Study program, massively diminish aid to black colleges and deeply cut Guaranteed Student Loan (GSL) and Pell Grant funding.

said. Wayne State President Dr. David Adamany thought the proposal a product of "a mistaken philosophy."

Its aim, the White House said in a commentary published with the budget proposal, is to make students, not taxpayers, pay for college.

"Students are the principal beneficiaries of their investment in higher education," the statement said. "It is therefore reasonable to expect them -- not taxpayers -- to shoulder most of the costs."

Specifically, the administration wants:

- A $2.3 billion cut in total Education Department expenditures to $14.7 billion.
- A drop in college students' aid funds to $4.5 billion from $8.2 billion, which would push some three million students off aid programs.
- To abolish the work study program and vocational education funding.
- A funding cut of two-thirds to historically black colleges.
- Cuts in Guaranteed Student Loans, Pell Grants and a federal anti-drug program.

To move some students from the current GSL into an expanded Income Contingent Loan program, in which students repay their loans in amounts determined by how much money they make after graduation.

The outcry from college lobbyists in Washington, students and educators around the country was immediate.

"Enrollments would drop. The impact on higher education would be almost incomprehensible," American Council on Education president Robert Atwell for writing it are isolated from the real world," Joyce Payne of the Office for the Advancement of Public Black Colleges agrees.

"If the budget is passed millions of students across the nation would be unable to afford to go to college. It would mean a 45 percent reduction in the amount of aid that is now available," Susan Shakette, aid director at Eastern Washington University, said.

Some observers, however, doubted Congress will pass the budget.

"I don't think Congress takes the proposals seriously at all," Julianne Still Thrift of the National Association of Independent Colleges and Universities said.

She recalls that "Congress has shown over and over again that it will not allow the administration to make these massive cuts."

Atwell adds that "this year the proposals are the worst we've ever seen, so you could argue that they're so outrageous no one will pay any attention to them. Maybe the good news is that it's so bad."

Much to some lobbyists' surprise, though, Congress did pass hefty federal college program cuts in 1981. So Atwell adds preventing cuts this year "will take a lot of work. We're taking the (threat of cuts) quite seriously."

Thrift also counsels that "we all need to stand up and say we care, and let Congress know what we need."

The aid programs' standing in Congress, moreover, already may have been weakened. Education Secretary William Bennett's "unfair statements" about aid and the quality of colleges "make the public lose confidence in financial aid programs."

The week before the administration made its budget proposals, Atwell himself wrote a public letter to college presidents around the nation saying that some representatives now view education "as just another special interest group" that may not deserve support.

"Congress realizes the value of young peoples' education," Eastern Washington's Shackette says hopefully.

Bad checks

Student credit takes a bounce

By ROY WILLIAMS
Chanticleer Senior Editor
Jacksonville State University
begin enforcing a tighter check policy in the near future, due to thousands of dollars in bad checks written by several students recently, Ben Kirkland, University comptroller said.

This is not a new problem at JSU. According to Kirkland, the University usually receives an average of $7,000 - 8,000 in bad checks from students per semester. He described the $22,000 figure existing this semester as "ridiculously high."

"It has gotten much worse this semester, and we are extremely concerned about it," Kirkland said.

According to Kirkland, the current University check policy dictates that when a check is returned because of insufficient funds, the student is sent a certified letter requesting that he pay up at the business office within five days. Regardless of whether the student pays within five days or not, the bill is added to his student account,

"We're going to have to get a stricter check policy if this problem continues." - Ben Kirkland, University Comptroller Kirkland said. If the student does not pay up, he cannot register for further courses, but can continue going to class.

Kirkland said that approximately 40 percent of the University fees (such as tuition and housing) are paid for by students using checks, another 40 percent by student aid (grants and loans), and the remaining 20 percent by students using cash, credit cards, or money orders.

"We're going to have to get a stricter check policy if this problem continues. Some possibilities could include not confirming their registration. Most schools say if you don't pay up, you can't go to school. Maybe we'll have to do that too," Kirkland said.

"We've had about $22,000 worth of bad checks written by students in this semester alone, and this is just the confirmation fee. There's no way of knowing how things will be when the courses are due Feb. 4," Kirkland

English, Art department sponsor New York trip

By CYNDI OWENS
Chanticleer Staff Writer

During minimester 1987, the English and art departments will co-sponsor a study and tour of New York City.

"Students may receive three hours English elective credit, either undergraduate or graduate, and three hours art undergraduate credit. The courses may count toward general elective credit also. The courses are also open for audit students," Dr. Steve Whitton, who will be teaching the English class, said.

The first three weeks of the course will be on campus and will involve an hour of instruction each in English and art.

"Students are encouraged to sign up for both classes, because they have to stay the whole two hours anyway. It is a course that is team taught. The student has the opportunity for 3-or-6 hours undergraduate credit, or the option of three hours graduate English credit," Whitton said.

"One of the things involved in the trip is going to art museums during the day and to the theater at night. It's a chance to see real art up close and not just study it from a book," Dr. Emilie Burn, who will be teaching the art class, added.

The tentative schedule for the trip includes visits to the Metropolitan Museum of Art, the Museum of Modern Art, the Guggenheim Museum, and other smaller museums, and tickets to "Les Miserables," "Anything Goes," "Blithe Spirit," and "Sweet Bird of Youth." The tour will also include a trip to the Lincoln Center for the Performing Arts.

"The approximate cost of the trip, lodging, and tickets is $900.00.

Cheerleaders were a success in San Diego

Squad ranks second nationally

By KAY ROBINSON
Chanticleer Staff Writer

Out of approximately 250 entries in the Ford College Cheerleading National Championships last November, only 10 finalist positions were available. Jacksonville State University's 14-member cheering squad made one of those positions, and in doing so won a four-day trip to San Diego, California, where they competed against top cheerleading squads throughout the nation and brought back the second place trophy.

JSU's cheerleading sponsor, Kay Caldwell, expressed her feelings about the squad's second in the nation position.

"The cheerleaders are always cheering for someone else, and this was their chance to cheer for themselves," Caldwell said.

The trip to California was sponsored by the Universal Cheerleading Association, which paid for airfare and accommodations for each of the cheerleaders. The cheerleading squad was placed in the Division II category of the championship finals. The divisions are chosen by the number of students enrolled in each college. Division II was established only last year.

To enter the competition the cheerleaders were required to send in a video tape of themselves which included: a cheer, fight song, and a sideline chant.

Last year was JSU's first time to compete in the national cheerleading championship. In the Division II level, approximately 85 to 100 colleges entered. Only two teams were chosen to compete nationally, JSU and Mississippi College. Mississippi College won the first place in the division.

The cheerleaders were judged on enthusiasm, showmanship, crowd approval, and athletic ability. Two-year cheerleader Randy Snyder, said that he tried not to think about the competition during the finals.

"I looked at it as going out there and having fun. If you get up-tight, you get nervous. If you can't have fun, you shouldn't be out there," Snyder said.

Another pressure builder for the cheerleaders was the fact that ESPN cameras filmed the competition, he said. The championship will be shown on the sports channel later this month.

The score sheets for the championship were sent to Caldwell last week. The final tally for the competition was disappointingly close, according to Caldwell.

"Between the first and second place positions, the score sheet showed a difference of 8.7 points," she said.

Although the cheerleaders were disappointed after the final, Caldwell said the cheerleaders do have a free day to play in California.

Hill hired as new University photographer

Hill of Jacksonville has been named University photographer, filling the position vacated by Mr. Opal Lovett who retired last year.

Hill brings to the job ten years of experience as a photojournalist, having worked primarily for The Anniston Star. He is no stranger to JSU as he has photographed many of the home football games for the Anniston newspaper, and his wife is secretary to JSU Athletic Director Jerry Cole. Hill trained former award-winning Anniston Star photographer Ken Elkins and has completed numerous photography courses.

His pictures have also appeared in The Birmingham News, The Gadsden Times, and other publications.

"Replacing Opal Lovett is an impossibility. I only hope I can do the job as well as he and Ken Elkins have taught me. It's an opportunity of a lifetime for me, and I intend to make the best of all of it," he said.

Hill has worked for the past 20 years for National Gypsum Co. in Bynum.

Although he is a professional, he has not worked in the field full time until now.

"My photography career started in 1975 with an $80 35mm camera and several attempts to take pictures of my two daughters. I attended two or three courses in photography at JSU taught by Opal Lovett under the continuing education program. Opal invited me on the sidelines for one of JSU's football games and gave me my first pointers as a sports photographer," Hill said.

Since then, Hill has covered sports and general assignments for newspapers and has cultivated a growing freelance business.

"The job with JSU is a dream in that I don't know many people who can change a hobby into a vocation. After working a swing shift for 20 years and having to beg, borrow, or steal time for my photography, I'm happy to be able to devote full time and continue to learn and experience," he said.

Mrs. Maudine Holloway (center) talks with Deen Role, a JSU graduate student, and Nelson Hambolu, a freshman, about her trip to South Africa last summer. Her presentation to an audience of approximately 20-30 students and faculty included a slide presentation and a question and answer session afterward. During her stay there, she met with Bishop Desmond Tutu and had the opportunity to see first-hand how the blacks there are treated. Sponsored by the Sociology Club and Wesley Foundation, the program was held January 20 at 3:30 p.m. at the Wesley House.

Something To Think About

There's a need for drug testing on the job

Visualize this: It's 1990. You go into a business, company or store and ask for a job application. You walk away, then... "Wait a minute sir (or madam), that's only part one. Here's part two." With a shocked expression, you reach for a urine specimen cup. Drug testing for a job? Does the thought sound ridiculous?

If you think about the number of people these days taking drugs, you might not think so. Drug abuse is serious because it affects lives.

We already have many college athletes across the country taking mandatory drug tests in order to play. All NCAA Division I, II and III sports (men and women) participating in NCAA championship events and athletes selected to play post-season football games must take the drug tests in order to play.

Vicky Wallace

Editor-in-Chief

Last year, drug testing became a reality for all football and basketball players. The rule was: If tested twice as positive, then you're kicked off the team. I just hope drug testing for JSU athletes is really enforced like it should be. It is possible to have a good athletic program without drugs.

It's too bad the drug issue wasn't given the publicity it needed until two star athletes, Maryland basketball player Leo Bias and Cleveland Browns football player Don Rogers, both in their 20's, died of drug overdoses last summer.

The deaths last year caught the attention of the White House. President Reagan launched an all-out, highly publicized campaign against drug abuse. He started his war against drugs by making an example at the federal level - he proposed drug testing for some federal employees last year.

Many college students didn't like this idea. For example, Cornell students mailed the White House more than 100 urine samples while 215 Cal-Santa Barbara students held a "Ur-lne" in which they did the same thing.

Of course, there were other college students who protested, but not so dramatically. A College Press Service report stated that many University of Maryland students simply ignored letters from university officials warning of possible consequences from on-campus drug use or distribution, and coaches at Clemson and Duke Universities requested drug testing programs be instituted among the entire student body.

Now, the idea of ALL college students having to take mandatory drug tests is ridiculous. What if submitting a urinalysis was part of the admission requirement for college? Talk about college enrollment going down drastically. The teen years up to the early 20s are the years for trying things new including drugs. Besides, if students were tested positive, what would happen? Would they be prohibited from attending that university? Would college juniors and seniors testing positive be expelled? These questions may seem silly now, but they are something to think about. You never know. The impossible and preposterous sometimes become reality.

My point is drug testing shouldn't be limited to sports. All helping professions and jobs responsible for other people's lives should be tested and often (such as physicians - particularly surgeons, nurses, lawyers, policemen, airplane pilots, air traffic controllers, truck drivers, and train conductors.) Accidents and tragedies shouldn't happen as the result of the airplane pilot sniffing cocaine on his way to the cockpit or the train conductor having just smoked marijuana before he says, "All aboard."

How far should the press probe?

By STEVEN ROBINSON
Chanticleer Senior Editor

Much has been said over the last couple of months concerning the "Irangate" affair. Tons of accusations have flown in many different directions with no one person willing to stand up and tell the truth about what really happened. This does not say much for the honesty or reliability of our nation's top leaders.

It would appear that the government, with all officials grouped into one bungling governmental entity, have made some very stupid mistakes in dealing with hostage releases and the sale of military weapons to hostile nations. Needless to say, the press has had a field day.

Compounding the current government problem has been the American press's vindictive attitude and overblown need to "inform the people." Most Americans would argue for a free press as outlined by the First Amendment of the U.S. Constitution, but just how far does that right extend? Do we, as a free society, actually have the right to know every single move the federal government makes? Must we inform ourselves to the point of risking pertinent and classified information vital to national security being leaked to the world community (which at this day and age is blatantly anti-American)?

The American people do have the right to know, but how much do they have the right to know? Many would argue that everything the government does should be carried out under close scrutiny. The problem with that is - who's scrutiny? the press's?

This editorial is in no way written to justify the blunders made by the present administration which many might assume from the first paragraph. But instead, its purpose is to question the power of the American press and its right to investigate the facts and inform the American people.

Where can the proper lines be drawn, and who is to decide where these lines are drawn? Perhaps out there somewhere in this vast nation is someone with a legitimate solution. Until then, it appears that America must buckle down and prepare itself for more "gates" through which it must pass.

DAN DOERKY: THE FORMATIVE YEARS

ROTC offers scholarships

Colonel Allan R. Borstoroff, a professor of military science, has announced that the army is now accepting applications for two-year and three-year Army ROTC scholarships from colleges sophomores and freshmen who have the desire and have demonstrated the potential to become commissioned officers in the U.S. Army, the Army Reserve or the Army National Guard.

The Army Reserve Officers' Training Corps is the largest officer producing program in the U.S. Army. ROTC enhances a student's education by providing unique leadership and management training, along with practical experience and helps a student develop many of the qualities basic to the success in the Army or in a civilian career. ROTC gives students a valuable opportunity to build for the future by enabling them to earn a college degree and an officer's commission at the same time.

Army ROTC scholarships provide financial assistance to the most outstanding students in obtaining their college degree and commission as an army officer. Each scholarship pays for college tuition and required educational fees, and provides a specific amount for textbooks, supplies and equipment. Scholarship students also receive a tax-free subsistence allowance of $500 for each year the scholarship is in effect.

At JSU a three-year Army ROTC scholarship is worth approximately $8,000 and a two-year scholarship is worth $5,500. Scholarships are available in virtually all academic disciplines and special consideration is given to students pursuing degrees in nursing, the physical sciences, business and other technical skills currently in demand by the army.

Students in a variety of academic majors are already attending JSU on Army ROTC scholarships and almost one-third of the ROTC advanced course students at JSU are attending college on Army ROTC scholarships.

In order to qualify for an Army ROTC scholarship students must:

- Be at least 17 years of age by October 1, 1987 but less than 25 years old as of June 30 of the calendar year in which eligible for appointment as an officer (up to 4 years extension may be granted for active duty service)

- Have accumulated a minimum of 27 semester hours but have at least three years of study remaining for a three-year scholarship, and have accumulated a minimum of 54 semester hours with at least two years of study remaining for a two-year scholarship (accrued hours and time requirements are as of August 1987).

- Have a minimum cumulative grade point average of 1.0 (students with a GPA of 1.7 or above have an excellent chance of being awarded a scholarship).

- Have a minimum American College Test (ACT) composite score of 17 or a Scholastic Aptitude Test (SAT) score of at least 850 for a three-year scholarship (SAT or ACT requirements not applicable for two-year scholarship applicants).

- Be medically qualified.
- Exhibit a strong desire to obtain a commission and baccalaureate degree.

- Demonstrate the potential of becoming an effective Army officer as evidenced by appearance, personal physical fitness, personality, academic performance and extracurricular activities.

The deadlines for applying for the Army ROTC scholarships are February 10, 1987 for the two-year scholarship and April 14, 1987 for the three-year scholarship. However, due to the time required to complete administrative requirements and to process the application, it is recommended that students interested in learning more about Army ROTC scholarship opportunities contact any Military Science Instructor, or stop by Rowe Hall, or call 231-5601 as soon as possible.

Spring brings changes to library

By Harry D. Nuttall

We want to welcome all you students back for the spring semester and remind you that the library is here to serve you. In this first

I want to remind you of some things concerning the library and point out some changes that have taken place since the fall semester.

If you have overdue books from the semester or any previous semester please bring those books to the library in the 8th floor during the hours of 8:00 a.m. - 12:00 p.m. and 1:00 - 4:30 p.m. in weekdays. After your overdue fine is paid you will be given a receipt. This receipt should be taken to the Business Office to clear your account of your library fine.

The library's hours for spring term will be:

Monday through Thursday - 7:30 a.m. to 10:30 p.m.

Friday - 7:30 a.m. to 4:15 p.m.

Saturday - 9:00 a.m. to 2:00 p.m.

Sunday - 3:00 p.m. to 9:00 p.m.

The night duty roster for the subject specialist librarians has changed, so those students who plan to work evenings in the library on specific assignments would do well to come to the library when the appropriate specialist is on duty. The revised schedule is as follows:

Monday: law and technology; psychology, religion, library science

Tuesday: social sciences and business; humanities

Wednesday: history and genealogy; literature

Thursday: health and sciences; education

In addition to scheduling changes there have been some personnel changes at the library. Audra Alexander, bibliographic instruction librarian and my predecessor on this column, has moved to Paris, Tennessee (ah! Paris in the spring-time). Her place in the BI program has been taken by Dr. Martha Merrill, formerly the 4th floor subject specialist. Dr. Merrill's place on 4th floor has been taken by Tim Moon, who has several years of part-time experience on that floor.

Besides scheduling and personnel changes, there have also been some changes in the library setting. The vertical file, formerly in the Audio-Visual room in the basement, has been moved to the second floor. Those of you needing a newspaper clipping or picture for a class project need to know of this new location. Also, there have been two additions which we hope you will like. On the east side of the lobby there is now a periodical browsing area containing current issues of popular magazines and a couple of newspapers, including USA Today. This is the ideal place for students who want to use some of their leisure time to keep up with current events.

An addition to the library that you should enjoy is the concession area containing a coke and snack machine, now located on the lobby's west side near the circulation desk. We want you to relax and enjoy the informal atmosphere of this area, but we ask you to please not take drinks or munchies away from there.

Let us remind you once again that the suggestion box is in place on the circulation desk, if you have ideas about ways the library can improve its service. Most of the suggestions - except those written by aspiring gag writers are taken seriously and are implemented where feasible. The concession is a product of the suggestion box, as are the typewriters located on the fifth floor for student use.

We will talk about recent suggestions, and other things, in the next column for the Chanticleer.

JSU tuition must be paid in addition for course credit. Students interested in the trip must sign up with me by February 1 and pre-pay $300.00. The balance should be paid in two installments, prior to the trip, so that reservations can be made in advance," Whitton said.

Students who are interested in the trip should pick up application forms either in the art department or in room 210 or 228 Stone Center.

Students wake up to a new ring in business

By FELICIA SIGLER
Chanticleer Staff Writer

Do you have problems getting up in the mornings? Are you tired of arriving late for class? If these problems persist in your daily routines, then maybe Dawn Lawinger can help you.

Lawinger explained how she came up with the idea.

"I was at Brother's one night and I noticed all the college students staying out late. I figured it could be so easy to cut off your alarm or not hear it, but by answering the telephone, it would be easier to wake up," she said.

Because of the difficulties she encountered in finding a job, she figured the wake-up service would provide her with an income while benefitting others at the same time.

"This idea for starting a wake-up call service had a nice appeal to it. I hope it will prove to be a very profitable business in the future. I already have several clients and have placed ads in The Anniston Star and distributed fliers," Lawinger said.

The cost for full-time service is $15.00 per month. For those who want the service for two days a week, the cost is only $6.00 per month, she said.

The wake-up service will call each client twice - ten minutes ahead of the scheduled time, then ten minutes later to make sure they are up.

"Our computer system will also make the service more efficient and give us easier access to calling our clients on time," Lawinger said.

Program aids medical mentorship

"Mentorship in the Making," a program designed to support incoming nursing students and to foster a collegial relationship among sophomore, junior and senior students, will hold its first session in the nursing auditorium on Monday, Feb. 2.

Speakers will include Dr. Roberta Watts, dean of the College of Nursing; Bruce Carpenter, president of the JSU Association of Nursing Students; Steve Hendrix, president of the Nursing Christian Fellowship; and Martha Lavender, president of Sigma Theta Tau Nursing Honor Society.

The professional session will be followed by a pre-spring picnic in the halls of the College of Nursing, allowing time for students to identify their assigned mentors and to socialize with fellow students and faculty.

According to Dr. Brenda Harvey of the College of Nursing, "A mentor is an influential person, one who is a wise and trusted counselor and teacher, who promotes the development of a protege. A mentor interacts with a protege through counseling, teaching, coaching and sponsoring the younger student in activities that will contribute to improved academic performance and career development." "Research indicated that student interactions that evolve into a mentor-protege relationship can have a profound and enduring effect on career satisfaction, research productivity and scholarly activities. It is based on mutual respect for competence among the interacting parties in raising and debating issues," she said.

The event is planned and implemented through the efforts of the College of Nursing Student Alumnae Committee, chaired by Dr. Harvey, along with the assistance of faculty members Evelyn Guice, Paula Davis, Dinah Hudson, Martha Lavender, Dr. Marge Lyons, and student representatives Carolyn Moss and Jannie McGowan.

SGA and 92J bring contemporary Christian group

Myron LeFevre & Broken Heart

By TZENA GIBBS
Chanticleer Senior Editor

The SGA and 92J are bringing Mylon LeFevre and Broken Heart to the coliseum Friday, January 30 at 7:30 p.m. Tickets are: general admission, $10.50 advance, $11.50 at the door, and $9.50 for students. "Broken Heart feels like this will be a successful concert because they have a real good following here and they come to Alabama four times a year," SGA president Vonda Barbour said.

Mylon LeFevre and Broken Heart is a contemporary Christian rock and roll band. LeFevre's musical career began when he was 4 years old and sang with his family's gospel group, The LeFevres. He has been playing gospel rock and roll since he was 15 when he played drums with a young rocker named Ronnie Milsap, according to the Winston-Salem Journal.

At 17, Elvis Presley recorded LeFevre's song "Without Him" and made LeFevre a wealthy man overnight. He was in the army at the time, making about $84 a month, and after Elvis, made about 90 grand that first year.

Because he was very young and just out of high school, his new wealth led to excesses which were dangerous.

LeFevre left his gospel band due to a conflict and went on to form what is now the Atlanta Rhythm Section.

LeFevre has done concerts with artists like Eric Clapton, Willie Nelson, Duane Allman, George Harrison, Lynyrd Skynyrd and others. He has opened for The Who and the Stones.

After a drug overdose that nearly killed him, LeFevre left a $670,000 a year salary to accept a $75 a month job as a janitor at the Mount Paran Church of God in Atlanta. He collected his thoughts and recovered from the drugs and now is back in the public eye singing his heart out about the "message."

The SGA is providing the coliseum, promotions and all the "leg work" for the concert, according to Barbour, because one of the group members is paying for everything.

The Baptist Campus Ministry, Wesley Foundation and Campus Outreach are also helping with the concert and groups from Auburn, Birmingham Southern and Samford are coming to support.

"We are able to do more for the band because they are not charging us to come," Barbour said.

Songs for sale on Valentine's

By CYNDI OWENS
Chanticleer Staff Writer

Students and faculty members who have a certain someone they would like to remember for Valentine's Day have an interesting opportunity this year. Instead of sending the same old candy, card, or flowers, send them a "Singing Telegram."

Sponsored and performed by the Mask & Wig Drama Club, the telegrams are perfect for remembering someone special. They are also perfect to embarrass those one does not love.

"Revenge is a big factor. If you want it to be serious you can have that. But if you want something to embarrass someone, we will have that, too," Eric Key, president of the club, said.

The telegrams will be sung to a variety of tunes, including rock, country, and show tunes, and will be delivered by members wearing anything from Shakespearean costumes to animal suits.

The cost of the telegrams is $3.00 anywhere on campus, $5.00 within Jacksonville city, and $10.00 in Anniston, Oxford, or Piedmont. They will be delivered on Thursday, February 12, and Friday, February 13, starting at 7:30 a.m. and lasting until the last order is filled.

Anyone interested in ordering a telegram may make reservations immediately by calling 231-5648. However, the telegram must be paid for before it is delivered. Payment may be delivered to the theater box office or to room 339 in Stone Center. A registration booth will also be set up in front of Jack Hopper Dining Hall on Wednesday, February 11, from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m.

'Little Shop' is horror comedy

It is the latest thing in movie madness -- a veritable feast of idiosyncy and zaniness that makes for fun, fun and more fun at the movies.

Little Shop of Horrors is a movie with the gall to actually combine a musical with a horror story and end up with a comedy hit.

This holiday release appeals to people (like me) who have a yen for the outrageous. I think the idea of a blood-eating plant from outer space is novel, indeed. It provides a break from the cinematic monotony of both the proverbial tearjerker as well as the barrage of "Rambo" clone movies now attacking movie viewers from all sides.

Heralding an all-star cast, Little Shop spotlights such talent as Steve Martin, John Candy, Bill Murray and many more. Martin's portrayal of the sadistic dentist is outrageous, exploiting a common fear most people have of their dentist.

The music used in the film is excellent, and well fits the retro '60's fad now making its mark across the country.

I think the acting was good and the casting was well done. Each actor portrayed his or her character in an agreeable fashion.

The special effects, coordinated by Frank Oz and others, was outstanding. Audrey II, the killer house plant, was well-designed, and his voice will sound very familiar to fans of the group the Four Tops.

I would highly recommend this movie to all students with a zest for the weird side of life and the desire for the unusual in the area of American cinema. See it with a friend, and if you don't have one, see it by yourself, but don't miss out on this movie madness treat.

Gamecocks blast Lions, ride Hicks to victory

By THOMAS BALLENGER
Chanticleer Senior Editor

The Jax State Gamecocks announced to the rest of the Gulf South Conference that they will have to be reckoned with as they beat North Alabama 87-76, Saturday night at Mathews Coliseum.

Sparked by the outstanding play of junior forward Derek "Doc" Hicks, the Gamecocks mauled the GSC's second place club.

JSU shot an incredible 70 percent during the first half, and the visiting Lions could not seem to stop the hot-shooting Gamecocks. Jax State led 50-34 at intermission, but no one in attendance had counted out UNA.

UNA came out after the home team, but the Lions never got within four points of JSU the rest of the way.

Derek Hicks scored 11 points in an eight minute span when the Lions appeared to be on the verge of catching the Gamecocks.

At the 1:41 mark of the contest, UNA's Anthony Reid hit a long three-point shot to trim JSU's lead to 77-72. Then came the chance for JSU to salt away the game.

After Gamecock Randall Holmes had been fouled, and was preparing to shoot a one-and-one, Lion Coach Bill Jones was assessed a technical foul. Holmes missed the front end of his bonus situation, but Robert Lee Sanders connected on 1-2 technical foul shots. JSU led by six, 78-72, and had the ball back.

After the inbounds play, Holmes was called for an offensive foul, and UNA was back in business.

With 1:15 remaining, UNA guard Luther Tiggs, who had been a thorn in the side of the Gamecocks all night long, dribbled the ball off of his foot and Jax State had the ball, and a six point lead with only 1:15 left in the game.

After a JSU turnover, Tiggs redeemed himself somewhat by sinking two foul shots with 1:08 left to trim the Jax State advantage to 78-74.

With :40 remaining, JSU led 79-75. But it was the strength of six consecutive free throws that the Jaxmen iced away the contest.

The final 87-76 margin came about as freshman Terry Rutledge put away a thunderous jam at the buzzer.

The win raised JSU's overall record to 8-6, and 3-3 in the GSC. North Alabama fell to 13-4 overall, and 4-3 in conference play.

Hicks led the Gamecocks with his game-high 33 points. Rutledge contributed 17 points and eight rebounds to the winning effort. Robert Lee Sanders scored 12 points and dished out six assists. Charles Page hit all five of his field goal attempts, and finished with 11 points. Jeff Smith gathered in a game high 11 rebounds to aid the win.

"Derek Hicks gave us a tremendous game tonight. We tried to isolate him on offense, and he really responded. Charlie Page and Randall Holmes also played well off of our bench. We seem to be starting to learn how to play hard on defense," Gamecock Head Coach Bill Jones said.

UNA was led in scoring by forward Steve Martin who tallied 20 points. Greg Armstead scored 16 points, and Anthony Reid added 10 for the Lions.

JSU outrebounded the Lions 40-27, as the smaller Gamecocks continually outthrustled the bigger North Alabama team. UNA only shot 41 percent from the floor for the game, far less than the brilliant 63 percent from the Gamecocks.

JSU travels to Delta State Saturday night for a game with the defending GSC champs. Tipoff is at 7:30. Monday night, the western swing continues as the Gamecocks take on Mississippi College. Next Thursday, the team takes its road act to Livingston for a 7:30 contest with the Tigers.

Lady Gamecocks rip UNA women 86-77

By THOMAS BALLENGER
Chanticleer Senior Editor

The Lady Gamecocks of Jacksonville State accomplished a feat that had been a long time in the coming. They defeated visiting North Alabama 86-77 on the strength of a great performance by Idella DeRamus and ended a Gulf South Conference losing streak of over four years.

JSU held a 36-33 advantage at the half as senior center DeRamus led the way. DeRamus scored 15 points and claimed five rebounds in the opening half, but her best play was yet to come.

Jax State took control of the second half as the JSU women outscored the Lady Lions 50-44 after intermission.

The first GSC win in over four years had been achieved.

DeRamus scored 34 points and Junior guard Kim Welch played her best game of the season. Welch hit 5-9 shots from the field, and 5-7 free throws. Her 16 points also included a long three-point bomb. Welch handed out three assists, and helped the team move the ball to DeRamus.

Freshman forward Sue Imm continued her impressive rookie campaign by totaling 14 points.

Luchy Cabrera only scored four points, but she ran the team well, and displayed poise when the UNA Lady Lions started to mount a comeback. Cabrera dished out three assists, and swiped two Lady Lion passes during the contest.

Alicia Wright led the team with a total of seven assists, many coming on passes to DeRamus. Wright also added six points to the win.

UNA was led by post Linda Lig-

West Georgia defeats JSU

By THOMAS BALLENGER
Chanticleer Senior Editor

The West Georgia Braves proved to be too much for the visiting Jacksonville State Gamecocks to handle as the host team claiming its 15th consecutive win, 87-76 Monday night in Carrollton, Ga.

By the scoring of Terry Rutledge, the JSU Gamecocks led the score at 10-10 with 15:30 remaining in the first half. Rutledge scored the first 10 points of the contest.

A big play in the opening half occurred at the 11:26 mark when WGC's All-American candidate Anthony Barge picked up his third foul. The Braves were without their leading scorer for the remainder of the half.

JSU held a 33-24 advantage with 5:05 left in the first half, but the Braves cut that lead before intermission.

Robert Lee Sanders picked up his third foul of the contest with five minutes to go until halftime, and the Braves seemed to lack leadership due to his absence.

Two costly turnovers in the final two minutes of the half allowed WGC to get back into the game, and they allowed the home crowd a chance to get involved in the action. WGC outscored the Gamecocks 9-2 in the last two minutes, and at the half JSU held a tenuous 43-38 lead.

After Derek Hicks had given JSU a 45-42 lead, Anthony Barge was assessed his fourth personal foul, and WGC was at a disadvantage.

JSU led 51-42 after a thunderous dunk by Hicks as the JSU forward followed up a missed Gamecock shot.

In the next four minutes the home team outscored JSU 11-0, and what was once a nine-point lead was quickly a two-point deficit.

"I told the team that they could get back into the game, but that they had to play as a team. I think the biggest change for us was that we started to get results from our efforts. Before our run, I thought we were going too hard," WGC coach Roger Kaiser said.

The Gamecocks fought back, and at the 9:49 mark led 59-53. Terry Rutledge hit an eight-foot jumper which gave JSU a 55-53 lead. This was to be the last time the Gamecocks would hold the upper hand on this evening.

WGC then went on a 14-4 run that saw the Braves hold a 72-62 advantage with only 4:34 left in the contest.

Rutledge completed a three-point play after an offensive rebound to pull the Gamecocks within seven with four minutes remaining, but the Braves countered with the second of two long-range three-point bombs by Anthony Barge and the lead was back to 10.

"Barge hit two big shots for us, and the big thing was that he had been sitting on the bench for a long time. He hit those shots cold," Kaiser said.

With the game long decided the Gamecocks had another chance to score after a steal, but reserve guard Paul Gaffney fumbled away a potential layup. This turnover epitomized the entire game. JSU was close to winning, but the breaks just did not go the Gamecocks' way.

The win, WGC's school record-setting 15th in a row, raises the Braves' overall mark to 17-1, and their Gulf South Conference mark to a perfect 7-0. JSU's overall record stands at 8-7 and is 3-4 in the GSC.

Freshman Terry Rutledge led the way with his game-high figures in both scoring and rebounding. Rutledge scored 24 points, and grabbed 10 rebounds. Derek Hicks added 12 points to the JSU totals, despite missing over half of the game due to foul trouble.

Guards Travis Benton and Rodney Roberts combined to post 35 points, hitting five three-point shots between them. Anthony Barge netted 15 points in only 16 minutes of action. Two other Braves, Tim Wyatt and Bobby Pippins, also finished in double figures.

"The difference tonight was depth. We are not as deep as West Georgia, and I thought the players who came off their bench tonight were the difference in the game. We had a chance to have an eight or nine point lead at the half, but we had some turnovers that cost us," Gamecock head coach Bill Jones said.

The Gamecocks travel to Delta State for a Saturday night contest with the Statesmen. The following Monday the Gamecocks play at Mississippi College. After the western swing, JSU will travel to Livingston for a Thursday night game with the Tigers.

All-Around Sports

Offensive line has smarts as well as talent

Congratulations are in order for Gamecock offensive lineman Rusty Rogers. Rogers, a sophomore from Huntsville, was named academic All-Gulf South Conference this past week. Rusty is a double business major.

This honor, coupled with the selection of Rusty's linemate Joe Billingsley as an All-American proves that the Gamecock line not only returns talent, but brains as well for 1987.

JSU defeated Troy State last week in a very exciting GSC contest. The win lifted the Gamecocks out of the conference cellar, and quite possibly could be the push the team needs to get into the playoff chase.

Thomas Ballenger
Sports Editor

West Georgia looks like they have the GSC under control. Not only are the Braves the hottest team in the country, but four of WGC's conference wins have been claimed on the road.

It is too early to tell, but this Braves team looks like the best GSC team since a little old band of Gamecocks won the national title two years ago. It is hard to say if WGC will go 16-0 in conference action like Bill Jones' team did in 1984-85, but Roger Kaiser's team definitely has the talent to make a run at JSU's mark.

Who would have thought that without the likes of Tim Criswell, Sherman Rowe, Antwon Daniels, and Darrell Smith that the Braves would have such a fine record. I can attest that I sure didn't anticipate WGC running off with the GSC title, but it looks like they are in complete control of the league.

Jax State is on the road Saturday night at Delta State. JSU was 0-3 against the Statesmen last year, and revenge would be sweet.

Delta is led by sophomore Gerald Glass, who at last count was the leading scorer in the Gulf South Conference. Delta will be a hard team for the Gamecocks to beat, especially on the road.

Monday, the Gamecocks continue their western swing with a contest at Mississippi College. MC plays a deliberate style of game, and will try to keep the Gamecocks from running. Look for a JSU win over MC. With any luck, Bill Jones' men may return from Mississippi with two GSC wins.

Tonight, the J-Men travel to Livingston to tangle with the Tigers. JSU won a hard-fought game from Livingston earlier in the season, and this game will not be easy.

The Lady Gamecocks lost a tough game to Troy State last week, even though the JSU women outplayed the visitors from Trojanland for more than half of the game. Something always seems to go wrong for the Lady Gamecocks, but rest assured the effort is there. The team is working and playing hard, and all they need is a win to boost their confidence.

Ladies, I know it has been a hard season, but hang in there. You may not receive the coverage or have the following of the men's team, but people do appreciate the effort you make every night.

The Lady Gamecocks play Shorter College next Wednesday night at Mathews Coliseum. Let's show the girls that they are appreciated.

Coach Rudy Abbott's team continues to practice for the upcoming baseball season, which commences the last week of February. Abbott's pitching staff will consist of seasoned hurlers, so the outlook is bright for 1987.

The JSU rifle team is gearing up for the upcoming year. Steve Chew, who enjoyed a tremendous fall season, will be gunning to break the school records he now holds.

Steve Bailey's tennis teams will be starting their seasons before too much longer. The women are the two-time defending GSC champs, and the men are a growing power in the league. The JSU tennis fortunes for 1987 appear good.

By this time next year, a group of young women will be getting ready for their season. Women's softball will be a new JSU sport in the spring, and the fast-pitch variety of GSC softball should catch on quickly with Gamecock fans.

Remember, support the Gamecocks!

Lady Braves stop JSU winning streak

By THOMAS BALLENGER
Chanticleer Senior Editor

The Lady Gamecocks, riding a one-game Gulf South Conference winning streak, were ambushed by the West Georgia Lady Braves 92-66, in a game played Monday night in Carrollton, Ga.

In the first half of the game, the Lady Braves seemed on the verge of controlling the game several times, but the JSU women hung tough. With 10 minutes remaining, the Lady Gamecocks were only down by five, 21-16. However, in the next three minutes the Lady Braves outscored JSU 8-0 to grab a 29-16 lead. At halftime, the host team had asserted itself, and enjoyed a 46-28 advantage.

Things did not improve for the Lady Gamecocks in the second half. West Georgia continued its domination of the smaller Lady Gamecocks. After their run in the first half, the Lady Braves never had any doubts as to the outcome of this contest.

JSU was led by senior forward Idella DeRamus. DeRamus scored 21 points and claimed a game-high 13 rebounds. Center Sue Imm hit for 18 points, contributed six rebounds, and added three steals to the JSU total. Alicia Wright chipped in with 10 points.

West Georgia was led in scoring by center LaShun White, who scored 28 points. She was joined in double figures by three other players: Dawn Smith scored 17, Tara James notched 15, and Janice Wilkerson added 12 points to the Lady Braves totals.

With the victory, the West Georgia Lady Braves' record climbs to 14 overall. WGC is 5-2 in the Gulf South Conference.

The loss dropped JSU's record to 5-13 overall, and left the Lady Gamecocks GSC mark at 1-6.

Next for the JSU women will be top team of the GSC, the Lady Statesmen of Delta State on Saturday night at Delta. The following Monday, the Lady Gamecocks host Shorter College for a 7 p.m. non-conference matchup. Wednesday the ladies of Talladega will play host to the Lady Gamecocks.

JSU stops Troy in thriller

By MIKE DOUGLASS
Chanticleer Staff Writer

Screams of "Whup Troy" could be heard throughout Pete Mathews Coliseum on Saturday night as the Jax State cagers downed the Trojans of Troy State, 50-57.

An eight-point run early in the first half seemed to spell doom for the Gamecocks as they were down, 12-24 at the 15:44 mark.

Forward Derek "Doc" Hicks dropped in a three-pointer to bring the Jaxmen within five, 12-7, with 14:28 to go until the half.

The implementation of the full court press seemed to jam up the Troy State offense and by the 7:39 mark, the Gamecocks had pulled within two, 23-21, on a Kevin Riggan long-range three-point bomb. Lightning struck twice as Riggan buried another three-pointer to give the Gamecocks their first lead of 24-23, with 6:59 until the half. Sharp defensive play and a smothering press were the name of the game as JSU denied the Trojans throughout the rest of the half. At the intermission the Gamecocks had the lead, 34-29.

Troy State opened the half with a costly turnover. Freshman guard Robert Sanders made them pay dearly by sinking a three-pointer to put Jax State up by eight, 37-29, with 19:05 left to play.

TSU continued to trail until a 10-second violation against JSU resulted in a Lonnie Cochran three-pointer that put the Trojans up by two, 51-49 at the 8:24 mark.

At 7:08 and counting, 6-4 sophomore forward Charles Page scored two of his four points to tie the game at 51-51.

The score stood still until the 5:28 mark when freshman guard Rodney Stevens put Troy State up by two, 53-51, with a smooth jumper from the corner.

Derek Hicks came through with a big bucket to tie the score, 53-53 with only 3:28 left. On the next series, Lonnie Cochran went to the line after a Hicks foul. Cochran hit both foul shots to put the Trojans on top 55-53, with 3:07 left to play. With ice water seemingly in his veins, Hicks hit a clutch turnaround jumper to tie the contest at 55-55.

Cochran answered the Gamecock challenge by creating a TSU scoring opportunity by making a big steal, which led to a big score underneath by 6-6 senior forward Scott Brown which put Troy back on top, 57-55.

With 1:35 to go in the game, Derek Hicks went to the line after a foul by Greg Stafford. Despite TSU Head Coach Don Maestri's attempt to rattle Hicks with a pressure-building time out, Hicks buried both attempts to tie the game at 57-57.

The next score came with :52 left to play. "GSC Freshman of the Year" candidate Terry Rutledge sank one of two foul shots to put JSU back on top, 58-57. With only :06 left, Stafford fouled Rutledge and sent him to the line again. This time Rutledge nailed both shots to put the Gamecocks up by three, 60-57.

Troy State took two time outs, but failed to make the big play and tie up the game. Scott Brown's desperation three-point shot was off the mark, and the Gamecocks had a hard-fought 60-57 victory. With the win the Gamecocks upped their record to 7-6, and 2-3 in the Gulf South Conference. Troy State's record fell to 9-8 overall, and 2-5 in the GSC.

Derek Hicks led the Gamecocks in scoring with 16 points. Point guard Jeff Smith shot a woeful 1-6 from the floor, but the sophomore guard dished out six big assists. 6-6 senior center Scott Brown led the Trojans in scoring as he poured in 16.

Lady Trojans defeat Lady Gamecocks

By ROD L. HAYES

The Jacksonville State Lady Gamecocks fell to a tough Troy State Lady Trojan team last Thursday night, 61-56, in a game played at Pete Mathews Coliseum.

The Lady Gamecocks controlled most of the first half leading by as much as five at one point. In the final 1:01 of the first half, the Lady Trojans outscored their hosts 7-2 to tie the game at the half 29-29.

The second half was a struggle until Lady Trojan Clarice Woods completed a spectacular drive to the basket for two points. This big play gave TSU a 51-45 lead, which was Troy State's biggest lead up to that point in the contest.

Angela Lowe added a bucket with 5:10 remaining to give the Lady Trojans an eight-point lead.

The Lady Gamecocks fought back, but the deficit was too much to overcome. Kim Welch closed the TSU advantage to 59-56 with a jump shot, but the Lady Trojans held on for the victory.

Sue Imm led the Lady Gamecocks with 18 points, as the 5-11 freshman was 9-15 from the floor. Idella DeRamus added 15 points, and collected a team-high nine rebounds. Kim Welch chipped in 10 points, and Jackie Chandler contributed six points to the Lady Gamecock effort.

TSU was led by Angela Lowe's 18 points, and mate Tammy Bruce added 17 points.

The loss dropped JSU's overall record to 4-12. The Lady Gamecocks Gulf South Conference slate now stands at 0-5.

The next game for the JSU women will be Saturday night at Delta State. The following Monday, the team hosts Shorter College in a non-conference matchup. Tipoff is set for 7:00. Next Wednesday the Lady Gamecocks travel to Talladega for another non-conference game with Talladega College.

gons who scored 32 points, grabbed 11 rebounds, and collected four steals. Cindi Carr also helped the Lady Lions with her 16-point, nine-rebound effort.

The Lady Gamecocks shot 54 percent from the field, and 72 percent from the charity line. UNA outrebounded the Lady Gamecocks by a margin of 43-41, but the game was well over when a good many of these rebounds were collected.

Coach Steve Bailey's Lady Gamecocks are now 5-12 overall on the season, and 1-5 in the Gulf South Conference.

The JSU women travel Saturday to battle one of the top-ranked teams in all of Division II, the Lady Statesmen of Delta State University. Shorter College invades Pete Mathews Coliseum for a game next Monday night. The following Wednesday, the Lady Gamecocks travel to Talladega for a non-conference matchup with Talladega College. Next Thursday, a road trip to Livingston will see the women take on the Lady Tigers of LU.
